SUPERVISION OF LAKE TRAFFIC RECOMMENDED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

Would Give Interstate Commission Supervision of Lake Carriers.

Full Power to Regulate and Fix Rates Is Suggested.

Dock Facilities Should Be Available to All Water Carriers.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 2.—A finding that through traffic from the Western gateways on the Great Lakes, such as Duluth and Chicago, to the Eastern board by way of Buffalo, is controlled exclusively by six boat lines owned by the trunk line railroads connecting the East with the Central West has been reported to the house of representatives by the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries, after an investigation covering alleged "ship trusts" on the ocean and the Great Lakes.

"Up to the time that the trunk railroad lines reached only to Buffalo," says the report, "and had no interest in the rail lines to the west of Buffalo, it was to their interest to maintain the lake lines in such a manner as to attract the largest amount of tonnage to Buffalo. But, with the extension of their rail lines to the West, their policy changed and, instead of attracting all possible tonnage to the lake and connecting Buffalo and the East, every effort was made to divert [illegible] rail lines and to prevent [illegible] independent water carriers [illegible] an important foothold."

Judge Mac Quoted.

[illegible] Judge Mac Quoted. [illegible] Barnes of Indiana on monopoly, he said he [illegible] that 'the lords of the [illegible] usheez Satgiantes of the [illegible] s control, [illegible] by [illegible] their power to say to whom they will give it. They will not share it with any individual carrier that might offer and they have thus controlled its movement.

The report also points out that the railroads were able to control the movement of [illegible] independent steamships [illegible] to the seaboard through an "ex-lake rate for transportation from Buffalo to ocean terminals."

The committee also cited testimony showing that the Flour City line, an independent company, attempted to move flour from Minneapolis through Duluth to New York and was charged 11 cents east of Buffalo, whereas the railroads east of Buffalo were carrying flour delivered by their own lake

GIVES $50,000 TO CITY; DROPS DEAD

Otto I. Leisy Dies at Cleveland of Cerebral Hemorrhage.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 2.—A cerebral hemorrhage yesterday caused the death of Otto I. Leisy, 50 years old, millionaire brewer, nationally known to German-Americans for his benefactions. He died on the very day on which he formally presented to the city $50,000 for the construction of a model playground. He was an intimate friend of the late Tom L. Johnson.

HEARS TESTIMONY FOR SUGAR TRUST

Federal Examiner Holds Hearing in Suit at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., March 2.—Testimony for the defense in the suit of the United States against the American Sugar Refining company for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act was delivered in a hearing before Special Examiner George J. Chambers of New York, which was begun here today.

The suit was instituted by the government in November, 1910, to dissolve the sugar company and to separate from certain companies in which it was a stockholder. Numerous local wholesale sugar dealers have been subpoenaed.

The government is being represented by James R. Knapp, assistant to the United States attorney in the Southern district of New York. Frank L. Crawford, one of the attorneys for the fendants, announced testimony would introduced to show that keen competition existed in the sugar trade, particularly among the various refineries. Hearings in this case have been held in several other large cities.

HIGHEST CATHOLIC IN GERMANY DYING

Breslau, Germany, March 2.—Cardinal George Kopp, the highest dignitary of the Roman Catholic church in Germany, is dying of acute meningitis at Troppau, Austrian Silesia. He is 77 years old.

KOETTERS' TRIAL SET FOR MARCH 16

Chicago, March 2.—Over the protest of his counsel, who requested longer delay in which to prepare his defense, the trial of John B. ("Handsome Jack") Koetters today was set for March 16.

Koetters was arrested in San Francisco and brought to Chicago for trial on a charge of murdering Mrs. Emma Kraft of Cincinnati, in a Chicago hotel in November, 1912.

WOULD BE GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

M. J. RYAN.

Philadelphia, March 2.—City Solicitor Ryan of Philadelphia wants to be governor of Pennsylvania. His opponent for the Democratic nomination is Vance McCormick, formerly mayor of Harrisburg. Mr. McCormick has the backing of President Wilson.

STEEL CORPORATION CHARGES PROBED

Harlan Asks Lamar and Green What They Know.

Washington, March 2.—In an effort to ascertain what foundation there may be for charges that the United States Steel corporation has received during the last six years illegal rebates from the railroads on freight charges, Commissioner Harlan of the interstate commerce commission today examined David Lamar of New York and William S. Green of Iowa, upon whose allegations the senate based a resolution requesting the commission to inquire into the matter.

The resolution did not require the commission to make a formal investigation unless its preliminary inquiries should develop facts to warrant a thorough inquiry.

MASS OF TESTIMONY ON COLORADO STRIKE

Congressmen Visit Coal Mines and May Question "Mother" Jones.

Trinidad, Colo., March 2.—The house subcommittee investigating the Colorado coal miners' strike today began its fourth week of work. It was believed that the hearings would be very nearly completed, if not entirely so, by next Saturday night. An enormous mass of testimony has been taken, and the official record is bound in a large number of fat, typewritten volumes. The record ultimately will be printed as a public document.

The departure of the committee for Walsenburg, announced Saturday night for today, was postponed until tomorrow. It was stated that some work remained to be completed here today.

Representatives Byrnes, Evans and Sutherland today explored the Delagua mine of the Victor-American Fuel company, the largest producing colliery in the state.

The congressmen went through several miles of workings and saw at first hand the toil of the miners. They interviewed a number of the men regarding working conditions and their relations with their employers.

It generally was understood, although not yet officially announced, that the testimony of "Mother" Mary Jones would be taken during the afternoon.

ACCUSED OF ROBBING MAILS TEN YEARS

Railway Postoffice Clerk Caught By Decoy Letter.

Chicago, March 2.—Cincinnati postoffice inspectors here today arrested B. S. Wise, a railway mail clerk, whose home is in Chesterton, Ind. Wise will be taken to Cleveland to face charges of rifling the mails.

Inspectors charged that Wise has been robbing letters for ten years. They declared that a decoy package was found in his possession.

Alleged Slayer of Aurora Girl Leaves County Jail.

Aurora, Ill., March 2.—Anthony Petras, accused of the murder of Theresa Hollander, who was clubbed to death in a cemetery here, was released today from the county jail under $10,000 bonds.

REES STATES CASE OF MINE OWNERS IN THE COPPER COUNTRY

Addresses Congressmen Before MacNaughton Is Called as Witness.

Says Moyer Was Lucky to Get Off So Easily.

Houghton, Mich., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—James MacNaughton, general manager of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company, was expected to be the first witness for the operators today at the resumption of the hearings before the congressional committee which is investigating the copper miners' strike.

Allen F. Rees, chief counsel for the operators, stated he hoped the operators would be able to conclude their case this week. Before the introduction of testimony, Mr. Rees made a brief statement in reply to the charges made by witnesses for the strikers, who concluded their case last Thursday.

The congressmen resumed the hearings in Houghton today at the request of the operators. Previous hearings were held at Hancock.

In his opening statement for the the mine operators, Mr. Rees declared that he believed that if Moyer had joined hands with citizens in recognizing the distress of sufferers from the Calumet disaster the strike would have been settled that day.

Says Moyer Was Lucky.

Referring to the deportation of the union president after his refusal to permit the victims to accept succor, Rees said:

"Moyer was mighty lucky that nothing more serious happened to him. As Bishop Williams of the Episcopal church remarked when he heard of the affair, 'it was evidence of the greatest self-restraint ever known to me. For feeling ran very strong that night, and Moyer was fortunate that he had men of such restraint to deal with.'"

Rees said that if the investigation were a judicial proceeding, the operators would rest "because of the lack of any evidence tending to show anything illegal in our conduct."

Reviewing the important points of the strike, Rees said alien agitators and organizers came into the copper district in 1907 and began sowing the seed of discontent among the employes. "They succeeded in doing so among

STRIKERS ENJOINED BY ONTONAGON JUDGE

Six Companies Get Order Against Interference With Men.

Ontonagon, Mich., March 2.—A temporary injunction was granted today on application of six companies operating copper mines in Ontonagon county, restraining striking mine workers from interfering with non-union men, from picketing and from holding threatening parades.

Mass mine is the only one now in operation in the county. Others will resume in a few days, it was reported. Mass started up about ten days ago and the strikers are alleged to have made several threatening demonstrations against the workmen.

The injunction is similar to the one in force in Houghton and Keweenaw counties.

WORST STORM IN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS SWOOPS UPON NEW YORK

ELLIS AIRS FAMILY ILLS

Testifies Again After Doctor Says He Has "Psychic Epilepsy."

Shown to Have Nearly Killed Himself at Time of Murder.

Chicago, March 2.—The defense of psychic epilepsy, otherwise known as "transitory insanity," was brought forward today to save William Cheney Ellis from the death penalty for killing his wife here in a hotel last October.

After this theory had been advanced by a physician testifying for Ellis, the defendant himself returned to the stand and told of physical and mental weaknesses that marred his family record.

The former Cincinnati leather merchant injured himself more seriously at the time he killed Mrs. Ellis than was generally supposed, it was testified by A. E. Eisenstadt, the ambulance surgeon who took him away after the crime. Dr. Eisenstadt, however, said that he observed nothing abnormal in Ellis' manner or speech.

The "psychic epilepsy" testimony was given by Dr. L. Pardick Mackler, superintendent of the emergency hospital. Dr. Mackler said that he put eight stitches in the self-inflicted gash in Ellis' neck, and dressed the lacerations on his wrist.

"Just Over a Fit."

"Ellis appeared to me to be an epileptic. It seemed to [illegible] he had just emerged from [illegible] fit."

SEVENTY-TWO-MILE WIND AT TORONTO

Streets Are Filled With Debris Blown From the Houses.

Toronto, Ont., March 2.—Toronto and Ontario today continued in the grip of the most violent wind storm of many months. Beginning yesterday the wind attained a violence of seventy-two miles an hour and streets were filled with signs, loose materials from buildings and broken windows.

The damage will amount to thousands of dollars.

"STIRRED UP THE ANIMALS" ON MEXICAN QUESTION

REPRESENTATIVE W. D. B. AINEY
Of Pennsylvania.

Washington, March 2.—Congressman W. D. B. Ainey of Pennsylvania has stirred up the animals on the Mexican question by presenting to the house a demand on the president for the papers in the Mexican matter, and characterizing the policy of the administration as "deadly drifting." Ainey was born in New Milford, Pa., in 1864, graduated at Lehigh university and is a lawyer. He has been elected to congress twice.

VICTIM OF GASOLINE TWICE WITHIN HOUR

North Dakotan Has to Burrow in Snow to Quench Fire.

Sarles, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—While endeavoring to start a small gasoline engine, Peter Naismith poured some of the gasoline into the cylinder, causing an explosion, which ignited his clothing. He ran outdoors and burrowed into a snow bank. On his way back into the house he met his daughter in the doorway carrying out a flaming can of gasoline which had been ignited by the explosion. This again set Naismith's clothing on fire, and for a second time he had to plunge into the snowbank. His injuries, while painful, are not of a serious nature.

EIGHTY-FOUR MILE WIND IN METROPOLIS

Eight Dead There and Four in Philadelphia From Exposure.

Twenty-one Trains Stalled and Thousands of People Marooned.

New York, March 2.—Points as far west as Cleveland and as far south as Baltimore were battered by wind, stung by sleet and buried with snow in a terrific storm, central over the states of New York and New Jersey, which began early yesterday and still was in progress today. In New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania between eight and eleven inches of snow—layers of it packed hard and frozen—covered the ground at noon, and more was falling.

Not in twenty-five years have Greater New York and environs experienced such a storm. At times the velocity of the wind reached eighty-four miles an hour.

Eight Deaths in New York.

Eight deaths here were reported.

Traffic everywhere in the storm area was demoralized. In some cases it was interrupted entirely. Hundreds of telegraph poles in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania were down.

Eighty-five thousand commuters on Long Island were marooned, and residents of New Jersey coming to the city were from one to five hours late.

More than 10,000 men under the street cleaning department attacked the snow to keep traffic open in a few of the principal business streets. These same men quit work during the gale last night and it was feared they might not report today.

New York's financial district was almost entirely shut off from the outside world today by reason of the severe weather. With the exception of a single line to Albany, communication with Wall street was almost at a standstill. Trading was correspondingly light, with a downward tendency of prices. The telegraph companies were hopeful of making repairs in the course of the day, but most of the out-of-town business in the early hours of

WIDOW WILL GET REFUND

Will Receive $545 From City for Husband's Liquor Permit.

Bartenders' Ordinance Will Probably Be Again Laid Over.

The widow of Emil Johnson will receive a refund of $545 on the saloon license which was taken out by her husband for the privilege of selling toxicants at retail at 2011 West Superior street.

The saloon was closed last December under that provision of the state law which stipulates that all saloon licenses shall automatically become void upon the death of the licensee. The same statute makes it optional with the licensing body to refund the remainder of the fee and it is under this that the widow is to be paid the pro rata portion of the $1,900 which was paid for the license.

This was the first saloon to be closed in this city under that law and it is the first time for at least many years that any part of the license has been refunded. Since the saloon was closed the council transferred another saloon license to the same location, enabling the widow to obtain a fair price for the fixtures. This afternoon the council will pass a resolution directing the city treasurer to pay her $545, the amount of the license fee which was not used.

Bartenders' Ordinance.

The Hicken ordinance requiring bartenders to be licensed is scheduled to come up for a final vote at this afternoon's meeting. As it stands at present it would appear that the measure would pass, but it was stated this morning that it would probably be laid over for another week. Last week the ordinance was amended to reduce the fee from $5 to $1 a year, to eliminate the requirement that the bartenders wear badges and to save them from the necessity of stating in their application whether or not they had ever been convicted of a crime. But despite the amendments the opposition has not diminished and there is still a possibility that it may not be enacted.

An ordinance to regulate the smoke nuisance may be given its first reading. It will be of a broad nature, defining what constitutes a violation in general terms. This is considered necessary as a club for possible exceptions which cannot be reached in any other way, but the policy of the administration will be to work along educational lines as far as possible. During the last two weeks Smoke Inspector J. W. Schneider has been making observations of a number of the downtown buildings. He watched fifteen different buildings one hour each. Of these it was found that no complaint could be lodged against seven. The stacks of the other eight showed black smoke up to twenty-three minutes during the hour. Upon the report of the smoke inspector Mayor Prince notified the owners or agents of the offending buildings of the results of the observation and this morning he said that all of them had informed him that they would do all in their power to remedy conditions. The mayor said that if this disposition to co-operate with the city is general throughout the city no difficulty will be encountered in reducing the smoke nuisance in Duluth to a minimum.

Road Oil Contract.

The council will probably pass a resolution awarding the contract for road oil to be used during the coming season to the Pure Oil company. Their bid was 4.43 cents per gallon for oil containing 4 per cent asphaltum, which grade will be chiefly used this year. It is estimated that 140,000 to 150,000 gallons of road oil will be spread this year.

The works division this morning received but one bid for two oil sprayers. This was from the Austin Western company, represented by C. L. Goodell. Their price was $50 for the two, and as this is reasonable, the council will approve the award of the contract to that firm.

Ruben Johnson, secretary of the civil service commission, will ask the council to determine whether or not the secretaries of the commissioners of the various divisions should come under the civil service rules. One or two of them act in purely personal capacities and others perform duties which are similar to clerks or other employes. But all of them are paid by the city. For reasons of its own the civil service commission did not wish to take the initiative in these cases and is leaving the decision to the council.

OBITUARY

Said Pasha, former grand vizier of Turkey, died at Constantinople March 1. Said Pasha for years was one of the strongest political factors in Turkey. He began his career as a clerk in a government office and advanced gradually until, in 1875, he received his first appointment as grand vizier, a post he filled numerous times afterward. Dismissal and reinstatement to power were frequent occurrences with Said. He was described as being incorruptible.

SAID PASHA.

Mrs. Howard Teasdale, aged 50, wife of Senator Teasdale, chairman of the Wisconsin legislative vice commission, died at Sparta, Wis., from tuberculosis.

Edwin J. Houston, scientist, inventor, teacher, author, patent expert and worker in boys' organizations, died at Philadelphia March 1 from heart disease. He was 70 years old and was also well known as an expert in electricity and was twice president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and was chief electrician at the World's fair in Chicago.

Elizabeth Boot, "mother" of the first teachers' pension law in Illinois, is dead at Chicago. She was born near Sandusky, Ohio.

Nathan Goold, aged 68, widely known as a historian, is dead at Portland, Me.

August Diez, 51 years old, managing editor of the St. Louis Westliche Post, died at Stuttgart, Germany, March 1, according to cablegrams from that city.

W. S. Stuart, one of the few remaining survivors of William Walker's filibustering expedition into Nicaragua in 1855, died in Topeka, Kan., Feb. 28. Mr. Stewart enlisted with Walker when he was 19 years old. He was wounded during the fighting in Nicaragua.

Senator Salvador Cisneris Betancourt, marquis of Santa Lucia, died in Havana, Cuba, Feb. 28. He was 86 years old. The body of the senator, who was the president of the first Cuban revolutionary government, laid in state for twenty-four hours in the presidential palace. A decree was issued ordering that funeral honors be accorded the senator as though he had been an ex-president. The decree also called for three days of national mourning.

ANTI-MILITARISM TALK AT AUDITORIUM

George R. Kirkpatrick, author and lecturer, will deliver his lecture on "The Iron Fist," at the Auditorium, First street and Third avenue east, tonight. Mr. Kirkpatrick is being brought here by the Socialists, who claim to be anti-militarists, and the lecture tonight is in line with their campaign against war.

Mr. Kirkpatrick is said to be an eloquent speaker and his debate with Henry Clews, the noted New York banker, created considerable interest in that city.

A number of prominent Socialists will be brought to Duluth during the coming campaign. An effort is being made to secure Eugene V. Debs and Fred D. Warren. The committee has secured Charles Edward Russell for March 11 and the meeting tonight will be free.

'Ware the Barbary Coast!

A century ago the captains and crews of those fast clipper ships, sailing from our New England ports, heard this warning shouted by their friends and loved ones as they sailed away to trade in the Eastern seas. The bloodthirsty pirates of the Mediterranean coast, known as the Barbary Coast, laid tribute on all vessels trading in their waters. Our ships refused to give tribute and defied them. Many a sailor boy died in the terrible prisons of the Moors. At last the president of the United States proclaimed "millions for defense, but not a cent for tribute," which has been a slogan for our country ever since. A few warships soon brought an end to the raids on American vessels.

"'Ware the Barbary Coast" is a warning applicable to these times; for today there are pirates sailing the seas of commerce, industry and finance. "'Ware the Barbary Coast" of shoddy goods, short weights, impure foods. Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the guaranteed hard coal, is like a battleship, protecting the purchasers of coal from loss, inefficient fuel and short weights. There is no "Barbary Coast" where Pittsburgh's PITTSTON is.

Our modern, mechanically operated elevators enable us to sell PITTSTON, the guaranteed hard coal, at the same price as the ordinary hard coal. Remember it costs no more, and is absolutely guaranteed to the last pound.

NEW TRIAL FOR KNIGHT

Juvenile Court Record May Not Be Used Against a Prisoner.

While records of previous convictions in justice, municipal, district and Federal courts may be shown by the prosecution as affecting the credibility of a defendant in a criminal case, the rule does not apply to the juvenile court according to Judge Dancer in an opinion handed down Saturday.

And because the state was allowed to introduce the records of the juvenile court to show that Walter Knight had been convicted of various offenses before he reached the age where he no longer came under the jurisdiction of this court, Knight who was convicted at the November term of court on a serious charge, will secure a new trial.

Knight was tried before Judge Dancer and a jury on a charge of abusing a 12-year-old girl. With John Burke, now serving time in the St. Cloud reformatory, Knight is alleged to have enticed the girl to a secluded spot and to have committed the crime. The alleged assault took place on June 25 last.

Judge Dancer holds that he erred in permitting the state to introduce evidence of the young man's convictions in juvenile court, and on this tecnicality of the law bases his reason for granting a new trial of the case. A section of the juvenile court act provides that the "disposition" of any case in juvenile court shall not be used as evidence against a defendant at a later trial, except in the juvenile court. The state takes the position that the term "disposition" in the juvenile court act refers not to the record of conviction but to the sentence or actual disposition of the defendant. The state cannot appeal in a criminal case.

Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, who directed the prosecution at the first trial will bring the case on for trial at the next term of court. Andrew Nelson is attorney for Knight. The young man has been in jail since his conviction.

FIVE WILL ENTER MAYORALTY RACE

At least four men will oppose Mayor Konkel in the nomination for mayor at the spring election. The men who have announced themselves are E. T. Harris, A. J. McRae, J. R. Hile and Nels Peterson. The former two have already filed their papers and the others will file before Wednesday.

The candidates for supervisors are: Nels Nelson, Ninth ward; W. R. Hallam, Tenth ward; Otto F. Eick, Seventh ward; Peter Ackerson, Fifth ward; W. A. Hagreen, Second ward; Thomas P. Hunter, Second ward; H. M. Parks, Fourth ward; W. W. Andrew, Eighth ward; Emanuel Rossiter, Sixth ward; John Bradshaw, Third ward, and E. A. Clark, First ward.

Michael C. Brzonkala this morning announced himself as a candidate for the office of county judge. He will oppose Judge Phil Perkins, who was appointed to the bench by Governor McGovern last December.

Fire in Residence.

Fire doing $50 damage resulted yesterday afternoon in the home of H. T. Hermes, 712 Tower avenue. One of the children had ignited a match, setting fire to the lace curtains. The interior of the room was almost immediately a mass of flames. The fire department arrived before it had gained much headway.

Will Open Paving Bids.

The city commission will receive bids tomorrow for the paving of Ogden street from Fifth street to Belknap and Tower from Sixteenth to Twenty-eighth streets. It is expected that at least a dozen contractors will submit bids for the work.

Vice Is Increasing.

Opponents of vice in Superior claim that vice is increasing instead of diminishing in the city. They base their contention on the report this morning that there were twenty-one proprietors of immoral resorts who paid fines aggregating $53 each in police court. In former months the largest number that have paid such fines was twenty. The resort keepers appeared before Judge Parker at the opening session this morning, all pleading guilty and paying their fines.

LITTLE BUSINESS IN SIGHT AS YET

Board of Education Will Hold Regular Meeting Friday Evening.

The board of education will hold a regular monthly meeting next Friday evening, but, according to the present outlook there will be but little more than routine to come up. The regular February meeting, supposed to be held on the first Friday in the month, did not come off until last week, and because of that delay many things were disposed of which would have come up at next Friday's meeting.

No delegations are expected except one from the West End Commercial club, which may appear to urge the establishment of a junior high school at the West end. As this cannot be done until the funds are available for the erection of an auditorium, only a discussion of the situation can take place and no action result except a possible action toward submitting, at the mid-summer election, a proposition to issue bonds for the purpose, and that is not likely at this time, as N. J. Upham & Co. are still busily engaged in disposing, for the board, of the issue of $200,000 bonds for the construction of the Cobb and Denfeld schools, authorized a year ago.

As things appear now it is expected that the meeting will be a short one.

"KISS YOUR WIFE AND AVOID DIVORCE"

New York, March 2.—"My cure for divorce is to kiss your wife every day as an act of good faith," said Vice President Marshall yesterday, addressing the Young Men's Christian association in Brooklyn. He spoke on "The New Puritan." He wondered, he said, how the old Puritan led the life he did—why, for instance, he did not believe in kissing his wife on Sunday. "He did not, however, believe in kissing another man's wife on any day in the week," said Mr. Marshall.

SOME SIGNS OF SPRING

March Makes More or Less Lionlike Entrance—Groundhog Did His Best—Marbles and Bock Beer.

Spring is here and all things show it,
E'en the ice men seem to know it;
For they've let up cutting ice
And begun to fix the price.

Ice in lake is getting low,
Only four feet thick or so.
Oh, the gentle spring is here
For the bock is on the beer.
(With apologies to everybody.)

That spring is at least near there seems to be no doubt. In fact indications are that it has arrived—at least its advance guard. For note:

Robins have been seen.

The ground hog didn't see his shadow Feb. 2.

The small boy, discouraged by the withering of hill coasting, has taken to marbles in what bare spots he can find.

Easter comes early this year.

March came in like a lion, meaning it should go out like a lamb.

And last but not least—bock beer came in today.

As to the advent of March there may be different ideas as to what the lionlike qualities consist of. Some people think that because it came in without bluster and storm it was quite lamblike. Others would like to know if a drop of 50 degs. in twenty-four hours possesses anything of the meek quality of the future mutton. And that is what occurred between 6 o'clock Saturday morning and the same time Sunday morning. At 6 a. m. Saturday, the mercury was steady at 38 degs. above zero. At the corresponding hour on Sunday, the first day of March, the thermometer at the crest of the hill registered 12 degs. below zero. And most of Sunday continued to be right snappy.

As to the coming of bock beer there is no question. Local breweries sent out neatly engraved notices a week ago to most of the men of the city that bock beer would be on today for family or bar trade. That is considered pretty nearly the last word in spring signs.

Then robins have been seen frequently, everything indicating that an early break-up is due. The groundhog, it will be remembered, could not well see his shadow on Feb. 2, the day he was supposed to be on the job. Mr. Hog, it is said, comes out of his hole on that day and if he can see his shadow concludes that there is going to be a considerable amount of winter and beats it back to his hibernating hole; but if he cannot see his shadow he concludes that he better join the major leaguers and get into training for the coming season. Under these conditions it is claimed that the backbone of winter is once again fractured, a calamity to old Boreas that is reported to happen at least eight times each year—and yet somehow he survives.

The small boy is losing his chance of sliding down hill, owing to the fading of the snow supply and in some spots even at this early date marbles has been the game. As the dry spots spread on sidewalk and ground the games will be more frequent from now on. Shopkeepers are getting their supplies of marbles all ready for the juvenile trade which will become more and more active from now on.

And now watch it snow.

"FIFTH" WILL BE RED LETTER DAY

Servants of City Will Get Stipend in Future on That Day.

The fifth of the month is a date which is hereafter to be held dear and cherished in the hearts of Duluth's public servants.

With many aches and how many qualms and how many hopes they will anticipate its coming doesn't have to be imagined by those who are employed by the month. 'Twill be the day for which they all will long and look forward to, with the oftspoken wish that every day was the fifth of the month.

For the fifth (it ought to be capitalized) is going to be pay day.

In the past the city council has approved the payroll the first Monday of each month. This has resulted in city employes being sometimes compelled to wait for their fragments of "the root of all evil" until a week or ten days after the first of the month. Although all of them have no hesitancy in admitting that they had the red-letter day marked on their calendars a long ways ahead of time, they assert that it has caused them considerable inconvenience.

In order to remedy this condition it has been decided that in the future all city employes will be paid on the fifth of each month. Finance Commissioner Fred Voss said this morning that this will henceforth be the rule. Where it can be done, as is the case with the February payroll, the payroll will be approved at the regular meeting. Otherwise a special meeting of the commission will be called for that purpose. This will not be difficult as four of the five members of the council have an office in the city hall, and three constitute a quorum which can approve the payroll.

GRAND FORKS AGAIN VOTING

Change to the Commission Form Is Again Being Submitted.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the second time in four years, Grand Forks is today voting on the question of supplanting the aldermanic system of municipal government with the commission plan.

Supporters of the commission have been making an active campaign for its adoption, while it is only within the last week that an organized fight has been made on the movement.

The opponents of the new plan have received support from an unexpected element, when the Grand Forks Socialist local adopted resolutions condemning the commission system, as effective under the North Dakota law.

Julius H. Barnes Returns From East—Business Improving.

"The meeting at Buffalo of delegates from the lake cities resulted in arriving at an understanding regarding action on several points, and an organization to be known as the Great Lakes Waterways conference was formed," said Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the Duluth Commercial club's traffic commission, on his return from the East this morning.

The Canadian delegates at the meeting, he said, expressed a desire to see the completion of the dominion government's project for a deep waterway to the seaboard via the St. Lawrence river. The grain growers in the three Western provinces recognize that the future of their country depends upon the securing of cheap transportation of their products to the markets. To that end they are urging the completion of the new Welland canal and the creation of a deeper chain of canals at points between Kingston and Montreal. This program was also approved by the American delegates at the conference.

Mr. Barnes found that wheat stocks at Buffalo are being rapidly cleaned up. Good buying of hard winter wheat is reported for export to go forward by rail from Chicago and of Nebraska wheat to go out via the gulf.

Business conditions in the East continue to show improvement, he said, and a generally hopeful feeling is now evident in every quarter.

MANEY IS THE CHOICE

Well Known Mining Man Will Manage the Shenango Interests.

Edward Maney is the new general manager of the mining department of the Shenango Furnace company, succeeding John Savage.

Mr. Maney for eight years was employed by the Oliver Mining company, and for the last five years has been the chief assistant to Thomas F. Cole. He has served as treasurer of the various mining companies controlled by Mr. Cole and his associates, and has also acted as private secretary to Mr. Cole.

The new position which Mr. Maney will hold is a most important one, and Mr. Maney has been receiving hearty congratulations from as many friends in the city, today.

The appointment was announced by Charles H. McKee, the head of the legal department of the Shenango company, who is in Duluth today. Mr. McKee is here with a party of Shenango company officials, including Charles D. Dyer, vice president of the company, and George L. Collard, the manager of the furnace department. In the party also is Lee Perrin, who is said to hold the official position of "chaplain," but who, Mr. McKee states, draws his salary for acting as confidential stenographer.

POSTOFFICE BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Washington, March 2.—The senate passed the largest appropriation bill ever to meet the approval of either house of congress, when it sent to conference the postoffice measure, carrying $511,492,067, an increase of nearly $40,000 over the bill as it was reported by the postoffice committee. All efforts to limit the power of the postmaster general to regulate parcel post rates, zones or weights, were defeated.

The last amendment of this nature was proposed by Senator Cummins. It provided that no packages of more than fifty pounds should be carried unless the interstate commerce commission should decide the rates represented the cost of the service. It was lost 29 to 20.

Senator Bristow proposed a new system of parcel post rates, reducing pay to railways for this service, which also met defeat.

Increases of salary from $200 to $500 were inserted for railway mail division superintendents, assistant superintendents and chief clerks; rural mail carriers receive an increase of $100 a year on standard routes, and substitute carriers and clerks from 30 to 40 cents an hour.

Casselton Cannery Success.

Casselton, N. D., March 2.—Growing vegetables, especially tomatoes, will be a popular industry in this vicinity this year. The cannery established here last year proved a big success and as a result hundreds of people are to grow vegetables that will find a ready market at the local plant.

New Hotel for Bemidji.

Fargo, N. D., March 2.—Haxby & Gillispie have filed plans with the Builders' exchange for a hotel at Bemidji costing $35,000, a bank at Sheyenne, costing $8,000, a school building at Bellfield costing $20,000, and the Hugo Stern residence at Fargo, costing $5,000.

PENALTY ON AT MIDNIGHT

Those Affected By Income Tax Get Extension of Time.

Revenue Office Will Remain Open Until Day's Dividing Hour.

It is probable that the office of the internal revenue collector in Duluth will be rushed to the utmost until midnight today in order that all statements of incomes within the new income tax law may be filed within the specified time. Word was received at the Duluth office from Washington today extending the time to midnight so that all statements might be filed. The office was crowded all day and it is probable that the rush will continue until the last minute.

Duluth will probably have as large a list of income tax payers in proportion to population as any city in the United States. Duluth is noted for its large number of millionaires and also for an uncommonly large number of persons drawing salaries taxable under the new law. Many taxpayers are sending their statements directly to the St. Paul office, and no record of the number filed here is kept.

The statements are all confidential and no intimation regarding the size of the incomes here could be obtained today. All statements regarding the amount of tax that individuals or corporations pay are mere guess work on the part of the public say officials as the documents filed are kept secret.

The filing of statements here has progressed remarkably well according to the officials. As the law is entirely a new thing in the United States there has been considerable misunderstanding as to what should be done, but despite this handicap it is probable that few will have to pay penalties because of delays in filing.

BOY ARRESTED FOR SMOKING

First Attempt to Enforce Anti-Cigarette Law Made By Police.

For the first time since the new cigarette law was passed by the state legislature a year ago, an arrest was made by the Duluth police yesterday, for its violation. The law states that it is a misdemeanor for a minor to smoke a cigarette.

Yesterday afternoon John Boswell, 19 years old, living with his parents at 1826 East Superior street, was arrested by Patrolman Thompson. He was released on payment of $5 bail and in police court this morning pleaded guilty to the charge. The young man was then fined $10 and costs or ten days, but on recommendations made to the court, he was placed on parole for six months, the sentence being suspended.

Under the new law, which regulates the selling of cigarettes, it is a misdemeanor for any minor to smoke cigarettes.

POLICE RECORD FOR FEBRUARY

During the month of February the members of the city detective department recovered 79 per cent of the property and money either lost or stolen in this city, according to the monthly report submitted Saturday by Lieutenant of Detectives Norman Terry. This is considered an exceptional record.

The total value of the property either lost or stolen during February amounted to $3,520.17, of which the detectives recovered $2,782.48. During the month the detectives arrested 22 on charges of petit larceny; 10, grand larceny; 7, burglary, and 1, robbery.

MANUFACTURERS LEARN OF DULUTH'S ADVANTAGES

In line with the extensive and telling campaign being carried on by the publicity committee of the Commercial club, there appears in the March number of Ryerson's Monthly Journal and Stock list of Chicago a most comprehensive and attractively written article on Duluth, labelled as No. 15 of American manufacturing cities. The article covers ten pages, and is illustrated with views of Duluth and her industries at the top and bottom of each page. It is the leading article in the journal, which goes monthly into the hands of 19,000 concerns engaged in the steel trade, and who follow the contents of this journal religiously. The article, according to a footnote, is from the pen or, rather, typewriter of George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Commercial club and secretary of the committee on publicity. He begins his article with the introduction:

"The newcomer in steel production stands at the head of navigation on the great lakes. It is the gateway to a vast empire, penetrated by sixteen railroad lines radiating in all directions from Duluth. During the season of navigation a steamer enters or leaves its harbor for every twenty-two minutes elapsed. In volume of tonnage the harbor of Duluth is second only to New York in the United States."

The article then deals with the development of the iron ranges and of the finding and developing of the new Cuyuna range. The development of the Great Northern Power company is described, and the advantages of the excellence of the water and cool climate in the way of obtaining labor at a maximum efficiency the year round are shown. Other advantages possessed by Duluth as a city to live in are dwelt on, and a history of the founding and growth of the city is given. The industries told of in the article are all in the manufacturing business and each is treated separately and attractively; and a good deal of space is given the new steel plant. Despite the fact that the article is not a very long one it contains a lot of meat that will be of interest to manufacturers, whether they figure on extending or not.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly and surely. It never disappoints!

COPS TO PRACTICE "HEP! HEP!" DRILL

Men on Night Duty Will Meet Every Thursday.

Beginning Thursday morning the members of the Duluth police force will hold their annual weekly drills at the Armory.

Lieut. Wilcox of the West Duluth station will have charge of the drills and will teach the officers company formations and the various maneuvers necessary for a police battalion. These drills are held in the spring and early summer of each year, the officers meeting for the exercise each Thursday.

The plans for this year, as announced this morning, order the night officers to meet at the Armory immediately after they are off duty at 8 o'clock in the morning. Those that are through at 3 o'clock in the morning will drill in the afternoon. The day officers will not drill during the months they are on day duty, but will be detailed for the exercise as soon as they are placed on night watches.

BEACHEY FALLS 1,600 FEET, BUT ESCAPES

One Aviator Is Killed Near Andes and Two in France.

Santa Barbara, Cal., March 2.—While "looping-the-loop" here yesterday, Lincoln Beachey, the aviator, lost control of his biplane and fell 1,600 feet, but managed to right himself 400 feet from the ground and escaped with slight injuries.

His machine crashed into a tree and snapped the trunk, but was not much injured.

The aviator was at a height of 2,000 feet when he made his loop. His biplane then pointed its nose toward the earth and made a spiral dip. Beachey had lost control.

Turning and twisting into every conceivable position, the fall continued, although but few realized anything was wrong until the craft was within 800 feet of the ground. For 100 feet or more the biplane fell sideways, completing a circle in that position, then floundered, dipped upwards and came down slanting at an angle, with the engine working perfectly all the time.

The biplane was a new machine just being tried out.

Newberry Killed.

Buenos Ayres, March 2.—George Newberry, the holder of several aeroplane records in this country, was killed in a flight Sunday near the Andes mountains. Lieut. Jiminez Lastra, a passenger, was badly injured.

Brothers Are Killed.

Lyons, France, March 2.—Pierre and Gabriel Salvesz, brothers, were killed Sunday while making an experimental flight in an all-metal monoplane of their own invention, when the left wing of the craft collapsed.

CONTROVERSY OVER LEAN ORE

Trouble Between Shenango Company and Fee Owner May Be Settled.

A suit has been brought by the Shenango Furnace company, growing out of a controversy with the fee owner of the Shenango mine, Mrs. Mary E. McCahill, as to whether or not she should be paid royalty upon lean ore mined, removed and stockpiled off the premises, and the purpose of the suit is to enjoin the fee owner from taking steps to enforce the payment of the royalty. The Furnace company claims that the lean ore was piled off the premises with the fee owner's consent, in order that such ore should be saved, and that it was not shipped within the meaning of the lease, and further that it was not merchantable ore. It is currently reported that the prospects are that the matter will be adjusted amicably.

Thieves Destroy Furniture.

Fargo, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thieves broke into the car of furniture shipped by Bishop Mann, when he was transferred to Florida, and broke up a lot of the furniture and chinaware. The loss was heavy.

DULUTH DRUGGIST HAS VALUABLE AGENCY

W. A. Abbett, druggist, 205 West Superior street, has the Duluth agency for the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. SUPREME COURT INTERVENES IN SHOLUND LICENSE CASE

The supreme court of the state has intervened to stop the city commissioners from forthwith revoking the liquor license of Charles Sholund, which was voted away from him by the council last Monday.

Application for intervention, and writ of certiorari, was made by Sholund's attorneys, McCoy & Hanson, before the state supreme court on Saturday last, and the motion was granted, Associate Justice George L. Bunn signing the order. The writ is returnable April 7.

When the writ, which was served on the city commission this afternoon, is returned, a hearing will be held in regard to how much of a trial Sholund had and the testimony will be reviewed. The testimony, as officially recorded, takes up about one and a quarter "sticks" of agate type in the official record. The petition claims that he did not receive a fair trial, and that the action of the commission was arbitrary.

The so-called Hicken ordinance passed a few months ago is attacked, certain sections of it, it is claimed, contraverting the state law governing similar matters.

BIG SUM IS PAID IN TAXES

County Treasurer Has Collected More Than $450,000 Since Jan. 1.

Personal property taxes aggregating more than $450,000 have been paid by Duluth taxpayers since Jan 1, according to the county treasurer's office. Personal property taxes for 1913 became delinquent yesterday. A 10 per cent penalty will attach to all taxes remaining unpaid.

Just how large the percentage of delinquents will be can hardly be estimated by the county treasurer until the checks which have been mailed in during the last two weeks have all been entered on the books of the office. This will require about two weeks. It is not expected, however, that the percentage of outstanding taxes will be any larger this year than in previous years.

The personal property valuation for the city of Duluth for 1913 was $13,192,654. This, figured with a rate of 36.3 mills, would raise $478,892.34 in taxes. The money and credits valuation for the year 1913 was $14,331,882. The tax is fixed by statute at 3 mills on the dollar. This will raise a tax of $43,295.66.

ENDION MISSION LEADS.

Presbyterians Recruit Many Sunday School Pupils.

The Endion church was the winner yesterday in the membership contest, which is held weekly by the Presbyterian churches of the city. The Endion school made a gain of 32 per cent.

On the one side the First Presbyterian school had an attendance of 514 pupils: Second, 204; Endian, 61; total, 779, while on the other side the Westminster had 210; Highland, 58; House of Hope, 47; Glen Avon, 210; Lakeside, 176; Hazelwood, 53; total, 754.

COMMISSIONERS WILL ATTEND MEETING.

The Fifth Ward Hillside Improvement club will hold an important meeting at the Emerson school tomorrow night. The members of the city commission have been invited to attend and it is expected that some of them, if not all, will be present to discuss city affairs and to answer a number of questions which are said to have been prepared by some members of the club.

AGED MAN APPEALS TO COUNTY FOR AID.

This morning Charrier was examined by Police Surgeon Murphy, and he ordered the man taken to the poor farm, where he will be cared for by the county free of charge.

According to Charrier, he came here last fall from North Dakota. He claims to have four sons, one in Duluth, another in Maine and the other two somewhere in the East.

NEW MUSICAL TRIO FOR HOLLAND HOTEL

Duluth is to have a touch of the cabaret spirit again. The Hotel Holland has secured the services of three first-class entertainers who will begin an engagement at that popular hostelry today.

The Polymnia trio, as the entertainers are called, consists of Miss Nelda Felter, violinist and pianist; Miss Eulah Jane Beach, pianist and vocalist; and Miss Mildred Lehner, cellist and pianist. Miss Felter secured her musical education abroad and Miss Lehner is a graduate of Albion college, Mich. Miss Beach has studied under noted musical instructors.

There will be afternoon concerts from 4 to 5 o'clock Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and daily from 12:30 to 1:30, 6 to 8, 10 to 12, and on Sundays from 6 to 8 p. m.

BRITISH ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION

Steamer Discovery Will Leave London About Aug. 1 for the Far South and Will Be Away for Three or Four Years.

London, March 2.—The steamer Discovery, which the late Capt. Scott used in his first Antarctic voyage, has been chartered by the British Antarctic expedition which is to be commanded by J. Foster Stackhouse, and will leave London about Aug. 1 for the far South. Mr. Stackhouse, whose exploratory work has heretofore been confined to Iceland, will make no attempt to reach the Pole. His main purpose will be to determine the coast line of King Edward VII land on one side of the Antarctic circle, and Graham land on the other. Between these two sections of discovered land stretches a vast and practically unexplored region. The expedition will attempt to determine whether this intervening space is land or sea, whether King Edward VII land is part of the great Antarctic continent or merely an island or group of islands set in the frozen sea.

The existence of Graham land, and of Coats land, Enderby land and Kemp land on the Atlantic border of the great ice barrier, as well as the discovery of land south by Lieut. Filchner of the German expedition in 1911, support the continental theory. On the other hand, the great area of pack ice massed on the north and west coasts of King Edward VII land points, Mr. Stackhouse suggests, to the drift of ice northward from the Weddell sea to the Ross sea, presumably through a strait separating King Edward VII land from Graham land. This is the most southerly of British possessions, for the whole region between meridian 2 deg. west and meridian 80 deg. west is claimed for the British crown. The information which the expedition will obtain as to harbors, whaling stations and sealing grounds will be of great service to the whaling industry of the Falkland islands.

Five Scientists in Party.

The crew of the Discovery will consist of twenty-five men and in addition there will be five scientists, several of the ship's officers also undertaking scientific observations. They will have an aeroplane for photographic survey work, and this, too, will be useful in enabling the leader to choose the best route when he wants to advance. Most of the navigating and scientific staff have already been chosen. Lieut. A. E. Harbord of the Royal navy, who was navigating officer on the Nimrod in the Shackleton expedition, will command the Discovery. The first officer will be Lieut. Richard H. Garstin of the Royal Indian Marine, who has a considerable knowledge of surveying, and the navigating officer, who comes from the same service, will be Lieut. R. Beatty, a cousin of Rear Admiral David Beatty. Chief Petty Officer Tom Creen, who sailed with Scott in both his Discovery and Terra Nova expeditions, will be boatswain.

Among the scientific staff will be Lord Congleton of the Grenadier Guards, who has done a great deal of military survey work; the Master of Semphill, only son of Lord Semphill, has served his apprenticeship in engineering, and will have charge of the meteological department, the electrical plant and the motor boat and aeroplane engines; Capt. A. S. Cantrell, who has been lent by the Admiralty, will have charge of the survey work; W. H. Stewart Garnett, M. A., an expert on skis and qualified marine engineer, and D. Hector Pearson, an officer in the Essex Territorials, will be one of the surveyors.

Take Three or Four Years.

The expedition will be away for three or four years. From Capetown, where the scientific instruments will be finally tested, the Discovery will sail to the Falkland islands, a distance of about 5,000 miles. Deep-sea soundings, which will have considerable hydrographical value, will be taken in these little frequented seas. On the way the Discovery will ascertain the exact number of islands contained in the Sandwich group and determine the position of the Shag rocks. Discussing his plans, Mr. Stackhouse said: "After calling at the Falklands, the Discovery will proceed to the east side of Graham land. Here I propose to land a party of fifteen about Dec. 20. Their task will be to determine a doubt as to the insularity of Graham land. The existence of a strait between Graham land would explain the great accumulation of ice between that land and the great barrier. This part of the expedition will have the assistance of the airman. He will, I am convinced, save them much useless sledge-hauling. They will also carry out a large amount of survey work, remaining together twelve or fourteen months. Meanwhile the Discovery will proceed to Larsen's sea and endeavor to fix the coast between Graham land and the base of the last German expedition about 78 deg. south.

"Returning after wintering in the ice, we will pick up the land party about Jan. 1916, and then endeavor to make Charcot land, and the following spring go down the coast to McMurdo sound."

He will leave early in 1917 for New Zealand.

TO FILL POSITION OF LIEUT. FRITZ

City Will Give Civil Service Examinations on March 28.

The next city civil service examination will be held Saturday, March 28, according to the announcement made this morning by Ruben Johnson, secretary of the civil service commission.

Chief interest will center in the examination for promotion to lieutenant of the police department. Two vacancies will have to be filled, one because of the demotion of Lieut. Fritz to the rank of sergeant, which became effective yesterday, and the other through the retirement June 1 of Lieut. John Drawmen of the West end. Both figured in the report of the grand jury which recently investigated the police department.

The others will be for clerks and stenographers. The civil service commission has decided to divide clerks into classes, the lower being those who are paid $60 or less per month and the higher being those who are paid more than $60 per month.

Four of the seven applicants who recently took the examination for appointment to the police force were passed. They were Roy McLean, Martin Steffin, Jr., R. A. Dunham and Victor Isaackson. Ten men applied, but three were unable to obtain a passing percentage in the physical tests.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE IN NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

The growth of newspaper advertising in public confidence is one of the striking things in our great industrial development. Advertising has advanced along with improved methods of merchandising. It has gone hand in hand with sane and honest statements of distribution. In many instances it has blazed the way for honest merchandising. By stimulating sharper competition it has raised the standards until more people believe the statements made by advertisers than ever before. Its more moderate statements and freedom from exaggeration invite greater credibility. The public is being educated away from the old notions regarding advertising and are coming more and more to regard the statements of a merchant as having the weight of an official, responsible utterance of a business man who cannot afford to deceive his customers.

What the editor says may be subject to some discount because of personal prejudice, partisan zeal, moral fervor or literary embellishment; but what a merchant says over his own name must be accepted as a bona fide statement of facts, for it is morally certain that he will have to make good on some of his statements, if not all of them. He cannot fool the people of his own town continually for any great length of time, neither can the manufacturer maintain the distribution of an article that is found to be lacking in any of the virtues that are claimed for it. Even through a closer dealer co-operation it is not possible to keep an article on the market which does not come up to the claims made in the advertising.

No better proof of the growing disposition of the public to read and accept the statements of an advertiser can be found than the modern practice of public service corporations and candidates for public office to use the advertising columns of newspapers in which to influence public opinion. Public service corporations, such as telephone and lighting companies, have found that they have more to gain through a dignified statement of their financial condition and their facilities for serving the public in the advertising columns of a newspaper than through ordinary methods of publicity, such as booklets or circulars. These corporations are selling service. They are subject to the usual prejudice and are embarrassed by many misrepresentations and misconceptions as to their relations with the public. By using advertising columns in the newspapers they are able not only to educate the public regarding the use of their service and its many advantages, but at the same time are able to gradually break down prejudice that is supposed to exist against corporations of this kind.

The man who is running for public office has also found that a liberal use of the advertising columns of the local newspaper enables him to make an appeal to the voters in such a candid, dignified way as to finally win their respect and confidence. The public is quick to detect any flimflam in advertising of this kind and it is also quite ready to make due allowance for a man's prejudice in favor of his own qualifications for office. A man can give the public a great deal of interesting information about himself in the advertising columns of a newspaper, and while the personal pronoun may seem in bad taste at first and somewhat obnoxious to certain over-sensitive people, the public will soon take a rational view of it and will conclude that a man has a perfect right to tell the people what they ought to know about him when he is running for office. In this way he secures an audience among the people who read and think and this influence is worth something, and if his statements are properly written in manfashion he can hardly fail to make a good impression upon the electorate.

If the advertising columns of a newspaper are a good place in which to influence public opinion and win public favor for public service corporations and politicians, it is not easy to escape the conclusion that the newspaper is the medium through which the merchant may build up his business in public favor.

JAIL FOR KISSING WIFE.

Had Parted and He Publicly Forced Salute on Her.

Savannah, Ga., March 2.—Whether or not a man has a right to kiss his wife against her will was decided against the husband by Recorder Schwarz in the police court when he sentenced Morgan Martin to thirty days in jail for displaying such affection for his spouse over her protest.

Mrs. Martin has instituted suit for divorce, and has been granted her first decree. Martin met her on the street, and after attempting to persuade her to return to him, held her while he kissed her goodby.

THRIFT SHOWN BY FOREIGNERS

Boston, Mass., March 2.—In view of the agitation for a so-called living wage which has been prevalent in this state for two or three years past and especially because of the stories of great hardships put upon foreigners in the mills at Lawrence and other textile centers, the amounts of money being sent abroad, as officially shown on the bank commissioner's records, are interesting.

The commissioner's records show that last year more than double the amount was sent abroad by foreigners compared with 1909 and that for the last five years there has been a steady increase with the exception of a small falling off in 1911. While the money sent through private partnerships and banks under the commissioner only is considered in these figures, the total for last year was more than $9,000,000. The postoffices, express companies and other agencies send many millions more, not to speak of the sums carried back by foreigners and friends returning to their home lands.

The statutes provide that all persons, partnerships, associations and corporations engaged in the business of selling steamship tickets, that, in conjunction therewith, receive money for safekeeping or transmission abroad, shall give a bond to the state treasurer for an amount to be set by the bank commissioner. When this bond has been accepted a license is issued. It is then that they become subject to the supervision of the bank commissioner and their books and accounts are carefully examined once a year, at least. They also are required to file a report each year.

The annual fee for a license authorizing the holder thereof to receive money for transmission abroad is $25, $50 if authority to receive money for safekeeping is also given. During the year ending on Oct. 31, 1913, there was received in fees the sum of $3,200. There were under the supervision of the department at that time eighty-seven, a decrease of ten since Oct. 31, 1912; of this number, thirty-five received deposits of money for safekeeping amounting, on Oct. 31 last, to $1,561,876, an increase during the year of $249,061, the number of deposits being 14,442, an increase of 1,434. The total amount of money sent for deposit in the Italian postal savings bank during the year was $1,105,544—an increase of $465,156. The total amount of money received for transmission abroad during the same period was $9,211,389—an increase of $2,100,529.

The following table is compiled from the last five annual reports and shows the amount of money forwarded to various foreign countries:

WARSHIP HAS BECOME A MOLASSES CARRIER

New York, March 2.—From a trim fighting vessel, known in all the principal ports of the world a few years ago, to a tank barge, is the fate of the old cruiser Detroit, once the pride of the navy. The cruiser was stricken from the naval list nearly four years ago, was sold and now has been converted into a tank barge for use in the transportion of molasses.

In a few days she will be towed from New York to Havana, where she will take on a cargo of molasses for delivery at New Orleans. She has a capacity of 400,000 gallons of molasses and is equipped with powerful steam pumps for handling it. The Detroit was built at Portsmouth, N. H., in 1892. She had a displacement of about 2,000 tons and carried five ten-inch rapid-firing guns in her main battery. During the war with Spain she was commanded by Commander James H. Dayton, now a rear admiral on the retired list.

One of the achievements of the Detroit was her capture of the Catalina, to the westward of Havana. She also took an active part in the bombardment of San Juan Imposing On His Chickens.

New Wilmington, Pa., Feb. 27.—During the winter C. C. Jaxtheimer's chickens often remain on the roost until nearly 8 o'clock in the morning and retire to the roost about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Jaxtheimer has placed a tungsten electric light in the coop. This is allowed to burn until 8 or 9 o'clock at night and is turned on early in the morning. As a consequence the hens are scratching around several hours longer than would be the case ordinarily.

Discount Rebel Money.

Brownsville, Tex., March 2.—A local bank announces that the recently issued money of Mexican Constitutionalists will be accepted at the rate of 30 cents on the dollar. Brownsville does a large business with Matamoras. Rebel headquarters are in Eastern Mexico, but this is the first bank to accept rebel money.

DID NOT TAKE IT.

Newark Star: Sandy MacIvor was "no feelin' just well," so he went to the doctor.

"What do you drink?" demanded the medico.

"Whisky."

"How much?"

"Maybe a bottle a day."

"Do you smoke?"

"Yes."

"Well, you give up whisky and tobacco altogether."

Sandy took up his cap, and in three steps reached the door.

"Here!" called the doctor, "you have not paid for my advice!"

"Ahm no takin' it," snapped Sandy as he shut the door behind him.

TOO MUCH COMPETITION.

Judge: "Hang it!" mutters the enraptured youth. "What chance have I to get her alone? She has to go to the auto show, the millinery show, the land show and—Oh, well, there's no show for me!"

UNEMPLOYED INVADE FASHIONABLE CHURCH

New York, March 2.—The unemployed invaded Fifth avenue last night and stormed a fashionable church on that thoroughfare. As the choir of the First Presbyterian church was singing 100 men entered and marched down the aisle. Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, the pastor, stopped the service to welcome the marchers.

Frank Tannenbaum, the Industrial Workers of the World leader, arose and said:

"We are hungry and we are homeless. We want something to eat and a place to sleep."

Other speakers said they wanted to sleep in the church.

At the close of the service a purse was made up to provide food and lodging for the men for the night.

EVERY SALOON IN MEMPHIS CLOSES

Memphis, Tenn., March 2.—Of 700 Federal liquor licenses held in Memphis 576 were surrendered to the county attorney general yesterday when the "nuisance act" went into effect, ending the day of the open saloon in Tennessee. Without exception, according to the police reports, every saloon closed its doors for the last time promptly at midnight Saturday.

BRIBERY LAID TO TWO OKLAHOMANS

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 2.—"Dynamite Ed" Perry, widely known as a political leader in Oklahoma, and P. H. Weathers, an architect of this city, were arrested last night on a warrant charging them with having attempted to bribe P. J. Goulding, a member of a commission appointed by Governor Lee Cruce to let the contract for the erection of a $1,500,000 state capitol building here. They were released on bonds of $2,000 each.

Information filed by the county attorney charged that Perry offered to pay $415,000 to Goulding should building plans submitted by a contracting firm, of which Weathers is head, be accepted by the capitol commission.

MOTORCYCLES FOR AMBULANCE SURGEONS

Chicago, March 2.—Ambulance surgeons at police stations will be furnished with motorcycles so that they can respond more quickly to emergency calls, it is announced by the health department. Each motorcycle will be equipped with a surgeon's case and a machine for producing artificial respiration.

AVALANCHE KILLS ALPINE CLIMBERS

Chable, Switzerland, March 2.—Three Swiss Alpine climbers, Richard Meyland, Henry Dentand and Marmilled Droguet, were killed Sunday while ascending the Rosa Blanche peak. The men, roped together, had attained a height of 5,000 feet when an avalanche swept them over a precipice. The bodies of Meyland and Dentand were recovered.

WILSON'S INCOME TAXED IN BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., Mar. 2.—President Woodrow Wilson is among those whose income tax returns will be filed with the collector of internal revenues here. Collector Hanna wrote to Secretary Tumulty early last week offering to be on hand to make any explanations desired, and inclosing the necessary blanks. In filing his papers in Baltimore, President Wilson will follow the example of his Democratic predecessor, Grover Cleveland, for under the income tax legislation—afterwards decided unconstitutional by the United States supreme court—President Cleveland filed his income tax returns with the internal revenue collector for this district.

LUTHERAN SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

Workers of All Such Schools at Head of Lakes to Confer.

Local Sunday school workers will meet tomorrow night at Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. The gathering will be the occasion of the first conference of Lutheran Sunday school workers ever held in the city.

Every Lutheran Sunday school in Duluth and Superior is expected to be represented at the gathering. The Lutheran churches are probably the most numerous at the Head of the Lakes, there being about thirty-five or forty churches.

Among the speakers will be Rev. Carl G. Olson, Rev. John A. Krantz, Rev. O. H. Nelson of Superior, Rev. W. H. Gable of Superior, Rev. J. N. Lockrem of Superior, Rev. J. H. Stenberg, Rev. C. C. Swan, and other pastors representing the German, English, Norwegian, Swedish and Finnish Lutheran churches.

MERRITT SCHOOL NOT OVERCROWDED

Reports published in a morning paper to the effect that the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street, is overcrowded and that children have been denied admission are not founded on facts according to a statement made this morning by C. N. Paulis, principal of the school.

"While we are somewhat crowded and have enrolled 425 pupils, still no children have been denied admission," said Mr. Paulis. "As is customary in February we intended starting a class and five mothers brought their children to the school. As each of these children was under 6 years of age they believed it best to wait until the opening of school in the fall before starting their children."

SUNDAY SCHOOL WILL GIVE ENTERTAINMENT.

Preparations are being made by the Sunday school of the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, for a musical entertainment to be given in the church parlors on Friday evening. The program will include musical and literary selections. C. E. Dice and R. R. Forward are in charge of the arrangements.

The program follows:

The Philathea Society of the Swedish Baptist church will be entertained Friday evening at the home of E. Fredrickson, 1931 East Seventh street.

Deports Many Insane.

Mandan, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the term of Judge Johnson as county judge he has succeeded in having twenty-three insane persons from this county deported to their former homes in Europe. The latest was Katherina Saiti, a domestic, who began to act strangely. She was adjudged insane. A sister from Minneapolis and a special representative of the immigration department took the girl to New York.

STEEL TRADE LOOKS GOOD

Many Blast Furnaces Operating at High Percentage Rate.

Steel Quotations Are Unchanged, But Foundry Iron Is Stiffening.

Conditions in the iron and steel trade are satisfactory, according to advices from the manufacturing centers. It is estimated that, starting in this week, the blast furnaces of the United States Steel corporation are operating on a basis of 82 per cent of capacity, with the average of independents slightly below that figure.

It is expected that the United States Steel corporation will show an increase of between 300,000 and 400,000 in its unfilled tonnage during February, which would compare favorably with its January increase.

General quotations in steel products are unchanged, but the market in foundry iron is stiffening up, the furnaces now asking from 50 cents to $1 advance for deliveries beyond July 1.

Further idle plants in different parts of the country are going into operation. The Etna blast furnace at Newcastle, Pa., that had been idle for several months, has resumed operations and the Steel corporation is now working its plants there to full capacity. Orders have been given to start another furnace at the North works of the Carnegie Steel company.

Incoming business of the Republic Iron & Steel company is said to be sufficient to bring its operations up to 90 per cent of capacity. Officials of the company regard the outlook as very satisfactory.

GATES CREAKED; IRRITATE HORSE

Lack of Oil on Track Protection Results in Damage Suit.

The presence and not the absence of gates on a railroad grade crossing is responsible for a personal injury suit filed Saturday afternoon in district court.

Mrs. Anna Wongstedt was kicked by her horse, which became frightened at the creaky sound of the gates and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company is asked to pay.

On Aug. 22, 1913, the plaintiff and her husband were driving between West Duluth and Midway. On one grade crossing, protected by gates, the horse and wagon had just cleared the track when the gates were lowered. In closing the gates a creaky, grating noise was made, which irritated and frightened the horse so as to cause it to kick and plunge. The plaintiff claims that she was struck on her right knee and that her left hand was broken by the hoofs of the beast.

The company is charged with negligence in neglecting to keep the gates properly oiled.

BIG INCREASES IN STATE DEBTS SHOWN

Iowa's Per Capita Liability Is Lowest, Being 3 Cents.

Washington, March 2.—Preliminary figures made public by the director of census, W. J. Harris, show that the total indebtedness of the forty-eight states of the Union, less sinking fund assets, on June 30, 1913, was $342,251,000, an increase of $107,342,000, or nearly 50 per cent, over the total ten years ago.

The per capita debt of Iowa, less sinking fund assets last year, amounted to only 3 cents; in Oregon it was 4 cents, while in Minnesota and Wisconsin it was less than $1.

The total debt of Massachusetts, the report said, represented 23.3 per cent of the debt of all the states.

GOVERNOR SHY AS TO CANDIDACY

Intimates That He Is Not Certain That He Will File Again—Also That If He Does He Will Not Enter Conference But Will Submit to the People Direct.

Governor Eberhart spent most of yesterday in the city, the guest of County Auditor Odin Halden. The governor came to Duluth to attend the ski tournament, and declared himself as very much delighted with the sport. He came here from Warroad and Mahnomen, at both of which places he was helping dedicate high schools.

The governor was modest, in fact diffident. In speaking of his candidacy for re-election, he referred to it always as a possibility, although everybody takes it for granted that there is no doubt of his filing for renomination. He said:

"If I decide to become a candidate for governor it will be in accordance with the law as set forth in the general primary act of 1912. Whatever is done, if such a candidacy develops, will be strictly in accordance with that law, and under it I will submit my case to the people direct."

In view of the fact that nobody has ever expected the governor or his machine to go into the proposed conference of anti-Eberhart Republicans slated for March 19 in Minneapolis, except, perhaps, to have emissaries there to make all the trouble possible, his statement contains nothing startling or new. If the potential attitude assumed by the governor were anything but assumed, it might mean that should the anti-Eberhart forces manage to get together on some one candidate, thus reducing and perhaps wiping out the chances of the present incumbent to succeed himself, he might consider that discretion is the better part of valor, and retire. But nobody's expectation is so sanguine as that.

Spring Opening

TODAY

Authoritative Styles

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets

Paris has spoken, and Dress Fashions have therefore been set for Spring.

Modistes, milliners, tailors—all have ordered their gowns. Every westbound ship is bringing a wealth of feminine apparel from Europe. Some dressmakers are studying and copying these new designs; and in a week or two you yourself will be enraptured before the splendor of the new Fashions for Spring.

Now Is the Time to Select Your Corset.
Choose a Warner's—for a Warner's is designed to accurately set off the fashions of the season—wear it for a couple of weeks, and then have your Spring suit or gown fitted over the new corset. You will be surprised how much easier the fitting will be and how much more satisfactory the result.

The New Warner Styles—
Laced Back or Front as You Prefer—
Meet Every Detail of Fashion's Edict.
New gowns are fluffy and full over the hips, and Warner's Corsets have long skirts inset with elastic gores or lacings to permit the freedom necessary without disturbing the drape of the gown.

Your Waist This Season Must Be Natural
—unconfined, not unnaturally round and confined; and for certain extreme gowns reflecting the Venus de Milo pose, the corset must curve over the abdomen. There are Warner Corsets designed to create this pose in easy, natural lines—corsets designed to support the figure, too, if you prefer.

Diaphanous, Veil-like Bodices Are Extremely Smart
—but the beauty of the blouse depends largely on the brassiere over which it is worn. There are Warner's Brassieres different from anything you have ever seen; delicate, lacey and neat—a fitting adjunct to the beauty of your lingerie and your Warner's Corset.

The Spring showing of Authoritative Styles of Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets and Warner's Brassieres will open today in all the stores.

Choose Your Warner's Now.
Wear it when fitted to your new gown—
The result is satisfaction.

Woman's Realm

The meeting of the Junior Guild of St. James, which was held last evening at the Cathedral hall, proved an interesting evening for the girls and boys who attended. The organization is open to every girl and boy of the city who is interested and the object is charity. The special activity of the society will be to work for the benefit of the St. James' orphanage and it is planned to give a dinner and entertainment on Easter Sunday afternoon at which the little children at the orphanage will be guests of the guild members at the Cathedral hall.

Bishop McGolrick presided at the meeting last evening and the members were entertained with piano solos by Hugh McDonald, a reading, "The Unwelcome Guest," by little Miss Bessie Blackwell and a group of songs by Master Edward Kreimer.

The older girls of the guild are planning a Lenten sewing class to meet weekly for sewing for the orphans.

W. C. T. U. PROGRAM.

Women Plan Afternoon Entertainment.

An entertainment has been planned by a group of members of the West Duluth Women's Christian Temperance Union to be given Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the club rooms of the West Duluth public library. Charades representing "The Inauguration of the Nations" will form part of the program and in addition there will be a reading by Mrs. Frank Parker, piano solo, "Fantasie Impromptu" (Chopin) by Mrs. E. Hall; vocal solo, "Spring Has Come" (Maud Valerie White) by Miss Sylvia Bevier.

IN CALIFORNIA.

George Crosby Host at Golf Party.

George H. Crosby of this city was host recently at a golfing party at the Los Angeles Country club, Pasadena, Cal., where he is spending the winter with his family at their winter home. All of the guests are well known in their home cities and most of them in Duluth. Among the guests were:

F. E. House, W. J. Olcott, Howard T. Abbott, Charles Nelmeyer, Charles Munger, Albert M. Marshall, Dr. D. C. Rood, William Prindle, George H. Crosby, all of Duluth; H. H. Grave, Superior; Charles H. Davis, Saginaw, Mich.; F. D. Burr, St. Paul; Dr. Lankershim, Boston, Mass.; Benjamin Myers, St. Paul, and Mr. Johnstone, St. Paul.

ART CLASS.

Club Women Study Painters.

Miss Gertrude Carey will give a short talk on the "Pre-Raphaelite School" tomorrow afternoon at the regular meeting of the Art class of the Twentieth Century club, which will be held at the library clubroom at 3:15 o'clock, and after her talk short papers will be read by Miss Beatrice Bolton, Miss Grace Vroman and Mrs. W. H. Schilling on the painters, Holman Hunt, Ford Madox Brown and D. G. Rossetti.

For Bride-to-Be.

A number of social affairs have been planned for the week in honor of Miss Esther Sosnovsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sosnovsky of 528 West Fourth street, whose marriage to Samuel Banks of Minneapolis will take place next Sunday. Tuesday evening Miss Rae Abelson of 625 East Third street will entertain at a theater party at the Lyceum for the May Irwin performance of "Widow by Proxy"; Wednesday evening Miss Bess Altman of 531 West Third street will be hostess at an informal evening party at her home. Thursday evening a number of Miss Sosnovsky's friends have planned a dancing party and Friday evening there will be a theater party at the Orpheum given by Misses Esther and Rae Zurosky of 220 Third avenue east.

ADVISES TEACHERS TO PASS ALONG THEIR GOOD IDEAS

"Education is the growth of the individual, but interest must be the basis of all education," said R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools this morning in a most interesting talk given at the meeting of the piano teachers' round table of the Matinee Musicale held at the assembly hall of the Y. W. C. A.

Mr. Denfeld's talk was principally on the value of co-operation, especially in educational work and he said that nothing is lost in the exchange of ideas and only gain can result.

Mr. Denfeld spoke of the value of original work, and scouted the idea that any teacher need fear giving away her ideas. "No person," he said, "can gain as much benefit from ideas secured at second hand as those which are worked out originally. Don't consider your ideas as your stock in trade, and don't fear to pass them on. No system is so perfect that it can stand alone, and the forces that are educating must work together. The good things that one gets should be passed along to others."

R. E. DENFELD.

The committee in charge includes Mesdames A. D. McPherson, A. L. Snyder and W. G. Starkey.

FOR CHOIR.

Dinner Will Be Served at Church.

A dinner will be served at the Pilgrim Congregational church Wednesday evening for the members of the church choir. Mrs. Reifsteck, who is a graduate of Grinnell college in Iowa, will give several selections and an informal program is being planned to follow the dinner. There will be covers for about thirty-five.

Roswold-Hamilton.

Miss Wilhelmina Roswold and Lucius E. Hamilton, both of this city, were quietly married Saturday afternoon at the residence of Dr. J. W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church. A wedding luncheon followed the ceremony at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Roswold, 3801 West Third street. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will be at home in Superior, Wis., after April 1.

Farewell Party.

Mrs. William Hunter of 2403 West Third street entertained Saturday evening at her home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunter, who will leave this week for South Bend, Ind., to reside. The evening was spent playing 500 and a supper was served after the games. Bouquets of carnations and roses were used about the rooms and the guests were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
William Sennott, C. Lum,
Arthur Hunter, S. Johnson,
Edward Sloeum, J. P. Byrnes.
Misses—
Aneta Johnson, Marion Hunter,
Messrs.—
Harry Byrnes, Chester Sennott.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Storey of 531 East Sixth street were hosts at a dinner party last evening at their home in honor of their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. John Forest of Cloquet, Minn. Besides the honor guests covers were laid for:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
E. J. Campbell, John Riley,
Max Stein, Carl Schau,
O. Haley, Frank Cole.

Afternoon Class.

The afternoon department of the Bishop's club will meet next Saturday afternoon at the clubrooms in Cathedral hall with Miss Mary Shesgren as leader. Alice Meynell's works will be studied and some of her poems will be read by Mrs. Mary Adeline Nelson. There will also be piano numbers by Miss Winnifred Corcoran and Miss Nina O'Brien of the Villa Scholastica and Mrs. Nina Osborne Batson of Superior will give a group of vocal solos. Miss Jane Crowley will read and the current events discussion will be led by Miss Belle Flaherty.

LYCEUM—Motion pictures.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"Night on Broadway."

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Mad Magician and Musical Comedy Star Feature New Vaudeville Bill.

Frank Tinney, now grown prosperous and famous, was the first of that particular brand of comedians known as the "nuts" to burst on the astonished gaze of the vaudeville public of Duluth. Then came the gentleman who paraded the aisles of the Orpheum with a shotgun demanding applause for his partner. This week comes No. 3 in the person of Van Hoven, who calls himself the Mad Magician. Magician he is not. Comedian he surely is, judging from the shouts of laughter which greeted him Sunday evening. His antics with two small boys whom he gets out of the gallery, and their handling of a cake of ice and other "props" had the audience almost hysterical last evening. Van Hoven "kids" the audience, "kids" himself, "kids" the orchestra, and in fifteen minutes he is on the stage presents nothing but sheer nonsense. If you like "one of those silly acts," Van Hoven has it, and he was the riotous hit of a very good bill last evening.

The headliner this week is Cecil Lean of musical comedy fame, and Cleo Mayfield. Lean's personality made a fortune for several musical comedy producers, and he is apparently now trying to make it work for himself in vaudeville. He has a clever little act consisting of songs and foolery. His telephone song, giving a conversation between a man playing poker and his wife, is most amusing and very cleverly conceived. His burlesque on "The Talkies" is also good, although the audience did not seem to "get it" at first. He and his assistants give the "pictures" and a gramophone gives the conversation, but they do not "synchronate" properly.

The Brads are two pantomime acrobats, whose comedy pantomime work is as funny as their acrobatic work is startling and original. The man cuts a very grotesque figure and does some peculiar tumbles and falls. The woman is a very supple acrobat, and the act as a whole is quite out of the ordinary.

Eugene Damond is to be congratulated on ignoring the usual tricks employed by violinists to catch the attention of vaudeville audiences. He refuses to "play down" to what is popularly supposed by musicians to be the "vaudeville level," and he got his reward last evening in the most generous applause he received, in spite of the fact that he is second on the bill. He is a young violinist of quite exceptional ability, and without any annoying affectations. He apparently takes his art seriously, and last evening played such numbers as Sarasate's "Hungarian Airs" and the beautiful serenade of Drdla. His playing would be well worth while, not only on any vaudeville bill, but in recital or concert work.

Two dancing acts are presented by Crouch and Welch and Johnny Small and the Small Sisters. The former are two very small and very agile dancers, and the man introduces some rough and tumble comedy which seemed to catch the fancy of the audience Sunday night. The two Small Sisters appear in some rather startling costumes and do a series of dances to the satisfaction of the audience. They don't sing much and it can be endured.

Asaki, a young Japanese, who juggles on roller skates, opens the bill in a lively manner, and two good reels of comedy motion pictures close it. It is a rollicking good comedy program, and should entertain those whose Lenten observance does not keep them away from the theaters this week.

AT THE EMPRESS.

"A Night on Broadway" One of Best of Musical Tabloids.

With lines that are really funny, a chorus that can sing and dance and principals who capably handle their parts, "A Night On Broadway," which opened at the Empress theater yesterday for the first half of this week, is easily one of the best tabloids seen at the local playhouse since this new entertainment came into vogue.

Originally "A Night On Broadway" was a popular New York success, but it has been cut down considerably, leaving the best parts of the original production, including the lines and songs. But best of all is the presence in the production now of Harry A. Emerson as Henry Fielder, who is the center of action in the play.

Mr. Emerson is very fat, but his size has a great deal to do with the success of the show. He is an exceptionally able comedian and far above the average seen at the local playhouse. The hit of the production is his song number, "Hinky Dee," of which the audience demanded ten encores last evening.

Mr. Emerson is assisted by a chorus that is well trained, beautifully costumed and good looking. The girls appear in several quick changes, the special feature of which is the freshness and brightness of the costumes. Of the principals who prove valuable assistants for Mr. Emerson are Grayce Celeste as Maranda, the Broadway actress.

A novelty at the opening of the show is the cabaret number presented by Jacque Raymond, the director of the orchestra. It includes a series of late song hits rendered by members of the cast and the chorus, who sit in various parts of the theater.

"A Night On Broadway" will continue until Wednesday evening, together with the daily matinees.

AT THE LYCEUM.

May Irwin and "Officer 666" Are Coming Attractions.

Officer 666, who, by unanimous vote, has been acclaimed the funniest and most popular policeman that ever swung a night stick, will soon be on post at the Lyceum where his efforts to extricate himself from a web of complications in which he becomes entangled are certain to arouse the usual whirlwind of laughter that has followed in his wake ever since he was appointed on the laughing squad a year ago.

"Widow By Proxy," the new farce to exploit Miss May Irwin's genial personality this season, and in which she will be seen at the Lyceum tomorrow and Wednesday nights, is said to be much better in dramatic structure than have been her plays of other years. The new farce concerns the adventures of Gloria Grey (a singing teacher), Miss Irwin, and her chum, Dolorez Pennington, both of them suffering with a surplus of lack of cash.

Gloria Grey is a woman of business. To quote her own words: "She has inherited all of her father's genius for clipping coupons, but alas, she has inherited no coupons to clip." Necessity drives, and her friend, whose husband is supposed to have died in Alaska, is housed under her roof, the object of her charity. Finally, word comes from the family of the supposed widow that a legacy is to be had if the widow will appear at the family manor and sign some papers. But the door of that manor has been slammed in the widow's face before, and she rises in her pride and declares that she will not go. It is then that Gloria's genius asserts itself and she decides to impersonate the widow. Incidentally she falls in love with the cousin of the man whose widow she is impersonating, and just when a proposition of marriage has been made and accepted, word comes that the dead husband is not dead at all, but is coming home again. Then comes the whirlwind of confusion, the proper explanation and a happy curtain.

NEW READY-MADE AERIAL OUTFITS.

Popular Mechanics Magazine: Portable aerial outfits for propelling bicycles, canoes, boats and ice craft, have now appeared on the market, to take the place of the homemade affairs that are being built in various parts of the country. Each outfit consists of a one-cylinder, 4-horse power, high-speed gasoline engine, an aerial propeller of small diameter attached directly to the engine shaft, and fittings for mounting the machine on a bicycle or a canoe. The engine weighs only eleven pounds, is very compact, and is completely inclosed so that it cannot easily get out of order.

POSTMASTER'S WIDOW ENTERS A CONVENT

MRS. CHARLES EMORY SMITH.

Mrs. Charles Emory Smith, widow of the former postmaster general of the United States, has entered a convent. At least she is in the Institute of Our Lady's Christian Doctrine going through a novitiate preparatory to taking the veil. She was the daughter of Dr. Washington Nichols and sister of Mrs. James B. Clews. She proposes to devote her time to life among the poor on the East side of New York.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Husband-Hunting in a Big City a Foolish Idea.

There are freaks and to spare in large cities, declares a prominent woman author. She advises the unmarried woman desiring to get married to go to a big city.

The freaks are of the masculine persuasion, and she believes that every woman who will visit a great metropolis will be able to secure a husband from the ranks of those she has thus designated. Whether this is merely a feminine thrust at the types of men produced in the great city or an intimation that the unmarried women in the country are so anxious to become wives that even a freak is acceptable as a husband, is another story.

However, I do not fear, considering the glowing description of the men available as husbands in our large cities, that there will be a great exodus of women from the country. Women may have been willing once to marry anyone just for the sake of being married. But this isn't true today, nor is the appellation "freak" any sort of a recommendation to the woman in search of a husband.

Perhaps the woman author's idea in its final sense is that there are many more chances in a city for marriage than in a small town or village. And this has elements of logic and truth, for there are more chances of every nature and kind in a big puddle, and that is what a city may be likened to. Getting about in the world and meeting people is one way of advancing one's self in life.

I, for one, should not advise that any woman leave her home for a big city in the hope of winning a husband. If she has friends of the right caliber, with established homes where she can be entertained and launched into a good social environment, the change from a small place may be advantageous. But the idea of leaving a good home for an untried city in the hopes of finding a husband is foolhardy.

Hunting for a husband in a strange city is like hunting for a needle in a haystack, unless one can provide the proper surroundings while the hunt is in progress. These are a home and the guidance and friendship of people established in some quarter of the city and in its society.

Young people have gone half way around the world to meet their fate and have met it, but more of them meet it at home, and that is the safest place.

FEARSOME.

Consider the way women dressed last summer—which was their business, of course, not ours. Consider the way women have been dressing even on the coldest days of the winter just passing—which is also their business and none of ours.

But, considering these things, don't you, rather, dread the inevitable coming of summer?

If he tells that "millions and millions" story a few times more, Sulzer will have it down well enough to take it out on the Chautauqua platforms.

THE MORALITY OF THE MASS CONVENTIONS.

The Eberhart cuckoo press is greatly agitated about the mass convention that has been called to select a candidate to run against Eberhart for the Republican nomination for governor.

Having a fit already started about this, naturally it must throw a few more convulsions over the fact that the Democrats are also going to have a mass convention to talk over Democratic governorship candidates.

We wish the Eberhart cuckoo press a speedy recovery from these alarming spasms, and we predict with much confidence that they will get over it.

And of course the public will have to have patience with the patients. It will have to make allowances, and not be too greatly disgusted with the cuckoo repetition of the assertion that the mass conventions are "out of harmony with the primary system" and a "direct violation of the primary law."

> Instead of a convention to overthrow the primary law, as the enemies of the movement and the machine's chore-boys speak of it, the big meeting to be held in March is merely a monster conference for the purpose of helping the people to secure, through the primary law, that which the primary law was designed to give them—control of the nominations for all offices. Such a movement is a union of the forces that stand for clean politics and against boss rule. Has that element of the electorate not just as much right to come together in free and open conference to plan its action as have the bosses and the machine crowd to sit in constant session?

There can be but one answer to that.

The only difference between the conference proposed by the mass convention plan and the conference now being daily held by the ringsters for whom the cuckoo press is speaking is that the mass conventions will be in the open light of day, and the machine conferences are held secretly and in the dark.

Which is more moral, which is more public-spirited, which is less dangerous to the spirit of the direct primary—the daily secret back room conferences of the gangsters, or the public, open conference of the mass convention plan?

The part of good citizenship is to hope that Minnesota will get out of the November election the best available material for the governorship. Since that depends wholly upon the parties, the good citizen who is thinking of the state's welfare first, last and all the time will wish the highest possible success to both of these party conferences in mass conventions.

Each should be attended by a full and representative assemblage of the party members. The county conventions that will select delegates to these conventions should have behind them the best elements of the respective parties.

For our part, we hope that public interest in both of these conventions will be such that each will select the very best man it can find in its party, and that the two candidates who face each other in the general election in November will be of such a character that the state can't lose no matter which wins.

It would seem to be up to Becker to emulate Julian Hawthorne by putting out a story with some title such as "From the Tomb to the Tombs."

THE FARMER AND THE CONTRACT LABOR LAW.

A North Dakota farmer needed help to gather his crops, so he drove to the nearest town and got five men.

But it happened that the town was just across the line in Canada, and a zealous American immigrant officer arrested the farmer and the five men on a charge of violating the law against importing laborers under contract. He not only got after the farmer, but he ordered the men, who were Slovenians, deported—not to Canada but to Austria.

The judge before whom the case came, being a man with an instinct for justice somewhat larger than his consideration for the technicalities of the law, imposed only a nominal fine on the farmer, and released the five laborers. But the immigrant agent obdurately began a civil suit against the farmer for five thousand dollars, a thousand for each imported laborer. If the suit prevails against the farmer, probably it will ruin him.

So Congressman Young of Valley City, North Dakota, has introduced a bill exempting farm labor from the contract labor law. He says that while the city man may under this law import butlers, footmen and other domestic servants from abroad, the farmer can't import farm workers no matter how much he needs them; and he thinks this is unjust.

It certainly seems unfair enough. If Mr. Young's bill can go through so it won't interfere with the really excellent purpose of the contract labor law, which is to prevent large employers from bearing the labor market by importing cheap foreign labor, it certainly ought to.

Sixty-five tons of illicit oleomargarine were confiscated by Federal officials in Chicago the other day. With that amount on hand it would seem as if it would have been a comparatively easy matter to grease the ways.

THE SKI TOURNAMENT.

Congratulations to the Duluth Ski club on the highly interesting and successful tournament it had yesterday on Chester hill. Incidentally, we believe it is to be congratulated also on its return to the national association, because this surely will work toward making Duluth one of the many things it ought to be—the center of ski exploits on this continent.

Ski-jumping is a hardy sport, exciting and exhilarating to play, and exciting and exhilarating—if cold on the feet—to watch. It's no weakling's game. The start from the towering peak of the slide, the swift and breath-taking descent, the mighty leap from the jump-off, the bird-like flight through the air, the hundred-foot jump high above the ground, the precipitous landing, the recovery—all these are feats of skill, agility, nerve and courage. They bring out in the followers of this heroic sport high qualities which are useful in life, and those who fail to produce all these qualities must find some other game to play.

By the enterprise of the Duluth enthusiasts a splendid slide has been arranged, in a picturesque valley on the hillside, a place that is peculiarly fitting and is so arranged that we shall hope soon to hear that a new world's record has been made there. There ought to be not one but many ski tournaments there each winter, and as often as our neighbor cities can spare it, the national tournament should be held there.

Moreover, those who do not play the game themselves, but who like to witness deeds of high courage and great skill, ought to get out in large numbers and witness these tournaments. They will be giving themselves a new and stimulating experience, and they will also be encouraging the development of a sport that ought to reach its highest development in Duluth.

A scientist has died of the bite of a snake known as a "krait." It has been the general impression that such occurrences were more likely in the way of case goods.

THE PLAIN MEANING OF THE TREATY.

The other day The Herald said that if its memory did not betray it, the senate when it confirmed the Hay-Pauncefote treaty showed its complete understanding of its meaning when it voted down an amendment authorizing the very thing which has been attempted by the law exempting American coastwise vessels from the payment of canal tolls.

Investigation develops the fact that The Herald's memory did not play it false.

On December 20, 1900, when the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was before the senate, Senator Bard of California offered the following amendment:

> Article III. The United States reserves the right in the regulation and management of the canal to discriminate in respect of the charges of traffic in favor of vessels of its own citizens engaged in coastwise trade.

After full discussion, the senate rejected this amendment by a vote of forty-three to twenty-seven.

The amendment was beaten because it was abhorrent to the terms of the treaty, and because it was an entering wedge for a ship subsidy scheme.

It is hard indeed to believe in the integrity of any senator who now declares that the treaty does not inhibit the exemption of American coastwise vessels from the payment of canal tolls.

Those still living who participated in the framing of the treaty all declare that there can be no doubt that the exemption law is in violation of the treaty. The record of congress shows that the senate, with full knowledge of the conditions under which the treaty was framed, refused deliberately to adopt an amendment that would, if Great Britain had approved it, have made this provision possible.

Those who support the exemption support a project to violate the nation's pledged word and to sully the nation's honor, and they are giving their sanction to a scheme to introduce in disguised shape the infamous ship subsidy steal which has been beaten every time it came up, and which will continue to be beaten.

And among those who stand for national dishonor and support this illegitimate offspring of the ship subsidy scheme, we are sorry to say, is Senator Clapp of Minnesota.

It will be time enough to worry about war with Mexico when the music publishers announce songs along the line of "Just As the Sun Went Down" and "Farewell, mother, you may never (bass—you may never, mother) hold me in your arms again."

Hands Off in Mexico

Editorial in the New York World.

Both Sir Edward Grey, the British secretary of state for foreign affairs, and Francis Dyke Acland, the parliamentary under secretary, made it clear in the house of commons yesterday that no attempt will be made by the British government to force the hand of the United States in Mexico because of the Benton affair.

As Mr. Acland expressed it, an attempt at intervention on the part of Great Britain would be "both futile and impolitic." He might have added that it would be ridiculous as well, unless Great Britain were prepared to send an army into Mexico over 1,800 miles of wilderness in the hope of catching the elusive Villa, who alone can be held responsible for Benton's death.

Unfortunate as the present situation is, it all hinges upon a question of fact. If Villa has told the truth, his action may have been hasty and ruthless but it is practically unassailable in military law except on the ground of expediency. If he has not told the truth, the execution of Benton was no better than murder, and it becomes the duty of the United States to see that it is dealt with as such. But the first thing to do is to ascertain the facts. Until this can be done, Washington must mark time.

In the meanwhile it would be well for Englishmen and Americans alike to give a little sober consideration to the causes which have produced the deplorable conditions in Mexico and to learn their lesson. We permitted an American oil company to support a revolution against Diaz, and no sooner was Madero in office by reason of the abdication of Diaz than a British concern began to finance a counter revolution. It was British money that practically exterminated the Madero family and floated Huerta into power over a sea of blood. If Mexicans have murderously shed British blood, let London contemplate the amount of Mexican blood that has been shed through the interference of British capital in the domestic affairs of Mexico.

Civilization is paying the penalty for upholding a system of government for the profit of concessionaires, and opposition to this system is the basis of President Wilson's refusal to recognize Huerta.

In the circumstances Great Britain can well afford to sustain President Wilson, whatever temporary injury may result to British subjects and interests. If Mexico is ever to become a "white man's country" in the sense that life and property are reasonably safe and crimes of violence are punished by organized authority, it must come through the policy that the president has adopted. Any other policy means revolution after revolution and despotism after despotism, except during the occasional intervals when a strong man is able to create a solitude and call it peace.

Two Months After Christmas.

Wilkesbarre Times-Leader: Here it is, not a great while past Christmas, and how much of the Christmas spirit remains at work in your system. It takes very little, oh, so very little, to make a child happy. A flower, a candy, a penny toy will do it if love go with the gift. For the mind of a child isn't moved by the gift, but by what its imagination can make of it. And when love prompts, the imagination simply needs a starting point; given that, it will gild its own dreams. So it isn't the expense that excuses neglect to make the spirit of Christmas—the spirit of love, which is unselfishness—permanent throughout the year. What excuse have you, if not the excuse of carelessness?

Verse Mistaken for Poetry.

London Chronicle: It is curious how persistent the belief is that rhyme constitutes poetry. J. A. Steuart quotes a stanza from a battle hymn by Burns and inquires whether it is mediocre, and how much of it depends on dialect. It does not depend on dialect and it is not mediocre, but it is not poetry; it is rhetorical verse. The lines—

> A fig for those by laws protected,
> Liberty's a glorious feast,
> Courts for cowards were erected,
> Churches built to please the priest.

have not the faintest suggestion of poetry; they merely make a terse statement in rhyme.

To most people everything that rhymes is a "piece of poetry," even to "Thirty days has September" and other jingles of the kind. No definition of poetry will help. The only true knowledge of the matter comes by instinct.

Homes.

O little homes, ye little homes of love!
Strength of a man, a woman's song;
laugh of a child;
Warmth of a fire; glow of a lamp;
though wild
The wind without, and grim the skies above.

O little homes, set close at every hand!
Ye narrow walled-in worlds of joys and fears,
Built of the commonplace of smiles and tears,
Ye are the heart and sinew of the land!

The Panama Tolls

Editorial in Collier's.

"The canal shall be free and open to the vessels * * * of all nations * * * on terms of entire equality, so that there shall be no discrimination * * * in respect * * * to the charges of traffic." So runs rule 1 of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. And it is a highly creditable feeling on the part of many Americans, reflected by President Wilson, that we cannot afford to be unfair or unfaithful to our promises simply because we happen to be strong.

Volumes have been published about this matter of tolls through the Panama canal, but the biggest book would be the one containing what people don't know about it. We are beginning to suspect, at least, that the country generally will not profit by the free-passage provisions of the law signed by Mr. Taft under exceptional conditions, and that the exemptions in favor of our coastwise traffic will serve only to take expenses off the shoulders of the American shipping combine. This trust is based largely on a monopoly of wharfage and steel mills and shipbuilding. With free steel, free ore, and the wharf-building activity of cities like New York, Boston and the Pacific ports, competition may spring up in our coastwise trade, giving consumers, sooner or later, the benefits of a free canal. But, as things stand, the trust will get the benefit of free passage, and the United States will only operate a cheap waterway for the great captains of industry to make money by. This is probably the president's view—part of it.

The whole free-tolls proposition is as impolitic as it is scaly. We have more to ask of Great Britain in the way of unrestricted navigation of our inter-communicating waterways than she has to ask of us at Panama. Canada is about to build the Georgian Bay ship canal from French river to the Ottawa, twenty-five feet deep and capacious enough to carry the greatest lake freighters or standard ocean-going tramps. This system will flank our whole lake and interior basis commerce. The Erie barge canal is a tadpole ditch compared with it. Ships sailing from Chicago, Milwaukee, Duluth or West Superior will be able to reach the ocean via Montreal by this route, and that, too, without breaking bulk on the mileage it would take to reach Erie, Pa., by the present route. Canada will then command a commerce far more important to us than of the Panama canal. She will have the whip hand of us to an extent quite as great as that which we can get on Great Britain by wrenching a treaty from its plain meaning. And she will be able to say: "You made a treaty agreeing to let the ships of all nations through the Panama canal on equal terms. You broke that treaty by letting your own coastwise ships through free and refusing the same treatment to our coastwise ships. Now we'll use our advantage in the Great Lakes outlet." Our treaty as to the Great Lakes passages is that they shall be open to the shipping of both nations on equal terms. But what will that mean once we begin playing fast and loose with the words "on equal terms?"

We are wrong in this matter, and the sooner we get right the better. We are wrong, not only as regards Great Britain and our relations with Mexico, Columbia (both a Pacific and an Atlantic power), and Canada, but also with Germany, France and Portugal. We are wrong with the whole world. Our case is like that of the private citizen who had done something that was denounced as criminal. "Creeminal!" repeated a Frenchwoman. "Creeminal! Eet is vorse zan creeminal. Eet is positively silly!"

Falseness to obligations, or a squirmy, wriggling, pettifogging attitude toward them on our part, cannot be justified by "precedents." If England drove a sharp bargain with us long years ago, that is (today) neither here nor there. A bargain is a bargain. We are too big to welch. Moreover—and therefore—the country should support the president in his determination to repeal the controverted Panama tolls arrangement. The Adamson joint resolution should be passed by congress—and passed now.

To Free Lake Commerce

Chicago News: It has long been evident that certain railroads, because of their control of dock facilities at Buffalo and also because of their power to give or refuse joint through routes and prorating arrangements with lake lines, are in a position to dominate the business of water transportation on the Great Lakes. From time to time specific facts come to light that bear out what is evident from general observation.

In testimony before the interstate commerce commission at Washington last week, D. C. McIntyre, freight traffic manager of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company, told how his concern had been forced in earlier years to work in harmony with the association of lake lines that represented railroad control of water transportation. The Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company is not owned by railroads, as are most of the lake lines operating between Buffalo and Western lake ports. Mr. McIntyre told the commission that when his company began to carry freight between Detroit and Buffalo it was given to understand that it could not secure prorating arrangements with the railroads running from Buffalo to the Atlantic seaboard unless it joined the lake line association. Without such prorating arrangements it would have been impossible for his company to do a profitable business.

Testimony of this sort shows why control of lake traffic has come into the hands of certain railroads, which have gradually raised water freight rates until the movement of goods by the lake route is in a large measure discouraged.

New York state is about to construct docks at Buffalo in order to force better treatment of lake lines that are not under railroad domination. The interstate commerce commission now possesses important powers of control over through routing and prorating between rail and lake lines that it did not possess at the time of which Mr. McIntyre lately spoke. This power doubtless will be used by the commission to promote the development of independent lake lines. However, the breaking of the hold that the railroads now have on lake commerce will be a more difficult matter than would have been the prevention of injurious control at an earlier date.

The Postponement of Death.

London Hospital: Experience and statistics show that the average duration of life in civilized communities is increasing steadily and that mental and bodily activity among octogenarians and even older people still is much commoner and greater than it was, even within the memory of persons still alive. How far the tendency will go it is difficult to say, but if medicine and surgery continue to progress as they have done in recent decades, it would seem as if longevity will go on increasing for some generations yet awhile.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a way, about the most remarkable voice in congress is that operated by Mr. Alfalfa Bill Murray of Oklahoma.

To start with, it is a voice of considerable power, depth and resonance—giving the impression of having a well-seasoned sounding board back of it.

But the main feature of Mr. Alfalfa Bill's voice is that he made it himself.

In the beginning it was a high-pitched, more or less squeaky voice that would not fill an auditorium larger than 12 by 18. But Murray set to work and fixed it over.

Even as a small boy, Murray, poor and shoeless as he was, had an ambition to grow up and leap into public life. And he figured—rightly or wrongly—that the main feature of public life is getting up and making speeches. Therefore it worried him that his voice sounded so much like a squeaking slate pencil.

About that time he read about the experience of Demosthenes, the Attica orator, and he tried Demosthenes' scheme of talking with pebbles in his mouth. But the plan didn't work any too well. Murray found that he couldn't talk much better with pebbles in his mouth than he could without pebbles.

He was becoming disheartened when his teacher chanced to make a remark one day about the value of breathing exercises. She said that she had had two brothers die of tuberculosis, but that if they had learned to breathe properly the disease would never have attacked them. She showed the pupils in the little room how to breathe to get air into the remote parts of the lungs, and went on to show them how to use the lungs for a bellows in speaking, instead of speaking just from the throat.

From then on "Bill" Murray practiced breathing exercises every morning. He kept that up daily for fifteen years and does it off and on even yet. Furthermore, he experimented with his voice to find out how to hold his mouth to get the tones that suited him best. He had a mental conception of just how his voice ought to sound when it was "done," and he kept shifting and adjusting his vocal machinery to get the desired effect.

The consequence was that he finally made for himself a voice in which he can take considerable pride. Though he looks like a tramp, his conversational voice is that of a man of a good deal of culture.

Incidentally, "Bill" Murray rose from poverty to draft the constitution for his state, and he himself thinks he could not have done it except for his voice.

When it comes to voices, one of the strongest in the house belongs to Tim Ansberry of Ohio. Tim is entirely unable to whisper. One day in the course of a speech, Tim was endeavoring to tell a story to another member in an undertone, but he nearly drowned out the noise of the man who was delivering the speech.

Speaker Clark, who used to teach school, sent for him and said:

"Tim, if you don't stop whispering when I'm hearing recitations, you'll simply have to stay in at recess."

Representative Chimmie Fadden Townsend of New Jersey set out the other day on a journey to Trenton, N. J., to deliver a speech.

It was to be an informal affair and Townsend had no set speech ready, but when he was settled in his seat on the choo-choos, he began to jot down a few thoughts on some crumpled sheets of paper he had in his pocket.

"Abraham Lincoln wrote his Gettysburg speech on the train," murmured Townsend to himself, as his pencil began to move. And the first thing he knew he had written out a good deal of stuff.

Well, when he got to Trenton, a newspaper reporter asked him for an advance copy of his speech.

"I have no advance copy," replied Townsend. "In fact I have no speech ready at all—except a few things I wrote down on the train. I can read that off to you, though."

"Just let me take it along," suggested the reporter.

"Ah, no," said Townsend, "you see it's the only copy I have, and I may wish to refer to it."

"I'll have it put into type and bring you a nice clean proof," offered the reporter.

Agreed to.

That night when Townsend arose before the assembled multitude, he opened his mouth and spake as follows:

"I really have not prepared a speech. However, I have a few notes here that I shall refer to—"

The next speaker twitted Townsend unmercifully about not having prepared a speech and yet reading it from a copy, printed by a regular printer.

And Townsend wisely did not attempt a word of explanation. What would have been the use, with the circumstantial evidence all against him?

Reclaim and Settle Idle State Lands

The State Press on a Needed State Policy.

It's Publicity Itself.

Crookston Times: Minnesota, always known as a state of wonderful promise as well as achievement, is today enjoying more and better publicity than any other state in the Union. A state of wonderful wealth, agricultural and mineral, with scenic beauty that has inspired poets, with healthfulness of climate so pronounced that today it stands as the most healthful state in the Union, according to government reports, the tide has turned toward this state as it never turned before, and as a result of the many agencies at work, nothing, short of an earthquake, can stem the tide of immigration that has surely turned this way.

And He Has the Ground Work for Success.

Northome Record: The average man who comes to Northern Minnesota to take up farming as a vocation has but little means and it requires years of honest toil and self-denial to get where he can enjoy the fruits of his labor, and for that reason he should not be hampered by the state of Minnesota in making such laws as will discourage and dishearten him in his labors and perhaps cause him to give up the fight.

This Country Is a Mint.

Aurora News: There was a time—not many years ago—when Aurora merchants called Duluth commission men by the phone and ordered a carload of potatoes when a new supply was needed. It's different now. Last Sunday J. E. West and D. S. Hyman went into the farming country south of Aurora where plenty of them are being raised now and they were able to buy large quantities of the best potatoes grown, and they come cheaper that way, too.

Time for It to Turn.

Madison Western Guard: It is reported on good authority that the tide of immigration to Canada has turned and that more people are coming from Canada into the United States than are going there from this country. This has been expected by people who refused to be lured to leave this country for the North. Many a well-to-do farmer left his beautiful home in Minnesota to take up pioneer life in Canada to his regret. What an opportunity for a man who loves work, where he can turn every minute into money. These opportunities are found on every hand in Minnesota. If this reaches the eye of any one who has the Canadian fever, we say to you, stop and think before you part with your home here to go to another country. Stick to the state that feeds the world.

Intelligence Is All the Country Needs.

Northfield News: Peter Englestad, having failed in the West, started into the dairy business in Pennington county $750 worse off than nothing eight years ago. He has since accumulated what he regards as a fortune and recently wrote to the immigration commission to tell how he did it. The story of the accounts he kept with his cows is too long to be reproduced here, but one generalization he makes is well worth repeating.

Speaking of what are ordinarily termed "scrub cattle," "The fact is," says Mr. Englestad, "most farmers have scrub cows because of the scrubby way they treat the cows. The easist way to own a scrub cow is to treat her scrubbily.

"Looking at the cow the other way around, a scrub cow can be turned into a pretty good cow by caring for it as solicitously as one would care for a thoroughbred."

It is interesting to know that Mr. Englestad made the most of his money through the proper, intelligent and humane treatment of "scrubs."

An Empire Open to Them!

La Porte News: There is every indication and reason to believe that there will be a great exodus of farmers from other states into Minnesota this year. This movement had its inception at a meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association a year ago, and its culmination unites and harnionizes all portions of the state in a common cause, and Northern Minnesota will undoubtedly receive a generous share of the benefits.

A Splendid Opportunity.

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: Strenuous efforts are being made by the different development associations of Minnesota to attract settlers to farm the wild lands of the state. We would call their attention to the rich agricultural land lying to the north and south of Chisholm, as ideal spots to direct their overflow settlers to. We have the market, too, for all that is grown. With vegetables, butter and eggs at the great figures they are now selling for there is a fortune for farmers in this section.

In Manila Bay

Chicago Tribune: German dignity may be satisfied with the publication of Admiral von Diederichs' statement that the first American who endeavored to carry out Admiral Dewey's instruction to board a German ship would have been shot. Luck was with us all. A world war was threatened, but avoided. Great Britain, we assume, would have used the opportunity to support America and strike at Germany. Italy and Austria, France and Russia would have been dragged in. May all the perils we know not of at the time thus refrain from giving us chills until the next decade or so.

The German admiral's declaration of what he would have done if Dewey had done what he said he would do ends, we trust, the controversy. It has been interesting, but useless. For historians it may be valuable; for the two nations it might be disagreeable.

From the German admiral's statements it would be concluded that Dewey had provocation and was provoked. There were tactless things done by the Germans. Circumstances gave the acts sinister appearance. They amounted to interference, whatever the intent. Dewey undoubtedly was filled with wrath. He was engaged in the business of war and the spectators had crowded out on the field. He was right in setting them back in their place. The two nations were on the verge of trouble. It was avoided. We may now call the next case.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

J. F. Gordon, who returned a few days ago from the East, brought with him a valuable relic. It is a commission as surgeon's mate in the United States army, running to Mr. Gordon's great grandfather, Joseph Phillips, and issued in 1790. The commission bears the signatures of President George Washington and Henry Knox, secretary of war.

James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway system, who is now in London, Eng., has perfected financial arrangements for the early construction of the line from Fosston to Duluth. This will give the Great Northern a direct road from the Red River valley to Duluth. Work on the new line will begin as soon as the weather will permit. It is probable that Mr. Hill will get possession of the Duluth & Winnipeg road and make it part of the new line.

Charles Stendahl, an old resident of West Duluth, moved yesterday to Rice's Point, where he has purchased an interest in a grocery store.

The West Duluth band has secured the services of John Ploughman of Chicago as B flat cornetist.

Victor A. Stearns, M. W. Watrous and Carl Johnson of Duluth have passed the state board's examination for examination to the bar.

Morris Thomas and Henry Truelsen are candidates for appointment as collector of customs for the port of Duluth, but advices from Washington indicate that Emil Olund will carry off the plum.

Fred Stickles of Duluth was married on Feb. 28 at Medford, Wis., to Miss Lillie Alice Hubbard.

On Feb. 28 the marriage of Miss Rosanna Elizabeth Paterson and Alfred Charles Le Richeux was celebrated at the residence of Dr. Maxwell, 531 East Third street, Rev. W. T. Hacker of the First Christian church officiating. The bride is a daughter of John Paterson of Chicago, and the groom is a well-known druggist.

Frank Gould and wife left yesterday for Grand Rapids, Mich., where he will be telegraph operator for the United Press.

James Redmond died at Boston a few days ago, aged 30 years. He lived in Duluth for a number of years and left last October for Boston, where his parents reside.

Capt. John Henning died on Feb. 28 at 536 Lake avenue south from dropsy. He was a well-known tug and ferry captain and was in charge of the tug Maud S. last year.

Not Profanity, But Sound Theology.

Kansas City Star: A lay sermon from the Ottawa Herald:

"God," calmly and sternly ejaculated an Ottawa 3-year-old at the dinner table. The shocked family held its breath in horror at what sounded like an echo of playground profanity. "God," again pondered the guileless one. "God, He helps us ev'ry day"—this evidently a reflection on a recent Sunday school lesson—and then followed the self-deducted philosophy, "God's a good fellow, isn't He?" It is a pity that more grown-ups, deep-thinking people, cannot have the same childish idea of divinity: "God's a good fellow." There's no truer philosophy than this and no more helpful way of looking at it.

My Fellow-men.

Oh, save me from the blame
Of those who have forgot
Their brotherhood, and vaunt
Their birth or merit, and feel shame
For such as gear the common lot,
Make me, each day, to see,
If aught through me
Find favor in Thy ken,
'Tis but in part
The grace Thy heart
Pours richly on
My fellow-men.
—John D. Barry in Harper's Bazar.

Politics at Home.

The Woman's Journal: Little Millie's father and grandfather were Republicans; and, as election drew near, they spoke of their opponents with increasing warmth, never heeding Millie's attentive ears and wondering eyes. One night, however, as the little maid was preparing for bed, she whispered in a frightened voice: "Oh, mamma, I don't dare to go upstairs. I'm afraid there's a Democrat under the bed."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

POOL HALLS AND BOYS OF DULUTH

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is amusing to read spasmodic articles in the newspapers of a reform wave in the manner of conducting pool halls in our city. I presume they are intended by the city officials and the pool room owners to hoodwink the public into believing they are conducted along the lines of a Sunday school meeting.

The News Tribune of even date publishes an article headed "Mayor Favors Pool Hall Owners' Plan." The article proceeds, stating that the mayor declared his faith in the billiard hall proprietors' plan of keeping minors from their rooms and eliminating other objectionable features connected with their business. They also claim they intend to emphasize their desire to entertain complaints of parents who wish to keep minors from their halls.

The writer has had considerable experience in endeavoring to keep his boy out of pool halls all to no avail. I will wager any person $50 that if he will look into any pool hall along about 8 o'clock in the evening, he will see from two to twenty boys in each, ranging from the tender age of 12 to 18, busily occupied playing pool. I can also point out two pool rooms along Superior street, which are conducting poker and rummy games for money.

The grand jury recommended a few weeks ago that the rummy game in a certain pool hall should be stopped. It still proceeds unmolested. They apparently overlooked the poker game.

A FATHER.

Duluth, Feb. 27.

WELCOME, SIR!

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to express my appreciation of the support you gave to the "Go to Church Sunday" movement in our city. I am doing this as an individual. I appreciate very much the valuable space and editorials you gave. Yours very sincerely,

ASK DISSOLUTION.

Two Mining Companies Would Pass Out of Existence.

The Algoma Iron Mining company and the Woodbridge Mining company, two Minnesota corporations controlled by Canadian interests, petitioned the district court for dissolution Saturday, Judge Bert Fesler assigned March 28 as a date for a final hearing on the petitions. The Algoma Steel corporation, Ltd., of Toronto holds all but four shares in the Algoma Iron Mining company, and the Algoma Iron company holds an interlocking majority of stock in the Woodbridge Mining company. The Algoma Iron Mining company was organized in November, 1902, with a capital stock of $50,000.

The Woodbridge Mining company started out July 1, 1909, with the same capitalization. Both companies ceased doing business July 1, 1913. The petitions represent that neither company now has any debts or assets.

FIVE MINUTE CURE IF STOMACH IS BAD

"Pape's Diapepsin" Is Quickest, Surest Indigestion Cure Known.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

YOUR HEALTH FIRST

Very many men and women come to us intimating that they have long been indifferent to health—some say that they have come to us only as a last resort—while others say that they have never been really sick, but never quite well. All of these people realize that their health has not been what it should be and know that insidious diseases have been at work incapacitating them for the full enjoyment of physical and mental powers, reducing their efficiency more and more and placing them in a precarious position as regards their future and happiness.

There are many others in exactly the same position who should recognize the fact that after all health, perfect health, is of first importance. If your nervous energy is impaired, if you have diseases that affect your vital efficiency, Varicocele, Hydrocele, Blood Poison, Stricture or any chronic or newly contracted trouble, we can show you why you should consider your health FIRST.

You can profit by a prompt visit. Advice honest and candid. Examination free and strictly confidential.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR CONSTIPATED CHILD

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sors, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

SHRINERS PLAN ONE WEEK OF FUN

Will Import Carnival Company and Stage Circus of Their Own in June.

Shriners in general and those who are not of the elect but who realize the thoroughness with which Shriners do things, are eagerly awaiting the carnival which Aad temple's Arab patrol is planning to hold next June.

Recently the patrol officers entered into a contract with the General Amusement company to furnish its attractions, of which there are scores, but later developments brought out the idea that in addition to these attractions the Shriners would put on a circus of their own. The affair will last a week.

One can picture A. P. Cook, for instance, hanging by his toes or his eye-lids or some other part of his anatomy; Harry Nesbitt, as a clown for instance, battered hither and yon with inflated bladders in the hands of fellow clowns; and then, Jesse Norton, having had experience at being caged along with Commissioner Hicken during the big shrine parade a year ago, starring as the wild man of Borneo; and not to forget the "pote," H. W. Richardson, attired, perhaps, as a weather prophet of fiction, or doing a trapeze stunt under the show name of Senor Ricardo. The dignity of many of the participants will be pretty well rubbed off before the end of the week.

All committees are now hard at work and those who will take part in the circus are already practicing in secret. Many bulging waist lines will be perceptibly reduced because of the vigorous exercise these men are taking. The amusement company—one of the largest in the world—carries twenty shows and five riding devices, one of the latter being a mammoth portable chute-the-chutes with a portable tank and boats.

The committees in charge are:

Executive committee—Officers of the patrol.

Printing and advertising—Frank H. Hamm, Orra W. Wegener and Arthur W. Lane.

Supplies, etc.—Albert E. Botsford, John Smith and Walter T. Leonard.

Grounds and licenses—Lieut. Wallace P. Welbanks, Lieut. Charles C. Jones and Herman L. Dresser.

THE WRONG CREW.

Wallace Quimby, an employe of the city engineer's office, was a member of the winning crew of the Duluth Boat club last season and is one of the city's most earnest rowing enthusiasts.

Saturday a meek-looking young man ambled into the engineer's office and asked about chances to get on the crew.

"How much do you weigh?" asked Quimby.

"About 133," answered the applicant.

"Then you ought to get out for the bantam crew," advised Quimby.

Hibbing vs. State Put Over in District Court for One Week.

Judge Dancer Saturday continued for one week the hearing on condemnation proceedings brought by the village of Hibbing against the state of Minnesota to acquire title to a tract of land now owned by the state, but within the limits of the village. The land is wanted as a site for a water plant.

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, March 2.—A cold wave for the eastern part of the country, extending to the Gulf of Mexico, for the first days of the week, with warmer temperatures by the middle of the week and generally fair weather, are forecasted in the weather bureau's weekly bulletin.

"A cold wave in the East will be of short duration," the bulletin said, "and a general reaction to higher temperatures will set in over the Middle West Monday and in the eastern and southeastern states Tuesday.

"Generally fair weather will prevail during the next several days in practically all parts of the country.

"The next storm of importance will cross the great central valleys from the west about Friday. This disturbance probably will cause rains and snows in northern states, east of the Rocky mountains."

RURAL PUPILS SHIVER.

Attendance Falls Off Because of Cold Rooms.

In an editorial in the February number of the Rural School Bulletin, published by the county superintendent of schools, Lewis A. Ink, principal of the unorganized schools, attributes the reason for non-attendance of pupils in some of the rural districts to the fact that the schoolhouses are not comfortably heated before it is time for regular classes to begin. Teachers are urged to see that the schoolhouses are not cold when school is called.

BROTHERHOOD OF MAN NO LONGER MERE THEORY, SAYS PASTOR

Old Doctrine of "Everyone for Himself" No Longer Paraded and Applauded, But Sneaks Along Highway of Life.

"The Religious Spirit of Today" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church, yesterday.

"If today we rejoice in a new civic spirit, a spirit in which righteousness and injustice and mercy are becoming more and more dominant, the credit is not so much due to this man or to that man, who is supposed to have reinvented or re-discovered the decalogue and the sermon on the mount, but largely to the persistent preaching of righteousness in times of unrighteousness," he said. "Behind the great moral leader there stands always the church; he stands in its shadow. Look at the men who today are foremost in the struggle against evil in high and low places and you will find every one affiliated with the church has ever been a power house of religious inspiration. Of course I am well aware that the church at large has at times been cowardly and timid and time-serving, but there never has been a time when there were not men in our American pulpits who stood up for right and truth, and gave inspiration to the fighter for better things. This fact is often overlooked. A very competent writer on 'The Modern Man's Religion' notices very correctly that in our day religion is turning from the altar to the street, but what he fails to see is that man is carrying with him the fire from the altar as he goes into the street.

"But the common people see this, and the masses today after all appreciate the work of the church better than these higher critics. The people, too, may find fault with this church and that, and this preacher and that one, but after all, they realize that on the altar of even a weak church there is burning the fire of divine life. I well know how easily one might loose faith in organized religion. When we read a book like 'The Inside of the Cup,' we are very apt to join the chorus of righteous indignation and condemnation of the 'lifeless church and the morally dead pew-holders.' But after all, are we not too censorious? Are we not all very much like Hodder's people, even if we do not go to his church? We do not realize that the people in Hodder's church even were not so altogether bad, but frivolous, and that their inner sight was shut against the real evils of life for which they were not a little responsible? Is it not true, that if only these people could have realized how they fail in true righteousness they would have done better?

"Yes, say what we will, the righteousness of the street, the public council business, politics has been born in the church and from there carried into highway and lane. Thanks to the work of the church, religion has become life in our day. The 'brotherhood of man' is no longer a theory, but a fact. There never was a time when mankind was so convinced that 'if we do not love our brother whom we have seen, we can not love God whom we have not seen.' There is today an enthusiasm for mankind which sweeps aside all distinctions between men. When today we hear a man say, 'ah, business is business, life is a struggle of individual against individual,' 'each one must needs only think of himself,' we face not necessarily a bad man, but one who has been asleep for twenty-five years. Of course the old selfish life is by no means extinct and never will be, but the point is, that a selfishness which twenty-five years ago would parade with brazen cheek as smartness and which found itself admired by the world, is today walking with guilty look and sneakingly on the highway of life, because it feels itself despised. Today manhood and not money is admired. The spirit of the age is endeavoring to re-make the social environment, is 'making ready the way of the Lord and his paths straight.' That spirit is endeavoring to deal fairly with each and all. I well know that in all these social endeavors there is growing rank and thick sensationalism, and sentimentalism and fanaticism and fadism, but for all the evil there is so much more good. I may run away from the cranks, but I bless them, for they at least keep things stirred up until the man of sense comes and leads their blind endeavor to real success.

"Thus the Christ spirit of love is going forth to bless the world and slowly but surely is leading the world to better things."

FREE CONCERT DRAWS CROWD

Vast Extent of Ore Business Shown By D., M. & N. President.

Miss Gladys Reynolsd, as Vocalist, and Organ Numbers Please.

An estimate of the vast volume of ore shipments from the Missabe docks was made yesterday afternoon by W. A. McGonagle, president of the D., M. & N. railroad in an address at the free concert at the Masonic temple. Miss Gladys Reynolds as vocalist was well received as were the organ numbers.

"If a train of freight cars was loaded with the entire bulk of ore shipped from the Missabe docks in one year, it would extend from Duluth to New York, a distance of about 1,300 miles," said Mr. McGonagle. "If the annual bulk were placed in the form of a rectangular prism, the base of the gigantic figure would represent the dimensions of a city block, 300 by 400 feet, and the prism would be three times as high as the Washington monument."

With these striking illustrations President McGonagle gave a clear and comprehensive discussion of the amount of ore business done. The speaker traced the movement of ore from the time it left the mine until it was unloaded at the Pittsburg docks.

Despite the counter attractions of beautiful weather and the ski tournament there was an excellent attendance at the concert, and the program was one of the best of the series.

The organ numbers were especially attractive and with the aid of a preliminary explanation were readily followed and appreciated. In the Massanello overture the audience were able to imagine the various themes previously pointed out to them, and in Nicolai's Festival overture the main theme of Luther's hymn, "Ein' Feste Burg," the secondary fugue, and the finale, with its clever blending of the two themes, were easily followed.

The vocalist, Miss Gladys Reynolds, is always a favorite with a Duluth audience, with her pure intonation, artistic interpretation and good execution. Her selections were ballads by the best composers and met with hearty and spontaneous applause, to which she responded with encore songs. She was in excellent voice, and took a sustained high C with the clearness of the proverbial "bell."

At next Sunday's concert Miss Clara Thomas, supervisor of music, will speak on the subject of music in the public schools, and picked choruses from some of the upper grades will sing. The season will close at the end of March, leaving only four more concerts to be given.

STEEL ORDERS ARE RELEASED BY ROADS

New York, March 2.—The railroads released orders last week for 100,000 tons of rails, 750 cars, 50 locomotives and 2,400 tons of bridge work. The rail contracts included 50,000 tons more for Illinois Central, 15,000 for the Great Northern, 12,000 for the Atlantic Coast line and 7,500 tons for South America. The Virginia & Southwestern ordered 500 gondolas and the Northern Pacific 250 ore cars. Inquiries are now in the market for 13,000 cars and 521 locomotives.

Manufacturers placed fewer orders for rolled products, but specifications against contracts continued liberal. The indication of the total orders for finished steel in February were about 20 per cent less than in January, standard steel pipe being the only line showing an increase.

Structural steel orders last week aggregated about 32,000 tons, including 17 tons for subway construction. The principal building orders were 3,500 for the Bell Telephone building at Pittsburg, 2,500 for Commonwealth Cold storage buildings at Boston, and 1,670 for the Z. L. White store at Columbus, Ohio. Total fabricated orders in February were about 98,000 tons against 180,000 in January. Contracts for 150,000 more are pending.

Buying of pig iron again decreased, the higher prices demanded checking the placing of contracts. Total merchant orders last week were about 100,000 tons and for the month of February 680,000 tons.

WOMEN'S BEAUTY NO SECRET

It all lies in the care she bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ills peculiar to her sex. The flashing eye, the elastic step and the clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. The distressed expression, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are only the tell tale symptoms. Women so troubled should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs and restore their health to a normal condition.

PROGRAM FOR WOMEN WORKERS

Senator Boyle and Others Will Speak Next Sunday.

The program for the meeting of wage-earning women at Memorial hall, courthouse, next Sunday, was completed Saturday afternoon by Miss Victoria Ericson of the state bureau of women and children.

The speakers and the subjects will be: James P. Boyle, state senator, "The Wage-Earning Woman and the Legislature;" Miss Eliza P. Evans, secretary of the minimum wage commission, on "The Minimum Wage," and Miss Agnes L. Peterson, secretary of the state bureau for women and children, on "Minnesota's Bureau for Women." The musical program will consist of vocal solos by Miss Emily Smith, violin solos by Miss Margaret Linehan, with Miss Ruby May Krause as piano accompanist. Refreshments furnished by Mrs. Gustav Carlson, 202 Twenty-fourth avenue east, will be served. The Bryant school orchestra will play several selections during the meeting.

POWER COMPANY PERMIT GRANTED

Albany, N. Y., March 2.—The Canadian-American Power company, a new domestic corporation, is permitted to enter the public utilities field by a decision made public by the second district public service commission. This permission, however, coupled with the commission's consent to the absorption of the old Niagara Falls Electrical Transmission company, is hedged with stringent limitations.

The Canadian-American concern asked permission to issue $3,000,000 stock on account of its acquisition of the Niagara company's contract for the importing of 46,000 electrical horse power from Canada. It also sought permission to issue $435,000 stock for the purpose of the Niagara corporation's stock, bonds and debt. These figures were reduced by the commission to $1,000,000 and $250,000 respectively.

As a condition precedent to doing business, the new concern is limited to an average charge of $19 per horsepower and it must reserve at least 23,000 horsepower, half of its output, "for direct service to consumers as against transmitting or distributing companies."

Farewell to Nichols.

George J. Nichols, who for the last two years has been manager of the W. & L. Shoe company, was guest of honor Saturday at a luncheon given by the Duluth Retail Merchants' association at the Glass Block tea rooms.

Mr. Nichols will leave Duluth in a few days for Detroit, Mich., where he will be department manager for the Pingree Shoe company.

Among those present were Bentley P. Neff, J. J. Moe, William Billstein, B. Silberstein, W. N. Hart and George Peterson.

LACK OF HOME LIFE MENACE

Dr. Hovis Makes Plea for Return of Fireside Circle.

The worst menace of our present civilization is the dethronement of the home, declared Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church yesterday morning when preaching on "Religion and the Home." Improvement for good has been seen in every other phase of life except in the home, he said. There only retrogression was evident.

Dr. Hovis chose as the basis of his sermon "The Cotter's Saturday Night" by the poet Robert Burns, and cited the home life portrayed there as ideal. Among the points especially emphasized in the poem were the meeting of the whole family on Saturday night, the common interest shown, the courting of the eldest daughter within the family circle, and the worship following the evening's conversation.

"Worship in the home," declared Dr. Hovis, "has become almost obsolete. This is a bad thing for the home and for the country for it is in the home that the greatest lessons are learned and it is there that the boy and girl form the habits that are maintained through life."

The driving grind of commercialism and the whirl and rush of social events were given as the chief causes of the disintegration of home life today. There is too little time given to spiritual development and the affairs of the home are crowded out.

The declaration of Burns that "An honest man is the noblest work of God" was quoted by Dr. Hovis and he declared that Burns' principle was the one that should be in effect today in the United States. The country needs a better home life that its citizenship may develop with better surroundings and eventually reach a higher plane of living and thinking," he said.

DULUTH MAN FOR PRESIDENT

Local Grocers Will Boom Schulenberg for State Leadership.

Delegates from Duluth and nearby towns who will attend the annual convention of the Minnesota Retail Grocers' and General Merchants' association, to be held at St. Paul, March 10, 11 and 12, will boom George H. Schulenberg for president.

Badges bearing the inscriptions, "Schulenberg of Duluth for President," and "Duluth, the City of Opportunities," will be distributed. The delegates will leave Monday afternoon, March 9, on a special car attached to the regular Great Northern train. It is expected that about seventy-five delegates will attend the convention from Duluth and vicinity. Among those who will probably go are George H. Schulenberg, L. A. Paddock, M. R. Bush, Edward Strange, J. O. Johnson, J. M. Johnson, A. M. McEwen, E. A. Olson, D. Olson, Joe Gauthier, J. Logan, W. B. Logan, Paul Lueck, J. Moir, J. E. Foubister, George M. Peterson, O. B. Newman, O. Tomling, H. L. Smith, Olaf Lysen and J. W. Lent.

UNION ORGANIZERS BARRED FROM MILLS

New Condition Imposed on Men at Everett, Wash.

Everett, Wash., March 2.—Seven of the largest lumber mills in Everett, operating under an agreement, shut down Saturday night to reopen Wednesday, under new conditions affecting their employes.

It is the purpose of the mill owners, when they resume operations, to bar from their premises all union officers, organizers, walking delegates or any man wearing a union button.

In a statement announcing the shutdown, the mill owners said the change in policy did not mean that they would discriminate against any employe because he had joined a union, but they reserved the right to refuse to re-employ any worker who had taken an active part in organizing the unions.

Wages and working conditions will not be changed, the mill owners say. Several hundred men are employed at the mills.

VIEWS FOR EXHIBIT.

Photographs of Duluth Will Be Sent to Norway.

A large number of photographs of Duluth and the surrounding country have been turned in to George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Commercial club, to be sent to the Norwegian exposition to be held in Christiania, Norway, next summer. As soon as the list is complete it will be sent to J. S. Johnson, St. Paul, who has charge of the Northwestern exhibit.

PORTUGUESE LABOR OUTBREAK IS ENDED

Lisbon, Portgual, Mar. 2.—The Portuguese government has notified its diplomatic representatives all over the world that the recent rumors of revolutionary anarchy in Portugal were unfounded. The only disorder was that caused by the striking railroad men, who committed various acts of violence and destruction of property. The government also announced that the promoters of the strike movement had decided to renounce it, and that there now is complete tranquillity throughout the country.

Cigarette Fiend Is Suicide.

New York, Mar. 2.—Samuel A. Crane, 21 years old, was found dead in bed with a note beside him saying he had taken his life because he could not shake off the cigarette habit. He had stuffed the keyhole and window cracks with paper and turned on the gas.

I want every person who is suffering with stiff or swollen joints, muscles, tendons or ligaments to try a bottle of my RHEUMATISM REMEDY.

If constipated use Munyon's Paw Paw Laxative Pills. MUNYON.

NATIONAL SURGICAL BUILDING PLANNED

Chicago, March 2.—A mecca for the surgeons of America, contemplated by the American college of surgeons, was described yesterday by Franklin H. Martin, general secretary of the college. New York, Boston, Cleveland, Washington and Minneapolis are being considered as a site for a building, according to Dr. Martin.

"The home should provide meeting places for convocations of the college," said Dr. Martin, "spaces in which can be developed a great museum of surgery, including pathological specimens, apparatus and specimens for demonstrations and illustrations for progress of surgery."

WILL RECOGNIZE NEW HAITI REGIME

Washington, March 2.—Haiti's new government, with Gen. Oreste Zamor, successful revolutionist, as president, will be recognized immediately by the United States.

This was announced last night by Secretary Bryan, who has had the subject under consideration since reports indicated that the new regime was virtually in complete control of the republic.

President Zamor formerly was governor of the northern department, and in 1911 was minister of war. When the republic was torn by revolutions and counter-revolutions last January and President Orestes fled, Zamor with his brother, Charles, marched into Port au Prince at the head of a considerable force and proclaimed himself president. He called the national assembly together, and on Feb. 8, was elected president.

Gen. Davilmar Theodor in the meantime had set up a government at Cape Haitien. He fled, however, at the approach of Zamor's troops.

MANITOBA FARMER MURDERS HIS WIFE

St. Norbert, Man., March 2.—Joseph Vernette, a prominent farmer living near here, last night killed his wife, crushing her head with an ax. The murder was discovered by a 10-year-old son. Vernette was arrested.

Pinchot Out for Senate.

Milford, Pa., Mar. 2.—Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester of the United States, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Washington party nomination for United States senator, to succeed Boies Penrose. Mr. Pinchot was the unanimous choice of the Progressive leaders.

BIG CROWDS LISTEN TO DEPORTED MEN

London, March 2.—One of the largest crowds ever seen in Hyde park gathered here Sunday afternoon to welcome the labor leaders deported from South Africa recently because of their connection with the general strike. The demonstration was organized by the Trades Union congress and practically every union in the country sent a delegation.

Processions formed in all parts of the city and marched to the park, where from nine platforms the nine deported men addressed the crowd. A resolution was adopted condemning the action of the South African government in sending the men out of the country.

In their speeches the labor leaders declared they would return to South Africa, but declared that meantime a number of English union heads were going to South Africa to keep up their organizations.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get At the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets.

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edward's Olive Tabets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way, when the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tabets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets are purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

WELSH SOCIETY IN CELEBRATION

Observes Birth Anniversary of St. David, Wales' Patron Saint.

The Duluth-Superior Welsh society, a branch of the National St. David society, met at Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street, Saturday night to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Wales' patron saint, which fell yesterday. About 150 members from the Head of the Lakes and nearby cities enjoyed an oyster supper and the program which followed.

The green and white flag of the home land was the keystone of the decorative color scheme.

Senator T. M. Pugh presented the society with the daffodil and the leek. Other numbers of the program included an historical paper by O. J. Williams, a piano solo by Bessie Jenkins of Itasca, Wis.; a paper by D. E. Roberts of Superior, a mandolin solo by T. H. Jones of Duluth, a reading by Deborah Jenkins of Itasca, and a piano solo by Florence Williams of Duluth.

SAVE GIRL FROM BEING CRIPPLE

Fifteen-year-old Sophia Rajala might have been a life-long cripple, obliged to hobble through life on crutches, had it not been for the interest of R. D. McKercher in her case.

Saturday she returned from the state hospital for crippled and deformed children at St. Paul, where she has been receiving treatment for the last year.

She was placed in the school a year ago by the humane agent, who noticed her hobbling along the streets of Virginia with a badly deformed foot.

After a year at the state hospital, the girl has discarded her crutches for a steel brace and is now able to walk briskly. It is believed that she will be entirely cured.

When she passed through Duluth Saturday on her way home, Miss Rajala made it a point to thank the humane agent for what he had done for her.

ELIMINATION MATTER OF CHIEF INTEREST

Conference of March 19 By Anti-Machine Republicans All-Absorbing Topic Among Politicians of Minnesota Just Now--Peterson's Non-Committal Position Subject of Comment--Senator Works' Advice to Democrats.

Until the anti Eberhart conference of March 19 becomes history, it will hold the political spotlight, and will be the subject of almost all the talk of those who are anxious to see the present governor "canned" and also of those who want to see him hold onto his office for another term.

James A. Peterson, one of the candidates for the governorship on an anti-Eberhart platform, who was in Duluth during last week, still maintains his announced attitude of waiting to see what sort of a thing the conference is. He refuses to say, until then at least, that he will or won't be guided by the conference. He also declares that he can "lick" Eberhart with a divided field; so that the general tenor of his argument is that elimination, unless the conference choses him, is not of much interest or benefit to him. The Eberhart forces, of course, hope he'll keep on thinking that way.

In regard to this, the Long Prairie Leader, edited by W. B. Lee's son, has this to say; and very reasonably too:

> James A. Peterson of Minneapolis is actively at work through personal representatives and through personal correspondence in an effort to secure "Peterson" delegations from the several counties of the state to the state conference that is to be held in Minneapolis on March 19. This course would be entirely right and proper except for the fact that Mr. Peterson has not agreed to abide by the decision of the conference. In fact, in the only public statement he has made on the subject, he refused to commit himself in the matter.
> Should not Mr. Peterson either agree to abide by the result of the conference or cease his efforts to control the conference?
> The Leader makes no criticism whatever of Mr. Peterson's efforts to secure delegates to the conference. He is, by so doing, only helping to secure a gathering that will be representative and The Leader welcomes a gathering that will be widely representative. But the point is this--has Mr. Peterson a moral right to attempt to control the conference when he has not agreed to abide by the result of the deliberations of the conference?
> Is this not a serious matter? Does it not involve the good faith of a candidate who is out to drive old time machine methods out of Minnesota politics?
> In view of his efforts is there not but one thing for Mr. Peterson honorably to do—agree to stand by the conference?

The conference—provided, of course, that it is properly representative—may settle forever Mr. Peterson's political future. Should its personnel be such as to command public respect, should it be made up of men whose only desire is to rescue the state from the control of a machine that is keeping inefficient men in office, then Mr. Peterson, whether or not he is selected as the candidate to oppose Eberhart in the primaries, must heed the decision of the conference or enter political oblivion. Persistence in still remaining in the field unless he is the chosen candidate would and should mean his immediate casting into the political discard, for it would indicate selfishness rather than patriotism.

Secretary G. B. Bjornson of the anti-machine conference committee has just issued to the people of the state a letter in which he urges that representative men be sent as delegates, and that they should be sent uninstructed in order that they will be in a position to meet any unexpected condition that may arise. Further, he says:

> The conference should be a gathering of liberal, broad-minded men, unhampered by any ties or restrictions that would set a limit upon their power to confer and deliberate, as their wisdom might dictate, for the best interests of the cause they represent. The men chosen to the conference should be selected with care and then intrusted with the full confidence of their electors. The conference should have free hands as it is impossible to foresee, with any degree of certainty, the conditions that may confront it when it assembles. If every county will but send strong, capable, efficient men the welfare of the party and the interests of the people will be conserved.
> As to the general outlook in the state it may be said that the conference movement is daily gaining in favor and confidence among the independent voters of the state. Many who have been skeptically inclined have changed their minds and are now coming to look upon this approaching conference as something that will be epoch-making in its results. That it is the only logical solution of a difficult problem, and the only manner in which the people can wisely meet the situation and regain their control of the state's executive department, is conceded by a vast majority of those who are interested in restoring to the people the rights and powers that the "machine" has arrogated unto itself and subverted to the purpose of perpetuating itself in office.
> Men of the highest standing and character, impelled by unselfish and patriotic motives, have identified themselves with this movement and are giving it their loyal support and are daily doing valiant work in the effort to demolish the political "machine" that all too long has ruled the Republican party in Minnesota.
> The anti-machine candidates for governor are all showing increasing interest in the conference, and from their friends throughout the state comes word that they wish to see the movement succeed and that they hope it may result in the concentration of all anti-machine sentiment in the state on the candidacy of some one able, high-minded champion of the people's cause in this common fight of all against the selfish interests of a few.

State Senator S. D. Works, who was in the city a few days ago and predicted that were Congressman Hammond the Democratic candidate for governor he would win, has issued a letter to Democratic leaders giving some potent advice on what should be done at the coming Democratic conference to be held in St. Paul. He believes that the main issue to be presented to the voters should be "the development of our natural resources." His letter follows:

> The Democratic state committee has recently arranged the plan and set a date for the Democratic conference to be held in St. Paul. In this I think it has done wisely, for while it cannot in the very nature of things select, or even indicate, candidates for state offices, yet it is possible for it to outline and determine a policy which may be the means of winning in the coming campaign.
> I do not think that it would be wise for them at this time to go on record with a mass of savage criticisms of Governor Eberhart and his administrators, simply because I do not think it would be worth while to dignify him and his administrators with criticism. Neither he nor his advisors have ever conceived a live issue that would be for the benefit of the whole state. As a matter of fact, he has dodged all live issues and traversed practically the whole country from Oregon to Florida and prattled about good roads, schools and better farming, upon which we are perforce agreed.
> I think, however, that we could create an issue that would meet with the unanimous approval of the entire state, and in my judgment should confine ourselves to this proposition exclusively, namely: The development of our natural resources.
> This is an issue that all could unite upon, bankers, farmers, capitalists and laborers, professional men and the merchant would welcome it as a solution of many of the problems of today.
> The development of Minnesota is not peculiar to Northern Minnesota. That indefinite locality has probably some problems that are all its own, and they are to a large extent somewhat localized. For example, the development problem of Northwestern Minnesota, which was settled nearly a hundred years ago, is entirely different from the Northeastern. One is prairie and agriculture and the other is largely timber and mineral. But there are groups of counties with similar conditions, and these should be organized, their problems studied and remedies applied.
> Minnesota has a fertile soil, as healthy a climate as can be found in the world. Her beef cattle when seen at the state fair excite our admiration, but we would blush at the comparison if they were placed in competition with some of the local fairs of Herefordshire, England, or some of the lowlands of Scotland. The explanation is easy. There probably is not 500 head of registered Hereford or Shorthorn cattle to be found in the state.
> We boast of our butter making ability, but we would not be pleased to go into direct competition with Holland or Denmark in the matter of dairy cattle for the simple reason that we have not cultivated high grade dairy cattle as they have in the countries mentioned and so ad infitum, for the same principle might be applied to horses, grain and fruit.
> There is no question that Minnesota couldn't support the population of 8,000,000 as well as the 2,000,000 which she now has. That would mean a population of 2,000,000 for the Twin Cities, 1,000,000 for Duluth and a corresponding increase in every small city and town and a family on every eighty acres of tillable soil in the state.
> It is time to forget hysteria, county option, woman's suffrage and primary election laws, aimed at some particular person; time to stop smiting the Steel corporation with tonnage taxes, but treat them as we treat other people, insist that they abide by our laws and pay their proper proportion of the taxes; time to cease striking at the railroads and means of retaliatory legislation, but insist on fair treatment from them and fair treatment of them and for a few years spend our entire energy in the development of the state.
> This I hope will be the main plank in the Democratic platform which will be adopted when the conference meets at St. Paul.

Henry Rines of Mora, speaker of the house of representatives, is held eligible to the office of state auditor by a decision of the Minnesota supreme court. The court holds the action of the legislature in fixing the salary of the state auditor at $4,600 by consolidating three sources of compensation into one item did not increase the "emoluments" of the office. The constitutional inhibition against members of the legislature becoming candidates for an office they have assisted in creating or in raising the compensation therefore does not apply in the case of Mr. Rines and is no bar to his nomination and election.

This point was raised during the 1913 session of the legislature when the salary of state auditor was fixed at $4,600, this amount to cover his entire compensation as state auditor and also as land commissioner and secretary of the drainage commission, for which he had been paid $1,000 additional. His former straight salary had been $3,600.

The question was taken into the courts by John C. Benson, a Minneapolis attorney, who began proceedings to restrain Julius A. Schmahl, secretary of state, from placing Rines' name on the primary ballot because of the alleged ineligibility.

Now that it is out of the way, the situation is clearly defined. It is Henry Rines against Insurance Commissioner Preus with the chances very much in favor of Mr. Rines, for, while Mr. Preus is personally popular he has the misfortune to be "yoked with an unbeliever" in things that will be for the best benefit of the state, and consequently must go down to personally undeserved defeat along with the rest of the Smith-Eberhart outfit.

The Clearbrook Journal has started a boom for Martin Widsten, editor of the Warroad Pioneer, for lieutenant governor, and in doing so says:

> Country editors have usually made good in public positions—John A. Johnson, Robert C. Dunn, Henry Rines, Sam. Y. Gordon, Frank Day, Julius Schmahl, are all names that Minnesotans are proud of—and they were all country editors. It is our belief that Martin Widsten would measure up with these men, if given a chance, and we would like to see him file for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

Senator Thomas E. Cashman of Owatonna has positively declined to permit his name to be used as a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket. He intimates, however, that he may run for the senate again. His district, under the new apportionment, now includes Waseca county, but as John Moonan, who has been senator from that county for eight years, says he has had enough, the only one so far in sight who will be opposing Senator Cashman will be J. J. Morley of Owatonna, a former member of the house, and a Republican. He has already filed.

Barnesville Headlight: Alvin Hildreth of this city, claims he can write better poetry than Governor Eberhart and that if the writing of poetry is a gubernatorial qualification he, rather than Eberhart, should be the choice of the people.

Hildreth thinks that the governor's song might be very appropriately sung in private to Mrs. Eberhart but that as a public document it is not properly dedicated. The following lines will give some idea of what Hildreth thinks the song should be:

'TIS ONLY YOU.
(Dedicated to E. E. Smith.)

'Tis only you, dear Eddie
Who can my soul inspire
'Tis only you, dear Eddie
Who stirred ambition's fire
It is for you, dear Eddie,
My battles have been fought,
I have for you, dear Eddie,
My greatest labors wrought.
It is for you, dear Eddie
I'll seek a higher place.
Bryan, Woodrow and Teddy
Will not be in the race.

Preston Times: Indications crop out occasionally that both Clark and Bryan hope to secure the Democratic nomination for president in 1916, their tentative candidacy based on the plank adopted by the Baltimore convention limiting the nominee of that convention to only one term. The Times hopes that both Wilson and the Democratic party will disregard that plank. With the exception of his position on the tariff (and on that he is merely sharing the fallacy of his party), Mr. Wilson's position on all important questions has met with almost universal public approval. He is making a capable president, and good Republicans as well as good Democrats would like a chance to vote for him, especially the Republicans, if their party shall again be disrupted by the hysterical Progressives, as seems probable.

Those who have known Sam Langum, editor of the Preston Times, for years, are asking what has happened to him. Some of them fear for his reason. Sam has always been one of those Republicans who believe that the worst Republican is better than the best Democrat; so when he bursts out this way, indorsing a Democratic president, and actually indicates that he would like to have a chance to vote for him three years from now, there is little wonder that his friends are alarmed.

Fairmont Sentinel: At the primary election two years ago Governor Eberhart received 62,402 votes. The total vote cast for his Republican opponents (Lee 40,507, Gordon 11,927, Falk 6,536, Spooner 12,233, Young 30,398) totals 101,666. A well-organized movement is under way to consolidate the opposition to Governor Eberhart and overthrow the present Republican dynasty which is popularly believed to have the breweries behind it. To that end a state conference has been called to meet in Minneapolis March 19. Some mighty good men are in the movement and it has the indorsement of Iverson and Lee, two of the candidates for governor in opposition to Eberhart. If the right kind of a candidate is chosen it looks to us as though the movement would succeed. The feeling against the gang that is running the state machine is most intense and it is not strange that extraordinary efforts should be made to elect a chief executive who can no longer rule by reason of a division of the forces of men who are striving for better things.

These are the official figures; so it is easy to see what a union of anti-Eberhart forces could do. Query: Will Peterson, the bad boy of politics, behave? Or will he seek the title of assistant to the Smith-Eberhart plans?

In the elimination conference to be held in Minneapolis on March 19 St. Louis county is entitled to 39 delegates, Lake to 7, Cook to 6, Carlton to 10, Itasca to 11, Cass to 8, Beltrami to 11, Koochiching to 8.

That George H. Gardner of Brainerd, who is a candidate for the state senate, is strongly for the reclaiming and settling of idle state lands is shown clearly by his platform. This is what he subscribes to:

> If I am elected senator the two principal measures that I will advocate are a semi-monthly payment bill for corporations and a comprehensive plan for the settlement of Northern Minnesota.
> I will work for the development of Northern Minnesota. Its rich cut-over lands, the cheapest and best on the American continent, will all be settled in a decade or two if the state of Minnesota does its part. Instead of the present state land sales, whereby the pioneer is cast into the wilds, miles away from any neighbor or road, and with two years before he can produce a crop and without any way to get that crop to market, the state should follow some well defined colonization plan such as that of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad in St. Louis county, and its settlements of Meadowlands and Kelsey. The Duluth & Iron Range put in roads and schoolhouses and churches, and cleared five or ten acres of every forty, putting the cost of these improvements upon the land, to be paid for by the settlers on long deferred payments. The immensely rich state of Minnesota should follow some similar plan, enabling a man with a few hundred dollars to go upon the land and make a crop and a living the first year.

Roofing Tests—True and Otherwise

By George M. Brown, President, General Roofing Manufacturing Company

As you walk down the concrete runway to catch your train in the new Grand Central Station in New York, you wonder why one portion of the run-way is pinkish in color, the next fifteen or twenty feet dull gray, and the next gleaming with innumerable sparks of mica or carborundum. The point is, they're testing various concrete compounds for wear.

It is exactly the same in buying roofing—the true proof is on the roof.

No test of toughness has any bearing on the durability of a roof. The thing that a roof is up against is the changing weather conditions, changing temperatures—and time. It does not have to bear rough usage, but it does have to contend against withering up and drying out. Therefore, any test for toughness is a false test.

A soft asphalt coverter protected by a harder asphalt surface makes the ideal roofing material. It is not tough. It tears easily, compared to many roofings devised to withstand fictitious physical "tests." But it will not dry out—on the roof—until years after the "tested-for toughness" roof has out-lived its usefulness and dried up.

There is no test by which you can know in advance the service a roof will give or how long it will last.

There is only one true means of advance knowledge—and that is the reputation and guarantee of the manufacturer. But you must go further than that even. You must look beyond the manufacturer's guarantee for what is behind it—for the responsibility to make good the guarantee.

We could not guarantee Certain-teed Roofing for fifteen years if it were not built upon the properly blended soft center asphalt basis with the harder asphalt protecting surface.

You can buy roofing for less than the price of Certain-teed. But at most your saving is but a few dollars—and it's poor economy.

Certain-teed

is always reasonable in price—and 15 years' service guaranteed is the best advance roof-knowledge there is.

Hillside Club Arranges for Series of Programs.

The Hillside Improvement club has decided to hold a series of bi-monthly meetings, at which lectures, music and other forms of entertainment will be featured. An effort is being made to secure Dr. Raymond Phelan of the University of Minnesota to give the first lecture.

In speaking of the plans of the association, A. A. Work on the school, which was made possible through the efforts of the club, is now under way.

Sixty Thousand at Church.

St. Louis, Mo., March 2.—Sixty thousand persons, three-fourths the population of East St. Louis, Ill., attended church services yesterday as the result of a week's campaign in behalf of "go-to-church" Sunday. The church was brought to prisoners in the city jail and patients in the hospitals.

IRISH WILL HONOR EMMET

D. W. Lawler of St. Paul and Others Will Give Addresses.

Irish residents of Duluth will Wednesday evening celebrate the 136th anniversary of the birth of their beloved martyr, Robert Emmet, at an entertainment to be given at the cathedral auditorium, under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock and will be presided over by Ray Hughes, local attorney. Daniel W. Lawler, former mayor of St. Paul, will deliver the principal address of the evening. Several short talks on Emmet will be given by prominent Irish residents of this city and Superior, while a program of songs will be a feature of the evening's entertainment.

Robert Emmet was born in 1778 and took a prominent part in the famous Irish rebellion of 1803.

Best Loved By Irish.

In all Irish history there is no name that touches the Irish heart like that of Robert Emmet. In his character

there is such a rare combination of admirable qualities, and in his history there are so many of the qualities of romance, that he stands out as a peculiarly noble and lovable character and has claims for the sympathy of the Irish people as no other man.

He had youth, genius and enthusiasm and was utterly free from guile. He was an orator and a poet; in one art he had already gained distinction and in the other he was certain to take a high place.

His patriotism was of the highest order, and none had more to lose than he.

Emmet was the son of a highly respected physician of Dublin. He was sent to Trinity college, where as an exponent of the Jacobin cause, he aroused great excitement through his eloquence and his sound logic. In a short time he and several of his political friends were expelled.

Friend of Thomas Moore.

The poet Thomas Moore, who was a fellow student and intimate friend of Emmet's, said: "Were I to number the men among all I have ever known who appear to me to combine in the greatest degree pure moral worth with intellectual power, I should among the highest of these place Robert Emmet."

During the war between France and England, which broke out in 1803, Emmet corresponded with and met Napoleon Bonaparte to secure aid for Ireland. The uprising proved a failure, and Emmet became a fugitive. Later he was captured and hanged. His head was severed from his body after death and great indignities were wrought upon his body. Throughout his whole career Emmet was actuated only by the most patriotic of motives and his death was mourned by the whole race.

WORST STORM IN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

the market was transacted over the telephone.

Many commuters failed to reach the city this morning, owing to crippled train service from nearby New York and New Jersey towns. Many New Jersey trains were cancelled.

Fire Alarm Wires Down.

Fire alarm circuits in all the outlying districts of New York city, Jersey City and Hoboken were demoralized. In New York firemen were sent out on patrol duty, while in the New Jersey cities hurry calls were sent for all policemen and firemen off duty to report.

The Western Union Telegraph company reported that only five of its out-of-town wires were up. The worst of the storm is between New York and Albany, according to wire officials.

In Newark a short circuit in the wire resulted in a fire which ate a bad hole in the stands of the Newark International league ball park. The fire would probably have destroyed the entire structure but for the fact that the benches were piled high with snow and the blaze burned slowly.

Severest of the Winter.

Washington, March 2.—The severest storm of the winter today prevailed from Eastport, Me., to Savannah, Ga., while a cold wave from the Great Lakes country overspread the Atlantic states as far south as Florida. Lowest temperatures ever recorded in March were registered in Charleston and Macon and other points in the Southeast.

Centering today over southern New England, the storm brought heavy snows north of Maryland and caused shifting gales all along the Atlantic coast.

Still colder weather in New England was predicted tonight, but a warmer wave moving on from the plains states today promised relief late tomorrow and Wednesday.

Cleveland Staggered by Blizzard.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 2.—Cleveland was staggered by another blizzard today by which traffic was greatly delayed and which caused much suffering among the poorer classes.

A biting gale from off the lake raged all day Sunday and continued today. This was accompanied by snowfall, and the temperature this morning was 12 deg. above zero.

All trains on trunk railroads were late, those from the East being eight hours behind schedule.

Storm and Fires in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., March 2.—The terrific wind storm, which swept over this city and vicinity last night, continued this morning, but with slowly diminishing strength. Reports of property damage came from all quarters.

The steeple of the Mount Calvary Protestant Episcopal church, Madison and Eutaw streets, was torn away and hurled into Eutaw street with a crash that terrified the neighborhood. Windows in houses on Hamilton terrace, on the opposite side of Eutaw street, were broken, and the roof of the rectory adjoining the church was blown off.

Roofs and signs were blown away all over the city and thousands of panes of glass were broken.

Church and Whisky Burn.

During the height of the storm the Lutheran Church of the Reformation at Lansdale and Caroline streets caught fire and was destroyed. The church stood in the center of a thickly populated section and many residents, fearing a spread of the flames, fled to the storm-swept streets in scant clothing.

One thousand barrels of whisky were destroyed when two big warehouses of the Canton Distilleries company at Canton, a suburb, were burned today. The loss, based on the amount of whisky stored in the two warehouses, were estimated at $100,000.

Help Dig Jersey City Out.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 2.—Answering an urgent call for help the Pennsylvania railroad early today sent a special train from here to Jersey City. It carried 300 picked track and shop workers to aid in clearing up the storm wreckage. Twenty-five linemen and electricians had been started east soon after midnight.

Two children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed three dwellings here today.

Four Dead in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 2.—The blizzard which began yesterday and continued through the night abated today. The railroads appeared to be the worst sufferers. Four deaths directly due to the storm were reported in this city. According to the weather bureau five inches of snow fell, but the forty-three miles an hour wind drifted it badly.

Railroad traffic on both the Pennsylvania and Reading lines was practically at a standstill in the early part of the day. No trains had arrived here from New York since last night and in the forenoon no attempt was made to send trains out to that city.

The Pennsylvania railroad announced that twenty-one trains were stalled between Philadelphia and New York, some of which were "lost" because the operating officials were unable to communicate with them, all wires being down.

Cold In Tennessee.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 2.—The temperature here early today was 16 deg. above zero, the coldest of the winter thus far.

SEES ANOTHER MARDI GRAS IN DULUTH SUMMER FESTIVAL

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed an editorial in your paper of a few days ago which was forwarded to me at New Orleans, stating that Aad Temple Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and Aad Temple Patrol have passed resolutions indorsing the plan of a midsummer festival and pageant in Duluth in 1915.

I have often wondered why Duluth should not get up something of the kind and as I have just completed a week at New Orleans viewing the Mardi Gras, I am more enthusiastic than ever that something of a festival and pageant should be a success at Duluth. Of course, we could not expect anything like the Mardi Gras, but could come as near to it as possible.

The movement has my hearty support and I am ready when the time comes to give any assistance possible. Yours truly,

J. W. KREITTER,
Supt. D. M. & N. Ry.

steamers at 9.2 cents, plus the switching charge of $1.50 per car."

Must Have Use of Docks.

The committee also declared to be true claims made by Julius H. Barnes and others that there could be no independent through package freight service, unless the independent service is given the use of docks on an equal basis with the railroad-owned lines.

Mr. Barnes is quoted by the committee as to the advance in rates because of the elimination of the independent carriers.

Mr. Barnes emphasized this point in his testimony stating that whereas "in 1890 the lake-and-rail rate on flour from Minneapolis to New York was 20 cents and the rail rate 25 cents, and all flour moved lake-and-rail, they have since advanced the lake rate until the difference today is between 23 and 25 cents, instead of 20 and 25 cents, and that is just the dividing line where they are giving just enough to the lakes to make a bluff at water transportation. If it was necessary, they would raise it to 24 as against 25 cents, and they can do that, in my judgment."

Movement of Bulk Products.

The report also deals at length with the situation with regard to the movement of bulk products such as grain, iron ore and coal. The through grain movement is controlled by railroads, it is said, but in the main this port to port bulk freight is handled by so-called independent tramp steamers whose port to port rates are fixed without reference to rail transportation. As a result conditions in this field have shown a tendency decidedly favorable to the utilization of America's leading waterway as a chief means of transportation. In fact the entire development in the bulk traffic has been the exact opposite of the tendencies noted in connection with the movement of package freight by railroad-owned boat lines. This class of freight traffic has had the advantage not only of an improved type of steamer of large carrying capacity, but improved machinery has been installed at both ends of the trip for the expeditious handling of iron ore and coal at a cost of only a few cents a ton, thus greatly reducing the cost of loading and unloading and saving the boats much time.

Bulk Carrier Consolidations.

"Despite these favorable tendencies," the report says, "it should be stated that there has been a marked tendency during recent years toward consolidations among bulk carriers transporting ore and grain eastbound and coal westbound on the lakes."

The report says there are eight large consolidations of bulk freight lines, which are discussed at length. It is also declared that the Great Lakes Towing company has secured a practical monopoly at several ports, including Duluth.

"The committee concluded to recognize agreements and conferences among carriers in the foreign trade only if the same are brought under some form of effective governmental supervision. Open competition cannot be assured for any length of time by ordering existing agreements terminated. Such termination would either cause the lines to engage in rate wars, which would inevitably result in the survival of the fittest, or, to avoid a costly struggle, they would consolidate through common ownership.

Supervision the Remedy.

"For this reason, the committee felt that effective government supervision is the only means of eliminating existing abuses, and assuring to shippers the benefits which may flow from co-operative arrangements among the lines. Such supervisory control the committee felt should be vested in the interstate commerce commission because of the close relations between rail and water transportation. If necessary in view of duties involved the membership of the commission should be enlarged."

As to foreign shipping the committee recommended:

"That all agreements and understandings between navigation companies or such companies and rail-roads or shippers, be filed with the interstate commerce commission; that the commission be authorized to determine the reasonableness of rates and to order rates changed, that rating be prohibited by law, that the commission be empowered to enforce fair treatment of all shippers; and that the use of cut-throat "fighting ships" and deferred rebates be prohibited."

Power to Regulate Rates.

As to the domestic trade the committee recommended:

"That in addition to the above, the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission be extended to interstate port-to-port traffic with full power to regulate and fix rates; that water carriers, after cutting rates against a competitor, be denied the privilege of restoring rates; that all traffic associations, pertaining to rail-and-water or all-water transportation, be brought under the commission; that railroads be prohibited from making discriminatory rates or unfair divisions to rates on rail-and-water routes; that railroads be compelled to make terminal facilities available to all water carriers under the regulation of the commission; and that canal transportation in interstate traffic be placed under the supervision of the commission."

The committee's recommendations probably will be embraced in bills to be framed by the committee at a later date, though it is probable that no effort will be made to press such legislation at the present session of congress.

Mackler. "From my examination I would say that he might have been in the epileptic seizure from eight to sixteen hours. He was in a dazed condition. This also is a symptom of psychic epilepsy, which is sometimes called transitory insanity."

"Doctor," asked Prosecutor Malato in cross-examination, "if I were to point this revolver at this juryman and kill him during an attack of psychic epilepsy would I know anything about it afterward?"

"Possibly, and then again possibly not," replied Dr. Mackler. "An epileptic's mind is blank at the time a crime is committed by him, but sleep and different surroundings may bring recollection of it."

Told of Family Weaknesses.

When Ellis was recalled to the stand today he testified that his grandfather was a religious fanatic and that his father went blind and that he himself had been subject to falling spells since he was 7 years old.

An effort was made to obtain records of Western Union telegraph messages sent from Cincinnati just before Mrs. Ellis left for Chicago, but telegraph officials here declared that they had no jurisdiction in the matter. The attempt will be resumed in Cincinnati, it was said.

Dr. Mackler surprised the prosecution by declaring that epilepsy is curable. Malato had asked him if the disease was not incurable.

"I intended to make public a statement on that subject on March 17," said Dr. Mackler. "There are doctors in this court room as well as outside it who will laugh at this, but epilepsy is curable."

On redirect examination Dr. Mackler told Ellis' counsel he thought Ellis could be restored to health.

FORMER CANADIAN GOVERNOR IS DEAD

London, March 2.—The earl of Minto, former governor general of Canada and former viceroy of India, died at Hawick at 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

Entering the government's service as ensign of the Scots guards at the age of 22, Gilbert John Murray Elliot, fourth earl of Minto, became at 60 viceroy of India, the most important and lucrative post in the British colonial governments.

He was born in 1845, and after education at Eton and Cambridge there were thirty years filled with brilliant exploits as a soldier, six as governor-general of Canada, and five in governing India.

He was in Paris during the Communists' uprising in 1871. He followed the Carlist army in Spain as a war correspondent. He witnessed the operations of the Turkish army on the Danube, and was present during the bombardment of Nokopolis and the historic crossing of the Danube. He was with Gen. Roberts in the Afghan campaign and later served as his private secretary in South Africa. He fought the Egyptians as a captain of mounted infantry in 1882, and was severely wounded at Magfar.

EARL MINTO.

Fought Rebellious Canadians.

Later he became military secretary to Lord Lansdowne, the governor-general of Canada, and during this service he helped put down the Northwest rebellion as chief of staff under Gen. Middleton. Returning to his homeland, he served as brigadier general of volunteer infantry in Scotland.

When 43 years of age Lord Minto was appointed governor general of Canada, and there won renown as a statesman and diplomat. In his speeches he showed the deepest affection for America.

"I predict a great future for the western continent," he said, shortly before his death. "It is a land of incalculable riches. Northwest Canada today offers some of the greatest opportunities in the world."

During Lord Minto's reign of Canada, the Boer war broke out again. Canada was called upon for volunteer troops. In this emergency the vast knowledge he had gained in his thirty years of soldiering was of inestimable benefit. He personally saw to the organizing and equipping of that splendid contingent of Canadian soldiers which arrived on the South African battlefields as one of the best trained body of soldiers in the war.

Great as was his service in Canada, the British public will probably best remember him as viceroy of India, the successor of Lord Curzon. One of the unique reforms that Lord Minto instituted in India was the use of finger prints on money orders in the postal service. He closed his long public career in 1909 when he resigned from the viceroyalty.

BRYAN HALTS COMMISSIONERS

of the arms embargo was expected here today.

Carranza in Full Charge.

That Gen. Villa has acknowledged the authority of Gen. Carranza as his chief, and will not permit the American commission to examine the body of William S. Benton until the Washington government has consulted Gen. Carranza, was the explanation made by President Wilson today of the latest phase of the Mexican situation.

The president told callers that the desire of the commissioners to get further instructions from Washington, as well as orders from Gen. Villa himself, had necessitated a postponement, but Mr. Wilson takes it for granted that the commissioners will start in a few days.

Wilson Warns Agitators.

Asked whether, in view of the new developments, a change of policy was intended by the United States immediately, the president pointed out that a country of the size and power of the United States could afford to wait just as long as it pleased; that nobody doubted its power, and nobody doubted that Huerta was eventually to retire; that there need be no hesitation in forming the judgment that what the United States wished to accomplish in Mexico would be accomplished, but that those people who were in haste to have things done were forgetting what they themselves would have to do—that they would have to contribute brothers and sons and sweethearts to duty if they wanted something done right away. If they were willing to wait, the president indicated, such a step might not be necessary.

The president was referring, it was presumed, to speeches in congress demanding radical action of some kind, or armed intervention, which he seemed to deplore.

Interprets Law of Nations.

The White House view is that, strictly speaking, there is no right of international law by which the United States could insist on acting for Great Britain, although the American government has been asked by the powers to use its good offices for the protection of foreigners.

If, however, England should not ask the United States to pursue the matter into further complications with Carranza, the American government would not feel obliged to go beyond an investigation of the facts through its own consular representatives.

The next step, it would appear from the official viewpoint here, is some intimation from Great Britain as to how far she expects the United States to push the Benton case. On the other hand, there is every reason to believe Carranza will be expected in the near future to give the American government further assurances that all foreigners, regardless of whether their governments have recognized Huerta or not, will be safe in Northern Mexico.

On Carranza's Orders.

Chihuahua, Mex., March 2.—Gen. Villa said today that the orders delaying the Benton investigation commission, which was halted at Juarez yesterday, were issued by Gen. Carranza, who has determined to handle all diplomatic subjects himself.

Gen. Villa today indicated his belief that Gustav Bauch is dead when he said that Bauch, an American, was liberated at Juarez and "doubtless was assassinated by some of his enemies." Villa said Bauch had many enemies and added, "Of course I can't be blamed for that."

Examination May Show Nothing.

Persons in a position to obtain reliable information expressed the opinion today that the body of William S. Benton, if it is buried here, will have been too long in the ground to disclose much to the commission that is to examine it. It has been hinted in official circles the body probably has been subjected to some chemical action to obliterate evidence.

If Gen. Villa knows where the body is buried he has not told anyone. Why the body was brought so far from the border, and when and how it was buried, are subjects upon which Villa refused to talk. None of the foreign consuls has been able to learn the whereabouts of the grave.

Burial In Mystery.

The Pantheon de la Reglar, where Villa says the body was interred, is about two blocks from the United States consulate, and only one block from Villa's residence. It is one of the most conspicuous spots in the city. Two or three heaps of gravel are the only evidence of freshly dug earth, and one of these is the grave of Abraham Gonzales, former governor, who was executed by order of Huerta, and whose body recently was placed in the cemetery.

An attendant at the graveyard said no other burials had taken place there since Villa returned from Juarez.

Villa Is Indifferent.

Gen. Villa, while attending bull fights, cock fights and balls, has shown indifference for international complications arising from the Benton execution and the Bauch disappearance and once said he had "cut the wires on the subject," meaning he did not wish to discuss it further. He already had given versions of the events which led up to the killing of Benton, some of the versions varying in essential details. A representative of a foreign government who took one version differing from that which Villa had given to the press, wrote it out and attempted to forward it to his government. Villa suppressed the proposed telegram.

The representative said to him: "Gen. Villa, you can suppress my telegrams, but you cannot prevent me from telling the truth, and I am going to tell the truth."

It was only after pressure had been brought to bear on him that Villa consented to provide a special train for the Benton commission to come to Chihuahua and then delays ensued. Villa was told that unless he showed some disposition to help to bring out the facts it would throw discredit on him.

Bauch Had No Enemies.

El Paso Tex., March 2.—Gen. Villa's expressed belief that Gustave Bauch, who was arrested at Jparez as a spy two weeks ago, was the victim of an assassin, occasioned no surprise here, where the German-American's sister, Mrs. J. M. Patterson, and others interested in the case have been resigned to the conclusion that Bauch was slain at Juarez a week ago last Friday. They do not accept the personal enemy theory, however.

Repeated assertions have been made by certain Juarez rebels, talking confidentially to friends on this side of the border, that Bauch was executed, and the stories all agreed on the date of the execution, which was the day that Gen. Villa departed for Chihuahua.

For a week official Juarez maintained that Bauch was in Chihuahua, as Chihuahua declared, and informally proved, that Bauch was not there.

Mrs. Patterson asserted that her brother had no enemies in the world. He was a locomotive engineer and not of a shrewdness of character which would recommend him to anyone desiring to employ a spy, Mrs. Patterson said. His statement before the alleged court-martial that he went to Juarez to "get drunk" was accepted by Mrs. Patterson as the truth.

Carranza Agent for London.

Nogales, Sonora, March 2.—Miguel Covarrubias, who held a diplomatic position under the Madero government, today was appointed as confidential agent of the Mexican Constitutionalists at London. It was thought this action of Gen. Carranza had connection with the recent international representation in the case of W. S. Benton, the British subject executed at Juarez, Mex.

The appointment to London of Covarrubias, it was pointed out, would make possible dealings with the insurgents of Mexico by the British foreign office, which accordingly would not have opportunity to say that connection with Carranza's government was so remote that it would be necessary to deal through the American department of state.

O'Shaughnessy Declines Guard.

Mexico City, March 2.—President Huerta, because of representations made by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge, has desisted in his intention to install a special police guard at the American embassy. Mr. O'Shaughnessy told the president that the two policemen at present stationed at the embassy were sufficient, and that an extra guard was not needed.

President Huerta yesterday notified Mr. O'Shaughnessy that he would send an extra police guard, saying that probably there might be justification for their presence, and as he deplored the bringing in of marines to the capital, he, himself, would provide a substitute legation guard. There were reports that agitators had planned an anti-American demonstration, but there is no indication of this except in an increase of anti-American circulars.

a certain number of men by making a lot of promises impossible of fulfillment. It was known for more than a year that the strike was inevitable in order to carry out the plan of the Western Federation of Miners to obtain recognition of their union, which would mean the total wrecking of our industry, for we could not continue to operate the mines under the conditions that would be imposed by the Federation."

Rioting and Assaults.

Rees said there were three days of rioting and assaults at the start of the strike before Governor Ferris sent the National Guard to preserve order.

No disorders occurred after that, he said, until the mines started to operate under the protection of the militia. Trains bearing strikebreakers were shot up and stoned and automobiles containing deputies were treated likewise.

The attorney said that a considerable number of complaints made by strikers were of things occurring during the week, beginning Dec. 7, when Daily and the Jayne boys were murdered in their beds at Painesdale.

"It was a very tense week," he said, "for the community was thoroughly aroused by this coldblooded crime following on the other lawless acts of the strikers."

Mr. Rees read into the record a large number of letters and telegrams which passed between Governor Ferris and representatives of the companies. He did this to show the efforts made at conciliation and mediation and the reasons given by the companies for declining to treat with the Western Federation of Miners in any way.

Roofing Tests—True and Otherwise

By George M. Brown, President, General Roofing Manufacturing Company.

As you walk down the concrete runway which your train in the new Grand Central Station in New York, you consider a by-no portion of the train as sprinkish in color, the next fifteen or twenty feet dull grey, and the remaining with commercial [illegible] or carbonndum. The [illegible] having various concrete compounds for years.

No test of toughness has any bearing on the durability of a roof. The thing that a roof is up against is the ever-changing atmospheric conditions—and time. It does not like to bear much usage, but it does have to contend against withering and drying out. Therefore, any test for toughness is a false test.

A soft asphalt center protected by a harder asphalt surface invites the ideal combination. It is not much. It tears easily, compared to many roofings devised to withstand hard usage, but "lasts." But it will wear out—on the roof—until a roofing like the "Tested for toughness" roof has out lived its usefulness and dried up.

There is no test by which you can know in advance the service a roof will give or how long it will last.

There is only one true means of roof knowledge—and that is the reputation and guarantee of the manufacturer. But you must go further than that even. You must look to see if the manufacturer's guarantee for what is behind it—is the responsibility to make good the guarantee.

Whose roof guarantee Certain-teed Roofing for fifteen years if it were not built upon the principle of doing the right kind of work with the best materials that protecting surface.

You can buy roofing for less than the price of Certain-teed. But at most your saving is but a few dollars—and it's poor economy.

Certain-teed

is always reasonable in price—and 15 years' service guaranteed is the best advance roof-knowledge there is.

IRISH WILL HONOR EMMET

D. W. Lawler of St. Paul and Others Will Give Addresses.

Irish residents of Duluth will Wednesday evening celebrate the 136th anniversary of the birth of their beloved martyr, Robert Emmet, at an entertainment to be given at the cathedral auditorium, under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock and will be presided over by Ray Hughes, local attorney. Daniel W. Lawler, former mayor of St. Paul, will deliver the principal address of the evening. Several short talks on Emmet will be given by prominent Irish residents of this city and Superior, while a program of songs will be a feature of the evening's entertainment.

Robert Emmet was born in 1778 and took a prominent part in the famous Irish rebellion of 1803.

Best Loved By Irish.

In all Irish history there is no name that touches the Irish heart like that of Robert Emmet. In his character

DANIEL W. LAWLER.

there is such a rare combination of admirable qualities, and in his history there are so many of the qualities of romance, that he stands out as a peculiarly lovable and lovable character and has claims for the sympathy of the Irish people as no other man.

He had youth, genius and enthusiasm and was utterly free from guile. He was an orator and a poet; in one art he had already gained distinction and in the other he was certain to take a high place.

His patriotism was of the highest order, and none had more to lose than he.

Emmet was the son of a highly respected physician of Dublin. He was sent to Trinity college, where as an exponent of the Jacobin cause, he aroused great excitement through his eloquence and his sound logic. In a short time he and several of his political friends were expelled.

Friend of Thomas Moore.

The poet Thomas Moore, who was a fellow student and intimate friend of Emmet's, says of him: "Were I to number the men among all I have ever known who appear to me to combine in the greatest degree pure moral worth with intellectual power, I should among the highest of these place Robert Emmet."

During the war between France and England, which broke out in 1803, Emmet corresponded with and met Napoleon Bonmarte to secure aid for Ireland. The uprising proved a failure, and Emmet became a fugitive. Later he was captured and hanged. His head was severed from his body after death and great indignities were wrought upon his body. Throughout his whole career Emmet was actuated only by the most patriotic of motives and his death was mourned by the whole race.

the market was transacted over the telephone.

Many commuters failed to reach the city this morning, owing to crippled train service from nearby New York and New Jersey towns. Many New Jersey trains were cancelled.

Fire Alarm Wires Down.

Fire alarm circuits in all the outlying districts of New York city, Jersey City and Hoboken were demoralized. In New York firemen were sent out on patrol duty, while in the New Jersey cities hurry calls were sent for all policemen and firemen off duty to report.

The Western Union Telegraph company reported that only five of its out-of-town wires were up. The worst of the storm is between New York and Albany, according to wire officials.

In Newark a short circuit in the wire resulted in a fire which ate a bad hole in the stands of the Newark International league ball park. The fire would probably have destroyed the entire structure but for the fact that the benches were piled high with snow and the blaze burned slowly.

Severest of the Winter.

Washington, March 2.—The severest storm of the winter today prevailed from Eastport, Me., to Savannah, Ga., while a cold wave from the Great Lakes country overspread the Atlantic states as far south as Florida. Lowest temperatures ever recorded in March were registered in Charleston and Macon and other points in the Southeast.

Centering today over southern New England, the storm brought heavy snows north of Maryland and caused shifting gales all along the Atlantic coast.

Still colder weather in New England was predicted tonight, but a warmer wave moving on from the plains states today promised relief late tomorrow and Wednesday.

Cleveland Staggered by Blizzard.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 2.—Cleveland was staggered by another blizzard today by which traffic was greatly delayed and which caused much suffering among the poorer classes.

A biting gale from off the lake raged all day Sunday and continued today. This was accompanied by snowfall, and the temperature this morning was 12 deg. above zero.

All trains on trunk railroads were late, those from the East being eight hours behind schedule.

Storm and Fires in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., March 2.—The terrific wind storm, which swept over this city and vicinity last night, continued this morning, but with slowly diminishing strength. Reports of property damage came from all quarters.

The steeple of the Mount Calvary Protestant Episcopal church, Madison and Eutaw streets, was torn away and hurled into Eutaw street with a crash that terrified the neighborhood. Windows in houses on Hamilton terrace, on the opposite side of Eutaw street, were broken, and the roof of the rectory adjoining the church was blown off.

Roofs and signs were blown away all over the city and thousands of panes of glass were broken.

Church and Whisky Burn.

During the height of the storm the Lutheran Church of the Reformation at Lansdale and Caroline streets caught fire and was destroyed. The church stood in the center of a thickly populated section and many residents, fearing a spread of the flames, fled to the storm-swept streets in scant clothing.

One thousand barrels of whisky were destroyed when two big warehouses of the Canton Distilleries company at Canton, a suburb, were burned today. The loss, based on the amount of whisky stored in the two warehouses, were estimated at $100,000.

Help Dig Jersey City Out.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 2.—Answering an urgent call for help the Pennsylvania railroad early today sent a special train from here to Jersey City. It carried 300 gloved track and shop workers to aid in clearing up the storm wreckage. Twenty-five linemen and electricians had been started east soon after midnight.

Two children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed three dwellings here today.

Four Dead in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 2.—The blizzard which began yesterday and continued through the night abated today. The railroads appeared to be the worst sufferers. Four deaths directly due to the storm were reported in this city. According to the weather bureau five inches of snow fell, but the forty-three miles an hour wind drifted it badly.

Railroad traffic on both the Pennsylvania and Reading lines was practically at a standstill in the early part of the day. No trains had arrived here from New York since last night and in the forenoon no attempt was made to send trains out to that city.

The Pennsylvania railroad announced that twenty-one trains were stalled between Philadelphia and New York, some of which were "lost" because the operating officials were unable to communicate with them, all wires being down.

Cold In Tennessee.

steamers at 9.2 cents, plus the switching charge of $1.50 per car."

Must Have Use of Docks.

The committee also declared to be true claims made by Julius H. Barnes and others that there could be no independent through package freight service, unless the independent service is given the use of docks on an equal basis with the railroad-owned lines.

Mr. Barnes is quoted by the committee as to the advance in rates because of the elimination of the independent carriers.

Mr. Barnes emphasized this point in his testimony stating that whereas "in 1890 the lake-and-rail rate on flour from Minneapolis to New York was 20 cents and the rail rate 25 cents, and all flour moved lake-and-rail, they have since advanced the lake rate until the difference today is between 23 and 25 cents, instead of 20 and 25 cents, and that is just the dividing line where they are giving just enough to the lakes to make a bluff at water transportation. If it was necessary, they would raise it to 24 as against 25 cents, and they can do that, in my judgment."

Movement of Bulk Products.

The report also deals at length with the situation with regard to the movement of bulk products such as grain, iron ore and coal. The through grain movement is controlled by railroads, it is said, but in the main this port to port bulk freight is handled by so-called independent tramp steamers whose port to port rates are fixed without reference to rail transportation. As a result conditions in this field have shown a tendency decidedly favorable to the utilization of America's leading waterway as a chief means of transportation. In fact the entire development in the bulk traffic has been the exact opposite of the tendencies noted in connection with the movement of package freight by railroad-owned boat lines. This class of freight traffic has had the advantage not only of an improved type of steamer of large carrying capacity, but improved machinery has been installed at both ends of the trip for the expeditious handling of iron ore and coal at a cost of only a few cents a ton, thus greatly reducing the cost of loading and unloading and saving the boats much time.

Bulk Carrier Consolidations.

"Despite these favorable tendencies," the report says, "it should be stated that there has been a marked tendency during recent years toward consolidations among bulk carriers transporting ore and grain eastbound and coal westbound on the lakes."

The report says there are eight large consolidations of bulk freight lines, which are discussed at length. It is also declared that the Great Lakes Towing company has secured a practical monopoly at several ports, including Duluth.

"The committee concluded to recognize agreements and conferences among carriers in the foreign trade only if the same are brought under some form of effective governmental supervision. Open competition cannot be assured for any length of time by ordering existing agreements terminated. Such termination would either cause the lines to engage in rate wars, which would inevitably result in the survival of the fittest, or, to avoid a costly struggle, they would consolidate through common ownership.

Supervision the Remedy.

"For this reason, the committee felt that effective government supervision is the only means of eliminating existing abuses, and assuring to shippers the benefits which may flow from cooperative arrangements among the lines. Such supervisory control the committee felt should be vested in the interstate commerce commission because of the close relations between rail and water transportation. If necessary in view of duties involved the membership of the commission should be enlarged."

As to foreign shipping the committee recommended:

"That all agreements and understandings between navigation companies or such companies and railroads or shippers, be filed with the interstate commerce commission; that the commission be authorized to determine the reasonableness of rates and to order rates changed, that rating be prohibited by law, that the commission be empowered to enforce fair treatment of all shippers; and that the use of out-throat "fighting ships" and deferred rebates be prohibited."

Power to Regulate Rates.

As to the domestic trade the committee recommended:

"That in addition to the above, the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission be extended to intrastate port-to-port traffic with full power to regulate such rates; that water carriers, after cutting rates against a competitor, be denied the privilege of restoring rates; that all traffic associations pertaining to rail-and-water or all-water transportation, be brought under the commission; that pooling be prohibited from making discriminatory rates or unfair divisions to rates on rail-and-water routes; that railroads be compelled to make terminal facilities available to all water carriers under the regulation of the commission; and that canal transportation in interstate traffic be placed under the supervision of the commission."

The committee's recommendations probably will be embraced in bills to be framed by the committee at a later date, though it is probable that no effort will be made to press such legislation at the present session of congress.

Mackler. "From my examination I would say that he might have been in the epileptic seizure from eight to sixteen hours. He was in a dazed condition. This also is a symptom of psychic epilepsy, which is sometimes called transitory insanity."

"Doctor," asked Prosecutor Malato in cross-examination, "if I were to point this revolver at this juryman and kill him during an attack of psychic epilepsy would I know anything about it afterward?"

"Possibly, and then again possibly not," replied Dr. Mackler. "An epileptic's mind is blank at the time a crime is committed by him, but sleep and different surroundings may bring recollection of it."

Told of Family Weaknesses.

When Ellis was recalled to the stand today he testified that his grandfather was a religious fanatic and that his father went blind and that he himself had been subject to falling spells since he was 7 years old.

An effort was made to obtain records of Western Union telegraph messages sent from Cincinnati just before Mrs. Ellis left for Chicago, but telegraph officials here declared that they had no jurisdiction in the matter. The attempt will be resumed in Cincinnati, it was said.

Dr. Mackler surprised the prosecution by declaring that epilepsy is curable. Malato had asked him if the disease was not incurable.

"I intended to make public a statement on that subject on March 17," said Dr. Mackler. "There are doctors in this court room as well as outside it who will laugh at this, but epilepsy is curable."

On redirect examination Dr. Mackler told Ellis' counsel he thought Ellis could be restored to health.

SEES ANOTHER MARDI GRAS IN DULUTH SUMMER FESTIVAL

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed an editorial in your paper of a few days ago which was forwarded to me at New Orleans, stating that Aad Temple Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and Aad Temple Patrol have passed resolutions indorsing the plan of a midsummer festival and pageant in Duluth in 1915.

I have often wondered why Duluth should not get up something of the kind and as I have just completed a week at New Orleans viewing the Mardi Gras, I am more enthusiastic than ever that something of a festival and pageant should be a success at Duluth. Of course, we could not expect anything like the Mardi Gras, but could come as near to it as possible.

The movement has my hearty support and I am ready when the time comes to give any assistance possible. Yours truly,

Carranza In Full Charge.

That Gen. Villa has acknowledged the authority of Gen. Carranza as his chief, and will not permit the American commission to examine the body of William S. Benton until the Washington government has consulted Gen. Carranza, was the explanation made by President Wilson today of the latest phase of the Mexican situation.

The president told callers that the desire of the commissioners to get further instructions from Washington, as well as orders from Gen. Villa himself, had necessitated a postponement, but Mr. Wilson takes it for granted that the commissioners will start in a few days.

Wilson Warns Agitators.

Asked whether, in view of the new developments, a change of policy was intended by the United States immediately, the president pointed out that a country of the size and power of the United States could afford to wait just as long as it pleased; that nobody doubted its power, and nobody doubted that Huerta was eventually to retire; that there need be no hesitation in forming the judgment that what the United States wished to accomplish in Mexico would be accomplished, but that those people who were in haste to have things done were forgetting what they themselves would have to do—that they would have to contribute brothers and sons and sweethearts to duty if they wanted something done right away. If they were willing to wait, the president indicated, such a step might not be necessary.

The president was referring, it was presumed, to speeches in congress demanding radical action of some kind, or armed intervention, which he seemed to deplore.

Interprets Law of Nations.

The White House view is that, strictly speaking, there is no right of international law by which the United States could insist on acting for Great Britain, although the American government has been asked by the powers to use its good offices for the protection of foreigners.

If, however, England should not ask the United States to pursue the matter into further complications with Carranza, the American government would not feel obliged to go beyond an investigation of the facts through its own consular representatives.

The next step, it would appear from the official viewpoint here, is some intimation from Great Britain as to how far she expects the United States to push the Benton case. On the other hand, there is every reason to believe Carranza will be expected in the near future to give the American government further assurances that all foreigners, regardless of whether their governments have recognized Huerta or not, will be safe in Northern Mexico.

On Carranza's Orders.

Chihuahua, Mex., March 2.—Gen. Villa said today that the orders delaying the Benton investigation commission, which was halted at Juarez yesterday, were issued by Gen. Carranza, who has determined to handle all diplomatic subjects himself.

Gen. Villa today indicated his belief that Gustav Bauch is dead when he said that Bauch, an American, was liberated at Juarez and "doubtless was assassinated by some of his enemies." Villa said Bauch had many enemies and added, "Of course I can't be blamed for that."

Examination May Show Nothing.

Persons in a position to obtain reliable information expressed the opinion today that the body of William S. Benton, if it is buried here, will have been too long in the ground to disclose much to the commission that is to examine it. It has been hinted in official circles the body probably has been subjected to some chemical action to obliterate evidence.

If Gen. Villa knows where the body is buried he has not told anyone. Why the body was brought so far from the border, and when and how it was buried, are subjects upon which Villa refused to talk. None of the foreign consuls has been able to learn the whereabouts of the grave.

Burial Is Mystery.

The Panthreon da la Reglar, where Villa says the body was interred, is about two blocks from the United States consulate, and only one block from Villa's residence. It is one of the most conspicuous spots in the city. Two or three heaps of gravel are the only evidence of freshly dug earth, and one of these is the grave of Abraham Gonzales, former governor, who was executed by order of Huerta, and whose body recently was placed in the cemetery.

An attendant at the graveyard said no other buriais had taken place there since Villa returned from Juarez.

Villa Is Indifferent.

Gen. Villa, while attending bull fights, cock fights and balls, has shown indifference for international complications arising from the Benton execution and the Bauch disappearance and once said he had "cut the wires on the subject," meaning he did not wish to discuss it further. He already had given versions of the events which led up to the killing of Benton, some of the versions varying in essential details. A representative of a foreign government who took one version differing from that which Villa had given to the press, wrote it out and attempted to forward it to his government. Villa suppressed the proposed telegram.

The representative said to him: "Gen. Villa, you can suppress my telegrams, but you cannot prevent me from telling the truth, and I am going to tell the truth."

It was only after pressure had been brought to bear on him that Villa consented to provide a special train for the Benton commission to come to Chihuahua and then delays ensued. Villa was told that unless he showed some disposition to help to bring out the facts it would throw discredit on him.

Bauch Had No Enemies.

El Paso Tex., March 2.—Gen. Villa's expressed belief that Gustave Bauch, who was arrested at Jparez as a spy two weeks ago, was the victim of an assassin, occasioned no surprise here, where the German-American's sister, Mrs. J. M. Patterson, and others interested in the case have been resigned to the conclusion that Bauch was slain at Juarez a week ago last Friday. They do not accept the personal enemy theory, however.

Repeated assertions have been made by certain Juarez rebels, talking confidentially to friends on this side of the border, that Bauch was executed, and the stories all agreed on the date of the execution, which was the day that Gen. Villa departed for Chihuahua.

For a week official Juarez maintained that Bauch was in Chihuahua, but Chihuahua declared, and informally proved, that Bauch was not there.

Mrs. Patterson asserted that her brother had no enemies in the world. He was a locomotive engineer and not of a shrewdness of character which would recommend him to anyone desiring to employ a spy, Mrs. Patterson said. His statement before the alleged court-martial that he went to Juarez to "get drunk" was accepted by Mrs. Patterson as the truth.

Carranza Agent for London.

Nogales, Sonora, March 2.—Miguel Covarrubias, who held a diplomatic position under the Madero government, today was appointed as confidential agent of the Mexican Constitutionalists at London. It was thought this action of Gen. Carranza had connection with the recent international representation in the case of W. S. Benton, the British subject executed at Juarez, Mex.

The appointment to London of Covarrubias, it was pointed out, would make possible dealings with the insurgents of Mexico by the British foreign office, which accordingly would have opportunity to say that connection with Carranza's government was so remote that it would be necessary to deal through the American department of state.

O'Shaughnessy Declines Guard.

Mexico City, March 2.—President Huerta, because of representations made by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge, has desisted in his intention to install a special police guard at the American embassy. Mr. O'Shaughnessy told the president that the two policemen at present stationed at the embassy were sufficient, and that an extra guard was not needed.

President Huerta yesterday notified Mr. O'Shaughnessy that he would send an extra police guard, saying that probably there might be justification for their presence, and as he deplored the bringing in of marines to the capital, he, himself, would provide a substitute legation guard. There were reports that agitators had planned an anti-American demonstration, but there is no indication of this except in an increase of anti-American circulars.

a certain number of men by making a lot of promises impossible of fulfillment. It was known for more than a year that the strike was inevitable in order to carry out the plan of the Western Federation of Miners to obtain recognition of their union, which would mean the total wrecking of our industry, for we could not continue to operate the mines under the conditions that would be imposed by the Federation."

Rioting and Assaults.

Rees said there were three days of rioting and assaults at the start of the strike before Governor Ferris sent the National Guard to preserve order.

No disorders occurred after that, he said, until the mines started to operate under the protection of the militia. Trains bearing strikebreakers were shot up and stoned and automobiles containing deputies were treated likewise.

The attorney said that a considerable number of complaints made by strikers were of things occurring during the week, beginning Dec. 7, when Daily and the Jayne boys were murdered in their beds at Painesdale.

"It was a very tense week," he said, "for the community was thoroughly aroused by this coldblooded crime following on the other lawless acts of the strikers."

Mr. Rees read into the record a large number of letters and telegrams which passed between Governor Ferris and representatives of the companies. He did this to show the efforts made at conciliation and mediation and the reasons given by the companies for declining to treat with the Western Federation of Miners in any way.

FORMER CANADIAN GOVERNOR IS DEAD

London, March 2.—The earl of Minto, former governor general of Canada and former viceroy of India, died at Hawick at 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

Entering the government's service as ensign of the Scots guards at the age of 22, Gilbert John Murray Elliot, fourth earl of Minto, became at 60 viceroy of India, the most important and lucrative post in the British colonial governments.

He was born in 1845, and after education at Eton and Cambridge there were thirty years filled with brilliant exploits as a soldier, six as governor-general of Canada, and five in governing India.

He was in Paris during the Communists' uprising in 1871. He followed the Carlist army in Spain as a war correspondent. He witnessed the operations of the Turkish army on the Danube, and was present during the bombardment of Nokopolis and the historic crossing of the Danube. He was with Gen. Roberts in the Afghan campaign and later served as his private secretary in South Africa. He fought the Egyptians as a captain of mounted infantry in 1882, and was severely wounded at Magfar.

EARL MINTO.

Fought Rebellious Canadians.

Later he became military secretary to Lord Lansdowne, the governor-general of Canada, and during this service he helped put down the Northwest rebellion as chief of staff under Gen. Middleton. Returning to his homeland, he served as brigadier general of volunteer infantry in Scotland.

When 45 years of age Lord Minto was appointed governor general of Canada, and there won renown as a statesman and diplomat. In his speeches he showed the deepest affection for America.

"I predict a great future for the western continent," he said, shortly before his death. "It is a land of incalculable riches. Northwest Canada today offers some of the greatest opportunities in the world."

During Lord Minto's reign of Canada, the Boer war broke out again. Canada was called upon for volunteer troops. In this emergency the vast knowledge he had gained in his thirty years of soldiering was of inestimable benefit. He personally saw to the organizing and equipping of that splendid contingent of Canadian soldiers which arrived on the South African battlefields as one of the best trained body of soldiers in the war.

Great as was his service in Canada, the British public will probably best remember him as viceroy of India, the successor of Lord Curzon. One of the unique reforms that Lord Minto instituted in India was the use of finger prints on money orders in the postal service. He closed his long public career in 1909 when he resigned from the viceroyalty.

Lord Minto was possessed of great wealth, most of which he inherited.

WANT OBSTRUCTION OUT OF SUBWAY

Commercial Club Will Ask Action Regarding Jenswold Street.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club will ask the city commission to order the Northern Pacific railroad to place a single span over the Jenswold street subway. At present three spans are used, and pillars standing in the center of the street are used for supports.

It is claimed that these pillars will be a nuisance when the paving on this street is laid this summer. Although the street will be considerably widened at this point, the pillars will, it is claimed, interfere with traffic.

"The city commissioners should take the matter up with the railroad at once," said John J. Frey this morning. "It usually takes the railroad several months to make up its mind whether it wants to do the work or not, and the earlier the city gets after it the better for all. The railroad should never have been allowed to build its overhead bridge in the manner that it did."

WILL REMAIN HERE.

"Duluth is good enough for me" is the way Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, expressed himself when notifying his congregation at the service last night that he intended remaining in Duluth. Mr. Nelson announced that he had rejected the offer of one of the largest churches in Chicago to become its pastor.

After looking over the ground in Chicago last week, said Mr. Nelson, "I find that there is as big a field for good in Duluth as in the Windy City. While the congregation may be larger and the inducements better in Chicago I have come to believe that there are other things that offset these advantages."

The announcement of his decision to remain brought forth an ovation from the congregation. Rev. Mr. Nelson has been pastor of the local church for five years, and during that time has built up a large congregation. He has also been instrumental in the erection of its new home.

NEW BRANCH LIBRARY WILL BE OPENED

The new West End library building at 20 North Twentieth avenue west will be opened to the public at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The rooms have been equipped with new books and reading matter, and will be under the charge of Miss Maude Grogan.

The library will be held open every afternoon between 1 and 9 o'clock. It will also be open on Sunday between the hours of 3 and 8 p. m. for the circulation of books.

W. C. T. U. WOMEN WILL ENTERTAIN

Ladies of the W. C. T. U. will entertain Wednesday afternoon at a musical and literary program in the clubrooms of the West Duluth Carnegie library, Central avenue and Elinor street. "The Inauguration of the Nations" will form the feature of the entertainment and will consist of charades and impersonations.

The program will also include the following:

Piano solo—"Fantasy Impromptu".....Chopin
Mrs. E. Hall.
Vocal solo—"Spring Has Come".....Maude Valerio White
Miss Sylvia Bevier.
Reading—Selected.....
Mrs. Frank Parker.

The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. David Adams, Mrs. George R. King, Mrs. George Jewell, Mrs. I. P. Swangie, Mrs. Leigh Gunther, Mrs. H. Bevier and Mrs. G. A. Riddle.

MAY START MAIL DELIVERY VERY SOON

New Duluth and Gary may have free delivery before the end of this month. This will, it is believed by Postmaster A. P. Cook, serve for the present in place of a branch postoffice in the suburb.

At first it is believed that one man will be able to cover the territory. Later, as the population grows, it is expected to add one or two more men.

Residents of the suburb called Gary have been clamoring for a postal branch or carrier service. Either is acceptable although the former is said to be favored by the majority. A mail distributing station will continue to be maintained in New Duluth and it is from this station that the mail carriers will work.

Book Club Meeting.

The West Duluth Book club will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Robert C. Weddell, 603 North Fifty-sixth avenue west. The hostess will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Y. Dunn. Mrs. Dunbar F. Lippitt will give a dramatic reading of Rostand's play, "A Good Little Devil," and Mrs. T. F. Wieland will review Mrs. Humphrey Ward's book, "The Croyston Family."

Will Present Comedy.

"The Fascinating Fanny Brown," a two-act comedy, will be given tomorrow evening at the assembly hall of the Irving school by the Irving Social Center Dramatic club. Nine young people are taking part in the affair.

The cast of characters follows:

Fanny Brown .....Clifford Stowell

REFERENDUM ON HICKEN BILL

Organized Labor Ready to Start Battle in Behalf of Barkeepers.

If the proposed ordinance of Commissioner W. A. Hicken taxing bartenders passes the council, the labor interests of the city will immediately start referendum proceedings, according to statements made by a prominent labor leader today.

That the principle involved in this ordinance is unjust is the contention of labor men. The opinion seems to be quite unanimous among the unions that such a law would be the basis for more "class" legislation, and they are determined that the ordinance if passed shall be placed before the voters.

"The payment of a small tax is not the thing that labor men object to, but the principle of forcing a man to pay a tax on his work by means of which he supports himself and family," said a labor leader. "If any other business except the liquor business were involved there would be much more outspoken objection than there is. The unions, however, are fighting for a principle and it is just as important where bartenders are concerned as it would be if the rights of any other occupation were to be jeopardized. We have at no time meant our actions to be taken as a threat against the city administration, but our duty will compel us to start referendum proceedings if the bill passes."

WOMEN BLAMED FOR CHURCH BOMB

London, March 2.—A bomb was exploded in St. John's church, Westminster, last night half an hour after the service had ended and the congregation departed for their homes. The bomb had been placed beneath a seat in the gallery above the pulpit. The explosion, which is attributed to suffragettes, caused considerable damage to the interior of the building.

Railroads

LOUIS HILL TO BE GRAY'S SUCCESSOR

Is to Become President of the Great Northern at Once.

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis W. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railroad, will become president of the road to succeed Carl R. Gray, resigned. The change in title will be made tomorrow at the weekly meeting of the executive committee, and Mr. Gray will become active head of the Western Maryland road between March 10 and March 15, with the title of president and chairman of the board of directors.

Confirmation of these changes was received here this morning by telegraph from L. W. Hill, who is at Del Monte, Cal., and from Mr. Gray, who returned this morning from the East, according to the Dispatch.

CAREFUL CLUB OF NORTHERN PACIFIC

In its desire to promote safety and efficiency in all branches of railway operation and travel the Northern Pacific Railway company has recently established "The Careful club." All employes of the Northern Pacific railway are eligible to membership, which is voluntary, and there are no dues or fees. Employes joining the club sign an application which reads:

"I wish to become a member of the Careful club because I believe it is better to be careful than crippled. I will avoid all risks, take the time to do all work carefully, and in every way possible endeavor to prevent accident or injury to others."

The members of the club will wear gold plated and enameled lapel buttons bearing the Northern Pacific trade mark with the words "Careful Club, Bureau of Efficiency" around the edge of the buttons.

SOO ROAD HAS PAID BIG CLAIM

Napoleon, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Soo road has settled the claim of Miss Mary Waterman by paying her $12,000. Two years ago she was a passenger on the train and while the coach was standing on the track a freight car was shunted against it, throwing and severely injuring Miss Waterman. Her injuries were of such a permanent nature the case was adjusted without trial.

WILL "CUT OUT" ALL UNNECESSARY NOISE

Appreciating the fact that unnecessary noise around trains and particularly sleeping cars, should be "cut out" at night, so as to avoid disturbing the rest and nerves of passengers, the Northern Pacific railway has started an anti-noise crusade.

Loud talk, ringing of engine bells, sounding of whistles, blowing off of steam, and other noises are to be avoided and reduced to a minimum, and coupling cars, setting out or picking up cars, etc., are to be controlled by signals and done as silently as possible.

Instructions have been sent out from headquarters to trainmen, station agents, etc., to bear these facts in mind constantly and reduce all avoidable noise and talk to the lowest limits.

JUDGES MUST SHOW CAUSE

Unusual Proceeding Results From Recent Municipal Court Order.

An alternative writ of mandamus, returnable March 7, was obtained by Baldwin & Holmes, attorneys for the Great Northern Railway company, against the judges of the Duluth municipal court, requiring them to vacate an order entered by Judge W. L. Windom remanding a damage suit back to the Hibbing municipal court for trial, or show cause why they should not do so.

The procedure is a rather unusual one, the higher court seldom exercising this power over a court of inferior jurisdiction. District Judge Cant signed the order which affects Municipal Judges Windom, Frank H. Cutting and Harry W. Lanners.

The suit brought at Hibbing was an action against the railway company to recover for the loss of a cow killed by a Great Northern train. The Hibbing municipal court, on the motion of the company's attorneys, ordered the case to be removed to Duluth. Judge Windom, on the motion of the plaintiff's attorney, remanded it back to Hibbing, holding that the railroad company may be sued in any jurisdiction through which its lines operate. The attorneys for the company however, contend that the principal place of business in this county is in Duluth and that this city is the legal residence of the company.

TIPPLERS AND SHIRKERS OUSTED

Fire Department Weeding Out Undesirables—Several Go.

Men who show the influence of liquor or who are absent from quarters without leave are not wanted on the Duluth fire department.

In the last few months several men have been discharged on these grounds and during February two more followed them. The monthly report of Fire Chief Randall shows that one was let out because he had been toying with the flowing bowl and another because he had not been on the job when he was supposed to be on duty.

During the month the report states that the department responded to forty-one alarms, at which the loss was $74,625, covered by insurance aggregating $483,600. The fire department officials state that this may be low, considering the fires at the Adelphi hotel and the Barthe-Martin company, but they explain that as the adjustments have not been made by the insurance companies they would rather err on the side of too low an estimate than one too high.

INSISTS ON ROAD MONEY

Kenwood Club Makes Demand for Farrell and Kenwood Roads.

A well-attended meeting of the Kenwood club was held at the schoolhouse at Kenwood park Saturday evening for the purpose of discussing the proposed improvements on the Farrell and Kenwood roads. The travel over these roads is especially heavy. Most of the farmers use them and the automobile traffic is always heavy. Several years ago the Farrell road was graded from the boulevard at Tenth avenue east and Eleventh street up to the first bridge, on the Kenwood road, a distance of about one mile. The work was well done and at the time of its completion was one of the best stretches of roads entering the city. In the last few years, however, nothing has been done for the upkeep of these roads. The gutters have filled up, forcing the water into certain parts of the road and making it almost impassable at certain points. It would not take a large amount of money to put the bridges and roads in good condition, lowering the grades at certain points, putting in concrete culverts and making a solid fill over the two creeks at Kenwood Park.

Bert Farrell, in an interesting talk Saturday night, outlined how this work should be done and just how the money could be expended in order to get the best results. Money has been promised to carry on this work a number of times by the commissioners, but it has not yet been granted.

After the meeting was called to order it was resolved to appoint a committee to wait upon John Tischer, county commissioner, and find out from him just what he intended to do in connection with the other city and county commissioners in the matter, and ask him to set aside a sufficient sum of money to put these roads in good condition and also put in concrete culverts over the creeks and make a solid fill of them. The chair appointed the following committee: Frank Jordan, W. D. McLain, George Gamble, George Kreiger, Bert Farrell, F. E. Culver and Will McCumber. The chairman also gave the secretary authority to appoint more members to this committee if necessary.

At a meeting of the city council several years ago the city engineer was instructed to draw plans, specifications and make estimates covering the improvement on these roads. The above mentioned committee was also given instructions to call at the office of the city engineer and ascertain if said plans, specifications and estimates had been drawn up.

Money expended on the roads at present, it is believed, means future saving of funds for the county and city and every year of the existing conditions means that it will take more money to do the work and obtain a right-of-way for the Farrell road, which connects all roads leading north and northwest of the city.

SOUTH DAKOTAN DEAD; BROTHER IS DETAINED

Christian Stubberus Says Charles Opened His Own Veins.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 2.—When Charles Stubberus, a former merchant of Canton, S. D., was found dead in an apartment today, with his brother, Christian, keeping vigil beside the body, Christian was arrested and held pending an investigation of his story that Charles had opened his neck arteries with a paring knife.

The two men came here recently in search of land. Charles had a bank book showing deposits of $3,000.

TURNS DOWN BIG FEDERAL OFFER

Mathewson Offered Fortune for Three Years' Work, But Signs With New York Giants.

Chicago, March 2.—A flat offer of $65,000 for three seasons' work as manager of a Federal league team was wired today to Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants by President Gilmore of the Federal league. The offer was made in a telegram which read:

"Newspaper reports state you did not take Federal league offer seriously. Get acquainted with Federal league officials and you will soon be convinced that we are not four-flushers.

"I will give you $65,000 for three seasons as manager of a Federal league club, $15,000 in advance. If satisfactory meet in New York Thursday at my expense. Wire answer Chicago. "JAMES J. GILMORE, President."

Gilmore would not say what club Mathewson would lead should he take the offer, but it is supposed that Brooklyn in that event would be handed over to Christy.

Marlin, Tex., March 2.—Christy Mathewson today signed with the New York National league team, executing his contract with President Hempstead of the New York club.

CURLERS HAVE JOYOUS TIME

President's and Vice President's Rinks Hold Annual Contest.

In addition to the dinner and general get-together affair of Saturday evening at the curling club, there were a number of games, the rinks being divided into two factions led by the president and vice president of the club. The president's rinks won out by the score of 208 to 152.

The games played were in the regular events and will count in the draws that are being played off in the trophy events.

Some of the best games of the year were played. During the dinner there was a general spirit of hilarity and so successful was the affair that it has been decided to hold another before the close of the curling season.

Following was the lineup of the rinks:

PACKEY FAILS TO APPEAR

"Stalling" Charge Against Pugilist Taken Under Advisement.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 2.—Packey McFarland, Chicago, failed to appear before the Wisconsin baxing commission today when his case relative to his suspension for one year for alleged "stalling" in his 10-round boxing bout with Jack Britton in Milwaukee on Dec. 8 came up. Neither was McFarland represented by counsel.

After receiving testimony from the referee and several sporting writers, the commission took the case under advisement.

Referee Harry Stout told the commission that he warned McFarland at the end of practically every round from the second that he would have to "produce or get out." Stout maintained that McFarland did not put forth his best efforts at any time during the tryout and that he "stalled" all the way.

Stout's testimony was backed up by several Milwaukee sporting writers.

NEEDHAM IN BAD SHAPE.

Former Topnotch Mitt Artist Has Delirium Tremens in Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Danny Needham, formerly a top-notch middleweight pugilist of St. Paul, was given twenty days in the county jail here this morning following an attack of delirium tremens after a prolonged spree. Needham has been here since last spring, connected with the construction of the new dam near here. His condition is critical.

Start Training Season.

Houston, Tex., March 2.—The New York American league baseball players under the direction of Frank Chance, manager, began spring training here today. Chance said he was satisfied with the preliminary outlook for a good team this season.

TEACHERS REPORT LATE ON MONDAYS

Rural school teachers who spend Sundays at home should not indulge in the habit of reporting late for duty Monday morning, according to the admonition of N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools in an article which appears in the February number of the Rural School Bulletin published from his office. The Bulletin came off the press Saturday.

The article says:

"Complaint has come to the office of the county superintendent of schools that some of the teachers are altogether too prone to begin school late on Monday morning. This practice it seems is indulged in by those who visit at home over Sunday.

"It is not so important that the teacher make every effort to put her time in to the exact minute during the week, but it is important that she be on hand early Monday morning to begin her work. If she does not arrive at the school until 9:30 or 10 o'clock on that particular morning the children will have had time to play around the building, and get into more mischief than the teacher will be able to settle during the rest of the week. In addition to this inconvenience the teacher who arrives late on Monday morning is keeping bad faith with the school board with which she entered into contract, and besides it handicaps her in her work for the rest of the week.

"Practice of this kind, unless there is a most excellent excuse, is sufficient reason for dismissing the teacher from the service."

PREPARE TO ENFORCE INCOME TAX PENALTY

Revenue Officials Expect Some Delinquents in Chicago.

Chicago, March 2. — Preparations were made here today by revenue officials for the punishment of persons who have neglected to file income tax schedules. "Today was the last day for filing." Forty persons were in line before the office opened. More than 4,000 schedules that should have been filed, according to estimates here, had not been presented on one days.

Chicago's income tax will be in the neighborhood of $20,000,000. It was estimated by the revenue office. About $14,000,000 of this will be paid by individuals.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE.

IN point of class the ski tournament of yesterday was the greatest ever held on the famous old Chester hill. The crowd was not up to expectations; but from the viewpoint of excellent jumping there has been no tournament in the history of the Duluth club that could approach the one of yesterday. In view of the fact that the National tournament is going to be held here next season, this fact is especially fortunate.

With weather ideal and the conditions surrounding the jumping favoring distance flights, the record that has stood the repeated assaults of the crack riders of the Northwest for numerous seasons, was smashed to smithereens. Under the beautiful weather conditions one is at a loss to understand why the crowd was not larger—perhaps for the same reason that the crowds at the hockey games during the present season have not been greater.

The officers of the Duluth Ski club are to be cordially commended for the manner in which the meet was conducted. There were no tedious waits, the jumps succeeded one another in close and orderly intervals, and every comfort and consideration was provided for the spectators.

There was little inconvenience in getting to the club grounds, owing to the fact that a large amount of labor had been expended in scraping the roads. In point of thoroughness of preparation the officials and directors of the club should receive the thankfulness of all those attending.

Westergaard Is Right.

DURING the present season Jess Westergaard has taken part in twenty-six matches and has won every one. Bigger, faster and stronger than ever, the gigantic Swede of Des Moines will stride in the Auditorium arena next Friday evening one of the most fit of all the American mat representatives to meet the man looked upon as the class of the world, with Gotch out of the running.

Weighing around 220 pounds, tall, powerful and experienced in all of the wiles of the game, Westergaard stands not only as the greatest wrestler the Swedish race has produced since the departed days of Beck Olsen, but also as the greatest of the American mat men.

In a special wire from Oscar Thorson, manager of large and open-faced Jess, the manager of the Des Moines man states that Westergaard stands the greatest chance of any of the American wrestlers to pin the shoulders of the gigantic Pole to the padded canvas—and Thorson adds that the followers of the game here may be treated to a surprise, for Thorson says, "Jess is in the best condition of his life and honestly believes that he is good enough at the present time to stand nearly an even chance of beating Zbyszko."

It may be interesting to some of the followers of the mat game to learn that Westergaard may make a tour of Europe at the conclusion of the present wrestling season in this country. Jess and Manager Oscar Thorson have received a number of flattering offers from the old world. They want to see Jess in Sweden, for the huge Des Moines man stands today as the greatest Swedish mat man of them all.

Westergaard will arrive here early this week and will put in a day or two tapering off for the big struggle of Friday evening. Zbyszko tackles five of the best Minneapolis heavyweights at Minneapolis Wednesday evening. The huge Pole will be here perhaps Thursday and will supplement the work of Wednesday evening by some road work around our city beautiful.

Waino Ketonen is training on the road and gymnasium. The wonderful little Finn is getting in the condition of his career for Mike Yokel. Waino expects to meet Yokel in Salt Lake City some time this month. The boy whom many look upon as the coming champion middleweight wrestler of the world will be as right as a golden guinea for Sailor Jack.

Our Handball Stars.

DURING the season that is as yet seasoning Duluth has taken seven-league strides in the development of some crack handball players. Physical Instructor Albert Olson of the Y. M. C. A. has been a forceful personality behind the gun. Early in the season Olson appointed a committee that has worked hard and earnestly for the advancement of the game and the result has been not only the best set of local tournaments in the history of the sport, but also the completion of the arrangements for a series of games with the stars of St. Paul for the championship of the state.

There is no reason why this playing for the state honors should not become an annual affair. Here it is suggested that the games for the state title be played on different courts in succeeding years. Knowledge of a court is a big factor in the winning of games, and it might be stated that the local players will be under a handicap in meeting the cracks of St. Paul on the Apostle City courts.

If there are no return games here this season, let the series of contests for the state title be played here, irrespective of the result of the outcome of the games that are to be played at St. Paul during the present week.

Duluth has three fine courts, is one of the handball centers of the state, or at least is rapidly becoming one, and we want a state tournament here.

The Artistic Prince Hal.

RUMORS touching remotely upon the possibility of Hal Chase going to the Federals, drag by roped foot in the lurid limelight the potent fact of the eccentric and fluctuant personality of one of the greatest and surely the most graceful baseball player of the present day.

Most of you, kind and gentle readers, as yet harbor the memory of the flight of Chase from organized baseball into the hornet's nest of the outlaws. Chase came back—because he was needed and because he is one of the greatest players in the world—and for no other reason.

The highly developed artistic side of the Chase nature has prevented the peerless initial sacker from becoming even a greater player than he is. Never satisfied at New York, the Californian sulked in his tent, like Achilles at a previous date, and was a trouble maker and disorganizer. Chance ridded the Yankees of the Peerless Hal, and if expressed intentions are carried through Chase may kiss himself out of the bounds of the game he has been identified with for the golden years of his more or less petulant personality.

The Death Defiers.

ON glacing over the automobile racing news that is perking up these days, one is sometimes oddly struck with the fact that Barney Oldfield, Ralph De Palma and some of the other veteran drivers are still living and eating. These boys have been flirting with death and evading the swings of the grim reaper during the run of the years—and one can't help wondering when the hand of fate is going to throw the number of one of these riders into the execution box.

Oldfield has killed others and has been singed by the black breath of death; De Palma has stared the grim monster in the face a score of times. Its kismet—and the lure of the thing drags them on, as the lure of the game of chance lures the prosperous plunger to his ruin.

These men—all who drive the racing machines—are bold adventurers defying the hand of death that is ever ready to descend—and if the secret were to be known—thousands unconsciously attend the automobile races with vague wonderment as to the intention of this same mysterious and uncertain fate.

FANS!

ATTENTION!

The biggest wrestling match held in the United States the present season will be contested at the Auditorium Friday evening.

MICHIGAN AGGIES LEAD.

Massachusetts Aggies Close Behind in Intercollegiate Shoot.

Washington, March 2.—Michigan agricultural college is leading Class A for the national championship in the intercollegiate rifle shooting league. Washington state college leads Class B and University of Illinois Class C.

In the week past, in Class A, Minnesota scored 947 against Princeton's 921, and in Class B, Wisconsin lost to Washington State, 943 to 974.

FIVE WORLD'S STARS IN BILLIARD TOURNEY.

Chicago, March 2.—Five of the world's greatest billiard players will meet this week in an 18.2 tournament here. The tournament will begin tonight and continue through the week, games being planned for every evening and afternoon except on Monday and Saturday, when only night games will be played.

The five stars are William Hoppe, the champion, whose form makes him the favorite in the meet; Koji Yamada, the Japanese who has the distinction of having beaten Hoppe; George Sutton, George Slosson and Calvin Demarest.

BROWN AND TILLMAN ARE WAITING FOR THE GONG

BY BRUCE.

John Tecumseth Tillman will arrive at the Head of the Lakes today and will take light exercise just merely to keep attuned to the general demands that will be made of the Minneapolis youth in the fracas of tomorrow evening.

Lawrence Franklyn Brown will take light exercises during today and will rest, free from worry and care, tomorrow. Delegations of fans from the ranges will begin to arrive late today.

Up here we know Brown is right and glowing and hope-tinged reports from the down-state section lead one to believe that Tillman is in the proverbial pink for the encounter with the hardest foe he has as yet been called upon to tackle.

It is the one large, golden-plated opportunity to the house of Tillman, and the bet is a heavy choice that Johnny is prepared as he has never been trained for any previous encounter.

From Both Angles.

Looking from the Brown corner it is to be presumed that Pal will make a rushing fight of it. In fact, the former range youth has intimated this plan of action to friends who visited his Superior training quarters during the last week.

While no intimation has come from the sweet lips of John Tecumseth Tillman concerning the plans of ring procedure, it is to be presumed that he will box cautiously and in canny manner and will attempt to keep Brown at long range every minute of the half hour of boxing.

Brown is a bear at in-fighting, while Tillman prefers to keep off at a distance, at least until he gets his man back on his heels, when he whips in with a wicked right uppercut.

From the general styles the two boys have exhibited here upon innumerable occasions of the past, one would judge that Tillman will have little opportunity to tip Brown back on his heels, for Pal is a flat-footed boxer, always coming in and he generally counters, thus often robbing his opponent of the force of his blow.

As has been said several times, Brown should win and decisively. As Pal put it:

"Tillman will probably come up to stick out the ten rounds. It is hard to put a man away when he covers. I am going in to put Tillman away and make a fight of it from the opening round. I am going to try to make him uncover and then send one home that will end the fight or start Johnny on the way to dreamland."

Confidence in Tillman.

There is considerable confidence in Tillman down from the other end of the state. George A. Barton declares that Johnny will be on his feet at the end of the tenth round. Also the fans of Minneapolis and St. Paul are of the opinion that the Mill City youth possesses sufficient cleverness to weather the storm of blows that Brown may send over—and come back.

Up here it is all Brown sentiment and there will be a lot of disappointed followers of the boxing game if the range youth fails to put the Minneapolitan away before the final gong.

SAYS MURPHY FIBBED ABOUT STOCK HELD

Frank Chance and Mordecai Brown Deny That Deposed Cub President Had Control of Stock—Other Complications.

New York, March 2.—Although the deal whereby Charles Webb Murphy and the National league parted company was completed more than a week ago, mystery still envelops the transaction.

Murphy said that he received more than $500,000 for his majority stock in the Chicago club while still retaining his interest in the grounds of the Chicago and Philadelphia National league clubs.

At the schedule meeting of the National league in New York Murphy apparently desired to give the impression, without actually so stating, that he owned 53 per cent of the Chicago club stock, which could be bought at the rate of $10,000 per share. Frank Chance, former manager of the Cubs, declares that Murphy never owned more than 15 or 20 per cent of the club stock, and that this stock was purchased out of the profits and salary he received under a contract with Charles P. Taft, the real owner. Chance says that the report that Murphy held a majority of the stock was on a par with previous stories relative to big dealings and salaries that Murphy permitted to get into print by inference rather than by actual declarations.

In this connection Chance is backed by Mordecai Brown, former star twirler of the Cubs and now connected with the Federal league. Brown states that the largest salary he ever received from the Cubs was $7,000 per season, and that was at the height of his career. Brown further says that this was the biggest salary paid any player on the team except Chance, who received $10,000 as player and manager.

Evers, who succeeded Chance as manager, received $6,000 as player and $4,000 additional as manager. The top figures reached by other club stars under Murphy are given as: Tinker, $6,500; Hoffman, $5,000; Evers, $6,000; Sheckard, $4,400.

Perhaps this is why President Tener is not so positive that Evers will receive the $20,000 bonus the Cubs' second baseman said he was to obtain for signing a Boston contract. President Gaffney of the latter club undoubtedly is ready to pay the amount, according to contract, but it is understood that President Tener believes that, in view of the elimination of Murphy and the fact that Boston assumed all the obligations of the Chicago contract with Evers, the player should accept a lesser sum. The question is to be settled at the meeting of the league magnates in New York Friday.

HEAD FOR SPRING TRAINING CAMPS

Baseball Clubs Start for Scenes of Conditioning.

New Orleans, La., March 2. — Five members of the Cleveland Americans, Shortstop Chapman, Pitchers Gregg and Harvey Dillinger, Catcher Billings and Trainer Hitte, departed last night for Athens, Ga., the club's training camp. Pitchers Hovlik, Hinton, Hall, Morton, Benn, Knesel and Frost and Catchers Shields and Crosby will leave for Americus, Ga., Tuesday.

Arrangements are made for exhibition games here March 8, 14 and 15 between the New Orleans club and the Detroit Americans, who are training at Gulfport, Miss.

The New Orleans club outplayed a patched-up team of Clevelanders and Toledo players yesterday by a score of 8 to 4.

Houston, Tex., March 2.—Twenty-eight members of the New York American league baseball team reached Houston yesterday to begin spring training. Most of them came from the East in charge of Arthur Irwin, scout. Charles Barrett, trainer, and Mike Bergen. Frank Chance, manager, accompanied by Mrs. Chance, also arrived from Glendora, Cal.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—The Minneapolis American association baseball squad will leave here on March 15 for St. Joseph, Mo., where they will go into spring training.

ALL-STARS ARE BEATEN

Curling Club Wins the Second Hockey Game, 6 to 3.

Harder ice for the second and final game of the hockey series between the All-Stars of Winnipeg and the Curling club team resulted in making the contest of Saturday evening much closer and much better in every respect than the one of the previous evening, the members of the curling club hockey team being pushed to the limit to win by the score of 6 to 3.

The game was one of the best that has been played here during the season. The star members of the All-Star aggregation benefited greatly by the short experience of the previous game and showed greater team work and more aggressive tactics. In addition to this the visitors showed remarkable speed on the harder ice and at times outplayed the home team.

In point of team work the locals excelled. In point of fast skating the visitors at times gave a dazzling exhibition. Clark was a human streak and gave the defense men of the home team all sorts of trouble.

Fred O'Connell was another of the stars of the visiting team and his playing compared with the performance given by any player who has shown here this season, with the glowing exception of Ham Baker of the Vics.

Visitors Score Early.

Addaway scored early in the game, Barkell and Grenner came back with scores and then the foreign center scored his second net of the evening, shooting the puck in from scrimmage.

Uncle Nick Kahler scored the next net and then Arnie Olson came back and scored the two final goals of the half, one of the nets being a beauty lofted in from over near the fence.

Little Clark scored the first goal of the second half in just two minutes after the bell started the players on the final lap. Grenner scored the final goal just two minutes before the call of time.

Linder and Bill Bogan were stars of the defense and checked with effective precision. The visitors were turned out times innumerable by the defense men, the star playing of this pair making the rushes of Clark futile.

The lineup and summary:

Canadian Soo	15	6	9

With only two games remaining to be played, Calumet and the American Soo are tied for first place in the Western division of the A. A. H. U.

Calumet defeated Houghton, or Portage Lake, on Thursday night at Calumet, 3 to 2, playing ten minutes overtime. The Canadian Soo defeated the American Soo on Friday night, 2 to 1, at the Canadian Soo, playing ten minutes overtime.

Calumet will play Portage Lake at Houghton Tuesday and the American Soo and Canadian Soo will meet at the American Soo on the same night. These are the last games scheduled this season. If the American Soo and Calumet are again tied they will have a home and home series to decide the winner.

AITKIN MAKES FINE RECORD

Team Will Represent Northern Minnesota in Basket Tourney.

Coach Schilling of the Central high school basket ball team is desirous that the records of any basket ball team of the northern part of the state that is in the running for premier honors of this section of Minnesota be forwarded to him.

Mr. Schilling is the representative of the interscholastic basket ball committee for the northern part of the state and he must select a team to represent Northern Minnesota at the state interscholastic basket ball tournament that will be held at Northfield, Minn., on March 20 and 21.

Duluth Central is out of the running, the green team of the local high school failing to establish a record that would entitle it to consideration.

Aitkin appears to have the best team, judging from the record, but if there is any team that has a better record than the Aitkin quint it is the desire of Mr. Schilling that it be immediately forwarded to him in order that the best representative from this part of the state may be ascertained.

The tournament at Northfield will bring together the best high school teams of Minnesota and the tournament should be the best that has been held as yet.

Dec. 12—Brainerd Y. M. C. A. at Aitkin, 13 to 62.

Dec. 26—Aitkin high school alumni at Aitkin, 15 to 35.

Jan. 9—Crosby high school at Crosby, 4 to 44.

Jan. 16—Crosby city team at Aitkin, 8 to 31.

Jan. 23—Cloquet high school at Aitkin, 15 to 36.

Feb. 14—Duluth Central at Aitkin, 13 to 38.

DULUTH BOWLER HANGS UP A PERFECT SCORE.

Haakon Spjotvold made a perfect bowling score at the Grand alleys Saturday afternoon when the magical figures of 300 were turned in on the sheet of the pin spiller. This is the first time in eight years that a perfect score has been made on the local alleys, and it is one of the few times in the history of bowling in the Northwest that the feat has been accomplished.

Sam Olson made a similar record eight years ago, and Gay Olson is another of the Duluth bowlers who has accomplished the feat of making a perfect score.

Spjotvold was just about to leave the alleys when he was persuaded to roll just one more game. Probably he is very glad he was persuaded.

VICTORIAS ARE COMING AGAIN

A wire was received by the curling club officials Saturday evening that the crack Victoria hockey team of Winnipeg, one of the best hockey teams in all of Canada, is coming for a game with the Curling club team. The game will be played the coming Saturday evening, and it should prove by all odds the best contest of the season, as the local team is at the present time playing the best article of hockey of the winter.

Earlier in the year the Vics gave the locals a sound beating. Now the result of the game may be vastly different. Duluth has improved 50 per cent since the first big game of the year and Capt. Joe Linder and his men believe that they will be able to defeat the invaders.

FEDERAL SCHEDULE OPENS APRIL 15

Chicago, March 2.—The Federal league's playing season, which will open April 13, one day before the National and American leagues begin their campaigns, will include 154 games, which will be extended on the cards over nearly six months. The end of the season, President Gilmore said, will come early in October, or about the time the National and American windup.

Whether the club owners in the new league expect to take part in a "three-cornered" world's series is not known, but many of them believe they will be in the fold of organized baseball within a year.

Every club in the league will be represented at the New York dock where the world tourists are expected to land this week.

CHRISTY WILL STICK TO NATIONAL LEAGUE

Marlin, Tex., March 2.—"I have no intention of playing elsewhere than in the National league," said Christy Mathewson of the New York Nationals last night, discussing his possible baseball connections for next season, and a Federal league offer, said to have been that he could "name his own terms."

"I do not take that Federal league offer seriously," Mathewson continued. "I did get a telegram from President Gilmore asking if I would consider an offer to manage the Brooklyn team, but no terms were stated and I have not replied."

It is understood that President Hempstead of the Giants and Mathewson will meet today to thresh out the amount of salary and other details of the pitcher's new contract.

San Jose, Cal., March 2.—Hal Chase, first baseman of the Chicago White Sox, confirmed the report that he is dickering with the Federal league. Chase said he was told to name his own terms, and that he replied with a demand of $30,000 for three years and a $5,000 bonus to sign. The Federals are now considering.

AMERICAN WINS AT SANTA MONICA

Los Angeles, Cal., March 2.—Edwin Pullen won the fifth international grand prize race over 48 laps or 402 miles of the Santa Monica course Saturday. A new record of 77.2 miles an hour was established. It was also the first time in the history of the event that an American car flashed in first at the finish, and there were several other features.

The race was marked by the first serious accident in the annals of the Santa Monica course—which jeopardized the life of Driver J. B. Marquis, when his car, at the most dangerous turn, turned turtle and crushed him. He will recover.

Thereafter it was no race. Pullen was 40 miles ahead of the second car at the finish and 55 miles ahead of the third.

Ralph De Palma, who won the Vanderbilt cup Thursday, was fourth and last because there was no fifth out of all the seventeen starters. Oldfield, his most persistent opponent the other day, was eliminated by a bad motor ten laps from the finish.

Pullen covered the 403 miles in 5 hours 13 minutes, setting a new mark of 77.2 miles an hour against the record of 74.45 established by Caleb Bragg at Savannah in 1911.

Guy Ball was second with an elapsed time of 5:53:23 and a speed of 68.4 miles per hour.

B. Taylor took third place when Gil Anderson's car broke down.

ISHPEMING RIDER NEARLY BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

New Chester Hill Ski Mark Set When Henry Hall Makes a Wonderful Jump of 164 Feet; Nels Floan Sets New Amateur Mark.

Henry Hall of Ishpeming, Mich., set a new record for the Chester Creek ski hill yesterday when he made a standing jump of 164 feet, shattering the ancient mark of 148 feet that has stood the assault of time since 1909.

Not only did the great riding of Hall feature the best meet that has been held on the local hill in the history of ski sport, but A. Haugen of Milwaukee made a jump of 167 feet in the long standing jump trial, but fell just as he alighted, thus spoiling a mark that would have come within two feet of the world's record of 169 feet, made at Ironwood by Ragnar Omtvedt.

With weather conditions ideal and the big hill in the best shape it has ever been in, the followers of the ancient sport of the Norse were surprised by the wonderful leaps that came so perilously near to bringing the world's record to Duluth.

Omtvedt Is Not Right.

Ragnar Omtvedt was not in shape. The world's champion injured his back at Chicago and was unable to put the necessary heave of body into the take-off. Despite the handicap under which the record holder competed, he made a jump of 166 feet, falling, however, and spoiling his record.

Nels Floan of Duluth was the star of the amateurs. This rider has been coming along for the last few years, and the tourney of yesterday saw Floan reach the best performance of his career—a performance that classed the local simon pure as one of the very best in the country.

Axel Henrickson of Blair, Wis., performed a stunt that alone was worth the price of admission. Axel did not start from a position half way up the hill; rather he went to the top, got off to a flying start, and when high in the air, turned a sensational somersault.

The feat of the intrepid Blair boy was greeted with a shout that echoed and reechoed over the snow crested hills and reverberated down the valley of the Chester creek.

Hill and the Haugen brothers showed the greatest ability of the day. Hall made the longest jump and the greatest number of points, and Anders Haugen was close behind. Axel Henrickson was third and then came the world's champion, Omtvedt.

David Lind, the one-armed rider, while lacking the great distance marks of some of the other riders, rode with fine form and did not fall in one of his flights.

John Evenson and Ole Fiering, former Duluth stars, rode under the auspices of the Virginia club and made very good marks.

Holter Is Pleased.

Aksel Holter, secretary of the National Ski association, declared that the tourney was one of the greatest ever held in the history of the ski sport in the United States.

"I have been attending tourneys for the last thirty years," declared Secretary Holter after the meet, "and I failed to recall a single one that was any better than the one held here under the auspices of the Duluth Ski club."

Governor Eberhart was the guest of honor at the banquet held in Maccabee hall. Introduced by President Hovde of the ski club, the chief executive of the state praised the fine quality of sport, the great success of the tournament, and predicted a glowing success for the tournaments that will be held in Duluth in the near future. The governor expressed the hope that he would be able to be present next year when the national tournament is held in Duluth, and paid an eloquent and fitting compliment to the great winter sport of the Northwest.

FAMOUS SWIMMER, EXHAUSTED, DIES

Saville, Once World Champion, Tries to Swim Seattle Harbor.

Seattle, Wash., March 2.—Arthur R. Saville, the Australian swimmer, who was the first man to swim the Golden Gate at San Francisco and who was recognized as the champion swimmer of the world from 1895 to 1900, died of exhaustion yesterday soon after he had been taken from the water after an unsuccessful attempt to swim across the Seattle harbor, a distance of three miles.

Saville started from the west side of the bay and was swimming toward a pier on the central water front. The water was cold and a strong wind and adverse currents took him out of his course. When he was only 500 yards from the finish those in a rowboat that was standing by saw him quit the powerful stroke with which he was swimming and lapse into a gentle paddle as if resting. When the boatmen rowed to him Saville grasped the gunwhale and then became unconscious. H was picked up but died without regaining consciousness.

The physician who attended him said the swimmer virutually froze to death. "His skin was like ice," said the physician, "and his circulation came so retarded that his heart ceased to beat."

He was born in London and during the last five years had made his home at Portland, Or. He held fifty-six medals for life saving and established many swimming records. One of his noted feats on the Pacific coast was swimming the Tillamook, Or., bar with his hands and feet tied. He claimed to be the originator of the "crawl" stroke in swimming.

SAFETY FIRST.

Campfire Club Proposes Drastic Terms for Hunters' Licenses.

New York, March 2.—The campfire club is sending out a novel proposal in sportsmen's safety legislation. It requires that no license be granted unless the applicant shall in addition to existing requirements, take an oath "that he will not point any gun or other firearm, loaded or unloaded, in the direction of any person; and further that he will not shoot at any object without first ascertaining that said object is not a human being."

A hunter who injures anyone shall be guilty of a misdemeanor according to the terms of the proposed bill.

Harvard Selected.

New York, March 2.—Harvard was selected as the scene of this year's track and field meet of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America, in session here.

ON THE IRON RANGES

1914 WILL BE LIVELY YEAR

Large Amount of Municipal Work Is Planned in Hibbing.

Million-Dollar Water Plant and Other Big Things on.

Hibbing, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to the plans that have already been outlined by the council and the members of the water and light commission, this year will be a record breaker for village improvements.

Not only is the construction of a million-dollar water supply project in sight but there is every evidence of an unprecedented activity along other lines.

The new fire hall at Alice begun last year will be completed during the coming few months, the brick work now being practically done. The new building is to be a model in every way, and while the third floor requested by the residents of the suburb cannot be added now, there will be a commodious room for meetings and splendid quarters for the firemen who will be stationed there. The interior work and the plumbing, heating and wiring will be started as soon as possible.

Alice Improvements.

Alice is also the scene of extensive sewer and water plans, men being now engaged in digging the trench in which both pipes will be laid. It is the intention of the water and light commission to follow the council's plan of action for new sewers and arrange for the laying of the water pipes in the same ditches. The plans for the big sewer system of Alice are almost done and during the summer the work will be rushed as rapidly as possible so that the water can be turned on when the new wells south of the village are completed.

Contracts for the new wells will be let at the meeting of the board tomorrow evening and work will be commenced at once. The wells will be so sunk that any of three styles of pumps may be used, the type to be determined after a more extensive examination of the ones offered.

In Brooklyn an equally energetic campaign for the new sewers and water systems is being waged and a crew is at work there with more work in sight when the frost gets out of the ground.

White Way Extensions.

The white way installation for the coming year will be extensive, as bids are now being prepared for the material for light posts and equipment on all of Second avenue, all of Fourth avenue and all of the cross streets between First avenue and Fifth avenue. The five-lamp post will be used between First and Third avenues and a three-lamp post on the streets east of Third avenue.

Paving plans for 1914 have not been fully completed, but it is expected that contracts will be let for several blocks.

One big improvement that is being considered and will probably be acted upon within a few weeks is the possible opening of Fourth avenue between Center and Railroad streets, which will necessitate a change in the present ball park. It has been suggested that if the diamond was turned around and the grandstand placed on the lots back of the Central hotel that there would be no objection to cutting the avenue through. If this is done a new fence will be built and other much needed improvements made in the home of the national sport.

Fire Hall on Theater Site.

The recommendation of the water and light board that the village purchase the Healey theater and erect a new fire hall so that the present hall may be remodeled for district court purposes will be acted upon this spring and a contract that will amount to something more than $20,000 will be let for the work. The fire hall will be full three stories, with the apparatus and horses in the basement, sleeping apartments and clubroom for the men on the second and a storage room and repair shop on the third floor. A skilled mechanic will be employed on the force so that all of the apparatus for the three halls may be repaired in the one building.

Should the water supply project be definitely acted upon during the next few months, and there is every indication that it will be, another large contract will be let, as pumphouses will be erected at the lakes selected in addition to the building of a reservoir and filtration plant and the purchase of pipe and pumps. An electric line will have to be strung to the basin decided upon and the trench for the pipe dug. The line will run into the village under the viaduct with proper supports and wrapping.

The usual amount of sidewalk work, repairs and incidental contracts will be let and the belief that improvements slated for the coming year will far exceed those during similar periods of time is a well founded one.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR EYES

Try This Free Prescription

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription which has benefited the eyes of so many may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye trouble to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription: Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Optona tablets; fill a two-ounce bottle with water, drop in one tablet and allow to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvelously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes, and you will thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription.

CHISHOLM MAN WHO SEEKS TREASURERSHIP

PHIL GRENNIER.

GRAND RAPIDS TEAM WINS JOINT DEBATE

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Upholding the affirmative side of the debate on the advisability of recalling judges the local high school debating team consisting of Harold C. Brown, Helen Wetzel and Eugene Cassity, champions of the Eighth congressional district defeated the Ada, Minn., team champions of the Ninth congressional district here Saturday night. Alma Natvik, Henry Stenig and William Ogaard, the Ada champions, opposing the recall of judges, acquitted themselves creditably but the judges decided in favor of the local team.

The judges were Superintendent G. E. Keenam of Deer River, Superintendent Peter Olson of Cloquet and A. D. Ingersoll of Deer River, and the decision proved popular, there being no doubt that both in the argument and mode of delivery Grand Rapids had the best of it. This eliminates one contestant for the state championship.

It is probable that the next contest will be with the Alexandral high school, champions of the Seventh district, but this is not as yet certain.

POLITICS GETTING WARM IN CHISHOLM

Two Mass Meetings Held in Range Village on Sunday Afternoon.

Chisholm, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the present village campaign is a warm one is evidenced by the amount of political gossip circulating and the further fact two mass meetings were held yesterday to indorse candidates. Various campaign promises are being made among them being ten hours' pay for eight hours' work.

At the Slavonic Political club meeting held Sunday afternoon in the Lawrence Kovach hall the members of the club were instructed to indorse Frank Gouze for treasurer, Joe Jackse and Anton Mahne for trustees. The club will hold another meeting next Sunday and further discuss the situation. The president of the club is Frank Champa, a miner, the secretary, John Scherlinger also a miner, and the treasurer, Joseph Jakse, the candidate for trustee.

Finnish Club Meets.

At the Finnish opera house yesterday afternoon the Finnish club held a meeting at which Matt Jaasko and Anton Mahne delivered speeches. They were indorsed by this club for trustees.

A monster meeting will be held some time this week in which other candidates will be heard.

Next Wednesday evening at the Finnish opera house a meeting will be held and several of the other candidates will be heard. Joseph Austin who is making the race for president of the village will speak.

WOODSMAN KILLED.

Employe of Trout Lake Lumber Company Is Fatally Injured.

Tower, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Irwin Raymond, in the employ of the Trout Lake Lumber company, was injured at the log landing Saturday morning and died while being brought to a local hospital. Little is known about him.

FORMER CARLTON WOMAN CALLED

Biwabik, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Eyer, wife of D. J. Eyer, who died Saturday, will be held here tomorrow afternoon from the M. E. church, the daughters of the Rebekah taking part.

Mrs. Eyer came her fourteen years ago from Carlton and had always been prominent in social and other activities especially in the Daughters of the Rebekah. Her death was a great shock to the community. Although it was known she was very ill of pneumonia the sad news caught her many friends unprepared. She was 53 years old and leaves a husband and two married daughters, Mrs. T. N. Johnson of Aurora, and Mrs. E. J. Anderson of Gilbert. The funeral will take place Tuesday from the M. E. church. The Daughters of Rebekah will take part.

RUDDY TO RESUME.

Biwabik, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is general gratification here over the announcement that the Ruddy mine owned by a Virginia man and New York parties which pulled its pumps will resume operations on a full basis.

ELY WILL HAVE BUILDING BOOM

Indications Point to Much Work Being Done This Year.

Ely, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—There promises to be a large amount of new building and other improvements here this year.

Slogar Bros. have already started an addition to their store that was remodeled last year.

Reports have it that a new grocery store will be located in the building formerly occupied by the Mark Zoretic clothing store, and that the building used in the past for the Seliskar saloon will be turned into a bakery.

May Build Hotel.

Outside parties have been in town looking over the proposition for an additional hotel. George Brozich has the foundation already laid for his new dwelling house to be erected when spring comes. This, with the new $125,000 school building to be erected this summer, and the additional work to be started later, assures the working men of a good year here.

TWO HARBORS TEAM WINNERS AT HOCKEY

Two Harbors, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a fast game of hockey the local city team defeated the fast Tiger team of Duluth yesterday afternoon at the city rink, 1 to 0. The day was ideal and a large crowd witnessed the game.

The two teams were very evenly matched, although the locals appeared to be better on combination work and had it not been for the fine work of the visitors' goal tender the score would have been much larger.

The work of Dykens and Clark for the visitors was of a high order and it was largely due to their fine work that the local boys did not run up a larger score.

The lineup was as follows:

Duluth—		Two Harbors—
Lindberg	r	Zirath
Peplinski	p	Anderson
Clark	cp	Dahlstrom
Dykens	r	Sullivan
Roswald	c	Beland
Stahl	rw	Griffin
Peterson	lw	Westin

Referee, Hastings.

The only score of the game was made by Capt. Westin in the first half on a pretty pass from Griffin.

TWO HARBORS HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

Alex Gravelle's Fine Dwelling Is Burned to the Ground.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire completely destroyed the home of Alex Gravelle on Ninth avenue yesterday. It was one of the hottest fires that has occurred in this city for some time. The origin of the fire is not known but it is thought to have originated from an overheated stove. No one was in the house at the time the fire broke out and when it was first noticed by a neighbor the flames were already shooting through the roof and burning so fiercely that it was impossible to enter the house and consequently not a single thing was saved. Mr. Gravelle is at Ridge, Minn., where he has been and is employed by the Duluth & Iron Range railroad as a pumper and Mrs. Gravelle with the children were attending the morning services at church when they were notified that their home was on fire.

Could Not Save Building.

The blaze was first discovered about 10 o'clock and the alarm was given but before the fire department arrived the dwelling was too far gone to save it. It was an old house and the flames consumed it very rapidly. Volunteers were plentiful before the department arrived but were unable to even enter the place.

The fire proved a hard blow to Mrs. Gravelle, who arrived on the scene exhausted and was taken care of by neighbors. Mr. Gravelle is expected home today.

The residence was valued at approximately $2,500, and is partly covered by fire insurance.

PICK DULUTHIANS.

Bray & Nystrom to Design New Virginia School Building.

Virginia, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bray & Nystrom of Duluth will draw the plans and specifications for Virginia's new South side school, having been selected at a special meeting of the board of education Saturday evening. There were four other competitors, Kelly & Williams, F. G. German and W. T. Allred, Jr., of Duluth and C. K. Shand of Virginia. The estimated cost of the new building, which will be located on the corner of Central avenue and Sage street, facing the new Southside park, is $63,000, and will be of strictly fireproof construction. There will be nine class rooms, five on the ground floor and four on the second, and the basement will contain a gymnasium. It is hoped to have the building ready for the opening of school in September.

JURY OF PHYSICIANS BRIGHTS DISEASE

"They were not genuine cases of Bright's Disease." Then how about cases like this?—

R. C. Pell, cor. Broadway and Battery Sts., is the manager of one of San Francisco's big corporations. His son had Bright's Disease. He called two physicians, one of them an army surgeon. Usual albumen and patient swollen with dropsy. The doctors declared the case incurable. The father thereupon ordered Fulton's Renal Compound administered. Patient began to mend and in six months was so well his father could hardly credit it and had two other physicians examine the patient and analyze samples. Both reported normal.

Thus a jury of physicians decided the patient had Bright's disease and was incurable and another jury of physicians later determined his recovery. As to permanence, this was nine years ago and patient is in business in San Francisco at this writing, (Feb. 1914.)

The ability of Fulton's Renal Compound to reduce albumen in many cases of Bright's Disease is not a matter of opinion but a FACT IN PHYSICS and we will mail formula for albumen test that will show the percentage from week to week. As the albumen declines improvement commonly follows, recoveries having been reported in thousands of cases. Formula and literature mailed on request. John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco. Northern Drug company is local agent. Ask for pamphlet.

COLERAINE TICKET.

All Village Officers Renominated Excepting One Trustee.

Coleraine, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local caucus held at the village fire hall Saturday evening was unusually quiet, and practically all the present incumbents were renominated, the only exception being in the case of Trustee George Wilson, who has moved to Bovey, so Gust Baum was nominated to fill the vacancy. The caucus ticket for the election on March 10 follows: President, H. F. Downing; trustees, N. Trebilcock, C. L. May and Gust Baum; clerk, J. A. Wasson; treasurer, J. C. McCarthy; constable, Martin Cady; justice of the peace, H. J. Cooper.

BURY MISS NORINE.

Chisholm, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Miss Helen Norine, who died in New Mexico of tuberculosis, was held at 1:30 this afternoon from the M. E. church, Rev. R. C. Jones officiating and on account of her popularity here was largely attended.

Interment was in the family plot in the Hibbing cemetery. Her parents and a sister and brother survive.

GRAND RAPIDS CAUCUS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—President George Riddell was renominated at the village caucus for the seventh consecutive time.

Dr. Thomas Russell and George Arscott were renominated for village trustees for the fourth time, and Charles W. Forest was selected for the place on the board left vacant by the removal of Fred A. King of Cass Lake.

Frank Sherman, who is serving his third term as village recorder, was renominated, also Lester Lofberg, who has been village treasurer for the last year. H. W. Stark, A. L. LaFrenniere and Henry Hughes were appointed as a village committee for the ensuing year.

E. C. Kiley was chairman of the meeting and J. D. Doran secretary.

ELY BOY WINNER.

Carries Off Declamation Contest at Rochester, N. Y., University.

Ely, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—D. Raub James, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. James of this city, won first prize in the Dewey prize declamation contest at Rochester university, Rochester, N. Y., last week. "Raub" graduated with highest honors from the high school in the class of 1912, and is in the sophomore class in Rochester university. The Dewey prize declamation contest is one of the big events annually in the university life at Rochester. There were six contestants this year. The selection rendered by the victor was "The Speech Against the Death Penalty," by Robert Emmet, originally delivered by Emmet on Sept. 19, 1803.

IDSTROM TREASURER.

Hibbing Pastor Honored By State Swedish Lutheran Conference.

Hibbing, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Suffrage to women in all church affairs and the passage of a resolution demanding the reading of the Bible in the public schools were the two principal accomplishments of the conference of Swedish Lutheran churches held recently in Minneapolis according to Rev. J. B. A. Idstrom, pastor of the local church, who devoted a portion of the service yesterday to a discussion of the meeting.

Women who are members of any of the churches comprised in the conference will have a vote in all church affairs according to the action taken at the meetings. The Synod favored such a move several years ago but the conference did not adopt the plan until this year.

A committee of seven was elected to follow up the resolution demanding the reading of the Bible in the public schools and a concerted effort will be made by all of the churches to arouse an agitation in that direction. According to Rev. Idstrom the Swedish Lutheran churches have been active along this line for several years.

NAMES APPRAISERS FOR MOUNTAIN IRON

Hibbing, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Hughes has appointed W. T. Caddy, Andrew Saarl, Jr. and Henry Schwartz as appraisers of five lots located at Mountain Iron and desired by that village as a site for a public library, village hall and jail. Some objection was raised by one of the property owners, but the appraisal will be made by order of the court.

CHISHOLM MAN SEEKS DAMAGES

Hibbing, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Hertld.)—Louis Kovacich has filed suit against the Inland Steel company for $15,250 for injuries alleged to have been obtained Sept. 30, 1913, in the Grace mine at Chisholm. Kavaich claims that he was working at the bottom of a shaft when a piece of timber carelessly secured dropped and injured his left arm, necessitating three operations and its final amputation.

BEAT NELSON DEWEY.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school basket ball team defeated the Nelson Dewey high school team of Superior here Saturday evening by the score of 29 to 16. The game was fast and very interesting to the large crowd which attended. The locals were the more aggressive in every phase of the game and held the lead throughout. The work of McCurdy and Richards for the locals was of a high order, their floor work being a feature of the game.

The following was the lineup:

Superior—		Two Harbors—

Virginia Study Club.

Virginia, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia Study club met in the assembly room of the public library this afternoon. "Impressions of Plays I Have Seen" was given by several of the members. Mrs. A. T. Gordon read an interesting paper on "Bernard Shaw as a Critic and Dramatist." Another interesting feature was a paper by Mrs. Marcus Norton on "Pinero, the Second Mrs. Tanqueray."

Tower Entertainment.

Tower, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opera house was crowded Friday evening when the following program was rendered by the grades in the local schools: "Dawn of Beauty," high school orchestra; "An Indian Play," Fourth and Fifth grades; "Bitter Sweet," high school orchestra; selections, first grade band; drill, "Highland Echoes," second grade; duet, "Cirbiribim," Sixth grade; folk dances, Sixth grade; "Reign of the Roses," high school orchestra; "Society for the Suppression of Slang" play, Seventh grade, "On the Wing," high school orchestra; "A Very Poor Bargain," Third and Fourth grades; song "Roechel's, the Chimes," Eighth grade; "A Capable Servant," a play, Eighth grade.

Cass Lake Renominates.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 2.—The caucus ticket for the village election is headed by Mayor Andy W. Johnson who was renominated without opposition and nearly all the other village officers received like honor, the balance of the caucus ticket being: Trustees, H. L. Carter, H. N. Harding, Joseph Johnston; clerk, A. F. Ittner; assessor, F. L. Gorenflo; justice, Frank Ives; constable, Charles E. La Belle; treasurer, Al J. Hole.

Many Hear Dulufhian.

Ely, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the third consecutive Sunday evening, the classroom at the Methodist church was thrown open to accommodate the congregation last evening. About eighty chairs additional to the seating capacity of the auditorium were required to handle the crowd that gathered to hear Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits, who spoke under the auspices of the Young Men's club.

Buy Blooded Stock.

Hibbing, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Realizing the value of pure bred stock and with an idea of improving their dairy herds, Peter Martinson and R. M. Pritchard last week purchased twenty-seven full-blooded Guernsey cows and Athenian, a bull that formerly headed the herd at the famous Jean Duluth farm.

Mountain Iron Alarmed.

Mountain Iron, Minn., March 2.—This village is stirred up over two cases of smallpox. One here and the other in Costigan and it may be necessary to vaccinate all public school pupils. It is claimed both cases are mild but the health authorities are not taking any chances.

Grand Forks Auto Show.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Forks auto show will open here tomorrow and continue four days. The auditorium already is filled with exhibits, and the show will be the biggest ever held in the city.

Ely Man at Richmond.

To Dedicate Crosby School.

Crosby, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crosby's new $75,000 Franklin grade school building will be dedicated on Friday, March 20. Supt. Conrad Raps is formulating plans for a program of addresses for the occasion, which will include prominent speakers and educators from other institutions of the state. The school building is of modern architectural design in both its interior and exterior design and finish.

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. TUESDAY
For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion Iron ranges: Snow flurries tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight with lowest temperature 20 deg. to about 25 deg.; colder Tuesday night; moderate to brisk southerly winds, shifting to westerly Tuesday.
EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 50°, and 100°. ○ clear; ◑ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature, second, precipitation of 01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

WARMER

The temperature was 6 deg. above zero this morning at 6 o'clock and will go higher by tonight, it is announced. However, that nobody may be deceived by this turn, Mr. Richardson warns everybody that this will not endure. A cold wave is forming out West somewhere and is heading this way and will reach here about tomorrow night. Nobody could call yesterday a spring-like day. It was cold and windy and uncomfortable until towards night.

A year ago yesterday was cold. The sun rose this morning at 6:46 and will set this evening at 5:54, giving eleven hours and eight minutes of sunshine, three minutes more than yesterday and six minutes more than Saturday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A storm of marked intensity off the New England coast is causing high winds and heavy falls of snow in the Eastern lake region and North Atlantic states. During the last twenty-four hours snow or rain also fell over Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and the coast sections of Oregon and Washington. Much colder weather prevails in the Eastern lake region, Ohio valley and Atlantic states, but it is decidedly warmer over Saskatchewan, Manitoba, the Dakotas and Minnesota. Colder weather has appeared in the extreme Northwest and will doubtless reach the Head of the Lakes Tuesday night. The minimum temperature at Duluth Sunday was 12 deg. below, at 7 a. m.; this was 50 deg. colder than it was Saturday morning."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 2.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Wisconsin—Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday, probably slight snow or rain; rising temperature tonight and in east and south portions Tuesday.

Minnesota—Unsettled tonight and Tuesday; probably snow flurries; warmer in east portion tonight; colder in west portion Tuesday.

Iowa—Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday; probably light rain or snow; warmer tonight and in east portion Tuesday; colder in west portion Tuesday.

South Dakota—Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday, probably snow flurries in east and south portions; colder in west portion tonight and in east portion Tuesday.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight, Tuesday increasing cloudiness and warmer. Moderate winds.

DUMPLINGS

For Soups, Stews and Fricasseed Chicken

Left overs of roast lamb, veal or beef, the cheaper cuts of fresh meats, and fowls too old for roasting, make delicious and nourishing stews. K C Dumplings make them doubly attractive and the whole dish is most economical—an object to most families while meats are so high and must be made to go as far as possible.

K C Dumplings

By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the well known baking expert.

2 cups flour; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ teaspoonful salt; ¼ cup shortening; milk or cream.

Sift together three times, the flour, baking powder and salt; into this work the shortening and use cream or milk to make a dough less stiff than for biscuits.

37

Allow the stew to boil down so that the liquid does not cover the meat or chicken. Add half a cup of cold water to stop its boiling and drop the dough in large spoonfuls on top of the meat or chicken. Cover and let boil again for 15 minutes.

Made with K C Baking Powder and steamed in this way, dumplings are as light as biscuits and are delicious with thickened gravy.

This recipe is adapted from one for Chicken Pot Pie in "The Cook's Book" by Janet McKenzie Hill, editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine. The book contains 90 excellent recipes for things that are good to eat and that help reduce the cost of living.

"The Cook's Book" sent free for the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder. Send to Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

Thin Blood Causes Backache

Every muscle in the bodys needs a supply of rich, red blood in proportion to the work it does.

The muscles of the back are under heavy strain and have but little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment and rebel. The result is a sensation of pain in those muscles.

The best medical authorities agree that backache seldom or never means kidney trouble. Real organic kidney disease may have progressed to a critical point without developing a pain in the back. Doctors detect its presence by the excretions of the kidneys themselves.

Pains in the back should always lead the sufferer to look to the condition of the blood. It will be found in most cases that the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood will stop the grumbling of the ill-nourished muscles of the back. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the blood than to give way to unreasonable alarm about your kidneys. If you suspect your kidneys, any doctor can make tests in ten minutes that will set your fears at rest or tell you the worst.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross drug store, 13 West Superior street.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PAROLED ARE MAKING GOOD

Ninety Per Cent of Those Liberated in Wisconsin Justify Hopes.

Badger Parole Law, in Operation Six Years, Is Bearing Fruit.

Madison, Wis., March 2.—Society's benefit as the result of the adoption of the parole system for prisoners of the state penitentiary at Waupun is demonstrated in a report just compiled by the state board of control, which shows that less than 10 per cent of prisoners paroled violate it. The percentage of violation among the "lifers" is even smaller.

"Ninety per cent of prisoners paroled have made good," said President Ralph E. Smith of the board today. "It is better to have a man outside living right than inside," said Mr. Smith.

The Wisconsin parole law has been in operation over six years. It became effective in August, 1907. Up to Feb. 28 this year, 938 applications have been considered for parole at the state's prison at Waupun. Of this number 480 were granted; 445 were denied; 8 were continued and 5 were withdrawn.

Of the 480 Granted.

Of the 480 granted, 345 have received their final discharge, 27 were not discharged on account of not having proper employment, 46 defaulted, 10 applications did not meet with executive approval, 5 died while on parole, 2 were pardoned while on parole and 45 are now making monthly reports.

Of the 46 who defaulted, 37 have been returned to prison, 7 are at large and 2 are in prison in other states.

IN QUEER POSITION.

Man Declared Sane in South Dakota and Insane in North Dakota.

Mandan, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. D. Clyde, adjudged insane in this state, was pronounced sane in South Dakota. He owns some property in Morton county and as a result of his peculiar actions he was taken before the insanity board which decided he was not right mentally and he was sent to his home in South Dakota. The authorities there decided he was all right and liberated him. If he returns to this state he is subject to arrest.

WILLOW RIVER LOSS WAS ABOUT $8,000

Willow River, Minn., March 2.—The fire that raged here Saturday destroyed three of the largest buildings in town before being extinguished in the face of high wind and during cold weather that hampered the work of the firemen, causing a total loss of about $8,000. As wind carried the sparks to adjoining structures it was feared for a time the whole town would be destroyed.

The Pine hotel, owned by Frank Laufenberg, was completely destroyed. The loss is about $5,000, with $1,600 insurance. Olson's saloon was burned out with a loss of $2,000, covered with $1,000 insurance.

Fire gutted the new store of Verne Bembleton which had not yet opened for business. There was no stock but the loss on the fittings and the building is estimated at $1,000.

Consolidated School Contract.

Devils Lake, Minn., March 2.—Architect J. A. Shannon has returned from Mount Pleasant, Towner county, where he opened bids and let the contract for a new consolidated school building. The successful bidder was Fred Lindsey, $3,645. Other bidders were Iver Kasbo, $1,420; Felseth & Johnson, $4,372; F. C. Mart, $4,622.77; and F. C. Brindle, $3,349.

PINE RIVER, MINN., DID NOT HAVE FIRE.

A dispatch in Saturday's Herald erroneously stated that Pine River, Minn., had a $10,000 fire. This should have read Willow River, Minn. The story of the fire came over the long distance telephone and in writing it in narrative form Pine River instead of Willow River was made the date line. The Herald hopes Pine River will accept this explantion of an unfortunate mistake in the spirit it is given.

WOMAN TO RECOVER

But Mill City Boy Attacked By Brute May Die.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 2.—One man was arrested Sunday suspected of attacking Mrs. C. E. McRae in her grocery store Saturday night and also of having nearly killed Leslie Elmquist, a 11-year-old boy, but he was released when the injured woman was unable to identify him. Physicians now believe that Mrs. McRae will recover from her injuries, but the boy is expected to die.

The stranger who attacked Mrs. McRae is said by the woman to have remained in the place for an hour before making any demonstration during which time he read a newspaper. While responding to the man's request for a small purchase the supposed customer attacked the woman with a knife, inflicting several wounds, after which he shoved an iron bar down the woman's throat leaving her for dead. The boy was attacked when he entered the store as the man was leaving.

MINISTER AIRS VIEWS.

Mill City Preacher Would Let Both Sides Fight Out Mexican Row.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 2.—"God commanded Israel to destroy the idolatrous and corrupt Canaanites and He tells America to wipe Mexico off the map, or tear down the Monroe doctrine fence and allow England and Germany to protect the lives and property of their subjects," said Rev. G. L. Morrill in his sermon at the People's church Sunday.

The preacher advised the distribution of arms to both sections so that they could shoot themselves and their followers to end miserable and murderous rule.

TWIN CITY FOLK ATTENDED CHURCH

St. Paul, Minn., March 2.—"Go to church" Sunday in the Twin Cities yesterday attracted more than 147,000 persons to the various Protestant churches, an increase of nearly 100 per cent over the average Sunday attendance. This was the estimate given out today by leaders in the movement in the two cities.

Those who took the initiative in the movement in Minneapolis have announced that the movement will be continued there in an effort to make every Sunday, for a time at least, "Go to church" Sunday.

RUSH CITY MEET.

Farmers' Short Course to Be Given There March 10-14.

Rush City, Minn., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first farmers' first course ever held here will be given March 10-14, inclusive. There will be four or five well known instructors present. On the opening day, Tuesday, March 10, Prof. N. E. Chapman will speak. Wednesday will be given to alfalfa, potatoes, hogs and drainage. The remaining three days will be given to corn and dairying.

TROUT CREEK SHOOTING

Man Alleged to Have Been Mortally Wounded By Companion.

Marquette, Mich., March 2.—With three bullet wounds in his head and one in his left arm, Mike Rapset, a Polish woodsman at Trout Creek, was brought to St. Mary's hospital. The prospects for his recovery are considered remote. Rapset's condition is charged to an attack made upon him by Anton Semiski, a supposed friend, while the two were on their way to a logging camp of Weideman & Son. Semiski is at large with Ontonagon county men on his trail. His capture is expected. Rapset was brought here by Officer M. J. McGinty of Trout Creek, who left for home to join in the hunt for the fugitive.

That Semiski shot Rapset for the purpose of robbery, and afterward threw the supposed dead man into the snow and kicked snow over the body were allegations made here by Officer McGinty.

"YELLS" HIS WARRANT TO QUARANTINED ONE

La Crosse, Wis., March 2.—Charged with the service of a warrant upon the head of a house quarantined with a smallpox case, Deputy Sheriff George Ritter stood across the street and yelled until the man came outside. Then the officer read the warrant to him in his best campaign voice and ordered him to appear in court after the quarantine is lifted.

VOTED IT ILLINOIS.

So Suffragette Could Not Secure Divorce in Wisconsin.

La Crosse, Wis., March 2.—Lulu Kinder, Illinois suffragette, cannot get a divorce in Wisconsin. Judge Higbee in circuit court here so ordered, and directed that the case be dismissed. Mrs. Kinder had brought suit against her husband, Joseph Kinder, a painter. For the defense it was shown that the plaintiff, an ardent suffragette, had cast a vote at the last election at Quincy, Ill. This established her as a resident of Illinois and therefore disqualified to apply for and obtain a divorce in this state.

NEW SCHOOL HEAD.

G. H. Sanberg of Windom, Minn., Selected for Crookston Position.

Crookston, Minn., March 2.—The school board has elected G. H. Sanberg of Windom, Minn., as superintendent of the Crookston schools for the next year. Mr. Sanberg is numbered among the rising educators of the state, married, about 35 years of age and has been superintendent of the Windom schools for a number of years.

Mr. Sanberg is a progressive, broad gauged man, active and popular in his community. He is expected to make a visit here in the near future when the board, in conference with Mr. Hess and the superintendent, will take up the matter of election of teachers of next year.

WILL HELP DAIRYING.

Farmers Around Williston to Benefit By Trip to Wisconsin.

Williston, N. D., March 2.—The fifty Williams and Mountrail county farmers who toured Wisconsin and visited the Twin Cities last week, reached home late Saturday all agreeing that the dairy tour, one of the most unique excursions ever undertaken in the diversified farming propogands of the state, will result in the establishment of dairying on a sound basis in this region.

In Wisconsin, the farmers purchased about $20,000 worth of pure bred dairy cattle, which will become the nucleus of the dairying herds of these two counties.

BLAME HORSE'S KICK.

Defense Trying to Prove That Animal Kicked Mrs. Holum to Death.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The defense began today in the trial here of Matt Holum charged with killing his wife, near Milton, N. D., the claim that a horse kicked the woman to death being advanced. The case may end this week. Matt Sollberg, living near the Holum homestead gave damaging evidence for the defense Saturday, testified that on the night previous to the woman's discovery in a pool of blood in the barn, he heard Mr. and Mrs. Holum quarreling.

Suddenly, he says, he heard the woman scream, and then silence came. From that time, until Holum spread the alarm the following day, Sollberg says he did not see Mrs. Holum, although, ordinarily, she was accustomed to being about the farm yard considerably.

Tracy, Minn., Fire.

Tracy, Minn., March 2.—Fire which did damage estimated at more than $50,000 swept through a block in the business district here Saturday night. The buildings totally destroyed were: John McKay's feed store, Harry Tharzis' plumbing shop, O'Deva's restaurant, Kirchie Bros.' furniture store, Bonnaille real estate office, Travy sanitarium and the Hotel Exchange sample room. The loss was mostly covered by insurance.

Sisters Marry Brothers.

Aged Woman Fatally Burned.

Port Washington, Wis., March 2.—Mrs. August Schlehvogel, aged 70 years, was burned to death last night when she re-entered her burning home to secure some valuables.

Plan Suffrage Campaign.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the W. C. T. U. district vice presidents, representing the northeastern counties of the state, held here, plans were laid to promote an active campaign for the adoption of women suffrage, which will be voted upon next fall.

The W. C. T. U. has joined forces with the North Dakota Votes for Women league, and they will formally open their campaign in the northern part of the state at a big mass meeting which will be held in Grand Forks, late in May or early in June.

Charged With Embezzlement.

Mandan, N. D., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with embezzlement, Felix Bachmeier, manager of the Farmers Equity Exchange elevator at Raleigh, this county, was bound over to the district court for trial, at a hearing held here. Harry N. Fisher makes the complaint.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Green Bay — In sentencing Fred Hall, aged 20, a confessed burglar, Judge N. J. Monohan refused to grant his request to send him to state's prison, but committed him to the state reformatory, saying better discipline is maintained there.

Madison—Separate suits were filed in circuit court here by the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric railway and the Milwaukee & Northern, asking that the railroad rate commissioner's orders for joint use of street car tracks in Milwaukee be set aside.

Blood Eruptions WON'T Return When You Give Your Blood a Good Bath

No case of poisoned blood is ever cured until the last vestige of irritation has been eliminated from the system. And the only remedy that is safely assimilated in the tissues to stimulate cellular activity and overcome harmful germs is the famous S. S. S.

A few doses of this wonderful blood purifier will start such pronounced activities in the cellular tissues of the body as to soon show decided changes in the skin.

The skin is but a fine network of tiny blood vessels, and the action of S. S. S. is declared by eminent authorities to be a pronounced stimulation of the activity of these cells. Certain it is that in a surprisingly short time even the worst skin eruption shows a most remarkable change; it begins to dry up; the skin peels off in tiny flecks, and soon a layer of clear, healthy and firm tissue results.

The reason for this is in the peculiar stimulation of S. S. S. which enables the cells in the skin to select from the blood the nutriment it requires for regeneration.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

This fact has been demonstrated in cases of severe skin eruption that had seemed to be incurable.

You can obtain S. S. S. at any well stocked drug store, if you insist upon it, but be sure you are not talked into something else claimed to be "just as good."

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 308 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

MARKET HAS SLIGHT DROP

Wheat Fractionally Easier on Lower Cables and Better Receipts.

Flaxseed Holds Firm With Good Buying By Crushers and Operators.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 2.—The market was steady up to the close. May wheat closed unchanged and July ⅛c off. May durum closed ¼c off and July ⅛c off.

Oats closed ⅛c up at 38¼@38¾c. Rye closed unchanged at 56½c and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c. At Winnipeg May oats closed at 37⅜c bid and July at 38¾c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 91¾c asked and calls at 92⅛c bid.

The wheat market was slightly easier during the first three hours' trading today as a result of heavier receipts and a lightening up in export inquiry. Liverpool cables were mixed, being ¼d higher to ⅜d lower.

Receipts at primary markets showed an increase of 316,000 bu over last year. Arrivals at Minneapolis for the day were 738 cars compared with 476 a year ago and receipts at Winnipeg made a better showing, being 153 cars against 214 a year.

In consequence of better bidding on the part of the Duluth trade there was on the track here this morning 114 cars of all grains. It is to be noted that Duluth cash and to arrive prices have gained on Minneapolis during the last few days, as for instance the figure here on No. 1 northern to arrive was 93¼c on Saturday, compared with a range of from 92½c to 93c at Minneapolis. An easing off in the situation is expected in Minneapolis for the reason that their millers are estimated to have covered requirements for some time ahead by reason of their recent heavy purchases.

The grain movement here was in light volume last week, receipts amounting to only 80,000 bu with shipments, including the amount taken out by the mills, coming to 98,000 bu.

Outside of nine loads reported by Kansas City no export trade was noted today.

May wheat opened unchanged at 93¼c and it held on that basis up to the final hour. July wheat opened ⅛c off at 94⅛c and remained at around that figure. May durum opened ⅛c off at 93⅝c and it weakened ⅛c more.

Flaxseed Holds Steady.

Firmness in flaxseed continued on good general buying with crushers picking up odd lots. The feeling was also bullish at Winnipeg where further export trade was reported. Quotations advanced ⅞c at the outset on the filling of orders, and then the market eased off to around Saturday's level.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.59⅞ and closed ⅛c off at $1.59⅞ bid. July opened unchanged at $1.61¾ and closed at $1.61¾ bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.37⅞ and July at $1.42⅜.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The Minneapolis cash market was steady with a very good demand, considering the receipts. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from ½c to 2c over May and velvet chaff at ½c to 1c premium. A little better Eastern flour inquiry was noted. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 92c to 93⅛c and No. 2 northern at from 89½c to 91½c.

Oklahoma March wheat conditions 96 per cent against 99 per cent in Februpthy. No damage resulted through late freezes. The oat acreage will be increased 10 per cent. Oklahoma raised 18,000,000 bu each of wheat and oats last season.

Toledo wired Baker "Expect increase in number of reports of ice-covered fields. Mild weather and rain preceded this cold snap, turning the snow covering to ice in a number of places."

Parker Paine had the following letter from Chicago today: "Severe weather conditions over the East did not spread to the winter wheat belt. There is nothing serious in the crop situation in any quarter, as temperatures over the West are normal and milder weather is predicted. The feeling in the trade at the close on Saturday was bearish and the market probably oversold. Leaders are confident that any further dip in prices will bring seaboard or foreign demand. The best authorities in the Northwest are predicting a sudden drop in Minneapolis receipts. They favor the buyers' position on any further dip.

"It is reasonable to expect an improved cash demand for corn and lighter supplies from the shipping states during the season of bad roads and the beginning of early farm work. Strong local interests are friendly to the buying side of futures. Would pick the oversold spots in the local trade to get long corn."

The Chicago Interocean says: "The range of wheat values which has been a conspicuous feature for some weeks past continues to a marked extent and the belief that the market is wholly on a merchandising basis permeates the entire trade. The price movement in the past week was confined to a range of 1 to 1⅛c, being highest early in the week on the development of a good export and shipping demand for the domestic article and in sympathy with corn, but toward the last the foreign demand flattened out completely and futures declined when early buyers tried to realize and found buying support not very urgent."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool—The wheat market opened easy and ¼d lower; being influenced by lower American cables on Saturday and larger shipments from America than expected. Further selling was induced by the bearish Indian official report, opening of navigation on the Danube and freer Russian offers. Later there was some reaction and prices advanced ⅛d from the low, shorts covering on a large scale on smaller world's shipments with a small proportion of the United Kingdom. At 1:30 p. m. the market was steady and values unchanged to ⅛d lower than the opening and ⅛d to ?d lower than Saturday.

"Corn opened easy and ¼d lower and further declined ½ to ⅝d with the principal weakness in March owing to forced sales for March tenders on contract and opening of navigation on the Danube. Later the market rallied on liquidation in March being over."

The acreage under wheat in India is officially placed at 9,152,000 acres against 9,289,000 last year and 11,018,000 year before. Navigation on Danube has opened.

According to the official report a good yield of wheat is promised in the Punjaub. In the United provinces the outturn of wheat in irrigated land will be 85 to 90 per cent of normal, elsewhere 50 to 70 per cent. In the central provinces and Berah the average under wheat is 530,000 acres.

Word's shipments—Wheat, 10,588,000 bu, previous week, 13,472,000 bu, last year, 14,352,000 bu; corn, 1,609,000 bu, previous week, 1,424,000 bu, last year, 4,716,000 bu.

Wheat stocks in Duluth and Minneapolis elevators as on last Saturday were 33,850,000 bu, compared with 38,-432,000 bu a year ago. There was in store and afloat at Duluth 14,672,000 bu against 17,613,000 bu a year ago, and Minneapolis stocks were 19,178,000 bu, as compared with 20,082,000 bu last year.

Grain receipts at Duluth for the present crop year from Aug. 1 up to last Saturday, aggregated 78,020,086 bu, as compared with 104,891,967 bu a year ago. Wheat receipts came to 54,569,480 bu against 74,510,327 bu last year; corn 38,123 bu against 23,873 bu slat year; oats, 4,593,178 bu against 10,803,684 bu last year; rye, 978,147 bu against 1,185,-962 bu last year, and flax 7,984,680 bu against 13,619,234 bu last year.

The Canadian visible supply showed the following changes last week: Wheat decreased 1,021,000 bu against a decrease in the preceding week of 926,000 bu and an increase of 203,000 bu last year.

Oats decreased 478,000 bu, compared with an increase of 75,000 bu last week and an increase of 18,000 bu last year.

Total supplies of wheat in Canada the border now stand at 22,796,000 bu against 24,391,000 bu last year and oats at 15,655,000 bu compared with 8,864,-000 bu a year ago.

With all its intervening fluctuations, the wheat market wound up unchanged last week. The May option closed last Saturday at 93¼@93⅜c, while at the end of the previous week, it was 93¼c. The July option was quoted last Saturday at 94⅛@94⅜c and at the previous Saturday it was 94⅛@94¼c. May durum closed last Saturday at 93⅜c against 93¼c the week before.

It is to be noted that as compared with a year ago, the price of May wheat is 5½c higher, while the July option shows an advance of 5¼c.

With the decreased supplies available this year from Argentina and Australia, the present close marketing of the Canadian crop, and the certainty that Europe must draw heavily from this country in the near future to cover its requirements, the statistical position of the market is regarded as exceptionally strong by Duluth operators.

Oscar K. Lyle, grain specialist of S. B. Chapin & Co., Chicago, says: "Winter wheat in the Southwest, especially was from two to three weeks farther advanced in its growth than usual when it went into winter quarters. Recent observers of its condition remark upon its green and fresh condition. As a result of this it is entirely possible that harvesting may be two or three weeks earlier than usual. That would bring into the market considerable grain before the end that it is well to keep in mind. Even if we should have a large proportion of abandoned acreage out of the 36,500,000 acres sown, we might still have the largest harvested area ever cut in this country. From every viewpoint conditions now look to be very promising."

Stocks of grain in Duluth elevators for the week ended Feb. 28, 1914, giving changes in the week: No. 1 hard, 1,171,944 bu; No. 1 northern, 5,940,213 bu; No. 2 northern, 1,723,736 bu; No. 3 northern, 133,285 bu; No. 4, 3,125 bu; rejected, 13,958 bu; no grade, 6,501 bu; western red, 123 bu; special bin, 564,-647 bu; durum, 1,898,701 bu; winter, 669,993 bu; bonded, 1,111,921 bu; afloat, durum, 199,000 bu; spring wheat, 785,-000 bu; winter wheat, 449,867 bu; grand total, wheat, 14,672,014 bu; domestic, decrease, 21,598 bu; bonded, increase, 7,172; total year ago, 14,512,824 bu. Coarse grains: Rye, 324,579 bu; increase, 640 bu; flax, domestic, 1,484,031 bu; decrease, 3 bu; bonded, 230,855 bu; decrease, 2,885 bu; total flax, 1,714,886 bu; decrease, 2,088 bu; barley, domestic, 698,287 bu; afloat, 274,678 bu; decrease, 4,292 bu; bonded, 109,103 bu; increase, 38 bu; oats, domestic, 1,359,-985 bu; decrease, 2,078 bu; bonded, 2,236,928 bu; afloat, 226,057 bu; increase, 4,908 bu; total oats, 3,822,970 bu; increase, 2,830 bu; corn, 341,634 bu; increase, $49 bu.

Liverpool wheat closed ¼d higher to ⅜d lower; corn, ¼@⅜d lower.

On account of the disarrangement of the telegraph service the visible supply statement was not received up to the close of the market today. With Chicago, Boston, New York and Philadelphia to come, it shows a decrease of 831,000 bu in wheat and an increase of 27,000 bu corn.

Wheat—Receipts, 1,396,000 bu, last year 1,080,000 bu; shipments, 483,000 bu, last year 312,000 bu.

Corn—Receipts, 1,545,000 bu, last year, 1,151,000 bu; shipments, 640,000 bu, last year 748,000 bu.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Eases Off on Failure of Reports of Damage.

Chicago, March 2.—Wheat eased off today, influenced by the absence of any reports of damage by freezing. Lower cables were also in favor of the bears. Heavy offerings from Russia and the opening of navigation on the Danube tended to drag down the market. Prices started ⅛@⅜c off, and underwent some additional setback.

Subsequently the market rallied as the West and Southwest sent in scattering advices of crop injury, the result of alternate thawing and cold. Closing prices were steady, ¼c off to ⅛@⅜c up, compared with Saturday night.

Corn sagged as a result of the depression in wheat. Besides, weather conditions were generally seasonable. Opening figures were ⅛@¼c lower, but there was a little subsequent reaction.

Predictions of a decided falling off in receipts this week led afterward to a good deal of covering by shorts. The close was steady at ⅛c to ¼@⅜c net advance.

Packers' buying gave the provision market a lift. First sales ranged from Saturday night's level to 5c advance, with later transactions showing the upturn well maintained.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Weak on Low Cables and Big Receipts.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 2.—Lower cables and larger receipts caused a weak and lower wheat market at the opening here today.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Prices Fall Off Mainly Owing to the Lack of Demand.

New York Central Loses Nearly Two Points in Final Hour.

New York, March 2.—Apart from the effect of the storm in limiting business, the market was influenced by the unfavorable character of Saturday's bank statement and additional poor railroad returns for January. Some of the newer industrials declined sharply, but losses among the leading shares were not large.

Trading was slow at the opening today. The storm restricted the attendance of brokers and interfered with the business of the wire houses. The undertone was heavy.

The market became very dull after the noon hour and prices sought a lower level when selling orders appeared.

The market closed heavy. Decrease of $3,654,000 in the January net earnings of the New York Central system caused increased selling of that stock in the final hour, and it lost nearly 2 points. Elsewhere, the movement was inconsequential, but the undertone remained depressed.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of four hundred and ninety-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is due, at the date of this notice, and the further sum of four hundred and forty-three and 75-100 dollars declared to be due upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Elmon D. Harding and Minnie Harding, his wife, and Henry W. Schultz and Bertha Schultz, his wife, Mortgagors, bearing date the 1st day of January, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of June, 1912, at 11:15-60 o'clock A. M., in Book 266 of Mortgages, on page 504; and whereas said mortgage contains a clause whereby it is provided that if default be made by the said mortgagors in any of the provisions in said mortgage, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due, and the sum of $440.00 and interest has been due and not paid for some time, and there is another note for $440.00 and interest maturing on Jan. 2nd, 1915, and the said mortgagee has elected and hereby does elect to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage due, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz.:

The southwest quarter of the northwest quarter, the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter, and lots two and seven, in Section seventeen (17), in Township sixty-four (64) of Range twelve (12), in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 27th day of April, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the said debt of nine hundred and forty and 75-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

WILL SELL UNDIVIDED INTEREST in a 40-acre apple orchard located in Bitter Root valley, Montana. This orchard is full 6 years old and will bear its first commercial crop this year.

1-acre tracts at $400 per acre.
1-acre tracts at $375 per acre.
10-acre tracts at $350 per acre.
20-acre tracts at $300 per acre.

Owner also guarantees that this year's upkeep will not cost you more than $20 per acre, which should easily be returned from crop.

This is a snap. Ask anyone owning orchards in Bitter Root valley—plenty of them in Duluth. Write B 169, Herald.

BUY A HOME

FOR YOURSELF INSTEAD OF THE LANDLORD

$20.00 a month rent amounts to $240.00 a year, $2400.00 in ten years. You've paid the landlord full price for his house in ten years, but he still owns it; all you have is the rent receipts.

For a small payment down and $20 or less per month you can buy a home and own it, clear of all encumbrance, in less than ten years.

MACNAUGHTON TELLS OPERATORS' SIDE OF THE COPPER STRIKE

Says Company Cleared Only $535 From Renting Houses.

Tells Congressmen Michigan Mines Are Half Worked Out.

Houghton, Mich., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—James MacNaughton, general manager of the Calumet & Reela company, resumed his testimony today at the hearing of the congressional committee that is making inquiry into conditions in the Copper country, where a strike of the Western Federation of Miners has been on since last July.

Mr. MacNaughton, who was the first witness for the mine owners since the inquiry was begun nearly a month ago, was on the stand for three hours yesterday, and at the close of the day's proceedings counsel for the operators announced that his direct examination would consume the greater part of today and might extend into Wednesday.

Smoke and Gas Underground.

Mr. MacNaughton today admitted that complaints of smoke and gas in some of the copper mines were justified. The gas came from blasting and the smoke from these explosions and miners' lamps, he said. He denied that gas was generated from the rock.

"The gases of combustion caused by blasting lie in the broken rock," the witness said. "And sometimes it makes trammers sick when they shovel the rock into the cars. If a man becomes affected he is expected to go to the shaft for fresh air."

Mr. MacNaughton said it was impracticable to ventilate the mine artificially because of the large number of openings, but the natural ventilation was good except at the end of drifts. In these places, the miners were supposed to use compressed air from the drill machines to improve the circulation.

Temperature Varies.

The temperature of the mines varied with the depth, the witness said. The Bryan Delays Talk With Ambassador and Cabinet Meeting.

Washington, March 3.—A new baby girl at Secretary Bryan's home today delayed a conference with the British ambassador and also the cabinet meeting.

Mr. Bryan telephoned his office and the White House that he would be late and announced the birth of a girl to his daughter, Mrs. Richard L. Hargreaves of Lincoln, Neb. Mr. Bryan now has six grandchildren.

BOAT AND CARGO OF COPPER ARE LOST

New York, March 3.—Capt. Griffith and crew of four of the British schooner Katie were brought to this port today on the liner Coamo from Porto Rican ports.

The Katie was bound from Tucacas, Venezuela, for Liverpool, with a cargo of copper ore. Bad weather forced Capt. Griffith to put into Mayaguez, Porto Rico, but the storm pursued the little vessel even there. After dragging her anchor, she ran aground in the port and was pounded to pieces, her captain and crew barely managing to reach the shore in the vessel's bows.

BOARDS THAT ARE NEEDED

Not All the State Advisory Boards Are Without Merit.

Permanent Jury of Three or Five Men Sometimes Required.

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Government is not always what the law says. It works itself out on various lines.

A good example appears in the organization of the university. The law says the regents, with the president, shall govern it in all respects. And they do. But they are not the whole machinery of its government.

In the days of small, hand-picked colleges the president ran the whole organization, chose the instructors, approved courses, attended to the least details. Now with 300 instructors and half a dozen great departments, the president must depend on the deans to a large extent. The president and deans form a cabinet for threshing out questions to be submitted to the regents.

In each school the dean and the faculty are a local government. Faculty meetings pass on all the internal affairs of the school and send up to the president's office the problems that

GRAIN TRADE UNDER FIRE

House Committee Hears Arguments on Manahan Resolution.

Minnesotan Says State Probe Was Nullified By Lobby.

Washington, March 3.—The Chicago and Duluth boards of trade and the Minneapolis chamber of commerce were arraigned today as violators of the anti-trust laws; fixing the prices of wheat to the farmers of the Northwest and the price of flour to the consumers, at a hearing before the house rules committee to decide on Representative Manahan's demand for a congressional investigation.

Representative Manahan charged that elevator men, by selling to themselves grain they held as agents for farmers, defrauded the wheat growers of the Dakotas and Montana alone of $29,000,000 a year.

Federal legislation to abolish future trading, Federal inspection and grading in public warehouses, he urged, were the only remedies to relieve farmers who lost large sums through manipulation in futures.

Criticized State Probe.

The state of Minnesota's investigation of the evil, he said, had been set at naught by a lobby.

Representative Dillon of South Dakota supported Representative Manahan's investigation resolution, and Samuel H. Greely, formerly a member of the Chicago board of trade, told the committee the Chicago public warehouse monopoly fixed the grain prices for the world. The Chicago board, he declared, dealt in 25,000,000 bushels a day, while receipts averaged 25,000,000 bushels a year.

"BAD DANCES" NAMED IN LEGISLATIVE BILL

Massachusetts May Have State Law Against Them.

Boston, Mass., March 3.—Modern dances were denounced by a legislative committee today at a hearing on a bill introduced by Representative L. R. Sullivan of Dorchester, prohibiting specifically the tango, lame duck, Argentine, chicken flip, bunny hug and grizzly slide.

TO COLLECT ALL GARBAGE

Council Will Consider Proposition From Private Company.

City Lacks the Necessary Funds to Install Its Own System.

The city council will hold an informal meeting at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to consider a proposal which has been submitted by a private company to take over the city garbage collection.

The company desires to take over the entire handling of garbage, including the collection and the operation of the city incinerator. This would necessitate the city going out of the garbage collection and the city putting all private collectors out of business, which could be done under an ordinance authorizing the city to license garbage men.

Commissioner W. A. Hicken, who, as safety commissioner, has supervision of the health department, said this morning that the question is plainly one which should be decided by the council, and that the meeting tomorrow was being called for that reason. He said that personally he has not formed an opinion as to its advisability.

Among the advantages it is pointed out that if the garbage collection and the operation of the incinerator should be taken over by a private company, the city would save $5,000 to $7,000 a year. Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, said today that if a private collection is authorized he would wish to have the saving to the city turned into a sinking fund to be used at the expiration of the contract for the institution of a system of free

TYOMIES PUBLISHERS LOSE THEIR APPEAL

Lower Court Verdict and Sentences Are Sustained.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 3.—The United States circuit court of appeals today affirmed the decision of the United States district court for the Western district of Michigan in the case of the United States against the Tyomies Publishing company, John Nummivuori, the business manager, and John Saliminen, the editor.

They published a miners' newspaper, the Latatossu, at Hancock, Mich., the scene of the present strike of the copper miners, and it was alleged they printed an obscene cartoon.

The lower court found them guilty, fined the company $1,000 and the two men $100 each and gave them a jail sentence of sixty days. The upper court affirmed this decision, holding that there was no error prejudicial to the defendants, and that they had been fairly tried. The charge was that of sending obscene literature through the mails.

BRIBER VERY ILL; PARDON IS SOUGHT

Moundsville, W. Va., March 3.—S. U. G. Rhodes, one of the five members of the West Virginia legislature conined in the penitentiary here for bribery in connection with the election of a United States senator last spring, is dangerously ill in the prison hospital. Efforts are being made to get a pardon.

IGNORE WRIT AND ARREST BARTENDER

Police Act on the Theory That Sholund Has No License.

Supreme Court Order to Stay Proceedings Came Too Late.

Claim That Defense Will Be Backed By National Organization.

Awesome as they may sound or seem, writs of certiorari from the state supreme court fail to paralyze or strike dumb the safety branch of Duluth's city administration.

Yesterday afternoon such a writ was served upon the city council relative to the proceedings whereby the saloon license of Charles Sholund at 101 East Michigan street was revoked. The mandate of the supreme court directed that all proceedings in the writ be stayed pending the certiorari, which is, in effect, an order directing the city to certify to the supreme court a record of all proceedings in the case, until April 7, or until further order of the court.

Regardless of the imposing sounding statement signed by Associate Justice George L. Bunn, which some interpret to mean that Sholund can keep his bar running until April 7, Henry Johnson, Sholund's bartender, was arrested this morning on a charge of selling liquor without a license. Arraigned immediately afterwards in police court he entered a plea of not guilty and his trial was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Saloon Closed.

Closely following Johnson's arrest the saloon was again closed. The place reopened yesterday afternoon as soon as the writ of certiorari had been served upon the city commission. During its brief respite from oblivion it did the most thriving business of its ca-

INDICTMENT AGAINST FOWLER DISMISSED

'Tammany Bagman' Freed From Charge of Extortion.

New York, March 3.—The indictment charging Everett P. Fowler, the so-called Tammany bagman, with extortion, has been dismissed by Supreme Court Justice Vernon M. Davis. Fowler, it was charged, obtained a political contribution of $250 from Seneca P. Hull of Cormand, N. Y., who was competing for state highway contracts.

MAY NEVER EXAMINE SCOTCHMAN'S BODY.

El Paso, Tex., March 3.—A member of the Benton commission today expressed the opinion that the investigators never would go to Chihuahua to view the body of the slain Scotchman.

"This is my personal opinion," he said. "It is not based on official information. Benton was killed on Feb. 17 and this is the third of March. The body must be in such a condition by this time that any wound or wounds in the flesh would be obliterated."

London, March 3.—The British government's view that no immediate action could be taken by it in connection with the deadlock over the investigation into the death at Juarez of William S. Benton, was made plain today in the house of commons by Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary.

Sir Edward was, however, equally explicit in pointing out that if Great Britain failed to secure satisfaction through the United States, the British government reserved to itself the right to secure reparation whenever it was able to do so.

The promised pronouncement on the Mexican situation from the foreign secretary had been anxiously awaited. It was delivered before a keenly interested gathering of the members of the house of commons.

Britons Angry at Carranza.

Intense resentment has been displayed throughout the British Isles over what is regarded as the attempt on the part of Venustiano Carranza, the Constitutionalist leader, to sow discord between England and the United States, and also over the repeated delays in the investigation of the death of Benton.

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, made this important statement on the Mexican situation in the house of commons today.

UNCLE SAM AFTER THREE TRANSPORTS

Private Vessels Will Be Inspected as to Their Availability.

Portland, Or., March 3.—The San Francisco & Portland Steamship company has received a request from the navy department that permission be granted for Lieut. Commander T. W. Sharpley to inspect the steamers Bear, Beaver and Rose City, with a view to ascertaining their adaptability on short notice for service as transports or auxiliary cruisers.

The communication was received by D. W. Wells, general agent of the steamship concern here, and by him has been transmitted to G. L. Blair, general manager, at San Francisco.

Church Boiler Explodes.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 3.—St. John's Lutheran church was partly wrecked by a boiler explosion in the basement of the building late last night. Lack of water in the boiler is said to have been the cause. The damage is about $20,000.

Former Doctor There Says Conditions Cannot Be Described.

Chicago, March 3.—Criticism of the insane asylum at Oshkosh, Wis., was made by Dr. Rosalie Ladora, formerly woman's physician there, at a meting of the American Flag Day association last night.

"The asylum," she said, "operates under a loose commitment of patients; that is, a patient is committed on complaint of any neighbor, with no trial as to his sanity. The signature of the judge and one other does the work.

"Many patients have been found to be sane, but were retained in confinement in order to prevent injuring the commitment judge. The condition is worse than I can depict."

PASTORS USE FISTS AT END OF DEBATE

J. C. Hogan Says John Wesley Hill Struck Him.

Hartford, Conn., March 3.—After a debate on Socialism in Unity hall here last night, the debaters, Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill and Rev. J. C. Hogan of Monroe, New York, engaged in a heated argument in an ante-room, during which Mr. Hogan claims Dr. Hill struck him with his fist. Friends separated the two and the police were called. No arrests were made.

During the debate Mr. Hogan produced what he purported to be copies of court records of cases in which Dr. Hill had figured. The arguments in the ante-room started when it is said Dr. Hill tried to secure the documents to prevent publication.

Dr. Hill is president of the International Peace Forum and widely known as a lecturer. He formerly was pastor of the Metropolitan temple (Methodist-Episcopal) in New York city.

TWO ST. PAUL WOMEN SHAKEN UP IN WRECK

Grand Trunk Passenger Train Hits Freight---Brakeman Killed.

Chicago, March 3.—The Port Huron special of the Grand Trunk railroad, Chicago-bound, crashed into a freight train in the city yard today, killing a freight brakeman and seriously injuring two other men. The passengers on the all-steel train were shaken up and several of them were slightly injured.

Marley Burns of Chicago, brakeman on the freight train, died in an ambulance. James Breen of Chicago, conductor of the freight train, sustained internal injuries.

Mrs. J. J. Jump and Mrs. S. A. Funkington, both of St. Paul, Minn., were removed to their hotel in automobiles. They are said to have suffered from fright and shaking up.

The passenger train plunged through several cars of the freight and the wreckage took fire. Burns was pinned under a blazing carload of hay.

O. M. eedy, engineer of the Grand Trunk train, blamed the fog and lack of signals for the accident.

DULUTH'S OLDEST NATIVE IS DEAD

Mrs. Elizabeth Sherette of Fond du Lac, 74 Years Old, Expires Within Stone's Throw of Birthplace.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sherette, who for some time has had the distinction of being the oldest native in Duluth, died at 10 o'clock last night at her home in Fond du Lac. Mrs. Sherette was 74 years of age and was born within a stone's throw of where she died.

Mrs. Sherette has lived in Fond du Lac ever since her birth. She leaves her husband, Joseph Sherette, and one daughter, Mrs. Argentine January, who also resides at Fond du Lac.

Mrs. Sherette was well known among the old settlers of Duluth. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family home, with burial in the Indian cemetery on the Fond du Lac reservation.

William Boyd Dies.

William Boyd, 50 years old, died this morning at the Duluth hospital following a short illness. Little is known of him except that he leaves a widow and two children living in the state of Washington. It is also believed he leaves a son residing in this city. The body was taken to Filiatrault's undertaking rooms while waiting word from relatives.

HE WANTED NO RIPARIAN RIGHTS

As a result of a family feud between residents along Keene's creek near Warden street, Emil Markwat, has been arrested on a charge of assault and battery and Mrs. Louise Watsick is nursing a number of bruises which she alleges were inflicted by Markwat.

The assault is alleged to have taken place Friday night about 9 o'clock. The warrant was swoln out yesterday afternoon. In police court this morning Markwat pleaded not guilty and hearing was set for next Monday.

The trouble is said to have started on the day of the recent thaw. Water from the hillside was running into the complaining witness's cellar and she had turned the stream so that it cut through Markwat's chicken yard. This is alleged to have aroused the ire of Markwat and to have caused him to assault his neighbor.

ANCIENT BUT PROFITABLE

Thirteen-Year-Old Damage Suit Results in $2,500 Verdict.

It took a jury in Judge Cant's division of the district court but forty minutes this morning to decide that Ephraim A. Trenholm, Cedar Island lake homesteader, was entitled to $2,500 damages from the Cloquet Lumber company for his arrest and imprisonment thirteen years ago on a charge which was not substantiated.

Trenholm and five other homesteaders were arrested by J. W. Dempster, a deputy under Sheriff W. C. Sargent, during the Cedar Island lake trouble in June, 1901. The men were charged with attempting to dig up and destroy a dam belonging to the Cloquet Lumber company, but which was built on land claimed by Trenholm. The cases were dismissed in justice court.

Trenholm and his witnesses testified that the deputy sheriff who caused his arrest, told them that he had been sent there by the Cloquet Lumber company to keep them from destroying the dam, which had caused water to overflow Trenholm's land. The men were kept in jail for about six hours and finally released by a justice on their own recognizance.

The other men were Granville A. Burns, Michael Cronin, P. J. Payne and W. S. Douglas, all of whom have suits of a similar nature pending against the company. It is expected that the cases will be brought to trial at this term of the district court.

Old Feud Reviewed.

The old feud between the homesteaders and the lumber company with reference to disputed timber claims was reviewed at some length in connection with the case and it required considerably more than a week to put in all of the testimony on both sides.

R. R. Briggs appeared for the plaintiff and the lumber company was represented by W. B. Phelps, assisted by Charles E. Adams. The brilliant repartee between Attorneys Briggs and Phelps, who have been trying lawsuits against each other involving Cedar Island lake matters for the last fifteen years, made the trial rather interesting.

Attorney Phelps in addressing the jury yesterday afternoon declared that opposing counsel had threatened to "scorch" him. Turning around to Mr. Briggs, he shook his finger at his old running mate and gave him to understand that he couldn't be "scorched" or "bluffed."

When Mr. Briggs got a chance to talk, he declared himself as being heartily amused at the insinuation and added that he considered it would be very foolhardy to bring fire close to anything "as dry as Phelps."

In his address to the jury, Attorney Briggs asked for a verdict of not more than $2,500 nor less than $2,000. The suit, however, was brought for $8,000.

NO AGREEMENT ON SUBWAY YET

No agreement was reached at the conference held at the Wolvin building this morning between Commissioner Murchison, City Engineer Wilson and City Attorney Clapp and officials of the D., M. & N., relative to the proposed subway under the railroad's tracks on Highland street.

The general features of the situation were discussed as at the meeting held last Saturday morning at the city hall, at which President W. A. McGonagle was present, but it was concluded that in order to get an accurate idea of the situation it would be necessary to go over the ground. The members of the city commission walked over the tracks from Fifty-seventh avenue west to Tacony street last week, and this afternoon City Attorney Clapp and Attorney Frank D. Adams, attorney of the railroad, will make the same trip.

The residents of West Duluth are eager that the subway be built as early as possible, but this cannot be done sooner than next fall. The railroad officials state that it would take until July to get the steel, which would have to be manufactured to order, and they do not wish to do the work during the ore carrying season. The company wishes to have most of the grade crossings closed to traffic, at least for a period of years, and after going over them the city officials are willing to agree to the railroad's request. They state that it is quite apparent that if Highland street is improved and the subway built the traffic will voluntarily follow that route because of its advantages as to grade and providing better access to that part of the city.

Tobacco Habit Easily Conquered

A well-known New Yorker of wide experience, has written a book telling how the tobacco or snuff habit may be easily and completely banished in three days with delightful benefit.

The health improves wonderfully after the nicotine poison is out of the system. Calmness, tranquil sleep, clear eyes, normal appetite, good digestion, manly vigor, strong memory and a general gain in efficiency are among the many benefits reported. No more of that nervous feeling; no more need of pipe, cigar, cigarette or chewing tobacco to pacify the morbid desire. The author, Edw. J. Woods, 534 Sixth Ave., 899 L, New York City, will send his book free on application, to anyone.

VICTIM OF ACCIDENTS.

Mrs. Colon Dies Following a Series of Injuries.

Mrs. George Colon, wife of Assistant Fire Chief Colon, died last night at Tomah, Wis., as a result of a weakened condition from a series of accidents. Her first accident occurred last summer when she was run down by a mowing machine while visiting on the farm of her brother-in-law in Douglas county, and recently she sustained a fall which fractured her hip and leg.

She leaves besides her husband, her father, Fletcher Dighten, six sisters and four children. The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, but it is expected to bring the body here for burial.

DOLAN FUNERAL.

Final Rites for Well-Known Postoffice Employe.

The funeral services for Miss Mary T. Dolan, 39 years old, who died Saturday, were held this morning from the Sacred Heart cathedral with burial in Calvary cemetery.

Miss Dolan was clerk in charge of the money order department of the Superior postoffice for the last eleven years and previous to that was employed for a number of years by the Superior Telegram. She was secretary of the latter corporation for several years.

Miss Dolan leaves her mother, Mrs. John B. Dolan, 2125 Tower avenue; two sisters, Mrs. J. T. Stack of Duluth, Miss Enid Dolan of Superior; and four brothers, Francis of Duluth, Alfred of Superior, John of Catawba, Wis., and Charles of Port Angelius, Wash.

DEMONSTRATION FOR SUFFRAGE WORKERS

Women of Superior interested in securing votes for women in Wisconsin will take part in the nation-wide public demonstration planned by women all over the country on May 2. Action to this effect was taken yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Douglas Suffrage club at the home of Mrs. M. Kalbsleisch, 2205 Tower avenue. The nature of the local demonstration will be decided on at future meetings.

Many Willing Patriots.

Tomorrow will be the last day of filing petitions of candidacy for office in the spring election at Superior. Five men have so far filed for the office of mayor, and it is expected that at least ten will make the run for the office of commissioner, now held by Commissioner O'Hare. This morning Dr. A. S. Andrews and W. B. Kellogg filed for the latter office. Mr. Kellogg is one of the men who have taken an active part in the reform wave.

COURSE IN ACCOUNTING

New Extension Class Will Be Recruited By University.

A new class in the elementary principles of accounting will be organized at the Central high school Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, March 5, under the direction of the extension department of the university of Minnesota. The fee for the course of twelve sessions will be $5, with an additional expense for materials not to exceed $2.50. The course is open to all applicants.

The aim of the course is to give the students a thorough foundation in the fundamental principles of the subject. The work will consist chiefly of practice by the students under the guidance of an instructor. As practice is regarded as one of the most essential things in accounting, the students will be required to work out a complete series of transactions graded from the simple form to the more complex.

The transactions are taken from actual practice cases. They will begin with the accounts of a sole proprietor whose books are kept by single entry and then changed to double entry. The cases are gradually developed from single proprietorship to partnership.

The subject of accounting is now receiving the greatest attention both from a governmental and industrial point of view. The university of Minnesota through its extension department proposes to afford a means of obtaining the best thought of the day on this and allied subjects.

REPORT ON CITY WELFARE

Public Affairs Departments All Busy During February.

Reports from three departments of the division of public affairs were filed with Mayor W. I. Prince today. These were from the municipal lodging house, the free legal aid bureau and the probation officer of the municipal court. The reports are for February of the present year.

The municipal lodging house cared for twenty-one persons during the month. Four hundred and eighty-nine meals were given, 158 lodgings and a day's aid was given 175. One child under 5 years of age was cared for.

The cases were taken from various charitable and municipal organizations and departments of the city. The persons cared for were sent home, given employment or given over to various city or religious organizations.

The free legal aid bureau registered 78 cases during the month. Most of the cases involved small sums of money or difficulties of some other nature where the person was unable to pay for legal aid.

Collections amounting to $644.57 were made and distributed free of charge to the claimants. The purpose of the department as pointed out in the report, is not only to help the needy and oppressed, but to teach the lesson to the mean spirited that petty oppression must cease.

The report of the probation officer shows that five persons were placed on probation by the municipal court during the month, making 143 since Dec. 21.

The term of probation in six cases expired during February. One probationer died at Cloquet after leaving the jurisdiction of the court, and was taken ill with pneumonia and died before he could be reached by the local authorities.

One hundred and seventy-six calls were made by the probation officer and his assistants. In the cases of several probationers, married with families, the wages of the probationers were drawn weekly or monthly by the wife under arrangements made by the probation officer.

A Message to Thin Weak, Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good, nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fatmaking elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered regenerative force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Boyce drug store and other good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution:—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh builder.

NO LICENSES TO OUTSIDERS

All Liquor Dealers in Duluth Must Be Residents of City.

Although Gust Egdahl has been in the saloon business in Duluth for many years, he will hereafter be unable to get a license to continue in the liquor business in this city.

The reason is that Egdahl is a resident of Superior, Wis., and in order to get a license here he must be a bona fide resident of the city and state. Commissioner Hicken said this morning that this applies to all saloon men in Duluth, and as every applicant is being carefully and thoroughly investigated there is small likelihood of anyone being given a permit to retail intoxicants in Duluth who cannot show that this is his home, as well as comply with other requirements as to character, reputation and record.

Egdahl has made application to the city council for the renewal of his saloon license at 502 West Superior street. The license expires March 21. As he will not be given a license, the license will have to be taken out for him by a bona fide resident. Another application will therefore have to be made. The license must be advertised two weeks and the earliest date on which it can be granted is March 23, the Monday following the Saturday on which the license runs out. Under a rigid interpretation of the law Egdahl would have to keep his saloon closed after Saturday night and until the new license became effective after the council meeting of March 23. Whether or not this will be insisted upon is unknown, but in any event the time is so short that Egdahl would not be seriously injured if no business were transacted in his place until the new license became effective.

DID NOT CALL FOR ANY BIDS

Council Got Good Bargain on Hose, But Violated Charter.

The city charter, section 31, specifies that in purchasing property of any kind, where the amount involved is more than $100, the council shall advertise for bids, the contract to be let to the lowest responsible bidder.

Late last fall Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, made a deal for the purchase of 4,000 feet of 2½-inch hose for the city fire department. He drove an excellent bargain for the city, getting a price of 75 cents per foot, the lowest price which has been obtained, at least for many years. He saved the city money. And on top of the low price the auditor, under his instructions, is deducting 2 per cent from the bill, amounting to $50, which may or may not get by.

But the charter is plain as to the requirement governing the purchase of property costing over $100. And in buying the hose no bids were advertised. Nor was any contract entered into, or at any event the auditor said that he has no contract on file although at 75 cents per foot the bill for the hose amounts to $3,000.

Will Pay Bill.

But the city is going to pay the bill. City Auditor Ben J. Campbell would not pay it as presented but yesterday afternoon City Attorney Harvey Clapp marked the bill "claim approved" and attached his signature. With this indorsement the auditor will draw the voucher for $3,000, minus $60, the 2 per cent discount assumed to be allowed for cash.

The city officials have been complaining that the charter limits the city too much in making its purchases. Among other things, one specification is that when property involving more than $100 is to be bought, the council shall advertise for bids. One citizen who follows city affairs closely declared this morning that this requirement in most cases results in somewhat higher prices, but he explained that this is the price which the people voted to pay for their own protection. He averred that publicity acts as the people's insurance and that the difference in cost is the premium which they pay, and for that reason he was emphatic in the statement that the council should refuse to approve bills such as that which was passed yesterday for the hose.

GOOD PAVEMENT OR NO MONEY

Contractor George R. King will have to put Twenty-seventh avenue west in first-class shape before the city will pay him his last estimate, amounting to about $3,500.

This course was finally determined upon at a conference held at the council meeting yesterday afternoon between City Attorney Harvey S. Clapp, Commissioner R. Murchison and Commissioner Fred J. Voss.

The property owners have been complaining that the wearing surface of the pavement is not up to specifications and in this contention they are supported by the city engineer, who says that for several blocks insufficient cement was used for the mixture. The engineer asserts that the job was "skimped."

The city council has confirmed the assessment for the improvement, which cost close to $16,000 but the assessments will not be paid because of the objection to the work. "The property owners can rest assured that they will have a first class job before the improvement is accepted," said the city attorney this morning. "If the contractor will not make it so the city will. We are confident that the amount of the final estimate will be sufficient to cover the expense which will be necessary to bring the wearing surface up to the requirements. The city has made its position clear and the next move is up to the contractor."

NEW PROJECT TO BE CONSIDERED

For the purpose of confirming the report of the engineers and viewers and taking other steps incidental to officially establishing County Ditch No. 2, a drainage project near Meadowlands, a special meeting of the county board will be held on March 30.

The project will drain a large area south of the station of Meadowlands on the Alborn branch of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company lying between the White Face and St. Louis rivers. The land is fertile, but now too low for the most successful tillage.

County Road Engineer E. K. Coe, in his report which has been filed with the county auditor, estimates the cost of the project to be $43,107. This figure includes engineering and other incidental expenses. The work will mean the excavation of 205,500 cubic yards of ditching, 24 miles of clearing and grubbing, 21½ miles of road grading, and the building of 27 steel bridges, ranging in length from 18 to 28 feet.

After a conference with the property owners, the viewers have also completed their report and returned to the county auditor's office a statement showing the benefits to be $51,387 and the damages for the land necessarily acquired for right-of-way, $1,665. About 80 per cent of the benefits will be assessed against the property to defray the expense of constructing the ditches.

It is believed that the construction of the ditch will greatly enhance the value of lands in that vicinity.

There is no longer any need to suffer the terrible pains and soreness of rheumatism or to allow the joints and bones to become twisted and distorted from the effects of this disease, for a Syracuse business man has found a remedy which scores of people say has been successful in curing them of rheumatic troubles.

To prove that this remedy will be successful in your case, let us send you free of charge, a 50c package that will show you the value of this remarkable treatment.

THIS SHOWS HOW RHEUMATISM TWISTS AND DISTORTS THE BONES.

Thousands of trial packages containing a smaller amount of the treatment than the 50c box have been sent out to rheumatic sufferers, and hundreds of people have written that even this amount has cured their rheumatism. While we hope your case will respond as readily, of course we cannot promise such results in the majority of cases, but a regular sized 50c package, such as we are now offering, ought to satisfy you fully of the value of the remedy and further treatment can be secured at a price that is fair and liberal.

If you suffer from rheumatism, let us send you a regular sized 50c package of DELANO'S RHEUMATIC CONQUEROR. We want to give it to you; we want you to see for yourself what it will do. Look at the picture showing how rheumatism twists and distorts the joints. Maybe you are suffering the same way. Don't; you don't need to. We have the remedy that we believe will cure and it is yours for the asking.

Write us today, enclosing 10c in stamps or coin to help pay distribution charges and a large sized 50c treatment of the CONQUEROR will be sent you by return mail. The Delano Co., Inc., 290-N Wood Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y.

GETS CONTRACT FROM UNCLE SAM

The H. B. Waite Lumber company, Minneapolis, has been awarded the contract for furnishing fir timber for breakwater repairs at Agate Bay, Minn., and Marquette Bay, Mich., being the lowest bidder. The bids were opened by Capt. E. D. Peek of the United States engineering office in Duluth, Feb. 26.

The Mill City corporation bid $8.90 per 1,000 feet for 104,760 feet of 6 by 10 timber. The amount of the bid was $1,499.91. Seventeen bids were entered.

SOUTH DAKOTAN FREED BY POLICE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 3.—Convinced that his story of his brother's suicide Sunday night and of his vigil alone for six hours beside the boy was correct, police officials today ordered the release of Christian Stubbernd of Canton, S. D., who was detained yesterday after he had notified the police his brother, Charles, had killed himself. A coroner's inquest resulted today in a verdict of suicide.

NEPHEW OF TWO CARDINALS IN JAIL

Rome, March 3.—Giovanni Vanutelli, a nephew of Cardinals Seraphim and Vincent Vanutelli, was sentenced to serve two years in prison for inducing a friend to steal and pawn his mother's jewels. The jewels were valued at $6,800.

REAL ESTATE MEN IN SESSION

At the weekly meeting of the Duluth Real Estate exchange held this noon at the Commercial club, Isaac Moore, cashier of the American Exchange National bank, gave a talk on the currency law, and explained many of its points as they are viewed by bankers.

Following this there was also a lively discussion over a proposition by N. J. Upham that the International Realty associates purchase a large tract of land near Woodland at the end of the Snively road, the purchase to be underwritten by the members of the Duluth exchange. This is done in different cities. The stockholders in the purchase are paid 6 per cent per annum, and half of the profits over and above that dividend, up to $10,000, is given to the associates to defray the expense of holding conventions, the rest being paid back to the stockholders. The exchange guarantees to see that the property is sold during the year. Winnipeg entered such a deal two years ago and made good profits.

At a late hour this afternoon the members of the exchange present were still discussing the matter and seemed to favor it.

MARION RAY TAYLOR DIES IN BOSTON

Mrs. G. G. Barnum, 2211 East Third street, received word from Boston today announcing the death of her sister, Marian Ray Taylor, of Boston. Mrs. Taylor was the daughter of Mrs. J. D. Ray of Duluth, but left this city many years ago. Mrs. Barnum is her only relative in Duluth but she has one brother in California.

The body will be brought to this city for burial, arriving Thursday morning, and will be interred in the family lot at Forest Hill cemetery. No arrangements have been made for a funeral here as Mrs. Barnum believes that the services will be conducted at Boston.

MONK AND THIRTY-ONE OTHERS SENTENCED

Budapest, Hungary, March 3.—Sentence was pronounced today on thirty-two Ruthenians charged with inciting rebellion against the Austro-Hungarian government.

The principal prisoner, Father Alexius, a Russian monk, from Mount Athos, was condemned to four and a half years' imprisonment. He was said to be the leader of the movement, and was alleged to have carried on the propaganda under the guise of efforts to convert the Ruthenian peasants to the Russian faith. The movement was said to have been financed in Russia.

The other convicted persons were sentenced to terms ranging from six months to two and one-half years. Twenty-three others were acquitted.

Evidence was given in the course of the trial to the effect that it was Russia's intention eventually to absorb a great part of Hungary.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required to Win the People's Confidence.

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention the Duluth Daily Herald.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

LINE-UP OF CHICAGO FEDS

Chicago, March 3.—The lineup of the Chicago Federals was announced today by Manager Tinker. It was the first of the teams to be announced completely. Tinker declared himself satisfied that the team will be a pennant contender and said its speed will make up for other deficiencies, as he has four swift men, Jackson, who led the Northwestern league in stolen bases last year; Cad Coles, who led the New York league batters, and stole 25 bases; Max Flack, who hit for an average of .362 and stole 42 bases in the Three-I league; and John Muncie, a 10-second man, who played with the University of Minnesota team last season; as well as other fast runners.

Ad Brennan and Claude Hendrix will do the heavy work of the pitching staff. The Chicago team did not get Seaton after all, though he will go South with Tinker's men to begin training, later to join Brooklyn.

The Federal league leader said the team was a good one for an outlaw organization which had not had time to get all the men it wanted.

The lineup and the name of the team with which each man played last year, follows:

Pitchers—Ad Brennan, Philadelphia Nationals; Claude Hendrix, Pittsburg; Tom McGuire, Chicago Federals; Irwin Lang, local semi-professional; C. J. Watson, Milwaukee; Henry Schmidt, Milwaukee; John Glazer, Chicago semi-professional; Dave Black, Chicago semi-professional; and Leo Prendergast, Peoria.

Catchers—Art Wilson, New York Nationals; Jim Block, Milwaukee; Bill Killifer, Philadelphia Nationals; James McDonough, Chicago Federals; and George Mulvaney, Cincinnati semi-professional.

First basemen—W. R. Jackson, Spokane; John Kading, Chicago Federals; Fred Beck, Buffalo; Bill Zwilling, St. Joseph.

Second basemen—John Farrel, Chicago Federals; John Granan, Lake Forest university; Leo Kavanaugh, Chicago semi-professional.

Shortstop—Joe Tinker, Cincinnati.

Outfielders—Al Wickland, Cincinnati; Cad Coles, Baltimore and Elmira; John Muncie, University of Minnesota; and Max Flack, Peoria.

Bill Brennan was appointed chief of the Federals' umpire staff by President Gilmore today. The umpires are expected here tomorrow for a conference with the president.

MAY BE THREE-CORNERED HOCKEY TIE.

Houghton, Mich., March 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Houghton defeated Calumet at hockey last night, 8 to 1. This makes possible a three-cornered tie for the league championship if the American Soo loses to the Canadian Soo tonight. The American Soo heads the league by one game.

SPEEDERS TO MEET.

Kolehmainen Will Race Fast Chicago Sprinter, Joseph Ray.

Kansas City, Mo., March 3.—A three-mile race between Joseph Ray, the Chicago distance runner, and Hannes Kolehmainen, will be the event of the annual indoor track meet of the Kansas City Athletic club next Saturday night, if arrangements begun today are completed.

Director J. A. Reilly, director of the club, said he had decided to accept a challenge from Capt. Charles O'Donnell of the Illinois Athelethic club, for a meeting between the Chicago man and the Finn of Olympic fame.

NOT ALL WIDOWS ARE PENSIONED

When a wife becomes a widow, she does not automatically come within the scope of the "widows' pension act" which was passed by the last legislature.

If this rule was better understood, it would perhaps save shoe leather for a large percentage of those who apply for relief.

One woman who became a widow at 8 o'clock Sunday night didn't wait until after the funeral before she put in her application for a "pension."

A similar case came to the attention of the probation officer, F. E. Resche, last week, when a woman who lost her husband Friday night, was on deck early Saturday morning with her application.

In both cases, it was explained that the law pensions but a very few widows, only those who have large families dependent upon them and are especially deserving.

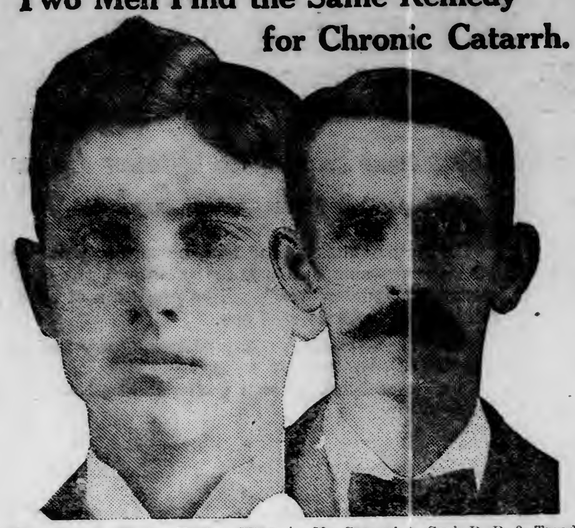
Two Men Find the Same Remedy for Chronic Catarrh.



Mr. Delton Buck, Eyota, Minn., writes: "Finally the catarrh began to affect my eyesight and hearing, and becoming alarmed I wrote to Dr. Hartman. He advised the use of Peruna and salt water eye baths, which advice I followed.

"I continued the above treatment several months until I was entirely cured, and now, after nearly three years, have had no return of the disease. I consider myself permanently cured, and cheerfully recommend Peruna to all those suffering as I did."

March, April and May are good months to effectually treat catarrh.

Mr. Samuel A. Seal, R. R. 2, Treadway, Tenn., writes: "It gives me great pleasure to testify to the great good your medicine, Peruna, has done for me in a chronic case of catarrh of the stomach.

"A friend of mine passing by handed me one of your pamphlets, and seeing how Peruna was recommended for catarrh, I sent to Rogersville, Tenn., for Peruna. After taking it a few days I began to get better. I continued using it until I was able to go to work on the farm again, and now I am in very good health and do work on my farm."

TEN DRINKS MAKE MAN A THIEF

Martin Olson Pleads Guilty and Is Placed on Parole.

Nine beers and a whisky made a thief out of Martin Olson, aged 20, 512 Mesaba avenue, on the night of Feb. 26, when he was arrested for stealing $23.97 from one George Foss. Young Olson, a tinner by trade, appeared in court yesterday and pleaded guilty to information filed by the county attorney charging him with grand larceny in the second degree. The case was continued for sentence until the September term of court and Olson was placed on parole under F. E. Resche, probation officer.

Olson confessed that he was drunk when he committed the crime. Judge Cant gave the young man a lecture on the evils of intemperance and admonished him to get work, save his money, keep away from bad companions, and absolutely abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors. Olson promised that he would and was released. The parole met the approval of Warren E. Greene, county attorney.

George Worthington, who pleaded guilty before Judge Cant to a charge of stealing silk valued at $20 from the store of I. Freimuth on Feb. 17, was sentenced to four months at hard labor at the new joint county and city work farm.

SEEKS TO OUST HER HUSBAND AS SHERIFF

San Francisco, Cal., March 3.—Not content with instituting divorce proceedings against Sheriff Frederick S. Eggers of San Francisco county, his wife has announced in a signed statement that she will circulate a petition for his recall from office. They have lived together thirty-five years.

"This is not spite work," said Mrs. Eggers. "I simply do not believe that a man who acts as Sheriff Eggers is acting is a fit man to be in a public office."

SIEGEL AFFAIRS BEFORE GRAND JURY

New York, March 3.—Failure of the Siegel stores corporation, owners of the two New York department stores which are now in the hands of a receiver, has been brought before an additional grand jury by District Attorney Charles S. Whitman. It is said that six witnesses were examined, one of them a cashier of a bank which suffered through the failure of the firm.

After an examination of the Siegel Stores corporation, inquiry will be made into affairs of Henry Siegel & Co., bankers, in whose interest recently the Depositors' Realization corporation was organized to take over the claims of 15,000 depositors, amounting to more than $2,600,000.

POLICE SAY FAIRMAN DIED FROM ACCIDENT

Chicago, March 3.—Every effort to solve the mystery surrounding the death of Cassius Fairman, wealthy Oak Park business man, whose body was found on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad tracks Saturday night, has failed. The lack of motive for murder caused the police to declare that his death was the result of an accident.

The engineer of the train which struck Fairman said the body on the track was only about 100 feet away when he first saw it. He said it was beyond a curve, the head was resting on one rail and the feet were near the other.

Fairman's wallet, which is believed to have contained a large sum of money, is missing.

MARRIAGE LICENSE MUST HAVE HER "O. K."

"If anybody else asks for a marriage license for me, wait for orders from me."

Such was Juelle De Meyer's admonition to the marriage license clerk at the courthouse yesterday when she walked into the office of the clerk of the court and turned in an unused certificate.

The license was issued on Jan. 31 to Bert Keenan and had never been used. She offered no explanation but simply asked to have the record canceled.

Keenan has $2 coming from the county, but he has not yet applied for his refund.

MUSTEROLE, The Great Remedy for Rheumatism

IS COUNTING ITS CHICKENS

But St. Louis County Is Waiting Until After They Are Hatched.

Prof. Chapman and Rural Teachers Taking a Poultry Census.

St. Louis county's poultry population is being counted and classified in connection with a state census of the feathered tribes, which is being taken under the direction of N. E. Chapman of the extension division of the university farm, St. Paul.

The chicken count is being carried on with the assistance of the rural school teachers of the county. A short time ago N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools, received from Mr. Chapman eighty postal cards on which the poultry census is to be recorded and returned.

According to Mr. Young, all of the cards have been sent out, but there were not enough of the cards so that each rural teacher might have one. In the February edition of the Rural School Bulletin, published by Supt. Young, the data on the cards was printed so that any teacher who desired might send in the information even if she may not have received a card.

The blanks are as follows:

Poultry Census, Feb. 15 to 28.

County ....., school district .....
Farms keeping chickens ...., turkeys ...., geese ...., ducks ...., guineas .....
Average number raised 1912—Chickens ...., turkeys ...., geese ...., ducks ...., guineas .....
Number of boys and girls under 18 years who would like to enter junior poultry contest, raising chickens of one of the above five breeds, and exhibiting at the county fair .....
(Please fill out accurately and return at once.)
..... Pupils complying with census.
.....
Teacher,

Chapman's Letter.

In an open letter to the teachers of the county with reference to the poultry census, as proposed junior poultry contest at the county fair next season and other agricultural matters, Mr. Chapman says:

"Dear Teacher:

"A poultry census of the farms of Minnesota is desired. It may be taken by the boys and girls in the schools with your co-operation, and will not only be of value to the state, but will tend to fix their attention upon the value and importance of the poultry industry. A card is enclosed enumerating the various items concerning which information is desired. An advanced pupil can be appointed to take charge of the census and receive and compile returns. Request a pupil from each farm to bring the information desired concerning the poultry on the farm. If there are farms not represented in school, some pupil living nearby may be appointed to gather the data.

"Are you using rural school agriculture in your school? Some teachers are making the study of the subjects very profitable. In some districts the pupils' names are on the board, and the number of chickens kept, and each day they record the number of eggs produced the day before. If some boy or girl seems to be excelling the record of others, they are called upon to tell how they care for and feed their flock. If you wish to have us supply you with egg record cards and model poultry records for your pupils, please advise us how many you wish and they will be forwarded.

"There will be, probably, a junior poultry contest at your county fair this fall in which prizes will be offered for the best pairs of chickens, male and female, reared in 1914. Announcements will be made in the premium list, and also in the country newspapers. As many as possible of your pupils should enter this contest. The breeds recommended are the Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds, Orpingtons and Leghorns. Any varieties of these breeds may compete with each other for the prizes offered.

"Thanking you and your pupils for your co-operation in this work and wishing you much success in your school, we are very truly yours,

"THE EXTENSION DIVISION,
"Per N. E. CHAPMAN,
"Poultry Specialist."

THORNTON JOINS IN REPEAL MOVEMENT

Reverses Canal Tolls Position After Talk With Wilson.

Washington, March 3.—Announcing his support of President Wilson's policy to repeal the provision of the Panama canal act exempting from tolls American coastwise shipping, Senator Thornton, Democrat, of Louisiana, in a statement says the president has informed him "that in his judgment the repeal of the exemption clause is necessary for the continuance of our present friendly relations with foreign powers and the success of our foreign policies."

Senator Thornton is a member of the interoceanic canals committee, which urged toll exemption, and he is one of several Democratic members of that committee who have told the president that they would reverse their position. He said that he formerly favored exemption, "believing that the United States had the legal and moral right under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty to enact such legislation."

Holds to the Right.

"I believe now just as firmly as before," continued the senator, "that the exemption clause of the Panama canal act is not a violation of our treaty obligations, but I recognize now, as I always did, the substantial difference between our right of exemption and our enforcement of that right.

"Considering the canal tolls exemption law previously enacted to be a question of policy and not of principle, and recognizing the great responsibility resting on the president for the successful conduct of our foreign relations and also the delicacy of the present trying situation in regard to those relations, I feel it my public duty to assist the president in carrying out his wishes in this matter."

Expect Repeal.

Administration leaders in the senate believe the repeal will carry by a substantial majority despite some party opposition, and it is also believed that the matter will be up for action within two weeks. Representative Adamson expects to introduce a repeal bill in a few days.

YOU CAN'T EARN MONEY WHEN YOU'RE LAID UP

There are a lot of people in this town who cannot afford to be sick. Perhaps none of you feel you can, but certainly some of you can't, for as soon as you are sick, your wages stop and worry and debts begin to pile up. The sensible thing for you to do, as soon as you feel run-down and worn out, no matter what the cause, is to take something just as quick as you can to build up strength and health. Make yourself more comfortable and provide against serious sickness.

We don't believe there is any other medicine made that will do as much towards saving your health and thus helping you save your money as Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. It is a medicine that gets right at the trouble and relieves it by toning the nerves, enriching the blood, and giving new strength and health to the whole body. It doesn't do this by means of alcohol or habit-forming drugs, because it contains none. Its strength and health-giving power is due to pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites, long endorsed by successful physicians, the one for its food value, the other for its tonic value. Here, for the first time, they are combined, and the result is a real nerve, blood and body-building medicine—a real strengthener that we are proud to tell you about. You don't need to hesitate in using it, because if it doesn't do all we say it will and satisfy you in every way, it will cost you nothing. If it doesn't make you strong and well again, come back and get your money. It will be given to you without word or question. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

CLEAN BILL GIVEN SHIPLEY BY CHIEF

Goethals Speaks in High Terms of Panama Clerk.

Washington, March 3.—Inquiry of Col. George W. Goethals, chairman of the Panama canal commission, who is now here, establishes that dispatches dated Panama on or about Feb. 9 last stating that W. F. Shipley, chief clerk of the subsistence department, had been suspended on grounds of incompetence, were erroneous.

Col. Goethals says Mr. Shipley was not suspended at that time or at any time since. He also speaks of Mr. Shipley as an entirely competent official, and says he is now satisfactorily discharging the important duties of chief clerk of the subsistence department of the canal. It appears that Mr. Shipley had spoken of resigning in order to accept a business position which had been offered him, and this may have given rise to the other statements in reference to him.

Col. Goethals also entirely exonerates Mr. Shipley from any connection with the alleged transactions which led to the suspension of John Burke, manager of the commissary committee.

GIRL FREEZES TO DEATH NEAR SHELTER

Hazelton, Pa., March 3.—Ella Sweeney, 22, was found frozen to death in a sleigh where her companion, James Bartholdi, had left her in the blizzard while he went for help. He had stopped the horse within 200 yards of shelter and tramped two miles over the mountain for assistance. Almost collapsing at the end of his journey, he was not permitted to make the return trip.

WORTHINGTON IS ACCUSED OF LARCENY

Chicago, March 3.—John W. Worthington, former head of the American Banking association, now in a receiver's hands, was arrested yesterday on two warrants charging larceny as bailee. Judge Sullivan in the superior court raised Worthington's bond from $2,500 to $10,000.

TRY TO HEAD OFF CUBA SUGAR REBATE

Washington, March 3.—Notice has been served on Secretary McAdoo by Attorney General Pleasant of Louisiana that the supreme court will be asked to grant a preliminary injunction to restrain the treasury department from giving Cuban sugar a 20 per cent preferential under the new tariff law.

ENGLAND WILLING TO LIMIT WARSHIPS' SIZE

London, March 3.—The British government would be glad to enter into any agreement for the limitation of the dimensions of warships if it could be arranged, according to Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty. He made this statement in reply to a question put to him in the house of commons.

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

Nine-Tenths of All Stomach Trouble Said to Be Due to Acidity.

A Physician's Advice on Cause and Cure

A famous physician whose successful researches into the cause and cure of stomach and intestinal diseases have earned for him an international reputation, said in the course of a recent lecture that nearly all intestinal troubles, as well as many diseases of the vital organs, were directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach which in turn was due nine times out of ten to excessive acidity, commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritated and inflamed the delicate lining of the stomach, but also set up gastritis and stomach ulcers. It is interesting to note that he condemns the use of patent medicines as well as of medical treatment for the stomach, stating that he and his colleagues have secured remarkable results by the use of ordinary bisurated magnesia, which, by neutralizing the acidity of the food, removes the source of the trouble. He contends that it is as foolish to treat the stomach itself as it would be for a man who stepped on a tack to rub liniment on the foot without first removing the tack. Remove the tack and the foot will heal itself—neutralize the acid and stomach troubles will disappear. Irritating medicines and medical treatments are useless, so long as the contents of the stomach remain acid; remove the acidity, and there will be no need for medicine—the inflamed lining of the stomach will then heal itself. Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach or heartburn should get a small bottle of bisurated magnesia from their druggist, and take a teaspoonful in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after meals, repeating in fifteen minutes, if necessary, this being the dose which the doctor has found most efficacious in all cases.—Advertisement.

MOVING IN BIG VOLUME

Duluth Railroads All Report Satisfactory Shipments of Freight.

Normal Conditions Reported in the Coal and Lumber Trade.

Freight traffic is reported to be in satisfactory volume on the railroads operating out of Duluth. The movement of forest products, which had been backward on account of the late season, is said to have been fully normal last month, and it is expected to be almost up to record proportions in some lines during the next three or four weeks.

"Coal shipments from the docks here over our territory in February, were about equal to last year's aggregate," said G. A. Sherwood, district freight agent of the Soo line today.

"Our general merchandise tonnage was good all through the winter and we now have nothing to complain of on the score of business offering in forest products. Traffic is developing in all of the territory opened by our Duluth branches. Our reports regarding the business outlook are of an optimistic nature and with everyone talking and appearing to feel that way, it looks to me as if this part of the country at least is going to make solid progress during the present year."

A change has just been put into effect in the Soo Line's way freight service on its Cuyuna range branch by which overnight shipments are made from Duluth to all stations on that range. This is of special interest to local jobbers and manufacturers in that it affords shipments from here an advantage of twenty-four hours over those from the Twin Cities. In preparation for an expected expansion in its traffic here this year, the Soo Line has just completed installing several additional storage tracks at West Duluth.

J. H. McKinnon, general agent of the Canadian Northern, advises that an immense tonnage of pulpwood, ties, posts and poles is now being handled from stations along that road between Duluth and International Falls.

Considerable settlement is promised during the spring months, he says, at some of the stations on its new extensions from Virginia here. Ellesmere, where a station was put in only a few months ago, is said to be making perhaps the best showing in that connection.

A feature commented upon by Mr. McKinnon is that shipments of stock are being made this early to points north of Virginia. A substantial movement of settlers' effects up there is promised during the spring months.

Freight moving through here to the Canadian Northwest from Chicago and Eastern points is attaining larger proportions.

CANAL MACHINERY READY FOR ALASKA

Goethals Talks With Lane About the Proposed Railroad.

Washington, March 3.—Col. George W. Goethals conferred with Secretary Lane over the building of the government railroad in Alaska. The availability of both the personnel of the Panama canal construction corps and the machinery for the Alaska railroad was considered at length.

Much of the machinery, in the judgment of both Secretary Lane and Col. Goethals, might be used to advantage, but neither was so certain about the personnel. They also considered, to an extent, routes suggested for the railroad.

No conclusion, even of a tentative character, was reached, but the questions will be taken up in a definite way later. Conferees on the Alaska railroad bill will meet today in what they expect to be their final session. Formal drafts of the tentative agreement reached on house amendments to the bill as it passed the senate have been prepared.

INSURANCE AS BOND OF MEN AND EMPLOYES

Colorado Commissioner Talks Before Scientific Society.

Boulder, Colo., March 3.—The establishment of better relations between capital and labor through group insurance was discussed by State Insurance Commissioner S. Epstein before the Scientific society of the Colorado university here. In regard to the economic benefits of insurance, the commissioner said:

"The enlightened employers of large numbers of men are rapidly coming to appreciate the need of closer relations between employer and employe. They are beginning to appreciate that the old, impersonal, machine-like, selfish attitude toward employes does not breed efficiency, loyalty or good service.

"Since the employer pays the premium, the employe cannot expect to be insured if he severs his connection with the firm. Consequently he has an additional incentive for efficiency and continuity of service, and he is unlikely to leave on a mere whim. The firm, of course, gains in the amount of time required to train an inexperienced substitute and society at large gains in that the percentage of floating labor is diminished.

"The employe is encouraged to become an efficient member of his community; the corporation gains through an improved esprit de corps; society gains because there are fewer destitute families dependent upon the community, fewer wasteful strikes, and generally through improved social and industrial conditions."

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 cents you can make your hair lustrous, fluffy and abundant.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

PROMISES NEVER TO DRINK AGAIN

William J. Cullen Paroled Even Though He Is Not a Good Presbyterian.

William J. Cullen, 34, 2021 West Second street, after pleading guilty to a larceny charge in district court yesterday, swore that never again would he touch a drop of liquor as long as he lived, and that he would shun bad associates and forsake his evil ways if only given another chance.

During a moment of thoughtlessness, Cullen broke into Broman's meat market, 1932 West First street, and helped himself to twenty pounds of frankfurters. Cullen loves sausages but he assured the court that had he been sober and in his right mind he would never have stolen the stuff. The offense took place Feb. 2. After listening to his story, Judge Cant continued the case for sentence until the September term of court and placed the prisoner on parole.

Cullen admitted having been arrested on previous occasions for drunkenness. He told the court that he had taken the pledge for two years before a police court judge and that he kept "on the wagon" during that time.

Cullen told the court that he belonged to the Presbyterian faith, but further inquiry on the part of Judge Cant developed the fact that he was not a regular attendant.

"Give me the name of some Presbyterian minister you know," said the court.

Cullen hesitated and finally shook his head.

"I guess that you are not a very good Presbyterian," said the court.

Cullen was directed to make regular reports to F. E. Resche, probation officer. On Sept. 2, he must appear before Judge Cant for further disposition of his case.

SENDS HUSBAND TO THE ROCK PILE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 3.—Mrs. Sarah Vedgenoff, member of a colony of Russians, sentenced her husband to a year on the rock pile. Nicholas Vedgenoff had been arrested on his wife's complaint for failure to provide, and appeared to answer in the superior court.

"The wife usually suffers in a case of this kind," said Judge Monroe, "so I will leave it to you, Mrs. Vedgenoff—shall Nicholas have another chance, or shall he go to the rock pile, which would insure your getting $1.50 per day?"

"He fooled me before," promptly declared Mrs. Vedgenoff. "Let him go to the rock pile."

DULUTHIAN DIES ON HIS WAY HOME

H. Olseen Suddenly Stricken While Returning From Florida.

The body of H. Olseen, 56 years old, 2520 West Second street, who died yesterday while on his way home from Florida, is expected to arrive in the city tonight or tomorrow. Arrangements for the funeral will not be made until the body arrives.

Mr. Olseen left Duluth two weeks ago, apparently in the best of health, for the purpose of looking over some Florida lands in which he was interested. On his return, while on a train between Evansville, Ind., and Chicago, he was suddenly taken ill and died.

Mr. Olseen has resided in the West end for nearly twenty years. He leaves two daughters besides his widow.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCE

Lutheran Sunday schools of Duluth and Superior will hold a joint conference this evening at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Rev. Carl G. Olson will preside. The principal speakers will be Rev. W. S. Gable of Superior, who will speak on "Lutheran Co-operation in Sunday School Work"; Rev. E. Lehue of this city, "The Aim of the Sunday School"; Rev. U. J. Lockrem of Superior, "Qualifications of Sunday School Teachers." Discussions will be held on each of the above subjects.

It is expected that representatives will be present from each of the churches of the two cities. These will include teachers and officers of the school as well as the pastors of the various churches.

WOULD CHANGE PLANS.

Proposed Improvements Displease West End Club Members.

The West End Commercial club expects to bring out a large percentage of its members to the meeting of the club Thursday evening. Commissioner Murchison of the public works department, and Commissioner Merritt of the public utilities department will be present.

Mr. Murchison will be asked to have rescinded the order of the city commission for the paving of Superior street from Twenty-fifth avenue, Jenswold and Oneota streets to Forty-sixth and to have ordered in place of this improvement the paving of First street, from Twentieth to Vernon, Vernon to Third and Third west to Fifty-fourth avenue.

Mr. Merritt will be asked to outline plans of water extension being made by the commission for this year. Members of the club also expect the commissioner to explain the proposed frontage assessment for future extensions of the water mains.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB WILL HOLD MEETING

The Fifth Ward Improvement club will meet tonight at the Emerson school, Eleventh avenue west and Third street. An invitation has been extended to members of the city commission to be present, and it is expected that a large number of the residents of the district will turn out.

Isaiah Ridge, president of the club, has also announced that he will outline the work that he expects the club to accomplish this year. The vacation of some alleys in the western end of the ward, the enlargement of Ninth avenue park, and the covering of Buckingham creek are among the aims the club has in view.

LODGE MEMBERS WILL HOLD WRESTLING MATCH

Members of the Fridhem lodge, No. 43, Order of Svithold, are the latest to take up the wrestling game. A series of three matches has been planned for Friday evening, March 13.

The principal match will be between Oscar Carlson and Victor Isaacson. These men are said to have disputed as to which is the better in the mat game and the dispute is to be decided in a contest of two out of three falls on the above mentioned night. The other two contests will be between members of a lighter class.

The entertainment will be free for members and a few invited friends. It is one of a series planned by the order for its members. Other entertainments have consisted of musical numbers, card playing and such and it is expected that the wrestling match will prove an attraction a little out of the ordinary.

Guild Will Entertain.

The Rebekah guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will entertain in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon. The hostesses will be Mrs. Frank Curry and Mrs. Ehrgramstrom.

Thursday afternoon the St. Luke's guild will entertain in the church at its first of a series of "Lenten teas," in the guild rooms. The hostess Thursday will be Mrs. W. E. Harman, Mrs. T. E. Halford and Mrs. Thomas Bark.

Annual Meeting.

The Young Old Timers' association of the West end will hold its annual election and meeting on April 8 at the Adams' Athletic association club rooms, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Plans will be made for a number of activities this summer, including an annual picnic which will be held early in July.

Give Cabin Party.

A party of West end young people enjoyed an outing to Helleer's cabin at Woodland yesterday afternoon. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Benson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zirn. The other members were Misses Ida Broman, Louise Johnson, Pearl Johnson, Olga Benson, and Elinora Luelieu, and Messrs. Hugo Braff, Ernest Olson, Fred Johnson, Joseph Braff and Dr. Johnson.

West End Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Swedish Mission church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Mork, 210 North Twenty-fourth avenue west.

Miss Minnie Hillman, a teacher of the district school at Koch, Minn., who has been ill for more than a month and staying with relatives in the West end, has left for her school.

The Parthenoe society of the Swedish Mission church will be entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Mork, 210 North Twenty-fourth avenue.

Mrs. A. Wilkin, 3718 West Third street, entertained this afternoon for members of the West End Five Hundred club.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Second Presbyterian church will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon. The annual election of officers will be held.

O. Miller, O. H. Chase and R. Anderson of St. Paul, and A. G. Haugen of Chicago are guests at the Esmond hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moir, 430 North Twenty-seventh avenue west, left yesterday for Kansas, where they will visit relatives for two weeks.

The Esco Card club of the West end was entertained last evening at the home of George A. Eklund, 1823 West Second street.

ADENOIDS SHOULD BE REMOVED BY ALL MEANS

About a dozen letters have come to my office desk within the last two weeks asking for a description of adenoids and whether or not they ought to be removed, and also if the operation is safe. One inquiry, in particular, reveals a very much worried state of mind on the part of a father. He asks:

"How is the operation for adenoids performed? Would it disfigure my boy's face? He is 10 years old. How long would it take for him to recover from an operation? What causes these growths? Is it necessary to have the operation done at once? Cannot this trouble be treated by other methods than by an operation? My boy is healthy, except his nose seems to run as though he had a cold in the head. I would like to have all the facts concerning this trouble for I prefer other treatment than an operation if possible. I will wait patiently until I read what you have to advise me in my daily home newspaper. Please tell me frankly is there any danger attached to this adenoid operation?"

Yes, there is danger. It is slight, however. If the anesthetic is carefully given, the danger is reduced to a minimum. Sometimes very free bleeding occurs, which makes the operation look serious to an outsider. In the hands of a skilled doctor, however, you can safely trust your boy's life. He will be so much better after the adenoids are removed. He can then get more air. The operation is performed by removing the adenoid growths from the back of the throat and up behind the nose. A curette is used, and also the index finger of the doctor, which is covered with a piece of gauze. Personally, I remove all the growth possible by means of the curette and then enucleate the remaining glands with the gauze-tipped finger. By this means the adenoids can be pressed out of their bed in the deep throat tissues and not merely just cut off. There is no disfigurement, and recovery occurs in a week. The growths are caused by an impaired vitality of the system, and the best thing for you to do is to have the adenoids removed at once, unless there is some acute infectious disease wrong with the child. If this is the case, the operation had better be delayed until the patient's temperature gets back to normal. Any other method of treatment is merely temporary. You can syringe your boy's nose and make him gargle his throat, and take all manner of precautions. But the best precaution you can possibly take is to have the adenoids removed promptly. Don't be afraid. Just take the bull by the horns. Pick a doctor in whom you have implicit trust. Don't be afraid to ask him questions. That is what you are paying him for. And he will gladly answer them once he sees that you are rerily interested. Take this word of counsel along with you and show it to him. Then go ahead and have your boy's adenoids removed.

THIS FATHER WANTS A POSITIVE REMEDY FOR ECZEMA FOR HIS 10-YEAR CHILD.

Eczema is like the poor beggars of our city streets—it is always with us. What is good for one particular form of eczema will do absolutely no good—and even it will do harm for another form. First of all, are you sure your little girl has eczema? Just any persistent skin disease is not an eczema. Whether it is or is not an eczema, however, one thing is quite clear. Your little girl's nutrition must be altered, in addition to the local treatment you have been applying. First, the urine should be analyzed. Then the bowels should be studied. Then the composition of the blood. With this data each case of eczema can readily be cured if they have patience. Oranges, lemons, baked bananas, apple sauce, graham bread, wheat baked in the oven and then ground fine in an ordinary coffee mill and cooked into gems or muffins or eaten as a cereal, bran cooked into a mush, boiled cabbage and its juice. All these foods are excellent diet. Sauer kraut, likewise. Most folks make the mistake of throwing away the water in which they cook their vegetables. This is a mistake, as this water contains valuable salts of calcium, magnesium, potassium, etc. Rather should the water be boiled down so that when the vegetables are served it makes a gravy. There is an element of starvation in every case of eczema.

SERVICES HELD DAILY

Fasting, Prayer and Better Living Extolled During Lent.

Special daily Lenten services are being held by the Catholic and Episcopal churches of Duluth. Instruction as to the meaning and purpose of Lenten observances and the holding up of Christian virtues and better living will be included in the service.

The Catholics will continue these services up to Holy Week when services especially fitted to that time will be substituted. At present services are being held at 7:30 p. m. on Monday, Friday and Sunday evenings. Every morning until Holy week there will be services at 7, 7:30 and at 8:10 o'clock.

During Holy week there will be special ceremony at which the Right Rev. James McGolrick, bishop of the Duluth diocese will preside.

At the Episcopal churches Lenten services are being held Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at 4:15 p. m. and on Tuesdays and Fridays at 8 p. m. On Thursdays there is a service at 10:30 a. m.

FINDS LIGHTED BOMB IN HALL OF HOME

Chicago Union Official Lays Attack to Labor Quarrel.

Chicago, March 3.—Hearing an explosion and suspecting that his flat had been the scene of a bomb outrage, Simon J. Gorman, president of the Cook County Horseshoers' association, hurried home last night and discovered a fuse sputtering in the hallway. Gorman tore out the fuse, which was barely two inches long, and in the package found two sticks of dynamite.

Hurrying indoors, Gorman found his wife and child cowering in the bedroom. The porch in the rear of the flat was demolished by the explosion which brought Gorman home, and windows in the building were broken.

Gorman told the police that a member of the Master Horseshoers' association recently offered him $5,000 if he would use his influence to bring about the consolidation of the two horseshoers' organizations. The explosion resulted from his refusal, he asserted.

SEVENTY-TWO WED DURING FEBRUARY

Dan Cupid did not loaf on his job during the month of February, if the record of marriage licenses is a true indication of the activities of the little blind god.

February weddings on licenses issued from the office of the clerk of the district court in this city numbered seventy-two.

During February, 1913, sixty-four licenses were issued and during the corresponding month of 1912 only sixty-three were issued.

Born With Five Teeth.

Gladstone, Mich., March 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bogenschutz of Gladstone must forego the parental pleasure of discovering baby's "first tooth." A ten-pound son that has arrived at the home of the family is already equipped with five sound teeth. Mrs. Bogenschutz was formerly Miss Sarah Sheehan of Escanaba.

Accepts Wisconsin Call.

Moorhead, Minn., March 3.—Rev. H. A. Kernan, pastor of the Moorhead Congregational church, has accepted a call from Columbus, Wis., and will leave here April 1. He came from Hartford, Conn., four years ago and has built up the local church in a remarkable degree.

RESIGNS AS WELFARE HEAD

Frank Hicks Would Quit City's Employ for the Law.

Mayor Prince Would Induce Him to Stay in Service.

Frank Hicks, manager of the Duluth welfare department, has tendered his resignation to Mayor Prince to take effect April 1. The mayor has not accepted it as yet and, realizing the valuable service done by Mr. Hicks as head of the probation department and the free legal aid bureau, is endeavoring to induce him to reconsider.

Mr. Hicks has made an enviable record in his work for the city and has handled the work of the probation office exceptionally well, according to the judges of the municipal court and officers of the police department, with whom most of his work was done. Last fall he took charge of the welfare department, following the resignation of Courtenay Dinwiddie, and has been the active head of the free legal aid bureau. He was appointed probation officer in the winter of 1912.

Just what Mr. Hicks plans to do he has not yet announced, but it is generally believed that he will return to his former practice of law.

The resignation is being held in abeyance by Mayor Prince, who hopes to induce Mr. Hicks to reconsider and return to the welfare department. In his letter to the city's executive Mr. Hicks states his desire to resign on April 1. No official action will be taken by the mayor for several days, he said.

CAN VOTE, ALTHOUGH ABSENT FROM STATE

New North Dakota Law Will Benefit Norwegians Going Abroad.

Fargo, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.) — Although Governor Hanna and hundreds of his Norwegian friends will be either on board the liners or in the Land of the Midnight Sun when the primaries are held here in the latter part of June, their votes will be counted. This will be under the provision of the absent voters' law enacted at the last legislative session at the request of the traveling men and the railroad men. It permits a voter, who will be absent from his regular polling place on primary and general elections, to mark his ballot fifteen days in advance, deposit it with the county auditor, who will send it to the precinct designated, where the ballot will be counted just the same as those personally cast on that date.

—Be Off for Norway.

The primary election will occur the latter part of June. Governor Hanna, his staff and hundreds of prominent Norwegians of this state will leave here about June 12 for Norway to present a statue of Lincoln to Norway on July 4. This was provided for at the last legislative session and is a tribute of North Dakota to the Norwegian residents of this state and to the government of Norway during the great centennary celebration this year.

Governor Hanna will have to do the greater part of his campaign work early this year as he will be absent during the last two weeks. His friends insist they will look after his interests at that time and see that he receives a sufficient number of votes for renomination.

GOLD MEDAL TO GOETHALS

President Wilson Will Present Geographic Society's Award.

Third Such Honor to Be Awarded By the Organization.

Washington, March 3. — President Woodrow Wilson, on behalf of the National Geographic society, will present the society's special gold medal to Col. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, at the ninth annual banquet of the scientific organization in Washington tonight. Col. Goethals will be the guest of honor and Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan will be toastmaster.

The French ambassador, Hon. J. J. Jusserand, who is also the dean of the diplomatic corps, will be notified of his election to honorary membership in the National Geographic society. The list of speakers, in addition to the above, will include Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison, Representative James R. Mann of Illinois and Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press. More than 700 people, including members of the diplomatic, scientific and administrative circles, and a United States senator or member of the house of representatives representing the society's membership in every state of the Union, will be present at this the largest and most notable event of its kind in Washington's social world. Gilbert H. Grosvenor, the director and editor of the society, is chairman of the committee of arrangements.

The Goethals Medal.

The special gold medal to be awarded Col. Goethals is the third of its kind to be granted by the National Geographic society. Admiral Robert E. Peary, in 1909, and Capt. Roald Amundsen, in 1913, received similar medals for their achievements at the opposite ends of the earth; Col. Goethals is to be rewarded for his work at the earth's center. The inscription on the medal will read: 'This special medal of the National Geographic society is awarded to George Washington Goethals, to whose ability and patriotism the world owes the construction of the Panama canal." Admiral Peary and Capt. Amundsen also hold the society's Hubbard medals, the former for Arctic discoveries prior to 1906, and the latter for the achievement of the Northwest passage. Other Hubbard medal winners are: Robert A. Bartlett, 1909, for Arctic work; Grove Karl Gilbert, 1909, for contributions to geography and geology, and Sir Ernest Shackleton, 1909, for his Antarctic achievement.

The Honorary Members.

The list of honorary members of the society, upon which Ambassador Jusserand's name is to be enrolled, includes: Don Christobal Colon de Toledo, duke of Veragua, Spain; His Royal Highness the Archduke Ludwig-Salvator, Austro-Hungary; Emmanuel de Margerie, France; Sir John Murray, Scotland; Dr. D. Estanislano Zeballos, Argentine republic; Former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft; Admiral George Dewey, Viscount James Bryce, Dr. Jean Charcot, Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, the duke of the Abruzzi, and Prince Roland Bonaparte.

PRINTS OWN POEMS.

North Dakota Norwegian Assured of Getting Effusions Into Type.

Alexander, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jon Norstog, a Norwegian poet, and one of the best writers in the Norwegian language in the United States, lives on a homestead near here.

Norstog is a bachelor living entirely alone and each summer he cultivates a part of his homestead and the rest of the year is devoted to his literary work. Finding it difficult to get his poems printed as he desired, he purchased a complete plant and not only writes the poems, but sets the copy in type and prints and binds the volumes himself, so skillfully they compare favorably with the books of the big printing establishments. He is a practical printer and when he first came to this country he edited a Norwegian paper at Joyce, Iowa, for two years. Later he located here and so quitety and hermit-like did he live that many of his neighbors had no idea of his prominence and fame as a poet.

His latest work, Tone, has attracted international attention and is pronounced by capable critics to be the greatest Norwegian poem in the last quarter of a century.

Stops Itching and Burning Instantly.

There is immediate relief for skins itching, burning and disfigured by eczema, ringworm, or other tormenting skin trouble, in a warm bath with Resinol Soap and a simple application of Resinol Ointment. The soothing, healing Resinol balsams sink right into the skin, stop itching instantly, and soon clear away all trace of eruption, even in severe and stubborn cases where other treatments have had no effect. After that, the regular use of Resinol Soap is usually enough to keep the skin clear and healthy.

Resinol Ointment (50c and $1.00) and Resinol Soap (25c), are also speedily effective for pimples, blackheads, dandruff, sores and many forms of piles. Prescribed by doctors for the past nineteen years, and sold by all druggists. For free trial, write to Dept. 1-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Buy in the original blue package and avoid "substitutes."

LEE INCONSISTENT, SAYS J. A. PETERSON

Tells Why He Will Not Subscribe to the Elimination Conference; Iverson as Much of a Machine Man as Eberhart, He Says; Refuses to Agree to Indorse Him If Iverson Should Be Nominee; Elwell Announces Himself Candidate for Governor.

James A. Peterson, candidate for governor, has slapped William E. Lee of Long Prairie, also a candidate for governor, severely on the wrist—metaphorically speaking.

In a recent issue of the Long Prairie Leader, presumably owned by Mr. Lee and edited by his son, Mr. Lee stated in substance that Mr. Peterson is trying to get enough delegates into the elimination conference to be held in Minneapolis on March 19 to control it and get its indorsement, but that in view of the fact that he has not said that he will be bound by the decision of the convention he has no right to enter it or try to get delegates into it for himself. The article was fully reproduced in The Herald of last evening, in the political column. Mr. Peterson has made answer in a letter sent to Mr. Lee yesterday, copies of which have been sent out to the state.

In substance he declares that he will not be bound by a conference in which S. G. Iverson is, or which may indorse him for office, because Mr. Iverson, Mr. Peterson declares, is as much of a machine man as Governor Eberhart, and he charges Mr. Lee with inconsistency in agreeing to stand by the action of the convention even if it should indorse Mr. Iverson. In his letter he says:

"You claim to be somewhat of a reformer. You claim to be against the predatory interests that control the government of Minnesota, and yet you are willing, for a chance to be nominated at this convention, to agree to support a machine man equally bad with Governor Eberhart. In other words, if you can only have a chance to be nominated for governor, you agree to sacrifice all your principles and surrender to the machine if you are not nominated."

Mr. Peterson declares that while he would like to have the convention indorse his candidacy he will not sacrifice a principle to obtain it. No sir!

A while ago Mr. Iverson was called a dog-in-the-manger because he did not entertain Mr. Lee's elimination proposition. The machine will have none of him, and now Jim Peterson is trying to read him out of the anti-Eberharts.

At last it has come. State Senator James T. Elwell of Minneapolis has announced himself as a candidate for governor—and he neglects wholly in his announcement, which comes on printed slips, to say whether or not he will abide by the decision of the March 19 conference. He and J. A. Peterson, both of Minneapolis, are the hold-outs of the outlaw league and seem unwilling to report for spring training.

"On my record as a private citizen and a public officer," he says, "I ask the support of my fellow citizens."

He says that he announces his candidacy at this time "because I believe the best interests of the state demand it." He advocates good roads and refers to his authorship of the Elwell good roads law, and also declares that he believes that 10,000 miles of good roads can be built in the state during the next two years without appreciably increasing the taxes. He reasserts himself in favor of proper support of educational institutions and of the development of the whole state, particularly "those sections remaining totally undeveloped." He is also in favor of women's suffrage, and local self-government and declares that he will make the matter of good roads his paramount issue.

spread beyond their jurisdiction. There is not a word in the law about faculty meetings and there is no need of legislation on the subject. But the faculty meeting is as much a part of the government of the university as the regents themselves.

The University Senate.

Still another body helps govern the university, the university senate. This includes the president, the deans and all professors who hold down high chairs. The senate has official standing—it is part of the government established by the regents. But the law never heard of it. It acts on matters affecting the whole university and its recommendations to the regents are naturally received with the highest respect. It passes on matters it knows about.

Every governing body has a fringe of more or less official advice. Sometimes it is a kitchen cabinet. Sometimes it is a campaign committee. Sometimes it is an ex-officio group. Sometimes it is a council of subordinates.

It may be a trade group, as certain departments consult with the Horse Breeders or the Horticultural society; as the courts refer certain matters to the Bar association or as the women's clubs recruit the visitors to the Home school for girls. It may be semi-official or personal, but every branch of the government has some advisory committee.

Some Advisory Boards Needed.

In some cases there is a board with judicial powers. Probably nobody would propose to refer to one man the decisions that are made by the railroad and warehouse commission as to reasonableness of rates. In some cases the board is more like a jury, useful in case of disputes. In other cases it is just a loose body that is handy to fall back on when an executive officer is a little mixed in his mind and wants to talk himself into agreeing to what he half believes.

May be it is not necessary to establish by law every such board. In some places it may be better to let the department head go into the back room with a few friends he picks out and simmer it down to consistency. But there are other places where the state or other government needs a permanent jury of three or five men to sit beside the executive department all the time and pass on questions referred to it in a special field.

That does not interfere with giving the executive full rein. In a bank the cashier is a very responsible officer—in some banks he is the main thing—but a loan committee passes on every act he performs. Give your executive lots of leeway, give him full responsibility; but you must also in many places equip him with standards of judgment that no single man seems to possess.

WORST SNOW STORM IN YEARS HITS GENEVA, N. Y.

night's blizzard. The Philadelphia & Reading railway sent out its first train to New York since Sunday at 7 a. m. today. The Pennsylvania railroad, which resumed partial service last night, announced that its passenger traffic over the New York division would be almost normal by noon. One of its four tracks still was buried under a fifteen-foot snow drift at Bristol, Pa.

Thirteen deaths as a result of the storm were reported in this city and adjoining sections.

Trains to the west and south are proceeding from here with little delay and all suburban lines are open. Fright traffic in all directions remains practically at a standstill.

Mails Are Delayed.

Mails from New York were greatly delayed, none having arrived in this city since Sunday.

Four Philadelphia theaters were closed last night because of the non-arrival of companies, but they are expected to reach the city during the day.

Pennsylvania passenger trains from the West that had been held at Altoona because of the blockade on the New York division were started on their way east last night.

Food for New York.

New York, March 3.—Fresh food supplies and milk from delayed trains which made their way through enormous snow drifts; restoration of the fire alarm service; and sunshine, came to New York and environs today to relieve the situation caused by the storm of Sunday and Monday. At noon the mercury stood at 36, and colder but continued clear weather was the prediction for tonight. No additional deaths were reported today, leaving the total due to the storm at eleven.

Of the eight barges adrift off Fire Island, five were in tow for New York today with thirty-two men aboard, who were on their way from Norfolk or Newport News.

Railroad schedules were much improved today, but still far from normal.

This afternoon word came from Red Bank, N. J., that the Atlantic City express of the Jersey Central, which had been stalled in the snow since 8 o'clock Sunday night, had started back toward Jersey City.

The damage to telegraph and telephone lines in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will be many hundreds of thousands of dollars. Two thousand poles were blown or broken by the wind, and wires covering a distance of 800 miles were snapped.

ENGLAND ANNOUNCES WAITING POLICY

vestigation into the death at Juarez of William S. Benton, the British ranchman, Sir Edward said:

"I must ask leave of the house to make a somewhat more extended statement than can properly be compressed within the limits of an answer to a question.

"All the efforts that have been made hitherto have failed to secure an investigation into the facts respecting the death of William S. Benton.

"The persistent difficulties put in the way of such an investigation create the strongest presumption of a desire and an intention to conceal the truth on the part of those in Mexico who are responsible for what has happened.

United States Not Responsible.

"Communications with the government of the United States are still proceeding, but I would repeat what I said last week—that these communications do not imply that the government of the United States has any responsibility for what has taken place—by which I mean of course the death of Benton.

"While, therefore, we shall welcome any action that the United States is prepared to take to secure justice, we have no title to demand as a right that the United States should itself resort to the use of force.

"One can demand that another government should go to all lengths to secure reparation for a crime only when one holds that government in some way responsible for the commission of the crime.

"So far the United States has shown at least as much interest in the death in Mexico of a British subject as it has in the case of outrages on American citizens—for I understand that several Americans have been killed in Mexico. And the United States has shown every desire to use its influence to secure protection for British subjects in the Mexican territory controlled by those described as Constitutionalists.

If American Fails to Act.

"I would, therefore, sum up the situation by saying that if the United States thinks it proper to take further steps, either on behalf of its own citizens or of a British subject, we will gladly wait the result. But if for reasons of its own the United States does not think it desirable to take such steps, we must of course reserve to ourselves the right to secure reparation whenever there is an opportunity to do so.

"Our general policy towards Mexico and the Central and South American republics is confined to commercial interests, which we keep within non-political limits. As a rule, therefore, all questions that arise between those republics and ourselves are settled by diplomatic means or can be referred to arbitration.

"But the violent death of a British subject and the refusal of those responsible in Mexico to allow the circumstances to be investigated make it incumbent upon us to do what we can on our own behalf.

Urged to Take Action.

"Assuming that the United States does not itself desire to take any responsibility for intervention, it has been urged upon me that we should take immediate action without, however, giving me any suggestion or indication of what action we can take at the moment.

"I must repeat what I said last week—that there is nothing we can effectively do under present conditions.

"The government in Mexico City has no control over the territory where the death of Benton took place, nor over those responsible for his death. We cannot, therefore, under the present circumstances, secure reparation through that government.

"We have no intention of engaging in what on our part would be such a fantastic attempt as the sending of a force—which to be effective would have to be a very large force—into any part of Mexico.

Circumstances Unusual.

"Under ordinary circumstances we might have taken action at a port or by way of blockade. Under present conditions if we took such action and it had any effect it could only result in giving assistance to the contending party in North Mexico.

"To take action that would positively help those from whom we demand reparation simply for the sake of appearing to do something, would be worse than futile.

"But we do not intend to let the matter rest, and as soon as soon as by any change of circumstances it is in our power to carry the matter further we shall take whatever steps may be practicable."

Benton Investigation Waits.

El Paso, Tex., March 3.—Members of the Benton investigating committee did not know today whether they were to proceed to Chihuahua or not. They awaited instructions from Washington.

Should it be decided to proceed with the investigation, the commission will make the trip to Chihuahua on a special train which yesterday brought Marion Letcher, American consul at Chihuahua, to this city. The train is being held in readiness across the river at Juarez.

The commissioners entertained but slight hope that the proposed investigation would reveal the manner of Benton's death at the hands of Gen. Villa. It is believed here that if the Briton's body is not in an advanced stage of decomposition, it probably has been mutilated by the Constitutionalists with chemicals.

Carden at Washington.

Washington, March 3.—Sir Lionel Carden, Great Britain's minister to Mexico, will confer with President Wilson tonight at 6 o'clock, and later will leave for New York to sail for England tomorrow morning on the Olympic.

With Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, Sir Lionel conferred briefly early today with Secretary Bryan and arranged the hour of his meeting with the president. Secretary Bryan will dine at the British embassy this evening before Sir Lionel leaves for New York.

The British minister declined to comment on the Mexican situation in any way.

Declines to Talk.

"I am sorry," he said to all questioners, "but my government does not permit me to give interviews."

Immediately after his brief conference with the two British diplomats, Secretary Bryan went to the cabinet meeting with the latest Mexican dispatches, where the killing of Bauch, the American, the Benton case, and the probable attitude of Great Britain in the light of latent developments were discussed.

There was no outward indication of any change in the situation as President Wilson outlined it yesterday.

Tension Is Lessened.

Sir Edward Grey's statement to the house of commons, as received here in news dispatches, was read by President Wilson to his cabinet and was generally regarded as lessening the tension which had been felt over the possibility of extreme pressure being exerted upon the United States by England for a drastic course.

The killing of Gustav Bauch, an American citizen, reported from Chihuahua, has not served to balance accounts, however, and thus remove the gravity of the situation, as viewed by the United States.

No definite word had been received from Gen. Carranza, up to the time of the cabinet meeting, as to what the Constitutionalist chief intended to do about the killing of Bauch, the investigation of Benton's death, and the denial of the right of the United States to solicit protection for foreigners generally.

Friends of Carranza here had telegrams saying the Constitutionalist cabinet was in session considering all phases of the situation, and that there was a hope for a satisfactory outcome.

Villa Explains Order.

Chihuahua, Mex., March 3.—Villa today cleared up the mystery of the origin of the order which halted the Benton commission as it was about to leave Juarez last Sunday. It had been credited both to him and to Gen. Carranza, but Villa said the request came from Carranza to him and he transmitted it to the Juarez garrison.

"The Benton case and all foreign relations now are in the hands of the supreme chief and will remain there," said Gen. Villa.

The general said he intended to educate forty poor children in the United States, at public expense, owing to the demoralized condition of Mexican schools.

The bomb-dropping aeroplane and 3,000 shrapnels have arrived, he said.

Texans Complain.

Austin, Tex., March 3.—An urgent appeal for Texas rangers at Lyford and other points along the Mexican border near Brownsville, has been received by Governor O. B. Colquitt from residents. They allege that Mexican bandits cross the Rio Grande at night, steal cattle or commit other depredations, and then return to the Mexican side.

BANISH SCROFULA

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cleanses the Blood, Skin Troubles Vanish.

Scrofula eruptions on the face and body are both annoying and disfiguring. The complexion would be perfect if they were not present!

This disease shows itself in other ways, as bunches in the neck, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, wasting of the muscles, a form of dyspepsia, and general debility.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine completely eradicates scrofula. It purifies and enriches the blood, removes humors, and builds up the whole system.

Scrofula is either inherited or acquired. Better be sure you are quite free from it. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla and begin taking it today.

average temperature in Calumet & Hecla conglomerate lode mines was 80 deg. and in the amygdaloid mines 55 to 70 deg. The highest was 87 deg. on one level of the Tamarack mine.

The investigators questioned Mr. MacNaughton at length in regard to the aid and hospital funds, to which he said the company contributed more than the men.

Mr. MacNaughton explained the system of company houses rented to employes at $1 per room per month, including repairs, water and garbage removal. The houses owned by the Calumet & Hecla are appraised at $981,500. The income from rents last year was $61,863 and the expenditures for repairs $61,228, the witness said.

Pension System.

Pensions are given employes who have been in the service twenty years or more, after they reach the age of 60. The amount ranges from $9 to $38 a month and extends over a period of five years.

MacNaughton admitted that it was the company's policy not to employ men over 40 years of age, even though they formerly had worked for the company.

The officials felt, he said, that men should give the company at least twenty years' service if they were to be retired on a pension, and if they were taken in after 40 they would reach the retiring age without having served that length of time.

Mines Half Worked Out.

MacNaughton yesterday declared that, in his opinion, the Michigan copper mines now open were half worked out. He said the district average was about 20 pounds of copper per ton of rock, as against 62 pounds in the Montana district and 24 pounds in the Arizona district.

He also told the committee of means used by the operators to reduce the cost of copper production. Deterioration of the quality of the rock and the extreme depth at which copper is now mined made every possible economy necessary, he declared. MacNaughton was on the stand for three hours as the first witness for the mining companies.

The contract system of pay was explained by the witness in detail. Formerly, he said, the miners were paid by the lineal foot and the cubic fathom for rock removed, but because of numerous complaints over measurements, the Calumet & Hecla had adopted the tonnage system.

Explained Pay System.

Under the old system, the witness said, the miners entered into three months' contracts, but no measurements were made until the end of this period, the men being advanced $65 to $70 a month for the first two months' work, the men being paid the differences when the contract expired. A system of monthly contracts was employed now, he said.

Under questions, MacNaughton admitted that as there are some 750 or 800 mine bosses, some of them might be dictatorial and unfair to the men.

MacNaughton then read a circular issued by the company in 1891, informing the men that they could obtain redress from higher officials if they were dissatisfied with the treatment. He said many men had come to him during the thirteen years he has been general manager. He also said the miners understood that they could appeal to him, either singly or through a committee, and that it would not be held against them.

The One-Man Drill.

The witness said that the use of the one-man drill, to which many strikers objected, was an economic necessity, because all competitors were using it. Also, because it was necessary to go deeper for rock that yielded only about twenty pounds of copper to the ton.

"It has been stated here that no one-man drills are used in the Montana district," Representative Petermann said.

The witness declared that he had been told by a representative in Butte that 1,500 such drills were used in those mines. Experiments with these drills had been so successful, he added, that the companies were considering doing away with the two-men drill altogether.

MacNaughton also declared that all the companies are complying with the law requiring miners to work within 150 feet of each other. He said that a miner could call on a trammer or any one else for help in putting up his drill.

The Bonus System.

Explaining the bonus system now in vogue, MacNaughton said a miner was paid a minimum of $3.25 in the amygdaloid mines, and $3.50 a day in the conglomerate mines, which were harder work. This pay was based on a fixed tonnage of about 900 tons a month; a bonus of 10 cents a ton was paid for excess rock, but no deductions were made if the miner happened to fall below this standard. The mining captain had the discretion to make the minimum $3 a day if he thought the man had loafed on the job.

"Suppose the miner habitually failed to reach the required standard?" asked Switzer.

"He would be let out."

MacNaughton said trammers were paid a fixed wage of $1.60 in amygdaloid and $1.75 in conglomerate mines, but also were paid bonuses. They could work on contract if they desired, he said, as many of them did.

Overruled Hilton.

Chairman Taylor overruled the objection of O. N. Hilton against reading into the records a letter from Rees of company counsel, to the governor, rejecting Clarence S. Darrow's proposal for a compromise, which Hilton termed "mere mouthings of counsel." Mr. Taylor explained that the committee had admitted practically everything offered by the strikers.

Mr. Taylor announced that he had sent a telegram to Adj. Gen. Vandercook at Lansing, granting his request for hearing here Thursday afternoon or evening of Michigan National guard witnesses.

reer. The word spread down the street that the place which has been so much in the spotlight the last couple of weeks was doing business in spite of the fact that the council had revoked its license a week ago and there was a rush to lean against the mahogany which had attracted such publicity and owned by a man who had the temerity to flaunt the flag of defiance in the face of Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken.

Has No License.

The position of the city officials is that Sholund has no license to run a saloon at 101 East Michigan street and that the writ of certiorari issued by Judge Bunn does not invalidate the council's revocation of the license last Monday afternoon.

It was claimed at the city hall this morning that a national organization, or syndicate, is behind the move in Duluth and has ample funds to fight the case to the court of last resort. Questions as to whether it was an organization of distillers or brewers brought the response that its identity was unknown.

Johnson was arrested by Jailer Louis Johnson and Patrolman Clendenning, acting under orders from headquarters. The former bought a bottle of beer over Sholund's bar, after which the bartender was taken into custody and the place closed.

"The only orders which the police have been given have been to enforce the law," said Commissioner Hicken this morning, when asked what action he contemplated taking with reference to the operation of the saloon after the council had revoked its license.

At the time Sholund was served with a notice to appear before the council to show cause why his license should not be revoked, Commissioner Hicken announced that he had informed John Nelson, one of the proprietors of the saloon at 21 East Superior street, that he would recommend to the council that his license be not renewed at its expiration next July. Nelson and Sholund were arrested early on the morning of Feb. 18, in company with two women of alleged immoral character. They were having a drinking party in Sholund's saloon.

The council revoked Sholund's license last Monday, before his trial in police court. Two police officers recited the facts of his arrest, following which the license was revoked by unanimous vote. At his trial in police court Sholund was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or spend sixty days in the county jail. A stay of twenty days was granted. The petition for the writ issued by Justice Bunn cites that Sholund was not accorded a fair hearing by the city council.

Johnson is 40 years of age and has tended bar for Sholund since last June. He states that both Sholund and C. V. McCoy of McCoy & Hansen, Sholund's attorneys, instructed him to open the saloon.

municipal garbage collection. As the contract would have to run for probably not less than five years this would provide $25,000 to $35,000 for that purpose.

Would Buy City Wagons.

The company which would take over the garbage collection is willing to buy from the city at a fair inventory price the wagons, horses and equipment now owned by the city. It is also willing to stipulate that the present charges for the collection made by the city shall remain in force. This is 10 cents per can for garbage and 50 cents per load for ashes. It is asserted that the company will invest $15,000 in the proposition, provided it can get a contract for five years.

The municipal collection of garbage has been a mooted question in Duluth for several years past and public sentiment is heartily in favor of the move. But with the city's finances in their present condition, and in which condition they will have to remain for some years, it would be impossible to establish a complete system of municipal collection for several years, at least. It is the possibility of a sinking fund for this purpose which mostly inclines the city officials to look with favor upon letting a private contract, although they are doubtful of it because of dissatisfaction which other cities have experienced. There is also the likelihood of the pressing demands of other funds diverting the saving for the health department fund. Commissioner Hicken is almost certain to insist that if such a contract is let an agreement be made to put the money thus saved into a sinking fund with a view to using it for establishing the municipal system at its expiration.

STRENUOUS LIFE MAKES THEM CRAZY

Immigrants of "Psychopathic Inferiority" Suffer, Say Doctors.

Washington, March 3.—Stress and strain of American life quickly develops latent insanity among immigrants, who become burdens to the states in which they have gone to live, according to statements before the senate immigration committee by medical officers from New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland, who urged radical amendment of the pending immigration bill.

The committee took under advisement a series of amendments offered by Lewis R. Parker, special counsel for the commission on alien insane of New York. Mr. Parker was supported by Dr. Thomas R. Salmon of the public health service, in urging that "persons with constitutional psychopathic inferiority," described as the seed of congenital insanity, be excluded.

Dr. P. Frank Woodbury of Pennsylvania said a census of insane which he was preparing for Pennsylvania showed that 45 per cent of the indigent insane in that state were of foreign birth.

Woman's Realm

Miss Gertrude Griffith of New York city, national secretary of the girls work of the Young Women's Christian association and Miss Clara I. Taylor of Minneapolis, secretary of the industrial work of the North Central district, are expected to arrive tomorrow to spend a week at the local association planning the work of the girls and industrial departments with the local secretaries, Miss Edna Thatcher and Miss Mae C. Anders.

Miss Griffith and Miss Taylor will have charge of the regular Sunday afternoon vesper service which will be held at the association building at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon and special music is being arranged for that meeting.

Bible Class.

Mrs. C. A. Smith of Hunter's Park will conduct a Bible study class at the association building during the lenten season holding one half-hour meeting each week at which time she will talk on the life of Christ, presenting five incidents in his life. This class will be open to all girls interested and free whether the members are members of the association or not. The hour for the class will be announced later.

RECEPTION.

Social Evening for Church Members.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Manthey, who have recently returned from their wedding trip, will be honor guests at a reception which has been planned for tomorrow evening by the members of the Ladies' Union of the Union church, to be held at the K. P. hall, 118 West Superior street. A musical program is being planned and refreshments will be served.

MARCH TEA.

Club Women Have Interesting Afternoon.

Mrs. H. P. Bjorge and Mrs. Harold Figraeus gave talks yesterday afternoon at the March tea of the Twentieth Century club which was held at the library clubroom. Mrs. Bjorge talked on the evolution of women in Norway during the last century and the effect of the giving of the franchise to women in that country. She said that the added responsibilities have robbed women of their leisure but it has proved a boon, and she also spoke of the efforts to further the community movement there to rid individual families of unnecessary drudgery.

Mrs. Figraeus told of a recent visit to Sweden, giving bits of ancient lore, ideas of the habits of the people there and descriptions of various places of interest.

Mrs. H. N. MacHarg gave one of her clever character readings which was also one of the greatly enjoyed features of the afternoon, and three girls in Swedish costume served refreshments to the women, assisting Mrs. I. N. Sodahl, Mrs. William Carlson, Mrs. Odin Halden and Mrs. Duncan Clow, hostesses for the afternoon.

SOCIAL LEADER PAINTING PORTRAITS

MRS. W. STARLING BURGESS.

Mrs. Starling Burgess has followed the lead of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and other social leaders and gone in for high art. She has become a painter of portraits and recently exhibited a picture of herself which received high praise. Mrs. Burgess is the wife of the well-known Boston boat designer.

IBSEN STUDY.

"Lady From the Sea," Chosen.

An Ibsen study class, which will be conducted by Rev. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the Unitarian church, has been formed among the people of the congregation of that church and the first study meeting will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the church parlors, Eighteenth avenue east and First street. "The Lady From the Sea" is the Ibsen play chosen for study and an invitation is extended to everyone interested to join this class.

Cards and Luncheon.

Members of the Monday afternoon Five Hundred club were entertained at luncheon and cards yesterday afternoon by Mrs. W. G. Ulrich of 3224 Minnesota avenue. Mrs. Frank Fenstermacher won the card prize and the guests were:

Mesdames—

Louis Ink,	Ed Melby,
C. R. Fenton,	J. Young,
C. A. McFadden,	Ed Yager,
H. C. Yager,	W. Marlow,
F. Fenstenmacher,	Young of Eveleth.

Plan Picnic Lunch.

The members of Circle No. 3 of the Pilgrim Congregational church are planning a picnic luncheon to be served Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. McGonagle at Hunter's Park.

Students' Program.

Student members of the Matinee Musicale gave a program yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. assembly hall, the second of the year to be given by student members before the other members of the club. Understanding of technique and artistic interpretation unusual in young players was displayed by the following members: Miss Rachel Woodard, Miss Enid Freimuth, Miss Esther Gomberg, Miss Marjorie Baillie, Miss Dorothy Crosby, Miss Gertrude McCuen, Miss Louise Murchison, Miss Katherine Twing, Miss Perie Reynolds, Miss Ethel Molter, Miss Laufey, Miss Mayme Boynton, Miss Zella Burrell, Miss Eleanor Kraft, Miss Louise Murchison, Miss Beatrice Miller, Miss Helen Raluss, Miss Blanche Rittel, Frank Bartlett, Ernest Paulson and Clinton Johnson. The club members who heard the program received each number with enthusiasm and hearty applause.

Swedish Baritone.

Joel Mossberg, a noted Swedish baritone, will appear in concert in Duluth next week on Friday, March 13, at the Pilgrim Congregational church under the auspices of the Orpheus Singing society. Miss Mamie Swanberg, pianist, will be his accompanist and the program arranged is of general interest.

Mr. Mossberg and Miss Swanberg were heard in a concert here in July, 1912, at the time of the meeting of the Sangerfest when Mr. Mossberg was elected director of the western division of American Union of Swedish Singers.

When Mr. Mossberg appeared in concert with the Thomas orchestra, Glenn Dillard Gunn, critic for the Chicago Tribune, wrote of him:

"Mr. Mossberg was especially successful. He has a resonant voice of rarely rich and sympathetic quality and sings with taste and intelligence."

Mrs. Graham Hostess.

Mrs. Robert Graham of 1919 East Second street has invited guests to an afternoon party at her home next Saturday afternoon.

Informal Evening.

Mrs. C. C. Salter of 633 North Central avenue has invited guests for an evening card party at her home tomorrow evening.

Busy Bees.

Mrs. J. A. Scott of 120 Twelfth avenue east will entertain the "Busy Bees" of the Woman's Relief Corps at her home tomorrow afternoon. The afternoon will be spent in playing cards, the games to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

On St. Patrick's Day.

Mrs. C. A. McFadden of 5719 Tioga street, Lakeside is planning an afternoon bridge party for Tuesday, March 17, at her home.

Bishop's Club.

The regular meeting of the Bishop's club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the clubrooms in Cathedral hall, Second avenue west and Fourth street. Mrs. J. H. Sullivan will be the leader and an interesting program has been arranged with a paper on "Roman Conquest of Constantinople" by Miss Eva McNamara and a current events discussion by Miss Jane Doran. M. Warren will give a violin solo and there will be vocal solos by Mrs. Jane Everington Scully.

Afternoon Tea.

Mrs. E. W. Bohannon of 2323 East Fifth street was hostess at an informal afternoon tea this afternoon at her home.

Church Meetings.

$67,000 RAISED AT WORLD FAIR STILL GOES BEGGING

Mrs. Potter Palmer Rejects Suggestions for Its Use.

Says $200,000 Bequest Cannot Be Used as Provided.

Chicago, March 3.—Ultimate disposition of the $67,000 trust fund granted the lady managers of the World's Columbian exposition in 1893 still was unsettled today, while Mrs. Potter Palmer, custodian of the fund, was speeding to her winter home in Sarasota, Fla.

Mrs. Palmer, whose ideas of the proper use of the fund differ from those of Harlow N. Higinbotham, president of the World's Columbian exposition, left behind her a second statement in which she made it clear that Mr. Higinbotham's suggestion that the $67,000 be augmented by $200,000 from the estate of the late Potter Palmer and used in the erection of a woman's building, did not meet her approval.

Claims Request Is Impossible.

The Potter Palmer will devised $200,000 for a woman's building, but it stipulated that the structure should be erected in the Lake Front park. Mrs. Palmer pointed out that supreme court decisions forever bar such use of the park, and that the trustees of the Palmer estate "have no power or authority to use $200,000 of his estate to erect a memorial building except under the conditions of the will, now impossible of fulfillment."

In equally positive terms Mrs. Palmer stated that the $67,000 fund "did not come as Mr. Higinbotham stated, as a gift from the World's Fair directors, but came from sales in the Woman's and Children's buildings and is dedicated to philanthropic work."

Turns Down Woman's Party.

Before boarding the train for Florida, Mrs. Palmer replied to a petition of the woman's party of Cook county that the fund be used for a woman's forum. She said that in her opinion "such a use of the money would be a deviation from the purposes to which this fund was dedicated."

The securities in which the fund was invested were checked over by a committe of bankers at Mrs. Palmer's request, and their report that the fund amounted to $67,750 was incorporated in Mrs. Palmer's statement.

Mrs. Sturgis is the wife of Prof. William C. Sturgis, dean of forestry at Colorado college. She is named as executrix.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—May Irwin, in "Widow By Proxy."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"A Night On Broadway."

Amusement Notes.

May Irwin will appear at the Lyceum tonight and tomorrow night in a comedy that will reveal her wonderful talents as a fun-maker of very refined and artistic powers. Her play is the same that she appeared in for four months at George M. Cohan's theater in New York last season. It is described as a farcical comedy, entitled "Widow by Proxy," and was written by Catherine Chisholm Cushing. Critics have pronounced it as more substantial than others that have displayed Miss Irwin's unique talent.

With a play of dramatic worth and some literary excellence, the public is offered a double measure of entertainment, for her personality is just as striking and methods as artistic and entertaining as they ever were.

The cast supporting Miss Irwin is the same as that which appeared with her in New York, and contains the following people: Clara Blandick, Helen Weathersby, Helen Orr Daly, Ruth Rapaport, Orlando Daly, Joseph Bowyer, John Kendrick and Joseph B. Garry.

Two newlyweds at the Duluth Orpheum theater this week are having a lively time of it.

The newlyweds are Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield, who are headlining this week's bill. Miss Mayfield became

CECIL LEAN.

Mrs. Cecil Lean in Chicago last week, and the trip to Duluth is in the nature of a honeymoon.

Newlyweds on a vaudeville bill seldom have a quiet, peaceful time of it, and Mr. and Mrs. Lean are no exception to the rule. The other performers on this week's bill have been making merry at their expense since Sunday afternoon. Their dressing rooms are gaily decorated with signs and valentines. Rice finds its way into their makeup boxes. Disconcerting remarks are occasionally made from the wings, while they are on the stage, but these have to be made with care when the watchful eyes of Manager Billings and Stage Manager Hanch are momentarily elsewhere.

But Mr. and Mrs. Lean have taken the good natured jokes in good part, and it is difficult to disconcert such an experienced performer as Mr. Lean. His business and life partner has also had experience in both musical comedy and vaudeville, and together they are quite capable of holding their own even against a dozen performers.

"A Night On Broadway" is a farce which could be presented without musical or chorus embellishment and give entire satisfaction, for it is certainly a care killer and laugh bringer. Harry Emerson, well known as the star in "Gay New York," is the chief of the comedy forces. He is an acknowledged leader of German dialect comedians. The principals include such well known names as Grayce Delecte, Cecilia Bell, Lillian Traverse, Vlah Walters, Ed Brennen, Ralph Smith, Lloyd Peddrick and Charles Cornell. The cutey cutey chorus has the dash and vim of Broadway. The costumes are elaborate and electric effects and scenic equipment complete.

Avalanche Wrecks Three Houses.

Bingham, Utah, March 3.—Three homes were destroyed and five members of the family of Joseph Mace were injured by an avalanche here yesterday. The only person to escape uninjured in the Mace home was a boy 1 year old, who was in bed. Another child 3 years old will probably die.

SHOOTS HERSELF BY REYES' STATEROOM

Nantes, France, March 3.—The voyage of the French line steamer La Navarre from Havana to this port was marked by an incident which may prove a tragedy.

Mme. Marie Caufleu, a friend of Rodolfo Reyes, former minister of justice in the cabinet of President Huerta of Mexico, attempted to commit suicide by shooting last Saturday night. All on board the vessel were aroused by the shots and the woman was found lying outside Reyes' cabin with two bullets in her breast. A quarrel between Reyes and the woman is reported to have been the cause for her act.

When the steamer arrived the condition of Mme. Caufleu was pronounced very grave.

Instructor Fired.

Seattle, Wash., March 3.—Col. M. Douglas, an instructor in the department of history in the state university, has been removed from the faculty by Acting President Henry Landis because of an article written by Douglas and printed in the University of Washington Daily, in which the faculty was accused of "log rolling" to obtain the appointment of Acting President Landis as permanent president.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Know the True Value of Time, and Keep Your Mind Occupied.

The time-killing woman is a recognized product of our civilization, and has been increasing in numbers steadily with every generation. And more and more we are adding to the class known as gentlemen of leisure, who find time hanging heavy on their hands and reason to believe that there is nothing new under the sun. Fate is most unkind to any man or woman who has no good uses to put the valuable time at their disposal other than that of searching after new sensations and luxuries.

The average person's mind deserves to be occupied with one thing or another during his waking hours. When you have really nothing with which to employ it healthily for a certain number of hours in the twenty-four, it is left unguarded the prey to every aimless whim and ignoble fancy. People wear themselves out or become useless to themselves and to others quicker, having nothing to do, than they do in the most strenuous existence pursued on an intellectual or physical plane which has as its basic principle the benefit of the race.

One does not have to work for wages to employ her time to good advantage. Anyone may fill every hour of the day with helpful occupation and not stir far from her own fireside. Idle women at home not only sow the seeds of discontent and unhappiness in their own minds, through lack of proper application of their time, but they also stir these evils in others.

Much of the great and growing discontent among women employed in domestic service is due to the fact that very few mistresses lead or were disposed to lead useful lives. They have no real interest either in or outside of their homes other than that of making time fly on golden wings, while strangers wait upon them and administer to most of the needs of their families, which should be the sacred duty of every wife and mother. These attended to properly will leave little time to be killed or wasted in foolishness.

"Know the true value of time: snatch, seize and enjoy it every moment of it," said Lord Chesterfield. And it is indeed true that every wasted moment, every moment spent in idleness, which slips by you unimproved, is of great intrinsic value to your life and in turn to the lives of your fellow-men, and can never be regained. The man who kills time himself naturally becomes an idler, and nothing breeds discontent more than the habit of idleness.

THE DULUTH PAGEANT IN 1915.

The Rotary club, liveliest and livest of civic organizations, at its annual meeting last night went on record unanimously and enthusiastically for the Duluth festival and pageant in the midsummer of 1915.

And this, too, was to be expected because the Rotarians never have failed to rise to an opportunity to do a good thing for Duluth. Their support is welcome indeed, and the committee they have delegated to represent them on the general committee on arrangements will be a valuable factor in the work of making plans and carrying them out.

Mr. J. W. Kreitter, fresh from a view of the famous New Orleans Mardi Gras, had an enthusiastic letter in The Herald last evening in which he said: "I have often wondered why Duluth should not get up something of the kind, and as I have just completed a week at New Orleans viewing the Mardi Gras, I am more enthusiastic than ever that something of a festival and pageant should be a success at Duluth. Of course, we could not expect anything like the Mardi Gras, but could come as near to it as possible. The movement has my hearty support, and I am ready when the time comes to give any assistance possible."

This, we believe, is the spirit of the average Duluthian, who is always ready to DO IT FOR DULUTH, and who readily grasps such an opportunity as this.

Of course the Duluth pageant will not be in any sense an imitation of the Mardi Gras, and of course Mr. Kreitter does not mean that it should be. It will be distinctive of Duluth, and it will draw for its material upon the marvelous history of this region, and for its dramatic personnae upon the picturesque procession of voyageurs, trappers, missionaries, priests and redskins that make vivid the pages of that history.

Some hint of the possibilities of a distinctively Duluth pageant has been given by a half-page feature in the Sunday News Tribune, in which the valuable ideas of the Duluth section of the Drama league were set forth.

The fundamental aim of the pageant project is to capitalize the wonderful advantages of Duluth and the wonder-country around it as the continent's most glorious place for summer pleasuring, and to make this great asset yield dividends.

Though it will be different in every way from the New Orleans pageant, we see no reason why it should not ultimately be on a scale as great and win a fame even greater.

Where there's a will there's a way, and Duluth seems to have the will to make this project successful on the broadest possible scale.

The character of the support that is being freely offered is a guaranty that the will exists; and, given the will to do it, all difficulties will vanish.

Just because a man looks worried today is no sure sign that he forgot to make returns on his income.

THE COMMISSION PLAN STILL GROWS.

The latest bulletin of the Short Ballot organization shows that its list of "short ballot cities," by which it means communities that have adopted modern systems of municipal government, amounted at last accounts to 316 communities, with a total population of 7,500,256.

Ever since its first adoption, the story of the commission plan has been a story of steady growth at an increasingly rapid rate. A correspondent writing in one of the local papers the other day said that many cities had tried the commission plan and dropped it; but the records do not disclose their names. There are no such cities.

There is an interesting turn to the development just now, the "city manager" plan having attracted the attention of many cities. In the latest list, thirteen cities in nine states are shown to have adopted this latest development of the commission plan. Most of these are cities of less than fifteen thousand people, but the two Ohio cities that have adopted it, Dayton with 116,577 and Springfield with 46,921, are above the average of the commission-governed cities.

The average of the whole list of 316 is 23,741. Thirteen of them are of more than a hundred thousand population, the largest being New Orleans with 339,075.

Now, honestly, has anybody been killed in Mexico of whom you thought so much that you'd be willing to go down there and stand the chance of being killed too?

WILSON STANDS FIRM.

This country has had reason to congratulate itself several times lately that it has a MAN in the White House; but never was its reason for this so strong and a thing to be so thankful for as it is today in this delicate juncture in Mexico.

"Wilson stands firm; will not be stampeded," says a headline in the morning paper. Meanwhile, there yelps at his heels a growing pack of impatient jingoes howling for blood—but offering none of their own.

The situation is delicate enough. There is over-much gruesome talk of "bodies"—of bodies to be examined, to be returned to mourning kin, to be accounted for. Huerta has one at least, Villa has two or more. It is these bodies that sting to anger and that breed thoughts of vengeance. It is the appeal of their ugly wounds that makes the situation dangerous.

Those who are in Mexico today are there despite repeated warnings, despite awing evidence all about them that they are in a place of peril. They are there AT THEIR OWN RISK.

Those who criticize the president's policy either forget or are reckless of the fact that there is but one alternative to that policy—WAR.

And if there is war there will be in Mexico not one or two or three or half a dozen wounded white bodies, but hundreds and thousands. Mexican soil will be drenched with precious American blood, and that the blood of Mexico will mingle with it will be to mighty small profit and smaller consolation.

What—have the impatient ones stopped to think?—would be the gain from armed intervention? It would mean having both Huerta and Villa to fight. It would mean ten years of unceasing warfare; and at the end of that decennium the mountain passes and fertile valleys of Mexico still would harbor bands of unconquered Mexicans. It would mean the spending of millions of American treasure and thousands of American lives. And to what end?

Imagine Mexico conquered at last. What then? As the alternative now is between waiting peace and precipitous war, the alternative then would be between patching up a government and withdrawing, and complete subjugation and confiscation. The latter alternative, because it would forever alienate every Latin-American nation and because it would be theft, is unthinkable. The alternative of withdrawal would be the only honest choice, and even then withdrawal would be followed, as soon as our backs were turned, by a new upheaval of anarchy.

President Wilson never has rendered—never can render—better service to this nation than by his policy of watchful, patient waiting for the inevitable downfall of the present regime and the reconstruction of peace that must follow.

It is the nation's duty to match his patriotic patience with its own; and those who, certain that they will not be called upon to shed their own blood and lay down their own lives for the sake of barbarous Mexico, are urging him to "do something," should reckon what that "something" is, and count the cost.

Recent weather events ought to inspire George Cohan with some brand new ideas for Broadway songs.

THE NATION, THE STATES AND RESIDENT ALIENS.

The Spokane Spokesman-Review says that there is need of a national law putting solely into the hands of the Federal government the protection of alien residents in this country.

The Spokesman-Review is right.

When people from a foreign land get in trouble in this country, the government of their native land looks to the Federal government for their protection; and in the present condition of the law on this subject often the Federal government is helpless: the subject is one that is the province of the states, and the states in interest jealously insist upon their rights.

This is an anomalous condition. It tends to disrespect abroad for the government of the United States, and it makes it possible at any time for a demagogue-ridden state to plunge the whole country into war even when its action is overwhelmingly repudiated by the people of the United States.

No tenderness for "state's rights" should stand in the way of an early clearing up of this confusing situation.

The nation should be supreme in international relationships, and it is not supreme when the states hold "rights" that make it possible for a single state to embarrass the nation and to defy its will.

If a law giving this power into the nation's hands should be proposed, we should look to see every state support it except California.

And it does seem more or less appropriate to have a man from Missouri at the head of the foreign relations committee.

GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION OF LAKE TRAFFIC.

The house committee on merchant marine and fisheries, after an investigation of conditions governing traffic on the Great Lakes, reports to the house a finding that merchandise traffic is controlled by six boat lines that are owned by railroads, and the recommendation that this traffic be placed under government supervision and regulation.

Incidentally, it is plainly manifest on the face of the report that the committee is very largely indebted to the impressive testimony and the valuable ideas of Julius H. Barnes of Duluth.

The government has spent millions to make a great water highway on the Great Lakes, and thereby has made it possible for the people to save many times that many millions in freight rates. What these possibilities are is made plain by the saving in rates covering bulk traffic not controlled by railroads.

But so far as merchandise traffic is concerned, practically all of the public benefits due from the government's investment in this water highway have been stolen by the railroads through their control of lake lines.

The benefits from cheap water transportation are both direct and indirect—direct through cheap water rates, and indirect through the competition of these rates with rail rates. To realize this is to make it easy to see why the railroads should have wished to control the lake lines; but it also makes it easy to see why the people should never permit such control to exist.

Should the government control lake traffic? It certainly should unless it wishes to let its investments in this great water highway go practically to waste so far as merchandise traffic is concerned.

Duluth stirred up this question. Duluth men have probed it to the bottom, and Duluth men have provided the ideas on which the committee's findings are based.

Some time the history of what Duluth has done for fair traffic conditions will be written, and when it is it will be a page of glory for Duluth and for the Duluthians whose enterprise and perseverance have achieved it.

Maybe that earthquake so far south of Washington only marked the arrival of some particular piece of news in the South American jungles.

Where Percy Paused.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The conversation in the lobby of a Washington hotel, the other night, turned to the beauty of love, when Congressman Joshua F. C. Talbot of Maryland recalled the persistent wooing of Percy.

The light of Percy's life was a pretty little salesgirl in a candy store, and the great devotion that filled the young man's heart was the subject of much talk among his friends.

"Yes," remarked a friend one day, in speaking of the affair. "Percy went to that store every five minutes during the day and bought tons of candy. To discourage his attentions the girl finally got a position in a manicure parlor."

"What good did that do?" smiled the other. "I suppose that just as soon as he found out where she was he started right in and broke the nail-fixing record?"

"That's just what he did," returned the first. "But she has got him stalled now, all right. She has gone to work in a dental office."

The Mackinaw Coat.

Once he wore a flaming sweater—
Preferably with a letter
Like a cureless case of tetter
In the center of the chest.
Then he yielded to the blazer—
Reg'lar ocular amazer—
Sort of human-optic-dazer—
Gaudy till you couldn't rest!

Through the loud hat stage we nursed him,
Held our tongue and never cursed him,
Though we often yearned to burst him
For some newer, wilder fad.
Till we said: "This is his finish!
Though his head's been rather pinnish,
Henceforth watch his craze diminish"—
But the truth itself is sad.

When the mackinaw dawned on him,
Those gay colors quickly won him,
And he let some dealer con him
Into buying one so loud—
Joseph's coat were drab, beside it!
In the dark you couldn't hide it,
And you'd hear it ere you spied it;
Yet it seemed to make him proud.

It has ninety-seven tints in,
Nothing else we've seen him since, in—
He imagines he's a prince in
Such a garment as it is.
We're expecting him to trim it
In some Persian bands or scrim; it
Couldn't be more like the limit—
Could that mackinaw of his!

The Alternative Policy

Editorial in the Chicago Tribune.

What Mexican policy do the foreign and domestic critics of President Wilson offer as a substitute for what they condemn as a weak and indefinite? What do our own congressional wiseacres propose shall be done? The critics are voluble, but they are long on phrases and short on specifications.

The alternative to the American policy now being pursued is war. This alternative may be considered complacently abroad. It would be our war. The United States would pay the bill.

Americans have not been blind to the possibility that the alternative may have to be chosen. Americans with financial interests in Mexico have been hot to have it adopted.

War means not only the preliminary military operations against the armed forces of Mexico. It means the occupation and pacifying of the country. It means the policing of the land, the restoration and maintenance of order. It virtually means the subjugation of an ignorant and frequently barbarous people. One more easily foresees how an American army may enter Mexico than how it would come out again. Retention seems the unescapable consequence of invasion. It is a strange optimism which guides the opinion that we might enter, punish the wicked, cast down the villains, rescue the good, control the establishment of a just and humane government, give the new president of Mexico a kindly pat on the head and march out again, returning a peaceful land to a grateful and orderly people.

When optimism presents this picture it becomes grotesque. Mexico either must work out its own salvation or the United States must take control. It would not be easy to persuade a nation that had paid a large price to give tranquillity to a neighbor to march out, leaving disorder to start again, and later be required to do the work all over.

To adopt the alternative, it is suggested, need not require war by invasion, but war by demonstration. To close the ports of Mexico and to threaten it with punishment if aggression against foreigners continued would bring Mexicans to a quick halt? Possibly it might if Mexico had a government which controlled the country, a government which might be influenced by fear of consequences.

Depredations of which complaint is made are not committed in parts of Mexico where the government is strong enough to preserve order. And where it is not strong enough, demonstrations such as that proposed would have only the effect of putting the lives and interests of foreigners in greater peril.

Recognize Huerta then, and strengthen the government? That would be an act of stultification which the American administration could not consider, and, moreover, the United States cannot strengthen Huerta now except by alliance with him, a thing to which neither Americans nor Mexicans would agree.

The only reasonable alternative to the policy the president has adopted is one which contemplates war as its second step. First would be a demand that the armed bands of Mexicans cease operations and that Huerta resign. The next would be to back up the demand.

American procedure has been greatly embarrassed by the recent acts of Villa. Carranza cannot punish him. Villa hardly will punish himself. If the United States is to punish him he must be caught. To attempt to do so means not only invasion but action against the Mexican forces, which have been encouraged as the most promising instruments by which Mexicans might reach a settlement of their own affairs.

When the citizens of the United States are ready for war with Mexico they may then insist that the president adopt another policy. Until then they are not justified in condemning his present course as weak. It has merely been wise.

Rediscovery of the Soul.

Collier's: Bergson's election to the French academy gave opportunity for the repetition of the fine phrase that the greatest of recent discoveries is not radium or flying, but the rediscovery of the soul. All honor to Prof. Henri Bergson, and any number of green coats he likes—but he is not the only discoverer of the soul. In a thousand places on the habitable globe men of late have been making precisely that discovery. A quarter of a century ago, when the great wave of German materialism was at its height, idealism seemed overwhelmingly buried, hardly showing a vestige above the flood. Souls were a dead and outworn fashion, a grotesque fancy of poets, fanatics and divines. Our lives under the sun were merely a matter of cell growth, osmosis, and a set of chemical reactions. Haeckel, that master mind of fact, still lives to deny recognition to anything like an immortal soul, in the name of nineteenth century science. But for all that, the wave has broken into an infinity of fragments. A thousand watchers in a thousand places have rediscovered the soul and heard its voice in their own inner silences. Eucken in Germany and Bergson in France, those homes of materialism and mere intellect, have made their voices heard above the din, and once again the soul is coming into her own.

Corralling Sabbath Breakers.

London Chronicle: That sixteenth-century practice of the elders in Scotland of going the rounds to pick up offenders against Sunday rules survived until the eighteenth century. Mr. Thomson, in his "Weavers' Craft," gives details of the "bag": "The minister himself would make the rounds, to spy with his own eyes the sins of the absentees. Here one man is found romping with his bairns; another detected in kissing his wife; two men were found drinking ale, and one was found with his coat off, as if he were going to work, and still another was seen eating a hearty dinner. All were pulled up before the session or the kirk and 'repentances' enforced upon each."

And now one can understand the wherefore of the drawn blind on Sunday, which struck James Payn as astonishing, in the Edinburgh of the sixties.

The Little Elfman.

I met a little Elfman once,
Down where the lilies blow,
I asked him why he was so small,
And why he didn't grow.

He slightly frowned, and with his eye
He looked me through and through—
"I'm just as big for me," said he,
"As you are big for you."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—New congressmen meet with all manner of discouragements in Washington.

Whitacre of Ohio was all snarled up and disgusted with his job a while ago because he says it is difficult for a congressman to hold his job and be intellectually honest. Metz of New York was similarly vexed with the seniority rule on committees. He declared that unless a man has been here for yahs and yahs and thereby obtained a committee appointment of importance, he is nothing but a rubber stamp.

So it goes. Still others are disconsolate over the human inability to fill all the opportunities, and some look as if they were about to sob themselves to death because they have only a life apiece to give to their country.

None of these things, however, is the main source of worry or anxiety to Representative Frank Park, who came up from Southern Georgia a little while ago to fill the unexpired term of the late Representative Rodenbery.

What perplexes Park here in the capital of our great nation is the difficulty of getting the things he likes to eat.

Ever since he came to Washington his life has been made a bugbear by "Yankee bread," as he calls it.

"Seems like I just can't get used to it," he says. "It runs about a foot or a foot and a half long to the loaf and is only about four inches in diameter. The crust is about an inch thick and as hard as a plank. You could take a loaf of the stuff and knock down a horse with it. Through the center of the loaf is a soft, damp white kernel and if you were to eat that it would be just like putting so much putty into your stomach. The funny thing is that it seems to be the only kind of bread they have around hotels."

Park yearns for some good old Georgia co'n bread and a bit of Southern pork. He got up from the table the other day and went at once to a telegraph station to wire for some "water ground co'n meal" and a couple of sides of "wire grass shoats," to be rushed here by parcel post.

Water ground corn meal, Park explains, is corn meal that is ground slowly by water power. When you grind by steam power the mill runs so rapidly that the stones get hot and all the goodie is cooked out of the meal before it reaches the consumer.

A "wire grass shoat" is simply a little razor-back pig that has been running in the wire grass and then fattened up a bit on cowpeas and the like.

Park has been fortunate all his life in that he has not had occasion until now to be about city hotels. Since he has been living at hotels in Washington he has constantly marveled at things—even aside from the horrors of "Yankee bread."

"It's extraordinary," he says, "how long it takes a waiter to bring you anything to eat. But I hit on a scheme to hurry him up. I give him a little money now and then. And, sah, you'd be surprised what a difference it makes!"

Then there's the matter of sweet potatoes. If it were just possible to get sweet potatoes "cooked by ear," the way they cook 'em down in Sylvester, Ga., Park might struggle through the rest of the Yankee dishes—but, as he explains, "the' don't seem to be a thing up in this pa't of the country cooked the way the Almighty planned for it to be cooked."

Park is a quaintly lovable old chap, and is always trying to do something for the uplift of his fellow man. If he knew any way to free the North from Yankee cooking he would gladly do it. For several summers he has conducted a school down in his own country, to teach reading and writing to grown-up white folks who never had a chance to learn when they were young. He furnishes old-fashioned "blue-back" spellers, and leaves his legal work to take charge personally of the teaching. The school runs in the summer, or as they put it down Park's way, "from roastin' ear to hard corn time."

After he had attended the University of Georgia for two years, Park left college to go to work, but the faculty a little later on conferred the degree of master of arts upon him, a thing they had never done before except when a student had taken the full course. In Park's case they did it not so much because he was a brilliant student, but simply because he had endeared himself to the faculty, and they desired to express their regard for him.

When he was about to come to congress recently, a friend of his sent in his biography for the Congressional Directory, and mentioned that he carried an A. M. degree. As soon as Park learned this, he was much concerned and rushed a telegram to overtake the biography, and have it made clear that he had not really earned any college degree.

"I wouldn't want any one to think," said he, "that I'm more of a scholar than I really am."

When Senator William S. Kenyon was a youngster in school, he had an examination in geography one day that was extremely difficult. One of the hardest questions was: "Name four animals that inhabit the polar regions."

Kenyon thought of polar bears and seals, and that was all. For the life of him he couldn't recall another one—not even a walrus. After racking his brain until he was half distracted he finally answered the question as follows:

"A polar bear and three seals."

The Testing.

When in the dim beginning of the years
God mixed in man the rapture and the tears
And scattered through his brain the starry stuff,
He said, "Behold! Yet this is not enough,
For I must test his spirit to make sure
That he can dare the vision and endure.

"I will withdraw my face,
Veil me in shadow for a certain space,
And leave behind only a broken clue,
A crevice where the glory glimmers through,
Some whisper from the sky,
Some footprint in the road to track me by.

"I will leave man to make the fateful guess,
Will leave him torn between the no and yes,
Leave him unresting till he rests in me,
Drawn upward by the choice that makes him free—
Leave him in tragic loneliness to choose,
With all in life to win or all to lose."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

And That's Why the People Like Him.

Hutchinson Leader: When President Wilson decides on a course of action that decision is the result of mature deliberation. He doesn't "go off half cocked." His decision in favor of the repeal of the "no-tolls" feature of the Panama canal regulations is undoubtedly a wise one and being so will be adopted by congress—as the president has a way of making the proposition he favors so plainly necessary, and has such universal popular support that congress knows it cannot afford to oppose him. Some call him a great boss or dictator, but he "bosses" in the interest of the people and for the good of the country.

The Union Has the Right View.

Princeton Union: The Union does not object to editors holding appointive offices—too few of the boys are properly recognized—neither do we object to an editorial appointee espousing the cause and the men and measures championed by the man who appointed him—an appointee who would do otherwise would be an ingrate and should have the decency to resign. But we do insist that the views of an editor who has received an appointive office, relative to men and measures favored by the appointive power, should not be taken too seriously by the general public.

A Humorist.

Pine City Pine Poker: Even the Democrats admit that Governor Eberhart is sure of renomination and—they're casting about for their strongest timber to oppose him at the general election in the fall. They sacrificed P. M. Ringdahl by submitting the impossible task to him two years ago and one wing of the party wants to run Congressman Hammond this year, though it looks as though he much prefers his present position with its $7,500 salary to being given the empty honor of a nomination for governor, knowing that he can't be elected.

Rines Feels Indorsed.

Mora Times: We are glad to see leading newspapers of the state advocating the commission form of government for the state. A bill carrying out this idea was introduced by the editor of this paper at the last session of the legislature, but, being an innovation, it did not get much consideration. However, we feel confident that the people of this state will soon come to a realization of the fact that the business of the state should be conducted upon the same principles as a private business and that its affairs should be managed the same as a bank or other corporation, by a board of directors. When this is done we may hope to secure real efficiency and economy in the management of our state government and not before. Some advocates of the commission plan of state government want to go so far as to abolish the legislature and give the commission legislative powers. We have some misgivings as to the wisdom of permitting the commission to pass the laws under which it is to operate. To begin with, at least, the duties of such a commission should be purely administrative.

While There's Life There's Hope.

Deerwood Times: The anti-machine Republicans will hold a big conference in Minneapolis on Thursday, March 19, at which time it is probable that a man will be chosen to oppose Governor Eberhart. Whether this man be one of the candidates already in the field, or whether he be a new one, remains to be seen. Suffice it to say, that if the anti-machine forces unite on one candidate, Governor Eberhart's chances for re-election will be mighty slim. And if they don't, well, there is always a Democrat ready to step in and save the state from that awful catastrophe which awaits it at the foot of the hill down which the machine crowd is gaily coasting.

Can't Fool All of Them All the Time.

Greenbush Tribune: The Smith-Eberhart machine may be able to turn the same trick that they did two years ago and nominate their man on a minority vote, but if they succeed and the Democrats are wise and put up a good man it is not likely that Eberhart will be governor again. If Eberhart wins out with a majority in the primaries over the field he will no doubt be elected, but otherwise not. The people are not likely to stand for a repetition of two years ago.

Good Business

New York Herald: Every day brings news of idle hands being set at work. Today between 5,000 and 7,000 who were suspended at the beginning of the year will be re-employed in the great Hamilton-Brown factories at St. Louis.

A special dispatch to the Herald notes also that about 1,000 additional men will be set at work next Monday in the steel mill at Granite City, Ill. From all quarters come similar reports of idle factories resuming, of increased forces being engaged.

Secretary Redfield has the facts with him in the addresses he is delivering to rout the croakers and calamity howlers. A great industrial revival has begun and will reach its full expansion with the advent of spring, which will make possible a resumption of building and other operations that are at present restrained in the icy grasp of winter.

The American people have lost none of their ingenious enterprise, indomitable energy of surpassing skill, and there is going to be an abundance of cheap credit—the sinews of peace—at their disposal. Money was offered to borrowers on good collateral yesterday at 4 per cent for periods extending to 1915. This is an indication of the view taken by experienced bankers as to the low rates that will prevail with the inauguration of the new national reserve system. The country never was on a sounder basis than at present, and the recent partial restriction of industries will be inevitably followed by a period of unexampled activity and prosperity.

Secret of Success.

Punch: "How is it, co'onel," asked the hopeful bunko steerer, addressing the hoary-headed master of the craft, "that you have always been so successful in picking out juicy suckers and never have to waste your time on unprofitable subjects?"

"I simply wait till I hear a man say that he is a pretty good judge of human nature," replied the veteran, "and then I know he is just what I am looking for."

The Way Out.

Rochester Herald: The ladies of the cabinet in Washington are complaining because they cannot make 500 calls on their calling day, because the day is not long enough. We are surprised that they do not adopt the congressional habit of turning back the hands of the clock, which would lengthen the day to their needs.

Character

Robert J. Burdette in National Magazine: Someone has said: "Character is what a man is in the dark." What he is without an audience. His reputation may be grandstand play; a safe, senseless slide to second with the ball a quarter of a mile away—a cloud of dust and thunders of cheers from people who don't know the game. His character may be the sacrifice hit that brings him hisses from the same class of people—and advances the team.

What you wish you were, that's your ideal. What people think you are, that's your reputation. What you know you are, that's your character. To paraphrase Abraham Lincoln, you may fool some other people all of the time, but you can't fool yourself one little bit of the time.

Reputation is a variable estimate, depending not upon what people know about you, but upon their guesses, made from what they see of you. "We have lived together for fifty years," said the Left Hand, "and I never saw him do one charitable action." That's reputation. But all that time the generous Right Hand was the almoner of God, working in loving and secret fellowship with Him. That's character.

You will not drink wine, not even for politeness' sake, and at the table of an esteemed friend, and "your Best Society" says you are a fanatical, bigoted prohibitionist. You refuse to encourage a vile story with a smile. Some people say you are a cold-blooded hypocrite. You will not permit yourself to laugh at a funny story, well told, in which all the "laugh" is in its profanity. And folk say you are self-righteous. And you carry your Bible in your hand when you walk to church. And they say a "canting Pharisee." Yet all the while your character is that of a sober, pure-minded, reverent, God-fearing man—a Christian. Four reputations—all bad, and one character which outweighs and outlasts the going into eternity with you.

WAR DESIRED, NOT FEARED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There has been much comment pro and con as to the attitude taken by this government towards the Mexican situation, and many thinking people believe and highly commend the attitude as taken by our honorable president and his able secretary of state.

But the question arises in the minds of other thinking men now, whether or not a war with Mexico at this time would not do this country and its people more good than anything else actually could.

A foreign war never fails to arouse that national patriotism without which no country can long endure. It would take the thoughts of the business world off the many problems that are now confronting them under the present administration. It would take the discontented laborer's thoughts off his troubles, and bring the business world and the laboring world closer together under a bond of patriotism that would do the entire country good.

However, I am not one that would advocate war and the sacrifice of human life as a cure to a restlessness that seems general throughout our country, but isn't it a fact, hard to get around, that it would be one of the greatest acts of humanity and charity ever performed to go down into Mexico, capture and hang the few hundred bandits and murderers who are now dominating that country and fighting among themselves and then to establish law and order and peace and prosperity, just as has been done before when this country took over the state of Texas and part of New Mexico.

The common people of old Mexico are being exploited, murdered, robbed and starved. Their intellectual and moral standards may not be up to ours, but these people are human, and it would be an easy matter to dispose of their persecutors, and permit them to re-establish their homes and continue their industrial pursuits, reopen their mines, their ranches, re-establish their government, which will never be done until intervention comes, for history has proven that no sooner is one faction ousted and the ouster in power than another faction will attempt to oust the ouster, leaving the country in a state of turmoil and strife that is little short of hell itself.

The advocates of international peace, and those good gentlemen who think they can impress such illiterate and base minds as possessed by such men as Villa, Huerta and other factional leaders by diplomacy and soft words, are finding it difficult to offer a reasonable solution of the Mexican situation in its present phase.

The citizens of foreign countries and our own citizens are being murdered, their property confiscated, their homes destroyed, their wives and children outraged, and the Mexicans responsible simply laugh at our diplomatic appeals for information and justice.

Shall we cry, "Peace, peace," when there is no peace, or shall we establish peace by a force of arms? In view of all the circumstances I am very decidedly of the latter opinion, and many of the greatest thinking men of this country today, including the staunchest advocates of world peace are fast beginning to think this is the only real and effectual solution of the entire trouble.

Perhaps several of our good citizens think differently, perhaps The Herald, standing behind President Wilson, thinks differently; this is only my opinion and I invite some one to offer a solution to this problem that should be of vital interest from a business as well as a humane point of view to the American people, as well as to the poor, downtrodden but respectable Mexican who really prefers intervention to this continual warfare under the leadership of unscrupulous and murdering bandits. Yours truly,

C. E. LEE,

CHANCE TO HELP SEVENTEEN INVALIDS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Upon the request of John Gordon of Omaha, Neb., as well as for my own personal benefit, I take the privilege of writing you these lines in the hope of awakening your personal as well as the public interest in a most worthy subject. Some of you have heard of "Mr. Gordon, the Magazine Man," who has for many years striven to build up a business by magazine soliciting, but which is a most difficult undertaking! And why so? Because the reading public cannot be educated into helping a worthy cause along in even the simplest manner, so to speak.

Mr. Gordon is a man possessing a grit and courage seldom to be found in any man, even among the strong and sturdy, possessing the full use of every limb, blood force, and in fact all they have a right to expect. Yes, he has even a greater courage than some of those that fate has dealt well with and before you will perceive the real truth of this you will have to read this pamphlet entitled, "Mastering His Fate: The Biography of a Broken Back." Mr. Gordon, although with partially a lifeless body, and being a helpless paralytic, has laid the foundation of the grand and much needed organization known as the Invalids' Pension association, of which seventeen invalids are reaping the benefit of $5 or $10 per month pension, and of which I am one, receiving $10, and for which I am inexpressibly grateful, being myself both a paralytic and a legless invalid.

But in order to meet these obligations he must then have your service and patronage, and also therein he must obtain 1,200 subscriptions to three well-known publications to earn $3,000. These publications can be had from Mr. Gordon. One hundred and fifty-seven are still due for this month, and if Mr. Gordon fails to secure a sufficient number of subscriptions then we will lose our pensions and Mr. Gordon will lose hope of a living. Now you will know what the loss of our pension will mean to us invalids and to my dear friend, Mr. Gordon, himself a helpless cripple. Therefore will you please give a little space in your paper. It don't take very many words to let the readers know that their subscription is considered a great help to seventeen sufferers. I have faith in your paper, and I like its character. Thanking you in advance, I am yours truly,

COMMITTEE REPLIES TO PASTOR'S SERMON.

To the Editor of The Herald:

This is a reply to Rev. Mr. Hunt's speech on Spiritualism, delivered at the First Christian church Feb. 22:

Among other things Rev. Mr. Hunt stated that spiritualism is a most hopeless form of religion, the hopelessness of the case being the doctrine that before a human soul or spirit can inhabit a sphere of bliss, harmony, glory and peace, he must, through strife, effort and service, develop the divine powers of his nature, such as beauty of soul, sympathy and love, to render him fit to enter such a state of existence.

This is what he called a most hopeless doctrine.

In sharp contrast to this, he stated his own doctrine, which he much preferred, that through faith in Jesus, and the blood that was spilt on Calvary, a human soul at death, would enter right into a heaven of bliss, glory and rest, regardless of his soul development, and that he would feel perfectly at home, comfortable and entitled to such a place on the strength of the sufferings of another soul.

He stated next, that spiritualists deny the divinity of Christ. Here he made a false charge. This, we believe, was due to his ignorance of the subject on which he was speaking.

The fact is that spiritualists do not deny the divinity of Christ, but on the contrary, believe that Christ and every human being is animated by the divine life of the great power we call God.

He also said that a person could not consistently be a spiritualist and a Christian. We beg to differ with him on this point. We believe that, although a person tries to understand the laws governing life's progress from the spiritualist's viewpoint, this would not bar him from viewing Christ's life, as an example to be followed, and his teachings as an important message to humanity.

SPARE OUR BLUSHES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I want to express my appreciation of your valuable editorials of your paper, and I can in no way make it more effective than by a public statement to all voters of this state.

Will you please publish the inclosed write-up in the public column of your paper?

Thanking you and wishing you continued courage, I am, your supporter,

NELS KNUTSON,
Cass Lake, Minn., March 2.

"THE DULUTH HERALD FOR MINE."

"I have for the past few months read the editorials appearing in The Herald and have become more and more attached to that particular page with each issue; and for the simple reason that the writer thereof puts it straight from the shoulder, leaving out the circuitous route of expression found in some papers in order to bewilder the voter.

"A few of the various issues thus treated, can mention the development of this northern country, the primary law, public utilities, government ownership of wire communication, etc. In the edition of Saturday, could this position be more manifest than in your editorial, 'The Plain Truth About the Canal Tolls Exemption'? This bit of plain English in reply to the Omaha World-Herald should settle the question without a doubt in the minds of all voters, that your paper is an exponent of all public questions for the benefit of the masses, and against the long-practiced principle of special consideration for men with capital.

"May your paper find its way to each and every voter in this state.

"N. K."

WILL OF MICHIGAN POLITICIAN FILED

The will of the late John Strong, prominent Michigan politician, who died April 2, 1913 at Berlin, Mich., was admitted to probate in this county yesterday. Strong left real personal property here worth $2,000. The petition for the admission of the will was made by Frank L. Edwards, his executor and son-in-law.

OHIO IN THE SENATE—No. 1.

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ohio has always mowed a wide swath in the United States senate. It is distinctively a political community. The "Western Reserve" came from New England, and Southern Ohio, at first, was settled by Virginia. The two antagonistic political forces met on this common theater and had it out. Democrats from New England settled in Southern Ohio—our Uncle Grosvenor is one of 'em—and Ross county sent a Roland for every Oliver that Ashtabula hurled. In Middle Ohio it was neck and neck. Pennsylvania Dutch gave that section immense Democratic strength, but "the Dutch" from abroad neutralized it. Holmes county at one time was the most Democratic community in the Union—nearly all Pennsylvania Dutch.

But let us get down to date. Theodore E. Burton is senatorial timber. As a Democrat I want to see him beaten for re-election to the senate, and

"My business in this state Makes me a looker-on in Vienna," as Shakespeare says, and, party passion aside, I'd like to see Burton re-elected senator. He is a man of very great intellectual canacity and he serves well to keep the Democratic side of the chamber on its mettle.

It is possible that Elihu Root is a profounder lawyer; certainly John Sharpe Williams is a more formidable debater; but in some walks Burton is the first man in the senate. Now, I don't like Burton, personally. I tried to talk with him one day and he was very abrupt in dismissing me, and for a little while I was very angry; but when I got to studying over it the thought came to me that Burton had bigger things on his mind. He is no Chesterfield; certainly he is no dude. His is a great big mind and he keeps it busy for the public. He knows more about American rivers and harbors than any other solon of either house and that alone would make him precious as an American senator.

But as I said, he is not a lovable man. He is a confirmed old bachelor and was educated at Oberlin. He is no orator. He cannot scrape the sky, but he cannot speak five minutes without telling something that the senate will think about. It was his speech that "did the kitchen work" for the Hon. Lorimer, though Bailey went his length for "the bond boss." A very considerable man, this here Mr. Burton, and unless Ohio has turned Democrat on the senatorial question, and I hope she has, the people of that state could scarce do better than give him another term. But there's Foraker, and he's no slouch.

Burton belongs to Burton. He was never guilty of the tomfoolery of responding with alacrity when the phosphorescent Foraker sounded the "fire-alarm" that warned the dear people that the rebels had again crossed the Ohio bent on putting African slavery into every county of the Western reserve. His tremendous abilities got him into congress, and tradition says Mark Hanna had to put up with it.

There are showy men, but they have to deliver the goods or congress passes them over with a sneer. And there are showy men who have the goods, and congress accepts and admires those. Champ Clark is one, so was Grosvenor, so was Hepburn. Burton is not a showy man.

What a cockpit in that national house of representatives! It is the fulfillment of the Scripture:

"And he will be a wild man—his hand will be against every man, and every man's hand against him."

That is the national body. There is the battle royal, the survival of the fittest. Each man hits the head of every other man that offers fair mark. A sardonic sarcasm, an unctuous joke, a biting wit, and though it sting to the marrow your average congressman would hurl it against his bosom friend for the worthless applause it affords.

And therefore, don't send a fool to congress if you can possibly avoid it, and some of you can't. I grant you that.

Well, old Burton came here—over the protest of Hanna, 'tis said—and he just sloshed around. He puts his feet flat-footed on the ground—the toes sensitive of the impact as soon as the heels—and I'm not quite reconciled to that. The fellow that hits the heel first, if he hit it straight, may go to the poor house; you rarely see him in the penitentiary. But the man who wears all the shoe leather without favor, you trust him. And so does Burton. And so is his mind. He is always sedate, never erratic.

Burton is a great big fellow, and unless Ohio is a Democrat Burton ought to be re-elected to the senate. He is valuable there. He keeps the Democrats alert. And that is why every state should send its biggest two men to the senate.

GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO FILE AMENDED REPORTS

Public Service Corporations Granted Extension Until March 17.

No Action on Bartenders' Ordinance—New Smoke Ordinance.

The Duluth-Edison Electric company, the Duluth Street Railway company and the Great Northern Power company will have until March 17 to file amended public service reports with City Auditor B. J. Campbell.

City Attorney Harvey S. Clapp informed the city council yesterday afternoon that the reports of these three companies were incomplete in that they did not give in detail the nature of their expenses of the year ending Dec. 31, 1913, and therein fail to comply with section 84 of the charter. Following his report the commission passed three resolutions, one for each company, allowing it fifteen days from the date of the passage of the resolution, to file proper reports.

Under the resolutions the city will start no proceeding to collect the penalty of $100 per day for each day after the first Monday in February, the date specified by the charter for the filing of the reports. If the companies fail or refuse to comply within the fifteen days allowed, the council will again consider the matter and can then pass a resolution directing the legal department to institute actions to collect the penalties.

Up to date no report has been filed by the Duluth Telephone company but following a recent conference the city attorney announced that the company had agreed to do so. He explains that the company's books are kept as part of the Bell system with no separate local accounts, which is said to be responsible for the delay.

Ordinance Laid Over.

The much-discussed bartenders' ordinance was laid over for another week at the request of Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken. He made no statement giving reasons for the further delay. This is the second time that action on the ordinance has been postponed. The council chambers contained a large gallery which was quite disappointed because nothing was done with the measure.

The serving of the writ of certiorari from the state supreme court, ordering all proceedings stayed until April 7 in the Shoulund saloon revocation, caused a flurry of excitement to pass through the gallery. The chief query was whether or not Commissioner Hicken would cause the arrest of Shoulund for selling without a license, but no answer was forthcoming. The commissioner expressed the opinion that Shoulund might be arrested but that he would take the matter up with the city attorney before proceeding.

Smoke Ordinance.

A new smoke ordinance, one which it is believed will be effective, was given its first reading. It prohibits the emission of black smoke for more than six minutes in any hour. The penalty is a fine of not to exceed $100 or imprisonment for not more than eighty-five days.

Ruben Johnson, secretary of the city civil service commission, sent in a communication asking the council to decide whether or not the secretaries of the commissioners of the various divisions should come under civil service regulations. The matter was referred to Mayor Prince as head of the division of public affairs.

A resolution was passed allowing O. B. Cole $115 for injuries sustained by his horse when the animal fell into an unprotected ditch in Bruce street.

The ordinance designed to make East Fond du Lac a residence district, which failed of passage last week, was reconsidered. It was amended to exclude that territory between the railroad tracks and the river and then passed. This leaves the water front property without restriction and affords protection to the rest of the division against the erection of industrial plants, public stables or garages, hotels and apartment houses.

The ordinance appropriating $40,000 for the purchase of cast iron pipe for the water and light department was given its third reading and passed. An ordinance making the territory between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues east and Fourth and Sixth streets a residence district was given its first reading. Ordinances appropriating $6,850 for the purchase of material for the water and light department, $175 for the printing of the annual report of the water and light department and $2,000 for the purchase of oats for the fire department were given their first reading.

The contract for 140,000 gallons, more or less, of road oil for use on Duluth streets the coming season was awarded to the Pure Oil company on their low bid of 4.43 cents per gallon. The contract for two oil sprayers costing $500 was awarded to the Austin-Western company.

A resolution was passed directing the payment of $545 to the widow of Emil Johnson, a refund on the unused portion of the saloon license issued to Johnson at 2011 West Superior street. The saloon was closed last December under the state law which provides that all saloon licenses shall become void upon the death of the licensee.

The pay of the librarian at the West end was increased from $30 to $35 per month because of the longer hours of service which will be required at the new quarters.

A settlement of $40 with the Northern Cold Storage company for the breaking of an ornamental light standard on East Superior street between First and Second avenues was authorized.

W. J. Hatley appied for a transfer of the pool and billiard table licenses at 410 Central avenue to 301 West Superior street, downstairs.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

MRS. MARY WILSON DIES AT SON'S HOME

Mrs. Mary E. Wilson, 77 years old, mother of Coryate S. Wilson, former city attorney, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her son, 1615 East Second street, following an illness of several months.

Mrs. Wilson was born in Pennsylvania and was married in 1866 to Franklin Wilson, the latter dying here about eighteen months ago. They both came to Duluth in 1902, but since the death of Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson had made her home with her son. He is the only survivor.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the residence, Rev. C. N. Thorp of the Pilgrim Congregational church officiating. Interment will be at the Forest Hill cemetery.

COASTING INJURIES MAY PROVE FATAL

John Johnson, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson of Alborn, who was injured while coasting near his home last Sunday, was brought to St. Luke's hospital yesterday afternoon and is reported this morning to be in a very grave condition.

The boy is suffering severe internal injuries, in addition to an attack of pneumonia, superinduced by exposure at the time of the accident. The boy was coasting with several playmates, when his sled collided with a wagon. He is being atended by Dr. Robert Graham.

The Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Easily and Cheaply Made at Home. Saves You $2.

This plan makes a pint of cough syrup—enough to last a family a long time. You couldn't buy as much or as good cough syrup for $2.50.

Simple as it is, it gives almost instant relief and usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This is partly due to the fact that it is slightly laxative, stimulates the appetite and has an excellent tonic effect. It is pleasant to take—children like it. An excellent remedy, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchial asthma.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

Pine is one of the oldest and best known remedial agents for the throat membranes. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this mixture have endeared it to thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FORMER BODYGUARD OF ROOSEVELT KILLED

PATRICK J. DORE.

Westville, Okla., March 3.—Patrick Dore was shot and killed on a street in Westville. Dore was shot three times in the back and Andy Folsom is in custody. Recent trouble between Dore and Folsom is supposed to have originated over guardianship matters.

Dore for several years was prominent in standpat Republican politics, but he joined the Progressives. He was one of Col. Roosevelt's body guard at the Chicago convention. For several years he was postmaster in Westville, and when he resigned Mrs. Gore was appointed to succeed him. He was wealthy and owned the electric light plant and several business houses in Westville and thousands of acres of land. During the Republican convention in Chicago in 1912, Dore knocked down two Taft men in a fight over decisions on contests rendered by the Republican national committee.

No disagreeable odor or taste that scientists find in beer in light bottles.

"It is interesting to note the observation that beer in colorless bottles exposed to diffused light will undergo a change, precipitating a heavy sediment and taking on a disagreeable odor and taste."

Extract from Die Theorie und Praxis der Malzbereitung und Bierfabrikation. Published by Director Julius E. Thausing, Leipzig, 1893, Fourth Edition, page 920.

This opinion was rendered impartially and in the interest of science.

The slightest taint of impurity ruins the healthfulness of beer.

FR. M'CARTHY IS SUMMONED

Chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital Succumbs to Old Age.

Was Widely Known in Canada and the Northwest.

Rev. Father Joseph McCarthy, the first priest to have charge of a Winnipeg congregation, and chaplain at St. Mary's hospital for the last eight years, died there at 3 o'clock this morning following an illness brought on by old age. He was 75 years old.

Present at the bedside when Father McCarthy passed away, were his nephew, Joseph McCarthy of St. Paul; his niece, Miss Mary McCarthy of Winnipeg, Rev. D. Guillet, and several sisters and nurses.

At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning a solemn funeral service will be held at the St. Jean Baptiste church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, where the body will remain until 7 o'clock in the evening. At that time it will be taken to the Canadian Northern station and placed on the Winnipeg train. Another funeral service will be held at Winnipeg preceding the burial.

Accompanying the body will be Fathers Charles Cahill, P. J. Magnan and O. Plourde.

Born in Dublin.

Rev. Father McCarthy was born in the city of Dublin in 1839, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas McCarthy. He was educated at Dublin and in 1860 he joined the Oblate Order. In 1862 he was sent to Canada and was first employed as professor in St. Joseph's college at Ottawa. He came to the Red River valley five years later and in 1869 was ordained to the priesthood by Mgr. Tache.

REV. FR. McCARTHY, O. M. I.

Following his ordination Father McCarthy lived at the archbishop's palace, being for a short time employed as his secretary. He was then entrusted with the laying of the foundation for the new St. Mary's parish. In the spring of the same year he began saying mass regularly in a house on the corner of Notre Dame and Victoria streets.

Although it has been said that Rev. F. Baudin was the first parish priest of St. Mary's, Father McCarthy was never disposed to relinquish this honor, which he claimed. It was he also who conducted the first school for boys in the parish.

In the later '70s Father McCarthy did a great deal of missionary work, being stationed at different times at Pointe des Chenes, Lake Manitoba and in other places. In 1881 he returned to Winnipeg and became secretary to Archbishop Tache, which position he held until 1888, when he was again attached to St. Mary's church.

Was Highly Esteemed.

In 1894, Father McCarthy received many tokens of esteem from the clergy and citizens on the occasion of his silver jubilee. Two years later he went to Ireland to make a study of the separate school question and on his return published some of his observations in the Northwest Review, which were very widely discussed at the time. In 1904 he again went to Ireland and upon his return was transferred to Duluth. He was then appointed chaplain of St. Mary's hospital, where he remained up to his death.

MISSOURIAN NEW HEAD OF FOREIGN RELATIONS

Washington, March 3.—By resolution of the senate, Senator Stone of Missouri was made chairman of the foreign relations committee, succeeding the late Senator Bacon.

GANGSTER SNEERS AT MURDER VERDICT

New York, March 3.—There was a sneer on the face of Oresto Shilliton, a gangster, as he listened last night to the verdict of murder in the first degree by a jury which tried him for slaying Probationary Policeman William Heaney, March 3, 1913. Charles Teare, another policeman, and John Rizzo, a citizen, were killed by Shilliton a few seconds before he fired at Heaney. He will be sentenced to death next Friday.

FAILURE TO ENFORCE LAW CAUSE OF WRECK

Boston, Mass., March 3.—Responsibility for the wreck of the tank steamer Oklahoma, which broke in two off the coast of New Jersey on Jan. 4, with the loss of twenty-six lives, is placed wholly on the failure to put in force a legal provision that would control and standardize the construction of steam vessels. The report of the Federal inspectors was filed here today.

MISS HEPPNER NOT GUILTY OF PERJURY

Chicago, March 3.—Miss Aileen Heppner, accused of perjury in connection with the Henning-Funk alienation suit, today was found not guilty by a jury before Judge MacDonald.

Miss Heppner was a witness in the suit of John C. Henning, a bellboy, against Clarence S. Funk, former general manager of the International Harvester company, for alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Henning. The Henning suit resulted in a vindication of Mr. Funk. Later conspiracy charges were filed against some of the participants in the alienation suit, and Daniel Donahoe, attorney for Henning, was found guilty of conspiracy to defame Mr. Funk.

Miss Heppner had testified that she saw Mr. Funk and Mrs. Henning in a Chicago hotel. In the conspiracy trial Mrs. Henning testified that she never had met Mr. Funk.

NOT IN FOREST PRIMEVAL

Amid Murmuring Pines and the Hemlocks, But on Palefaces' Railroad Train, Did This Indian Romance Begin.

Western plains and laughing waters played no part in a real Indian romance which culminated today in this city when John Connors of Baraga, Mich., and Miss Josie Jess of Poteau, Okla., both of Indian blood, took vows which made them man and wife.

Not even the slightest suggestion of the tepee and old-time war dance marked the ceremony. On the contrary, the marriage was very much in accordance with the established rules, customs and usages of the paleface. They were married shortly before noon today by S. W. Gilpin, judge of the probate court.

On a railroad train speeding north from St. Louis to St. Paul about ten months ago, the romance had its inception. It was on that occasion that they first met. They became interested in each other and parted with an understanding that they would correspond with each other. After they had decided to get married, they picked Duluth for the place and arranged a meeting here today.

The bride is an unusually attractive dark-eyed young woman, who has trained herself as a professional nurse. Connors has a position in his home town at Baraga, where they will reside. They will leave this afternoon on a honeymoon trip over the South Shore road.

AMOS TUCK FRENCH'S WIFE GETS DIVORCE

Newport, R. I., March 3.—Mrs. Pauline Le Roy French was granted a divorce from Amos Tuck French, New York banker, by Justice Barrows in the superior court today. All the testimony was by deposition. Neglect to provide was alleged, and no defense was made by Mr. French.

The plaintiff swore that she left her husband in August, 1911, after he had told her that he never would live with her again.

Mrs. French was formerly Miss Pauline Le Roy and lived here, where the two were married Dec. 2, 1885. They have five children, and maintained residences at Tuxedo, N. Y., and in this city.

ROSENWALD FILES FOR COMMISSIONER

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—John F. Rosenwald of Madison today filed with Secretary of State Schmahl for the Republican nomination for member of the state railroad and warehouse commission. He will oppose Commissioner Charles F. Staples of Dakota county, who has been a member of the commission since 1900.

Mr. Rosenwald was a candidate at the primaries two years ago against Charles E. Elmquist and came within a few hundred votes of landing the nomination.

FORGOT CAB RATE; FINED

Jehu Overcharges Just Fifty Cents and Is Arrested.

Once upon a time, before the taxicab made its appearance, whenever a train unloaded its passengers, "Keb, Sir?" was a common greeting, and many availed themselves of a hack to ride to their destination. But soon the taxicab came along, as do all new inventions, and broke into the realm of the cab. It made heavier inroads each year, until the cab is now little more than an ornament at a station. The cries of "Keb, sir, keb?" are still heard, but they meet with little response. Also, since the lid went on Duluth, there are few belated "packages" to deliver to their homes.

William Hutchinson, hack driver in Duluth for the last nineteen years, was so happy yesterday afternoon when two young men stepped into his cab, that he forgot about the rules and regulations of Duluth. He forgot just how much he must charge his passengers because business had been so scarce that in reality he had almost forgotten the exact prices.

After Hutchinson had driven Heikka Ikonen and Victor Lautiainen from the Soo station at Sixth avenue west to 148 South First avenue east, he thought he would get as much as he could, for it was problematical when another passenger would come along. So he charged the two young men 75 cents each. They protested at first, but later paid the fare.

But that wasn't all. This morning Ikonen and Lautiainen went to Chief Troyer and complained of the overcharge. They had learned, they said, that it was too high and wanted justice done. Chief Troyer swore out a warrant for the arrest of Hutchinson, and shortly before noon he was brought in to police court for violating the city ordinance, which specifically places a charge of 50 cents a mile. And as the drive from the station to 148 First avenue east is but nine blocks, Hutchinson found himself up against it.

He pleaded guilty to the charge, and because of his clean record the last nineteen years, Judge Cutting let him off with a minimum fine of $5 and costs, or five days. He paid his fine.

REFUSED A DRINK; BREAKS SHOWCASE

Just because John Crinklaw, saloon keeper at 208 West Superior street, refused to give him a drink, Gust Johnson, 48 years old, gave vent to his anger by smashing in the cigar showcase in the front part of the saloon yesterday afternoon.

Crinklaw appeared against Johnson in police court this morning, the latter having been arrested yesterday afternoon as drunk and disorderly. The former told the court that Johnson was drunk when he came in the saloon and for this reason, Crinklaw said, he refused him a drink. Johnson then began to swear and when told to get out, smashed the showcase.

Johnson, who was arraigned early this morning, pleaded not guilty, but was later found guilty and fined $50 and costs or sixty days on the work farm.

GRAND FORKS AGAIN DEFEATS COMMISSION

Grand Forks, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The commission form of government was beaten a second time at the polls yesterday. The vote was very small little interest being shown, the vote being 298 for and 825 against. About four years ago the commission form was voted down.

New Grand Forks Commissioner.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 3.—Thomas F. Mooney of Fergus yesterday was elected a member of the board of county commissioners to succeed the late P. N. Korsmo of Northwood. Mr. Mooney's election was brought about on the twenty-fifth ballot, when a unanimous vote for the Fergus man resulted.

SHARK IS CAUGHT; "SIGN OF SPRING"

Boston, Mass., March 3.—An early spring was predicted by Boston fishermen when they learned today that a shark had been hooked off the Middle Bank. It is declared that the appearance of sharks in these waters is a sure sign of an early mackerel season and of spring.

FEEL HEADACHY, DIZZY, BILIOUS? CLEAN YOUR LIVER! A DIME A BOX

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous, constipated matter, gases and bile generated in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, sickening headache. Cascarets will remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on and out of the bowels. One taken to-night straightens you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too.

BANKERS SEE IMPROVEMENT

Look Forward to Heavy Capital Investments in Duluth.

Industries Attracted By Steel Plant and Rate Decision.

The demand for money to finance lumbering operations promises to be active throughout the present month, they aver. Considerable stuff is already being moved by the smaller operators, and the returns for it are being disbursed through the various commercial channels.

It is noted that the call for lumber is becoming more active as shown in some large sales recently effected to Eastern buyers.

Outfitting of the steamers in the harbor for the opening of navigation, will, they point out, be a strong factor during the next few weeks, meaning the disbursement of large sums for wages and materials.

"Our advices lead us to look forward to the investment of considerable capital in industrial propositions here during the present year," said a banker this morning. "We may expect to hear more talk of factory propositions as the steel plant approaches completion. The advertising we have had through it and the freight rate decision will undoubtedly lead to the gradual establishing of other enterprises at this point."

Judging by recent expressions of opinion by financial men, the spirit of optimism is becoming more widely diffused at the leading centers.

Trade Conditions.

In its March letter on trade conditions, the City National bank of this city says: "It is well understood that sentiment and confidence have a great deal to do with the general condition of business. The sentiment grows more wholesome each week and confidence has been steadily increasing.

"The improved condition is felt in a greater or less degree in almost every line of trade. Business is most active and sales are best in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Georgia and collections are most satisfactory in these states. The poorest conditions are in the South Central and South Western states, not including Texas, where business is getting into fine shape."

The National City bank of Chicago in its March circular says: "People feel more hopeful. Demand for best investments is phenomenal, depleting supply of many classes of securities. It is doubtful whether railroads can longer defer purchasing new equipment. The administration seems alive to the need of more revenue. Money decline here at least should not go much if any further. Seasonable demands the next eight weeks are likely to aggregate a large total."

Charles H. Pearson of the Merchants' & Manufacturers' Bank of Sharon, Pa., speaking of the general industrial and business outlook, said: "We look for a general improvement in business and industrials at once. Our mills have increased their percentage of operations in the last week or ten days and every one is hopeful. Our merchants almost without exception state that their business last year was the best in their history notwithstanding that the steel mills worked only about half to two-thirds of capacity for the last six months. With the mills working in full we are very optimistic."

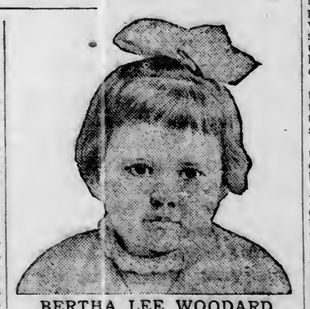
LEADING MEN JOIN IRISH BILL PROTEST

London, March 3.—Lord Roberts, Viscount Milsner, Baron Balfour of Burleigh, Rudyard Kipling, Prof. Albert Von Dicey and Sir William Ramsey and a score of others have issued an appeal to their fellow countrymen to follow their example in signing a declaration which is milder in form that the Ulster covenant, by which they hold themselves, in case the Irish home rule bill becomes a law without first being submitted to the judgment of the nation, "justified in taking or supporting any action that may be effective to prevent its being put in operation."

Teach Your Child How to Be Healthy

Regular Bowel Movement From Infancy Insures Good Health In Later Years.



BERTHA LEE WOODARD

We cannot all start life with the advantages of money, but every child born is entitled to the heritage of good health. Through unfortunate ignorance or carelessness in the feeding of a baby its tiny stomach may become deranged. The disorder spreads to the bowels and before the mother realizes it the two chief organs on which the infant's comfort and health depend are causing it great suffering. If the condition is allowed to continue grave ailments often result.

There is, however, no occasion for alarm, and the sensible thing to do—but it should be done instantly—is to give the baby a small dose of a mild laxative-tonic. In the opinion of a great many people, among them such well-known persons as the parents of Bertha Lee Woodard, 3 years old, of Moultrie, Ga., the proper remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. I. N. Woodard says that little Bertha was troubled with constipation for over a year, and that after trying several different kinds of remedies she found her relief in Syrup Pepsin. It is a mild, pleasant-tasting laxative, which every person likes, does not gripe nor cramp, and contains that most excellent of all digestants, pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is especially intended for infants, children, women, old people and all others to whom harsh cathartics, salt waters, pills, etc., are distressing. In fact, in the common disorders of life, such as constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, and the various other disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels nothing is more suitable than this mild laxative-tonic, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Three generations of people are using it today, and thousands of families keep it constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the size bought by families who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

ROTARY CLUB IN LINE FOR THE MIDSUMMER FESTIVAL

Enthusiastically Approves Plan and Will Appoint Its Committee.

G. H. Bate Is Elected President to Succeed F. E. Randall.

G. H. BATE,

The Duluth Rotary club, at its annual meeting last evening, elected officers and enthusiastically approved the proposed annual summer festival. Several important matters came up during the evening in the way of suggested public improvements, but none seemed to be greeted with the spontaneous welcome that the summer festival received. When the motion was made to approve the festival several talks were made in its favor and the vote showed unanimous approval.

The officers elected were as follows: G. H. Bate, president; Vern R. Culbertson, vice president; Charles W. Oppel, secretary; A. H. Davis, treasurer; A. C. Kienly, statistician; August Fitger, sergeant-at-arms; J. H. Dight and G. A. Sherwood, directors. The retiring officers were: F. E. Randall, president; G. A. Sherwood, vice president; G. H. Bate, secretary; J. H. Dight, treasurer; George Fairley, sergeant-at-arms; A. J. McCollough, statistician; and E. F. Burg and A. D. Goodman, directors. About seventy members were present.

When the matter of the summer festival came up, E. J. Filiatrault, past president, and F. E. Randall, retiring president, both made speeches in its favor. Mr. Filiatrault spoke of the great advertisement that the Mardi Gras is for the South as a whole and for New Orleans in particular; and of other annual celebrations in other parts of the country, and what they do for the cities that make the most of their assets. He spoke of the summer time in Duluth, asserting that it is the proper season of the year in Duluth to advertise and make the most of, and expressed the belief that the Daniel Greysolon Sieur Du Lhut pageant would become an annual event that would attract thousands annually from all parts of the county and would spread abroad Duluth's fame not only as an ideal place of summer residence but also its value as a commercial center of the first rank.

Other Festivals.

Mr. Randall spoke much in the same line but laid special stress on the rose festival at Portland, Or., and the flower festival at Pasadena, both of which are annual magnets which draw thousands year after year. Mr. Randall declared it as his belief that the midsummer pageant proposed for Duluth would act as just such a magnet for people residing in heat-oppressed cities and who seek some place where they may obtain relief and entertainment at the same time. He also said that he believes that the festival proposed for 1915 would attract many from the East who, headed for the Panama exposition at San Francisco, would have themselves routed this way. President Bate will appoint a committee of three in a few days to act with similar committees named by other organizations to look after the matter.

Others who gave talks—on Rotarianism—were W. D. Gordon of Minneapolis and W. Randall of St. Paul, brother of F. E. Randall.

Road to Carlton.

August Fitger made a report on the matter of a roadway between Fond du Lac and Carlton. He advocated the using of the right-of-way of the old St. Paul & Duluth road, claiming that with but little building up it would make an ideal highway for that stretch, and would go a long way to making a good road between here and the Twin Cities. The idea received the indorsement of the club.

Another important matter that came up was the train service between Duluth and Hinckley. One of the members of the club has received a letter from a farmer near Hinckley who says that if there were better service between the two points, Duluth would get the bulk of business from that country, now well filled up, and with more people going into it all of the time. He suggested in his letter that if a train left Hinckley for Duluth about 7 o'clock in the morning and on the return trip left here at 7 in the evening, it would be well patronized with passengers and merchandise, and that Duluth would profit to the extent of many thousands of dollars a month. The club passed a motion to have a committee apointed to see what can be done.

BOY SCOUTS ARE MENACE

Are Future Armed Guards of Capital, Declares Kirkpatrick.

Socialist Speaker Scores Militarism and Pleads for Socialism.

The Boy Scouts of America were branded as an incipient armed guard organized by capitalists for future warfare with the working classes by George R. Kirkpatrick of New York, Socialist lecturer and an anti-militarist, who spoke last evening before an audience of about 1,500 at the Auditorium.

The speaker deplored the existence of armed forces and cited the state militia, the Cossacks in Russia, and then struck at the Boy Scouts of America, whom he said were largely recruited from the sons of laboring men. In ten years said the speaker the workingmen of today who are giving their sons to the Boy Scout organizations will meet them in armed industrial warfare.

Mr. Kirkpatrick maintained that militarism is doing much to destroy the working classes and made a strong appeal for the organization of Duluth Socialists to help make the fight for national Socialism.

The present conflict of capital and labor was traced from its origin among the tribes of uncivilized men, and the working classes of today were termed mere "wage slaves."

Declaring that capital always has an armed guard ready to stop the progress of the wage earner, the speaker said such a guard was ready in Duluth to put a stop to any strikes that might result from labor disputes.

The imminent danger of warfare and bloodshed in the states of Michigan, Colorado and West Virginia was pointed out, and Mr. Kirkpatrick warned the mine operators and the state officials to beware of infringing upon the rights of the laboring classes lest they rise up and strike down their opponents.

The three leading political parties of the United States were flayed as being the tools of capital and the maintenance of an army and navy was scored.

Following the lecture the three local unions met to frame plans for a closer organization in Duluth. A large number of new members were taken in.

Oliver C. Wilson, an organizer from Iowa, is in Duluth this week, and it is expected that at least 200 new members will be taken in as a result of his work.

Charles Edward Russell will speak here Wednesday evening, March 11.

GLYNN URGES LAND BANKS IN NEW YORK

Outlines Plan He Says Would Save Farmers Millions.

Albany, N. Y., March 3.—Legislation to permit the formation of land banks in the state was urged last night by Governor Glynn in a special message.

A system of amortization loans, which would be issued by a large central bank, was given strong indorsement by the governor. He would have the central bank issue debentures to be secured by mortgages placed by savings and loans acting as feeders for a central bank. Existing associations as well as those to be organized among farmers would be stockholders in the central bank. Members of all these associations would be allowed the privilege of borrowing money on the long time amortization plan.

Save Farmers Millions.

The message declared that the adoption of this plan would save New York farmers whose land now is mortgaged for approximately $100,000,000, a total of $24,132,000 if converted into ten-year loans. This system, he said, was favored by the State Agricultural society and the state grange, as well as the committee on rural credit appointed by the commission to revise the banking laws.

Another system to authorize the formation of land banks and stock institutions by the subscription of private capital also was mentioned in the message. There were many advocates of this plan, the governor said.

Bills advocating each of the systems were introduced in both branches of the legislature. The governor in his message urged the passage of either or both of them.

CHOSEN BY BALLOT.

New Rockford, N. D., Democrats Vote on New Postmaster.

New Rockford, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter Priest has received the indorsement of the local Democrats for the postmastership. At a meeting attended by about 100 Democrats an informal ballot was taken in which votes were cast for several men, but all withdrew except Priest and Frank Goodrich. On the first formal ballot Priest led and on the second he was unanimously indorsed.

Mother of Thirteen Is 36.

Beresford, S. D., March 3.—Mrs. Philip Gerard, who lives with her husband on a farm near here, gave birth a few days ago to her thirteenth child. The mother is but 36 years old. The physician called to the home noticed an unusually large number of small children and remarked that perhaps there was a gathering of neighbors' children, and was proudly informed that all belonged to the household. Six of the children are boys and seven girls.

First Infantile Paralysis.

Manning, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first two cases of infantile paralysis known in Dunn county caused the deaths of John Reimer and his 16-year-old daughter within three days. No other cases are known to exist in the county and how the infection spread to this family is unknown. The other members of the family have so far escaped an attack.

TAKE SODA FOR ACID STOMACH, SOURNESS, GAS

A 10-grain Sodagen tablet, taken any time, followed by a glass of water will instantly neutralize acidity; absorb gases, and sweeten the stomach, thus relieving indigestion without fail. Indigestion does not result from a lack of digestive juices as most folks believe, but from an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which retards digestion and starts food fermentation. Then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon producing a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch up gas or have flatulence, heartburn or nausea.

Any pharmacist can supply a package of these 10-grain Sodagen tablets and thousands of stomach sufferers will be able to eat without dread after ridding the digestive organs of excess acid this way, says a noted authority who further states that this Antacid is entirely harmless, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

"QUIZ COREY," SAYS LAMAR

Perkins and Others Also May Be Asked About "Rebates."

Duluth Railroads Named as Paying Illegally to Steel Corporation.

Washington, March 3.—Counsel for David Lamar, whose charges that the United States Steel corporation has received illegal rebates from railroads during the last six years are being investigated by the interstate commerce commission, today asked for subpoenas for George W. Perkins, William E. Corey, former president of the corporation; Senator Oliver, G. M. Freer of Columbus, Walter Scranton and William B. Dixon.

Charles A. Severance, attorney for the Steel corporation, was delayed by the railroad blockade and cross-examination of Lamar did not begin until late in the day.

William H. Green of Craighton, Neb., testified yesterday he had no evidence based on personal knowledge, and presented David Lamar as a witness who had.

Duluth Roads Named.

Lamar asserted that, during the last six years, the Steel corporation had received not less than $75,000,000 in rebates from railroads, direct evidence of which could be obtained by examination of the books of the corporation and subsidiary transportation companies. He named the Union Railway, Duluth & Iron Range railroad, Pittsburg & Conneaut Dock company, Bessemer Steamship company, Duluth, Missable & Northern, and Elgin, Joliet & Eastern, as the companies which had paid the rebates.

He charged that the rebates were received through a "series of devices."

"The form of the device," said Mr. Lamar, "was simply to raise the freight charges actually collected and a reasonable charge, was paid back to the Steel corporation, owners of the stock, in the form of dividends, which ranged from 25 per cent to 200 per cent."

BULL MOOSERS WIN IN ONE MAINE TOWN

Portland, Me., March 3.—Progressives were successful in Auburn, the only one of the ten Maine cities holding elections yesterday in which a straight Progressive ticket was opposed by straight Republican and Democratic tickets. A. W. Fowles was re-elected mayor, with a Progressive city council.

Democratic mayors were defeated at Bath and at Ellsworth, where Republicans were elected, and at Lewiston, where candidates upheld by a fusion of Progressives, Republicans and Citizens' party were elected. Rockland Democrats upset Republican control. In the remaining cities there were no upsets, Republicans electing mayors of Eastport and South Portland. Powell and Waterville both elected Democrats.

THREE MEN ARRESTED UNDER THE MANN ACT

Two Women Accuse Them --One "Son of Millionaire."

San Francisco, March 3.—Federal warrants for the arrest of Edmund H. Damon and Frank Corbett of New York and Joseph Schwantz of Cleveland, Ohio, charging them with violation of the Mann act, were sworn out by the United States district attorney's office following a story told by Anna Thorpe and Lillian Lynch, both of Jacksonville, Fla.

The women assert that the three men transported them to San Francisco for immoral purposes. Corbett and Schwartz are held here and Damon, who is said to have claimed he is the son of a Florida millionaire, is under arrest at San Luis Obispo.

Once Rich Prospector Dies.

Anaconda, Mont., March 3.—John A. MacMaster, a pioneer of Montana, died here on his 70th birthday. He was a close friend of the late Marcus Daly, the copper king, and for years they prospected together throughout California, Utah and Colorado. He made several fortunes during his lifetime, but sank most of his money in new prospect holes.

IN ONE MINUTE! CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN---COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

Stops Nasty Discharge, Clears Stuffed Head, Heals Inflamed Air Passages and You Breathe Freely.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Editor Tells How D. D. D. Prescription Cured His Eczema

Clergyman and Banker Also Write How They Secured Relief, Thanks to D. D. D.

H. G. Hotchkiss, Editor Echo, Prophettstown, Ill.: Remember, mine was eczema of fifteen years standing. Now I am completely healed, after 4 bottles of D. D. D. I have seen a case of 25 years standing cured. I have seen my own doctor cured of barber's itch, which he could not cure himself.

F. R. Tesar, Banker, Hopkinton, Ia.: I treated with three doctors for six months. They did me no good; my face and scalp were full of the disease. I applied D. D. D. Result—my face is as smooth as a baby's.

Rev. L. I. Downing, Pastor 8th Ave. Presbyterian Church, Roanoke, Va.: For three years I suffered, intensely so. I have at last found relief in D. D. D. I am no longer tortured—completely cured. I have no hesitancy in acknowledging the great virtues of this specific.

The cures of D. D. D. are past belief. All druggists know and are glad to recommend this soothing, cooling liquid.

DOWN through the ages it has generally been declared that without the character of Hamlet a fairly well known play of that name would not prosper. And now comes the question as to whether the Chicago White Sox will continue to progress and prosper without the valiant services of Ed Walsh.

Literary essays emanating from Paso Robles, Cal., would indicate that Edward is not so sure that the arm that served up the famous spitter is in prime form. Old Bonesetter Reese gave the Walsh salary wing the high priced once over and then prescribed various forms of treatment. This is all well and good, but they seldom come back, especially when they have been harnessed to the wheel of labor as long as Walsh, and it may be that Charles Albert Comiskey will have to do without the eminent services of one of the greatest pitchers that ever lived.

Traveling in Style.

WHEN the genial Gene Debs was running for the White House, depending upon the Socialistic ticket and a number of votes to assist in the cause, he traveled across our broad continent in a train that kept scheduled time and that was about all. When the said train pulled into Duluth it looked like a tired hound that had run for a rabbit and lost out.

But Debs was only running for president. Opposed to the plebeian plodding of the Terre Haute thinker comes the regal style and much munificence of Willie Ritchie, variously accused of being the champion lightweight pugilist of the world.

On the train that bore William from Frisco to Milwaukee were accumulated accoutrements that would cause a light of pleasure to glow in the dull countenance of one of those small and dyspeptic kings of the other side.

A valet, barber, masseur and perhaps even a friend or two are in the retinue that crossed the map with Willie. All this trouble and expense to prepare the large noise in the lightweight division for the fuss with Wolgast. And yet we have heard well meaning and serious minded people say that all pugilists are brutes.

The Blow That Hurts.

HARRY CARR, one of the ablest and also most interesting sporting writers of the Pacific coast, comes through with a royal roast for Mexican Joe Rivers that should get through the skin of the more or less hide-bound Greaser.

The Los Angeles Times man declares the Mex is dodging every lightweight with two whole fists and hoping and searching for some cripple that he may whip, in order that some way or somehow he may get another crack at Willie Ritchie.

All this is in line with the belief of some of the followers of boxing, who have maintained that Rivers was stung in the match with Wolgast, as the Mex was of the strong and joyous belief that little Ad had gone to the races.

Freddy Welsh and Rivers.

WELSH, the great friend and admirer of Fra Albertus Hubbard, is going to tango with Jose Rivers. One is extremely doubtful if Rivers could have laid a thudding glove upon the agile Briton of some years back. But time wears down men as well as hotel china sets, and it is quite safe to presume that the Welsh of today is not the Welsh of the figurative yesterday.

And even at that it is a safe and conservative bet that there will be no knockout in the twenty rounds of milling. Rivers should not be able to penetrate the guard of the Briton and Welsh carries a papier mache punch.

The Farewell of Zbyszko.

LET us all hope that the final appearance of Stanislaus Zbyszko in this city will mark the greatest contest of the season's wrestling events. For three years the annual visit of the gigantic Pole has been one of the athletic events of the year. As time has passed Zby has improved. When the bear-like Pole first came to the United States he had nothing much but marvelous strength and inexhaustible powers of endurance to make him one of the greatest of all Greco-Roman wrestlers of the world.

Now the huge Pole is one of the most finished catch-as-catch can wrestlers of the world, and with Gotch out of the running there is not a doubt but that Zbyszko stands as the greatest grappler in the world.

It is fitting that upon the last appearance of Zbyszko here that he is going to be opposed by a wrestler of the class of Westergaard. Large Jess is some "rassler;" regarded as one as the greatest of the American heavyweights and a wrestler that will make the Pole show all he has to win.

In securing this contest Duluth has secured one of the notable contests of the year, as was the case in the Beell-Yokel match. Here the fans want the very best and in the coming meeting of Zbyszko and Westergaard, two of the real wrestlers among all the world, the patrons of the sport will behold a contest that will outrank any that has been staged as yet during the present year among the heavyweights.

The contest between Ketonen and Sailor Jack may be the final appearance of the little Finn here. Negotiations are being carried on by Will Thornton, the manager of Waino, and it is expected that the little Finn will leave early next week for Salt Lake City to prepare for a meeting with Yokel.

Yokel refused to meet Waino in Fort Collins last July. The world's champion has steadfastly refused to give Ketonen a chance at the crown. Public opinion will sooner or later force Yokel into the meeting, and take it from us the followers of the champion of the world may be treated to one of the surprises of the year.

CAMPAIGN FOR OLYMPIC FUND

A. A. U. Hopes to Gather $100,000 Within Its Own Ranks.

New York, March 3.—The collection of a $100,000 Amateur Athletic union fund for the American Olympic team of 1916 was planned here at a conference between President Andrew Lill, Jr., and Secretary James E. Sullivan, of the A. A. U. It was decided to open the campaign for 1916 funds with a circular letter to each club and allied organizations, requesting the assessment of a given sum on each member of such club.

The letter will be forwarded to the secretary of each club with the request that each organization fix the sum which its members will be requested to pay toward the support of the athletes who will represent this nation at Berlin two years hence.

The Amateur Athletic union officials hope to collect this sum within their own ranks during the next eighteen months by means of a persistent subscription campaign. The co-operation of other organizations such as the public schools athletic leagues, recreation and playgrounds associations, will be enlisted. It is hoped that the children enrolled in these organizations throughout the country can be enlisted to contribute 1 cent each.

Secretary Sullivan departed last night for San Francisco to arrange for the international athletic meet in connection with the Panama-Pacific exposition. Aside from a short stay in Chicago he will go direct to the Pacific coast.

TAFT AND MURPHY HOLD CONFERENCE

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 3.—Charles W. Murphy of Chicago held a two-hour conference here yesterday with Charles P. Taft, who recently purchased the controlling interest in the Chicago National league club from Murphy. Baseball was under discussion, but neither Mr. Taft nor Mr. Murphy would announce that anything of a definite nature regarding the future of the Chicago Nationals had happened.

"The entire transaction of selling my stock in the Cubs was done by wire and this is the first time since then that I have seen Mr. Taft," said Mr. Murphy. "There is absolutely nothing of news to give out."

WESTERGAARD EXPECTS TO WIN, SAYS BARTON

Minneapolis Sport Writer Says Big Long Swede Is in the Best Condition of His Career for the Zbyszko Contest.

(By George A. Barton.)

Duluth wrestling promoters are to be congratulated upon securing the Zbyszko-Westergaard match which will be staged at the Auditorium next Friday night.

To the writer this looks like the best mat event of the season in America. Minneapolis promoters, as well as Chicago and Kansas City men, put in bids for the Zbyszko-Westergaard match but the Duluth promoters had the contest sewed up tight and there wasn't a chance to land it.

Westergaard is one of the leading American heavyweight grapplers, the others being Henry Ordeman of Minneapolis, and Charley Cutler of Chicago. Frank Gotch, king of them all, once told the writer that when Westergaard, Cutler and Ordeman are in the best of condition it is a toss-up who is the best man.

The big Des Moines Swede has everything necessary in the wrestling profession. He weighs 220 pounds when in the best of condition which is usually all the time, is powerful and is well versed in the fine points of the game. Many months of constant training with Frank Gotch gave Westergaard a knowledge of wrestling which was impossible to gain otherwise.

In a letter to me several days ago, Westergaard told me he expects to beat Zbyszko and was so confident of his ability to turn the trick that he asked me to book him in Minneapolis and several towns in Southern Minnesota.

Duluth has surely developed into a great wrestling city. I can remember some years back when a wrestling match would not draw a corporal's guard here, but under the capable management of the present promoters betting has been eliminated and the mat game placed upon a high plane.

For the last three years, Duluth has become one of the wrestling centers of the world, vieing with Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Des Moines, Omaha, Boston and Baltimore.

I am very anxious to see Weino Ketonen in action. I am told he is a wonderful wrestler and capable of taking the measure of Mike Yokel. If he can defeat the Utah bear he surely must be reckoned as a marvel.

I am nursing a hunch that Joe Carr can throw Ketonen. At any rate I am willing to match Joe with the Finn any time now and will split the money any way Ketonen says, but winner-take-all would suit Joseph and myself best.

TITLE HANDBALL GAMES HAVE BEEN POSTPONED

St. Paul has requested the Duluth Y. M. C. A. handball players to postpone their coming until March 13 and 14, as some of their men are not in condition.

Last night in the elimination contest Petkoff and Lavine defeated Johnson and Olson, 21-18, 17-21 and 21-19, in three hotly contested games. Johnson hurt his arm before the game but this should not detract from the speedy work of the young wrestler and the slack wire performer. Lohmann and Carney went down to defeat before Barry and Hanson in two interesting games, 21 to 18 and 21 to 16. Carney was not up to his usual form or the result might have been different.

In "B" class Burquist and Wood defeated McLennan and R. Smith, 21 to 13 and 21 to 14.

Wendlandt and Sturm are scheduled to meet Lavine and Petkoff, and Solle and McLean will meet Barry and Hanson this week.

Duluth has the following players on the hospital list: Lohmann, Barry, Johnson and Carney.

The recent lamented death of Forest Pease, who was on the handball committee, handicaps the association in this tournament, as he was counted on as a sure point winner in the singles. Dreves, Sturm and Dr. Clark are being groomed for the singles as well as the doubles and are practising daily. A large number of enthusiasts have vounteered to accompany the players to St. Paul Friday, March 13, and it is hoped that all the handball fans that are able to go will be on hand to witness the contests March 14.

HENDERSON WINS AGAIN

Green Duluth Horse Defeats Dean Oakley in Straight Heats.

On London road yesterday afternoon Jim Henderson, the great little Duluth horse, defeated Dean Oakley in straight heats, stepping the final half mile of the three in five pace in 1:04¾.

The win of yesterday gives to the green Duluth pacer two legs on the trophy offered by the United States Horseshoe company and makes the sensation of the local harness world the decided favorite in the remaining contests for the cup.

As the chief contender against Jim Henderson, Dean Oakley had been primed for the race of yesterday. But with the succession of the heats for the trophy the speed of the Henderson horse seems to increase, for Jim won all three of the heats and won them in convincing manner.

Horsemen here are elated over the remarkable showing made by the Duluth nag and believe that young Jim is destined to make a very good record on the tracks during the coming racing season. It is the intention of the owner of the nag to put him through a course of training for some of the racing on the Northwestern tracks.

It is probable that the next contest for the trophy offered by the horseshoe firm will be paced next week.

ROWING ASSOCIATION FOR GREATER GOTHAM

New York, March 3.—The organization of the New York Rowing association was announced here today. Delegates from sixteen boating organizations of the greater city signed the articles of organization and nine other associations are expected to seek membership, so that practically every rowing organization of importance within a radius of thirty miles of the city will be connected with the movement.

The new organization will take over the management of the annual Decoration day regatta on the Harlem river.

TILLMAN CONFIDENT OF HOLDING BROWN EVEN

The Minneapolis Boxer Has Hopes of Outpointing Range Boy and Winning the Popular Newspaper Decision.

BY BRUCE.

"Johnny Tillman expects to not only outpoint Pal Brown in the contest of tonight, but we will be very disappointed if Johnny is not returned the winner," quoth George A. Barton, the adviser of the little Minneapolis boxer.

"Johnny is in the best condition of his life. Tillman has been working with Johnny Sokol and some of the cracks of the Mill City, including Herb Catherwood and Eddie Wolf. In the matter of condition there will be no complaint from Tillman's corner.

"To get this contest it was necessary for Johnny to agree to the small end of the purse. We accepted this, simply because we believe that Johnny is one of the cleverest lightweights in the country and will get as good as even with Brown."

Barton is really confident that in the affray of this evening Tillman will outpoint the battler from the range. The Minneapolis newspaper man points out that Johnny had no trouble with Danny Goodman and has won all of his fights with comparative ease. When a man has yet to be beaten, it is usually the case that there are those who believe that he is not going to be beaten, and this is precisely the case with Tillman.

A win for Tillman means that he will be able to command bouts with the leaders of the lightweight division. A loss for Brown will mean that the championship aspirations of the range boy will suffer a severe setback and that the climb to the place where he can demand a chance at the championship will be just that much harder.

The Fight Means Much.

To both men the bout of this evening means a lot. It is the turning point in the career of both. A win for either means a step further in the pugilistic path—and a defeat for Brown means that for a time at least the dreams of pugilistic prominence in the light division will be shattered.

It is quite needless to say that both of the men are in prime condition. Brown has trained for the encounter as he has prepared for few contests in his career. Tillman, realizing that the big chance of his life is before him, has neglected not one single small detail of the strenuous course of preparation.

Tillman reached Superior late yesterday and will rest until the time to step into the ring.

Brown did the last hard work of his training siege yesterday and will step into the ring in grand shape. The long siege of training in Australia put the range battler in fine condition. The trip over on the boat tempered him off and Pal was ready to take up hard work again.

Preceding the main bout of the evening are a number of preliminary bouts that will be classy and entertaining. Abe O'Neil and Ven Cushway, Charley Jensen and Kid O'Malley and Young Nelson and Bob Saunders will figure in the preliminaries.

According to the present outlook one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed an athletic entertainment in this section of the Northwest will be present to witness the contest.

TWO NEW WORLD'S RECORDS SCORED

Indoor Meet of A. A. U. Noted for Record-Breaking Feats.

New York, March 3.—Five new champion records, two of which established new world's indoor marks, were made at the indoor national championship of the Amateur Athletic union at Madison Square Garden last night. Two other championship records were equaled. Thomas J. Halpin, Boston A. C., and Alvin T. Myers of the Irish A. C. set two new world's records. Halpin won the 600-yard run in the new time of 1:13 2-5. Myers, in the 300-yard run, established a record of 32 1-5.

The other events in which new championship figures were hung up were the two-mile walk, won by Richard F. Remer, Irish-American A. C., in 14-21 4-5; the 1,000-yard run, won by Abel R. Kiviat, Irish-American A. C., in 2:15 2-5, and the 2-mile run by Harry J. Smith, Bronx Church House, New York, in 9:18. Platt Adams of New York was a triple winner, winning the standing high jump, standing broad jump and pole vault for distance. Myers and Patrick J. McDonald, both of the Irish-American A. C., were double winners. In addition to making his record in the 300-yard run, Meyers captured the 75-yard dash. McDonald captured the 24-pound shot put and was first in throwing the 56-pound weight for height.

The championship banner was won by the Irish-American A. C., with the New Yorkers second and the Boston A. A. third.

FRICK BACK OF FEDERALS?

Some Pittsburg Millionaire Financing Outlaw Team in That Town.

Gilmore Says Federals Will Fight Defections of Players.

Chicago, March 3. — President Gilmore of the Federal league has announced that a "Pittsburg millionaire" had decided to become backer of the club in his town.

Stories that Henry C. Frick of Pittsburg had seriously contemplated taking an active part in the national game have been current for some time, and though Gilmore would not say Mr. Frick was the man, followers of the game here believe he is the one. The announcement followed a conversation over the long distance telephone between Gilmore and W. A. Kerr of Pittsburg, in which the latter is said to have promised that the deal would be closed on Thursday at New York.

The telephonic conversation led President Gilmore to declare that any attempt by organized baseball to sign players already signed by the Federals would be the beginning of a war that would threaten the foundations of the organized faction. This statement was made in answer to questions concerning the reported defection of Pitcher Blanding, who, it was said, finally had agreed to join the Cleveland team despite his contract with the Federals.

It was learned yesterday afternoon that Tom Seaton, pitcher last year with Philadelphia, would join the Chicago Federals. It was understood that Brooklyn was to get Seaton, but the allotment on Saturday gave him to Tinker's club.

Ground will be broken for the local Federal league plant Wednesday, President Weeghman said. Mayor Harrison has agreed to turn the first spade of dirt if his health permits. The contractors who bid for the privilege of building the stand all agreed to have it finished by April 21, by which time the Chicago club will have finished its opening series at Kansas City, Indianapolis and St. Louis and will be ready to play its first home games.

Much disappointement was shown by the Federal league management when it was learned that Christy Mathewson had signed a contract with the Giants and had not waited for their offer of $65,000 for three years, made in a telegram by President Gilmore. Mathewson was wanted to manage and pitch on the Brooklyn team, but efforts will be made to get Sam Crawford for the job, while President Gilmore intimated that Fielder Jones, former manager of

There is a Great Difference in Tobaccos

Tuxedo is the Mildest, Sweetest, Most Pleasant Smoke in the World, Because—

First—No one but the makers of Tuxedo is willing to spend the money necessary to buy the mildest, choicest, most thoroughly aged, selected Burley tobacco.

Second—No one but the makers of Tuxedo knows how to treat this Burley tobacco so that every bit of pleasantness and goodness remains in the tobacco and every bit of unpleasantness and harshness is taken out.

Tuxedo was born in 1904. Its first imitator appeared two years later. Since then a host of imitations have been born, and are clamoring for your patronage.

No imitation is ever as good as the original. No amount of advertising, no amount of bluster and bluff, can ever make an imitation tobacco as good as Tuxedo.

If you are not a pipe smoker, you are denying yourself the greatest smoking pleasure known to man. One week of Tuxedo will give you more enjoyment than you have ever had—and at the end of the week your nerves will be better and your general health will have improved. Try Tuxedo this week!

the Chicago Americans, might be made an offer.

The Kansas City team of the Federal league has practically engaged Leverenz of the St. Louis Americans, it was learned. Leverenz is with the world tourists. He is considered among the top-notchers among the American league left-handers.

Portland, Or., March 3.—Fielder Jones, president of the Northwestern league, said last night he had received no offer from the Federal league officials, nor from any team of that league. He declined to say whether he would entertain such an offer if made.

Marlin, Tex., March 3.—Christy Mathewson, who signed with the Giants yesterday, said he had received the Federal league offer of $65,000 for three years, $15,000 of this sum to be paid in advance. When asked whether there was still a possibility for him to consider a Federal league offer, Mathewson replied:

"No; none. I have signed with the Giants. Furthermore, the announcement of the Federal league that they will not try to get players who already have signed, closes the matter."

Mathewson said he did not feel at liberty to make public the terms of the contract which he signed with the New York Nationals. His manner in discussing the Federal league's offer seemed to indicate he considered it absolutely a closed matter. In fact, Mathewson displayed more eagerness for information about the big snow storm in New York than he did for discussion about baseball.

President Hempstead of the Giants, today declined to make public the terms of the contract with Mathewson.

"It is strictly against the rules of the New York club to make a contract public," Mr. Hempstead said. "However, the terms were perfectly agreeable to Mr. Mathewson."

HOPPE WINS FIRST MATCH WITH EASE.

Chicago, March 3.—Willie Hoppe last night defeated Koji Yamada, 500 to 174, in the first match of the five-man 18.2 billiard tournament. The match ran ten innings. Hoppe having a high run of 156 and Yamada's best inning was 91. Hoppe averaged 50 and his opponent 19 3-9.

OARSMEN BEGIN WORK ON ROWING MACHINES

Today is the date set for the assembling of the candidates for the various crews of the Duluth Boat club. The candidates for places in the boats will meet in the rowing room of the Y. M. C. A. and begin the long grind on the machines, which will continue until the men are able to get out on the bay.

Never in the history of the boat club has there been so much enthusiasm shown as this year. Officers and members of the club have co-operated in the effort to get out a large list of new men. With the demand for new material the most urgent in the history of the club, because of the fact that two new junior crews must be developed, there is great need for some new men in the rowing squad.

Capt. Clarence Stewart will have general charge of the men until the arrival of Coach Ten Eyck. The coach is expected here every day and it would not surprise the rowing men if he reached the city late today.

New men will be needed for the junior four and eight and the bantam eight. Only for the senior crews is there an abundance of tried material.

The winning of all the Duluth crews last season requires the developing of three entirely new crews. There will be a large list of old men out for all the senior boats, because of the winning of the junior eight and four, and it is expected that Ten Eyck will use some of the old men to develop scullers. In that event it will be the first time for years that the oarsmen of Duluth have gone seriously into the single shell game.

No More Junketing.

Boston, Mass., March 3.—The Boston school board today placed a ban on school boy junketing. It was voted not to allow pupils to engage in athletic contests which require their absence from the city over night. Lack of restraint on such trips in the past was given as the reason for the order.

CURLING IS NEARING END

Only Thirty-six Games Remain in All the Trophy Events.

Most of the Events Are Down to the Semi-Finals.

Interest in curling is at high pressure with the games down to the semi-finals in several of the trophy events. There are but fourteen games remaining in the Gruesen event and but thirty-six remaining in all of the events.

Last evening Catterson went into the fours of the Manley and Universal by defeating Oldham by the score of 20 to 0. The two skips were drawn against each other in these events and played one game to determine the winner in both contests. Oldham had eleven last shots and failed to get a head. Old-time followers of the game say it was one of the most unique contests every planned at the club.

Following are the standings of the various rinks in all of the trophy events except the Gruesen:

CLOSE FINISH IN BIG DOG DERBY

First of the Annual Alaska Races Run Under Difficulties.

Nome, Alaska, March 3.—Fred Ayer finished first in the Solomon derby dog race that was run from Nome over the snow trail to Solomon and return yesterday, covering the 64 miles in 6 hours, 30 minutes and 4 seconds. John Johnson, winner of last year's derby, was a close second with his team of Siberian wolves and finished two minutes after Ayer. The five teams that entered the race started under clear skies from Nome at 10 a. m., but a wind and snow storm that reached the proportions of a blizzard developed as the race progressed and the heavy going destroyed chances of lowering time records of other years. Johnson's time last year, which fixed the record for the course, was 5 hours, 47 minutes, 24 seconds.

Other entrants in the race were A. A. (Scotty) Allan, driving a team of Malamutes owned jointly by himself and Mrs. C. E. Darling of Berkeley, Cal.; Fay Delezene, winner of last year's 412-mile all-Alaska sweepstake and driving dogs owned jointly by himself and Russell Bowen and Percy Blatchford.

The Solomon derby is the first of the season's classic dog races. The big race, the all-Alaska sweepstake, will be run in April.

McFARLAND STILL STANDS SUSPENDED.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 3.—The Wisconsin boxing commission decided last night not to alter its previous decision suspending Packey McFarland for six months for his failure to put sufficient effort into his fight with Jack Britton in December.

CARL HANSON WINS FROM CARL ANDERSON

White Earth, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the finish match between Carl Hanson of White Earth and Carl Anderson, the latter won first fall in twenty-five minutes and fifteen seconds with head scissor and double bar.

Hanson won the next two falls, the second in thirteen minutes with a foot scissors and leg lock and the third fall in eight minutes and fifty-two seconds with toe hold. It was the best match ever staged here, Anderson being thought by many to be Julius Johnson, "The Terrible Viking," of the Pacific coast, under an assumed name. Regardless of who he might be Hanson showed championship form and won. The match was refereed by Chris Person. Person and Hanson will wrestle a handicap match here in the near future.

WINS WITH RECORD BREAKING SCORES

Washington, March 3.—With seven straight victories, the Northwestern Military and Naval Academy, Highland Park, Ill., has won the class B championship in the national military school championship. In the final match the victors broke the interscholastic record with 989 out of a possible 1,000 points, and a member of the team, F. Aigle, tied the individual record by making the possible 100 points, standing and prone.

Class A is still led by the Bordentown, N. J., military institute with only one more match.

Pupils Will Bury Him.

Portland, Or., March 3.—Arthur Cavill, the famous swimmer, who died in an attempt to swim across the harbor at Seattle on Sunday, will be buried in Portland Wednesday under the auspices of the women of the Multnomah club who were his pupils in the four years of his service as instructor of swimming at that institution.

NORTHERNS WIN FROM CLOTHIERS

Fast Hockey Game Won By the Close Score of 3 to 2.

The Northerns defeated the Big Duluths at hockey last evening by the score of 3 to 2 and are second in the race for the pennant in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league. The game was fast and interesting and the result was not certain until the time was called at the end of the second half.

During the greater part of the first half the Northerns clearly had the better of the playing. McCormick scored in three minutes after the center took the puck from the middle of the ice and shot the cage from a difficult angle.

Parsons came back two minutes later took a long rush down the ice and shot the second goal. Shortly after this Parsons and Du Moe took the rubber down the ice and Parsons slipped it over to the speedy Du Moe, who neatly shot the cage.

Alder made both of the goals for the Clothiers, one on a rush and pretty loft from the side of the ice, and the second and final cage for the Big Duluths on a pass from Blais.

In the second half the game was about the fastest that has been played in the league during the season. For a while it looked as if the Big Duluths would be able to tie up the count, but the defense of the hardware men stiffened and the clothiers were not quite able to put over the tying count.

The Lakes, leaders of the leagues, will meet the Big Duluth during the present week. This should be one of the star games of the year. As yet the Lake Hardware team has not met with defeat. It is up to the Big Duluths or the Northerns to break the long winning streak, and the coming contest will show some of the hardest playing of the year.

The lineup of last evening:

Northerns—		Big Duluths—
Nelson	rw	Roswald
Du Moe	lw	Blais
McCormick, Warner	c	Brown
Rickard	r	Dykins
Grenner, Warner	cp	Poissant
Swanstrom	p	Clark
Richards	g	Oulette

Summary: Referee—Clark. Goal judges—Hedberg and Lindeberg. Timekeepers—Stahbort and Wood.

Last Miller to Sign.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 3.—Joseph Lake, a pitcher on the Minneapolis association team, who is said to have been flirting with the Federal league, signed a Cantillon contract yesterday. Lake is the last of the Miller holdouts.

DR. VINCENT WILL SPEAK ON LINCOLN

Belated Birthday Program to Be Given at Presbyterian Church.

Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, will be the principal speaker tonight at the postponed Lincoln's birthday banquet to be given by the young men's class of the First Presbyterian church. The address will be on "The Education of

A. C. KIENLY.

Abraham Lincoln." Other speakers will be Judge Windom and Dr. Robert Yost.

John G. Williams, president of the Minnesota Bar association, will be toastmaster. Dinner will be served by the women of the church at 6:30 o'clock sharp.

On the musical program will be Miss Gladys Reynolds, soprano; Valborg Gunderson, violinist; Mrs. E. J. Bradbury, pianist; A. C. Kienly has charge of the arrangements. Plates will be laid for about 200.

FOREIGNERS ARE GOOD DEPOSITORS

Postal Savings Show Gain of $50,000 During Last Year.

On March 1 the deposits at the postal savings bank totalled approximately $190,000, an increase of nearly $50,000 over the deposits on hand March 1, 1913. The report for the past month has just been completed by J. S. Browning, who is in charge of that department.

Beginning this month the bank had a total of 1,350 depositors, against 1,069 on the same date last year. Of this number exactly 70 per cent are men, of whom 55 per cent are foreigners. The average per capita deposit is $140.73.

RURAL WORK FEATURED.

Is Given First Place at the National Convention.

DeWitt Adkins, superintendent of the Aurora, Minn., schools, was a guest in the city yesterday on his way home from Richmond, Va., where he attended the annual convention of the school superintendents of the United States. Supt. Adkins declared that the sessions were well attended and instructive. Rural school work was given a larger part of the program than any other feature of educational work, he said. The next annual convention will be held in Cincinnati.

WOMEN ARE UNDERPAID

Dr. Phelan Eulogizes the Minimum Wage Scale as Remedy.

Condemns the Parasitic Industries That Prey Upon Society.

Declaring that the woman worker is on the whole underpaid, and eulogizing the minimum wage law as the promotor of better relationship among workers, employers and the public, Dr. Raymond Phelan, extension course lecturer of the University of Minnesota, spoke on "Fair Wages for Women" last night. This lecture is a part of Dr. Phelan's course on "Labor and Life."

"As a class, women are not well paid," he said. "Lack of preparation, lack of seriousness, the comparative patience and docility of women, lack of organization, and traditional prejudice against women all contribute to their low wages." The speaker showed how the "I have a family to support" argument falls to the ground when it is considered that the woman homemaker helps to support the family, and that children are sources of satisfaction as well as of expense. Furthermore, whenever a woman gives service equivalent to a man's, she should be paid accordingly.

"When ordinary bargaining fails to secure the wage essential to individual justice and social wellbeing, the state should intervene," he said. "The increases of wages enforced by minimum wage laws may come from increased efficiency in the workers, economies of organization, out of profits or out of higher prices. Modern philosophy has no patience with the parasitic industry, which preys on the other members of the underpaid worker's family, or breeds ill-health, inefficiency and unhappiness for this and future generations, lives partly on private and public charity, and to some extent at least contributes to the social evil."

The lecture included a complete survey of minimum wage legislation in this country and abroad, also discussion of the constitutionality and general consequences of minimum wage legislation. Dr. Phelan emphasized the educational value of minimum wage administration, which may familiarize workers, employers and the public with one another's viewpoint, interest and claims to consideration. "The minimum wage law," said Dr. Phelan, "may promote an industrial trinity of employers, workers and the public."

TWENTY SAVED FROM PENALTIES

Office Kept Open Until Midnight for Income Tax Returns.

By extending the time limit for filing income tax statements until midnight last night, twenty Duluthians were saved probable penalties of from $20 to $1,000. The local internal revenue office was kept open upon instructions from the United States revenue officials at St. Paul.

The income tax law made March 1 the last day on which income tax reports should be filed for the nine months of 1913, but owing to the fact that the first day of this month fell on Sunday, the time limit fell on the day following. It had been originally planned to close the local office at 10 o'clock last evening, but upon orders from St. Paul, Ira Coburn, deputy collector, kept the office open until midnight.

According to Mr. Coburn about 500 reports were filed during the last two weeks, the major portion having been brought in Friday and Saturday. As a large number have sent their reports to the St. Paul office, it is impossible to tell how many Duluthians come under the income tax law, but the number is considerably in excess of 500.

ALL CHARGES IN TUFTS CASE DROPPED

Los Angeles, Cal., March 3.—All charges pending against Gorham Tufts, Jr., were stricken from the court's record here at the instance of the district attorney.

Tufts has been in jail for many months, having been accused of misusing a power of attorney given him by his wife, the former Mrs. Jennie Roe of Fort Worth, Texas. The district attorney's action was prompted by the fact that Mrs. Tufts, who had been the principal witness against her husband, recently filed an affidavit stating she had been deceived and now believes Tufts innocent.

ON THE IRON RANGES

FORCED OUT BY SLURRING NOTE

Hibbing Official Removed for Casting Aspersions Upon Critics.

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Characterizing the letter in which the signers to the petition asking for his removal as chairman of the water and light board were called "non-representatives, saloon keepers, bartenders and a few other undesirables' as an "insult to the citizenship of Hibbing," the council yesterday afternoon by a unanimous vote instructed the recorder to ask for the resignation of C. A. Remington.

"It was the intention of the board to allow Mr. Remington to retain his office until his term expired in a short time," said Mayor Power, "but this letter necessitates either an apology or his removal from office and the council has selected the latter alternative. The slurring reference to the signers of the petition was uncalled for and unfair. The saloon keepers and bartenders in the village are licensed to dispose of intoxicating liquor, but Mr. Remington was not licensed to dispose of the coal contract in the manner in which he did."

HIBBING BOOSTERS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Prominent Duluth Commercial Club Member to Make Address.

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Maj. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, or some other representative of that body, will be here tomorrow evening to address the members of the local club, according to Secretary J. L. Lewis.

The meeting will be a mammoth one, with many of the new members who have just been elected in evidence.

Several important matters will be taken up.

The progress of the campaign for the extension of the electric road, the new land-settling scheme in which the co-operation of the Great Northern road has been requested, the establishment of a potato warehouse and other lines of activity planned for the coming months will be discussed by the members.

The meeting will start promptly at 8.

POWER HEADS ELKS.

President of Hibbing Council Is Elected Exalted Ruler.

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local lodge of Elks last night elected officers and chose Victor L. Power, the president of the village board, who is generally referred to as Mayor Power, to the position of exalted ruler, the highest position in the gift of the lodge. Other officers chosen are: Leading knight, E. L. Clymer; local knight, Joseph Healey; lecturing knight, D. T. Collins; secretary, Walter Crandall; treasurer, L. C. Newcombe; trustee for three years, W. J. Ryder; tyler, Con Keppell; delegate to grand lodge, W. J. Ryder; alternate delegate, John A. Healey. After the meeting a social session was held and lunch served in the clubrooms.

ROW OVER BOOK CAUSES ARRESTS

Eveleth Man Has Pair Arrested, Then Fails to Prosecute.

Eveleth, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Trouble which started in a saloon here between three Italians ended in the municipal court.

Giovanni Calella caused the arrest of Mike Roxas and John Michela on a charge of assault and battery, claiming that he had been thrown down and beaten when he demanded the return of a book taken from him at Chisholm. In court the complainant failed to produce witnesses and the action was dismissed for lack of evidence.

VIRGINIA WILL BUY PULMOTOR

Last Act of Police and Fire Commission Is to Order One.

Virginia, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police and fire commission held its last regular meeting last night, being legislated out of existence by an amendment to the new city charter which provides for reducing the number of the commission from five to three members. It is probable that the names of the three commissioners will be presented to the city council by Mayor Murphy at tonight's meeting for confirmation.

Upon the recommendation of the city council, which was presented to the commission in a communication, Secretary Rickford was instructed to advertise for bids for the purchase of a pulmotor for the use of the police and fire departments.

Is Appointed Patrol Driver.

Elmer Mattson was appointed temporary driver of the emergency police patrol to succeed Elmer Lindsay, who tendered his resignation to enter the theater business at Chisholm.

The matter of the purchase of a second auto hose truck, which has been before the commission for several meetings, was again continued for another month.

Before adjournment President E. D. McNeil, who was elected to the chair in January, expressed his thanks to the members of the commission for the courteous treatment that had been extended him during his brief occupancy of the office.

CAUCUS NOMINATIONS.

Township of Grand Rapids Makes Selection of Candidates.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The town caucus of the township of Grand Rapids was held here last evening. William Hoolihan was re-nominated for supervisor for three years; Hugh McEwan, clerk; and James Connell, treasurer; were also renominated. For justice of the peace, C. L. Pratt; for constable, Frank McKeon, are the nominees. D. C. Kiley was chairman of the caucus and Hugh McEwan was secretary.

"BEWARE OF THIEVES"

Is Virginia Police Chief's Warning to All Householders.

Virginia, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Richard Rice has issued a warning to residents of the city to keep their doors locked.

"Numerous attempted burglaries have been reported to the police in the past few days," said the chief. "We are trying to round up all suspects, but we must have the co-operation of the citizens in driving this element out of town. If Virginians will take particular care to have their doors securely locked at night, we will have little attempted house-breaking."

EVELETH HOME IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Eveleth, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A house owned by Dugi Masicl on Adams hill was totally destroyed by fire. The Eveleth fire department made the mile run to the scene of the blaze, arriving in time to protect neighboring property. Mr. Masicl estimates his loss on the building at $1,000 and on furniture at $350. He carried $600 insurance on the building and none on contents.

EVELETH'S LIBRARY ABOUT FINISHED

Eveleth, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth city library is practically completed. The furniture will be installed inside of ten days and the library will be ready for use in a month. John Kellow has been appointed janitor by the library board and a committee appointed to recommend a librarian will be ready to report in a short time.

JUDGE HUGHES GOES TO RELATIVE'S FUNERAL

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—Judge and Mrs. Martin Hughes accompanied by their family left yesterday for Sheboygan, Wis., to attend the funeral of Mrs. James Hughes, which was held this morning. Mrs. Hughes died Saturday and is survived by her husband and three children. She was about 50 years of age.

CUTS FINGERS IN MANUAL SCHOOL

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Donald Gilbraith, nephew of L. M. Bolter, cut three fingers of his left hand with a circular saw in the manual training department of the high school. The members were badly lacerated, but it is not thought amputation of any of them will be necessary.

Kills Silver Gray Fox.

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—A silver gray fox skin, one of the most valued hides secured in this part of the country, was brought into the village by Joe Beaudreau of Sturgeon lake. This is the second skin of this kind secured by the experienced trapper. The previous one sold for $300 and it was believed that the last hide would be valued at $500.

Virginia Sunday Guests.

Virginia, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. Gust Johnson of Beach street had as guests on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nordeen of Buhl.

HIBBING SHORTAGE MAY REACH $12,000

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—That in addition to the shortage existing in the regular village accounts, the meter deposits aggregating some $5,000 are unaccounted for on the books of J. L. Stewart, formerly accountant for the village, is alleged in a communication from S. S. Williamson, expert accountant, read to the council yesterday afternoon.

No record at all of any money being paid from the meter account to the village treasurer could be discovered in the audit of the books. This condition has existed, according to the letter, ever since Stewart took the office, and the shortage is estimated on the number of meters that have been installed. A check of the meters will have to be made before the exact amount can be determined.

Discrepancy About $12,000.

Mr. Williamson states that the entire discrepancy in the accounts of Stewart now amounts to about $12,000.

It was also reported that uncertified assessments for scavenger work, plumbing and sidewalks, amounting to several thousand dollars, had been discovered, and the council was requested to take some action in order to prevent this sum being a total loss. The assessments are required to be certified to the county auditor.

The new cash book system that was installed by Mr. Williamson is working out satisfactorily, according to the village officers.

ALLEGED FORGER HELD FOR TRIAL

Linwood Newton, Charged With Passing Fraudulent Checks, Bound Over.

Virginia, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Linwood R. Newton, arrested about two weeks ago on a charge of having passed several forged checks, waived examination when arraigned in municipal court and was bound over to the grand jury. He was unable to furnish a bail bond and was committed to the county jail at Duluth to await trial. It is reported that he may decide to plead guilty before the next grand jury meets. The case against Leo R. Vall, who was arrested charged with being implicated with Newton, was continued until next Monday.

CHURCH BANQUET.

Official Board of M. E. Church Ladies Enjoys Evening.

Ely, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—About sixty members of the official board, the Ladies' Aid society, the choir of the M. E. church, their wives and husbands, gathered in the parlors of the church last evening for a get-together banquet served by the ladies. Henry Chinn, president of the board, was toastmaster.

Toasts were responded to by Miss Ivy Green, A. J. Thomas, Richard Coad, Rev. E. F. Stidd, C. L. Mergenthaler, Mrs. James Nicholas, president of the Ladies Aid society; William Mitchell, John Prout, R. K. Toms, T. H. Williams and Harry Chinn. After the program, the regular monthly meeting of the official board was held.

WOODSMAN DIES.

Expires on Trail About Thirty Miles From Ely.

Ely, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Report was brought to Ely last night of the death of an unknown woodsman about thirty miles southeast from Ely. He was one of a party of four who were started for the camps of the St. Croix Lumber company on the Stoney. Some say the men left the road and became lost finally reaching what is known as the Schroeder trail. Here one of the men became unable to proceed further and sank down and died from exposure. The trip of thirty miles to the nearest town was made by his companions and a tote team from the lumber company is bringing the body to Ely.

SOUDAN WOMAN VICTIM OF TYPHOID

Ely, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Olof Garson, an old resident of Winton, died at the family home Sunday of typhoid fever, said to have been contracted in Virginia. Mrs. Garson was about 55 years of age, and leaves a husband and children. The funeral was held today from the family residence, the Norwegian Lutheran minister from Virginia conducting the service.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BALL AT HIBBING

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The junior-senior ball will take place on Friday evening, April 24. Limited invitations are to be issued by the junior class, as the attendance last year was so great as to hinder the enjoyment of the dancers. The class has secured an orchestra in Duluth.

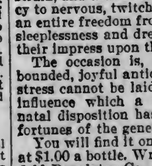
Mrs. Florence Lillidale arrived in the village yesterday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. M. Hostettler, having just concluded a visit with friends in Virginia. Mrs. Lillidale intends to engage in business here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Geisselman are the parents of a daughter, born yesterday afternoon.

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear the Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."



This is a penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is, therefore, one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 230 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for an instructive book.

TO DISCUSS COMEDY.

Its Place in Literature to Be Considered at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regular meeting of the Chautauqua Reading circle will be held this evening, when the following program will be given:

"Macbeth," act IV, scene I, compared with incantations in "Media," Mary B. Johnston; "The Place of Comedy in the Literature of Nations," Mrs. W. W. McMillan; "Roman Comedy, Poetry of Italy," 58-70, Mrs. J. F. Knowlton; "Pyramus and Thisbe, Midsummer Night's," act III, scene II, and act. V, the scene I, Dorothy Fluke; "Description of the Eruption of Vesuvius Compared With Recent Volcanic Eruptions," Nat. Geo. Mag., April 12, Feb. 13, B. B. Beal.

HELD FOR TRIAL.

Virginia Pair Alleged to Have Sold Liquor to Minor.

Virginia, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Jacob Stubler, who was arrested last week on a charge of selling liquor to a minor, has been continued until next Monday. John Stubler and Theodore Stubler, his sons, who face the same charge, waived examination in municipal court yesterday and were bound over to the grand jury, their bonds being fixed in the sum of $250 cash. They protest their innocence of the charges preferred against them and will make a vigorous fight.

Two Woodsmen Sentenced.

Ely, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A woodsman named Hogan, arrested for being a drunk, drew twenty days in the county jail before Judge Jury. Hogan was formerly a resident of Northern Michigan and is an ex-railroad brakeman. Another woodsman by the name of Finnigan, Saturday in order to quench his thirst is alleged to have stole a coat from one of the stores, and is thought to have helped himself to other things, so he drew a sentence of ninety days in the county jail. They were taken to Duluth, to begin their sentence.

Pugnacious One Arrested.

Virginia, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crazed with drinking liquor, an Italian laborer whose name could not be learned, ran amuck at a saloon on East Chestnut street. He had cleared the place when the police were summoned and he put up a fierce fight. In his cell at the jail he tore all the clothing from his person and beat his hands against the iron bars until the blood ran.

Salvationist Transferred.

Virginia, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Charles Richter of Virginia, head of the Mesaba range Salvation Army corps, and for the past twenty months in charge of the work here, has been notified of his transfer to Oshkosh, Wis. A farewell service will be held at the barracks on Sunday and Capt. and Mrs. Richter will leave for the captain's new post on Monday.

Ski Head Going Abroad.

Virginia, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Harry Solberg of the Virginia Ski club will sail from New York for Christiania in about two weeks to pass several months on the Scandinavian peninsula. A banquet in his honor by members of the ski club and other friends will be given Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

New Hibbing Lodge.

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Knights of Romulus, lodge No. 7, was organized here, being secured by General Organizer Borgo, who has also started a lodge at Eveleth. The officers are: First proconsole, Herman Antonilli; second proconsole, Roffacle Erspamer; patrono, Antolnio Schiros; questre, Domenico Bretto; patrizios, Narciso Martinelli, Marco Erspamer, Jion Battista Nigra, Tony Mobile; censores, Jion Battista Becchetti, Michele Marinetti; tribunos, Igino Retropaolo, Serafino Selia; edile curales, Carlo Dalphia, Giovanni Rattin; centurione, Vincenjo De Cesare; decurione, Egidio Fabuji; aroldo, Lingi Lorenzatti. The membership includes some of the most prominent Italians in the Hibibng district.

Are Going to Winton.

Ely, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The young men of the Young Men's Social club will have a sleighride party tonight to Winton. This is the third event given under the auspices of the club this winter.

Duluthian Sick at Virginia.

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lawrence Barrett, a range representative of Stone-Ordean-Wells of Duluth, and a brother of Lee Barrett of this village, is ill at his home in Virginia with an attack of rheumatism. John Olson of Duluth is substituting for Mr. Barrett on the eastern end of the range.

Hibbing Athletic Schedule.

Hibbing, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—A schedule for the members of the Hibbing Athletic club has been prepared by Physical Director McMillan and will be closely followed beginning with the meeting that is to be held tomorrow evening. From 7:15 to 8 o'clock there will be gymnastics, consisting of floor work, corrective gymnastics and competitive field sports. This will be followed by basket ball from 8 until 9 and handball or indoor baseball from 9 until 11:15. Several teams have been organized in the class for the different games and considerable rivalry is already displayed.

Aurora Woman Dies.

Aurora, Minn., March 3.—Mrs. L. Falch died Sunday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Vanderpeol, with whom she was residing. She was about 70 years of age. The body was taken to Iowa for burial.

COLDEST IN TEN YEARS

February, 1914, Was a Chilly Month, the Records Show.

Abnormally Small Amount of Ice in Lake This Year.

February, 1914, was the coldest February in ten years. Its mean temperature was 3 deg. above zero. The same month in 1904, just ten years ago, the mean was 1 deg. above zero. The lowest mean temperature for the month in between was that of a year ago, when it was 6 deg. above zero. Mr. Richardson says that the temperature averaged 10 deg. below the normal temperature.

The coldest day was Feb. 11, when the thermometer got as low as 28 deg. under the zero mark and the highest it got that day was 10 deg. below. The warmest day was Feb. 26, when the mercury got to 45 deg. above zero, the lowest being 25 deg. above. The thermometer got to the below the zero mark on twenty-three days, leaving only five days that did not get extreme. The greatest daily range of temperature was on Feb. 28, when the mercury got as high as 39 deg. above zero and as low as 4 deg. below, a range of 43 deg. The highest temperature for February since 1870 was 58 deg. above on Feb. 26, in 1895, and the coldest was 36 deg. below zero on Feb. 9, in 1899.

So far as precipitation is concerned there is a deficiency of .35 inch as compared with the normal. The greatest snowfall of the month was 3.8 inches on Feb. 2.

There were thirteen clear days, ten partly cloudy days and five cloudy ones. There were snow flurries on fourteen days.

Mr. Richardson also states in his monthly report that in the lake there is an abnormally small amount of ice, the solid field extending only from about one to three miles. At the end of February the harbor ice averaged only twenty-three inches thick, four inches less than normal and nine inches less than on the same date last year.

COMMUNITY CLUB FORMED

Woodland Residents Organize at Meeting in Cobb School.

The Woodland Community club was formed last evening at a meeting held at the new E. R. Cobb school and will meet hereafter on the first Monday of each month. So far the only work outlined for the club is the developing of gardening among Woodland people and getting ready for the annual exhibit which Woodland people make each autumn to the never ceasing surprise and envy of people from other parts of the city.

About seventy people attended and to Miss Susan B. House, principal of the Cobb school, is given the credit of bringing about the organization. Mrs. J. A. P. Neal was chairman of the meeting. The officers elected were: President, Mrs. C. F. Colman; vice president, E. R. Cobb; secretary, treasurer, W. E. Cowden.

During the meeting J. A. P. Neal spoke on communities and schools, C. E. Roe talked on gardening and C. F. Colman expressed the opinion that the organization would prove to be a good thing for Woodland and all concerned in it. John Lee spoke on the fraternal spirit such an organization is bound to create and gave it his approval.

BOOMING PARK RAPIDS.

The Commercial Club Has Lively Get-Together Meeting.

Park Rapids, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club held its second get together meeting and the room was filled to over-flowing. A fine program was given. Dr. Walling, the secretary of the club, acted as master of ceremonies and gave the club a fine talk on the past and present and delighted the audience by singing some old songs. The seventh grade pupils of the high school sang two songs. The ladies of the improvement club put on a skit bringing in names of the business men of the town which elicited much applause. Mrs. William M. Tabor sang a new version of "Where the Colorado Winds Its Weary Way." The words were composed by Mrs. Alice Tennis of this place. The song was highly appreciated and applauded by the gathering.

At the close of the meeting a lunch was set up by the Commercial club and partaken of with relish by the crowd. To the ladies of the improvement club belongs the great success of the entertainment. These ladies are doing great work for the improvement of the village and are heroic workers for the betterment of the community.

COURT REFUSES TO HALT DEPORTATION

New York, March 3.—In dismissing writs of habeas corpus sued out in behalf of twenty-one Russian immigrants ordered deported as undesirables, Federal Judge Henry Lacombe gave it as his opinion that "it was the intent of congress to leave determination" in such cases "to the board of special inquiry and the secretary of labor."

The memorandum filed by Judge Lacombe reads in part:

"Whether an alien shall or shall not be admitted to this country is a political question which congress may discuss as it chooses. This statute confides the determination of the question in the first instance to the administration officers, who are not confined, as courts are, to a particular method of informing themselves of the facts.

"To provide for the correction of any erroneous conclusion of these officers, there may be a review in each case, on the request of the alien, by the secretary of labor. To construe the language of the statute so as to destroy such finality, would seem to be legislation rather than construction."

DO NOT SCOLD THE CHILDREN

Nervous mothers, worried from morning till night by the care of children and the duties of the household; nervous children wornout by overstudy, unable to sit still or stand still or to keep their minds concentrated on anything very long, both need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves.

Try a short treatment with these strengthening pills and watch the color return to pale cheeks and lips, see how the worn nerves recover their poise, note how much less irritating the children become and how much less scolding they need. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing to nervous people everywhere, men as well as women, because they build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. They lighten the cares of life because they give you new strength to meet them.

Nervousness in children should be corrected at once as it is but a short step to St. Vitus' dance. Give them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up their blood and they will become sturdy, pink-cheeked and rugged.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in the house. Your own druggist can supply you. Write now to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free booklet "Home Treatment of Nervous Disorders."

Guarantee Cures

It takes a builder three or four years to learn his trade thoroughly. How long would it take to learn all trades?

The doctor who spends four years at a Medical College is incapable of treating with success all the countless diseases of men, women and children. He knows a little of everything, but nothing thoroughly. We cure diseases and weaknesses peculiar to men. This is our sole field. The true specialist never attempts to do more than he can do WELL. His persistent study, diligent research and scientific investigations are all on the line of a few diseases. A SINGLE CLASS OF THEM on which all his efforts are concentrated, and to which his entire practice is limited. Hence he becomes supreme in his chosen field.

We do not pretend to know all about disease; in fact, our knowledge is very limited and extends only to one class—DISEASES OF MEN. If you are afflicted with any disease that is peculiar to men, STOMACH TROUBLE, SKIN DISEASE, BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, RHEUMATISM, OR ANY OTHER DISEASE OF A CHRONIC OR NEWLY CONTRACTED NATURE, we invite you to consult us and promise you a cure. Twenty-six years of hard and constant effort here have given us the means, methods and remedies to effect PERMANENT CURES. We assist every afflicted man to clear up and out of his body all poisons, we free him from his bad habits, we cure his maladies and return him to perfect health.

We publish no names, though we have the testimony of hundreds of men, many of whom had been given up as hopeless. Our principles are HONESTY and INTEGRITY. We have no schemes to offer you, no "trial treatments," no cheap bargain cures, but we DO offer you the advantage of our strict professional honesty, our superior ability and our successful experience.

A personal examination of your case is most desirable, but if it is impossible for you to call, send us an account of your trouble, ask for a symptom blank, and we will give you the benefit of our knowledge by mail confidentially.

BAD BLOOD WILL CAUSE VARICOSE VEINS, will weaken the system and predispose it to Piles. We cure all acute as well as chronic diseases of men. Contagious Blood Poison, Swollen and Varicose Veins, as well as diseases peculiar to men. We cure your disease. We are well professioned in the science of healing chronic diseases of men. Offices at corner Superior street and Lake avenue, Duluth. Office hours—9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

SICKNESS AN EXCUSE

Otherwise Wife Deserter Is Liable for Not Supporting Family.

Badger Attorney General So Rules in Case From Rhinelander.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—Illness might be a reasonable excuse for a man not supporting his family. District Attorney A. J. O'Melia of Rhinelander asked Attorney General Owen for an opinion as to when a man may be excused from supporting his children. He says that the persons to whom he refers left the state, leaving his children destitute.

"Any evidence which would show that the defendant was sick or unable to provide for the children in question would, in contemplation of the statute, be a lawful excuse," said Attorney General Owen today.

Not Necessary to Dismiss.

"I do not think that the case should be dismissed simply because the state cannot prove that the defendant at the time that the children were in needy circumstances was able to provide for them. You can undoubtedly show the condition of the defendant when he left the state. It will appear by the defendant and by proof that you are able to show, that he is at present able to support the children. From these facts and circumstances the jury is authorized to infer that the defendant in his absence was able to provide for the children."

COOK COUNTY FIRE.

John Jackson's Home in Colvill Is Wiped Out.

Grand Marais, Minn., March 3.—Fire a few days ago completely destroyed the home of John Jackson in the town of Colvill while the owner was away working at George Mayhow's tie camp. Nothing was saved from the house. The two sons were also absent, one in Grand Marais and the other at a neighbor's, and the only ones at home were Mrs. Jackson and two children.

Mrs. Jackson is unable to say how the fire started. When she discovered it the room was ablaze. The wind was blowing a gale and she was unable to do anything so she bundled up her two children and hurried over to John Johnson's, the nearest neighbor, and gave the alarm. When Mr. Johnson got to the burning building it was so far gone that he was unable to save any of the contents.

The Jackson family have been especially unfortunate in their efforts to establish a home. In first locating on his homestead Mr. Jackson was guided by an erroneous survey, and when, a few years later, the mistake was discovered all of his buildings and clearing improvements were found to be upon the land of a neighbor. He at once rebuilt upon his own land and started anew, with what discouraging results the readers of the above can well understand.

A subscription list is being circulated for the benefit of the unfortunate family.

NEW BUILDINGS AT SIDNEY, MONT.

OLD AND NEW BANK BUILDING.

SOME NEW RESIDENCES.

SKIP SOUTH AMERICA.

Montanan Says It Is in Throes of Financial Panic.

Billings, Mont., March 3.—South America is no place for an American, according to Martin J. Smith, former Yellowstone county sheepman, who left for Buenos Ayres on Dec. 6 with the intention of engaging in the sheep-raising business in Argentina as a result of the free listing of wool in the Underwood tariff law.

Fifty Americans are stranded in Buenos Ayres, Mr. Smith writes, some of them barefoot. There is, he says, a deep prejudice against Americans and they are given no encouragement to assist in the development of the country. Wages in Buenos Ayres average $1.60 a day, while it costs $2 to live. In the country the wages run from $10 to $15 a month.

Smith suggests that the American people be warned to stay away from South America, and believes state officials should issue a warning to that effect. There are he says, 200,000 people out of work in Argentina, and the country is in the throes of a panic.

DYNAMITE SET OFF NEAR MAYOR'S HOME

Fiendish Attempt Made Upon International Falls Man's Life.

International Falls, Minn., March 3.—An attempt was made Sunday night to blow up the residence of Mayor Kane.

The charge of dynamite was placed so far away from the building that only the front windows were broken and the porch slightly damaged. The motive for the attack has not been learned.

Mayor and Mrs. Kane were at home when the explosion occurred. Neither was injured.

PUBLISHERS WIN OUT.

Bismarck Pair Given New Trial By Federal Court of Appeals.

Bismarck, N. D., March 3.—The United States court of appeals at St. Louis yesterday reversed the decision of the United States district court in the case of Sam Clark and G. H. Crockard, editors of a local monthly publication, and sent the case back for retrial. The men were found guilty of sending obscene matter through the mails and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

TRIES TO STRAIGHTEN DYNAMITE CARTRIDGES.

Schafer, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Picking up a mashed dynamite cartridge in the road, John Griebel attempted to straighten it with his fingers and a thumb and a part of three fingers were blown off.

SHOOTS AT WHITTIER.

Minnesota Parole Agent Attacked By Parole-Breaking Convict.

St. Paul, Minn., March 3.—Frank A. Whittier, state parole agent, was shot last night while attempting to arrest Mike Radavoc, an ex-convict wanted for breaking his parole. The first bullet passed through Whittier's leg. Then he reached for Radavoc's gun, grasping it by the muzzle. The second bullet clipped off the tip of Mr. Whittier's forefinger, carrying it through his hat. Radavoc escaped.

NEW BRAINERD BUILDING

Proposed City Hall to Be Three-Story Affair.

Brainerd, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new city hall will be an imposing structure, three stories high, with offices on the main and second floors and a convention room on the third floor. Separate from the main building will be the city jail. The fire department will be housed in the city hall. There will be a rest room, room for Associated Charities, and quarters for all the city departments. The architect is C. Howard Parson of Minneapolis, and his plans harmonize well with the three-story Iron Exchange building near the proposed city hall.

DRIVES FAMILY OUT.

Aitkin County Man Is Arrested for Making Threats.

Aitkin, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Theodore Whitman, it is charged, drove his wife out of doors at the point of a gun and when she begged for her 3-weeks'-old baby he threatened to shoot her if she did not go away. In the home were seven other children. The sheriff and County Attorney Louis Hallum were appealed to and they entered the home and took Whitman in custody.

ONCE LIVED IN FARGO.

Late Traction Magnate Yerkes and Uncle Formerly Lived There.

Fargo, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of Fargo's earliest pioneers, Harmon Yerkes, recently died in Bordentown, N. J. He was formerly a holder of a large number of farms in the Red River valley, but a few years ago sold all his property except a town house and one farm and returned to his old home in New Jersey. He was 80 years old. When he was an early resident here Charles G. Yerkes of Chicago, who later became an international character as a street railway builder, was also a Fargoan. He was a nephew of the man who has just died, and gained his first experience in street railways by building the original line in Fargo.

HICKS PROMISES ANOTHER MONUMENT

Oshkosh, Wis., March 3.—Col. John Hicks, former minister to Chile, owner of the Daily Northwestern, who is now at Augusta, Ga., has notified the city of Oshkosh that he will present to the city another monument, this time it is a likeness of Carl Schurz, the noted German, who for a number of years was a Wisconsin resident.

The monument is a replica of the one unveiled on Riverside drive, New York city.

FIRE HORSES NOT DRAYAGE ANIMALS

Brainerd, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The plan of water and Light Board Commissioner Weidemann to have the Brainerd fire team do the light drayage for the water and light board, when not answering fire calls, was turned down by the city council, who figured one team was entirely needed in the fire service without the additional labor of doing drayage.

FARMER LOSES BARN.

Little Falls, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ed La Force, a Morrison county farmer near Fort Ripley, lost his barn by fire. About 2,500 bushels of potatoes in the basement of the barn, grain and outbuildings and hay were consumed, making a total loss of $3,000 or more. There was no insurance. It is thought the fire caught from the stove in the basement used to keep the potatoes from freezing.

Fargo Gets Headquarters.

Fargo, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Effective April 1, Postmaster General Burleson has ordered the headquarters of the railway mail service removed from Grand Forks to Fargo. F. E. McBride, the chief clerk, will remove his office here. The change is made necessary because of the Great Northern's new main line direct from Fargo to Minot.

Takes Minnesota Job.

Ontonagon, Mich., March 3.—Edward T. Corwin has accepted a job with the sales department of the International Lumber company of Minneapolis, Minn., whose mills are located at International Falls, Minn., and Spooner, Minn. Mr. Corwin's territory will consist of Wisconsin, Illinois and New York states.

Scottish Rite Meet.

Fargo, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The winter reunion of the Scottish Rite bodies is to be held in Fargo next week. It will begin March 11 and continue four days. The degrees from the fourth to the thirty-second will be conferred on a large class, but there will be no meeting of the Shrine at that time. This is the sixty-eighth reunion of this valley.

BURY DETROIT MAN.

Funeral of Late Nathaniel M. Steptoe Is Held.

Detroit, Minn., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Nathaniel M. Steptoe, aged 75, an Englishman by birth, who had lived in this country many years and died here last week, was held under the auspices of the Masons.

He leaves a wife, one daughter Mrs. Ellis of Detroit and two sons, Wilson M. Steptoe of Burlin, Minn., and Joseph E. Steptoe of Washington, D. C.. The body was interred in Oak Grove cemetery.

WHEAT HAS SHARP BREAK

The Market Weakens With Larger Receipts and Small Decrease in Visible.

Flaxseed Declines Heavily With Selling Pressure and Small Support.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 3.—The market grew weaker at the close, which was at the low of the day. May wheat closed 3/8c off and July 7/8c off. May durum closed 1c off and July 1c off.

Oats closed 1/2c off at 38@38 1/2c. Rye closed unchanged at 56 1/2c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c.

At Winnipeg May oats closed at 37 1/4c bid, and July at 38 1/2c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90 3/8c and calls at 91 7/8c.

Weakness developed in the wheat market today on the more liberal receipts at primary points and a shutting off of the export demand for hard winter wheat. The decrease in the American visible supply, only 785,000 bu in the week, was regarded as small for the season. Against that it was noted that European supplies increased just 180,000 bu in the week, bringing them up to $2,500,000 bu, against 84,960,000 bu last year, when an increase of 4,000,000 bu was recorded.

Traders are inclined at the present to limit any outstanding short interests to small proportions in view of the approaching period for crop damage scares from the winter wheat territory. These are already coming to hand and they resulted in imparting a firm tone to the July option at Chicago yesterday.

B. W. Snow, the Chicago crop expert, says that the condition of the winter wheat crop is unusually good. The plant, he says, is vigorous and well rooted and practically stronger than in December. It is the general opinion of experts that the period of spring growth will open with the highest condition prevailing in years. Wisconsin and Iowa are said to be the only sin and Iowa are said to be the only states showing any impairment.

Wheat closed higher at Liverpool today, largely on account of the small increase in the visible supply shown there.

Receipts here made a better showing today, there being 52 cars inspected against 145 last year. There were 46 cars of all grains on the tracks.

May wheat opened unchanged at 93 1/4c and declined 3/8c during the first three hours' trading. The July option opened 1/4c up at 94 1/4c and declined 1/4c. May durum opened unchanged at 93 1/4c, and also broke 1/2c.

Sharp Slump in Flax.

Flaxseed slumped sharply today, brought about by comparatively light offerings at the outset. Selling developed as the weakness grew. Buying by crushers appeared on the weak spots, but the close came with losses of 2 3/4c and 2 1/2c from yesterday.

The slump was attributable to the market having been overbought on its extended rise, making it sensitive to bear raids. It is remembered that as compared with a year ago, the price of the seed showed an advance yesterday of 29 3/8c in the May option and of 30 1/4c in July.

Buenos Aires was strong today, closing 3 3/4c up from Saturday. Antwerp closed 1/4c up, and London 3/8c up.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.59 3/8 and closed 2 3/8c off, at $1.57 3/8. The July option opened unchanged at $1.61 1/8, and closed 1/2c off at $1.59 1/4.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.37 1/2 and July at $1.40.

Baker's Minneapolis correspondent received the following Liverpool cable: "The market is affected by the poor consumptive demand and a decline is expected unless your side sends encouraging news. The corn market is affected by free first hand offers. We advise selling July corn."

The Minneapolis cash market was steady with the demand good for top quality but slow for soft Minnesota wheat and the lower grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from 1/2c to 2c over May and velvet chaff at 1/2@1c premium. Flour sales were moderate. Mill feed was strong. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 92 1/4c to 93 1/4c and No. 2 northern at from 89 3/4c to 91 3/4c.

A Chicago wire said: "The cash corn situation down in the state and in Iowa is gaining strength. Missouri feeders, drovers and local industries are all buying. Iowa reports say no corn was bought overnight and that none was offered."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The wheat market opened steady and unchanged with good support stimulated by the firmness in Manitoba offers and fewer late offers, and later prices advanced 1/4d to 1/2d. There was a small increase in the visible supply here and an improved demand for spot with millers buying. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was steady and prices 1/4d to 1/2d higher than on Monday.

"Corn opened unchanged and later March declined 1/4d with realizing. The steady American cables and the firmness in Buenos Aires were offset here by disappointing spot demand and the favorable weather in Argentina."

The visible supply of wheat in Europe this week amounts to 82,500,000 bu against 82,320,000 bu, thus showing an increase of 180,000 bu. Last week there was an increase of 2,536,000 bu and last year an increase of 4,000,000 bu when the total amounted to 84,900,000.

Clement Curtis makes the following report on farm reserves: Wheat, 21.1 per cent, or 160,244,000 bu, against 21.4 per cent or 156,185,000 bu last year; corn reserves 34.1 per cent or 834,285,000 bu, against 41.3 per cent or 1,289,655,000 bu last year. Consumption of corn was 150,000,000 bu less than last year, to March 1; reserves in surplus states, 425,000,000 bu, against 784,000,000 bu March 1 last year. Oat reserves were 30.8 per cent or 344,695,000 bu, against 42.6 per cent or 604,216,000 bu last year. Texas reports 90 per cent of the winter oats killed out. Winter wheat shows a loss of 4 per cent in condition since December.

Parker Paine received the following wire from his Chicago correspondent today: "There is nothing dangerous in the climatic conditions over the wheat belt, but wheat raisers in a number of sections in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa are claiming a dead-looking plant, either as a result of the hard weather with no snow covering in spots or injury from later freezing and thawing. It is really too early to tell whether the wheat plant is dead or alive. Crop reports yesterday firmed the July and had much to do with the rally in May. It will take better export demand than felt recently to start aggressive bull operations, but with the Northwest situation strong and the crop damage period ahead, we prefer the buying side of the market on the dips."

The establishing of a line of ocean steamers to fight the freight combine, is being strongly urged by Canadian millers and lumbermen. It was pointed out by a deputation that recently waited upon the government at Ottawa in that connection, that the rates on wheat flour and other commodities had increased tremendously since the formation of the steamship combine two years ago. It was urged that the government make some attempt to meet the rising ocean freight rates by providing the sum of $6,000,000 to buy some steamers to operate between Canadian ports and Great Britain in time to carry next year's crop.

The millers also strongly protested against the duty being taken off flour and wheat. It was claimed that they could not compete on equal terms with American millers for climatic and transportation reasons. The United States miller, it was contended by the deputation, is able to obtain the Kansas crop in June and the Northern Minnesota and Dakota crop in September and October, while Canadian millers are compelled to hold in storage at great expense their one winter crop. It was claimed that free wheat would mean that no mills would be built north of Minneapolis or Duluth.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Harden on Liverpool Advance and Crop News.

Chicago, March 3.—Wheat prices hardened today in sympathy with an upturn at Liverpool and because of continued reports of crop damage west and southwest of here. Complaints of winter killing came from Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas. According to one of the highest authorities in the trade, however, the injury has not been important, and the crop as a whole is entering spring with the best prospects in many years. Quotations promise an early start.

The market closed steady. Realizing sales showed that the list was vulnerable, but bear operations were not aggressively conducted and recessions were small. Buying for the short account stopped the decline in New Haven.

MINING STOCKS ARE FIRMLY HELD

In spite of the volume of business being affected by the continued poor wire service, a stronger situation materialized in mining stocks at Boston today. Price changes were mainly upward, but they were only fractional.

Butte & Superior sold unchanged at $36.50 near the close. North Butte unchanged at $28.75; Alaska Gold 25c up at $21.75; Calumet & Arizona 25c up at $67.50; Franklin 25c off at $6; Shattuck unchanged at $28.50 and Amalgamated Copper a shade up at $73.87.

On the Butte curb list Calumet & Corbin was firmly held at 26c. Carman sold at 27c; Cliff at 50c; Keating at $1.25, and Alex Scott at $5.

The Guggenheim Exploration company has declared a quarterly dividend of 3 1/2 per cent, placing the stock on a 14 per cent annual basis, an increase of 2 per cent per annum over the former rate.

Last June the quarterly dividend was raised from 2 1/2 to 3 per cent and in December an extra dividend of 2 per cent was declared.

Earnings this year are estimated to be in excess of 18 per cent on the capital stock on the present dividends on securities owned by the company. The dividend is payable April 1.

Copper exports in February totaled 34,384 tons. A year ago exports were 26,576 tons.

It is thought that consumers of copper abroad will take advantage of the price of the metal to make liberal purchases.

Railroads

RAILROAD CONVICTED.

Milwaukee Road Found Guilty of Violating 2-Cent Rate Law.

Red Wing, Minn., March 3.—The Milwaukee railroad was declared guilty of violating the Minnesota state law fixing the rate at 2 cents a mile by a jury in district court here yesterday. The jury deliberated only three minutes before reaching a verdict.

The railroad company had been indicted by the Goodhue county grand jury several months ago. Attorneys L. L. Brown of Winona and F. M. Wilson of Red Wing, for the railroad, immediately moved for a new trial. The motion was denied by Judge Albert Johnson. It was then announced that the case would be appealed to the supreme court.

ABANDON SURVEY IN BAD LANDS

Manning, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Failing to find a better route through the bad lands, the Northern Pacific surveying crew that has been in the eastern part of this county for several weeks has broken camp. The grades on the proposed extension from this county onto the Montana line are heavy and the company sought an easier route that a freight line from Glendive to Mandan might be constructed. As the engineers failed in this the extension may not be constructed west of Dunn county for a number of years.

RAILROAD EMPLOYES RETIRE ON PENSION

Forty-six employes of the Pennsylvania railroad system, having reached the age of retirement as prescribed by the company's pension plan, have just been placed upon the honor roll of the railroad and will receive pensions for the rest of their lives.

One Pennsylvania employe just retired, George W. Cosden, agent at North East, Pa., has been connected with the railroad fifty-three years and three months. Twenty-five of the retiring employes have served the company for forty years or more.

The Pennsylvania railroad system has in the thirteen years since the establishment of the pension department paid in pensions to employes on its honor roll $9,601,645.21. Since Jan. 1, 1900, 7,848 employes have retired under the pension rules. Of that number, 3,801 have died, so that today there are 4,047 retired employes of the Pennsylvania railroad system on the roll of honor.

ANOTHER CONNECTING LINE NOW PLANNED

Stanton, N. D., March 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to the latest railway rumors Stanton is to have another connecting line of the Northern Pacific. The present line runs west from here to Dunn county.

The new branch will run north along the river and connect with the Great Northern at Big Bend. The Great Northern has changed its original plans for the eastern end of the line from Lewiston, Mont. It will not cross the river where it had been intended and may not be run across the Berthold reservation to New Rockford at all. It will cross at Big Bend and go eastward, probably to Turtle Lake, and connect with the Northern Pacific line there via Carrington. It is said the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific have agreed on the connections on both sides of the river.

W. R. GEORGE SCORED BY INVESTIGATORS

New York, March 3.—William R. George, founder and former head of the George Junior Republic at Freeville, N. Y., is further scored by the findings of three informal judges in a report made public here today.

The present investigation was conducted under the joint auspices of committees representing the Freeville institution and the National Association of George Junior Republics. It concerned itself with three charges, two of which the judges sustained. On a third—a charge that George was the father of a girl's child—a Scotch verdict of "not proven" was returned.

The charges sustained were that George had made improper overtures to a girl citizen, and that he went to another girl's room at night.

The judges who passed on the charges were Joseph H. Choate, Jr., Samuel Seabury, state supreme court justice, and Miss Lillian Wald, a social worker.

An erroneous report from Ithaca Sunday night said that the judges in this hearing had rendered a decision acquitting George.

WAGE AGREEMENT, OR STRIKE, SAYS LEADER

Pittsburg, Pa., March 3.—Discussing the failure of the joint interstate convention at Philadelphia to report a wage agreement for the bituminous coal fields of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, before the Fifth district convention of United Mine Workers here today, Van Bittner, president of the district, said:

"We still hope another joint meeting will be held before April 1, at which a satisfactory agreement can be made. If, however, no agreement is made before that time, there will be no mere suspension of work. There will be a strike, and not only will the union miners walk out, but every nonunion miner will quit work."

Illinois Men Stand Pat.

Peoria, Ill., March 3.—The United Mine Workers of Illinois decided to stand pat on the demands which the miners in the central competitive field have made on the operators, and the formation of a district agreement will be abandoned under the miners and operators' agreement upon a basic contract at Philadelphia.

Among the resolutions which will be acted upon is one aimed at Secretary McDonald because of his stand against Samuel Gompers at Indianapolis. The resolution protests that too much time was spent in personal attacks, and suggests that such orators "hire a hall."

DEFENSE RESTS AS ELLIS SOBS ALOUD

Chicago, March 3.—The telegram upon which William Cheney Ellis of Cincinnati laid the responsibility for the frenzy during which he said he killed his wife in a hotel here last October, was read in Ellis' trial today, and the defense declared that its evidence was completed.

Ellis burst into tears when the copy of the message, produced by Western Union Telegraph company officials, was read by Judge Petit. This was the telegram:

"Cincinnati, O., Oct. 10, 1913.

"Fred Cauldwell

"Brantford, Ont

"Arrive Chicago alone Sunday 7 a. m. Pennsylvania. Cousin meets train.

"E. H. ELLIS."

"I knew it! I knew it!" sobbed Ellis. "I knew that my suspicions were well founded. My whole life is ruined!"

"The defense here rests its case," announced George Remus, counsel for Ellis.

ELGIN CASE MAY BE COMPROMISED

Chicago, March 3.—Hearing of the Elgin board of trade case before Judge Landis in the Federal court here may never come up, it was made known today. District Attorney James H. Wilkerson left for New York and Washington and it was understood that the question of a compromise of the government's case against the alleged improper butter price fixing methods of the Elgin board was the principal object of his journey.

The hearing was continued two weeks, during which time Judge Landis will be in Milwaukee hearing the dis will be in Milwaukee hearing the cases of Judge Geiger, who is sitting here in the oleomargarine cases.

Honolulu Man for Judge.

Washington, March 3.—President Wilson today nominated Edward Minor Watson of Honolulu to be associate justice of the supreme court of Hawaii.

ALONZO WHITEMAN ACCUSED OF SWINDLE

Hot Springs, Ark., March 3.—Alonzo J. Whiteman, formerly of Duluth, and Edward R. Gibbs, alias Jackson de Forest, said to be wanted in New York, Chicago and other cities for alleged swindling operations, were arrested here today.

Whiteman was arrested on a charge of swindling a woman at Zion City, Ill., out of $2,500 and Gibbs is charged with raising a draft from $8 to $8,000. The men were stopping at different hotels and were arrested when they met here.

STATE WILL LEND FILMS TO SCHOOLS

Madison, Wis., March 3.—Recognition of the motion picture as an educational aid has led to the establishment of a special bureau in the university of Wisconsin extension division for the promotion of visual instruction.

In an announcement today W. H. Dudley, head of the special bureau, declared that immediate steps would be taken to provide a library of educational films to lend to schools and social centers throughout Wisconsin.

MACNAUGHTON GOES THROUGH QUIZ FROM ATTORNEY FOR UNION

Refuses to Tell Salary, But Denies It Is $100,000.

Congressmen Say They Are Near End of Copper Strike Probe.

Will Hear Moyer in Chicago as to His Deportation.

Houghton, Mich., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—James MacNaughton today declined, on advice of counsel, to state before the congressional committee the amount of his salary as general manager of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company. The question, put by O. N. Hilton on cross-examination, precipitated a heated discussion, during which MacNaughton rose to his feet and, shaking his finger at Hilton, exclaimed: "It is not $100,000; otherwise it's none of your affair and I won't tell you!"

Hilton had explained that his reason in asking the question was because it had been reported that MacNaughton's salary was $100,000 a year, and if it was true that he was getting such a sum while men were "working for him in the mine for as little as 20 cents a week," he thought it ought to be shown.

Will Tell "Privately."

Congressman Casey asked the witness if he had any objections to telling the committee what his salary was.

"Privately, no," replied MacNaughton.

"Will you cite any instances outside the Copper district as to any officers of the Western Federation ever being convicted of offenses against the law?" inquired Hilton.

"I cannot recall any convictions. Undoubtedly there were some convictions, for they have been guilty of offenses."

"You said you were somewhat of a

MURDERS CHIEF; IS GROUND TO DEATH

Russian Jumps Into Machinery After Committing Crime.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—Capt. Von Stahl, chief of works at the shrapnel tube factory of the Putiloff armament works, was brutally murdered today by one of the foremen. The murderer then threw himself into the machinery and was crushed to death.

There has been a strike at the Putiloff works for some days, and Capt. Von Stahl's attitude toward the strikers is supposed to have been the cause of the tragedy.

RECTOR SEES GANG MURDER IN NEW YORK

"Jimmy Curley," Leader of East Side Crowd, Is Killed.

New York, March 4.—James Correglo, also known as "Jimmy Curley," leader of a gang bearing his name, was shot and killed last night on the East side by two men who escaped without being identified.

The killing occurred opposite the Grace chapel, and was seen by the rector, Rev. Frederick Edwards, who notified the police. Though conscious just before death, the gang leader would not say who had shot him.

MEAGHER'S SWORD IS GIVEN TO NOTRE DAME

Will Rest Near Body of Chaplain of Irish Brigade.

Notre Dame, Ind., March 4.—The sword of Gen. Thomas Francis Meagher, commander of the Irish brigade, was today presented to the University of Notre Dame to rest near the body of Father Corby, the chaplain who, with hands uplifted, gave, in the midst of shot and shell, final absolution to the soldiers of the brigade on the battlefield of Gettysburg. The presentation of the sword to the university was made by United States Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, where Gen. Meagher died while acting as governor.

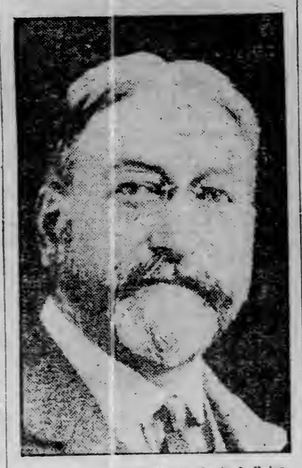
W. Bourke Cockran of New York was the orator selected to tell of the significance that attaches to Meagher's sword—of the general's sentence to be hanged for treason to the British government owing largely to a speech in Dublin when, as representative of the Young Ireland revolutionary party, Meagher had "declined to stigmatize the sword," and had given as a reason the famous passage beginning: "At its blow a great nation started from the waters of the Atlantic."

When Celt Met Celt.

In the references to the many battlefields on which Meagher and his brigade distinguished themselves, special emphasis was given to the charge up the heights of Fredericksburg, celebrated in one of the poems of John Boyle O'Reilly—the struggle in which Meagher's men went against other Irish soldiers commanded by the dashing Confederate, Gen. Pat Cleburne of Texas.

During the ceremonies cadets of the university acted as a guard of honor for the sword. Representatives of Irish societies of Chicago and other cities formed part of the crowd in attendance.

COUNSELLOR OF STATE DEPARTMENT RESIGNS



—Copyrighted by Harris & Ewing.

JOHN BASSETT MOORE.

MOORE QUITS FEDERAL JOB

Resigns as Counsellor of the Department of State.

Action Is in Accordance With Agreement Made With President.

Washington, March 4.—John Bassett Moore, counsellor of the state department, who ranks as acting secretary, has resigned and his resignation has been accepted by President Wilson. For the present Mr. Moore will continue his work here at Carnegie Institute and later will resume his connection with Columbia university. No announcement as to probable successor was made today.

Mr. Moore's impending resignation has been rumored for several weeks, and each time had met with unqualified denial. Various reports have had it that there was a lack of harmony in his views and those of higher officials, but they never were supported by anything official. Mr. Moore is an authority on international law.

Just Carrying Out Agreement.

It was explained in official quarters that Mr. Moore was quitting the state department in accordance with an understanding he had had with President Wilson when he took the office of counsellor last May.

In order to secure Mr. Moore's services, an arrangement was made whereby the counsellor was to act as secretary in the absence of the head of the state department, and in other ways was recognized as second only to Mr. Bryan himself. On those conditions, Mr. Moore undertook to give his services to the state department for the first year of its administration, to assist in carrying out the new policy in contemplation and in reorganizing the forces so far as might be, incident to the change of administration.

Mexican Policy Not Involved.

It was declared by officials that the Mexican question had no connection with Mr. Moore's retirement. That he had his own view as to the manner of handling the situation and that they were not at all points in accord with the administration policies, has been a common report; but nevertheless it pointed out today that Counsellor Moore had lent loyal support to the president and Secretary Bryan in the execution of their plans at all times.

It was understood that in a statement later President Wilson would take occasion to emphasize that Mr. Moore leaves the state department without friction, and that the most amicable relations will continue to exist.

WHITEMAN WILL FACE CHARGE OF SWINDLING

Waives Extradition and Starts for Chicago From Hot Springs.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 4.—Alonzo J. Whiteman, at one time a state senator from Duluth, but more recently an inmate of the Sing Sing, N. Y., prison, who was arrested here yesterday on a charge of swindling Mrs. Sarah Conger of Zion City, Ill., of $2,500, waived extradition and last night started under a guard for Illinois. He asserts Mrs. Conger gave him a draft for the amount, it is charged he secured unlawfully, and requested him to invest it for her.

A man arrested with Whiteman, giving his name as Edward R. Gibbs, but who is suspected of being Jackson De Forest, said to be wanted for the alleged swindling of the Owego National bank, Owego, N. Y., is being held.

Mary Garden Ill.

New York, March 4.—The condition of Mary Garden, grand opera prima donna, who has been suffering with grip and laryngitis since Friday, was unchanged today. She still was confined to bed in her hotel. A slight fever which developed yesterday continued today.

WHEAT TRADE MEN ACCUSED

Greeley Says Chicago Board Sent $4,000 Jackpot to Springfield.

Accuses Minneapolis Man of Strong-Arm Methods With Farmers.

Washington, March 4.—To support his charge that the Chicago Board of Trade is dominated by an alleged trust of warehouse men, Samuel H. Greeley told the house rules committee today that a $4,000 jackpot fund had been raised among its members last year to get legislation at Springfield to legalize dealing in puts and calls.

Greeley named two members of the board who had admitted, he declared, having participated in collecting the fund. He declared his belief that the board had been forced to "throw open its doors to this $5 and $10 bet game," and to seek its legalization because the warehouse men so controlled and manipulated the future and cash markets by their possession of stored grain that legitimate dealing was inhibited, and floor traders driven to put and call operations "to make a living."

Cites Fights in Dakotas.

Greeley said one of the things that had led him to Washington to plead for Federal laws governing wheat market transactions was what he had seen at recent farmers' conventions at Sioux Falls, S. D., and Fargo, N. D.

Secretary McHugh of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, he said, led "a gang of strong-arm men" in attempts to get possession of the conventions and shut off discussion of the operations of the wheat pits and public storage men. Riots had resulted, he said, which the police were called to quell.

Estimating that depreciation in prices resulting from the manipulation of the cash wheat quotations, Greeley said it had averaged $300,000,000 a year. From 10 to 25 cents had been taken from the legitimate price of every bushel of wheat, corn or oats, he said, during the twenty years the alleged monopoly had been in control.

Former Member of Board.

The Chicago board was arraigned as a "giant of fictitious wheat transactions and the weapon of a price-

THIRD BIG FIRE IN FEW DAYS IN ST. LOUIS

One Fireman Seriously Hurt and $100,000 Damage Done.

St. Louis, Mo., March 4.—Fire that started at 4 o'clock here this morning at Third and Locust streets caused property damage estimated at $100,000 and resulted in the serious injury of one fireman. It was the third big fire of unknown origin within a radius of four blocks during the last four days. Chief Swingley at 6:30 said the fire was under control.

The blaze, which started on the second floor, spread rapidly, and when the first fire company arrived on the scene the flames had spread to the upper floors through an elevator shaft. The firemen after an hour had the fire under control, but an explosion of gasoline later started the blaze anew, and at 6 o'clock the fire again was beyond control, but under twenty hose line streams the flames died down in another half hour.

The fire was confined to one building, a five-story structure occupied by three printing concerns and a liquor store.

LAMAR'S CHARGE THAT STEEL CORPORATION GOT REBATES FALLS

He Fails to Produce Evidence and Green Also Weakens.

Commerce Commission Will Probably Find "No Need of Inquiry."

Washington, March 4.—In response to the senate resolution requiring the interstate commerce commission to inquire into the desirability of investigating charges by David Lamar and William H. Green that the United States Steel corporation had received during the last six years immense sums in freight rebates, the commission probably will report that the necessity for the investigation does not exist.

At the conclusion of the hearing Lamar submitted what purported to be an agreement between the Federal Steel company and the Carnegie Steel company, by which the former was to pay the latter 40 cents a ton from the published rate for carrying ore from the Minnesota mines to Lake Superior ports.

The agreement, it was said, was made before the organization of the Steel corporation, and never became effective. Lamar declared that it was the basis of his charge of rebate conspiracy, and that he had no other documents to present.

Records Not Produced.

Certified copies of entries on the books of the Steel corporation showing rebates, which were promised at yesterday's hearing, were not produced today.

C. A. Severance, counsel for the Steel corporation, declined to cross-examine Lamar or Green, saying their statements were not evidential. Other witnesses whom Lamar asked to be subpoenaed probably will not be summoned.

When Commissioner Harlan was cross-examining Green closely as to his sources of information, the witness protested strenuously.

"I paid my own fare down here," he said, "and have been trying to do a public service; but it seems that I have got into deeper water than I expected to."

SHOWS HOW DRINKING IS RUINOUS TO RACE

French Deputy Finds White Plague Doubled Since 1887.

Paris, March 4.—Tuberculosis has a little more than doubled in France since 1887, according to figures supplied to The Temps by Henry Schmidt, a Republican-Radical deputy who is one of the leading figures in the temperance movement in France.

Deputy Schmidt traces statistically the effects of drunkenness on births and upon the lives of children whose parents have been intemperate.

Infant mortality in Normandy, where women drink excessively, is just double what it is in the temperate department of Gore.

Infant mortality is at its highest in those districts where absinthe drinking is prevalent.

The writer assembles figures showing that after the age of 60 sober men have one-third greater expectation of life than intemperate men.

PRINCE WILLIAM.

PRINCESS SOPHIA.

Waldenburg, Saxony, March 4.—Prince William and Princess Sophia of Albania left here today for Albania, after paying a farewell visit to the princess' paternal home. The prince, formerly William of Weid, was chosen as the new ruler of Albania on Feb. 21.

WILL PUT BOSTON ON CASH BASIS, HE SAYS

Mayor Curley Orders Other Economies and Will Fire 500 Employes.

Boston, Mass., March 4.—Mayor Curley plans to save the city $75,000 a year by having its bills paid promptly. He has instructed all department heads to return bills for supplies to the auditor's office within seven days, thus securing the usual 2 per cent discount for payments made within ten days.

Another of the mayor's economy plans is disclosed in an order to department heads to make their annual reports short and to discontinue the practice of issuing them in expensively bound volumes.

The mayor expects to remove 500 employes from the city payroll during the first year of his administration.

SHORTAGE ALLEGED IN CANTEEN FUNDS

Newport, R. I., March 4.—Discovery of an alleged shortage in the accounts of the canteen of the naval training station has led Capt. Roger Welles, commander of the station, to ask for the appointment of a court of inquiry. Chief Yeoman Smith, in charge of the business, is under technical arrest.

SMALLPOX CLOSES MUSCATINE SCHOOLS

Muscatine, Iowa, March 4.—Because of the prevalence of smallpox, the public schools have been closed for an indefinite period.

ALASKA LAND BILL FAVORED

House Committee Would Make Leases "for Mining Only."

Royalty and Federal Reserve Regions Are Provided for.

Washington, March 4.—Early action on the administration bill for the development of Alaska's vast coal resources was forecasted today when the house public lands committee submitted the measure with a favorable report. A committee amendment would limit rights under proposed leases to mining only, reserving all surface rights to the government.

Drafted after exhaustive hearings and many conferences between Chairman Ferris and other members of the committee with Secretary Lane of the interior department, the bill would provide that Alaskan coal lands be leased in blocks of from 40 to 2,560 acres for not more than twenty years, resulting royalties and rentals to go into a fund for Alaskan development.

Fines and Imprisonment.

Fines and imprisonment would be imposed upon anyone found controlling more than the maximum number of acres.

A royalty of 3 cents per ton would be charged for all coal mined, in addition to a rental of 25 cents an acre per month for the first year, 50 cents an acre per month for the second and succeeding years up to five and $11 a year for the remainder of the twenty-year period.

The government would reserve for its own use 5,120 acres in the Behring and 7,680 acres in the Matanuska field. The purpose is to develop these lands as a source of fuel supply for the navy and, if necessary, to restrain private monopoly.

MISSING NEBRASKA MAN NOT IN CHICAGO

Grand Island, Neb., March 4.—A man found in Denver yesterday, reported to be Howard L. Meeker of Lewellen, Neb., who disappeared last Thursday in Chicago, is not the missing man, according to information received here today from Meeker's father, who went to Denver after receiving word from a private detective that his son had been found.

Meeker, a prominent business man, disappeared in Chicago after selling a carload of horses and is believed to have been carrying a large sum of money.

APPEAL FOR ACTION BY ENGLAND IN MEXICO BY BENTON'S SISTER

Woman Writes to London Times Demanding Redress.

British Newspapers Lay His Death to American Policy.

Carranza Orders Inquiry Into Affair—American Held as Spy.

CARDEN SAILS FOR LONDON.

New York, March 4.—Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister to Mexico, sailed for London today to report in person regarding the Mexican situation to Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary. He said that he would spend only a few days in London and then return to Mexico City.

London, March 4.—The Mexican situation and Sir Edward Grey's pronouncement of the views of the British government in regard to the investigation into the death of William S. Benton are the subject of much comment in today's newspapers.

The Times this morning publishes a letter from Mrs. Reid, a sister of William S. Benton, in which she complains that a fortnight has passed in fruitless negotiations between the United States and Great Britain and the murderer of her brother is no nearer to identification.

"Are the negotiations going to be dragged out until public feeling has subsided and is the murder to pass unavenged? Can English men and women no longer depend upon their country for protection and redress?" she asks.

Says Feeling Is Deep.

The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"The temperate and restrained language in which Sir Edward Grey referred to the Mexican murder will have the approval of all English men. Its moderation, however, will not disguise the depth of their feeling.

"Patience makes every concession to Sir Edward Grey's difficulties, but if there is any danger of that patience being mistaken for indifference, it would introduce an element of grave disadvantage into international politics.

"Every reason of moral and international right requires of the United States that the punishment of Benton's murderers shall be undertaken without delay. At the present moment civilization stands flouted and Great Britain outraged. The application of the Monroe doctrine is paralyzed and mocked."

"Up to the United States."

The Globe says:

"Sir Edward Grey said much to emphasize the gravity of recent events and very little to relieve the disquietude which those events have in-

WITHDRAWS ORDINANCE

Bartenders Will Not Be Forced to Secure a License.

Commissioner Hicken Convinced That Measure Is Unwise.

Bartenders are not to be licensed in Duluth.

Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division and father of the measure which proposed to require bartenders to secure permits to work, paying therefor $1 per year, stated this morning that he will withdraw the ordinance at the meeting of the city council next Monday afternoon.

Commissioner Hicken explained that he has been in correspondence with other cities in which similar regulations have been in force and that he has learned that the results have not been satisfactory, and that the objects intended to be attained have not been accomplished. For that reason he states that he will withdraw the ordinance, adding that he is willing to profit by the experience of other municipalities.

The introduction of the bartenders' ordinance about five weeks ago brought forth a storm of protest in which the bartenders and the Federated Trades assembly shared the limelight. The original ordinance fixed the fee at $5 per year and specified that the men behind the mahogany should wear badges. This was later amended to make the fee $1 a year and to eliminate the objectionable "tag" feature. At the same time the requirement that applicants should state whether or not they had ever been convicted of a crime was eliminated. But despite the changes, the opposition did not diminish, and at the last two public meetings of the commission a large number of men interested in the ordinance attended to learn its fate.

Had the ordinance been passed, as probably would have been the case if it had come to a vote, a referendum petition asking that it be submitted to a vote of the people would very likely have been presented to the council. There was considerable feeling against the ordinance, and had it been submitted to a vote it is very doubtful if it would have been approved, as any other dissatisfaction with the commission would probably have been reflected in the vote, as well as the sentiment against the bartenders' ordinance itself.

OBITUARY

Babe Premanund Bothartd, who lectured in various parts of this country two years ago in behalf of international peace, is dead in India.

Col. James O'Shaughnessy, father of Nelson O'Shaughnessy, charge d'affaires for the United States in Mexico City, died in New York, March 4. He had been critically ill for several days, having suffered a relapse from an attack of pneumonia. He was 71 years old. When notified of his father's illness, Charge O'Shaughnessy made plans to go to New York, but the tense Mexican situation intervened and he was forced to remain in Mexico City.

Cardinal George Kopp died at Troppau, Austrian Silesia, March 4. Meningitis was the cause of death. The prelate, who was in his seventy-seventh year, was the highest dignitary of the Roman Catholic church in Germany.

Augustus M. Conover, last surviving member of the guard of honor which watched over the body of Abraham Lincoln as it lay in state at Independence Hall, April 22, 1865, died at his home in Philadelphia, March 3. He was a direct descendant of one of the oldest Patroon families of New York, the founder of the family, Wolfort Gerret E. Van Couwenhoven, having come to this country from Holland in 1660. Mr. Conover was prominent in financial circles in Philadelphia for years. He was 77 years old.

L. H. Weller, Iowa pioneer, and former member of congress, died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Gerrard B. Willett, 1809 Portland avenue Minneapolis, at the age of 81 years. His body was taken to his old home in Nashua, Iowa. During many years Mr. Weller was interested in politics, holding various local and national offices. He stood high in the councils of the people's party of his state. Born in Connecticut, he moved to Nashua fifty-five years ago. There he took up a homestead upon which he built a handsome country home in later years. For some time he was proprietor of a newspaper at Independence, Iowa. He was elected to congress in 1882 from the Fourth district of Iowa, serving one term. He was a member of a number of orders, being a thirty-third degree Mason. Surviving him are a widow, his daughter, Mrs. Willett, a nephew, R. L. Penny of Minneapolis, and three grandsons.

J. C. Stuart, vice president and general manager of the Erie railroad, died at Garden City, L. I., March 4. He had been ill for some time.

FIRST CLAIM TO BE CONTESTED

The first contested claim under the workingmen's compensation act to be put on record in this county since the law went into effect last October was filed today in district court. Nearly 700 settlements preceded, all without a contest.

Joseph Plavich, who lost the sight of one eye and possibly both, alleges in a complaint filed today that his employers, Pickands-Mather & Co., who employed him at the Cyprus mine, will not settle with him under the terms of the act.

Judge Dancer has set March 30 as a date for a hearing on the matter.

X-RAY POISONING KILLS MANUFACTURER

Hartford, Conn., March 4.—Henry Green, pioneer manufacturer of X-ray tubes, died at his home here today of carcinoma of the liver, induced by X-ray poisoning. He was born in England 54 years ago. He developed the first focusing tubes to be successfully operated, and gave many public demonstrations, later beginning the manufacture of tubes on a commercial basis. John L. Bauer, a glass blower, who aided him in the development of the tubes, died from the same disease in 1906.

STREET WORK IN A JUMBLE

Program Prepared Earlier in Season Is Shot Full of Holes.

Both Woodland Avenue and Superior Street Jobs May Be Delayed.

The city's program of street improvements for the coming season seems to be in a tangled jumble.

As the situation now is, what was once labeled as a program appears to be up in the air and in a very uncertain state. The officials, particularly Commissioner Murchison and his assistants in the works division, hardly know where they are "at" in view of recent developments.

The schedule which was announced some time ago looked fine and dandy, but in the last few weeks conditions have arisen which have sadly spoiled its appearance. The "program" was headlined with two big improvements, one being the paving of West Superior street, Jenswold street and Oneota street from Twenty-fifth to Forty-sixth avenues west and the other being the paving of Woodland avenue, or a portion of it.

By passing two resolutions at a recent meeting upon the advice of City Attorney Harvey Clapp, the council opened the way for delaying the Woodland avenue improvement. The first resolution directed the improvement of the entire avenue and the second ordered the improvement of the avenue from Fourth street to Victoria street. The first was under the petition which had been filed and the second was under the charter section which enables the council to order streets improved without petition. This section specifies that such a resolution shall lay over sixty days so the property owners may have an opportunity to file a protest against the job. And the property owners have not been slow to take advantage of this opportunity. It is stated at the city hall that a petition containing the signatures of 75 per cent of the property owners along Woodland avenue between Fourth and Victoria streets will be filed with the council before the expiration of the sixty days. This practically means that no part of Woodland avenue will be improved this year.

West End Protest.

A storm of protest is now being made against the improvement of West Superior, Jenswold and Oneota streets. The advisability of this paving was questioned at a B. C. D. (behind closed doors) meeting of the council in the mayor's office this morning. Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss said that he had gone over the streets yesterday afternoon with City Assessor J. Allyn Scott and that his investigation caused him to doubt whether or not the city could collect the assessments which would be levied to pay for the job. He said that he did not think a considerable part of the property affected would be benefited to the extent of the assessments which would be necessary, which would amount to $400 to $600 for each 50-foot lot, while the value of these lots was about $800. He pointed out that the city's share of the cost will be heavy because of the widening of Jenswold street and the fills at Forty-third and Fortieth avenues west; that many lots lie in these gulches and could be assessed for only nominal amounts; that if traffic centers on Oneota street, the tar macadam pavement west of Forty-sixth avenue west will not last over one season, and that no gas main has been laid in Oneota street and that parts of the street are without water or sewer mains, which he held should be laid before such an expensive improvement would be warranted.

The finance commissioner said that he realized that a good street should be provided to handle the big volume of traffic between the downtown section and the western suburbs, but that the city should know where it would land financially before proceeding. He was opposed to the paving of Grand avenue under the petition which limits the amount of the assessment to $175 per 50-foot lot, and in this he was supported by the other members of the council. He felt that Grand avenue would be the logical route, but that the property owners should send in a petition without cost limitations, as is done with other petitions for improvements.

As the situation now stands, it looks as though neither Woodland avenue nor a street between the center of the city and the western suburbs may be improved. The council is anxious that both be done, and they will receive further consideration at later meetings. The street work is limited by the permanent improvement fund, from which street intersections and storm sewers must be paid. It it should develop that neither Woodland avenue nor a street in the West end can be paved this year, the funds will be used for other improvements. Petitions are in for a vast amount of work which will be given precedence in accordance with its importance.

MARCH TERM IS OPENED

The March term of the district court convened this morning at the call of the calendar of civil cases by Judge H. A. Dancer.

Out of the 275 cases listed for trial by court and jury at the new term, twenty were stricken and twelve were continued on the first call.

After the call of the calendar, Judge Dancer charged the grand jury which is this afternoon considering the grist of criminal cases. The grand jury is being attended by County Attorney Warren E. Greene. About twenty cases will be presented.

It is expected that the divorce mill will start grinding this afternoon. About thirty-five divorce cases are to be tried at this term of court.

CANDIDATES ARE TIED FOR POSITION

Bismarck, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marten Nelson's contest against M. Gass, involving the mayoralty of Larimore, was decided by the supreme court today. The court found that a tie vote existed and the candidates are ordered to determine which shall serve. The charge of corrupt practices against Gass is not proven.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS' MONTHLY MEETING

February Was Active Month—Annual Minstrel Show Will Be Held March 26-27—First Father and Son Dinner Planned—Field Meet June 6.

The regular monthly meeting of the boys' department Y. M. C. A. cabinet was held last evening at the boys' building. The following members were present: Ed. Scriven, Richard Cullum, Fred Campbell, Norman Sweeny, Warren Moore, Charles Diers, Willard Thorp, Louis Wade, Carl Honingman, Charles La Richeaux, Ralph McCarthy, Ben McCabe, J. R. Batchelor and N. D. McLeod.

The date for the annual minstrel show was set for Thursday and Friday evenings, March 26 and 27.

Stanley Lamb and Ed. Scriven will be the end men and N. D. McLeod, interlocutor. The chorus will be composed of fifty voices, and is being trained under the direction of J. R. Batchelor.

The first father and son dinner will be held Friday evening, March 13. Every father who has a boy in the boys' department will be invited to attend.

The outing committee will have charge of the program for this Friday evening. It has arranged for an observation trip to the Zenith Furnace company's plant. The Sunday club committee is planning a one-act play for March 29.

The cabinet members will have a campaign of their own for the next two weeks. Each member will work until he has added two new members to the list. This campaign will not be just to add one to the list of members of the club, but to add a group of forty boys who will be hustlers for the club.

The date for the annual outdoor field meet has been set for Saturday, June 6, and will be held at the baseball park.

The loving cup won by the Washington school will again be up for competition. Medals, banners, and pins will be other awards.

The Duluth boys' exposition, which is held every other year, will take place on Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9, and will be open to every boy in the city under 19 years of age. The exposition will feature many things of interest to boys. Silk badges will be awarded the winners, and banners to schools or groups winning the most points.

The athletic committee is arranging a series of tests to be given for an efficiency test. This will take place in the course of the month. The club committee has arranged for a dinner for all the hustlers to be held tomorrow at 6:15.

"ETERNAL TRIANGLE"

Aurora Woman Supplanted By Sister in Husband's Affections.

Blood proved to be no thicker than water and family ties such as the sacred relations of sister to sister counted for naught when they stood in the way of an "eternal triangle" which has broken up a home in Aurora, one of the range towns.

And this is the reason why Humane Agent R. D. McKercher is today on his way to the state public school for dependant children at Owatonna with two little youngsters, one a bright-eyed boy of 8 and the other his tiny sister, aged 3.

And it also accounts for the heart pangs of a once happy mother, who has been stripped of the rights of motherhood because a court has found her unworthy.

The story of the triangle, while not particularly romantic, is rather interesting. It is a tale of how one woman was supplanted by her sister in the husband's affections.

The man in the case is the father of four children. Several months ago his wife became temporarily afflicted with insanity and after being examined as to her condition of mind she was committed to the state hospital at Fergus Falls for treatment.

Soon after his wife had been sent to Fergus Falls, he secured the services of her sister as housekeeper. The sister is a widow with five children, two of whom have been living with relatives in Michigan. Her husband was murdered about a year ago in one of the range towns.

Wife Returns.

The relations of the pair caused considerable scandal in the neighborhood at Aurora, but matters did not come to a climax until the wife returned from the Fergus Falls institution and suspected them of having been too intimate with each other.

The three attempted to live together, but the experiment did not work. The man centered his attentions on his sister-in-law and refused to have anything to do with his wife. She resented the treatment and then the real trouble began.

The matter was taken up with the Duluth Humane society and in juvenile court Saturday, Judge Ensign committed two of the widow's children to the state public school at Owatonna and placed the third one in the Children's Home. The three children had been living at Aurora with the other family of children.

It also developed at the hearing in juvenile court that the sister-in-law is soon to become a mother of another child. It is possible that the pair may be prosecuted for adultery, although no steps in that direction have yet been taken.

Crippled Child.

Humane Agent McKercher also took with him as far as St. Paul, 9-year-old Edward Mason of this city, who will be placed in the state hospital for crippled children for treatment. The lad is suffering from a diseased hip bone.

Mrs. Margaret Forgy, deputy probation officer, left last evening for Sauk Center with a 15-year-old girl who has been committed to that institution, where she will be cared for until she reaches an age where she will be able to shift for herself.

The little girl was foully wronged about a year ago and is the mother of a child. She was found in conditions here which were not conducive to her welfare and it was thought best that she be placed where there are better influences.

The girl's mother told Judge Ensign of the juvenile court that her daughter was one of twenty-five children born to her. Eight of them are now living. While the girl is in the state correctional institution her child will be taken care of by its grandmother.

ONLY FOUR IN THE RACE FOR MAYOR'S JOB.

With the last opportunity of filing their names as candidates for mayor or commissioner only two hours off, at 3 o'clock this afternoon there were only four men officially entered in the race for mayoralty nomination and five for the commissioner job, in Superior. It is probable that one or two more may file petitions before the office closes at 5 o'clock.

The mayoralty candidates are Nils Peterson, E. T. Harris, James R. Hile and A. J. McRae. The successful candidate at the primary will oppose Mayor J. S. Konkel at the regular spring election.

The candidates for commission are Charles N. O'Hare, who seeks re-election; Andrew Eckstrom, A. T. Andrews, A. D. S. Gillette and John P. Jensen.

FOUR HELD FOR RUNNING BLIND-PIGS.

Four persons were arrested last night by Detectives McDonald and Galvin on charges of conducting "blind-pigs." Those arrested are Pearl Clark, 708 Tower avenue; Bessie Wilson, 1118 North Third street; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Conway, 1710 Winter street. All pleaded not guilty when arraigned in police court this morning.

Fire Stampedes School.

Short circuited electric wires caused a small blaze in the Superior Central high school shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Only a few pupils remained in the building at the time and those got out of the place in record time. The damage was confined principally to the rafters in the basement.

CHOSEN TO MANAGE CROOKSTON SCHOOLS

Windom, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. H. Sanberg, superintendent of the local schools, who has been elected by the board of education of Crookston to manage the schools of that city the next school year, has been teaching school in Minnesota for twenty years. He was principal four years at Bellingham, Minn.; superintendent at Bird Island seven years, and is serving his sixth year as local superintendent. As an indication of his success it is stated that he has received an increase in salary in every one of those years excepting one. He was not a candidate for the Crookston position. The board of education of Crookston sent a committee out "scouting" at the suggestion of State High School Inspector Alton, and they visited Windom, were so favorably impressed with Mr. Sanberg that they offered him the superintendency for the next year, at an annual salary of $2,400, the highest price ever paid in Crookston, which he accepted. Mr. Sanberg has given satisfaction here, as shown by the manner in which he was been re-elected each year, and there is no little local regret over losing him.

BEGIN WATER RATE REVIEW

The committee recently appointed by the city council to review the new water rates of the water and light department held its first meeting this morning.

H. Erickson, a member of the Wisconsin railway commission, which has supervision of public utilities, reached the city this morning. He met with the other members of the committee, Manager D. A. Reed of the water and light department, and W. B. Rittenhouse, who is engaged in making a revaluation of the plant of the Duluth-Edison Electric company. The committee has been awaiting the arrival of Mr. Erickson to make its investigation of the new rates.

Manager Reed said today that little was done at the meeting this morning. He stated that the rates were considered in a general way, but that the committee did not begin an analysis of the statistics and figures which are involved in the fixing of the water rates. The committee will probably have to hold a number of meetings.

Mr. Erickson came to Duluth in connection with a business trip which he is making to Superior. He said that the city will not be put to any expense because of his services, as he would be glad to do all in his power to assist the city in its endeavor to fix just and equitable rates.

The new rates raised the minimum rate from 2½ cents per 100 cubic feet to 8 cents and reduced the maximum rate from 17½ cents to 15 cents.

FABRICS and Fancies play an important part in the Fashions of today--the revival of the 1830 Period styles, with their Puffs and Ruffs, has brought a demand for the beautiful tissues which blend so gracefully with these charming modes—

Taffeta "mystere"—taffeta libellule—chiffon flou flou—crepe fabiola—peau de Jeunnesse—crepe Pompadour — taffeta Romain — mirandole—muguette—pussy-willow crepe—Divette satin—and the beautiful new art nouveau crepes, are but a few of the new silken fabrics. In tailleur-cloths, too, there are many new weaves; as, for instance, chutedo—Deauville suitings—golfine—barethea—cascade d'eau—broadtail moire and other silk, wool, cotton and linen materials.

Gidding, as usual, shows them in all their new phases and with every new Parisian idea.

IS PUT TO WORK.

Marquette, Mich., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A recent arrival at the Marquette prison is Elias Paulanen, a Gogebic county man who has given the authorities much trouble for several years. Paulanen neglected his family of wife and five children and finally deserted them. All other means failing to make the man realize his responsibility, he was arrested under a Michigan law making wife-desertion a felony. He pleaded guilty in circuit court and was sentenced by Judge S. S. Cooper to an indeterminate term of one to three years in Marquette penitentiary. Paulanen will be required to work in the shops here and the money he earns will be sent to his family.

SHOLUND HAS NO LICENSE

Judge Cutting Finds Bartender Guilty of Violating the Ordinance.

Municipal Judge Frank Cutting this morning found Henry Johnson, bartender for Charles Sholund, 101 East Michigan street, guilty of selling liquor without a license and sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 and costs or serve a term of thirty days in the county jail.

The decision of the court means that Sholund, whose license was revoked a week ago by the city commission, will be unable to keep his saloon open at least until April 7, when the state supreme court will consider the case. McCoy & Hanson, attorneys for Sholund, have taken the case before the state supreme court on the ground that their client did not receive a fair trial at the hands of the city commission and that the revocation of his license was unjust.

On Monday afternoon Commissioner Hicken received a writ of certiorari from the supreme court asking for all records pertaining to the Sholund case. Immediately after this Sholund opened his saloon and enjoyed quite a brisk trade the remainder of the day.

Yesterday morning Johnson, bartender for Sholund, was arrested by Officers Clendenning and Louis Johnson, a few minutes after he had sold a bottle of beer to Clendenning, who had first gone to the saloon in plain clothes. Johnson pleaded not guilty, was arraigned and his trial was set for yesterday afternoon, when the case was tried before Judge Cutting. After the testimony was in Judge Cutting announced his intention to consider the evidence presented and this morning rendered his decision.

Had No License.

In explanation of his decision Judge Cutting said this noon that he found against the defendant because he was selling liquor without a license. The license, the court thinks, has been legally revoked and consequently the saloon had no legal right to remain open for the sale of liquor. A writ of certiorari, Judge Cutting explained, merely suspends the execution of the judgment or order challenged thereby and it does not vacate such judgment or order. In this case the license was already revoked.

It was agreed yesterday between Charles McCoy of McCoy & Hanson, and the court, that the defendant would abide by the court's ruling, and should it be against the defendant, the saloon would not be reopened, unless the supreme court rules in favor of Sholund.

As the arrest of Johnson was merely a test case, Judge Cutting did not feel like imposing the maximum penalty of $100 or ninety days. He also exceeded the minimum of $30, he said, because the saloon did a fair business while it was open, and therefore the penalty was placed at $50 and costs or thirty days.

The sophomore class was adjudged the winner in the championship debate with the senior class at the Central high school this morning. The subject of debate was "Resolved, That All Judges Shall be Subject to a Popular Recall, Constitutionally Granted."

The sophomore class was represented by George McFarlane, Winton Thorpe and Jacob Garon, while the senior debaters were Max Donaeau, Oliver Vivian and Morris Litman. Each speaker was given eight minutes to present his argument and four minutes were allowed in rebuttal. Donneau and Garon took part in presenting the final argument.

The judges were R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools; Principal Leonard Young and Miss Grace Wright. The decision went to the sophomore class by a vote of two to one.

The debate took place before the entire high school student body during the assembly period.

MANDAN STATE BANK IS CLOSED

Mandan, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Bank Examiner Sivertzen this morning ordered the Farmers' & Merchants' bank of Mandan closed, and members of the state bank examiner's office are checking over the books. Allegations are that there have been violations of the state banking laws, but neither Cashier E. H. McHugh, nor the directors will make a statement.

The last statement of the bank showed deposits of $166,464, which have since shrunk by $30,000; additionalliability of $16,000 bills payable is shown. The bank was established in 1907 and is capitalized at $30,000, with a surplus of $10,000.

He is a stone mason.

BANK CLEARINGS FOR FEBRUARY

While Duluth bank clearings fell off to the extent of $835,416.79 last month, it was attributed by bankers as entirely due to the heavy shrinkage in the grain movement.

It is said that from industrial and merchandising standpoints the volume of trade compared favorably with a year ago. Clearings for that month aggregated $11,565,347.70 as against $12,400,764.40 in February, 1913, and $10,110,306.27 for the same month in the preceding year.

Stops Tobacco Habit In One Day

Sanitarium Publishes Free Book Showing How Tobacco Habit Can Be Banished in From One to Five Days at Home.

The Elders Sanitarium located at 1055 Main St., St. Joseph, Mo., has published a free book showing the deadly effect of the tobacco habit, and how it can be banished in from one to five days at home.

Men who have used tobacco for more than fifty years have tried this method and say it is entirely successful, and in addition to banishing the desire for tobacco has improved their health wonderfully. This method banishes the desire for tobacco, no matter whether it is smoking, chewing, cigarettes or snuff dipping.

As this book is being distributed free, anyone wanting a copy should send their name and address at once.

For the purpose of getting plans under way at once for the midsummer festival in Duluth during 1915, the Duluth Retail Merchants' association, which is taking the initiative in perfecting an organization, has sent letters to all of the public organizations in the city asking for co-operation.

These letters have been forwarded by the committee appointed by the merchants, which consists of A. K. Squier, W. B. Brinkman and A. C. Pearson. The purpose of the letters is to have each organization appoint a committee so that all may unite to form a general committee.

Four organizations besides the retail merchants' have already taken favorable action at recent meetings. These are: The Retail Grocers, Aad patrol, the Rotary club and the Park Point Improvement club. Following is a draft of the letter:

"Gentlemen: The undersigned have been appointed as a committee to cooperate in arranging for a midsummer festival and pageant to be held annually beginning in 1915, in order to attract summer visitors here to learn of our splendid climate, our unparalleled advantages for summer outings, our equally unparalleled advantages for industry and commerce, and Duluth's desirability as a place to live in and work in, and be happy in the year around.

"To the end that a proper permanent organization may be formed, you are respectfully invited to appoint a committee of three, one of whom is to be your president, to form with us a part of the general committee on arrangements.

"As this project, if it is carried out, should be carried out on a large scale, and as it is essential to get to work as speedily as possible, may we ask that you bring this matter before your organization at the earliest possible moment? If your organization should, as we hope, approve the plan and empower the appointment of a committee to represent it, will you kindly advise the chairman of this committee at your earliest convenience, in order that arrangements may be made for an early meeting of the general committee."

Washington, March 4.—A bill for the thanks of congress to Col. George W. Gcethals and to authorize the president to appoint him a major general in the army, was introduced today by Senator Lodge.

AID OF DULUTH POLICE SOUGHT

State's Prison Authorities Would Capture Whittier's Assailant.

The Duluth police have been asked to aid in the search for Mike Radovac, 23 years old, former convict at Stillwater, who shot Frank A. Whittier, state parole agent, at St. Paul Monday evening, while the latter was attempting to arrest Radovac on a charge of violating his parole.

Chief Troyer received a communication and photograph of Radovac this morning from Henry Wolfer, warden at the Stillwater prison, who is soliciting the assistance of the police throughout the West in the search for Radovac, who escaped after shooting Whittier.

The parole officer was just about to arrest Radovac, when the latter drew a gun and fired point blank at Whittier, the bullet passing through the latter's leg. Whittier then reached for the gun and in the scuffle was shot two more times, one bullet clipping off the tip of his forefinger and the other going through his hat.

MIKE RADOVAC.

Radovac is described as being 23 years old, five feet eight inches in height, and weighing 147 pounds. Although the photograph shows Radovac as being smooth-shaven, the description sent to Chief Troyer states that he is wearing a mustache and is slightly heavier built than when his photograph was taken at Stillwater in 1909. He was sentenced May 28 of that year to serve five years for assaulting a man in Itasca county. He was later placed on parole and it was for violation of this parole that Whittier attempted to arrest him Monday evening.

A reward of $25 for his capture is now offered by the state.

OUR HOME WOMEN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Next time you go to the theater or to the "movies" just notice, if you please, how many of our home ladies have beautiful hair—glossy, lustrous, and well-dressed. Then, if you will pick out five or ten of those whose hair seems to be particularly pretty and will ask them what they use on it, we feel sure that at least more than half of them will say "Harmony Hair Beautifier." It is fast becoming the rage with both men and women who are particular about the appearance of their hair.

Sprinkle a little Harmony Hair Beautifier on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall stores, and in this town only by us. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

TO HANDLE CITY GARBAGE

Council Will Call for Bids for Five-Year Contract.

The city council agreed at a private meeting held in the mayor's office this morning to advertise for bids for proposals for handling the city's garbage collection under private contract.

The sentiment of the commissioners was that the proposition has sufficient merit to warrant the securing of figures that the city may know exactly what terms can be made. The opinion was that if a contract should be let for five years it should contain a provision that the city can secure the plant and equipment of the private concern at the end of three years.

The question of whether or not the city should consider letting a contract for handling garbage to a private firm was submitted to the council by Safety Commissioner William A. Hicken and Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health. They explained that if this were done, the health department could save about $7,000 a year, which they stated could be diverted into a sinking fund, which could be used at the end of three or five years to establish a free municipal garbage collection system. The other members of the council agreed with them that it is apparent that the city will not have funds to establish such a system for at least three years.

Believing that the question should be thoroughly investigated, it was decided to authorize the health officer to advertise for bids in order that definite figures may be obtained. This will be done at once and the bids submitted at a later meeting of the council. Should a private company secure such a contract, it will operate the incinerator as well as make all collections at a price no greater than now charged by the city. The company will also buy from the city the wagons, horses and other equipment which it now owns.

When the meeting started, the door of the mayor's office was open, but it was later closed and for the remainder of the time it was largely a B. C. D. (behind closed doors) session. This practically precluded the possibility of any citizen who might have wished to hear the council discuss public business from doing so. Any citizen who was there when the meeting began could have felt free to enter, but after the door was closed it would have been necessary to make a special request if one wished to keep informed of city affairs.

BOSUN'S MATE WILL RE-ENLIST

Completing a continuous service of twenty-eight years in the United States navy, Ole Olsen, boatswain's mate, first class, was yesterday honorably discharged from the U. S. S. Gopher, on which he has been stationed for the last few years.

Olson left last evening for his home in Brooklyn and after visiting there for several weeks, he plans to reenlist in the navy and serve two more years, thus completing a continuous service of thirty years. He will then be retired on a pension of three-fourths pay for the rest of his life. Upon re-enlisting he expects to return to the Gopher.

In speaking of his service in the navy, Olsen said yesterday that in his opinion it is excellent work for a young man. The opportunity to learn a life trade he said, is now better than ever. Should Olsen retire he will receive $70 a month for the rest of his life.

Olson is 49 years old, married and has a family of four children. Two of his sons have finished a college training and one daughter is now in high school.

HAS PICTURESQUE RECORD

Alonzo J. Whiteman Remembered By All "Old Timers" in Duluth—His Prowess at Poker—Arrested Many Times and Generally Escaped.

Alonzo J. Whiteman, who was arrested yesterday in Hot Springs, Ark., charged with swindling a woman at Zion City, Ill., has had a most picturesque career, which is recalled by many of the old-time residents of Duluth.

Whiteman was formerly a resident of Duluth, and for one term was state senator from this city. He has been erroneously reported many times as a former mayor of Duluth, and it took years for Duluth people to force outside newspapers and news agencies to stop so labeling him.

It is true that he once ran for congress from this district and spent a large amount of money in the campaign, but was defeated, Halver Kittleson, Populist, winning over Whiteman and S. T. Comstock, who was running for re-election. In connection with this campaign, which was a whirlwind affair, what is considered about the greatest joke of Whiteman's career occurred. Whiteman was the Democratic candidate and S. T. Comstock was the Republican candidate. Kittleson, a Populist with a pretty strong Republican following, entered the race at the instigation of Whiteman, it is claimed. Kittleson's campaign fund was put up by Whiteman, with the idea that he would split the Republican vote. He overplayed, however, and Kittleson won.

While in Duluth Whiteman was known as one of the greatest of the many real "sports" then inhabiting the city. He had the reputation of being a great poker player in the old days. In Duluth no stakes were too high and he had the proverbial iron nerve which nothing seemed to feaze. He was considered a dangerous opponent in a game of cards for the reason that there was no way—through facial expression or anything else—to tell whether he was betting on a stiff hand or a four flush. Many tales are related of his prowess. One will serve as an illustration.

When Whiteman Bluffed.

Whiteman was playing with a few of his cronies at the Spalding hotel one night, the Spalding being his Duluth home, and the rendezvous in those days of the "high rollers." The pot had been "sweetened" many times and was pretty rich. One of the well known pioneers of Duluth, since dead, opened it—it was a jack pot by this time, of course—and drew two cards. Whiteman stayed and drew one card. Then the betting began. The others dropped out immediately after the draw, so it left the two mentioned alone, in the betting. After one or two raises back and forth Whiteman, who had been playing in luck and had a big stack of chips in front of him, shoved in the whole pile. His opponent scanned his hand closely. He held a queen full, having filled his threes in the draw. He had just about enough chips in front of him to "call" the bet. He considered quite a while and then laid down. Whiteman, as it turned out afterwards, had only a pair of kings.

Whiteman could bluff like that at any time, and nobody could tell that he was doing it. In short, in a poker game, he was unsafe to trifle with.

Whiteman dissipated most of the fortune left him by his father while in Duluth. After the breaking of the boom here Whiteman returned to his old home in Danville, N. Y., and it was after that that his criminal career began.

He has been arrested about forty-five or forty-six times, has been convicted twelve times, has received sentences which total almost sixty years and has served not over five years, if that much.

He was sentenced a few years ago to Auburn prison, N. Y., for swindling a woman in Buffalo, N. Y., and was only recently released. Women and banks are his favorite victims. Whiteman, for a long time, convinced a large part of the public that he was being persecuted by the Pinkertons at the instigation of his sister.

Whiteman's history makes the dime novel stories of Nick Carter vintage seem cheap, tame and tawdry in comparison. He is a college graduate and a good lawyer. His knowledge of law has saved him many prison terms.

WEST END

HERALD BRANCH:
Herman Olson, Manager, 1823 West Superior Street.

RIFLE RANGE HELD MENACE

Its Removal Is Asked at Meeting of Fifth Ward Club.

Hicken, Merritt and Murchison Discuss Municipal Affairs.

That the rifle range maintained on Duluth Heights between Tenth and Eleventh streets near Zenith avenue is a menace to public safety in that people traveling along the Hermantown road and residents of the West end as far as Lincoln park are in danger of being injured by bullets, and that the range should be abolished, was the substance of a resolution adopted at the meeting of the Fifth Ward Improvement club at the Emerson school last night. Copies of the resolution asking the city commissioners to take action will be forwarded to the city clerk.

Members of the club averred that the members of the guard often missed the embankment used as a back stop for bullets and that these bullets sailed in a westerly direction over the country roads. Some of the bullets are said to have struck trees in Lincoln park, but as far as was known no person had yet been injured by them. The members contended that it was better to stop the practice than to have it continued until some passerby was killed or injured.

Commissioners Present.

The meeting of the club was attended by Commissioners Merritt, Murchison and Hicken, each of whom gave short talks on the work of their respective departments. Commissioner Hicken said that the new form of government was proving a success despite criticism to the contrary, and that the future would prove that the commission form was the best for Duluth.

"It has been a constructive period," Commissioner Hicken said. "All have done as well as could be expected under the circumstances, which involved financial stringency and local complications. Common will of the people make laws and all an administration does is to enforce them. This is especially true since the institution of the referendum, initiative and recall. If a law proves unpopular now it is generally repealed."

Commissioner Murchison spoke of the action of improvement clubs in the West end in condemning the action of the commissioners in authorizing the paving of Superior, Jenswold and Oneota streets in reference to the first Vernon and Third street route. He said:

Funds Lacking.

"It is at present impossible to pave Grand avenue because of the lack of funds. We have conceived a plan by which we could pave Oneota and Superior streets to West Duluth for $57,000, to be expended out of a certain city fund. This is at least $10,000 less than the other way and yet it is $3,000 more than is available. Last year there was an attempt to serve an injunction against the commissioners for obligating a certain fund for more than the money assigned for that particular project. A deplorable percentage of Duluth's streets are in a very bad condition and are in need of repairs but every cent which will be spent in pavement extension this summer will be invested in the West end. Yet it seems that it is from this place that all disfavor has emanated."

Defends Water Rates.

Comissioner Merritt defended the action of the water and light department in increasing the water rates. He said he took the attitude that every user of water was a stockholder in the plant and that in fairness to all the department could not sell its product below cost to one and away above cost to another. He predicted the city ownership of the electric lighting plant within another year, saying that plans for taking the plant over were nearly completed.

Isaiah Ridge, newly elected president of the club, outlined some of the club's future activities. Among these he said the most important was that of getting Buckingham creek covered. This creek was nothing but an open sewer, he said, and a menace to public health. He said that about fourteen residents along the creek or in its vicinity had at various times secured permits to run drains from their homes to the creek.

WILL WAIT FOR PAVING

Park Point Club Will Give City Chance to Raise Funds.

T. W. Cameron Is Elected to Head Club for the Coming Year.

The Park Point Improvement club at its meeting last night voted to defer action on the paving of Minnesota avenue. The offer of Julius H. Barnes to advance money for the work was not accepted and the club decided to wait for some time to give the city an opportunity to raise funds.

A motion was offered by D. McCray to the effect that the secretary be instructed to write Commissioner Murchison that the club has gone on record as being willing to wait until the city is able and can afford to pave Minnesota avenue. The acceptance of Mr. Barnes' offer would probably mean the paving of the street this year, but regardless of this, the members voted in favor of the motion, declaring themselves as being willing to wait another year, or two, if necessary.

A heated discussion preceded the vote of the club and although urged by M. M. Hanna, president of the club, to table the proposition and not hastily take any action, the members asked for a vote, with the above result. Mr. Hanna explained that the offer of Mr. Barnes is now being considered by City Attorney Clapp and Commissioner Murchison and that the former is looking into the law, to ascertain if there are any legal restrictions to the taking of the money. He has not yet announced his decision and for this reason Mr. Hanna asked the members to postpone action for the present.

Mr. Hanna read a communication from Commissioner Murchison to the effect that, according to the city engineer's estimate, the city's share of the paving would be about $21,000. It is this money that Mr. Barnes would advance without interest, he said.

During the evening S. George Stevens delivered a short talk on "Bird Life," urging the members to conserve their trees on the Point and to always keep a home for the birds. He also spoke in favor of the summer pageant during his talk.

A protest was entered by the club against the removal of street lights from the Point and the secretary was instructed to communicate with Commissioner Merritt in this regard.

At the annual election of officers, the following were named for the ensuing year: T. W. Cameron, president; D. McCray, vice president; A. H. Brocklehurst, secretary, and C. F. Almy, treasurer.

WHO MAY TAKE PART IN THE CONFERENCE

G. B. Bjornson, secretary of the conference committee, of which F. E. Randall of Duluth is the Eighth district member, which is arranging for the anti-Eberhart conference to be held in Minneapolis on March 9 has issued the following explanatory statement regarding the conference and the primaries preceding it:

"There will be two conferences, a county mass conference on Saturday, March 14, and a state delegate conference at Minneapolis March 19.

"A mass conference will be held in each county, called by the county chairman of the county. All Republicans who are in favor of uniting against the machine now in control of the Republican party in this state will be entitled to participate.

"The county mass conference will elect delegates to a state conference to be held at the armory in the city of Minneapolis, March 19, beginning at 11 a. m.

"The state conference will take up the matter of uniting the anti-machine forces of the Republican party upon one candidate for governor. It will adopt a platform setting forth its position on the important state issues and transact such other business as it may deem proper.

"The county mass meeting is the foundation of this movement and it is of the greatest importance that all friends of the conference plan attend the county conference of their respective counties.

"The only way to beat the 'machine' is to unite on one man for governor and get back of his candidacy."

GETS THIRTY YEARS FOR STEALING KISS

Los Angeles, Cal., March 4.—Convicted of robbery for having stolen a kiss from a white girl, Charles H. Guyton, a young negro, was sentenced to thirty years in Folsom prison by Judge Willis of the criminal department of the superior court.

The charge on which the negro was tried alleged that he held up Mrs. Daisy Stagwald and robbed her of a dime, all the money she possessed. Then he compelled her, under threat of death, to kiss him, after which he gave her back the 10 cents.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. Agent; Wirth's Red Cross drug store, 13 West Superior St.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS CONFER

Representatives from every Lutheran church of Duluth and Superior, numbering more than 200, attended the first conference of Sunday school workers of that denomination, held last night at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Closer co-operation in Sunday school work between the Lutheran churches of different nationalities was advocated and more meetings of a nature similar to that held last night will be held.

The principal addresses were given by the leading pastors of the two cities. The talks were principally on co-operation in Lutheran Sunday school work. These talks were given by Rev. W. H. Gable of Superior, Rev. E. Lehne, Rev. N. J. Lockrem of Superior, Rev. Carl G. Olson, Rev. G. O. Swan, Rev. O. H. Nelson and others.

It is probable that similar meetings will be held quarterly by the Sunday school workers. The meetings will be arranged so that they can be held at different churches in the two cities. The next meeting may be held early in June.

At Social Center.

"Women Wage Earners" will be the subject of an address this evening at the Bryant school social center, to be given by Miss Agnes Wells of the Duluth Central high school.

Practical demonstrations in cooking will also feature the evening's program. Miss N. Hills of the domestic science department of the Central high school will be in charge.

West End Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Swedish Mission church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Mork, 210 North Twenty-fourth avenue west. The Parthenoe society will met at Mrs. Mork's home in the evening.

The Rosary society of St. Clement's Catholic church will entertain tomorrow afternoon at tea in the parlors of the church.

Mrs. W. E. Harmann, Mrs. T. E. Halford, and Mrs. Thomas Bark will be hostesses tomorrow afternoon at the first of a series of Lenten teas to be given by the St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church in the guild rooms, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street.

Mrs. C. W. Ives, 415 West Ninth street, entertained this afternoon for the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Grace Methodist church.

B. A. Johnson of Cloquet, W. Nickelson of Minneapolis and H. Adams of St. Paul were guests this morning at the Esmond hotel.

PROPOSE UNITED WAR UPON HOG CHOLERA

Chicago, March 4.—Uniform methods of fighting hog cholera were advocated yesterday at a meeting of A. D. Evin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, and officials from twenty-six states. It was the opinion of authoritative speakers that the disease was increasing. The heaviest toll from hog cholera was in 1887, when the death rate was 120 per 1,000 and in 1897, when the rate was 130 per 1,000. The death rate in 1913 was 100 per 1,000.

TOP PRICE FOR ARIZONA COTTON

Washington, March 4.—A portion of the 2,100 bale 1913 crop of Arizona long staple cotton of the Egyptian type developed by the department of agriculture, sold in Liverpool recently at 23 1-3 cents a pound, netting the Arizona growers 21½ cents a pound at their shipping point in Salt River valley, it is announced by Secretary Houston. This was taken to indicate that English spinners consider this cotton equal to the best grades produced in Egypt.

TWO HUNDRED SLEEP IN BROADWAY CHAPEL

New York, March 4.—Two hundred unemployed men under the leadership of Frank Tannenbaum, an organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, accepted last night an invitation by Rev. W. M. Geer, vicar of St. Paul's chapel, Lower Broadway, to sleep in the chapel annex for the night. Food was provided by the congregation. The men marched from a mass meeting in Rutgers Square.

When the church had been reached one of the unemployed, Harry Kline, insisted that two organizers of the Industrial Workers, Henry Landwirth and Samuel Hartman, who declined to sleep on church benches, be put out of the building. Uproar followed the demand. The request for food of a half-starved youth finally suggested to Dr. Geer a way of quieting the disturbance.

"Let us eat and discuss these matters afterward," he shouted. Peace was quickly restored.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT.

The public affairs committee of the Commercial club will hold its regular monthly meeting next Tuesday night and not tonight, as erroneously reported in this morning's paper. At the coming meeting, besides the talk by Chairman Julius Barnes on rate matters and his business visit to Washington, C. P. Craig, chairman of the efficiency commission now making a study of the business methods of the state, will be present and explain what the commission is doing and what it hopes to accomplish.

DOCTORS NOW MAKE REPORTS

Cases of Sickness and Death Turned in to State Board.

Physicians throughout the state are taking more pains than formerly in reporting cases of sickness and death to the proper health officers.

Reports for January, 1914, show a great increase in diphtheria and scarlet fever cases over the preceding school months and also over January, 1913, according to Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the Minnesota state board of health, in a report filed with County Auditor Odin Halden.

During January, 1914, there were 504 diphtheria cases reported as fatal, as compared with 222 for the corresponding month of 1913; 398 in December, 1913; 483 in November, 354 in October, and 187 in September. The report also shows that 808 cases of death from scarlet fever were reported to the state department at St. Paul, as compared with 263 for January, 1913, 370 for December, 1913; 252 for November, 190 for October, and 95 for September. Dr. Bracken says in his report that the figures demonstrate that the physicians are reporting more fully and that the progressive increase in the number of cases has a relation to school associations. Teachers, he says, must be trained to recognize suspicious symptoms and parents must learn to co-operate with the school and health authorities in order that the spread of communicable diseases may be prevented.

APPLEYARD WILL CLEAN OFF SLATE

Ashland, Wis., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. E. Appleyard is beginning an action in the Federal court at Madison today to have a number of judgments taken against him ten years ago cancelled through bankruptcy proceedings.

The amount of liabilities are over $4,000,000 and may reach $4,500,000. It is a personal bankruptcy and in nowise interferes with the Appleyard waterpower interests in Northern Wisconsin and Michigan of which he is manager only.

Has Invested Much.

Over $1,000,000 of Eastern capital have been spent in buying and developing water power at Mellen, White River, Bessemer, Ironwood, and other places but the bankruptcy proceedings will not affect these enterprises.

Mr. Appleyard developed the interurban line between Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls also interurban lines in Ohio, indorsing in Ohio securities which turned out to be worthless.

OPEN BIDS ON ROAD JOBS

Eighteen Pieces of Road Building Will Begin in Spring.

County Board Will Let Contracts at Friday Meeting.

Except for awarding contracts for road work in the Second, Fifth and Seventh commissioner districts, few matters of more than routine importance are scheduled to come to the attention of the county board at its March meeting on Friday. The board will be in session as a committee of the whole on Thursday afternoon and at that time will go over the usual grist of bills.

Sealed bids will be opened Friday on three road jobs in the Second district, seven in the Fifth district and eight in the Seventh district. Bids will also be received on one contract for a road between the Sixth and Seventh districts. The work in the Second district will entail an expenditure of about $2,000, while that in the Fifth and Seventh will cost between $18,000 and $20,000 in each instance.

Considerable road work has already been contracted for at previous meetings of the board this winter and actual operations will start as soon as the ground thaws out in the spring.

Work To Be Done.

The work on which bids are asked for at the meeting this week is as follows:

In the Second district:

Clearing and grubbing two miles of change in Vermilion road along west lines of Sections 2 and 11, 51-14.

Clearing and close cutting three and one-fourth miles of the Rice Lake road from the city limits of Duluth to township road running to Rice lake.

Constructing one-half mile of the Flynn road on east one-half of south line of Section 14, 51-13.

In the Fifth district—

Constructing approximately three and one-half miles of the Agnew road, from the Swan Lake road to northeast corner of section 4, 52-18.

Constructing approximately four miles of the Eklund road, from northeast corner of section 11, 51-18 to south line of section 22, 51-18.

Constructing one and one-fourth miles of the Munger road, from Morris Thomas road north, in 50-16.

Constructing one and one-half miles of the Morris Thomas road, west from southeast corner of section 27, 50-16.

Constructing one and one-half miles of the Shibley road, from south one-quarter corner of section 4 to northeast corner of section 4, 52-17.

Constructing approximately three miles of the Cotton road, from Whiteface river to north one-quarter corner of section 16, 54-17.

Constructing approximately five and one-half miles of the Hodgson road, from Wolf road on south line of section 32, 54-19 west and north to Arkkola road, at southwest corner of section 7, 54-19.

In the Seventh district—

Constructing two miles of the Leander road, from southeast corner of section 36 to southwest corner of section 35, 62-19.

Constructing three miles of the Town Line road, on south lines of sections 31, 32 and 33, 57-19.

Constructing two and one-half miles of Yoki road, south from north one-quarter corner of section 34, 56-19.

Constructing one mile of the Yoki road, from east one-quarter corner of section 15 to east one-quarter corner of section 22, 56-19.

Constructing one mile of the Connors road, west and north from southeast corner of section 19, 59-21.

Constructing one-half mile of the Stingy Lake road, on the west one-half of the north line of section 19, 59-21.

Constructing two miles of the Buhl and Little Forks road, south from the Tower and Itasca road.

The board will also receive bids for constructing five miles of the Fraser and Sax roads, south from the northeast corner of section 25, 57-19, in the Sixth and Seventh districts.

ZENITH COMPANY ELECTS OFFICERS

'Phone Corporation Makes Good Progress in All Departments.

At the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Zenith Telephone company, Monday, March 2, the following officers were elected: E. H. Moulton, president; H. B. Knudsen, vice president; G. W. Robinson, treasurer; Frank E. Randall, secretary; A. J. McCulloch, assistant treasurer and general manager.

The board of directors is composed of the following: E. H. Moulton, D. M. Neal, Frank E. Randall, G. W. Robinson, H. B. Knudsen, C. B. Randall, E. L. Bradley.

The annual report disclosed the fact that the company has enjoyed a very successful year, a substantial gain having been shown in all departments and exchanges.

Much of the equipment is of the latest and most improved type and a most aggressive program was laid down for the year 1914. Extensions will be pushed vigorously.

The company pays a gross earnings tax to the city and has contributed substantial sums to help defray local improvements. The directors and officers were much pleased with the progress made in 1913.

DOING WELL SINCE THE DISSOLUTION

That the various late subsidiary concerns of the Standard Oil company are faring well since the dissolution, is evidenced in the reports regarding their operations coming out from time to time.

The latest one in the list to come to the fore is the Standard Oil company of California. It showed net earnings for 1913 of $19,386,140 equivalent to 77½ per cent on its old $25,000,000 capital stock and equal to almost 43 per cent on the $45,183,993 stock outstanding at the close of last year.

The valuation of the company's plant was placed at $50,268,456, an increase of nearly $20,000,000 since 1911. Its stocks of crude oil and other products were inventoried at $21,724,390, an increase of $7,139,105 in the two years.

Its production has increased very materially during the two years, the output in 1912 having been at the rate of 16,846 barrels a day while in 1913 the average daily production was 26,575 barrels. At present the company's production is reported to be running at the rate of 40,000 barrels daily.

The company's shareholders will vote next month on a proposition to increase its capital stock from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

MORE CARS WERE MOVED

February Demurrage Report Shows Improvement in Freight Traffic.

Big Decrease in Idle Cars Reported By Railway Association.

Substantial improvement in the volume of freight moved was shown at the Head of the Lakes last month. According to report of the manager, A. B. Piering, the Lake Superior demurrage bureau handled 27,145 cars of freight in February as compared with 28,330 cars for the corresponding month last year. While a decrease of 1,185 cars was thus shown, it was more than accounted for in the falling off in the grain movement, just 1,537 cars of wheat, flax, rye and barley being moved as compared with 3,798 for the same month a year ago. As a result of the cold weather, coal handlings increased to the extent of 2,572 cars, being reported at 17,889 cars, compared with 15,617 in February a year ago.

The movement of lumber and forest products fell off 1,300 cars, the total amounting to 1,791 cars as against 3,091. It is intimated that the bulk of that traffic came during the latter half of the month, and that within the last few days, shipments from operators in the various districts tributary to this city have increased enormously.

Handlings of iron pipe, iron and machinery were reported at 1,076 cars; hay, straw, feed, bran, corn and oats at 1,274 cars; groceries, general merchandise, sugars, syrups and salt at 1,027 cars; cement, lime and clay at 589 cars; ice at 535 cars; meats and livestock at 349 cars; wood at 220 cars and fruits and vegetables at 119 cars.

Taking the country over, the last fortnightly report of the American Railway association showed that the net surplus of idle cars as on Feb. 14 had decreased 12,626 in the two weeks, the total standing at 197,052 cars as compared with 209,678 on Feb. 1. This is the second successive report in which decreases in car surpluses have been reported. Previous to that the run of increases had extended over a period of some months.

Last year in the middle of February there was a net surplus through the country of only 22,163 cars, which was a decrease of 15,000 cars as compared with the previous report.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—May Irwin.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"Night on Broadway"

AT THE LYCEUM.

May Irwin Gives Large Audience the Laughter Cure.

May Irwin is the high priestess of laughter; the dispeller of gloom; the queen on the throne of comedy.

The old saying to the effect that nobody loves a fat person is only a half truth after all. Miss Irwin, despite her embonpoint, proved extremely likeable and a veritable dynamo of humor as she appeared last night in the stellar role of "A Widow By Proxy" at the Lyceum. Laugh and laughs, and then more laughs is probably the best description of the delightful vehicle, which this clever woman used to gather in the rounds of applause and laughter which came spontaneously from the audience.

The farce-comedy, which is a frothy confection, concocted by Catherine Cushing, has one great merit. It is entertaining, and in that capacity fulfills the purpose of the author. The lines of the play scintillate with genuine wit and humor and the situations are ludicrous in the extreme.

Of course, the situations are improbable, but this is entirely permissible in a farce, and the cleverness of the lines would cover any defects in construction. It was built for Miss Irwin and it fits her perfectly. The sole object was apparently to get laughs from the audience, and in this both the author and the actress are highly successful. The laughs probably average half a dozen to the minute throughout the production, varying from scattered titters to shouts of merriment. Anybody who cannot find something to laugh at in "Widow By Proxy" and May Irwin is surely not a normal human being. There is nothing subtle to the humor. It is broad comedy, but clean throughout, and entirely free from any vulgarity or suggestiveness.

Clara Blandick, who is well known in the stage world, showed herself an accomplished actress, and ably assisted Miss Irwin. A fine interpretation of her part, combined with a good personality, makes her a first-class foil for Miss Irwin.

The cast as a whole is acceptable. Maria Burke has a good bit as Gilligau the modiste, and Helen Orr Daly and Helen Weatherby are amusing as the two aunts. If there is any weakness in the cast it is in the male roles. Orlando Daly does good work in the part of Capt. Pennington, but Joseph Woodburn is not convincing as Galloway the attorney, and Joseph R. Garry, who appears for about three minutes just before the final curtain as Jonathan Pennington, is atrocious. Arthur Bowyer has a good bit as Robbins, the servitor.

Amusement Notes.

Cecil Lean, former musical comedy star, who is headlining the Orpheum bill this week, believes that vaudeville is still in the first stages of development, and that it will ultimately become something far different from what it is at present.

Mr. Lean's experience in both musical comedy and vaudeville, gives some weight to his ideas, for he has for several years been probably the most popular of musical comedy stars.

"The virility of the two-a-day is a constant source of wonder to me," said Mr. Lean yesterday. "Nothing seems too big for the vaudeville managers to attempt. In fact they are constantly looking for bigger things to do, instead of seeking ways to economize and cut down expenses. It is easier to book an act costing $2,000 a week than one costing $200 if you have something worth the $2,000. The constant cry is for novelty, originality and merit, regardless of what it costs. Of course you see many acts booked at big expense which are simply sensations of the minute, and have no merit except the notoriety attaching to them. You see acquitted murderers and great baseball players in vaudeville just because of the publicity attaching to them, but unless they have something of merit to offer they never last more than a few weeks and generally for one or two weeks only. But the man who has an original and novel act, with real merit in it, and with enough bright entertainment in it to make it talked about, can get practically his own price for it, and unlimited time.'

"This virility and energy is bound to tell. Vaudeville has had a wonderful growth since the old days of variety shows, and it is just beginning. It won't be many years before our best playwrights are writing one-act plays; our best composers turning out one-act operas; our greatest musical and dramatic stars appearing in the two-a-day."

The success of musical comedy is first a good book, next a good cast of principals, then a rollicking, youthful chorus who can sing, dance, wear nice costumes, and last, but not least, a complete scenic production. Such a production has Halton Powell furnished Harry Emerson with in his new starring vehicle, "Night on Broadway." This is a farce with a musical background. The plot tells of three men who have spent the night out. After many narrow escapes, Emerson, who plays the part of Herman Fleider, the jolly German candy maker, is finally extricated from his difficulties and everybody is happy. "Night on Broadway" will close its engagement at the Empress with the two performances tonight.

For the last half of the week at the Empress the management will offer a bill of vaudeville headed by Frank Bush, monologist. The society drama, "The Morning After," will be presented by Jack Bessey and Nell Paull. The Three Flying Kays, aerialists will appear on the bill and will offer a variety of songs. One of the newly incorporated features of the Empress vaudeville shows is the three-reel feature film. For Thursday "The Reform Candidate" will be the three-reel feature.

On Friday night, at both shows, a tango contest will again be given. The sum of $25 in prizes will be offered.

WILL SPEND BIG SUM ON HARBOR

To afford additional facilities for grain and freight handling, the Montreal harbor commission has announced plans for the expenditure of $15,000,000 in improvements.

The proposed betterments include the building of a 2,000,000-bushel grain elevator, the construction of new freight sheds for the Canadian Northern and the Hamburg-American steamship lines, the electrification of the harbor railways, elevation of railroad tracks, erection of warehouses, extensions of piers and the construction of a bridge over the St. Lawrence river.

With these projects carried through, it is thought the port of Montreal will be in a position to control a larger proportion of the general grain and freight traffic.

NEW SOURCE OF TROUBLE

State Inspector Is Thorn in Side of Saloon Keepers.

Thirteen Duluth saloon keepers were taken into custody this morning by the police on the complaints made against them by C. A. Montgomery, state inspector of weights and measures, charging them with violation of the weights and measures law. They are accused of having sold pint bottles of brandy to Mr. Montgomery that did not measure up to the standard 14½ cubic inches to a pint, most of them being below 11 cubic inches, the inspector claims.

The saloon keepers all pleaded not guilty, with the exception of Thomas Cote, 723 West Superior street, who entered a plea of guilty, when the thirteen men were arraigned before Judge Windom this morning. The court continued his sentence until 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning, when the trials of the other twelve will be heard. They were all allowed to leave on their own recognizance, the court not requiring any bail.

The thirteen saloon keepers arrested this morning are: Fred McCaskill, Lenox hotel bar; Frank Kohnen, 1002 Garfield avenue; Fred Helinius, 320 Lake avenue south; Carl Lahto, 150 South First avenue east; Gust Silpala, 326 Lake avenue south; Eugene Brolin of Brolin & Pernala, 205 West Superior street; Thomas Cote, 723 West Superior street; Ole Sanstead, 212 Lake avenue south; Charles J. Johnson, 527 West Superior street; Alphonso Letourneau of Letourneau & Forest, 525 West Superior street; Mike Moran, 505 West Superior street; Albin Ilenda, 411½ West Michigan street, and Hans Johnson, 613 West Superior street.

Mr. Montgomery, who operates in Duluth and the range towns for the state department inspecting weights and measures, began working on the present case a week ago today, finishing Monday afternoon. One more saloon keeper, it is understood, is charged with the same offense and he will be arraigned this afternoon. This will make a total of fourteen saloon keepers arrested on the same charge.

Bury Duluthian's Sister.

Stillwater, Minn., March 4.—The funeral of Miss Josephine Malone, aged 35, a lifelong resident of Lake Elmo, who died Sunday was held Tuesday morning from St. Joseph's Catholic church with burial at Oakdale.

Electric Signs Reflect Success

With what manner of sign a merchant heralds his business—so is his success reflected in the path of thousands who pass his doors at night. Far and wide the brilliantly illuminated sign flashes its message of invitation to his trade.

Its letter of fire burn steadily, piercingly through the darkness of night, so that those who see it are compelled to read.

Why Not Employ One of These Silent Salesmen?

If your place of business is on a main thoroughfare, an electric sign is certain to attract more trade to your door. If it is on a less traveled street, it is almost essential that you counteract the disadvantage by this method. You will find that a small share of the additional trade brought in by an electric sign will pay for expense of lighting it. "Phone us and we will send a man who will tell you just how low the cost really is.

controlling monopoly" by Greeley, who for more than twenty years was a member of the board.

Through memberships on the Chicago board and control of the storage of grain, the warehouse "trust," he declared, had built up an organization "which controls the wheat prices of the world more than any other agency except war scares and financial panics."

The key to the situation was dealing in futures, where no delivery was intended, he declared, and in this business the Chicago board of trade outstripped the other markets of the world combined.

Evidence was submitted to the committee designed to show that the warehouse "trust" began business in 1877 and has steadily increased in power until today the Chicago board was "throttled and influenced by the public warehouse men."

Changed the Rules.

Mr. Greeley read into the record a recent change in the rules by the board removing certain penalties prescribed against warehouse members. This, he said, was done at the order of the warehousemen's combination.

The committee had under consideration Representative Manahan's resolution to authorize an investigation of the charges that a monopoly existed within the grain exchanges of Chicago, Duluth and Minneapolis, founded upon the warehouse operations and future trading. It was said that if the hearings bring out evidence to warrant it, the matter probably would be referred to a committee with recommendations that it draft legislation to remedy the alleged evils.

Mr. Greeley charged that public warehousing in Chicago was conducted openly and brazenly in violation of law, without any organized opposition of state legal authorities to crush open competition.

Control 95 Per Cent of Wheat.

"It is recognized," he asserted, "that 95 per cent, at least, of all cash grain which has entered public storage for many years has been controlled by the illegally operating warehouse proprietors. Innocent individuals are subject to many hardships of odds or percentages in the game, which are correspondingly in favor of the combined warehousemen speculators.

"Closely associated with the questions involved should be the manufacture of so-called ocntract grades from mixtures illegally placed in public storage by various subterfuges which are easily discovered and understood and no doubt are known to exist by our state authorities who should, but do not, properly control the warehouse business of Illinois."

The effect of this, he said, was to enable the warehousemen to keep in storage enough wheat to control the market in futures and establish the price on the farms at which elevator they choose to make it.

TWO TO GO TO DETROIT

A. H. Comstock and Probably D. A. Reed Will Represent Duluth.

Will Appear Before International Joint Commission.

Duluth will have two representatives at the meeting of the international joint waterways commission to be held in Detroit, Mich., on March 9. Yesterday afternoon at a conference of representatives of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club and of the Duluth board of trade, A. H. Comstock was named as representative of the business interests of the city to protest against the proposed damming of the Soo river and the raising of the lake level. The city will send a representative to protest against water pollution. Capt. E. D. Peck, United States engineer in charge of this district, was present at the conference and assured the business men attending that the raising of the lake level is out of the question.

At the conference yesterday it was decided not to protest against a maximum rise of six inches over the level of 1913, but to enter emphatic protest at anything over that. That is the message which Mr. Comstock will take to Detroit.

Mayor Prince expects before the day is over to announce who will be appointed by the city to represent it at the Detroit meeting and protest against the pollution of lake water. It is intimated that D. A. Reed, superintendent of the water and light department, will be named. At any rate, the mayor said, it will be one of the city's engineers.

While Duluth will suffer less from water pollution than any other city on the Great Lakes, owing to the fact that it is at the head of navigation, the city commissioners feel that in the interests of the country at large, steps should be taken to prevent such lake contamination.

The Canadian Head of the Lakes is also taking a deep interest in the proposed raising of the lake level, and it is announced that Mayor Young of Port Arthur will appear before the joint commission to protest.

GILL RE-ELECTED TO SEATTLE MAYORALTY

Wins on Law Enforcement and Anti-Corporation Platform.

Seattle, Wash., March 4.—Hiram C. Gill, who was elected mayor of Seattle in 1910, recalled in 1911 just after the women of Washington had been enfranchised, and defeated in 1912, was elected mayor of Seattle yesterday by a majority of 14,000, defeating James B. Trenholme.

Gill ran on a platform of strict enforcement of the law. Four years ago he was elected on an "open town" platform, and his recall resulted from his alleged toleration of vice. Gill's chief supporters in the present campaign were men who brought about his recall in 1911. Many of his supporters in former campaigns were against him this time.

Mayor-elect Gill is a native of Wisconsin and is 48 years old. His father was a distinguished officer in the Civil war and was commissioner of pensions under President Grant.

"Corporate Domination" the Issue.

Trenholme, who was one of the organizers of a large commercial company in Alaska and is now manager of a corporation which is developing a land grant in Southern Mexico, was selected as a candidate for mayor at a secret conference of business men several months ago, when Gill's candidacy had not been thought of even by Gill himself. A Trenholme campaign fund of several thousand dollars was raised as a result of this conference, a leading brewer giving $500, the president of the chamber of commerce $1,000 and the head of the local traction and light companies $500. Publication of the circumstances of Trenholme's selection caused a sensation, and all effort to rally the women and reform factions came to nought, for the issue raised by the Gill leaders was "corporation domination."

Gill himself furnished all the funds used in his campaign, about $1,200, refusing all offers of aid. He had no speakers and no paid workers.

In his campaign speeches he said he would retire Chief of Police Bannick to a captaincy, reorganize the police force and continue the development of the municipal street and light systems.

Gill carried every ward but one, and got big majorities in residence precincts where he had always been beaten before. Additional returns today do not make any change in last night's list of successful candidates.

Labor Leaders Exultant.

Apparently, the only charter amendment adopted was that fixing a minimum wage of $2.75 a day for all city employes. Labor union leaders are exultant. Robert B. Hesketh, president of the city council and vice president of the International Cook & Waiters' union, was re-elected to the council, receiving more votes even than Gill. Councilman Oliver T. Erickson, also indorsed by organized labor, was re-elected by a large majority.

Socialist; did you ever seek to join the party?"

"I have not."

The witness was then excused.

Shows Courts Are Working.

The report of Special Prosecutor George Nichols to the board of supervisors of Houghton county, giving a long list of cases presented before the courts since the strike, were read into the record by counsel for the operators. Mr. Rees said the purpose was to show that the "courts were working" and that there had been a number of convictions in strike cases.

A history of the injunction proceedings instituted by the companies to restrain the strikers from acts of violence, destruction of property, picketing and interfering with non-union workmen, also was introduced.

Hear Moyer in Chicago.

Charles H. Moyer will be a witness before the congressional committee in Chicago next week on the subject of his deportation from the Copper country. His name was among a list of fifteen witnesses which counsel for the Western Federation today furnished the committee as those it desired to have heard in Chicago.

Members of the committee were confident today that they will be able to conclude the hearings in the strike district this week.

Bars Federation Members.

"As long as I am general manager of the Calumet & Hecla company, no striker will be taken back to work unless he gives up his membership in the Western Federation of Miners," declared MacNaughton yesterday before the investigators.

"The Western Federation and its members as such have tried in every way possible to put the mining companies out of business. They stopped our business, they interfered with non-union men going to work, and caused riots. There are a great many strikers who would not be taken back under any condition."

He said the Federation taught a "gospel of hate," and declared he would permit no one to arbitrate between his loyal employes and the striking unionists.

Chairman Taylor asked MacNaughton if it were his position that the companies would not let the governor of Michigan or the president of the United States or any other high-minded person attempt to settle the trouble.

"I personally will not agree," said MacNaughton, "to allow any person to arbitrate a question between 4,700 employes who are faithful and loyal and 240 employes who are on strike. As to conditions they would impose on the men now at work, I think it would be outrageous and unjustifiable."

His Pocketbook.

MacNaughton said his attitude did not indicate lack of confidence in the officials named, "but I know this is my pocketbook and I am not going to allow you or others to arbitrate to decide whose pocketbook it is."

Congressman Casey inquired if the surrender of membership in the Socialist party was a condition of reinstatement.

MacNaughton said it was not, as he was something of a Socialist himself, although not a militant one.

MacNaughton was vigorously cross-examined by O. N. Hilton of counsel for the Federation.

"So you think alien agitators have been dispensing a 'gospel of hate,' in this community?" began Hilton.

"Yes."

"Do you think you have been dispensing one of love?"

"Not necessarily, but I have preached against the doctrines of the Federation."

"Good Picking."

"Mr. Rees said in his opening statement that alien organizers of the Federation had resorted to intimidation and violence to gain a foothold here because the 'picking was good.' Do you indorse that?"

"Yes," answered MacNaughton.

Hilton the nestablished by questions that the directors of the Calumet & Hecla, except MacNaughton, live near or in Boston.

"They are aliens, too?" he asked.

"Yes."

"The picking has been pretty good for them too, hasn't it?"

Objection to this question was sustained.

Hilton then established by questions that Quincy A. Shaw of Boston was president of several companies controlled by the Calumet & Hecla, and that the witness was general manager of ten or twelve companies and a director in all of them.

Knew of No Unfairness.

MacNaughton said that if any miners had been treated unfairly by petty bosses, it was without his knowledge. He also said he knew the miners felt free to come to him with grievances, because many had done so and that he had sought to right wrong many times.

The witness denied that the health of miners required artifical ventilation in the mines, and said he never had known of a miner fainting at work.

In reply to questions, MacNaughton asserted that the men worked within 150 feet of each other, and denied that any strikers had been evicted from company houses at Osceola. He said the one-man drill used in Montana was slightly lighter than the drill used here.

Hilton asked the witness if he thought conditions under which a man working nineteen months without receiving a cent were ideal. MacNaughton said the man must have liked it or he would have left. He said the companies withheld a man's pay only on garnishment or assignment of salary.

Sheriff Asked for Guards.

In his direct testimony, MacNaughton said 4,700 of the company's old men were back at work and but 240 actually were on strike. He declared the Waddell-Mahon and Asher guards had been imported at the instance of Sheriff Cruse, who claimed they were needed to preserve order.

Mr. Casey asked whether the Waddell-Mahon guards were the "gunmen" referred to by witnesses. MacNaughton said they were, and added he supposed they had handled strikers pretty roughly on occasions, as they were not "kid-glove fellows." As a whole, however, he said, they seemed a well-behaved, reliable squad of men.

MacNaughton denied that a "black list" was maintained by any of the companies with which he was connected. He read the record of one man who had been re-employed several times in the same mine after he had been discharged for inebriety.

MacNaughton outlined for the committee the welfare work being done by the Calumet & Hecla for its employes and their dependents, and told of the system of the free fuel distribution among the poor. He said 200 men had been detailed to learn the "first aid to the injured" when a mine rescue car was here in July, 1912.

Mortality Figures.

The witness denied that the mortality from accidents was greater in these mines than elsewhere, and quoted figures to show that the percentage of deaths was less than in the Montana and Arizona districts.

Questioned on hours of labor, MacNaughton declared it was impracticable to work three eight-hour shifts owing to the time required to send men and supplies up and down. He did not think men employed by his company ever had been required to work actually more than eight hours a day. Under the new system they go down and come up partly on the company's time, partly on their own.

The witness said the company was not interested in any store, and the men were free to trade wherever they wished.

evitably provoked. The public opinion of this country, however sympathetic to the United States, will not make consideration for the embarrassments of President Wilson an adequate excuse for acquiescing in such deeds as those of which Pancho Villa, with the approval of Venustiano Carranza, has been guilty. If President Wilson cannot be held responsible for the behavior of the Mexican insurrectionists, his policy is directly responsible for the state of things which has led to intolerable excesses. What the United States has done is not merely to allow civil war to persist, but to foment it by allowing arms and ammunition to be supplied to the belligerents.

"The United States is bound to exert that predominant and exclusive influence which it claims for putting an end to things which have become a danger not merely to the United States itself, but to the civilized world."

The Westminster Gazette and the Evening Standard agree with Sir Edward Grey that the only possible policy is to wait, and secure reparation when circumstances permit it.

Blames United States.

The daily Chronicle, in its editorial comment today on the Mexican situation, says:

"In a sense the United States has more responsibility in Benton's murder than Sir Edward Grey stated. Villa, his murderer, obtained practically all his arms and supplies from across the American border, because the United States deliberately raised in his favor an embargo otherwise imposed by international law. He was able to keep the rebellion on foot partly for this reason, but chiefly because the United States forbade European lenders to advance Huerta money to crush him.

"If this policy of the United States did not exist, Benton probably would still be alive; and if he were not, England would be in a position to get redress from the regular Mexican government. Thus it is really the United States which stands between England and redress.

"No Resting Place" for U. S.

"Though we may be philo-American enough not to say so officially, other powers in a like case might not be. The United States, in short, can hardly find a resting place. Her policies must either go forward with the assumption of more responsibilities, or backward with the abandonment of some, if not all, which it has now assumed."

The Daily News concludes its editorial by commending Sir Edward Grey's caution. "It is irritating," the News says, "that a scoundrel should be able to murder a British subject with impunity, but our anger should not drive us into dangerous courses. Sir Edward Grey's policy may seem for the moment barren, but no other policy is practicable."

"Humiliating Confession."

The Daily Express says:

"We regret the rather humiliating confession of impotence, and we think that Sir Edward Grey's language is not too aptly chosen; but the sense of his statement is in accord with public sentiment and is, on the whole, satisfactory. The next move clearly lies with President Wilson. He has one of those opportunities that do not recur."

Carranza Orders Inquiry.

El Paso, Tex., March 4.—Although word had been received from Nogales, Sonora, that Gen. Carranza had appointed a special commission to investigate the recent execution by Gen. Villa of William S. Benton, a British subject, the American and British representatives who were ordered to examine Benton's body at Chihuahua continued today to await definite instructions from the state department at Washington.

In view of Gen. Carranza's action, the commissioners expected that the state department would order them to abandon the trip to Chihuahua.

The members of the Carranza commission are Ramon Fraustro, Constitutionalist military attorney general; Miguel Sylvia Penyan, an ex-governor of the state of Michoacan, and Miguel Lara, attorney and ex-governor of Hidalgo. These three men, it was explained, are already on their way to Juarez by way of El Paso; although they have not been advised of their mission there.

Marion Letcher, American consul at Chihuahua, who had expected to accompany the commissioners on their trip, remained here today on orders from Washington. George C. Carothers, special agent of the state department, had not returned from his mission to Gen. Carranza.

Mexican Paper Is Suppressed.

Vera Cruz, March 4.—The government authorities today suppressed a new local paper, El Moniteur, and arrested the entire staff of six editors, who were consigned to the fortress of San Juan de Ulua. They were charged with circulating false news, calculated to excite popular animosity against the United States.

American Held As Spy.

Juarez, Mexico, March 4.—H. W. Dent, an American, has been prisoner at Torreon for the last two months, according to Americans who have arrived from the south.

Dent, a former superintendent of construction of the Torreon division of the Mexican National railway, is charged by the Federals with being a rebel spy. Consul Hamm is said to be trying to obtain his release.

The American had been buying hides in various cities, and came to Torreon from Durango, which is held by the rebels. To this fact he owes his arrest. He carried a large sum of money, which is said to have been confiscated.

Chinaman Murdered.

Gen. Villa is in a wrathy mood at the murder of one Chinaman and the fatal wounding of another in Chihuahua, according to information received here. The crime was committed Monday night, when three men broke into a small store kept by John Sen and Woo Kee. On Sen's body were found eighteen knife wounds. Woo Kee was stabbed six times and will die.

Gen. Villa regards the incident as particularly unfortunate as coming at a time when foreign countries are exercised over the death of Benton and appranhension is felt by friends and relatives for the safety of foreigners now in Mexico.

Move on Mexico City.

Douglas, Ariz., March 4.—A side door attack on Mexico City by 8,000 striking men from Tepic territory, is the next move on the Constitutionalist program, according to an announcement here.

Francisco Elias, border representative of the Constitutionalists, who returned to Agua Pricta after a conference with Gen. Carranza at Nogales, said that the defection to the rebels of the Federal gunboat Tampico had caused the supreme chief to drop his plans of concentration along the border and throw southward nearly half the rebel forces in the field.

Seek Refugees' Freedom.

El Paso, Tex., March 4.—Asserting that there is no warrant of international law or treaty under which the 5,000 Mexicans who fled to the United States after the battle of Ojinaga, and who are interned at Fort Bliss, can be held, representatives of the Huerta government here are preparing to institute habeas corpus proceedings to obtain their liberation.

Harris Walthal and H. R. Gamble, lawyers, are acting for the Huerta government under the immediate direction of Miguel E. Diebold, Mexican consul general-at-large.

"I assume the clause on which the Mexicans are being held is the one in The Hague treaty, which states that if a group of belligerents from one country warring with another takes refuge in a third, the third must intern them for the period of the war," said Mr. Walthal.

"The United States and Mexico are signatories to the treaty, but that instrument contains no reference to a situation like the present where the conflict is internal.

"Before going into court we will approach the state department on the subject. If we fail there, we will apply for a writ of habeas corpus, for that right is suspended only in time of war, or where martial law has been declared. Neither condition exists here."

The lawyers suggested that the case might result eventually in an amendment to The Hague treaty.

Woman's Realm

General interest is felt by club women all over the country in the Biennial convention of the National Federation of Women's clubs which will be held at Chicago, June 9 to 19 next. The convention program will be of unusual interest and the national convention committee is making extensive preparations for the entertainment of the visitors while in Chicago.

Minnesota headquarters will be at the Blackstone hotel and special arrangements have been made with the hotel for rates. The "Minnesota Federation Special" will leave Minneapolis at 8 a. m. and St. Paul at 8:40 a. m. and arrive at Chicago at 8:30 p. m., Monday, June 8. This time has been arranged to allow ample opportunity for delegates to locate themselves comfortably and delegates and friends from the western and northern parts of the state, particularly from Duluth and the range cities will make arrangements to connect with this special train.

Reservations for the convention must be made not later than March 15 with Mrs. Edgar H. Loyhed, general Federation secretary at Faribault, or with Mrs. F. L. Barrows of 12 North Nineteenth avenue east of this city who will send in Duluth lists.

Mrs. F. L. Barrows will go to this convention as a delegate from the state and will be with Mrs. C. L. Atwood, state president while in Chicago.

"ROMAN CONQUEST."

Bishop's Club Has Interesting Meeting.

"The Roman Conquest of Constantinople" was the subject of the meeting of the Bishop's club last evening at the Cathedral hall, Second avenue west and Fourth street. Miss Eva McNamara pointed out the advantages of location, commerce and religion that led Constantine to establish his capital in the East, and told of the imposing ceremonies that were held when the emperor began his rule in the new city.

Miss Thibert read from the Bible. Charles Young gave two piano selections, Fantasie in C minor (Mozart) and "Shepherd and Shepherdess" (Godard). A violin solo, "Humoresque" (Dvorak) was played by M. Warren. Mrs. Jane Everington Scully sang Shelley's "Reveries" and Eversole's "The Serenader." For an encore Mrs. Scully gave "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms," accompanied by Mr. Warren on the violin. Miss Jane Doran read extracts from current events of world interest. She spoke of the illustrated article on Duluth by George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Commercial club, that appeared recently in an Eastern steel magazine. Mrs. J. H. Sullivan had charge of the program.

Rev. James Donohue, city missionary of St. Paul, will lecture on "Charity," March 31, under the auspices of the Bishop's club. The next meeting of the club will be held Monday evening, March 16, instead of Tuesday evening. The date has been changed because St. Patrick's day falls on the regular club day.

AT COUNCIL MEETING.

Mrs. Morrison Will Preside Friday.

A report on the Girls' Industrial school by Mrs. A. B. Siewert will be the principal feature of the regular meeting of the Woman's Council which will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the library club room. This report was to have been given at the February meeting but owing to lack of time was postponed until this meeting. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Woodbridge, who is in Cuba, the first vice president, Mrs. James Dow Morrison, will preside. There will be reports from the amusement committee of the council given by Mrs. A. A. Kerr; from the anti-tuberculosis committee and from the offensive advertising committee as well as other routine business.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS

New spring styles are making their appearance in the shops on Superior street, and windows are attracting special attention these days. The shopper was particularly interested in two gowns of white taffeta silk shown on figures in one of the display windows. Taffeta is the silk especially favored this season and these two gowns follow the latest style dictations, with the bustle effect particularly featured. The bodices of these gowns were of chiffon and lace.

In another of the department stores some early showings of suits and coats interested the shopper. There were summer coats in the new fabrics in dark and light shades, with particularly attractive linings. One coat shown was of an emerald green crepe lined with a rose satin made on straight box lines, with a soft sash fastened through loops slightly below the waist line.

Another coat was of a dark blue material made with the new "flange back." This style includes a rippling flounce set in to give a flare to the lower part of the coat skirt.

A pretty new suit shown in this shop was of navy blue wool crepe with plain over flounces set on in fancy shapes.

In this same shop a special sale of table linens included some real bargains in table cloths and odd sets of table napkins, which were selling below the January white sale prices.

PLAN TAG DAY.

Linnaea Society Has Meeting.

At their meeting yesterday the members of the Linnaea society decided to have May 16 for tag day for the benefit of tuberculosis sufferers. Mrs. Charles Ehling is chairman of the committee.

There was a discussion of relief work among the poor. Several new members were taken into the society.

Mrs. O. Gaffert, the president, will be an ex officio delegate to the meeting of the Eighth district of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs to be held at Cloquet during the week of May 20. Mrs. Harold Figraeus will be on the program.

At the social hour following the meeting, for which Mrs. Joseph Olson, Mrs. Olson and Mrs. O. W. Olson were the hostesses, Mrs. Frederick H. Moore sang "Mother o Mine" and "I'm Falling in Love With Someone." Mrs. Moore also gave a reading, "Smiting the Rock."

Cecilian Society.

Members of the Cecilian society will meet for their March program tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. C. Winton, 1509 East First street. Mrs. Alexander M. Gow will read a paper on "The Psychology of Melody" and a program of musical numbers arranged by Mrs. Gow, Mrs. Harry Strong and Mrs. Archibald L. McDonald will be given. Miss Ruth Rogers, pianist, Mrs. G. W. C. Ross and Mrs. McDonald, vocal soloists, will give solos and Mrs. Ellen Bausemer Miller, violinist, and Mrs. Elizabeth Morton Dworshak, pianist will play a violin and piano number.

Dinner Party.

Miss Katherine McDonald was hostess at a dinner party last evening at her home in compliment to Miss Winnifred McDonald in celebration of her birthday anniversary. There were twelve guests.

Red, White and Blue.

The Red, White and Blue society will meet with Miss Viola Palmquist at her home, 1214 East Fourth street Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Business of importance will be taken up and all members are urged to be present.

Church Meetings.

The Philathea class of the Swedish Baptist church will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. E. C. Normaer, 420 Twenty-first avenue west.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's German Evangelical church will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Louise Meining, 217 Second avenue east.

Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson of 32 North Twenty-first avenue west announced the engagement of their daughter, Gerda to Iver Holmberg of this city at an informal evening party at their home last evening given in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Miss Erickson. The evening was spent with games and music by the following guests:

All-Day Meeting.

The members of the Woman's Relief corps will meet for an all day thimble bee session tomorrow in Memorial hall, courthouse to sew on night shirts for the old soldiers at the hospital at Minnehaha falls. A luncheon will be served at noon and Mrs. J. H. Sullivan will have charge of the meeting in place of Mrs. B. M. Sampson, chairman of the Thimble bee committee who is ill.

Short Story Class.

An interesting meeting of the Short Story class of the Twentieth Century club is planned for Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the library club room. Mrs. Wade Clarke will lead the study of Richard Harding Davis giving an outline of his life and a short talk on his literary style and she will read a part of his story, "Ransonis Folly." Mrs. F. J. Webb will talk on Gilbert Parker.

Executive Board Meeting.

Mrs. J. A. Keyes, president of the Saturday club has called a special meeting of the executive board of the club for tomorrow afternoon to be held at her home, 1931 East Third street.

Toboggan Party.

A party of young persons enjoyed a toboggan party at Chester park last night, followed by dancing in the club rooms of the Ski association. Those present were: Misses Bell, Ellen Hanson, Margaret Karl, Martha Kaus, Freda Otto and Porter, Messrs. Edward Stevens, Wallace Restau, Felix Karl, Fred Kaus, Almin Otto and Gust Pepper.

Women's Meeting.

J. E. Hauter, religious director of the Y. M. C. A. will be the speaker at the weekly women's meeting, which will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Bethel, Mesaba avenue and West First street at 2:30 o'clock. A program of selections on the victrola will be given and after a short talk by Mr. Hauter refreshments will be served. A cordial invitation is extended to all women interested to attend.

Bridge Party.

Miss Marie Hibbing and Dr. Herman M. Koehler of Minneapolis were honor guests at a bridge party last evening given by Mrs. L. A. Sukeforth at her home, 1001 East First street. Pink carnations were used and the game was played at three tables.

Music and Education.

Music as a factor of education was brought out in an interesting talk by Miss Josephine Carey given at a special meeting of the Lester Park Literary club which was held yesterday afternoon at the Kreidler music store on "What Women's Clubs in Minnesota are Doing for Music." She quoted the Greek saying, "Athletics for the body, music for the mind." "Through the important study being done in the clubs," she said, "music is coming to be looked upon less as a special subject and its value educationally is being recognized and the general standard of appreciation raised."

Musical numbers were given including piano, voice and violin solos, the program having been arranged by Walter B. Butchart.

Will Hold Card Party.

Gate City Temple No. 10, Pythian Sisters, will entertain at cards Friday afternoon at the K. P. hall, 118 West Superior street. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. M. Wood, Mrs. R. C. Foster and Mrs. H. McKenzie.

Rehearsal.

The young people of the Grace M. E. church who will take part in the little play, "The Union Depot" which will be given on March 20 for the benefit of the church, will meet this evening at the home of D. E. Stevens, 2231 West Third street.

Bridge Party.

Mrs. M. A. Dunning of 529 Woodland avenue was hostess at a pretty bridge party yesterday afternoon at her home. Bowls of spring flowers were used about the rooms and the guests played at six tables, the prizes going to Mrs. John Curry, Mrs. Thomas Gall and Mrs. Florence Prescott of Tacoma, Wash. Mrs. Prescott is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. P. Mars, 1627 East Third street.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. John Uno Sebenius of Fortieth avenue east and London road has as her guests, Mrs. G. B. Frankforter and Miss Frankforter of Minneapolis, who arrived today. Mrs. Frankforter is the wife of the dean of the chemistry department of the University of Minnesota.

MONTH-OLD BABY IN CLOSET ON TRAIN

Tuscola, Ill., March 4.—A boy baby about a month old, healthy and well-dressed, was found yesterday in a closet on the Chicago-St. Louis train. The youngster had been carefully wrapped in a blanket and a bottle of milk was left with him. The county officials here refused to receive the boy and he is being cared for by the wife of a railroad man.

MODEL SCHOOL IS HARVARD'S PLAN

Cambridge, Mass., March 4.—Harvard university will start a model school for children next fall. The plans, made public today, involve the establishment of a kindergarten class the first year and the addition of other classes in subsequent years.

Both boys and girls will be instructed. The teaching staff will be carefully selected, it is announced, and the board of management will include the heads of the university department of education, with Prof. Paul H. Hanus in direct charge.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Think Twice Before Making Idle Comment.

How easily some people take offense, and how differently the same remark addressed to us one day sounds the next. It all depends upon the way we happen to feel. The least sensitive, most good-humored person living has a day now and then when he feels all out of sorts; when, to his way of thinking, everything and everybody is conspiring against him. At such times the playful raillery of a friend is nothing less than deliberate insult and the kindly comment of a superior, unjust and uncalled for criticism.

Those least susceptible to querulousness are subject to just such unexplainable conditions of mind, so it cannot be accounted for on the ground of disagreeable temper alone. Supersensitiveness and nerves are equally responsible.

The most innocent-tongued person imaginable has been surprised on occasions to learn what strife and ill-feeling his remarks have stirred up. Anyone who will give the matter a bit of thoughtful consideration cannot but be impressed with the idea that a person should place a strict guard upon the tongue and that the habit of thinking once, if not twice, before voicing one's opinions is a very good one to form.

Countless friendships have been broken in twain, never to be renewed again, all because of a few thoughtless words that had no special significance, and yet happened to strike someone in a vulnerable spot. I suppose the best example of the ease with which some people take offense at little or nothing is the newly married pair.

Young husbands and wives seem to have a penchant for argument on little or no provocation. They take offense at the tones of one another's voices, the twitch of an eyelid, reference to some far-away outsider, which might by a twist of the imagination be made to fit some members of their own families, and for a thousand nonsensical reasons that are of little consequence and yet so often result seriously.

I have heard people say that they enjoy a quarrel, both for the quarrel and the pleasure of making up. Perhaps the monotony of perfect understanding and peace would be unbearable. I have never had an opportunity of proving or disproving the truth of this, but I am firmly of the opinion that quarrels of any sort, however slight, leave scratches at least, that never thoroughly heal.

Special, $59.10

This Grafonola, equipped with the new No. 6 Reproducer and tone arm, the VERY LATEST improvement, and the best; including 14 Double Records, 28 Selections—enough of the world's best music for an entire evening's entertainment—all on easy payments.

You cannot weigh a Grafonola in terms of dollars—it must be placed upon the same terms as patriotism, love of home, love of kindred; for its not the instrument itself that gives it worth, it's the atmosphere it creates in the home.

The songless home is apt to be the weak home; it's the home usually where people discuss whether life is worth living; it's the home where the boy and girl, finding no fund of happiness and amusement, seek their pleasures elsewhere—it's too often the average home where life is unrelieved by any ready-at-hand enjoyment. The songless home does not mould strong characters.

The coming of the Grafonola into such a home is more than the chance acquaintance who can entertain at times by a song or instrumental selection. It is the friend of all the family and can be drawn on for many a happy hour.

Do not fail to come in and let us show you the new improved Grafonola—it brings the actual life-likeness of the artists to your home.

Spring Opening This Week

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets

Everywhere in this great land, in every city and town, merchants all this week are showing Warner Spring Models.

Every woman—whatever her size or age—ought to see these new styles. If you have not seen them, this is for you—do not wait; pick your style now—shape your figure in natural lines. We hope you have not selected your Spring gowns, since they would look so much better if fitted over a new Warner.

Now a word about the new Warner Corset. Simple, pliant, elegant and durable. Long or short skirts, medium low or topless—each corset is a perfect example of corset designing and making.

There is the same sweeping guarantee with every corset—made to shape fashionably, to wear—not to rust, break or tear. This regardless of the model boned or boneless—it may seem to be boneless; nevertheless it will shape, it will support the form, it will wear.

Try It—Test It—and You Will Approve of It.

The Duluth Herald accepts advertising contracts with the distinct guaranty that it has the largest circulation in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities.

The Herald will be glad to have its attention called to any misleading or untrue statement which may appear in its news, editorial or advertising columns.

POPULAR GOVERNMENT AND THE PRIMARIES.

The St. Peter Free Press, while rather languidly approving The Herald's suggestion of an amendment to the primary law to permit initiating candidacies by petition, thinks that the remedy is hardly strong enough. It says:

> The mere circulation of a petition for a desirable candidate would never deter undesirable candidates from doing likewise, and there would be no difficulty in getting the required number of signatures on every petition circulated. And the result? About the same as it is now. An overcrowded ticket, with the chances that a minority candidate would carry off the prize. And that is exactly the point from which we try to get away.

It is true that the petition plan would not crowd out undesirable candidates. But nobody has yet suggested a plan that will keep out undesirable candidates without turning over to somebody the job of saying who is desirable as a candidate and who is undesirable.

And who is big enough for that job? A candidate that may be desirable to us may be decidedly undesirable to the Free Press. A candidate that may be desirable to the brewery element will of course be highly undesirable to the prohibition element.

The object of any amendment to the primary law should not be to keep candidates out. That's dangerous. To turn over to anybody or to any organization the power to say who shall be a candidate and who not, is to take the final power of selection out of the hands of the people; and that can never be permitted.

Nobody but the people should have the power to say which candidates are desirable and which undesirable. That is what elections and primary elections are for: to let the people choose between the desirable and undesirable. If the people are incompetent to make that choice, then let's be frank about it and say that popular government is a mistake, and get back to as good a system of autocracy or monarchy as we can devise.

There is no popular primary unless full and final choice is left in the hands of the people. There can be no such primary if any person or organization is given the power to restrict entries.

Give the man with an ax to grind the power to say who shall be a candidate at the primaries and who shall not—and giving any organization such power means that somebody with an ax to grind will wield it—and he can say "A fig for your primary system!" And well he may, for THERE WILL BE NO PRIMARY SYSTEM!

It is true that it is easy to get petitions; but it is also true that men can be induced to run, for the legislature, say, when they are petitioned to do so, who would not under any circumstances go out deliberately seeking an office. And that's what the primary law as it stands compels every candidate to do.

So far as the multiplication of "undesirable candidates" is concerned, the cure for that is simple: let the people select the desirable candidates and reject the undesirable ones. If the people cannot do that, they lack so much of the capacity for self-government; and there is and can be no law, however cunning and intricate, that can supply that lack.

Public indifference and lack of public spirit are not to be cured by statutes; neither can they be cured by any system which does away with the need of public interest and public spirit by taking power out of the hands of the people.

Those who are seeking to remedy public neglect by statutes are barking up the wrong tree, and are attacking the problem from the wrong end.

Col. John Hicks is going to give Oshkosh another monument. There's no denying that if the colonel ever moved away, Oshkosh would undergo a monumental loss.

"LOG-ROLLING" A LEGAL CRIME?

If the decision of a judge in the state of Washington establishes a rule that is destined to spread its influence afar, there will be a great rattling of dry bones in this Republic and in the states and communities that constitute it.

Superior Judge Steiner, in Wenatchee, Washington, has decided that the charges of "log-rolling" brought against members of the city council constitute charges of malfeasance in office sufficient to set in motion the pains and penalties by law provided for malfeasance.

The judge adds that "the system of bargaining and interchanging of votes by legislators, whereby votes are obtained to pass a number of bills none of which could secure a majority on its own merit, is a vicious and corruptive practice."

There can be no doubt whatever of that. Much waste, extravagance and corruption in nation, state and city flow out of the practice of log-rolling. "You vote for my bill and I'll vote for yours" has put over ten thousand atrocities, made possible ten thousand illicit raids upon defenseless public treasuries.

We shall hope that Judge Steiner is correct in his law. Certainly he is correct in his moral conclusions. If log-rolling be declared a crime for which offenders can be kicked out of office, there will be either a great reform in legislative practices in this country or a wholesale vacation of legislative offices.

Even the Ellis lawyers must admit that the phrase "psychic epilepsy" hasn't the popularity possibilities of the good old "brain storm."

ONE COMFORTING THOUGHT.

If war with Mexico DOES come, of one thing we all may be sure: that with President Wilson in the White House, it will come only because it has to come—because it is the last and only resort.

In a war created untimely by irresponsible jingoism and false sentiment, as the war with Spain was created, there could be neither good conscience nor good heart.

In a war irresistibly fruiting from necessity, because war is the only cure for a desperate situation, as it will be under Wilson if there is war at all, there would be as good conscience and good heart as there could be in any war.

Moreover, such a war, under Wilson, would not be a war of imperialism and conquest, prosecuted with the intent and result of wresting territory from a feeble holder; which is precisely the sort of war the jingo pack now yelping would like to see.

Maybe New York will advance some more regional reserve center claims on the strength of the snow banks located there.

THE ORDINARY INDIVIDUAL AND THE INCOME TAX.

Says the Albert Lea Standard: "Most folks evidently only regret that they are not liable for an income tax, apparently would be glad if they were, and for the sake of the honor and luxury of it would fork over cheerfully to the full limit."

We hear that said a good deal.

Of course the average individual pays no income tax. The average income is somewhere around six hundred a year, and that's twenty-four hundred short of the tax-paying minimum, even for unmarried folks.

And the average individual who pays no income tax because his income isn't big enough of course wishes it WERE big enough and is sure that if it were he'd be glad to pay the tax.

Pretty nearly everybody who isn't liable to the income tax has said that very thing in one form or another.

But is it true? Would the average individual, if his income were tax-paying size, "fork over cheerfully to the full limit?"

We doubt it, very much. If it is true, there is a sharp difference in the natures of human beings having incomes of less than three thousand and human beings having incomes of more than three thousand.

We think that we would be so glad to have an income big enough to be taxed that we'd be tickled half to death to fork over the last cent of our income tax.

The feeling is too much akin to the proposition that if we could get an income of taxable size by investing one per cent of the excess over three thousand we'd do it in a minute.

But if we had the income to be taxed we'd probably experience just as many pangs in separating ourselves from the tax as those who are about to operate upon their incomes in compliance with the income tax law.

There's just as much difference in people as there is in folks, but human nature above the three-thousand-dollar mark and human nature below it are pretty much the same after all.

At any rate, the Spaniards don't seem inclined to dig up any reminiscences about Manila bay.

It was kind of Alonzo Whiteman to bob up just as the Mexican situation was getting almost too absorbing.

George Bernard Shaw says the English and Americans "individually hate and loathe each other." Must be George's royalties on the last play he sent over here didn't come up to his expectations.

A Wicked Conspiracy

Editorial in the New York Times.

On Washington's birthday, when no senator could tell a lie, Senator Chamberlain exposed the terrible plot of the railways and England about the Panama canal. England's fell design is to induce or compel the United States to execute, according to its plain meaning and intent, the contract which it signed. Having seduced the United States into this false position, England will proceed to demonstrate that, in connection with the Panama canal, the United States "has no right whatsoever" except to spend money. The desperadoes in this plot are ready to "plunge the country into a bloody war." This is shocking, but not so bad as the senator's own position. As he expresses himself: "If we have to fight to maintain our rights, we might as well do it now." There can hardly be a doubt that the first step has already been taken. What other significance can be attached to the mobilization of the militia yesterday in plain sight of everybody in Times Square and all along the route of the "hike" to Brooklyn?

The plot of the railways is even plainer. They want to earn dividends by doing business across the continent, and therefore in competition with carriers across the isthmus. The impulse which does credit to all who hate the railways is to impede commerce by making it difficult for the railways to compete on an equal or economic basis. The way to make the competition unfair to the railways is to relieve the traffic through the canal of all the burden of the capital expended in providing the route. The railways had to provide their roadbed, and have to maintain it. If the cost of the canal can be diverted entirely to the taxpayers the canal route will have an undoubted economy over the railway route. That makes it plain why the railroads are plotting to compel traffic through the canal to pay tolls. It would equalize conditions of competition, whereas the case calls for a law compelling all traffic to abandon the railways. In that case the coastwise monopoly would be able to charge what it liked, and to add to its dividends the costs which it would have succeeded in diverting to the taxpayers.

The procedure to foil these plots is clearer than the plots themselves. England should be told once for all, and too plainly to admit of misunderstanding, that the United States always signs contracts with a mental reservation, and with a clear purpose to break any contract disliked after reconsideration. If that means profit at the price of shame, why England can make the worst of it. The steps to foil the railways fortunately already have been taken. They are not to be allowed to reduce rates in order to compete with the canal, and they have been ordered not to establish steamship routes in extension of their land lines, without special permission. The idea that the railways should be allowed to invade the coastwise monopoly, whose rates are fixed by its own sweet will, is too loathsome for acceptance by any patriot in favor of a subsidy to a monopoly. Better a thousand times that the railways should be starved. Surely anybody able to detect the plot of the railways and the haughty Briton must be able to perceive also the pure and disinterested motives of those who are exposing the villains. Enlistments for the war which Senator Chamberlain sees impending should be forwarded to him.

Why Washing Dishes Is Such Hard Work

Boston Globe: The efficiency idea continues to gain entrance into more and more American homes, notwithstanding the publication of humorous skits telling the sad adventures encountered in "standardizing Lizzie," or making "motion studies" of minding the baby.

As Christine Frederick says, it is certainly common sense to hang a kettle close to hand instead of stooping for it.

"Once I hated the task of dish-washing," she adds. "I used wrong methods. I cramped my back over a sink twenty-eight inches high, when I am a taller woman than the average and need to work on a surface thirty-one inches high."

Mrs. Frederick gives some general advice on that particular subject in tabular form in the current issue of the Review of Reviews, and her figures, which follow, should claim the attention of all New England housewives:

Height of Woman—	Proper Height of Working Surface
4 feet 10 inches	27 inches
4 feet 11 inches	27½ inches
5 feet	28 inches
5 feet 1 inch	28½ inches
5 feet 2 inches	29 inches
5 feet 3 inches	29½ inches
5 feet 4 inches	30 inches
5 feet 5 inches	30½ inches
5 feet 6 inches	31 inches
5 feet 7 inches	31½ inches
5 feet 8 inches	32 inches
5 feet 9 inches	32½ inches
5 feet 10 inches	33 inches
5 feet 11 inches	33½ inches

Not only sinks, but tables and stoves are too low in many cases.

Furthermore, poor arrangement of kitchen, pantry and closets causes unnecessary steps—a waste of time and a diminution of energy.

The Golden Side.

There is many a rest in the road of life
If we only would stop to make it;
And many a tone from the better land
If the querious heart would take it.
To the sunny soul, that is full of hope,
And whose beautiful trust ne'er faileth,
The grass is green and the flowers are bright,
Though the wintry storm prevaileth.

Better to hope though the clouds hang low,
And to keep the eyes still lifted,
For the sweet blue sky will soon peep through
When the ominous clouds are rifted!
There was never a night without a day,
Or an evening without a morning;
And the darkest hour, as the proverb goes,
Is the hour before the dawning.

There is many a gem in the path of life
Which we pass in our idle pleasure,
That is richer far than the jeweled crown
Or the miser's hoarded treasure;
It may be the love of a little child,
Or a mother's prayers to Heaven,
Or only a beggar's grateful thanks
For a cup of water given.

Better to weave in the web of life
A bright and golden filling,
And to do God's will with a ready heart,
And hands that are swift and willing
Than to snap the delicate, minute threads
Of our curious lives asunder,
And then blame Heaven for the tangled ends,
And sit and grieve and wonder.

The Bleached Flour Decision

Editorial in the New York Times.

The violent poisons of the oxide of nitrogen may be introduced into flour in an artificial process to make it whiter, but if it cannot be proved in a specific case that the poisonous ingredients are in sufficient quantity to be harmful, the practice must be permitted. That is the ruling of the supreme court of the United States in the bleached flour case, Justice Day writing the opinion.

This appeal was not brought and financed by the millers, but by the company that controlled the manufacture of the bleaching machinery. It was not pretended that the artificial whitening of flour did it any good. It was admitted that the added ingredients were essentially poisonous, the only contention being that they were used in very moderate quantities. The government, on the other hand, contended that the use of the poison permitted the treated flour to be sold for an increased price to the prejudice of the deceived or unwitting consumer, and it argued that harmful quantities might be used even in cases when it could not be legally proved that they were harmful.

Reasoning by analogy is of little force in law. Lawyers would say that the Northern Securities case, in which the judges held that, although there was no evidence that harm had been done, yet possession of the power to do harm was unlawful, has nothing to do with the bleached flour case. The Harvester trust was declared a malefactor in Missouri, though the court said that it had been a positive benefit to the farmers of the state; it was outlawed because it might in the future harmfully affect trade. Laymen will wonder why the courts are so jealous to secure unrestricted competition in trade, branding as criminal combinations that may in future restrict it, yet require that the consumer's stomachic pains be connected definitely with the admittedly poisonous ingredients in the bleached flour put into his bread.

If the poisonous acids of nitrogen can be introduced into food under the Federal law, the adulterators who use alum, arsenic, benzoic acid, and many other harmful chemicals may snap their fingers at the food inspectors. Poisonous substances which are not introduced in quantities to hurt certain healthy adults may harm others, and may seriously injure invalids, children and the aged. It will hardly do to say that the public can protect itself against these chemicals by refusing to buy the manufactured foods in which they are used. It cannot detect them. Since the supreme court of the United States has given the benefit of the doubt in such cases to the commercial vendors, the pure food laws should be amended in behalf of human stomachs. It is possible explicitly to forbid the putting of chemicals in foods where their use might be harmful and might be dispensed with.

Everybody Pays Taxes

Des Moines Register and Leader: One of the speakers at a city campaign meeting Monday night directed attention to an important fact respecting taxation, a fact which men who own little or no property too often forget or do not understand.

Every man pays taxes; he may not go to the office of the county treasurer to pay his taxes, but he pays them just the same.

The man who rents a house or a flat, or a store, pays the tax on the property just as certainly as if he owned it. The landlord may pose as a "taxpayer," but so far as the tax on that property is concerned the renter pays it when he pays his rent.

The man who buys food and clothing or luxuries may imagine he pays no tax; but the taxes are added to the cost of what he buys, every time. The grocer, for instance, pays to his landlord a rent which covers the tax on the property occupied by his store; he promptly charges a price to meet that rent. So that the wage earner, the consumer and the man who owns no property actually pays his share of the taxes, after all.

Not realizing the fact, men often imagine that public expenditures cut no figure, so far as they are concerned. Sometimes men may incline to indorse lavish public expenditures on the theory that the taxes are paid by the rich or the well-to-do and not by themselves. The fireman, asking for a large increase in pay, imagines that the taxes to pay him come out of somebody else and not at all out of himself. But he is sadly mistaken, and, doubtless, cannot understand why the cost of living is so high. The city council votes away money right and left, just before election, and there are persons, thinking they themselves pay no taxes, who indorse it, deceived into thinking that they do not have to help pay the bills, and deceived into thinking the council was right.

If every citizen realized that he pays taxes whether he gets a receipt or not, public tax-spending officials would not be so lavish with expenditures.

The question in municipal politics is this: When will the wage earner and the renter and the consumer wake to the fact that he and not the property owner alone pays the taxes?

Teddy on the Stump.

Hartford Courant: Roosevelt's next friends at Washington tell Brainerd of the Brooklyn Eagle that—once he's come home again from a foreign shore—the colonel will hardly wait to get his land legs on before making a bee line for the stump. Unless there's a change of plans, his first elaborate speech (or speeches) will be made in Maine next month. Then he'll go to the help of Gifford Pinchot in Pennsylvania. Ohio is to be visited, also Illinois. He may cross the Mississippi and lend a hand to his devoted Victor Murdock in Kansas. He may even make a progress through the prairie states and mountain states to the Pacific slope. There'll be loud calls for him from over there; we have a notion, though, that Hiram Johnson's voice will not be audible above all the rest.

The Best There Is.

Kansas City Star: Sometimes it is objected that the public cannot be trusted to pass on questions because "human nature is what it is." But human nature is what it is quite as well with "the representative class."

So, too, the human nature that is not infallible when public officials do things is also not infallible when private interests have the management of things.

Human nature undoubtedly has its failings, but it is the best we've got.

Good Company Not Enough.

Washington Star: "Your candidate is making some wonderfully clever and amusing speeches."

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum thoughtfully; "but this country is working around to a point where there isn't near as much enthusiasm about electing a man simply because he is good company."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is doubtful if another man in congress ever hit on so delectable a method for studying law as that adopted some years ago by Denver S. Church, now a representative from California.

Church had desired to be a lawyer nearly all his life, but by the time he was through regular college work he was so sick and tired of stuffy classrooms that he hadn't the heart to take up law or anything else that would keep him about a college any longer. The thought of reading law in an office—some dingy office with a musty odor, like the inside of an olden-time Connecticut clock—that was equally distasteful.

So instead of studying law, Church got married. He also began to operate a little dairy farm.

But after a year of that he began to yearn to practice law and spellbind juries for a living.

One balmy May day he put eight or nine large law books and a lot of other things into a spring wagon and beckoned to his wife.

* * *

"Come on," said Church, breezily, "we're all going to law school."

His wife, naturally enough, began to ask him a great many questions.

"It's all arranged," said Church; "I've got a man to look after the dairy for a few months while we're at law school. Come on."

"But what about the baby?"

"We'll take the baby to law school too."

After he had made a few more explanations, they all got into the little wagon and set out to the law school Church had picked.

It was a little clearing near a pretty little, purling trout stream off in the woods ten or twelve miles from the nearest habitation.

Church rigged up a little lean-to, which served as their sleeping apartments, dining room and nursery. He used a grassy plot under a nearby tree for his "study."

Every morning he got up bright and early and studied two or three hours, after which his wife would "quiz" him to see if he had mastered the difference between a tort and a hereditament and various other grave essentials of the law.

* * *

After that he usually went fishing and hunting to provide food. They always had plenty of rainbow trout and venison on hand and really fared mighty well, considering that he was merely working his way through law school. Moreover, while sitting by the brook fishing or waiting for a shot at a deer or a bird, Church had plenty of time for reflection over his studies. He did not fritter away his time at theaters and poolrooms the way so many promising young law students do.

* * *

When the mountain air got too cold, Church went back to town and his dairy, but he returned to his outdoor law school the following spring for another term. At the close of the second term he was able to go back to civilization, incarcerate himself in store clothes, and pass the bar examinations.

Besides his knowledge of law, Church had also acquired rugged health for himself and his family.

Ever since then Church has never failed to return to the wilderness scenes of his legal education, like a dutiful alumnus of the woodland solitudes.

Today he owns a summer home and a 200-acre ranch there in the mountains where he pitched his tent to study law.

When Representative Simeon D. Fess of Ohio was up in New York a while ago making a speech at a big banquet he fell in with Hamilton Holt, editor of a New York magazine.

Holt readily saw that Fess was a man of unusual scholarship and sapience, and asked him if he wouldn't write him an article or two for his magazine at the usual rates.

"Well, I can't promise," replied Fess. "A congressman's life is a rather busy one, of course, and I don't have much time for writing articles, much as I should like to. What would you want me to write about?"

"Oh, anything at all," said Holt. "We'll leave that to you. But please write us something," he coaxed.

Still Fess wouldn't promise, though Holt was insistent.

A week or two later Fess got to thinking that it was rather mean not to oblige Editor Holt, and he sat up one night to prepare a learned article for the magazine. He sat up again the next night polishing up the piece, and though he went about yawning for a day or so thereafter, he at least had the satisfaction of knowing that he done something to boost the general average of current literature, besides obliging Editor Holt.

About ten days after he had sent the article to the magazine, Fess received a bulky envelope in the mail. It contained his little piece and a rather formally worded printed slip which read:

"The rejection of this article does not necessarily imply lack of merit, etc."

The Primary System; Its Friends and Foes

Opinions as to People's Right to Rule.

They Lost Their Candy Stick!

Cambridge Independent-Press (Eberhart): It would be a fine thing now, the howlers say, to do away with the state-wide primary election. Strange, isn't it that several of the men who are of the select committee of fifty were members of the last legislature and though an election had come and gone, and they were beneficiaries of that same election, nothing was suggested during the last session to return to the convention system. They do not even want to give the people the opportunity of holding a caucus. No, the particular brand of purity they recommend is the kind that allows themselves to dictate. They want to do away with the primary and select candidates by a select few, chosen for a certain purpose. The men at the head of the movement to pick a gubernatorial and other candidates for state offices, are not in favor of the people having the say. We don't have to go far to find men who strongly advocated the state-wide primary election law two years ago, howling the loudest today for a change. We venture the assertion that the state-wide primary law has come to stay.

Let's Hope So, Anyway!

Ada Herald: The effort of the professional politicians to knock out the June primary and non-partisan election law on a technicality doesn't seem to meet with the approval of the voters. Fact is, the professional politician's name will be Dennis henceforth.

It Would Be Its Salvation.

St. Cloud Times: When a political party finds it necessary to call a state conference for the purpose of getting rid of a governor whom they declare to be controlled by a machine, to be the tool of brewery interests and not a free and independent executive, is it not time to "relegate that party to private life?"

That's What We Were Saying.

Le Sueur News: Who is attacking the primary election system? If you look about you and hunt for the voice you will find it is some politician. Let us have more, instead of less of it. Just as soon as the people learn it is to their own interest to use it, all will be safe.

Any Day!

Waseca Herald: The Duluth Herald warns its readers to beware of an attack on the primary system. Like all things human, the primary system has its faults. But from the standpoint of public welfare it is infinitely superior to the boss-ruled caucus system.

Oh, Just a Plethora of Fears.

Roseau Region: Is it the fear that the anti-boss conference to be held by Republicans is going to accomplish its purpose that causes the Duluth News Tribune to grow so frantic in its opposition to this laudable movement?

The World's Work: For the next few months the lawmaker whose activities will have a special interest is Henry D. Clayton, who, as chairman of the judiciary committee of the house of representatives, will be the legislative spokesman in the passage of the administration's anti-trust laws.

Mr. Clayton, in his appearance and manner, is large, portly and florid, with a somewhat shambling gait and easy, informal manners. His clothes hang upon him rather loosely; his cavernous face, his lined features and deep-set eyes, his large, loosely jointed jaw—swinging swiftly from right to left as he chews tobacco—all bring to mind the traditional ante-bellum Southern statesman. At first sight he does not make a favorable impression. His attitude is rather distant and suspicious; he says little himself and does not rise readily to conversational baits. However one may wish it otherwise, a stranger's talk with Mr. Clayton is usually a monologue on the stranger's part. Clearly this unapproachableness, however, is not hostility or indifference; more likely it is diffidence, a lack of social adaptability and of small talk. After spending half an hour with Mr. Clayton one hears with considerable surprise that his real hold upon the people of Alabama is a personal one. All the people in his district call him Henry; his political capital is his ability in a house-to-house hand-shaking contest. However lumbering he may be in a personal talk, he appears to real advantage when he gets up on a cotton bale and discusses the state of the Union with his native Alabamians. On such occasions, and at political conventions, he is a real battleship in action. In congress, when he is once launched upon his subject, members who interrupt with heckling questions usually "get their money's worth."

Home News From a Crusted Tory.

Correspondence of the London Outlook: Is it not the fault of Europe, and England in particular, that the United States is so braggart and so offensive in her attitude to all peoples? You sent here a man called Bryce, who did his puny best to add more to the vanity of Americans by his nauseous praises and flatteries. Thank God he is gone!

Then Europe has an idea that the United States is a miltary power. Why, my dear sir, there never was a bigger mistake. The United States will never, never fight any people who will fight back. She is scared half to death of Japan, and if Japan knew her own good she would give the United States a real good fright by threatening war.

Do you know why the United States has not interfered in Mexico—the real reason? Why, because she has neither the men nor the arms. A silly story was spread in Indianapolis, Ind., that Pedagogue Wilson was going to fight and that the militia was to be called out. Every man jack in one company resigned, and the man who uttered the report was punished severely in order to restrain total desertion.

Why, my dear sir, Americans won't fight unless they know they can escape free of hurt. No man in the world is more careful of his carcass than an American. Fight! Bless you, they are not a nation of fighters, but of grafters, petty larceny thieves and wholesale robbers. If England growled gently at the United States there would be such a scurry to cover that it would be pitiable. The United States fight? Yes, Porto Rico or Nicaragua!

Knowing the Route.

Philadelphia Ledger: A woman who, both by bearing and dress, could be distinguished as "newly rich," entered a street car, and with a very haughty air seated herself near an old Italian.

When the conductor came to take up the fares she said to him in a loud voice: "Let me off at my husband's bank."

The conductor, evidently knowing her, assured her that he would, and passed on to the Italian.

"Let me off at my peanut stand," called out the old fellow as he paid his fare.

No Wine for Smith.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Congressman Bryan F. Mahan of Connecticut, speaking of embarrassing situations, told of an experience that recently happened in a happy little home.

Jones took his friend Smith home to dinner one evening, and in a few words hastily whispered in the kitchen, little wifey told Jones not to offer the guest wine, since there wasn't a drop in the house. Jones said he wouldn't, but as usual forgot all about it.

"Say, old man," said Jones, as the meal progressed, "won't you have a little swig of wine?"

"I—I—no, thank you," responded Smith, suddenly turning very red. "I rarely ever drink it."

"What kind of a weather forecast are you trying to give me?" returned Jones, impulsively. "You had better try a little."

"Not tonight, Jones," answered the guest, blushing deeper and deeper. "Some other time I may be more congenial."

The dinner over, the guest smoked a cigar, listened to the phonograph, and then went home.

"You silly simpleton!" exclaimed little wifey as soon as the front door was shut. "Why did you insist on Mr. Smith having wine when I kept kicking you under the table?"

"Kept kicking me under the table!" exclaimed Jones, with a wondering look. "You didn't kick me, my dear."

PETTY GRAFT AT THE WOODSMAN'S EXPENSE

To the Editor of The Herald:

There has been quite a lot of controversy about the difficulty of getting suitable workers in the woods this season. From the point of view of the companies possibly this has been the case, for I do not believe the companies themselves have an idea of the wholesale graft there has been going on during the whole of the season, a graft that has had a lot to do with suitable men who were in the know, staying away.

As to whom the graft can be laid upon I will leave to the judgment of those who know the inside conditions a little better than I do myself, but the dissatisfaction among the lumberjacks this season is greater than it has ever been.

In quoting one instance, I can confidently state that there are many other companies or their representatives who handled the proposition in the same manner as one for which I shipped out to in November last.

A fee of $2 was charged for the job, and a "go with the boss" sign was placed outside the employment office.

The boss turned out to be a delegate from one of the other employment offices, who was conspicuous by his absence after the journey was half completed.

The fare was advanced, and coffee and sandwiches served on the train, presumably free of charge by the company, and everyone who shipped was made to partake of these and found out afterwards that this slight consideration just cost him 35 cents.

On arrival at his destination he was supplied with a meal at the company's boarding house at a charge (not stipulated at the time but charged against the man's wages) of 75 cents.

It was then necessary to take a boat trip of long duration in order to carry the workers to the camp.

The company's boat was used, and $1 charged against the worker for this accommodation.

A worker would therefore arrive at camp minus $2 for his employment fee and in debt to the company:

His fare, full rate from point of shipment to destination.

Lunch on train	$ .35
Dinner at company's landing	.75
Boat journey to camp	1.00
Doctor's hospital fee	1.00
Mail carrier's fee, per month	.15

Invariably the wages were $26 a month and the worker found that in order to get square with the company, he had to work ten or twelve days practically for nothing. This would possibly be considered just by some—but it does not seem just to the lumberjack.

Many were allowed to work out their indebtedness to the company, and were then ousted out of the camps penniless as far as wages were concerned, to make room for others who were being shipped in on the same basis. It did not matter if they were good, bad or indifferent as long as fresh arrivals came in, room had to be made.

The railways were giving the companies increased facilities by offering a half fare rate to them for any over a certain number, (I believe the official told me it was twenty), and the boarding houses made their rake-off.

There is graft of the worst kind going on in this business, starting from the employment agencies up, and it will go on until some steps are taken by the lumberjack himself to stop it.

But the best lumberjacks are not fools like they are supposed to be by some, and knowing the situation, wisely keep away as long as possible, and leave the field open to the greenhorn.

Apologizing for the length of this letter, yours truly,

DONALD V. WADE.

Duluth, March 2.

WHO CAN INTERPRET THIS MAN'S DREAM?

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am a reformed (or should I say retired) politician, which may, in a measure, account for the peculiar dream I had the other evening.

After settling myself with the evening paper, I noticed an item in regard to our park system and this set me a-thinking of the good old days when I was young and active and had my finger in every "pie." As I sat a-thinking my head dropped lower and lower and—suddenly I heard a great clamor from afar off and rushing out with the crowd I came to a great platform and on this platform were many men, yea, even seven of them, and they were making a speech unto the great American public, yea, even unto the peepul were they speaking, and as I listened I heard them say: "My dear fellow citizens, this park will extend from Eighth avenue east even unto the canal and there will be many trees and benches, and you may take your wife and children and rest yourself after your hard labor, and gaze across the smooth water and enjoy the cool evening breeze." This and much more did they say until the great peepul stood up in their might and cried aloud: "Give us the park! Give us the park!" And I looked at the speakers yet more closely, and lo, attached to each one was a string and pulling the strings was a company, and the name of the company was—But wait, I will tell you later. And the city fathers bought this land, yea, they condemned every acre of it because—the peepul demanded it.

And the dream changed and there were many men running around measuring and surveying, and lo, they reported unto the city fathers the cost of this park, and again there was a platform and on this platform were many speakers, yea, even seven of them, and they were saying: "My dear fellow citizens, this park will cost you many iron men, yea, even unto a million of them, and the waters will be rough and the wind will blow and it will be cold. You cannot set in this park lest you freeze. Let us sell it that we may not burden ourselves and our children's children with taxes." This and much more did they say until the peepul rose up in their might and cried aloud: "Let us sell this land! Let us sell this land!" And I looked at the speakers yet more closely, and lo, attached to each was a string and pulling the strings was a company, and the name of the company was—the same. And the city fathers sold the land, yea, every acre of it, because—the peepul demanded it.

Again the dream changed. I saw a mighty railroad yard and beneath the canal was a tunnel and the land the peepul had sold was exceedingly valuable, and it was not theirs, but lo, the good and kind company had taken it off their hands (and pulled the strings in both cases). It was worth many iron men, even unto two million, and the peepul were pleased because they did not have to freeze (or pay taxes) and the company was NOT the railroad company.

Suddenly I was awake. And I smiled a smile and said unto myself: "Betcherlife, if I owned that property I would sell it to the city and not wait for it to be condemned, but I would put a clause in the deed to the effect that if the land were ever used for any other than park purposes it would revert back to me or my heirs."

Mr. Editor, how many owners of this property will wake up and how many will remain asleep, not to mention the peepul?

A. REFORMED POLITICIAN.

GOVERNOR EBERHART AND STATE MACHINE ROASTED

James A. Peterson Opens Campaign for Nomination for Governor.

Calls on People to Put End to Political Corruption.

JAMES A. PETERSON.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—James A. Peterson, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, opened his campaign with a speech to a large gathering at the Auditorium last evening. Mr. Peterson said:

"During the last ten years the people of the United States have been devoting their political energies to the breaking up of machine politics. There is scarcely a state in the Union where unceasing warfare has not been waged successfully against the political boss. It was machine politics that rent the great Republican party in two in the last presidential campaign, and brought victory to the Democratic party. In almost all of the neighboring states gang rule and political bossism have been driven out. Here, however, in the state of Minnesota people find themselves in the grip of an organization more powerful than any that has ever existed in the history of the state. The political machine backed by certain predatory interests has always been the method of depriving the people of the power to rule themselves. This political machine is composed very largely of the office holders appointed by the governor. The salaries paid to these office holders in this state amount annually to $500,000. In addition to these there is a large army of inspectors and other agents who receive fees for their services. The corporations that are favored by the government furnish ample campaign funds with which to carry primaries and elections. Another adjunct to this machine is certain predatory newspapers owned and controlled by the corporations that enjoy special privileges and immunities.

Minnesota's Political Boss.

"This organization has a boss who manipulates and controls this machine at the present time in the interest of the present governor of the state. The name of the boss in Minnesota is Ed Smith. His name and his work are as well known in this state as is Murphy, the head of the Tammany organization in New York. He has an office in the New York Life building in Minneapolis with a special wire to the governor's inner chamber. He lives in affluence, is ostensibly a lawyer, but carries no brief for any client. He governs the state as absolutely as the czar controls the Russian empire. No appointments are made, no legislation is assented to without his approval. Who pays his salary? Not the state but the people pay, not only his salary but thousands of times more than his salary into the coffers of his predatory patrons. The present governor has served two whole terms and the unexpired term of Governor Johnson. He is now seeking a fourth term. If elected again his term of office will exceed that of any other governor in the history of the state. It is not claimed even by his backers that his services have been so distinguished that for the public good he should remain in office. The only argument advanced in his behalf is that he cannot be beaten by the people. A defy has gone out over the state that the machine is all powerful, that even with the weapon of a primary election the people of Minnesota shall be boss ridden, machine ridden, corporation ridden, against their will and without their consent. The talk is sent out broadcast by the Minnesota Tammany boss that the people do not know enough to concentrate their efforts on one man so as to nominate him.

Campaign Corruption.

"Popular government and the primary election law are on trial in this state. Shall we admit that the voters in the Republican party, although overwhelmingly opposed to the rule of the machine, are unable with the ballot to overthrow it? I am satisfied that the answer will come back from the people that what has been done in other states can be done in Minnesota. It is generally admitted that the machine could not be kept in power were it not for the enormous campaign funds that are at its disposal. While we have had a corrupt practices act in the state for years, the use of money in our elections has gone on the same as before. Two years ago it was common knowledge that large sums of money were being used to elect the present governor. There are few men in the state who have any knowledge of politics that do not know that large sums of money will be contributed by the beneficiaries of the machine to win the next contest. The arguments in favor of the re-election of the present governor will not be made from the platform by public speeches but will be made under cover by hired emissaries. It is not only in Adams county, Ohio, that votes are bought, but it is right here in the state of Minnesota with the most enlightened population in this country.

Mr. Peterson referred to the enormous increase in the expenses of running the state; condemned Governor Eberhardt's failure to attend the governors' convention which took action to support the 2-cent fare law and the commodity rate law before the United States supreme court; dwelt on the power of the public franchise corporations; roasted the governor's veto of the Minneapolis electric light bill, opposed the public utilities commission bill urged by the governor and condemning the latter's threat to call an extra session if it failed to pass the legislature; criticized the state highway commission; claimed the governor was prostituting the state university to political purposes and condemned the land policy pursued by Governor Eberhart, State Auditor Iverson and the immigration bureau.

His Policy As Governor.

In closing, Mr. Peterson outlined as follows the policy he would carry out, if elected governor:

"First, I shall drive out of the capital all officials who play politics instead of attending to their official duties.

"Second. I shall institute as soon as practicable a system of civil service whereby the public will get officials that are competent to do the work they are supposed to do.

"Third. No person shall be appointed to office because of his political pull or ability to carry his county.

"Fourth. I shall attempt to reduce the cost of running the different departments of the state to what it should be, and I shall see to it that when a dollar is spent of the peoples' money, the people get value for such dollars.

"Fifth. I shall do my best to drive the public franchise corporations, the liquor interests and other predatory interests out of the state capitol and prevent them from dominating the government of this state.

"Sixth. I shall attempt to make laws that will dispose of the public lands still remaining to the people for what they are actually worth and to men who will become bona fide and actual settlers in the northern part of the state.

"Seventh. I shall carefully study our criminal and charitable institutions with a view of improving them so as to assist society and the unfortunate inmates.

"Eighth. I stand for home rule in our cities and villages as against the proposed public utilities commission, which seeks to put the power to control public utilities in our cities and villages in the hands of the governor.

Marketing of Farm Produce.

"Ninth. I shall recommend to the legislature that a department in our state agricultural school be organized for the purpose of studying the marketing of farm produce.

"Tenth. I shall do all in my power to further the movement of uplift among all classes of our people and to strive for such conditions that labor may be performed in sanitary and safe surroundings.

"Eleventh. I shall cause a careful study to be made of the employers' liability act, and if in any way found defective, shall recommend such change as the interests of the people demand.

"Twelfth. I believe that present conditions warrant a larger participation in government by women, and that they should be given the right to vote.

"This is a battle between the people on the one hand with selfish political bosses and predatory interests on the other. No man can fail to understand this issue in this state in the coming primary. If the machine prevails, it means the continuance of the rule of the few over the many; the prostitution of public funds and public officials for private gain and exploitation. It means, further, the concentration of political power in commissions and other agencies, so that the political machine may be more effectively handled and organized. The people of Minnesota are like the people in other states. They are going to obtain at the next primaries their political freedom. The rule of the boss will be broken."

M'LEAN NOW A DIRECTOR

F. R. Kennedy Made Secretary-Treasurer of North Butte Company.

To carry through the rearrangement rendered necessary through the resignation of Edward J. Maney, its treasurer, to assume charge of the mines operating department of the Shenango Furnace company, John H. McLean, general manager of the Oliver Iron Mining company, was yesterday elected a director of the North Butte Copper Mining company.

Frederick R. Kennedy, secretary of the North Butte company, was elected to the dual office of secretary-treasurer, and it is announced that he will take up Mr. Maney's duties within the next few days.

Thomas F. Cole, president of the company, returned last night to Belleaire, Fla., after spending three days here in supervising the rearrangement of the company's directorate.

While here he conferred with Capt. Thomas Hoatson and William Uren, officials of the Keweenaw Copper company, regarding recent development at that property.

CLUB FIXTURES CAUSE OF SUIT

Curling Club Wants $750 From Tenant of Old Rink.

To recover possession of certain fixtures in the old curling club building, Third avenue east and Michigan street, from Max Zalk, the Duluth Curling club yesterday started an action in district court.

If the property is not restored, the club demands judgment for $750, its reasonable value. It is claimed that when Zalk took possession of the old club building on July 5, 1913, the fixtures were not removed by the owners and that Zalk has since converted them to his own use. This, Zalk, in his answer, denies. He states that he has been keeping the property in storage for the club and that he will deliver possession as soon as $600 is paid to him for storage. The property consists of lockers, boilers, radiators and other fixtures.

$175,000 Fire at Petoskey.

Petoskey, Mich., March 4.—Fire which started from an unknown cause and for several hours threatened Petosky's business district destroyed the Fochtman department store and slightly damaged the buildings adjoining. The loss was estimated at $175,000, partly covered by insurance. Frozen hydrants greatly hampered the firemen.

HOW I MADE MY HAIR GROW

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gives Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results.

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertised hair preparations and various prescriptions, but they all signally failed; many of them made my hair greasy so it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I think that many of the things I tried were positively injurious and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures, I finally found a simple prescription which I can unhesitatingly state is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have also used it, and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair and for restoring gray hair to its natural color, but it is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp in first-class condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and arrange in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it has not only stopped the falling of his hair and wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all his hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The prescription is as follows:

Bay Rum, 6 oz.; Menthol Crystals, ½ drachm; Lavona de Composee, 2 oz. If you like it perfumed add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This, however, is not necessary. Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp. Advertisement.

Want Rates Adjusted.

Clinton, Iowa, March 4.—Traffic men of Upper Mississippi river cities yesterday formed an organization here to obtain united action on questions involving freight rates. A committee was appointed to appear before the interstate commerce commission at Washington next week and argue for an equalization of freight tariffs in Central Western states.

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC ON RICHELIEU RIVER

Montreal, Que., March 4.—Word has been received by the Quebec provincial board of health that typhoid is epidemic in the municipalities along the banks of the Richelieu river. Four hundred cases are reported. In the little town of St. Johns 200 men and women have been stricken. Four have died.

The board of health has sent to the scene several physicians with supplies of vaccine. As many cases as can be handled are being brought into Montreal for treatment.

POLICEWOMEN FAIL TO HANDLE WOMEN

Chicago, March 4. — Policewomen have been decided here to be a failure when it comes to handling disorderly persons of their own sex, or crowds. It was simply a matter of lack of physical strength on the part of the women police, coupled with the inordinate curiosity caused by their presence, according to Chief of Police Gleason, who removed the women police who have been attempting to handle the waitresses' boycott of a downtown restaurant.

In replacing the policewomen with men, Gleason said the presence of the women officers drew such a crowd as to create a dangerous condition. It also has developed that women strenuously will resist being arrested by a sister in uniform. Several times, when a recalcitrant woman prisoner has been struggling with a policewoman, it has taken mounted police to scatter the crowd of spectators that gathered.

Four women and three men were arrested yesterday for loitering and picketing in front of the restaurant the policy of which is assailed by the waitresses' union.

OWNS $150 AND OWES $2,893,731

Philadelphia, March 4.—A schedule of liabilities and assets of Adolph Segal, promoter and until recently head of a company conducting a large hotel here, shows debts amounting to $2,893,731, and assets of only $150. The latter consists of wearing apparel and jewelry. Segal was recently adjudged an involuntary bankrupt. He had been operating for nearly twenty-five years, among his enterprises being a sugar refinery in Philadelphia and another at Camden, N. J.

PAIN, PAIN, PAIN FROM LAME BACK RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO AWAY

Get a Small Trial Bottle of Old-Time, Penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, rheumatism or maybe from a strain or a cold, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn, blister or discolor the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for sixty years.

FEW MOMENTS! NO INDIGESTION OR SICK STOMACH — PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Digests All Food, Absorbs Gases and Stops Fermentation at Once.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch, gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take Pape's Diapepsin, and in five minutes you will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is astonishing. Please don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred Dollars and interest at six per cent from September 12th, 1912, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James A. Kirkwood, Jr., Mortgagor, to William L. Prindle, Leo Shapiro and George G. Newton, Mortgagees, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Registrar of Titles in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 19th day of September, 1912, at two o'clock P. M., as document No. 10126 and entered in Register of Titles No. 51, on page 142, and which mortgage covers lands originally registered on June 7, 1902, the certificate of title therefor being recorded in the office of the Registrar of Titles in Book 1, Register of Titles, page 4, according to the provisions of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws of 1905 and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

And whereas, The said William M. Prindle, Leo Shapiro and George G. Newton, Mortgagees and Holders of said Mortgage, have duly elected and do hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Thirteen Hundred ($1,300.00) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 12th day of September, 1912, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lot One (1), Block C, London Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County and State, on the Fourth day of April, 1914, at ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Thirteen Hundred Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Seventy-five Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 16th, A. D. 1914.

POLICE AFTER "PILL" SMOKERS

Minors Will Be Arrested to Stop Sales of Cigarettes.

Cigarette smokers—those under 21 years of age—will have to be wary in the future.

Cigarette smoking among boys is said to be prevalent in this end of the city. It is said that large numbers of them, among whom many attend school, smoke at every opportunity and are able to get all the tobacco and papers or the ready-made cigarettes they want at some of the stores.

"The difficulty in making the arrests lies in deciding whom to take and whom not to take," said Lieut. Wilcox this morning. "There are many young men under 21 years of age who look older and some of whom are married and are the heads of households. Then there are others whose appearance would lead one to believe that they were only 18 or 19 years but can show affidavits that they are probably five or six years older.

"We intend trying to get boys of tender ages who are smoking the weed, and get from them a confession as to where they secured the tobacco. It is then easy enough to prosecute the men who supplied them."

CURLERS MAKE LARGE SCORES

Finals in Bagley and Semi-Finals in Commercial Events Next.

Big scores were the feature of the games played last night at the Western Curling rink. Brown's rink won from Wieland's by a score of 18 to 12, in the Commercial club event, and Wade defeated Iltis in the Burns' event 16 to 11.

The defeat of Iltis in this event makes it possible for Wade to become a contender in the event. Wade will still have to win a game from the Olson rink which will give Wade and Iltis four games each. In case of a tie Wade and Iltis will meet again for the squad leadership.

Tonight the finals will be played in the Bagley event between Jutson and Olson. Quinn and Zauft will play in the semi-finals of the Commercial club event.

YOUNG WIDOW CALLED.

Mrs. Josie Foubister Succumbs at Age of 22.

Mrs. Josie Foubister, 22 years old, widow of the late William Foubister, died at 3 o'clock this morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gagne, 5626 Albion street. Death was due to blood poisoning resulting from an abscess.

Mrs. Foubister leaves two children, aged 5 and 2 years; her parents, one brother and two sisters. The funeral arrangements will be made this afternoon.

Club to Entertain.

Would Be Commissioner.
Martin Nelson, 507 Beech street, Virginia, is a candidate for the office of county commissioner from the Sixth commissioner district. He filed his affidavit of intention to become a candidate at the June primaries yesterday with the county auditor. It is understood that Neil McInnis of Eveleth, incumbent, will not seek re-election. Other candidates, however, are said to be in the field.

Grape Fruit.
Insist on the Black Diamond Brand.

Sue for Materials.
P. McDonnell, bankrupt contractor, and his sureties, the National Surety company, are defendants in an action begun yesterday afternoon in district court by the Standard Salt and Cement company, which is asking judgment for $2,636.54 for materials furnished him in connection with his work. The suit is one of a series involving similar claims now pending against the contractor and his sureties.

Brother Petitions.
Duntar Kljaich yesterday petitioned the probate court for letters of administration on the estate of his brother, B. Kljaich, aged 19, who was accidentally killed at Buhl Dec. 15, 1913. Kljaich's estate consists principally of a claim for damages for wrongful death against his employers. His heirs are his parents, who reside in Austria.

Would Administer Estate.
V. M. Grady, undertaker, today petioned the probate court for appointment as administrator of the estate of John Phalen, who died Jan. 3 at Superior, aged 47. So far as can be learned the dead man left no relatives or heirs. His estate consists of personal property worth $200 and two city lots valued at $75 each. Grady petitions the court as a creditor.

Gets $138 For Finger.
Ben Brooks, $4, who lost the little finger of his right hand while working in the yards of the Zenith Furnace company at West Duluth, Oct. 28 last, has received $138.84 from his employers as compensation for his damages. The settlement, made in accordance with the workingmen's compensation act, was approved by Judge Ensign in district court today.

New Building Company.
The Gary Building company, organized to engage in the contracting and house building business, and the manufacture of concrete building material, filed articles of incorporation today with Charles Cailligan, register of deeds. The capital stock of the company is $25,000 divided into 250 shares. The incorporators and officers are: James E. Rockwell, president and treasurer; William R. Perrin, vice president; and A. T. Banning, secretary.

Dislocates Shoulder.
Axel Anderson, a laborer working at Palmer's siding on the D. & I. R. road, dislocated his shoulder yesterday afternoon and was brought to Duluth last evening for medical treatment. Police Surgeon Murphy attended the man's injuries. He will return to Palmer's siding today.

Held on Wife's Complaint.
Edward B. Speer, 33 years old, was arrested yesterday on a charge of assault in the second degree preferred against him by his wife. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Bail was fixed at $100. The Speers live at 617 Fifth avenue east.

Married in Court.
Theresia Miller, 20, and Marvin Vessell, 25, were married this noon by Municipal Judge Cutting. They had obtained a license in district court, but owing to the absence of the other judges and their desire to be married at once, they came to the municipal court.

Not Pure Sausage.
J. A. Oberg, who operates a meat market at 1502 London road, was arrested yesterday afternoon by State Inspector Robert A. North on a charge of selling adulterated sausage. The latter claimed that there was more than 2 per cent of absorbents in the sausage, that amount being allowed by law. Oberg pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs or five days. He paid his fine.

Both Go to Farm.
Two prisoners were sentenced this morning to serve terms on the work farm. Andrew Hanson, who was arrested last evening by Patrolman Harry Toewe on a charge of begging, pleaded guilty in police court this morning and drew a sentence of $20 and costs or thirty days on the farm. Anton Puilokka was given thirty days on the farm for being drunk a second time. He was arrested by Patrolman Youngstrom and pleaded guilty this morning.

Without an Operation

Wonderful Healing of Rupture

How a New Jersey Man Got Rid of a Severe, Obstinate, Right Inguinal Hernia Without the Slightest Trouble.

Below is a picture of Eugene M. Pullen, a well known carpenter of Manasquan, New Jersey. If you could see him at his work, particularly when he handles heavy timber, jumps and climbs around like a youth, you would scarcely imagine that he had formerly been afflicted with a rupture.

Ruptured in Right Side.

At an early age, Eugene Pullen was an express driver. He handled railroad baggage. One day after delivering a heavy trunk on an upper floor he felt a pain in the right groin. The suffering increased and it was not long before the young man noticed the swelling.

The doctor told young Pullen that he was ruptured and that he must either wear a truss throughout life or submit to a drastic operation. All surgeons know that hernia operations, with anaesthetics, etc., are dangerous; they may end fatally. Moreover, it is a well established fact that many rupture operations are not successful; the bowel soon breaks through the sewed-up opening and protrudes worse than ever.

Afraid of Operation.

Like most others, Mr. Pullen declined to take the risks of an operation; the expense and loss of time had to be considered, too. Hoping he might get a little better encouragement, he went to another physician who, to his sorrow, gave him even less hope. It was pointed out to the young man that unless the rupture was perfectly held all the time or the surgeon's knife successfully used, he might expect an increase or doubling in the rupture with further complications, or the dreaded strangulated hernia which kills so many ruptured people.

Victim of Trusses.

The victim bought a truss, a hard, spring-like affair, the best he could get. It tortured him. He tried another—still no relief. He was compelled to give up his express business. The hard tasks of ordinary men were forbidden him. He became an insurance agent, in which position he did not need to do bodily work.

For six years Mr. Pullen dragged around, using various trusses, hard, elastic, etc., with never any contentment. One day his mother told him something she had just found out. It was a simple and easy thing for him to do. He lost no time.

Discarded His Truss.

Relief came at once; he almost forgot that he had any rupture. Afterward came a cure—a complete healing—and, although years have passed and Mr. Pullen is an energetic carpenter, working on buildings, climbing over roofs, lifting lumber and such like, he is absolutely free from the old hernia. He knows he is completely, lastingly cured. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble—comfort and contentment from the very outset. He is a strong, cheerful-minded man.

Valuable Information Free.

The valuable information which Mrs. Pullen read in a newspaper many years ago and gave to her son, together with further important facts, will be sent free to any reader of this who writes to Eugene M. Pullen, 1446 Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J., enclosing a stamp for reply. Mention the kind of rupture you have, whether on right or left side and what you have already done in your effort to cure it. A legion of cases of all kinds of rupture in men and women, including inguinal (groin), femoral, navel, scrotal, etc., have been reported completely healed. Age seems to make no difference.

HUNT GASOLINE LEAK; MAY DIE

Winnipeg, March 4.—While attempting to locate a leak in gasoline pipes in the tunnel between buildings at the agricultural college at St. Vital late yesterday, Dr. G. W. Morden, professor of chemistry, and John Blyth, a plumber, were probably fatally injured in an explosion. The tunnel was used for conducting steam and gasoline pipes from one building to the other.

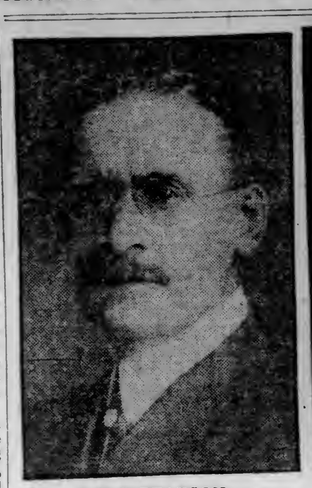
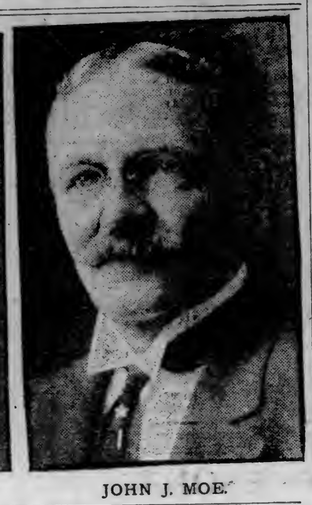
PARK POINT CLIMBS ABOARD THE SUMMER FESTIVAL BAND WAGON

Improvement Club Members Unanimously Approve the Project.

Plans Outlined By Speakers From Merchants' Association.



A. C. PEARSON.



JOHN J. MOE.

Unanimously approving the proposed 1915 pageant in Duluth as the best possible means to establish this city as the summer city of the continent, the Park Point Improvement club at its annual business meeting at the Park Point mission last evening agreed to support the project and to aid those behind it, in making the first annual celebration a success.

Further action, it was announced, would be taken at any time the active support of the club would be solicited by those who will be at the head of the pageant. The members of the club are enthusiastic over the plan and agreed unanimously to support it. A general discussion was held previous to the vote and following the special addresses by John J. Moe and A. C. Pearson of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association. The former is president of the organization, while Mr. Pearson is a member of the pageant committee of the retailers appointed a few days ago.

Park Point the Stage.

The members of the Park Point club feel that they will be called upon to play a prominent part in the pageant, in that a great share of the celebration will undoubtedly take place on the Point. In the general discussion, the members suggested the Indian city, with real Indians as the main feature, to be situated on the little strip of land once inhabited by the redskins. Should the Point be selected as the stage for a large part of the pageant, the residents agree to aid materially in making the event a success. There was not a dissenting voice or vote in reference to the pageant during the entire evening.

M. M. Hanna, president of the club during the last year, having gone out of office at the annual election last evening, presided. Mr. Moe was the first speaker called upon to talk in behalf of the pageant. He described its essential features, what the celebration would mean to Duluth, how it would be handled and what would be the actual result and profit to this city. Two large posters showing the scenes at recent Mardi Gras festivals at New Orleans were shown.

Opening with remarks in praise of The Herald for its active campaign in behalf of the pageant, Mr. Moe discussed celebrations of other cities, showing how they had been advertised through these and what such events actually meant to the material profit of a community.

Fete of the Voyageurs.

"Although it would not be as great as the Mardi Gras," said Mr. Moe, "yet the Duluth Fete of the Voyageurs or the Festival of Kitchee Gummee would be a novelty in civic celebrations. It would create a national interest and in a few years would become an established institution, such as the festival at New Orleans and numerous others throughout the land.

"But to be a success, the pageant needs the support of every civic organization in Duluth; it needs the support of every man, woman and child in the city, and it needs the support, heart and soul, of Duluth itself. With this, the pageant cannot help but be a success."

The speaker then went on and outlined just what the celebration would include. There would be parades, water carnivals, the Indian city, fireworks, water races, dances, masque entertainments and if possible, mock warfare, showing an attack on the Indians by government troops. These were outlined by Mr. Moe, who declared himself to be heartily in favor of the movement and as enthusiastic over the project as a man could possibly be. He only hoped, he said, that the people of Park Point would also enter into the plan as he has.

No Child's Play.

Mr. Pearson, the next speaker called, also talked on the proposed pageant and said in part:

"In talking festival, or Fete of the Voyageurs, for 1915, one must understand right from the start, that this undertaking is no child's play. It will take work; then some more work; and after that, more work yet, and when that's done, we will have to start all over again and do some more work.

"And work is not all. It is going to take anywhere from 10,000 to 15,000 portions of Uncle Sam's circulating medium, to properly put on such a show as will be a credit to every man, woman and child in our 'Beautiful Duluth,' for we want the help of every man, woman and child to get together, talk together, pull together, push together, and boost together.

"A great deal of the success of this undertaking is the boosting end of the game, and I hope that from this moment the 'boosters' will fall in line so fast that they can only be counted by the tens of thousands. Every day you see something in the papers of how some club, lodge, prominent citizen or organization is falling in line and becoming boosters for the coming great show in 1915—the show of all shows to place Duluth before the whole country as 'The Summer City of the Continent' as has never been done before.

"Optimism and enthusiasm must be side partners and must travel hand in hand, to make this a thorough and complete success.

"The plan as outlined up to date is yet in its infancy. For years Duluth's leading and public-spirited men have given their money, time and ideas, and worked hard on committees, trying to get up a show that would be different from anything put on anywhere else in the world. They have succeeded to a certain extent. But the idea of starting a fete, festival or pageant (or whatever it may be called) in 1915, and making it an annual affair, and make it 'different,' has taken like wildfire, and already more enthusiasm has been created than anything else ever anticipated. Therefore, when speaking to any of your friends about it, be enthusiastic. In writing to any of your distant friends about it, be enthusiastic. If you happen to be an unmarried man, and sending a box of candy to her by parcel post, tell her about the big doings in Duluth in 1915, and get enthusiastic about it (give Duluth a chance; don't hog it all with her). If married, be sure to write to all your relatives in an enthusiastic manner.

Enthusiasm.

"An enthusiastic person is one of the most refreshing sort of persons to meet, anyway, and add to that enthusiasm the 1915 doings, together with all the good things you can truthfully say about our beautiful city, and Duluth will ever be known as the City of Optimists.

"The plans are not the idea of any single person, but the accepted and good ideas of many, all brought to a single center, and to be worked out in detail later. For instance, the last week in July or the first week in August had been put forth as the most settled time of the year, and whatever date is set is to be continued, so that railroad and steamship lines, papers and magazines, may always know, in getting up their printed matter from year to year, that in that particular week there will be something doing in good old Duluth, and will advertise it.

"Another idea is this: The American Indian is rapidly becoming a 'has been.' People seldom see the real article excepting in the Wild West shows—and Buffalo Bill has gone out of business. No city in the country is using the Indian as any special attraction. It would be an easy matter to get some Indians from one of our nearby reservations, arrange a place for their camp, perhaps on Park Point, have them dressed in their colors and feathers, live in their tepees, be seen on the streets, in the stores, on the cars, and mingle with the general throng daily. Have birch-bark canoe races, dances, etc. What a sight this would be to many of our visitors and ourselves! Have them take part in the great and glorious spectacle in costume, the landing of Daniel Greysolon Du Luht, which, by the way, would be one of the, if not the, leading attractions for the week.

"There will be parades, fireworks galore, and music, music, music everywhere.

"Another thing is suggested, and a thing that many of us here do not half appreciate, is the fact that Duluth should by all means be the clearing house for the thousands and thousands of lakes in this section. They should all be advertised with Duluth as the center. People could come for the week's fun, and in the meantime, be made acquainted with some of the beautiful small lakes around here, and many would be glad to have a quiet rest, away from the heat and noise of the larger cities, and in the section of the most perfect summer climate that lays out-doors. By the way, are you aware that there is something more than 10,000 lakes in Minnesota, and that by far the greatest percentage of them are in the northern half of the state.

Always Cool Here.

"Do you realize that Duluth is really about the only place in the world, where in the middle of summer you can hold a summer festival worth while? Other cities have their carnivals (by the way), we do not want to use the word carnival in this connection) during the winter, fall or spring, but NONE of them can have one during the summer excepting Duluth, for as you know, 'it's always cool in Duluth'.

"There is no doubt but that thousands and thousands of people will take in the exposition in San Francisco, next year. Many will take the ocean trip from the 'tropical' Eastern cities, through the Panama canal, and we want as many of them as possible to come back the Northern route, via Rocky mountains, Duluth with it's summer festival, and the home trip via the great lakes. Can you imagine a more delightful trip than this? And it is our wish that we can get many of them either coming or going.

"And those that can't make the grade for the little show out West let them have a chance to come and be happy at the big show in Duluth. Let's give them the time of their lives. We have everything to do it with, climate, enthusiasm, a hearty hand-shake, a pleasant smile, and after we get the program arranged, a program, that will delight them as they have never been delighted before.

A Duluth Party.

"No particular organization or association is to have this at home party, all to themselves. This is to be a Duluth party. It has been asked that a committee of three, one of which will be the president, from each and every civic organization in the city be appointed, and when this list of committees is all in, then a general call for a meeting will follow, and at this meeting a president, king or governor, or whatever name shall be decided upon, is to be elected, together with a general committee, or council, representing all interests, and this committee shall at once commence its duties in the way of publicity, finances, program, etc.

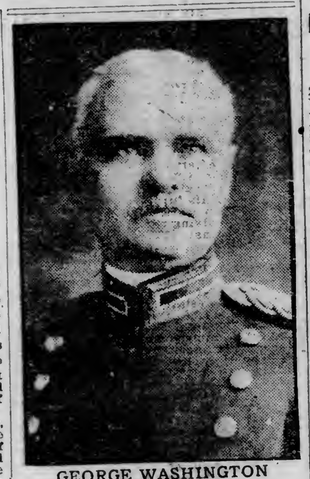
"But this committee wants suggestions from everyone; it may be that all suggestions cannot be used, but I can assure you that any and all suggestions will be cheerfully received, and will be given due consideration."

Following the addresses of Mr. Moe and Mr. Pearson, President Hanna opened the meeting for discussion, after which a vote was taken on the position to be followed by the Park Point club. The members then voted unanimously in favor of the project and offered a vote of thanks to the speakers for their presence during the meeting.

WASHINGTON HONORS THE PANAMA CANAL BUILDER

President Wilson Presents Gold Medal for Geographical Society.

Recalls in His Speech Those Who Worked With the Chief.



GEORGE WASHINGTON GOETHALS.

Washington, March 4.—Washington paid tribute last night to Col. George Washington Goethals, builder of the Panama canal. The occasion was the annual banquet of the National Geographical society, with Col. Goethals present as the guest of honor and to receive from the hand of President Wilson a special gold medal awarded him by the society in recognition of his wonderful achievement.

Secretary Bryan was toastmaster, and gathered about the banquet table with the distinguished scientists of the society were President Wilson and his cabinet, justices of the supreme court, members of the diplomatic corps, high officers of the army and navy, leaders in both houses of congress and other notable figures in the life of the capital.

During the evening Jules J. Jusserand, the French ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, was formally notified of his election to honorary membership in the society.

"Atlantic-Goethals-Pacific."

The banquet hall presented a striking scene. At one end raised high above the table, the words "Atlantic-Goethals-Pacific" blazed in brilliant electric letters as all other lights were extinguished. As though it had been prearranged, this brought a roar of applause from the assemblage. Ice cream was served the diners from miniature dredges, carried by waiters dressed in the uniform of the United States engineer corps, and followed by sailors bearing tiny battleships. Individual dishes of cream appeared moulded in the shape of the Panama canal dump car.

The medal awarded Col. Goethals was of heavy Roman gold. It was given as an expression of the appreciation of the society and the nation of the army engineer's distinguished service. Its presentation was the final act of President Wilson's first year as chief executive of the United States.

Inscribed on the medal were the words:

"This medal of the National Geographical society is awarded to George Washington Goethals, to whose ability and patriotism the world owes the construction of the Panama canal, March 3, 1914."

Presenting the medal, President Wilson said:

"I am here to do what I suppose is an unusual thing for a society of this sort. It generally confers honors upon those who have disclosed geography, rather than upon those who have altered it. It is a sort of advertiser and custodian of the globe, but it is now about to honor a gentleman who has had the audacity to change the globe.

"The engineering profession is one of the few creative professions. Those of us who have attempted to be literary men conceive that we have created conceptions of the mind, but we never can produce them in court. They are never visible upon exhibition. But the magic of the engineer is that he can change the face of the natural geography and show the work of his hands, and that it is in some deep sense creative in character.

"The life of mankind on the globe is altered, for example, by the cutting and the use of the Panama canal. It fills the imagination to think of what this work will accomplish. It will create new neighbors. It will generate new friendships. It will make a new atmosphere of rivalry and of generous association.

"Greatest of His Profession."

"We have, therefore, to honor tonight the greatest living representative of this extraordinary profession.

"It seems to me to be natural, if I may say so, with apologies to some of our friends present, that the greatest engineer should come from the United States.

"And now there is to be kept always on high this new name upon which men are to enter the road of new experience, a name which will not be blotted out until and unless the whole civilization of the world should change the name of Col. Goethals. The government of the United States lent him to the world, and he has done this thing for the world. For it is our proud boast that we have cut this highway for all the sea-going ships of the world.

Not Alone in the Work.

"I take it for granted that we do not tonight forget that distinguished group of men who have been associated with Col. Goethals—that gallant and devoted soldier who gave his very life to see that the great work was done at Culebra cut; that man who made so much of this work possible—Surgeon General Gorgas—by knowing how to hold disease off at arm's length while these men were given leave to work; Col. Siebert, who built the walls of Gatun dam, and created Gatun lake, making it look to the eyes of the beholder as if nature had done the work over which he himself presided; and Col. Hodges, who made the locks and the machinery by which those great things are administered.

"But we are merely acknowledging the presiding character and genius which drew all the elements of this work together, which made it a work done by co-laborers, not by rivals—work done as if it were the conception of a single mind, and work done in the spirit of self-effacement and sacrifice which belongs to a great service of government. There is nothing selfish in Col. Goethals. He is representative of a great profession, of a great government.

"I esteem it a great privilege, acting on behalf of this society, to present to you, Col. Goethals, this very beautiful medal. It is made of mere gold and gold is of no consequence in this connection; but it speaks of the precious metal—the gratitude and admiration of the world."

Received For Co-workers.

Col. Goethals received the medal and stood silent, evidently overwhelmed by emotion. Finally, words came, at first slow; and punctuated by pauses. Gradually he regained his composure and feelingly expressed his appreciation.

"It is easier to build canals," he said, "than to find fitting words to express my gratitude."

He made it very clear to all that, in accepting the medal, he did it in the name of every member of the canal army.

COUNTY WILL GET $67,511

Semi-Annual State School Apportionment Will Be Made April 1.

St. Louis county schools will receive $67,511.40 from the state's current school fund at the semi-annual apportionment which will be made before April 1.

The amount is arrived at through returns made by the county superintendent of schools to the state department of public instruction on the number of school pupils entitled to apportionment figured on a basis of $2.20 per pupil.

According to the figures of N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools, there are 20,687 pupils in St. Louis county entitled to apportionment. At $2.20 per pupil, the amount of $67,511.40 is reached.

Duluth schools which have 13,096 pupils entitled to apportionment, will receive $28,811.20. At the semi-annual apportionment made last October, St. Louis county received $110,473.20 figured on a basis of $3.60 per pupil.

EVERY ONE AT INQUEST SEARCHED FOR GUNS

St. Louis, Mo., March 4.—Henry Zang, who on Monday shot and killed Wesley (Red) Simon three hours after the latter was put on trial for the murder of another gangster, was bound over to the grand jury by the coroner's jury which heard Zang's own story of the shooting.

Before the inquest was opened each of the 350 spectators was searched for weapons by a squad of twenty-five policemen, on hand to prevent another killing. Zang will be held without bail pending action of the grand jury.

As each witness left the stand in the coroner's room he was summoned to appear before the grand jury. Zang told in detail how he had been hounded by the gang for a year, of the many threats on his life, and of Simon's move toward his hip pocket, which led Zang to believe he was about to be killed, and therefore led to his firing in self-defense.

NO WILL LEFT BY QUEER MILLIONAIRE

Chicago, March 4.—Heirs of Henry Harms, an eccentric millionaire who died yesterday, leaving an estate valued at $1,800,000, ransacked his residence in vain for a will. That a will exists is doubted by B. M. Short, who handled Mr. Harms' legal affairs.

"He frequently refused my advice to make a will," said Mr. Short, "saying that his wealth had already caused ill-feeling among his children and other relatives. I think he believed there would be a suit over his estate, will or no will."

WIDOW PLEADS FOR HUSBAND'S SLAYER

Los Angeles, Cal., March 4.—Ralph Fariss, the youthful Bakersfield bandit, condemned to be hanged next Friday, has obtained an advocate of mercy in his behalf in the person of Mrs. Edna G. Montague, wife of Horace Montague, the railroad official whom Fariss murdered in a train holdup at Delmonte Dec. 1 last. Mrs. Montague telegraphed to Governor Johnson begging executive clemency and saying she believed in the law of forgiveness, and not the law of retaliation.

"In the name of my two little girls and of myself and my beloved husband, I beg mercy for Fariss," Mrs. Montague's message read. "I believe crime is a disease," it continued, "and society should treat it as such, and not with vengeance."

SHIP FROM DEWEY'S FLEET IS DAMAGED

Portland, Or., March 4.—In a harbor collision here yesterday, the historic cruiser Boston, credited with having fired the first shot at Manila on the morning of May 1, 1898, was damaged to the extent of about $3,000. The Yucatan, a freight liner, bore down on the picturesque warrior, now used as the training ship of the Oregon naval militia, smashing one of the pinch guns, tearing off the steam launch and the davits, and otherwise battering the armored craft. The failure of the freighter to respond to the helm as quickly as expected caused the collision.

NAME BURTON FOR KANSAS CITY MAYOR

Kansas City, Mo., March 4.—C. A. Burton, a prominent business man, at present a member of the upper house of the council, was nominated for mayor by the non-partisan commission government league here last night. The league also named a full city ticket pledged to commission government.

537 Chicago Estates Taxed.

Chicago, March 4.—Inheritance taxes aggregating $1,545,892, were assessed against 557 Chicago estates during the year ending with February, it is reported by Thomas J. Young, assistant attorney general.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

SO the Vics are coming! Well that is the best of news. At the first of the season the Victorias plainly and patently had it on us; oh yes, there is no use in beating the figurative bush and ohing and ahing around at all—but now maybe the case is different.

Since the first of the season there has been a most delightful and likewise steady improvement in the form of the curling club team. Messrs. J. E. MacGregor, Stephen H. Jones and "Bud" Harbinson have been most delighted with the progress of the boys. Now we have a team that will compare with any in the country. It is fast and it plays the game for all there is in it. The finished team work that comes last to a hockey seven, as it comes to any athletic team, manifested itself in the two games with the Winnipeg All-Stars, and we are hoping that in the contest of Saturday evening the home guards will exhibit the best form of the present season.

It is worth thrice the price of admission to behold the immortal "Ham" Baker in animated and exceedingly spirited action. They say that "Guinea" Bawli is a greater player than the Ham one. Oh show us, gentle sir. If any hockey player could shade the efforts the Baker boy showed here upon a previous occasion—he is some player.

There is not much use of going back into the thing about supporting hockey. The people will do so or not so as they so desire. That is one of the strikingly peculiar things about the people. It is only when paying for gas and—well, anyway, it is different. But what we were going to say, is that the game between the Winnipeg Victorias and the Duluth Curling club hockey team should be one of the hockey classics of the year.

On the corners, in the cigar stores, along the streets and in other places—oh yes, the barber shops—they have been talking about the first game. They can't forget the work of "Ham" Baker—neither can we: for nights afterward it haunted us—and Joe Linder. Now approacheth the time when Baker and his merry comrades return unto us, and perforce we hope that a vast multitude will behold the contest.

Out From Chicagy Way.

YESTERDAY from out of the news lane of Chicago came word concerning the Zbyszko one. The big Pole hit the Windy City yesterday and is in the pink of condition for the contest that will be wrestled here on Friday evening with the large and placid Swede, Jess Westergaard of Des Moines.

Says J. H. Herman, in a Chicago dispatch:

"Arrived here safe and sound with the big fellow and he will be in the pink of condition for his match with Westergaard on the sixth. This will be the biggest contest Zbyszko has taken part in this season, as all of the American mat experts look upon Westergaard as the greatest of the Americans, and this match will be right in line with the world's championship—with Goteh out of the running.

"I am informed that there will be a number of followers of the game from Des Moines on hand to witness the contest. You see Westergaard has won something like twenty-five or thirty matches this season and is in the best form of his life. Westergaard is in the very prime of his ability as a wrestler and we are not underestimating him in the least. The big Pole will be right for the Duluth contest, and when Zbyszko is right I don't think there is any man in the world who can beat him.

"J. H. HERMAN."

This season Zbyszko has mowed them all down. The defeat of Alex Aberg, the gigantic Finn, marked the downfall of one of the best Greco-Roman wrestlers of the old world. In Westergaard the huge Pole will be meeting about the best of the catch-as-catch-can heavyweight grapplers in the whole country, and the encounter should provide the biggest contest of the season.

Another Black Cloud.

ACROSS the pugilistic horizon, gentlemen, floats a dark and foreboding cloud. We are not speaking of nor even contemplating Langford or Johnson or Messrs. McVey or Jeannette; the one we have in mind is none other than the but recently immured Jack Blackburn.

This boy was originally a lightweight, but during his pugilistic course of action has fought many of the heavyweights of the country. They used to say that Philadelphia Jack O'Brien wanted none of the game of the clever and hard hitting negro.

Some men are born to power and others have power thrust upon them—or at least the saying in Harper's fifth reader had it that way. Other men are unfortunate. Some great athletes never get to the highest seething point of publicity. Jack Blackburn is one of these unfortunates.

There are some of the followers of the fighting game who have never heard of this blackbird. But he was really one of the greatest of all the ebony fighters. Heavyweights feared him, and there was nothing in his class that he could not beat. It is said that Gans feared to meet the great Blackburn in a test that would have settled the question of supremacy.

Blackburn has been in jail—strange, is it not? It is not. Well get along. He has been there three of four years. Time flies along. He may not be the fighter of years ago, but if the colored man retains some of the abilities that made some of the white heavies fear to fight him, he may cause some havoc in the ranks of the lumbering white hopes.

Inspecting Loren Curtis.

FROM the rural regions of Halsted, Minn., for several years have emanated reports of the prowess of Loren Curtis, an athlete, his friends state, who is destined to become the middleweight champion wrestler of the world.

Long, sinewy, lank and gawky, this boy is said to be a second and smaller Farmer Burns."

Some years ago, as the story runs, Curtis went to St. Paul and showed Walter Miller $500 in real money that Walter could have in the event that he pinned the lean back of Loren to the canvas. We will not vouch for this story—but it has been told back and forth a number of times.

The other evening at Grand Forks the Halsted middleweight threw Martin Johnson of our city in straight falls. Upon his return to headquarters Martin issued the statement that the Curtis one is a world beater and one of the freaks of the game.

In Northern Minnesota and up through the Dakotas, where the lean Loren has wrestled during the threshing season, there are some of the friends of the gawky farmer kid who will bet real money—hard earned money at that—that this Curtis can beat Mike Yokel the best day the world's middleweight champion ever saw.

That's what they think of this rural mystery of the mat: a lad who had vainly pursued all of the champions with real money clutched in his hamlike hands.

Concerning Jim Henderson.

HORSEMEN hereabouts are somewhat jubilant over the showing that Jim Henderson has made in the races that have been held over here during the last few weeks. In the years that have trailed over the gray hills of time this fair city was the home of some of the great mares and dams of the harness world. And now we come along to the time when we have an apparently promising little performer in the stalwart Jim Henderson, and there is little to wonder at that our good friends the horsemen are elated.

ATHLETICS TO COUNT FOR DEGREE

Graduate Treasurer of Harvard Sports Advocates New Ruling.

Cambridge, Mass., March 4.—The laborers of managers of the football, track, hockey and baseball teams and the rowing squad will count for half a course toward a college degree at Harvard if the recommendation of William F. Garcelon, recently graduate treasurer of athletics, is adopted. Mr. Garcelon's suggestion is set forth in his report for the college year 1912-13, made public today.

The total receipts from all athletic sports in that year was $155,550, the report states, while the expenses were $125,000.

As usual the greater portion of the profit was from football, amounting to $84,000 out of receipts of nearly $115,000. Baseball showed a balance on the right side of $7,000, while in track athletics there was a loss of $7,000. The cost of rowing, which yields no cash return, was $12,000. Hockey, after a year as a major sport, returned a profit of $100. Each of the minor sports showed a deficit.

Analysis of the figures shows that to train a 'varsity oarsman through a season means an expense of about $1,100. Football players' expenses are about $1,000 each.

A baseball player can be trained for $600, a track athlete for $300 and a hockey player for somewhat less than $200.

DULUTHIANS TO ATTEND THE COMISKEY BANQUET

A crowd of some forty Duluth baseball fans will be present at the welcome home banquet that will be given to Charles A. Comiskey in Chicago on the evening of March 10.

Prominent among the Duluthians who have accepted the invitation and forwarded their names to the members of the reception committee are Dr. Ned McNulty, John McGreevy, Fred McQuaid, Charles Campbell, Len Culbertson, Joseph Shrump, George Power, Richard Schell, and a large number of the close friends of the noblest Roman of them all.

According to the information that has come this way, the banquet will be one of the largest and most elaborate that has ever been given in the large city by the ebullient shores of Lake Michigan.

Plans are being made by the Chicago fans to give the most beloved man in the great national pastime a greeting that he will long remember. As the district about Duluth has been one of the favorite hunting grounds for the old Roman, and as his friends are legion in this stamping grounds, it is planned to give the Duluth crowd a special table at the big feed.

John McGreevy Enthusiastic.

"This is going to be one testimonial that will show what the fans over the West think of the big chief," said John McGreevy today. "There will be fans from all over the West. Over forty acceptances have been mailed from Duluth and other cities of the Northwest and Middle West are sending down a list of baseball men who will be present. They are planning to have all of the Duluth people grouped at one large table."

For several years it has been the custom of Comiskey to invite a number of Duluthians to the famous hunting lodge at Mercer, Wis. Commy numbers his friends here by the score and it is certain that Duluth will be well represented at the welcome home gathering.

Following the banquet at Chicago a large number of the baseball men will go to Milwaukee in a special car and witness the Wolgast-Ritchie contest.

FEDERALS WILL FIGHT

Gilmore Declares War, Provided Big Leagues Steal Players.

Determined to Get Blanding, Killifer and Others Who Desert.

Chicago, March 4.—The greatest war of baseball history was threatened by President Gilmore of the Federal league yesterday as the result of reports that the American and National leagues were proselyting among the Federals' players. News that Pitcher Blanding had rejoined the Cleveland Americans after having signing a Federal contract, made President Gilmore decide to take action. Besides Blanding, Killifer, Williams and Baumgartner are players who, the Federals claimed, have violated contracts with the new league.

"If our contracts are no good, their contracts are no good and a player can disregard a contract with a club in organized baseball as easily as he can ours," said Gilmore. "Therefore, if the National and American league clubs are trying to take our signed men away from us, we will take theirs away.

"We have unlimited cash and the united support of all our club owners and backers. We can bid as high for the players as anybody.

"Up to this time we have played fair with our rivals. We gave up Cole despite his having signed with the Chicago club, when we believed that the courts would have given him to us. We signed Killifer and Blanding in good faith, and advanced money to them.

"If the American and National leagues ignore our contracts and fail to appreciate the spirit of sportsmanship we have shown, we will start the biggest of baseball wars. When it is over the Federal league will have the stars of the old leagues, and will be the strongest in the game."

Negotiations were begun, it is said, between President Gilmore and Ray Collins, the Boston American pitcher, whom Gilmore wants. Dick Egan, the Cincinnati player, it was learned, is the eighth of the world tourists sought by the Federals. The Federals' umpires meet today to discuss interpretation of the rules. Among the topics for discussion will be the "infield fly rule," which is interpreted differently in the American and National leagues. Bill Brennan, chief of the umpires, feared that the two interpretations might cause confusion when former National leaguers were playing with Federal leaguers. Brennan will preside over today's meeting.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 4.—President C. W. Somers of the Cleveland American league club said today that he has signed Pitcher Fred Blanding and that he is on his way to join the Naps at Athens, Ga. Blanding previously had signed a Federal league contract.

"We are ready to fight for Blanding," said Somers. "His 1913 contract contained a clause which gave us an option on his 1914 services. We developed Blanding and think the courts will say we have acted within our rights."

St. Louis, Mo., March 4.—Mordecai Brown, manager of the St. Louis Federal league baseball team, and Walter Fritsch, financial agent for the local club, departed for New York yesterday, to be on the dock when the ship carrying the world-touring baseball teams arrives Friday. Fritsch and Brown, it is understood here, aim to sign Lee Magee and Ivey Wingo, members of the St. Louis Nationals who made the world's tour with the New York Nationals.

New York, March 4.—The New York National league club has received word from President Hempstead in Marlin that Fred Snodgrass, center fielder of the club, has signed a three-year contract with the Giants. Snodgrass was dissatisfied with the first contract the New York club sent him, and was considering a Federal league offer.

Kansas City, Mo., March 4.—Walter Leverenz, star pitcher of the St. Louis American league club, will be a member of the Kansas City Federals the coming season, if George Stovall, manager of the local team can induce the hurler to attach his signature to a Kansas City contract Friday in New York. Stovall left last night for New York, where he will meet the world's touring baseball teams.

Tampa, Fla., March 4.—Outfielder Tommy Leach will be the captain of the Chicago National baseball club this year, according to an announcement today. Leach acted as captain last year when John Evers was absent.

Portland, Or., March 4.—Claude Berry, Portland Pacific Coast league pitcher, now in California, has jumped to the Federal league.

COMMISSIONER HART TALKS ON BOXING.

William Hart of Eau Claire, Wis., one of the members of the Wisconsin state boxing commission, and adjudged the ablest one of that body by various newspaper writers throughout the West, was present at the bout of last evening.

Mr. Hart declares his belief that Minnesota will have a boxing law similar to the one now in force in the neighboring state within the next few years.

"Boxing has been conducted along safe and sane lines under the present law," said Mr. Hart. "The state of Wisconsin has received about $7,000 from the proceeds of boxing to date, and before the expiration of the year it is believed that the state's 5 per cent of the gross receipts will amount to more than $20,000.

"When properly conducted boxing is a good sport. It needs careful supervision and constant aim to make it better. In the years to come many of the states will permit it under the proper control."

RAID POOL ROOM.

Police Grab Racing Gamblers in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., March 4.—The police raided an alleged pool room conducted by Tom Corbett, brother of James J. Corbett, the former champion pugilist, late yesterday and arrested nearly 150 men. Edward Fagan was charged as the keeper of a gambling house and the others were charged with frequenting a gambling house.

Form sheets on the Juarez races were gathered up as evidence. The police say that the establishment has been taking bets and running a pool on the Mexican races. Among the men arrested were several pugilists.

Sutton Beats Demarest.

Chicago, March 4.—George Sutton last night defeated Calvin Demarest 500 to 359 in the third game of the five-man billiard tournament. The game was slow, running twenty-eight innings. Sutton's high run was 68 and Demarest's best inning was 74. Sutton averaged 17 24-28 and Demarest 13 18-27.

JOHNNY TILLMAN HOLDS PAL BROWN TO A DRAW

Minneapolis Boxer Springs Surprise By Slugging With Rangeite.

While Hibbing Boy Does Forcing, Tillman Shows Better Boxing.

BY BRUCE.

Johnny Tillman caused oodles of surprise to descend over an audience that packed the Grand opera house of Superior from pit to dome, by holding the celebrated Pal Brown to a ten-round draw last evening. In two of the ten rounds the Minneapolis youth outfought and outslugged the former range battler. The fact that Brown was the aggressor throughout and carried the fight to the Mill City youth counted in his favor. A good draw, which amounts to a virtual victory for Tillman, was the only verdict possible.

Tillman had the third and sixth by clear shades. The Mill City youth also earned a shade in the seventh. The eighth round was Brown's and the range youth also led in the ninth. The final round was even and there was no decided shade in the other rounds.

Those who came down from the range carried in their constitutions the firm and unshaken belief that Pal would put the Mill City youth away before the expiration of the tenth round. As the rounds were reeled off and the smiling Tillman remained practically unharmed, the surprise of the followers of Brown increased. The bell at the finish found some of the most ardent admirers of the little Hibbing youth perplexed and somewhat unable to explain how it was that Brown failed to show superiority.

Tillman Shows the Goods.

Hand it to John Tecumseth Tillman. He fought a crafty and wise battle, and there were times when he came out of his shell that he brought the crowd to its feet by outfighting Brown and sending the oncoming range boy back with well directed and well placed blows.

Every inch of the journey Brown carried the going to Tillman, as it was expected he would. To Tillman it was only necessary for him to remain the ten rounds to earn what was equivalent to a victory; on the other hand Brown realized that he was expected to put the Minneapolitan away, and he used all the goods he possessed in attempting to bring about this result.

There were followers of the range man at the ringside who made willing bets that Brown would stop the Tillman one before the expiration of the final round. To these idolizers of Brown the result of the meeting was nothing less than a distinct shock.

There were times when Tillman held and during the major portion of the ten rounds, Johnny was content to permit Brown to do the forcing: Pal had Johnny along the ropes a good part of the time. But it is nevertheless true that it was Tillman who sprung the gilded and glittering surprise of the evening—and it was Tillman who sent Brown's head back several times and it was the Minneapolis boy who outboxed Pal and semed entirely capable of holding his own at all stages of the going.

Opens an Old Cut.

Early in the bout Tillman opened Brown's old cauliflower ear and this bled profusely throughout the bout. Some of the swings aimed at the Brown bean landed on the glove of the range boy and failed to land clean, as it appeared from some angles of the ring. Tillman used his left cleverely and uppercutted effectively with his right to the stomach at several intervals.

Brown was wild at times. He appeared too anxious. Tillman made the ranger miss occasionally with his left. Brown's best blows were landed in close. One right swing to the body made Johnny wince and again Brown straightened the Minneapolis boy up with a hard right to the kidneys.

There was little doing in the opening round. Tillman exceedingly cautious and danced away from the iron ore scrapper. There were few blows landed. Brown appeared both confident and determined and Tillman was cool and as alert as a fox. Brown essayed several lefts and Tillman neatly stepped back out of distance, there was hardly a clean blow landed.

Tillman Starts Strong.

At the beginning of the second round Tillman brought for applause by sending Brown's head back with a snappy left. Johnny followed this by catching the range boy with a right swing. Brown came in close and uppercutted Tillman to the body. Brown was following the instructions of his seconds and was crowding his opponent. Tillman was wary and refused to be led into an opening. Both exchanged swings and again Tillman shot out his left. At the bell Brown uppercutted Tillman to the stomach, but Johnny still wore that famous smile. The round was even.

In a clinch Brown caused a shout of protest from Tillman's corner by raking in a swinging uppercut that hoisted Tillman's head back. Shortly after this Johnny came back with a right swing, measuring his man with a left and then

We're Hammering Away At This Fact

PEERLESS is the best tobacco in the world for big, strong, manly men. It was put on the market purposely to please this kind of man. We first marketed it fifty years ago; it has been the favorite of men of vim and vigor ever since.

It is pure Southern Kentucky tobacco, carefully and naturally aged for three to five years so as to bring out all its mellow, natural richness and honest sweetness. It is a juicy, full-bodied tobacco that thoroughly satisfies a powerful man's tobacco-hunger.

PEERLESS
Long Cut Tobacco

Take the case of the blacksmith. When he wants tobacco satisfaction, he cannot get it out of "flat," insipid mixtures. He has got to have a man's size real old natural he-tobacco.

We have the greatest tobacco organization in the world and are in business to stay in business—by giving the best values. PEERLESS is only one of our many brands, but like all it is the "highest quality—biggest quantity" of its kind sold.

We tell the big, brawny men of this country that PEERLESS is the best tobacco for them on the market and they know they can bank on that statement.

A week's trial of PEERLESS will prove it. "Smoke it or chew it—but go straight to it."

Sold everywhere in 5-cent packages.

driving in. Brown tried a left and missed and the men came into a clinch. Brown swung a long right to the back of John's head, but the blow did not seem to hurt the Minneapolitan. Johnny jabbed with left as he backed into a neutral corner and then came swinging out and caught Pal in the stomach. Brown swung a short left to Tillman's mid section and the men clinched. John swung a right at the bell. Round even.

Brown did most of the forcing in the fifth. The range boy was wild with many of his blows, repeatedly missing. Brown caught Tillman a terrific blow over the kidneys and his seconds yelled shouts of approval. It looked as if the blow hurt the slender boxer from the Mill City. After coming out of a clinch Tillman electrified the audience by standing and slugging with Brown, trading rights and sending Pal back with a hard left. Brown worked in one hard and short left and Tillman swung a low right into the cullnary department. The round ended with honors even.

Brown opened the sixth by advancing to the Tillman corner and catching Tillman with a hard right to the stomach, one of the best blows of the evening. Coming out of a clinch Tillman swung a wicked right. Again Tillman got to Brown with a left and then sent in his right again, following this with an uppercut. The boys stood along the ropes and slugged, Johnny trading punches with Pal, sending the rangeite back by a left and right. The shade belonged to Tillman.

The Seventh.

In the seventh round Tillman caught Brown with a left and right. Brown sent in a hard right uppercut and the blow appeared to hurt despite the smile that adorned the countenance of the guest of the management. Brown was forcing his man. The chin of the range boy was thrust out like a fender in front of a street car and his sole thought seemed to be to send home a blow that would end the battle. But Tillman was wary, alert and cool as the ice-tempered cucumber. Tillman was going back before the advance of Brown, but he came in with a left and then clinched. Brown worked a left to head in close and then sent right to body, and in a clinch worked the subway uppercut to the Tillman chin. At the end of the round Tillman came out and met Brown and slugged with him. The round was even.

Brown had the eighth round. Tillman appeared to be exhibiting some of the effects of the milling. Pal caught John one of his favorite kidney punches, and the range lad's seconds fairly snortled in glee. Brown was doing all of the forcing. Brown uppercutted and then caught Tillman with a short right to the jaw. Brown's seconds were yelling for him to put John away. Brown smeared in a left to the midsection and forced Tillman to the ropes. Brown again got in a left to the body and sent right to the head. This was Brown's round.

Brown again earned a slight lead in the ninth. He planted left to jaw. Brown sent a hard right to the back of the head. Tillman jabbed neatly and then swung a hard one to the Brown kitchen. They clinched and Brown's second yelled to the referee to part them. Brown sent a right to head and forced the pace. Tillman uppercutted and then Brown came back near the close of the round with a right that jarred Tillman a trifle.

Good Preliminaries.

In the first affray of the evening Charles Jensen put Kid O'Malley away in the first round. After some strenuous slugging the Jensen one crossed a right and the O'Malley lad sought the canvas, a pained and deeply grieved expression adorning his somewhat classic countenance.

Our Abe O'Niel had a shade on the sprightly Young Bushey of Superior in the second preliminary, which was filled with animated action and was the best advance stuff of the show. Abe measured his shorter opponent with a long left and then would swing the right in occasionally when the stocky and rushing little ring demon was off balance. A draw would be about the best verdict. Both boys fought every second of the way.

In the semi-windup Young Nelson of Hawthorne and Bob Saunders of Ashland met. The affair was tedious at times and was so near even that no decision, even if handed down from the higher courts, would have been just.

BOMBARDIER WELLS KNOCKS OUT BLAKE

One British False Alarm Uncovers Another--Bandsman "Lasts Quick."

London, March 4.—Bombardier Wells, the former British heavyweight champion, last night knocked out Bandsman Blake, the middleweight champion, in the fourth round of what was intended to be a twenty-round fight.

The contest has aroused great interest in sporting circles. Blake, previous to this encounter, had never been defeated and was regarded by many persons as England's white hope for winning the world's heavyweight championship.

At the weighing-in Blake was twenty-eight pounds lighter than Wells.

Kansas City, Mo., March 4.—Jim Flynn of Pueblo and Jack Dillon of Indianapolis fought ten fast rounds here last night, at the end of which the referee decided the bout a draw. Dillon knocked Flynn down twice in the second round, once for a count of seven and again for a count of nine. While Flynn was the aggressor, he landed few telling blows.

New York, March 4.—Battling Levinsky of Philadelphia defeated Fred McKay of Winnipeg by a wide margin in their ten-round bout in Brooklyn last night.

BIG SQUAD OF OARSMEN

Ten Eyck Back and Meets Many Candidates for Crew.

"Sure, it will be a hard rowing row this season," said the every genial James E. Ten Eyck yesterday, "but you know we have had hard rows before."

James blew in from the East shortly after noon yesterday. The coach is full of the proverbial pep. He was delighted with the enthusiasm that has been shown in the gathering of candidates and he is sure that out of the large number of young men who have handed in their names that some excellent material will be developed for the crews.

Something like forty men turned in their names yesterday. There was little work on the machines, the first day of the training period being spent for the most part in getting the names of the new men, shaking hands with the old men, and arranging for the working hours. Today the men will get down to work and there will be no loafing from now on.

"Most of the Eastern college crews are down to work," said Ten Eyck. "There is greater interest in collegiate rowing than ever before. This also applies to the activity of the various boat clubs. The victory of the Duluth Boat club at Boston has caused some envy and consequent increased activities among the crews of the Eastern section. Also, I might say, that it has caused an increased spirit of emulation among the crews of the West and this season you can bank that we will have some awfully strong competition in the national at Philadelphia.

"Art Osman and Walter Glass look like the real class at Syracuse. It looks as if Art will be the stroke of the varsity eight. He is sure some oarsman and the old Dad thinks he has discovered a wonder."

New men were turning in their names to the conch all of yesterday afternoon. The machines are rigged up and all is ready for work. It is expected that the biggest squad in the history of the club will start active work today.

AMERICAN SOO WINS PENNANT

Beats Canadian Soo in Decisive Hockey Match and Wins Title.

Canadian Soo	6	10

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 4.—The American Soo hockey team established its right to the championship of the western division of the A. A. H. A. last night, when it defeated the Canadian Soo team in the last game of the schedule by the close score of 2 to 1. It was one of the fastest and hardest fought contests ever seen on the local ice and was witnessed by the largest crowd ever assembled in the rink.

From the start, the American Soo team had the better of the game, and would have rolled up a good score had it not been for the stellar work of Goaltender Hesson for the Canadians.

Combination work was lacking, both teams playing individually. McKinnon made the only goal for the Canadians, while Pepin and Thomsett shot those for the Americans.

Dennison and Hesson starred for the Canadian team and every man on the American team was a star.

The line-up:

DRAW FOR MATCHES.

Davis Cup Contest Arranged for By American Committee.

New York, March 4.—The draw of the six nations challenging the United States for the Davis international lawn tennis cup, was made yesterday by R. D. Wrenn, chairman of the American committee, assisted by G. T. Adee. Germany and France drew byes in the first round, Australasia and Canada were coupled on the brackets of the first round in the top half, and the British Isles and Belgium were drawn against each other in the lower half. Germany will meet the winner of the Australasian-Canada matches, and France will meet the successful nation of the British Isles-Belgium series.

At the close of the drawing, Wrenn said that he regarded the manner in which the names had been picked blindly from a hat, as an admirable arrangement. He expressed the belief that at least four of the nations would be engaged in the cup competitions on the courts of this country.

Wrenn and Adee, at the completion of the draw, at once began negotiations by telephone and telegraph with Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia to decide upon the dates for these matches, which probably will be announced today.

Seven Will Compete.

New York, March 4. — Seven competitors have entered for the national class A 18.2 balk-line amateur billiard championship tournament. The list closed today and the players are: Eugene L. Wilburn, Memphis; Joseph Mayer, Philadelphia; H. D. Brown, Brooklyn; E. W. Gardner, New York; Charles Heddon, Dowagiac, Mich.; Dr. W. B. Uffenheimer, Philadelphia, and J. F. Poggenburg, New York. The matches will begin at the Amateur Billiard club here on March 9.

WILSON TO TALK TO CONGRESS THURSDAY

Will Make Short Address Urging Repeal of Canal Tolls Act.

Washington, March 4.—President Wilson will personally address a joint session of congress Thursday, advocating the repeal of the clause in the Panama canal act which exempts American coastwise shipping from the payment of tolls. White House officials have arranged with the majority leaders in both houses for a joint session at 12:30 p. m. Thursday.

The president has prepared a brief address in which he sets forth his opinion that congress should reverse itself and keep the obligations of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, which he believes were violated by the Panama canal act.

The president holds that the national honor of the American people is at stake, and that Europeans should not be allowed to get the impression that treaties made by the United States are not adhered to in letter and spirit. The exemption clause, he points out, was passed on the assumption that, while the Hay-Pauncefote treaty guarantees equal treatment to all nations in the matter of tolls, the document was to be interpreted as meaning all nations except the United States.

The president believes there should be no debatable ground on treaties once made, and believes the United States is in honor bound to keep the spirit of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

The message to congress will open the fight on the Panama tolls question in earnest. Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the inter-oceanic canals committee, is expected to oppose the president's view. Lately it has been said that a majority of the committee would favor a repeal. The White House is confident that in both houses of congress the repeal will be passed, Republicans joining Democrats in making the change.

MORE RAILROADS WOULD KEEP BOATS

Ten, Including Lehigh Valley, Apply to Commission.

Washington, March 4.—Ten more railroads applied to the interstate commerce commission yesterday for relief from the operation of that provision of the Panama canal act which requires railroads to divest themselves of water line holdings before July 1 unless the commission shall exempt them from the law. The applicants were:

The Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company, which operates steamships on the Willamette, Columbia and Snake rivers and across Lake Cour d'Alene.

The Southern Pacific company and the Central Pacific railroads, which own 1,600 of the 6,200 shares of the Sacramento Transportation company, operating boats on the Sacramento river.

The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, which owns and operates tugs, barges, car floats, lighters, ferries and other vessels in the harbor of New York.

The New York, Ontario & Western railroad, which operates tugs, barges, floats and other craft in New York harbor.

Owns Great Lakes Fleet.

The Lehigh Valley railroad, part owner of the Mutual Transit company, which operates a fleet of steamers on the Great Lakes.

The Long Island railroad, which owns the Montauk Steamboat company, operating between Sag Harbor, New York, and New York city and owns tugs, barges, ferries and similar craft employed in New York harbor and vicinity.

The Southern Pacific company and Morgan's Louisiana & Texas railway and Steamship company, controls the Direct Navigation company, operating on Buffalo bay between Houston and Galveston, Tex.

The Central Vermont Railway company, operating freight steamers between New York city and St. Johns, Que.

The Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic railway, which controls the Maryland, Delaware & Virginia railway, operating steamers on Chesapeake bay.

WILSON APPROVES IRRIGATION BILLS

Washington, March 4. — President Wilson has given his approval to the proposal to give irrigators on government projects twenty years instead of ten to repay the government for their water rights, embodied in bills now pending in congress.

SEE IF THE CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

LINCOLN HELD AS EXAMPLE

Was Educated in Real Sense of the Word, Says Vincent.

Varsity Head Ridicules Degrees and Extols Self Discipline.

That Abraham Lincoln was educated in the best sense of the word and acquired great efficiency and strength of character through self discipline, is the opinion of Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, who spoke last night on "The Education of Lincoln" at the postponed Lincoln birthday celebration of the Young Men's club of the First Presbyterian church.

"Abraham Lincoln was not a phenomenon as some people think," said Dr. Vincent, "but grew step by step from the lowly station in which he was born until he became a world-wide character, and by years of arduous toil became a master of the English language and equal to cope with any problem that came within his sphere of duty, however great."

At the beginning of his address Dr. Vincent gave a clear definition of what he considered education was, and his definition leaves out a great many of the present day college graduates.

Defines Education.

"I consider education to be the power to think clearly, the ability to feel strongly and sympathetically, the discipline that enables one to pursue a task steadfastly with a clear-cut purpose in view, and to act loyally to one's best principles and purposes," said the speaker.

In speaking of the true and the false standards of education Dr. Vincent said a man might be a university graduate and not be educated at all, while on the other hand a man might never go to school or college and become educated. The only way to secure an education, he said, was for the individual to work and acquire knowledge and training. This he said might be done either in or out of a college. The only excuse for colleges and universities is that they offer a student better facilities for educating himself.

Dr. Vincent ridiculed the giving of degrees at the completion of a college course, and said the only time a person should receive a degree was just before death when there was nothing more to be done in securing an education.

Ridicules Degrees.

"The honorary degree is for the little man," said Mr. Vincent. "Lincoln never acquired a degree and if he had been offered an honorary degree, I am afraid it would have made him laugh. He was too big a man to be honored by hanging an academic tail to his name."

By the way of illustration, showing Lincoln's wonderful reasoning and great power of grasping the essentials of big problems, Dr. Vincent cited an instance of Lincoln's ceaseless endeavor to get to the bottom of problems.

"When Lincoln was a boy he ran upon the word 'demonstrate.' For some time he could not learn just what the word meant. By some means or other he found that it was defined as meaning 'to prove.' This did not satisfy him and he learned that the word was used in geometry. He obtained the six books of Euclid and learned to demonstrate every proposition. Lincoln said after this was done, he knew what the word 'demonstrate' meant."

In the way of contrast between the education of Lincoln and many others who had many more facts, the speaker cited the case of a man of his acquaintance who had a genius for acquiring facts. His knowledge is inestimable so long as he is used as an encyclopedia for information, but no one respects the conclusions he reaches on any subject. Lincoln read few books and was possessed of only a comparatively small number of facts, but he had the discipline and power that helped him to think and reason clearly.

Faith and Purpose.

The chief thing that made Lincoln great, according to the speaker, was his firm faith and steadfast purpose in carrying out what he believed most essential.

"The great purpose of Lincoln was to preserve the Union at all hazards. Emancipation of the slaves was secondary, and he wrote the immortal document only after he was thoroughly convinced that it was the best and surest way to preserve the Union."

In conclusion, Dr. Vincent held Lincoln up as an example for those seeking an education and extolled the principles of his life as fit for any one to follow.

Before the chief address, Judge W. L. Windom was introduced for "remarks," but he declined to make an address. He mentioned, however, that he was probably the only person in the audience who had seen and heard Lincoln speak. He said he went with his father when a small boy and sat through one of the speeches. The bigness of the man and the kindliness of his face, he said, made a lasting impression on him, and he was always asking his father to take him to hear Lincoln.

Dr. Yost Speaks.

Dr. Yost was asked to make a preliminary speech, but refused to take time pursuing me with malicious slander, I leave $5."

Edward Salisbury Field, secretary to Mrs. Stevenson, was bequeathed a sand lot at Carpenter, worth several hundred dollars.

SAYS HE NEVER WILL TAKE ANOTHER DRINK

McCreery May Be Restored to Competency By Court.

San Francisco, March 4.—If Walter McCreery, clubman, polo player and millionaire, is restored to competency, as Judge Graham strongly indicated yesterday in the superior court might occur, he promised the court never to take another drink. He has not touched liquor, he said for two years.

"I am satisfied," said Judge Graham, "that this man ought to be given a chance, and I don't see why his guardian isn't willing to allow it. I am ready to entertain a motion that McCreery be restored to competency and the management of his own affairs."

McCreey's troubles began in May 1909, when he was confined in an English sanitarium after a series of eccentric actions. They continued progressively until they reached a climax in August, 1912, when he was declared incompetent by Judge Graham and H. H. McPinke, an attorney who was appointed his guardian.

In October, 1913, he escaped from Los Muertos ranch, near Hollister, Cal., fled to England, and last month returned to San Francisco, armed with the depositions of prominent British alienists that he was sane. Two San Francisco alienists appointed by Judge Graham reported yesterday that they had kept him under examination daily for periods of from one to four hours since Feb. 16 and were satisfied he is now perfectly sane.

ON THE ROAD TO BETTER DAYS

The man who has been down and out knows what it means to be on the road to Better Days. He remembers the dark and gloomy past with a shudder. But now he has discovered himself. The future is bright; it holds no terrors for him. He is getting close to Easy street. There is the cheery good morning to his fellows; the boyish whistle as he goes about his business; the sun shines; all is well. He doesn't kick the dog now, nor beat his wife. Why this change? What good fortune has come his way? The answer is PITTSTON. One happy day he heard of Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the Guaranteed Hard Coal. He lost no time in having his bin filled with this wonder coal. It was his salvation. And it will be yours, too, my friend! No Gloom, No Grouches where PITTSTON is. Order today and travel the road to better days.

Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the Guaranteed Hard Coal, never fails or fools. It is absolutely guaranteed to the last lump and does not cost a penny more than the ordinary kind. Pittsburgh's PITTSTON protects you against inefficient fuel and short weights.

How to Avoid Perils of Impure Blood

A Searching Internal Blood Bath Insures Proper Elimination of Causes of Most ILL Health

As the Tub is to Outward Cleanliness, so is S. S. S. to Inward Purity

Wherever men gather together in city club or country store there is certain to be someone who knows what was accomplished by S. S. S. It is usually some stubborn case of an indolent blood eruption, or some skin affliction that long defied all other treatment. The cold ear, trained to a special school, is indifferent to the enthusiasm of the so-called layman. But the actual experience, the obvious proof, the living witness is at least a message of hope to anyone that is similarly afflicted. And, after all, to purify the blood is not so much a question of probability as it is one of good judgment and persistency in the selection and use of an appropriate remedy. The fact that S. S. S. is a vegetable preparation with pronounced catalytic effect means volumes to those who actually require a blood purifier. In a condition of perfect health the system takes care of itself.

This means that impurities absorbed by the skin are checked and made harmless by secretions selected by nature to render this peculiar service. It also means that the digestive system will soon adjust itself to temporary derangement by the innate power of elimination.

And it also means that those atmospheric impurities which are breathed into the respiratory system to find lodgment in the tissues and set up a condition of disease are attacked and made innocuous by the body's ability to take care of itself when in a perfectly healthy condition. But as it is rare that anyone is in this state of ideal health, all sorts of diseases attack the blood. Thus the system must have help and S. S. S. has been found to give this help. Whether the impurities take the form of rheumatism, catarrh, malaria, eczema or other external manifestations of blood poverty, S. S. S. seems to provide the peculiar assistance required by the emunctories to overcome the destructive influence of retained body wastes.

From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence in all the digestive organs. It is certainly a wonderful blood medicine, and is prepared direct from native materials gathered by the experts of the famous Swift Laboratory. Not one drop of minerals or drugs is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it. And if you desire skilful advice and counsel upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to the Medical Department, The Swift Specific Co., 402 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all substitutes.

New Invention

COURAGE NEVER FORSAKES THE MANLY MAN.

A new Sanden mechanical invention for the easy self-use of debilitated or enervated men, will interest a certain percentage who need that kind of aid, but the little illustrated treatise on sex, described below (sent free, sealed, by mail for the asking) is of interest TO ALL MEN, young and elderly alike. It should be in the hands of every man in the world who can read the English language. To date over a million copies of this private treatise have been printed and sent out free. Nothing like it was ever before published.

Mr. Reader: If you want the whole simplified truth, as I see it, in relation to that now widely discussed and vastly important phase of the sex subject which we call MANLY STRENGTH: If you want to know its legitimate uses, what you should or should not do to preserve it, how to make the proper efforts to restore it when once lost, and just what are the real and what are the imaginary results of certain forms of abuse which, unfortunately, are world-wide; if you want all this information, gleaned during my 30 years' practical experience in this field, all told in the simplest form, condensed, revised and systematized for the easy reading of men the world over, then you may have it free in my little treatise (book form), containing 8,000 words and 80 half-tone photo reproductions. Everything is complete. Please see coupon below.

SANDEN, Author.

As to my mechanical device, the Sanden Vitalizer, that may interest you as being a clever invention, even if you do not require a "strengthener" in your own case. In fact, I always send an illustrated description of it as a part of my free book on sex subjects. This little vitalizer represents the very latest scientific idea in mechanical self-treatment. It is entirely separate and apart from drugs or medicines. It is complete in itself. Nothing but the vitalizer is to be used. It weighs only several ounces, and is worn on the body all night. It generates a continuous, perceptible, though pleasant flow of a marvellous FORCE which I call VITALITY. The system appears to absorb this FORCE while you sleep. Men everywhere have said my Vitalizer takes pain out of the back almost at once and restores manly strength in 60 to 90 days. Over 200,000 of these Vitalizers are now in use or have recently been used by men, and generally after every other known treatment failed.

I send some special attachments with the Vitalizer, so it may be used by women as well as by men, where there is rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. You may not need the Vitalizer, but if you do I will be pleased to make some liberal proposition whereby you may have one to wear. We can correspond about that later, if you so wish, but first get the free book that you may know all.

Do you know, my friend, that this mysterious energy which we call Manhood or Manly Strength represents the BIG power which is behind every worthy achievement of our day? And if through the medium of the printed words in my little free book I may be the means of changing you or any other man from a state of physical debility and weakness into one of full vital, manly vigor, then I give you a foundation of energy and power which puts you in the same class with the biggest, strongest, most vital fellow of your acquaintance.

Men as well as women, everywhere, are influenced and charmed by that natural force which the truly manly man ever radiates. Get my free book and see what you can learn about your own vitality which you do not now know.

A call at my office, if you live in or near this city, will enable you to test the force of the Vitalizer as it is generated. Office hours, 9 to 6. Sunday, 10 to 1. Or otherwise please write for the free book.

WHAT MY FREE BOOK GIVES YOU

As stated elsewhere, by sending me the coupon below, you are entitled to receive by return mail, sealed, my little illustrated book of advice on sex subjects, and I will include, as well, a full description of the Sanden Vitalizer, telling you upon what terms you may have one for your own use if you wish to try one. Therefore, please send coupon today.

B. S. Sanden Co., 1261 Broadway, New York, N. Y.:
Dear Sirs—Please forward me your book, as advertised, free, sealed.

ON THE IRON RANGES

EXTENDING TROLLEY LINE IS CONSIDERED

Capitalists of Philadelphia Look Over Mesaba Range Proposition.

Hibbing, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Howard and John Graham, bankers of Philadelphia, with representatives of Day & Zimmerman, engineers, made an inspection of the Mesaba electric line with a view of investing. Manager Newton, with engineers, will go over the proposed route to Nashwauk tomorrow with the local Commercial club, indicating that the officials are seriously considering the proposed extensions. It is the belief here that the line will surely go to Alice this summer and possibly as far as Nashwauk.

The Grahams left this morning for Duluth.

Also Visit Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., March 4.—H. S. Graham and J. Graham of the firm of Graham & Son, Philadelphia bankers; Charles Day of Philadelphia, connected with the firm of Day & Zimmerman electrical engineers, and F. E. Nelson of Philadelphia, were in the city yesterday and in company with Henry S. Newton, manager of the Mesaba Electric Railway company, made a trip over the country between Virginia and Biwabik through which it is believed the company's line will be extended the coming year.

EVELETH NEEDING SOME MORE MONEY

County Treasurer Will Be Asked to Make Advance on Levy.

Eveleth, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city of Eveleth is temporarily short of funds. According to a report made to the council last night the balances in several funds will not be sufficient to last until the money is received from the next levy. The council authorized the city clerk and Finance Commissioner Mesberg to go to Duluth and ask the county treasurer for an advance on the levy.

The council granted city employees what has been agitated for in other range cities, a semi-monthly pay day. This was petitioned for by a majority of the city employes and was granted by a unanimous vote.

A claim was made against the city by Mrs. Mary Picciano for $200 for injuries which she claims to have sustained last December by falling on a sidewalk which she alleges was not properly lighted. The claim was referred to the city attorney.

Health Statistics.

The health officer's report showed that five cases of scarlet fever were quarantined in Eveleth during the past month. Of this number four were at the mining locations. One case of smallpox broke out during the month. The report showed nineteen births and nine deaths during February.

The city of Eveleth and the county of St. Louis are at outs over the payment of a bill of $80 for an automobile used in carrying men and supplies to and from Ely lake last July while a search was being made for the body of Miss Pilstrom of Superior, Wis., who was accidently drowned. The county refused to pay the bill. The rig was ordered by an Eveleth officer, who according to Chief Finnigan, was acting merely as a messenger for the coroner. The bill was referred to the city attorney.

Applications for the renewal of five liquor licenses were referred to the superintendent of public welfare to report on at the next meeting.

Bills totalling approximately $11,421 were allowed.

BUILDING EVELETH'S NEW PUMPING PLANT

Much Difficulty Met With But All Obstacles Are Overcome.

Eveleth, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great difficulties have been encountered in building a new pumping station for Eveleth at St. Mary's lake, three miles south of the city. Work was started Dec. 20 and the excavation has just been completed and is now ready for the concrete work.

The new station is located only 100 feet from the lake and the basement is to be eight feet below the water level. It was found that the site was underlaid with quicksand and it was necessary to drive 230 thirty-foot piles to support the building. The inflow of water and quicksand caused much trouble and pumps with a capacity of 275 gallons per minute were installed. The work has now reached a point where the construction of the plant can be rushed. Lawrence McCann & Co., has the contract for the job, which will cost approximately $35,000.

Plan Fine Building.

The building will be 50x100 feet, of fireproof construction, faced with pressed brick on the outside and finished with tile in the interior. A pump with a daily capacity of a million gallons will be installed and the old pump, which has a capacity of 600,000 gallons per day will be moved to the new plant. The pumps will be placed barely above water level so that they will give a maximum of pressure.

When the new pumping station is in operation, Eveleth will have a water service which could not be improved on and the supply will be adequate for the city's needs for some time.

GIRL APPEALS TO GOPHER GOVERNOR

Asks for Release of Mother, Survivor of the Titanic.

St. Paul, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The plea of her daughter, written to Governor Eberhart, may bring about the release of Mrs. Emily M. Lovre, a survivor of the Titanic disaster, now held in the Ramsey county jail awaiting trial on charges preferred by Sigrid Johnson of Coleraine, Minn.

How she left her home in Sweden two years ago, only to suffer injuries in the wreck of the Titanic, to see her small fortune ebb away in America and to find herself in a position where she was compelled to wash dishes in a restaurant by night and take in washing by day to keep her family together, was told by Mrs. Lovre.

Her Husband Cruel.

She says she was married fifteen years ago in Sweden. Her husband's cruelty, she says, forced her to leave him. Then she came to America.

Johnson charges that she married him at Coleraine. This she denies, asserting that she refused to sign a marriage contract when friends explained to her what it meant.

She came to St. Paul recently where she established a home at 869 Arlington street. She took in boarders, worked in a St. Peter street restaurant and did washing to eke out a living for her 14-year-old daughter and 10-year-old son.

Mrs. Lovre was arrested two weeks ago with Gustave Gilbertson, a boarder, on charges made by Mr. and Mrs. Tecla Haglund, 844 Payne avenue, and a lawyer acting for Johnson.

Governor Eberhart is investigating the case.

VIRGINIA WANTS CONNECTING "Y"

Great Northern and Missabe Roads to Be Forced to Connect.

Virginia, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unless the Great Northern and the Missabe railroads comply with the state law and build a connecting "Y" here, the city will appeal to the state railroad commission, according to a statement made to the city council by Mayor Murphy last evening. It is expected the companies will get busy.

The Missabe road promised the council to provide a flagman at the Larch street and Mesaba avenue crossing, a dangerous place.

Will Reimburse City.

Warren Bros.' company, contractors, notified the council they would take immediate steps to reimburse the city for over payments made to them on their 1912 paving contract.

The Mesaba Telephone company petitioned for permission to erect additional poles for its North side service, and the street committee was given full power to act in the matter.

City Attorney Morgan requested further time in which to prepare a housing ordinance. He stated that he had looked up much literature on the subject and that he has written to several cities where such an ordinance is in effect, and that he desired to secure all the data possible before drawing an ordinance which would best meet local conditions.

Want City's Aid.

The Associated Charities asked the co-operation of the council in maintaining a visiting nurse. A nurse was employed by the society a short time ago but it is found that it will be necessary to secure assistance in the way of funds in order to keep her employed. The matter was referred to the health department and the city physician.

Alderman Heritage, chairman of the finance committee called attention to the fact that at present the committee has no means of knowing what rates are being charged the city by the water and light commission for the city's street and alley lighting, and the water and light committee was instructed to confer with the commission and prepare a schedule showing rates.

EVELETH CURLING.

Interest Increases as Close of Contest Approaches.

Eveleth, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the end of the curling season draws close interest in the game in this city increases. Play for a number of trophies will be finished within a short time. A large number of men hitherto not interested in the game are becoming enthusiastic and intend to curl next winter. With one successful season not yet closed the curlers are already jubilant over the prospects for the Eveleth Curling club next season.

The finals in the Miners National bank event and the Home Electric company event have been played. The Hatch rink won from the Campbell rink in the former by a score of 12 to 11 and the Murray rink defeated the Hoel rink in the latter event by a score of 10 to 9.

An invitation has been extended to the Hibbing club to send three rinks here Saturday night to meet three Eveleth rings.

RADOVAC NOT CAPTURED.

Convict Who Shot Parole Agent Came From Itasca County.

St. Paul, Minn., March 4.—Mike Radovac, the paroled convict who shot F. A. Whittier, state parole agent, here when the latter attempted to capture him for breaking his parole, is still at large, although the police of the Twin Cities have diligently searched for him. Mr. Whittier got a bullet through his left leg and had one finger torn off by another bullet. He is resting easily at his home in Stillwater.

Radovac was sentenced from Itasca county May 28, 1909, for assault in the second degree, and was paroled July 22, 1912. He broke his parole Nov. 9, 1912.

Taconite Candidates.

Taconite, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village caucus has named the following candidates: President, T. Cameron; trustees, T. O'Brien, W. Plummer and William Cumber; clerk, E. Barkla; treasurer, P. Bennett; justice of the peace for two years, L. Hupe; for one year, H. Jenson, and for constable for two years, R. Harling.

HIBBING LETS PIPE CONTRACT

Also Closes Deal for Digging of Proposed New Well.

Hibbing, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The contract for nearly 15,000 feet of cast iron water pipe to be used in Alice and Brooklyn and connecting the wells south of the village with the pumping plant was let last evening by the water and light board to the United States Cast Iron board to the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry company of Chicago at $25.30 per ton, and the fittings at 2¾ cents per pound. The valves needed will be furnished by the Crane-Ordway company. Bids were also received on the necessary lead and and oakum but all were rejected and new bids will be received tomorrow. There were four bidders on the pipe.

Will Dig Well.

The contract for the digging of a well south of the village was awarded to J. H. Sharpe, the price per foot for the various sizes forming the basis of the contract. The well will cost about $10,000 if it is found necessary to go the full 500 feet.

No action was taken on the proposed reduction in the light rate, but it is expected that this will come up at some meeting in the near future.

HIBBING IS TO ENTERTAIN MANY

Annual Finnish Midsummer Day Expected to Bring 3,000.

Hibbing, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Those in charge of the big Finnish midsummer day to be held here this year are working hard to get the ball rolling.

A neat booklet with articles by prominent Finns from the range will be issued by the local organization and sent out to advertise the gathering.

Considerable difficulty may be encountered in caring for the 3,000 delegates that are expected but the men in charge believe that they will find room for all.

The tentative program and details of the sports that will be provided have not been decided upon.

LUMBERJACK IS ALCOHOL VICTIM

Jack Hill, Woodsman, Found Dead Over Chisholm Saloon.

Chisholm, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Too much drink or, to use a medical term, acute alcoholism, caused the death of Jack Hill, a woodsman, who was found dead over Isaac Aros' saloon yesterday. Dr. Pengilly of Hibbing, acting for Acting Coroner Dr. A. B. Kirk, conducted a post-mortem and found that death was due to that cause. The deceased, who was an Finn and single, came from the woods a few weeks ago, and had been hanging around saloons drinking to excess. He will be buried by the county.

BURIED AT ISHPEMING.

Last Rites Held for Mother of Virginia Man.

Ishpeming, Mich., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Trevarthen of Beacon, who died Sunday aged 83, was held here today.

Mrs. Trevarthen is survived by five sons and three daughters. They are Mrs. Joseph H. Gill of Ishpeming, Elizabeth J. Gill of Beacon, Mrs. W. Trezise of Swansey, Thomas of Calumet, Richard of Virginia, Minn., William Henry of Swanzey, John of Quinnesec, Mich., and James of Vancouver, B. C. Her husband was killed at the Champion mine in 1883 by falling from the skip to the bottom of the shaft. William Bounds, a timberman, was also killed at that time.

Rev. T. L. Collister of Beacon conducted the services. All of the children were here for the funeral with the exception of James Trevarthen.

MAY CHOOSE HIBBING FIVE FOR BIG GAMES.

Hibbing, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is expected the Hibbing high school basket ball team will be selected as representative from the Eighth congressional district to take part in the interscholastic basket ball tournament to be held at Northfield, March 20 and 21.

The champions of each district will be selected and meet in an elimination contest under the auspices of a state board. So far there are but two teams in the district that have the slightest possible claim that can warrant a cloud on the Hibbing title. These are Aurora and Aitkin. Aurora has been defeated by Virginia and Hibbing in turn defeated that quintet.

How to Grow Long Beautiful Hair

By a Hair Specialist.

It is not hard to stop the hair from falling out and promote its growth if the right means are used. There is no hope for the scalp where the hair roots are dead and the scalp is shiny. However, to those who have not reached this condition, immediate steps should be taken to stop it before it is too late. Here is a simple recipe which you can make at home, that will stop the hair from falling out, promote its growth and eradicate scalp eruptions and scalp humors. I know of cases where the hair has grown from four to five inches in a few months after using this simple recipe: To a half pint of water add 1 oz. bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine, and apply to the hair, rubbing with the finger tips, two or three times a week. These ingredients can be obtained at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home. This recipe not only promotes the growth of the hair but darkens streaked, faded gray hair and makes it soft and glossy.

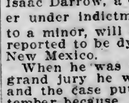
EXPLANATORY NOTES.

COLDER



While Duluth is basking in balmy winter - spring weather, the weatherman says that it is not to be always thus. The weather will be fair and tonight, it is true, the worst promised is just about the same as now prevails; but—

Trouble is brewing. A cold wave is forming in the Northwestern states and Mr. Richardson says that conditions indicate quite a change in the next thirty-six hours. However, the wave may be shunted off the same as happened the last one promised.

A year ago today the weather was bright and snappy.

The sun rose this morning at 6:42 and will set this evening at 5:57 o'clock, giving eleven hours and fifteen minutes of sunshine, three minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light snow or rain fell over the lake region, Ohio and Lower Mississippi valleys and Far West. Moderate temperatures are the rule, but the weather has turned somewhat colder in the Southwest and Rocky mountains. Conditions indicate colder weather in Northwestern states during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 4.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

No game was scheduled with the Aurora five but the local management is willing to have a date selected in case it is necessary. The claim of the Aitkin five can hardly be considered as out of their nine games but two have been with teams in the district and three of the games have been with city or athletic club organizations.

The Hibbing team has not been defeated this season by a high school quintet.

DEATH TO CHEAT TRIAL OF DARROW

Chisholm Man Under Indictment Dying in New Mexico.

Hibbing, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is not expected that Isaac Darrow, a Chisholm saloon keeper under indictment for selling liquor to a minor, will ever be tried, as he is reported to be dying of tuberculosis in New Mexico.

When he was indicted by the recent grand jury he was released on bonds and the case put over until next September because of his poor health. Now word comes that he is dying of the white plague and news of his passing may be received any day.

OUT FOR LEGISLATURE.

Mayor Murphy and O. H. Griggs Get Into Game.

Virginia, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is announced here today that Mayor M. Murphy and O. H. Griggs will file for nomination for the legislature in the Sixty-first district as Republicans.

VIRGINIA WOMAN'S CLUB HAS MEET.

Virginia, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Progressive Women's club was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. W. H. Eaton by Mrs. E. D. Blackman. The subject for the evening was "England." Papers on the following topics were given by members of the club: "England," Mrs. E. D. Blackman; "History of Florence Nightingale," Dr. Ruth Watson; "Life of Alfred Tennyson," Mrs. Frank Whiting; "Life of Browning and Hunt," Mrs. F. H. Bargh; "Uncle Sam's and John Bull's Attitude Toward Mexico at the Present Date," Mrs. Trethewey; "Presentation at Court," Miss Perry. Tea was served in true English style by the hostess and a most interesting evening was passed by those present.

Chisholm Fireman O. K.

Chisholm, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fireman William McIlharghy, who was quarantined because of smallpox, has returned to his duties none the worse for his experience. None of the other members of the department contracted the disease. The headquarters was well fumigated.

Gets Promotion.

Hibbing, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arthur Aubin, formerly of this city, and well known in athletic circles, has been promoted to the office of chief clerk in the office of the Lehigh Valley Coal Dock company at Superior. He is succeeded as weighmaster by Robert McGowan.

Jean Kaermer, who has been employed as clerk in the office of the Keewatin Mining company, has accepted a position in the land department of the Meridan Iron company.

TWO HARBORS WILL HAVE BIG CANNON

Lake County Board Votes to Appropriate for Freight on Gun.

Two Harbors, Minn,. March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lake county commissioners at their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon resolved to help out the traveling library in a financial way, and appropriated $500 for that purpose.

The matter of getting a cannon for the courtyard was considered by the board, and a proposition to have one sent here from Old Point Comfort, Va., was agreed upon. The gun will be approximately 18 feet long and will weigh many thousand pounds without the mounting. The mounting has not been decided upon, this detail being left with a committee. The mounting, however, will be either brick or stone. There is no cost to the gun except the freight, which will be approximately $150.

The cannon proposition was brought to the attention of the county board by Thomas Owens, superintendent of the Iron Range, who has been on a trip to Old Point Comfort for the past month.

BIWABIK FUNERAL.

Many Pay Tribute to the Late Mrs. D. J. Eyer.

Biwabik, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. D. J. Eyer was held from the First Methodist church, the Rev. E. H. Parish of Hamline university officiating.

Friends from many of the range towns attended the service, the floral offerings were beautiful. The pallbearers were F. A. Howerton, Emil Peterson, John Dolan, Fred Johnson, Arthur Salmon and Elner Holiund.

The Rebekah lodge attended in a body. Mrs. Eyer was a prominent member of the Methodist church, also the Rebekah lodge. Interment was made at the local cemetery.

The society has put in a winter of conscientious practice, and an entertainment of more than ordinary excellence is promised.

FIND AN ERROR IN CHISHOLM BALLOTS

Official ballots for the municipal election to be held at Chisholm, March 10, must be revised and reprinted as a result of errors discovered in the blanks which have just been turned over to the city officials by the printers.

In district court, an order directed against D. C. Hackett, president of the village; C. M. Tremontin, recorder, and J. H. McNevin, Matt Borin and William Mitchell, trustees, requiring them to show cause why the ballots should not be destroyed, is now pending.

At a hearing on the order yesterday afternoon Judge Bert Fesler denied the motion of Attorneys C. R. Woods and Harvey Clapp for an order directing the ballots be destroyed but held the matter open until Monday so that if any attempt is made to use the defective ballots, further action may be taken.

T. A. Freeman, village attorney, explained to the court that the errors in the ballot had been discovered before the blanks had left the hands of the printer and that it was not the intention of the city officials to use them at the election. Attorney Freeman took all responsibility for the mistake himself, stating that he had erred in interpreting that clause of the election laws providing for first and second choice candidates.

New blanks will be printed.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 13 West Superior street.

WHAT TO DO FOR NEURALGIA

The one great symptom of neuralgia is pain; the one great cause is lack of nutrition for the nerves, in plain language—starved nerves.

There are two things to do for any form of neuralgia. Apply heat to the affected part to soothe the pain, and feed the nerves by taking a tonic containing the elements needed by them. Heat, as afforded by hot flannel, hot water bags, etc., lulls the inflamed nerves into temporary quiet. It does not cure. Not until the nutrition of the nerves is restored will the inflammation subside.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills furnish to the blood the needed elements and the blood conveys them to the nerves. The only way of getting food or medicine to the nerves is through the blood. Remember that.

Neuralgia is a general term. It means inflammation of a nerve. It is given different names according to the nerve affected. Sciatica is neuralgia of the sciatic nerve. Application of heat will soothe the pain in all forms of neuralgia and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will correct the condition that caused it.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., will send you a little book on "Home Treatment of Nervous Disorders" for the asking.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PIONEER OF FIVE STATES

William Stevens, a Forty-niner, Is Called at International Falls. .

Blazed Trails in Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, California and Minnesota.

International Falls, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—To have lived in five states in each of which he was a pioneer, including having been a forty-niner Californian, was the record of William L. Stevens, father of Mrs. Elizabeth Monahan, wife of Dr. Robert Monahan, who died here Sunday, aged 89. A native of Ohio he moved with his parents to White Pigeon, Mich., thence to Laporte, Ind., because of the Blackhawk Indian war, then to Berlin, Wis.

In 1849 he joined the rush to California, then returned in 1864 to Blue Earth county, Minn., and embarked in farming, marrying Miss Elsie Smith, who died in 1867.

Of this first marriage four children are now living: Buell V., Charles Edwin and Mrs. Stella Hall of California, and Francis W. of Montana.

Marries Second Time.

In 1878 Mr. Stevens married Miss Sarah Christie, then a teacher in Carleton college, who survives him. Two children were born to them, Elizabeth, Mrs. Robert Monahan of this city, and Mary, who died ten years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens moved to Northern Minnesota in 1906, living at Blackduck, and later here. Mr. Stevens was a member of the Episcopal church of Good Thunder, Minn. The only order with which he was connected was the Association of California Pioneers.

PLANS NOVELTY IN INSTITUTES

Combination Institute With New Features at Lidgerwood Next Week.

Lidgerwood, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lidgerwood will hold a combination farmers' institute, a social welfare and a neighborhod reunion three days next week under the name of a community institute, something new in this state. In addition to addresses there will be moving pictures, music, social sessions, meetings especially for the women, meetings for the boys and the girls and other forms of entertainment.

Some Prominent Speakers.

Dr. W. D. Frost of the University of Wisconsin will deliver four addresses, President Worst, Director Cooper, Dean Shepherd, Director Randlett of the extension department, Prof. Waldron, Dr. Van Es, and O. D. Center, all of the agricultural college; President McVey, Dr. Gillette and Prof. Pettijohn of the state university; State Dairy Commissioner Flint, Miss Farnsworth of Valley City, Supt. Weldron of the substation experiment station at Dickinson and the Misses Howe and Smith of this place will be the speakers.

ACCUSED IS PUT THROUGH TEST

Alleged Milwaukee Assailant Made to Step in Suspected Footprints.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 4.—In order to make strong the evidence against John Sopoce, who is charged with criminal assault upon Mrs. William Straka, in North Milwaukee on Saturday night, District Attorney Yockey forced the accused to walk two miles through the mud, fitting his feet to footprints left in the mud by the one who committed the assault. Sopoce's feet and the marks tallied identically, according to the district attorney, and Mr. Yockey, on his return to the city, brought the charge of criminal assault against Sopoce.

The only clews to the assault were a knife, a piece of cloth two inches long and the footprints.

Mrs. Straka is still in a critical condition, having received two knife wounds in the breast.

DIVORCED FROM BARRETT.

Wife of Former Philippine Treasurer Gets Mill City Decree.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 4.—Mrs. Laura H. Barrett was yesterday granted a divorce in the Hennepin county district court from John L. Barrett, former treasurer of the Philippine islands. The Barretts were married, according to the wife's testimony, at Manila March 2, 1904. Barrett is said to be in South Africa and the divorce was granted on the grounds of desertion. C. B. Elliott, formerly a member of the Philippine commission, appeared as attorney for Mrs. Barrett.

BANKER LOSES LIFE.

Ransom, N. D., Man Burned to Death With Bank.

Fargo, N. D., March 4.—Gilbert Jacobson, cashier of the Fort Ransom State bank, in an inland town fifty miles from here, was burned to death Monday when the bank building was burned down. Jacobson was cleaning an ink well with gasoline when an explosion occurred. It was after the closing hours and he was alone in the bank.

His body was recovered by residents of the town who broke down the doors of the bank. All the money and practically all the books were locked in the vaults. Jacobson was 28 years old and leaves a widow and three children.

FARMERS DONATE WHEAT

Many Giving Bushel Each to Aid Agricultural College.

Fargo, N. D., March 4.—The bushel of wheat idea for a boys' dormitory at the North Dakota Agricultural college has received a new impetus and the college officials, from President Worst down have taken up the matter. The plan originated among the students to ask each farmer in the state to contribute one bushel of wheat and as much as he wished. The college has a girls' dormitory but the boys are compelled to secure rooms all over the city and an occasional youth falls under bad influences through lack of proper dormitory privileges. There has been such a demand for other buildings at the college that the legislature has never reached a point where it could find funds to appropriate for this purpose. The alumni are also cooperating with the student body in the movement.

WILLISTON HAS SCANDAL

Sensational Charges Involving Well-Known Men and Girl.

Williston, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city is discussing a scandal that has reached large proportious judging by the charges bandied about and may result in the calling of a grand jury. A girl aged 16 is said to have involved several well known men and if one-half the allegations made are true the investigation being made by the authorities will furnish sensations enough to go around for some time.

HILL WILL SPEAK AT GRAND FORKS

Grand Forks, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—James J. Hill will be the principal speaker at the North Dakota agricultural products dinner which will be given in Grand Forks next Saturday evening.

The plans for the operation of a special train from the Twin Cities to Grand Forks to carry a delegation of about fifty business men have been completed.

FARMER BUYS MORE.

Polk County Soil Titler Pays $75 Per Acre for Land.

Crookston, Minn., March 4.—R. T. Buckler, the well-known farmer southwest of the city, and one of the most successful in Polk county, diversifying widely, and being heavily interested in sheep ,has received the deed for the J. H. Thomas farm, eighty acres adjoining the Buckler farm, for which he paid $75 per acre.

Mr. Buckler has been here for the last ten years.

"There was a time when $75 per acre would have purchased most any farm in this section," said Buckler, "but you can shake $75 per acre under the noses of scores of farmers, yes, hundreds of them, today, and they will laugh at you. I would, and lots of my neighbors would."

ROTHACKER BURIED.

Mother and Son United at Funeral Held at Rochester.

Rochester, Minn., March 4.—The final chapter in the case of Dr. Charles Victor Rothacker was written here when his widow and son, after a separation of years, met at the bier. After two weeks' effort to locate friends or relatives before the burial the funeral was held with interment in the Rochester cemetery.

Through press dispatches announcing the death of Dr. Rothacker here his mother notified the widow who sent word to the son. Mrs. Rothacker, the wife, arrived in Rochester Sunday from Cincinnati and O. Rothacker, the son, arrived from St. Louis.

Dr. Rothacker, it is said, was the son of a German baron whose family was exiled from that country because of a political plot.

GIVES BLOOD, BUT HIS WIFE DIES

Mott, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Not even the transfusion of blod from her husband's arteries could save the life of Mrs. Anton Drescher. She underwent an operation and transfusion was a last resort. This prolonged her life for some time but was unable to restore her strength

BENTLEY, N. D., FOUNDER BLOOD POISON VICTIM

Bentley, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. E. Bentley, founder of this place, is dead as the result of a slight injury to his leg. While handling ice, Mr. Bentley suffered a bruise which gave him very little trouble at the time, but four or five days later became infected. Blood poison set in, and Bentley died ten days after the mishap.

Mr. Bentley was among the prominent pioneer residents of the southwestern section of the state.

PLEASES MARQUETTE.

New Honors Accorded Edward Maney Gives Satisfaction There.

Marquette, Mich., March 4.—Local friends of Edward Maney, a former local resident, who has been made general manager of the Shenango Furnace company on the Mesaba range, succeeding John A. Savage, resigned, are pleased over the announcement from Duluth.

Mr. Maney is a brother of James Maney of Duluth, general passenger agent of the D., S. S. & A. Railway company, and of T. J. Maney of Marquette. Prior to leaving Marquette Mr. Maney was employed in the South Shore offices.

MAAS MINER KILLED.

John Juhula Smothered By Quicksand in Michigan Property.

Negaunee, Mich., March 4.—John Juhula, a miner, was instantly killed at the Maas mine Sunday by a cave-in of quicksand. Juhula, with five other miners, was working on a sub-level sixty feet below the first level. They had received a warning that the sand was flowing through the mine and had climbed a ladder up through a raise onto the first level.

When the rush of sand came down the raise he was swept from the ladder and he was quickly covered with the sand.

Juhula was well known among the Finnish residents of the city, he having lived here for the past twenty years. During the summer months he usually worked on his farm north of Teal lake. He was 36 years old and is survived by his widow and six children.

DRUGGIST IS STUNG.

Gives Mill City Man Wrong Prescription and Jury Awards $4,000.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 4.—A jury in district court yesterday returned a verdict awarding Samuel Dahl $4,000 damages from Joseph J. Meurer, proprietor of a pharmacy, at which store Dahl was given a box of bichloride of mercury tablets by mistake in filling a prescription. Testimony showed that Dahl had taken a prescription calling for a medicine that would be dissolved in a tumbler of water to the drug store and that bichloride tablets were given instead. Dahl took two of them and became violently ill. Upon his recovery he entered suit against Meurer.

CROSBY'S ELECTION IS GETTING WARM

Crosby, Minn., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The election to be held here March 10 is the chief topic of conversation because of the license issue. The question of license or no license is to be put straight up to the voters and all kinds of political deals are expected to be made by the advocates of the "dry" and the "wet" system.

It is the hottest campaign this young place has ever experienced.

WADENA SCHOOL CHANGES.

Wadena, Minn., March 4.—Superintendent E. T. Carroll, for twelve years superintendent of schools, resigned because of differences of opinioh with the board. Simultaneously with his resignation came the resignation of Miss Cecilia Busness, teacher of the eighth grade and high school. L. T. Bunker of Clinton, Wis., has arrived to take Carroll's place, and C. G. Fisher of Barretson, N. D., will succeed Miss Busness.

Child Fatally Scalded.

Schafer, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The injuries to the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odin Wandahl proved fatal after the child suffered extreme torture for a number of days. The baby upset a kettle of boiling water onto her legs taking off all the skin.

Goes to N. Y. Paper.

Valley City, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Professor Charlton Andrews, for several years a member of the Valley City normal school faculty, has left for New York city to be an editorial writer on the New York Tribune.

Mayor to Get Salary.

Jamestown, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council refused to abolish the salary of the mayor, as recommended by that official, the ordinance proposing the repeal of the salary law being defeated. Under the law, the mayor receives $60 a month.

Minister Killed by Auto.

Worthington, Minn., March 4.—Crushed under the weight of an automobile that he had jacked up, when supports gave way, Rev. M. C. Aldich, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Reading, near here, lost his life while underneath the car.

He was able to send his little son, the only person near, for Mrs. Aldich, but when she arrived she found her husband dead.

Boy's Death Natural.

Williston, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Investigation of the death of Vernon Skogen, aged 13, who was found dead at the home of his grandmother in this city, showed that death was from natural causes. On the request of parties residing in the district, the county authorities made a probe.

Burned With Home.

Belle Fourche, S. D., March 4.—L. A. Bradley, 70 years of age, was burned to death when his home, five miles east of Spearfish, was destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is not known, but it is thought Bradley, while retiring, overturned a lamp and was suffocated.

Released on Bail.

Mandan, N. D., March 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the cash bail of $2,400, put up by his mother, C. E. McCullough, alleged cattle rustler, was released. John Geyer and A. C. McGregor, alleged accomplices of McCullough, are in jail, being unable to obtain a bail.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—Graduates of the Fargo college who wish to teach will be able to do so in either of the Dakotas, Minnesota or Montana without a special examination, as a result of recent changes in the courses of study to conform to the plan agreed upon by the high school boards of the four states. As many of the graduates are planning to take up teaching the change will be highly beneficial to them.

Send Name and Address Today ---You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

We have in our possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that we think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So we have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write us for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and we are convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

We think we owe it to our fellow men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what we believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop us a line like this: Interstate Remedy company, 4671 Goodyear Building, Detroit, Mich., and we will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this —but we send it entirely free.

WHEAT FIRM AT CLOSE

Market Finishes Strong With News of Local Export Trade.

Flaxseed Rallies After a Sharp Early Break on Liberal Support.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 4.—The market was firm at the close with export business in No. 1 northern wheat for spring delivery reported locally. May wheat closed ⅜c off and July ¼c off. May durum closed ⅛c off and July ⅜c off. Oats closed unchanged at 38@38½c. Rye closed ½c off at 56@56½c for the best grades and barley unchanged at from 44 to 66c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 37¼@37¼c bid and July at 38½c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90½@90⅝c and calls at 91c.

Heavier receipts and lower Liverpool and European cables, were responsible for further weakness in the American grain markets today. Declines of ⅝c came locally around the opening, and quotations then rested there during the first three hours trading.

Outside of sales of hard winter wheat at Kansas City and at Chicago, affected on the break, no export business was reported. Advices from New York were to the effect that cables were below the working point. Foreigners having bought heavily last week, were thought to be out of the market for the time being.

Receipts at Minneapolis today amounted to 374 cars against 301 cars last year, and as a result of the liberal arrivals during the last week, stocks there showed an increase of 475,000 bu during the last four days. At Winnipeg receipts were 114 cars against 352 cars last year and at Chicago they came to 83 cars, compared with 40 a year ago. Receipts here were 25 cars against 78 last year, and there were on the tracks for the day 68 cars of all grains.

Armour was reported to be a moderate seller at Chicago, and with the general selling pressure, the quotation on the May option there showed a decline of ⅝c. Minneapolis was off ½c and Winnipeg ⅜c.

Fragments of bullish news in the day came in a cable from Buenos Aires, placing the Argentine exportable wheat surplus at only 47,187,500 bu. News from over the winter wheat territory hinted at possible damage to the plant in some sections owing to alternate thawing out and freezing. Generally speaking though the crop prospects are regarded by experts as unusually favorable.

May wheat opened ¼c off at 92¼c and it declined ¼c more up to the final hour. The July option opened ½c off at 93¼c and it weakened ⅛c more. May durum opened ⅜c off at 92c and it declined ¼c further.

Flaxseed Rallies Sharply.

The market in flaxseed was decidedly on the erratic order. It opened weak with a large number of country-selling orders in hand for execution. On top of that a lot of seed was dumped by an individual operator, bringing about an extreme decline of 13⅛c in the May option to $1.56. At that point another trader stepped into the gap and the quotation was lifted to yesterday's closing figure. It is estimated that 75,000 bu changed hands around the low points. The close was unchanged.

There was no special news out other than that too large a following had dragged in behind the bull band wagon and that a shakeout was due.

May flax opened ⅛c up at $1.57½, and after selling down to $1.56, it closed at $1.57⅝. The July option opened unchanged at $1.59¼ and closed at $1.59½ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.37⅜ bid and July at $1.39⅝ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The Minneapolis cash market was steady with some improvement noted in the demand. One northern blue stem sold at ½@2c over, and velvet chaff at ½@1c over. Flour sales continued limited to small scattered lots for nearby shipment. Cash one northern wheat sold there at from 91c to 92½c and No. 2 northern at from 88½c to 90½c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The weakness in America yesterday and continued favorable reports from the American winter wheat territory, and expectations of liberal reserves, caused realizing at the opening and prices were ⅝@⅝d lower, with the principal weakness in July. Plate offers are cheaper and the demand from the continent showed paucity. Europe crop advices are generally favorable and it is considered that they are holding good reserves. Following the opening there was dullness with the tendency lower and an additional decline of ⅛d occurred in May. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was easy, ½d to ⅝d lower.

"Corn opened ¼d lower and later further declined ⅛@¼d with a disappointing spot demand, larger tenders than expected and cheaper Plate offers with easy American cables. Argentine weather continues favorable for the movement of wheat and the development and gathering of corn. Free contracts have been made for early shipment."

Australia reported further buying of wheat by Japan. The amount is estimated at 1,600,000 bu.

The Danube corn crop is estimated at 150,000,000 bu, of which 13,000,000 bu has already been exported. It is conceded that the minimum amount still available for export is 64,000,000 bu.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "It was the gossip of the wheat trade last night that unless news of a radically bullish kind is forthcoming, or the export demand revived, prices were to see a lower level, and at the same time July was to gradually close its discount under May. The trade seemed to be impressed with the belief that some strong interest is gradually getting out of its line, and it is believed that the outside buying power has been filled up for the time being. Bulls regarded the setback as only temporary and looked for good buying power to develop on any break to around 93c."

* * *

Price Current said: "Soft weather the latter part of last week over the winter belt, followed by a sudden descent of a cold wave, has put the plant in jeopardy, and in some sections this follows a similar condition in the fore part of the week previous. Complaints of damage to growing grain thus far, however, have been few. The damage is very small and the percentage growth condition was approximately perfect as at March 1. In Ohio and Indiana the percentage is above normal. Texas reports the abandonment of some winter-sown oats, and some fears are expressed of the wheat not getting an early start on account of the bad weather. February damage, on the whole, was less than usual, and the injury, if any, to the plant will have to develop this month. Hogs slaughtered in the West for the week ending Feb. 28 were 468,000 compared with 481,000 for the preceding week and 517,000 last year."

The September wheat option was quoted for the first time at Duluth today at 88½c bid.

In 1913 the estimated total value of the Canadian wheat yield, according to official figures from Ottawa, was $156,462,000, that of oats $128,893,000, while hay and clover ranked third at $124,696,000. In 1911 the total value of hay and clover was $162,846,000, while that of wheat was only $148,846,000 and oats $132,949,000. In 1912 hay and clover took second place only to wheat.

World's wheat shipments since July 1 last have already exceeded the record-breaking total of the previous year by about 15,000,000 bu and 87,000,000 bu over two years before. This has been done without casting as heavily on Russia as had been anticipated in view of the enormous crop that has been claimed for that country. It is expected that the Russian shipments will be large with the opening of navigation, but it is thought possible that there may be sufficient crop damage by that time to cause some postponement.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Lacks Support With Good Weather and Weak Cables.

Chicago, March 4.—Weak cables and auspicious weather combined today in depriving wheat of support. Rumors of sales for export at Kansas City had little effect. The opening was ⅛c to ¼@⅜c lower, and there was a subsequent additional sag.

Reduced estimates of the export surplus in Australia and Argentina helped to steady the market. The close was firm at ⅛c to ⅜c net decline.

Corn eased off with wheat and on selling credited to the leading bull interest. Prices started a shade to ¼c off and made a slight further drop.

Scantiness of offerings at country stations tended to bring about a rally. The close was steady at the same as last night to ¼@¼c off.

In the oats crowd the governing influence was the depression of other cereals. Trade reached a fair volume. Buying on the part of shorts and packers gave firmness to provisions. Although sales at the outset varied from 2½c lower to 5c advance, the market later hardened all around.

FURTHER RALLY IN MINING STOCKS

Further all-round improvement in mining stocks was reported at Boston today. Substantial buying developed and quotations were carried to above yesterday's levels as a rule.

Butte & Superior was a feature, closing 59 cents up at $35.75. There was good demand for Franklin and it advanced 50 cents to $6.50. Granby closed 50 cents up at $85; Alaska Gold 63 cents up at $22.12; Calumet & Arizona unchanged at $67.50, and Amalgamated Copper $1 up at $74.75.

In the Duluth curb list, Calumet & Corbin remained firm, selling at 26 cents. Carman sold at 27@28c.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Shorts Seeking to Cover Compelled to Raise Bids Sharply.

Steel Trade Reviews Favorable and Market Closes Strong.

New York, March 4.—Execution of moderate buying orders today caused prices to advance so quickly as to indicate a scarcity of stocks. Shorts who attempted to cover were compelled to raise their bids sharply. Although the pace slackened after the most pressing requirements of the shorts had been filled, quotations held up well to the high level. United States Steel and the stocks of independent steel companies were prominent in the trading. Sentiment toward these shares was influenced by the good showing made by Bethlehem Steel in its annual report. For the first time in several days this market was freed from foreign pressure. Prices for Americans in London were little changed and European selling here was suspended.

Bonds were irregular.

Trading began more actively today than on the early days of the week. The leading stocks were in fairly good demand, although fluctuations with few exceptions were small. American Woolen, influenced by the poor annual report, lost a point. General Motors and St. Louis & San Francisco first preferred advanced 1.

Bull operators took an aggressive attitude and raised prices of the influential stocks a point or so. Steel was bought in blocks of 1,000 shares and upward. New Haven sold down to 65¼, a new low figure, but afterward rose smartly.

Buyers were intimidated by liquidation in the sugar stocks which were sold because of the new tariff schedules. Beet Sugar lost an early rise of a point and as much more. American Sugar scored a similar decline.

Professional traders sold a little stock, but failed to uncover weak spots. New points of strength appeared in the industrial section. Central Leather gained 1½.

The market closed strong. Fresh buying appeared on fractional declines and the list became more active, higher and broader. Favorable steel trade reviews caused a large absorption of the stocks of Steel and related industries.

SECRETARIES NOT INCLUDED

The majority of the members of the city council are opposed to having secretaries come under the civil service regulations.

Commissioners Merritt, Hicken and Murchison so expressed themselves at an informal meeting in the mayor's office this morning. Mayor Prince and Commissioner Voss believed that they should be governed by civil service as well as other city employes not excepted by the city charter.

"We should do all in our power to support the civil service commission and to secure civil service in Duluth—in fact as well as in name," said the mayor. Secretaries are public employes as well as others. They handle public business and are paid by the city. I see no reason for not including them in the civil service."

The others asserted that the secretaries were acting in a confidential capacity and should not be under the civil service. They maintained that because of the peculiar nature of the duties of secretaries, the commissioners should be free to make their own selections.

City Attorney Harvey Clapp said that on the face of the charter, secretaries would probably come under civil service. But he was inclined to agree with the commissioners who do not want secretaries to come under civil service. He took the position that their duties are not of what he termed a 'competitive" nature, being in a class by themselves, and didn't think that the charter contemplated including secretaries in civil service.

In order that the civil service commission may have a definite

Sale of School and Other State Lands

State of Minnesota, State Auditor's Office.
St. Paul, March 2, 1914.

Notice is hereby given that on April 15, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the state of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1st, 1915, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year; provided, the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at the time of sale. Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority. Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

D. H., March 4, 11, 18, 25, 1914.

Read The Herald Wants

"Ich Dien"

The motto "I serve" on the feathered crest of the Prince of Wales might well be taken as the motto of good newspaper advertising.

It is the most faithful of public servants and the most generous.

It rewards the man who writes and the man who reads.

It brings buyers and sellers together in transactions of mutual pleasure and profit.

It keeps the wheels turning and the pay envelope full.

It saves time and saves money.

It speaks directly and to the point.

It brings its message to the home and the fireside.

Let the winged words of the world's work as they appear daily in the advertising columns of The Herald SERVE YOU.

CARRANZA MEN BEGIN INQUIRY INTO BENTON AND BAUCH AFFAIRS

Will Make No Examination of Body of Briton.

Anglo-American Commission Awaits Word From Washington.

British Admiral Cradock Says "England Cannot Intervene."

$500,000 OR DEATH.

El Paso, Tex., March 5.—Luis Terrazas, Jr., who for many months has been held a prisoner by the rebels at Chihuahua pending negotiations for ransom, has until tomorrow to pay $500,000 to Gen. Francisco Villa under pain of death.

El Paso, Tex., March 5.—Examination into the execution by Gen. Villa of William S. Benton, the British subject, and into the disappearance of Gustav Bauch, the German-American, was begun at Juarez today by the Mexican commission appointed by Gen. Carranza, chief of the Constitutionalists.

The commission will endeavor to ascertain whether the arrest and conviction of Benton was made according to due form of law and justice. It is not expected that an examination will be made of the Briton's body.

An attempt will be made by the Mexican commissioners to learn whether Bauch was executed or whether he still is alive. If alive, an attempt will be made to learn his whereabouts.

Wait for Orders.

The Anglo-American commission still was awaiting instructions from Washington.

Headquarters of the Constitutionalist government was established today across the river at Juarez. Seventy men, heads of departments, clerks and secretaries, brought with them a carload of official papers of the rebel government. Gen. Carranza and the members of his cabinet were expected to leave Nogales for Juarez some time today. They will make the journey overland and will have an escort of 2,000 men, as the territory to be traversed is infested by Federal filibusters.

Carranza Leaves Nogales.

Nogales, Sonora, Mex., March 5.—Gen. Carranza, with his staff of officers and a heavy guard of troops, left today on a train for Naco, Sonora. From that point the Constitutionalist commander-in-chief will ride into Chihuahua, probably touching at Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz., and arrive at Casas Grandes on the railroad southwest of Juarez.

SIX MONTHS FOR "HANDSOME WIDOW"

Husband Already Is in Jail as Partner in Frauds.

New Haven, Conn., March 5.—Mrs. Addie Jewell, whose various advertisements as "a handsome widow in search of a housekeeper's position," netted her a considerable income, pleaded guilty of using the mails to defraud in the Federal court today and was sentenced to six months in jail. Her husband is serving a sentence as an accomplice.

SPARK LIGHTS FUMES; PAINTERS BURNED

Sponges Used to Protect Nostrils Take Fire in Explosion.

St. Louis, Mo., March 5.—John Cannapell and Robert Karbowski went into a large beer vat in a local brewery today to varnish the interior. They wore sponges to protect their mouths and nostrils from the fumes of alcohol in the varnish.

One of the men took hold of an electric light in the vat, and accidentally broke the cord. The broken ends came together, and the resulting spark ignited the alcohol fumes. An explosion followed and the sponges caught fire. The men were found unconscious in the bottom of the vat, seriously burned.

WILL LET UNIONS USE THE SCHOOLS

Pittsburg, Pa., March 5.—Union labor organizations back of the movement to establish co-operative stores in Pittsburg in the hope of reducing the cost of living today were notified by C. L. Wooldridge, superintendent of public school buildings, that they could use school property for moving picture exhibitions to arouse interest in the project. The exhibitions are to be free and given in sections of the city where the cost of living is most severely felt.

AVALANCHE KILLS SEVENTEEN SOLDIERS.

Vienna, Austria, March 5.—Seventeen soldiers of the emperor's rifle regiment were killed today by an avalanche. They were engaged in maneuvers on the Ortler mountain in the Tyrol.

ONE OF HUERTA'S CLOSEST ADVISERS

FLORES MAGON.

Vera Cruz, March 5.—Flores Magon is one of Huerta's intimate advisers. It was he who represented Huerta recently in a conference with John Lind, the special envoy of President Wilson.

DENY CHARGE OF PEONAGE

Witnesses for Copper Mine Operators Testify at Houghton.

Congressmen Are Told Stories of Low Wages Were False.

Houghton, Mich., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Further testimony and evidence intended to disprove charges made by the strikers was introduced today by attorneys for the operators at the hearing before the house committee which is investigating the copper miners' strike.

At yesterday's hearing representatives of the mining companies produced figures from their books to show that the wages paid to mine workers were much better than represented by the strikers.

Bunkhouses were guarded to protect non-union men from strikers and not to restrict the liberty of imported strike-breakers, said Ocha Potter, superintendent of Superior mine, testifying before the congressional investigators today. Potter brought about 1,700 men into the Copper country since the strike, and also was charged with the housing of the newcomers.

"I did not receive a single complaint from any of the men that they were detained against their will," said the witness.

Trains Were Shot Up.

Incoming trains bearing strike-breakers were attacked and shot up on several occasions, Potter testified, and once an attempt was made to dynamite a train.

Describing events of the first days of the strike, Potter said a crowd of about 400 men came to Superior mine, derailed cars and stopped the pumps. The strikers ordered Potter to his home, three men who announced them-

WHITEMAN FREED ON PROMISE TO REPAY

Zion City Authorities Will Drop Swindling Charge.

Zion City, Ill., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alonzo J. Whiteman, brought back here from Arkansas to face a charge of swindling, is free again. At a conference with the authorities of Zion City, who made the charge against him, the former Minnesotan promised to repay the $2,500 he is said to have obtained from a Zion City woman, and with this understanding he was allowed to go.

POST'S TRAIN MAKES 79 MILES AN HOUR.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 5.—The special train in which C. W. Post is racing from California to Rochester, Minn., to submit to an imperative major operation, overtook the eastbound Santa Fe de Luxe at Las Vegas, N. M., at 2 o'cock this morning. Breakfast had been prepared in advance at La Junta, where a stop was made to change locomotives at 8 o'clock. A race down hill across the Kansas prairies was then begun.

An average of seventy-nine miles an hour has been maintained since leaving Los Angeles.

Dr. F. W. Leslie of Battle Creek, Mich., said here that Mr. Post's condition was not dangerous. He had not been confined to his berth all day, but had returned to bed when the train reached here. Dr. Leslie said he did not know whether the millionaire would have to undergo an operation when he reached Rochester, Minn. He was confident Mr. Post would survive the trip. The train remained here ten minutes.

ELLIS' CASE IS WITH JURY

Many Women See Prisoner Nearly Faint During Arraignment.

Canadian Sends Long Telegram Denying He Knew Mrs. Ellis.

Chicago, March 5.—The case of the state against William Cheney Ellis of Cincinnati, charged with murdering his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Hosea Ellis, in a Chicago hotel last October, went to the jury today after a brief final argument by Prosecutor Malato.

Ellis was brought in pale and weak, after a bad night. He showed signs of faintness during the demand of Malato that the jury condemn him to death.

One of the jurors suffered a dizzy spell at the end of Malato's argument, but was restored in a few moments.

Many Women in Court.

Desire to hear the final arraignment of Ellis caused the corridors leading to the courtroom today to be packed with a throng which included a large number of fashionably dressed women. Every seat in the courtroom was taken as Prosecutor Malato began his last attack on the defense's insanity plea.

Six forms of verdict were prepared to be given to the jury when it retired. They were:

Guilty, with the death penalty.

Guilty of murder with imprisonment for not less than fourteen years.

That the act was committed while Ellis was insane and that he still is insane.

That the act was committed while Ellis was insane but that he now is sane.

Not guilty.

Demanded Death Penalty.

Malato's final address was brief. He brought it to a close with a final demand that the death penalty be inflicted on Ellis, who, he declared, was in a fully responsible condition when he committed the crime.

Judge Petit at once began to read his instructions to the jury.

CURLEY CUTS PAY OF BOSTON FIREMEN

New Mayor Also Makes Other Moves to Save Money.

Boston, Mass., March 5.—In furtherance of plans to reduce city expenses, Mayor Curley has restored the salaries of many members of the fire department to their basis before they were increased by Former Mayor Fitzgerald. All except the "privates" in the department were affected, and the total reduction amounts to $65,000 a year.

The mayor will try to secure a similar cut in salaries in the police department.

One hundred "gentlemen employes" of Boston have been ordered to do road construction work by Mayor Curley "as a beneficial spring exercise." At the same time the mayor dropped from the payrolls eleven gymnasium pianists and discharged sixty-three men in the public works department. This saving on salaries will total $76,000 a year.

The mayor also plans to save $750,000 a year by having the city pay its bills promptly and thus take advantage of trade discounts.

RIO JANEIRO IS IN STATE OF SIEGE AS RESULT OF REVOLT

Racial Differences Are Said to Be Cause of Uprising.

Martial Law Proclaimed in Nictheroy and Petropolis.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, March 5.—A state of siege was proclaimed in Rio Janeiro, Brazil, today, according to dispatches reaching here from that city.

It is understood here that a strict censorship has been imposed on dispatches from Brazil.

Reports have been current for some time that a revolutionary movement was in existence in the Brazilian states of Pernambuco, Ceara and Para, and that fighting was in progress between the local forces and the government authorities.

The causes of the dissatisfaction were said to have been racial differences. In the last week of February a body of fanatics was reported to be marching on Rio Janeiro.

The situation in the various states, especially in Ceara, was reported as becoming worse. Business was virtually suspended in several states, chiefly those where the negro population was very numerous.

The state of Ceara at the last census had a population of about 850,000, Para 450,000 and Pernambuco 1,200,000.

Martial Law Proclaimed.

London, March 5.—Confirmation of the report that a state of siege had been proclaimed in Rio Janeiro was received here from that city today. Martial law has been proclaimed in Nictheroy, five miles east of the capital, and in Petropolis, capital of the state of Rio Janeiro.

No News at New York.

New York, March 5.—No members of the New York coffee exchange had received any direct information this forenoon regarding the reported outbreak at Rio Janeiro. Coffee receipts

WANTS BOIES PENROSE'S SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

VANCE McCORMICK.

Philadelphia, March 5.—Opposed to Michael J. Ryan, city solicitor of Philadelphia, for the Democratic nomination for senator from Pennsylvania to succeed Boies Penrose, Republican, is Vance McCormick, who is said to have the backing of President Wilson. It is thought the Democratic nominee will stand a good chance of election, as the Bull Moosers will nominate Gifford Pinchot against Penrose.

BROTHERS IN NORWAY WILL GET $100,000

Had Not Seen Iowa Man in Thirty-Five Years.

Lansing, Iowa, March 5.—Andrew Idick, well-to-do money lender, who died here yesterday, leaves a fortune of $100,000 to two brothers in Norway whom he has not seen in thirty-five years, according to the will filed today. Mr. Idick came to this country in 1879 and had not since met his relatives. With the recent death of his immediate family, his brothers, whom he has not seen since children, come into an unexpected windfall.

APPEAL IS FILED FOR MRS. BUFFUM.

Fairbanks, Alaska, March 5.—An earthquake lasting several seconds was felt here at 8:55 Tuesday night.

IVERSON NOT TO BE ELIMINATED

Will Remain Candidate Regardless of Action By the Conference.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—No matter whom the Republican "elimination conference" at Minneapolis, March 19, indorses as a candidate against Governor Eberhart for the nomination, the others will not be eliminated. This was made plain today when State Auditor S. G. Iverson gave out copies of a letter he has written to W. E. Lee of Long Prairie, declaring he will remain a candidate and conduct an active campaign, regardless of any recommendation the conference may make.

Mr. Iverson's announcement is prompted by the attack made upon him by James A. Peterson of Minneapolis, who declared Iverson was a machine man and that he (Peterson) would not abide by the action of the proposed conference if it indorsed Iverson for governor.

Lee in published statements has promised to abide by the action of the conference.

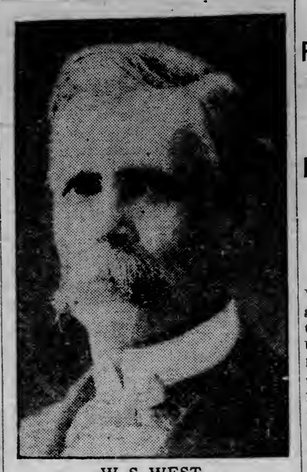
"REPEAL CANAL TOLLS EXEMPTION ACT," SAYS WILSON TO CONGRESS

WILL TAKE BACON'S SEAT IN SENATE



W. S. WEST.

Atlanta, Ga., March 5.—W. S. West of Valdosta, Ga., has been named by the governor to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Bacon at Washington. He was formerly president of the Georgia senate. There will be a primary in August and an election in October.

Urges National Honor and Common Honesty as Reasons.

President Personally Addresses Both Houses of Congress.

Finishes Talk Before Crowd in Galleries Realizes He Has Begun.

Washington, March 5.—President Wilson personally appealed to congress, assembled in joint session today, to sustain the national honor of the United States, in upholding treaty obligations by repealing the Panama tolls exemption against which Great Britain protests. He asked congress to do that "in support of the foreign policy of the administration," and added that an exemption for American ships not only was a "mistaken economic policy," but was in contravention of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

"I shall not know how to deal with other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence, if you do not grant it to me in ungrudging measure," the president said.

"The large thing to do is the only thing we can afford to do; a voluntary withdrawal from a position everywhere questioned and misunderstood. We ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong, and so once more deserve our reputation for generosity and the redemption of every obligation without quibble or hesitation."

President Wilson's address, the shortest he has yet delivered to congress—exactly 420 words—was as follows:

The President's Address.

"Gentlemen of the Congress: I have come to you upon an errand which can be very briefly performed, but I beg that you will not measure its im-

DRAKE FLAYS GRAIN TRADE

House Committee Will Decide Saturday Whether to Order Inquiry.

Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce Is Center of Day's Attack.

Washington, March 5.—Further testimony charging the Chicago, Duluth and Minneapolis grain exchanges with being combinations in violation of the anti-trust laws, was taken today before the house rules committee, which agreed to decide Saturday whether to provide the congressional investigation asked by Representative Manahan's resolution. It is now proposed to broaden the inquiry to investigate speculative transactions of the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges.

Officials of the grain exchange were to be heard later today and tomorrow.

Benjamin Drake of Minneapolis today continued his charges that the Minneapolis chamber of commerce is a private monopoly controlled by elevator operators and conducted in opposition to the interests of wheat growers.

Drake described methods of the chamber, which he said were calculated to crush competition.

Farmers Held Back By Banks.

Farmers' elevators were denied accommodation by the banks and forced to deal with the commission houses, Drake said. He charged that the Minneapolis chamber maintained a "concerted boycott" against the Equity Co-Operative Exchange grain, and had not bought a kernel of that grain for months. He put into the record a letter from Secretary McHugh of the

BISHOP LAWLER IS RECEIVED BY POPE

Pontiff Says It Is Long Since He Saw John Ireland.

Rome, March 5.—Rt. Rev. John J. Lawler, auxiliary bishop of St. Paul, Minn., was received by the pope today. His holiness spoke lengthily about the affairs of the archdiocese, and in referring to Archbishop Ireland, remarked that it was a long time since he had seen him. He sent the apostolic blessing to the archdiocese.

LIND MAY GET MOORE'S PLACE

Minnesotan Is Suggested for State Department Counsellor.

Retiring Official Expresses Readiness to Aid Administration.

Washington, March 5.—John Bassett Moore's resignation was effective today, and the state department was without a counsellor. Mr. Moore prepared to take up his work for the Carnegie endowment for international peace, and later to resume his place as head of the department of international law at Columbia university.

Discussion of possible successors continued without any announcement of a selection. Hannis Taylor, former minister to Spain; John Lind, now the president's personal representative in Mexico, and Henry White, former ambassador to France, were being mentioned.

Letter With Resignation.

Mr. Moore's letter accompanying his resignation; under date of Feb. 2, read:

"My dear president—In resigning the office of counsellor for the department of state, it is proper to recall the fact that I indicated at the outset that my tenure was only provisional, my sole motive in accepting the place being to render to your administration such service as might be possible in a period of transition. This design is now fulfilled. My first term of departmental service, which was followed by special service abroad, lasted barely five months. My present term will, on the day on which my resignation is to take effect, have lasted more than ten months, while a full year will have elapsed since the close of the last administration. Ample opportunity having thus been afforded effective organization of the department's force, the duty which I took upon myself has been fully performed.

"Permit me to assure you that I shall always stand ready to serve you as far as may be practicable in any

HEIRS TO MILLIONS NOT IN DULUTH

Sons Named in Appleby Will as Duluthians Not Known Here.

A dispatch received this morning from Meredith, N. H., states that a Mr. Appleby, who died there has left $3,000,000 to a wife and sons supposed to be living in Duluth, but it is not believed that the heirs of the millionaire are now living in this city.

But two Applebys are reported in the city directory and they are William H. and Charles H., who are brothers, and who are in the contracting business. They have both lived in Duluth about twenty years, but declare they are not related to the Appleby who died at Meredith.

Charles H. Appleby said this morning that his father died about five years ago at Barrie, Ont., where his aged mother now resides. He has no relatives in New Hampshire, he said.

RIOT AGAIN HALTS AUSTRIAN PARLIAMENT.

Vienna, March 5.—The lower house of the Austrian parliament, whose sessions were suspended Jan. 30 owing to the violent obstruction of the Czech deputies, reassembled today, but again was brought to an abrupt stop by the tumult raised by the opposition members.

The obstruction of the Czech deputies was brought about by the attitude adopted by the government in the settlement of German and Czech differences in Bohemia, which the Czechs regard as unduly favoring the Germans.

CHANCES ARE FIVE TO ONE

Out of Every Six Weddings in County One Divorce Results.

1,203 Marriage Licenses Last Year and 191 Divorce Cases.

Out of every six ships which set sail on a calm sea of matrimony, one is doomed to fetch up on the rocks of despair or flounder in stormy and troubled waters.

At least this is the way that it works out in Duluth and St. Louis county, where divorce courts are always busy correcting the mistakes of the little blind god.

During certain periods of the year—at the opening of every term of court—the divorce court and the marriage license counter vie with each other for first honors.

Records of the district court show that during the year 1913 the number of marriage licenses taken out in Duluth was 1,203 and that during the same period 191 applications for divorce were filed with the court. The proportion is about one divorce for every six weddings.

While figures never lie, they are sometimes deceiving. Although 1,203 wedding permits were taken out in Duluth last year, it must be remembered that a fair percentage of the matrimonial aspirants were from outside places. Duluth, for years, has been the Gretna Green for Superior and Wisconsin couples.

Divorce applicants, on the other hand, must be residents of the county for more than one year in most cases. Statistics for St. Louis county show that 100 marriage licenses are issued, on an average, every month and that during the same period sixteen divorces are applied for.

COLDLY POLITE; WIFE THE SAME

Mr. Speer Welcome to the Clothes He Needed in Jail.

"Mrs. Speer, will you please give my clothes to Jean Watt?"

"Certainly, Mr. Speer."

And thus ended the court proceedings against Edward B. Speer, colored, who was tried this morning on a charge of having assaulted his wife at their home, 617 Fifth avenue east, early yesterday morning. He was found guilty by Judge Cutting and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs or serve sixty days in the county jail.

Immediately following the trial several colored friends of Speer stepped up and offered to pay his fine. He refused, however, declaring that he was going to serve the entire time, just to show his wife that she was sending him to jail by false statements to the court. All he wanted of his friends was his clothes. So he asked "Jean," the shoe shiner, to go up to his home and get his clothes.

And then turning to his wife, in a tone of exaggerated politeness, he asked for his clothes. And she, right back, just as politely, said she would certainly give Mr. Watt the clothes.

This dialogue brought a burst of laughter from the courtroom.

SETS HEARING DATE.

Amatuzio Estate Will Be Distributed After April 11.

Judge Dancer has set April 11 as the date for the final hearing on the matter of final distribution of the $3,000 wrongful death fund collected for the estate of Donato Amatuzio, who was asphyxiated while in the employ of the Zenith Furnace company a few months ago.

The money was collected from the company by Anatonio Amatuzio, widow and administratrix, for the benefit of herself and her four children. In her petition for final distribution filed yesterday in district court, the widow asks that $1,000 be deducted for attorneys' fees and expenses.

Another Tango Contest.

Another tango contest, open to all residents of Duluth, will be held tomorrow evening at the Empress theater.

The Empress theater management announced this morning that prizes aggregating $25 would be given away to the best tango dancers competing in the contest, which will be held immediately following the first show.

The first contest, which was a distinct novelty to Duluthians, was held the first half of last week and created much interest throughout the city.

James Allen will be in charge of the contest tomorrow evening.

WOULD PURCHASE NEW QUARTERS

West Duluth Citizens Want New Fire and Police Building.

An effort to have the city secure another location for the fire department at West Duluth, which will be located near the corner of Fifty-seventh and Grand avenues, will be made by members of the West Duluth Commercial club. It is proposed to have the Canadian Northern take over the building which is at present used by the department and from the proceeds purchase the other site.

The new building could be used for both the fire and police department and in addition could provide courtrooms for the West Duluth branch of the municipal court, say those back of the movement. At present the city is paying $30 per month for rent for the courtroom used at the Commercial club building.

It is claimed that since the railroad has begun operating its trains along side of the present fire hall that the jar of the moving trains has weakened the building and that something will have to be done in the near future to make it safe. Men who have estimated the cost of this improvement state that for a small sum additional a new location could be secured and a new building could be erected.

IMPERILS LIVES OF CHILDREN

Subway Under Canadian Northern Tracks Sought By Residents.

People who reside north of Grand avenue on Sixtieth and Sixty-first avenues, whose children attend the Longfellow school, are looking forward to the time when a subway will be provided under the Canadian Northern railroad tracks at Sixtieth and Sixty-first avenues. The children have to cross these tracks four times a day to attend school, and it is claimed that on several occasions there have been narrow escapes from accidents.

Nearly 200 children live south of the railroad tracks, according to teachers at the institution. Most of these, it is said, cross the tracks at Sixtieth avenue. At this point the street level has been raised about twelve feet, making it necessary for the children to climb an embankment to get over the tracks going to and from the school.

The residents claim that one of the provisions of the company's franchise is that there should be a passage way for the public under the tracks at this point. Residents of the district intend asking the city attorney to look up this feature of the franchise and to have some steps taken at once to have it carried out.

"There is no sense in waiting until a fatal accident takes place," said one of the residents this morning. "Because none has taken place as yet has been simply a matter of luck. Let us have the underground passage before one does happen.

JUDSON RINK WINS TROPHY

The Judson rink, also known as the "horse shoe" rink, concluded the first trophy event at the Western Curling club last night by defeating the Ilits rink in the finals of the Bagley event by a score of 9 to 7. The contest was hard fought by both rinks, with the winners holding the lead from the start.

The members of the winning rink are: Dr. E. W. Boerner, lead; Ed Gustafson, second; E. G. Kriedler, third, and Dr. W. E. Judson, skip.

Finals will be played tonight in the Union Match event between the Wade and Olson rinks. Zauft and Quinn will meet in the semi-finals of the Commercial Club event. The finals in the Henricksen event will be played between Evered and Judson tomorrow evening.

SAVINGS AVERAGE NEARLY $100 WEEKLY.

Deposits averaging close to $100 weekly are being made by the children of the Irving school. Since the beginning of the school year last fall nearly $2,000 has been put in the bank by the children.

This morning the amount deposited was $87.13. Nearly every child in the school has a small account.

Foubister Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Josephine Foubister, 22 years old, who died yesterday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gagne of Albion street, will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning from the French Catholic church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

OBITUARY

Frank O. Gold, connected with banking interests in Minnesota, Illinois and the Dakotas, died March 3 at his home in Minneapolis. He had been ill for a month with heart disease. He was 59 years old.

Mr. Gold was a member of the Gold-Stabeck Loan & Credit company of Minneapolis, which operates banks throughout the Northwest. He was also interested in the grain business. He was an active members of the Wesleyan Methodist church. He was born in Bethlehem, Pa., and came to Minnesota twenty-five years ago. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Roy F. and Miner B. Gold of Minneapolis.

Dr. Charles Hill, one of the oldest physicians in the state, and one of the organizers of the Minnesota Medical society, is dead at his home in Pine Island, as the result of a short illness with pneumonia.

Dr. Hill was father of Frank D. Hill, American consul general at Frankfort-on-Main, Germany, who died last May. Dr. Hill is survived by a son, Charles, who lives in Pine Island. His wife died two years ago.

The elder Dr. Mayo of Rochester once was a medical partner of Dr. Hill, and at the death of Dr. Mayo a notable eulogy was delivered upon the Rochester physician by Dr. Hill.

In his boyhood Dr. Hill was befriended by the father of Secretary of State W. J. Bryan, to whom he owed an opportunity to study medicine. Throughout his life Dr. Hill was one of Mr. Bryan's most staunch adherents.

Dr. Hill was born in Kentucky, and was 85 years old. He served the state as a member of the senate, and was interested actively in many enterprises touching the public welfare.

Bishop Thomas Bowman, formerly president of De Pauw university, is dead in Orange, N. J., at the home of his daughter. He was 97 years old. Bishop Bowman was the patriarch of Methodism in America. No other bishop in the service of that church ever reached such an advanced age. He had been known for a generation as "the grand old man of the faith." Sixty-one years of Dr. Bowman's life were spent in active church service. His career in the Methodist-Episcopal clergy was begun at the Baltimore conference in 1839. In 1848 he founded and became president of the Dickinson seminary at Williamsport, Pa. It was during this period that he served as chaplain of the United States senate (1864-65), and became acquainted with Abraham Lincoln. He early became suspicious of attempts to assassinate Lincoln and was one of the first to warn him. As a bishop Dr. Bowman gained world-wide celebrity. He traveled 120,00 miles, visiting Methodist-Episcopal churches throughout the world. He dedicated 1,100 churches and attended every important conference held during his active years in Mexico, India, China and Japan. The bishop's body will be taken to Greencastle, Ind., the seat of De Pauw university, where the funeral will be held Friday.

Masahisa Matsuda, minister of justice of Japan, died at Tokio March 4. He was born in 1845. He was educated in France by government order, studying law and politics.

Former Judge Garret D. W. Vroom, 71 years old, died at his home in Trenton, N. J., March 4. He resigned last year as a member of the state court of errors and appeals on account of failing health.

Thomas W. Hanshew, novelist, is dead in London. Mr. Hanshew was born in Brooklyn in 1857. He was the author of more than 200 novels. One of his best known works was "Cleek of the Forty Faces." In his youth Mr. Hanshew was for some years on the stage.

Edward H. McBride, 42 years old, widely known as a sporting writer under the name of "Hotspur," died at Buffalo, N. Y., March 5, following an operation for a throat infection.

DIFFERING VIEWS ON PENSION LAW.

Hancock, Mich., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The so-called widows' pension law enacted by the last legislature appears to be causing much confusion in Michigan. Various interpretations have been placed on the statute. Wayne and Gogebic counties have taken the law to the courts on a test case, the construction of the statute in those counties being such as to make the law a serious drain on the public purse. In this county of Houghton, however, Probate Judge Bentley holds that the act is not a widows' pension law at all, but an enactment to pension the dependent children of widows at a rate not to exceed $3 a week for each child. Elsewhere it seems to have been held that the law entitles every widow to a pension.

NOW UNDERSELLING AMERICAN TANNERS.

St. Ignace, Mich., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representing a manufactory at Lindsay, Ont., a traveling man is in Upper Michigan, engaged in selling Canadian-made leather. He is quoting prices 5 cents a pound cheaper than those of American tanneries and is said to have booked many orders, some for as much as a hundred sides. This is an interesting situation, as there are tanneries at Munising, Manistique and the Soo, all in Upper Michigan.

A Severe Sickness Leaves The Kidneys Weak

After recovering from a severe spell of sickness some time ago, I was all run down and suffering from poor blood. I would have pains in my back and hips and my kidneys bothered me all the time. I started taking Swamp-Root upon the recommendation of a friend and found it was just what I needed. My blood became all right and after taking a few bottles, I was surprised at the effect it had on my kidneys. They were entirely cured and I have much to be thankful for that your great remedy did for me.

Your very truly,
W. O. BLACKMON,

GOOD ROADS COIN NOW DISTRIBUTED

Three Counties Paying Most Road Tax Get Only $35,000 Each.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—The state highway commission yesterday completed the distribution of the $1,400,000 collected in the state of Minnesota for road and bridge purposes under the Dunn good roads' law, among the eighty-six counties of the state. The tax collected was 1 mill on the assessed property throughout the state. The law provides that no county shall receive more than 3 per cent nor less than 1 per cent.

Three Counties Pay 49 Per Cent.

Three counties, Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis, which paid $694,228 or 49.5 per cent of the tax in the state, were given $35,000 each.

Winona county, where concrete roads are being built, receives $30,000 in the allotment, the next largest amount to the counties in which the the three large cities are situated. Winona contributed $12,052 to the fund.

Mille Lacs, the home of Robert Dunn, author of the Dunn bill in the house of representatives, received $28,000.

Appleyard Files Petition.

Madison, Wis., March 5.—A. E. Appleyard of Ashland, Wis., late yesterday, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, listing his liabilities at $2,057,057 and assets at $12,000.

It is understood the action was taken to have canceled an old judgment brought against him in Ohio.

The liabilities consist of indorsements of railroad paper in Ohio, where Mr. Appleyard established interurban lines.

FIRST USE OF RESINOL STOPS TERRIBLE ITCH

When Other Treatments Gave No Relief. Suffered 8 Years, But Resinol Cured in a Week.

Jan. 27, 1914: "I suffered over eight years with eczema. It started in one little place and kept spreading until it covered my hands. My hands looked like they had been burned by fire and peeled off in large pieces until they were only raw flesh. I was told it was eczema. It itched and burned me so that I could not sleep at night. I tried all sorts of eczema salves and one prescription after another but nothing gave me any relief until I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and after the first application my hands never itched or burned again, and were well in one week. I want every sufferer from eczema to know that they can find a cure in Resinol." (Signed) Miss Ethel Scott, Milstead, Ga.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol for nineteen years, for all sorts of skin troubles, pimples, dandruff, sores, ulcers, burns, wounds and piles. Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, but for trial size, free, write to Dept. 2-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Do not be deceived by imitations.

ASSAILANT OF TWO IS UNDER ARREST

Former Montana Man Admits Attacking Mill City Woman and Boy.

Russell, Minn., March 5.—Louis Johnson, formerly of Billings, Mont., was arrested here yesterday, charged with attacking and nearly killing Mrs. C. E. McRae in her grocery store in Minneapolis, and brutally beating Leslie Almquist, a boy customer, last Saturday. Johnson was arrested by Capt. J. H. Errick and four detectives of the Minneapolis police department, eighteen miles north of this place last night. He was taken to Minneapolis this morning.

The accused made a complete confession, according to Capt. Errick and the detectives. He said, the officers claim, that he was married on the day before the assault, to Miss Bertha Strum, in Minneapolis, and that his object was to secure money to bring his wife to Russell, where he had lived before going to Montana.

Both Will Recover.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 5.—Both Mrs. C. E. McRae, who was so seriously stabbed Saturday that she was not expected to recover, and the Almquist boy, who was knocked unconscious by the assailant who afterward forced an iron bar down his throat, are improving and expected to recover. Both will be disfigured for life, it is believed.

FRANCE PROTESTS DUTY FRAUD SUITS

Government Takes Resolute Attitude Toward American Action.

Paris, March 5.—It was announced today that the French foreign office has taken a resolute attitude toward the United States government in regard to suits brought against the Limoges porcelain exporters for falsification of entries. It has renewed through the French embassy at Washington its contention that the suits against the French firms are contrary to the agreements between the French and American governments.

TWO EAST ST. LOUIS MEN ARE INDICTED.

St. Louis, Mo., March 5.—E. Fred Gerold, former city treasurer of East St. Louis, Ill., and John D. Young, a former clerk in the office of the building commission of East St. Louis, were indicted today on charges of embezzling city funds.

Young recently was acquitted of a similar charge.

PLAN POLISH COLONY.

Tract of 50,000 Acres in Upper Peninsula to Be Utilized.

Trout Lake, Mich., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Polish colony is about to be established in the eastern part of Upper Michigan. This is a project of the Clover Land Farms company. A tract of 50,000 acres at and near Nero has been set aside for the purpose. The colony will be in Mackinac county and tributary to the Soo line. Its members will be limited to Polish people. The work of building houses and developing farms will be undertaken in the spring. The Belgian colony at St. Nicholas is flourishing. The first crops were raised last season. Many more families are expected from Belgium the present year.

Park River School Row.

Park River, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a local school row on over the action of the board of education in seeking a successor to Supt. William Aygarn. A petition representing the almost unanimous wish of the taxpayers was presented to the board asking that the action be rescinded, but the leaders in the fight on Supt. Aygarn refused to quit or make public their reasons for seeking a change.

Another Medal for Goethals.

New York, March 5.—Col. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, was last night presented by the civic forum with a medal for "distinguished public service," the first to be awarded by that institution. The presentation was made by John H. Finley, New York state commissioner of education.

TAKE SODA IF FOOD SOURS IN ACID STOMACH

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to get a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets from any pharmacy and swallow one tablet any time followed by a tumbler of water, which instantly neutralizes these acids; stops food fermentation, absorbs the gases and sweetens the entire digestive system.

This suggestion should prove valuable to stomach sufferers here who can trace their indigestion to acidity. A local druggist is the authority that these tablets are entirely harmless, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

WEST END

HERALD BRANCH:
Herman Olson, Manager, 1823 West Superior Street.

MANY TO VISIT THE FATHERLAND

Fully 200 Duluthians Will Attend Norwegian Centennial.

It is very probable that full 200 Norwegian residents of the West end will leave this spring for their fatherland to be present in Norway at the Centennial celebration planned there this summer. Every Norwegian organization in this end of the city will be represented and some by official delegates.

While the principal celebration in Norway will not begin until near the midsummer, many of the people from here intend leaving so as to get there on Norway's independence day, May 17.

Probably the largest delegation from the city will go with the Normanna male chorus. At least twenty-five members of this organization have already completed their plans for making the trip jointly with the Norwegian Singers of America. The singers' association has already chartered a boat to take its members to Christiania, Norway.

L. A. Simonson, 2102 West Superior street, will go to the celebration and incidentally attend the world's convention of the Scandinavian Good Templars, which will be held there this summer. Mr. Simonson will be official delegate from Minnesota to the convention.

COMMISSIONERS TO ADDRESS CLUB

Will Discuss Proposed Improvements for the West End.

Commissioners Murchison and Merritt will be present this evening at the meeting of the West End Commercial club at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. The commissioners will speak on request of the club members on proposed improvements this summer for the western end of the city.

Reports of preliminary work done by the club's garden committee will be given. Steps have been taken to interest the children of the various schools and already many names have been presented as contestants. The committee has also been doing soliciting of funds for the prizes and considerable success is reported by the members. It is proposed to raise about $150.

It is probable that the "white way" committee will make its report on the petition which has been in the course of circulation. Members of the committee expect to have the final signatures to the petition today. Only two property owners are needed to complete the instrument.

UNION REVIVALS.

Scandinavian Churches Join in Series of Meetings.

The Norwegian Methodist, Swedish Methodist, Swedish Mission and Swedish Baptist churches will unite their forces during this month in revival efforts. These meetings will begin Sunday afternoon with a mass meeting to be held in the Swedish Mission church, at Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The program for this mass meeting will be of an inspirational character with short addresses and plenty of singing.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the service will be in the Swedish M. E. church; on Wednesday evening it will be in the Mission church; on Thursday evening in the Swedish Baptist church, and on Friday evening in the Norwegian M. E. church.

A special edition of songs has been edited by the pastors of these churches to be used in the meetings and the singing will be led by each church's respective choir leader.

The pastors will take turns in preaching during these services and the program of the services will be announced as the meetings progress.

There will be one Sunday afternoon mass meeting in each of the churches during the campaign.

LADIES' AID ENTERTAINS.

First Swedish Methodist Women Have Attractive Program.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Swedish M. E. church, corner of Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will give an entertainment and social tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Albert Broman is in charge of the program, which is as follows:

Piano—Characteristic Polonaise.....Nicode
Mrs. C. W. R. Wermine.
Song ..... Audience.

Olseen Funeral.

The funeral services for H. Olseen, 58 years old, 2520 West Second street, who died Monday while en route on a train from Florida to his home, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock from the family residence and 1:30 o'clock from the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Interment will be in Park Hill cemetery.

Alumni to Entertain.

The Adams Alumni association will entertain at a musical and literary program this evening at the Adams school, Seventeenth avenue west and Superior street. A program of music and reading followed by refreshments has been planned. Miss Marguerite Culkin, social center director for the city, will speak on the work being done at the various social centers.

Sunday School Program.

The Sunday school of the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, has planned an entertainment for tomorrow evening. The program will include a number of the city's well-known entertainers, among them being Miss Agnes May Johnson, reader; Stanley Lamb, C. B. Gilbert and the Svea Glee club. The following program has been prepared: Violin duet, Lavick brothers, Miss Harris accompanist; readings, Miss Dorothy Patton; song, octet, Svea Glee club; baritone solo, Miss Esther Larson; violin solo, Henry Lavick, Miss Harris accompanist; readings, Miss Agnes May Johnson; solo, Sydney Morterud; solo, Mrs. C. B. Gilbert; chalk talk, C. B. Gilbert; Stanley Lamb, specialty; song, octet, Svea Glee club.

West End Briefs.

Gust Hjerpe will leave tomorrow for a short visit to lodges of the Order of Svithold at Two Harbors and range points.

Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, returned last evening from St. Paul, where he attended a conference of Methodist ministers of the state.

Paul W. Keating of Milwaukee, H. Miller of St. Paul and E. G. Dickenson of Minneapolis are guests at the Esmond hotel.

Miss Agnes Wells gave a short talk on "Women Wage Earners" at the social center meeting at the Bryant school last night. Miss Edith Hill of the domestic science department of the Duluth Central high school also gave a short talk and demonstration on practical cooking.

A. D. Erickson of La Crosse, Wis., who has been visiting friends in this end of the city, left last night for his home.

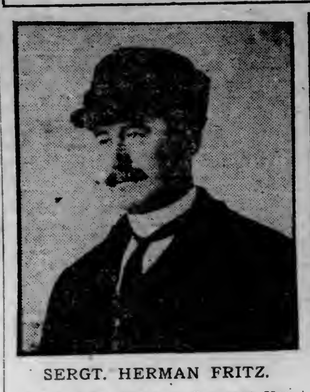
THREE OFFICERS OF THE DULUTH POLICE FORCE ARE PLACED ON THE PENSION LIST



SERGT. HERMAN FRITZ.

LIEUT. JOHN DRANNEN.

PATROLMAN A. T. BRIGHAM.

Lieut. John Drannen, Sergeant Herman A. Fritz and Telephone Operator Arthur T. Brigham were this morning placed on the pension list by the governing board of the Duluth Police Pension Relief association at a special session held in the office of Mayor Prince.

The three officers were granted pensions following an investigation of their applications made by the governing board and a vote taken on each this morning. Lieut. Drannen will retire June 1, Sergt. Fritz on April 1 and Operator Brigham on May 1.

With the three officers granted pensions this morning, the total list now includes ten former members of the police department, who are receiving part pay for having served twenty years or over on the Duluth force. One other, William McEwen, who was granted a pension on Oct. 1, 1906, died about a year ago. The first man to have ever been granted a pension is E. B. Force, who was retired on May 1, 1906.

On the governing board are included Mayor Prince, Grant McLean, city treasurer, Chief Troyer and five police officers, who are selected by the members of the Duluth Police Relief association.

Lieut. Drannen and Sergt. Fritz figured in the recent grand jury investigation of the police department and were among the six officers recommended for censure. About two weeks ago Commissioner Hicken and Chief Troyer announced that Lieut. Drannen would make application to retire on a pension on June 1 and that Sergt. Fritz, who was then lieutenant in charge of police headquarters at night, would be reduced to his rank on March 1. The latter action was accordingly taken, but several days ago, Sergt. Fritz made application for a pension, which was granted this morning.

It has been understood for some time that Operator Brigham was considering retirement and his action is not unexpected. He will leave on May 1.

Lieut. Drannen, who is now in charge of the West end police station, joined the Duluth police department on July 27, 1884, and is today the oldest man in point of service, having completed almost thirty years of continuous service. He was appointed lieutenant on March 8, 1900. He is 52 years old.

Sergt. Fritz was appointed patrolman on May 12, 1893, and lieutenant on Aug. 1, 1907. He has a good record in the police department and for the last few years was night officer in charge of police headquarters. He is 51 years old.

Telephone Operator Brigham was chief of police at West Duluth for one year, beginning May 19, 1892. At the end of that year the suburb became a part of Duluth proper and the position of chief was dropped. On May 1, 1894, he was appointed a patrolman on the force and he held that position until several years ago, when he left the active service and became an operator at police headquarters. He is 55 years old.

SALOONS COST DULUTH $4,000,000

State and Duluth Ripe for Prohibition, Says Judge Windom.

That Duluth's 179 saloons put into the city treasury $179,000 annually and cost the city more than $4,000,000 in maintenance and profits is an estimate made by Judge W. L. Windom, who spoke last night before the Wednesday Night Study club at the Y. M. C. A. Most of this $4,000,000, he said, came out of the pockets of the poor as the wealthy had liquors in their club rooms and homes.

"With this amount," said Judge Windom, "the city could pay all its bills for constructing public buildings, street and water front improving, and taxes and come out a millionaire at the end of ten years."

State and national prohibition were given as the only remedy to properly solve the problem.

"The state is ripe for the passage of a state-wide prohibition law," said the speaker. "All dissension in the ranks of temperance workers of the state has been wiped out.

"After a thirty-day campaign Cloquet wiped out its seventeen saloons. Carlton with its six saloons is now the cuspidor of Cloquet. This will cease to be after the election of next Tuesday. Other towns and cities will follow and Duluth will eventually take the same course."

DEMAND FOR LABOR GROWING

Indications Favorable to Activity With Opening of Spring.

According to the statements of several of the labor employment agents of Duluth, the outlook for the employment of a large number of men during the spring is much brighter now than it has been for several months.

According to the statement of one employment agent, there will be considerable railroad work done on all of the roads at the Head of the Lakes.

"There promises to be an increase in the demand for labor within the present month," said one of the labor agents. "With the increase in the demand for men will naturally come an increase in the wage scale.

"There is a more optimistic feeling in labor circles and the demand for men is already showing some increase. It is too early as yet for a general opening of railroad work, but with the coming of spring all of the indications point to a general increase in the demand for labor over the Northwest."

According to several of the local labor agents Duluth is comparatively free of idle men, the city in this respect being better off than many of the cities of the country, especially the cities of the Pacific coast.

G. S. Richards of the National Employment agency, is of the opinion that within the next month and a half there will be a general opening up in all the various lines of industry where large numbers of men are employed.

INCREASE IN ENROLLMENT

Duluth Port Now Has 461 Boats Registered Here.

With the registration of all boats in the new Duluth-Superior district now being made by ship owners, it is expected that there will be an increase of about fifty vessels over the total on record July 1 last, when the change in customs districts was announced by President Wilson.

On July 1, 1913, there were 445 vessels registered for the Duluth port, according to E. W. Beaton, deputy customs collector. Although the registrations are not yet complete, Mr. Beaton expects that there will be an increase of at least fifty boats. There are already 461 vessels registered for the 1914 season, with a net tonnage of 734,736 tons.

The old Duluth port contained only the ports of Duluth and Two Harbors and the territory directly north of here.

The new Duluth-Superior harbor includes Duluth, Superior, Two Harbors, Ashland, Washburn, Bayfield, Rainy, Warroad, Baudette, International Falls and several smaller towns in Northern Minnesota, and Isle Royale, Mich.

Registrations are made the first three months of each year and it is expected that by April 1 there will be a total of 500 vessels on record in the Duluth-Superior harbor.

BOARD BILLS FOR CITY ARE REDUCED

The sending of the city prisoners to the city and county work farm is making a big difference in the board bills presented to the city by the sheriff, who boards the prisoners at the county jail. The February bill was $63.69, as compared with $158.40 for January. In other months the bills have run from about that figure to more than $200 a month. The February bill was the smallest that has ever been received and it is probable that those of the future will be considerably less than they have been heretofore.

MANY SCOTS ARE MADE CLANSMEN

Clan Stewart Takes in Twenty-Five—Membership Campaign On.

Clan Stewart augmented its membership last evening by initiating twenty-five new members into the order. This brings the clan's membership up to about 350, and of that number last night fully 150 witnessed the ceremony of initiation. The initiation took place at Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street.

It is the ambition of the chief, Angus G. Macauley, to bring the membership up to 500 before the end of the year and Scotsmen all over Duluth are being urged to get into the clan as soon as possible. The campaign for members is resulting well. With a membership of 500 the clan will be entitled to two delegates more than it has now to the meeting of the royal clan to be held in San Francisco in 1915. Seventeen applications for membership were received last evening. Among those initiated were:

George Porteus, J. P. McDonald, T. C. Chalmers, Dan McRae, J. A. McLaughlin, B. W. Forbes, N. Solomon, Dr. M. A. Nicholson, R. C. Weddall, R. M. Findlay, A. Cook, C. L. Rankin, D. J. Kilpatrick, A. C. McMillan, W. J. Rankin, D. J. McDonald, D. B. Ferguson.

PE-RU-NA

Peruna is not a new and untried remedy—our grandfathers used it.

Fifty years ago it was on sale, nearly every drug store in the country can supply it. It is recognized as a household remedy in thousands of homes for coughs, colds, grip, catarrh and those troubles arising from such disturbances.

TODAY IT IS JUST AS EFFECTIVE, JUST AS RELIABLE AS EVER AND NOTHING BETTER HAS BEEN DEVISED AS A READY-MADE MEDICINE.

Those who object to Liquid Medicine will find Peruna Tablets a desirable remedy for CATARRHAL CONDITIONS.

WANTS PAY FOR PAVING JOB

George R. King Declares His Bonds Insure City Against Loss.

George R. King, the contractor who paved Twenty-seventh avenue west from Michigan street to Fifth street, was bonded for $4,000 by the National Surety company for a period of five years when he was awarded the contract in the fall of 1912.

As the bond still has about three and a half years to run be believes that the city should not refuse to pay his final estimate, amounting to about $2,400, which does not include the usual 5 per cent, which is retained on all contracts, or approximately $820.

Commissioner Murchison has refused to approve the final estimate as the city engineer has not accepted the work on the ground that a portion of the wearing surface is not up to specifications and is beginning to show defects. The contractor said this morning that he will repair any deficiencies which may appear. He stated that the city and the property owners are fully protected by the bond and that it is an injustice to hold up the payment.

The assessment of the improvement was recently confirmed. The city authorities assert that the property owners will be safe in making their payments as the job will be brought up to standard as early as possible this season. The contractor will very likely do the work but the city is prepared to undertake it. The contractor states that he has a reputation to maintain and that no bonding company or other company has ever had to finish any of his contracts.

BRAINERD MAN IS RESTORED JUST ON EVE OF OPERATION

E. A. Spohn Finds Relief With First Dose of Remarkable Remedy for Stomach.

E. A. Spohn of Brainerd, Minn., R. F. D. No. 2, was so dangerously ill that his physicians declared he could not live unless he was operated upon.

He feared an operation and in seeking a way out he tried Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. It succeeded.

After he had gained back his strength he wrote:

"I thought I would let you know how I was benefited by Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. I took it some time ago. It did all that you claimed it would do. I was so bad that the doctors told me I could not live without an operation, but I did not have one and I don't think I shall ever need one now. I have felt no signs of gall stones since I took your treatment."

Appreciative letters come from people in all parts of the country. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from stomach ailments, liver and intestinal disorders. Many declare that it has saved them from dangerous operations; many are sure that it has saved their lives.

Because of its remarkable merit, Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy has many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Probably this remedy is known among your neighbors. Go to Wirth's drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

CAPT. FLODIN IS "CHARMED"

Company C. Celebrates Enlistment Anniversary of Its Commander.

The members of Company C, Third regiment, Minnesota National Guard, last night presented Capt. Walter O. Flodin with a diamond watch fob with an elk's tooth charm, as a token of esteem and appreciation. The affair marked the fifteenth anniversary of Capt. Flodin's enlistment in the militia and was celebrated by an informal smoker at the Armory, where the presentation was made.

Capt. Flodin has an excellent record in the guard, advancing step by step, until he was chosen captain in 1910, which position he has since held continuously. Following the presentation there was an entertaining program of sports, featured by boxing exhibitions and wrestling matches.

DULUTH REPRESENTED AT MILWAUKEE HEARING.

The Head of the Lakes shippers are represented in the Milwaukee grain cases, being heard by an examiner of the interstate commerce commission at Milwaukee by G. Roy Hall and C. F. Macdonald, who left for that point last evening. The Milwaukee case is an outgrowth of the Duluth grain rate case which, about a year ago, caused the grain rates from the Dakotas and Minnesota points to Duluth to be reduced.

Milwaukee shippers have appealed the decision claiming that the decision is discriminatory against Milwaukee. No changes are expected by the Duluth men, both of whom are members of the traffic commission of the Commercial club.

BRYAN PLANS TRIP TO SOUTH AMERICA

Will Attend Pan-American Union Meeting at Santiago.

Washington, March 5.—Secretary Bryan has informed the governing board of the Pan-American union, composed of the representatives here from all the American republics, that he has accepted the invitation of Chile and will visit Santiago, Chile, next September, at the time of the meeting of the Pan-American union there. Senor Suarez, minister from Chile, extended the invitation to Secretary Bryan, expressing the warmest hope that the latter would accept.

President Wilson has approved the plan and unless some unforeseen development interferes the secretary will leave here about the middle of August. He expects to proceed down the west coast of South America, stopping at Peru, and to return by the east coasts, making visits in Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil.

Military Camp at Ludington.

Washington, March 5.—Student military instruction camps will be opened by the war department next summer at Ludington, Mich., for the central section of the country, and at Monterey, Cal., for the West. Burlington, Vt., and Asheville, N. C., already have been selected for the Northeastern and Southeastern camps, and a fifth camp may be located at Spokane, Wash.

Former Editor Killed.

Bloomington, Ill., March 5.—J. M. Zoellhofer, formerly owner and editor of the Leroy Journal, was shot and killed yesterday afternoon by Frank Dunkin. The shooting took place at Leroy, McLean county, fifteen miles east of her. The killing, it was said, was the result of an old feud. Dunkin surrendered to the police and is now in the county jail in Bloomington.

Kidney Disease Is Deceptive

Most Cases of Serious Sickness Due to Kidney Disorders Say Medical Experts.

The most deplorable feature of kidney disease consists in its subtle and delusive character, and so insidious are its ravages that many victims do not suspect its existence until the advanced stages have been reached. In nine out of ten cases, the individual thinks he or she is suffering from neuralgia, heart weakness, indigestion, or other forms of disease, when the pain in reality is due to hidden trouble with the kidneys. For many years diseases of the kidney baffled the skill of medical experts. Since the discovery of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy relief has been afforded to sufferers from this dread malady. Thousands of afflicted men, women and children have been restored to health and happiness and the activities and pleasures of life—many of whom thought their days were numbered, as they had been given up by their physicians. This is a remedy you should not fail to try, it reduces the inflammation and strengthens and invigorates the organs, enabling them to properly perform their work of secretion and elimination. At druggists in 50c and $1.00 sizes—every bottle guaranteed. Free sample if you write Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 375, Rochester, N. Y.

WHOLESALERS ARE HOPEFUL

Duluth Jobbers' Sales Are Showing Gains Over Last Year's.

Market Is Growing Firmer in Most Lines of Merchandise.

With a continuance of the generally favorable trade conditions throughout the territory, the booking of heavy business in all lines is reported by Duluth wholesalers and manufacturers this week.

Increases over last year are the rule in all branches, and roseate expectations are entertained regarding the general outlook for the spring and summer months.

The hesitancy in some directions brought about through the tariff changes, is said to be rapidly passing off, and taken all round, the general commercial fabric is now thought to have been shaken down upon a firm basis.

Grocery Prices Firmer.

The volume of business being booked in groceries is reported by the Rust-Parker-Martin company of this city, and the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior to be showing substantial gains over last year. They take that as evidence that consumption is on the increase both in the territory immediately tributary to the Head of the Lakes and through the West. As regards prices, it is noted that while sugar quotations are unchanged, refiners are accepting orders at 10 cents below their lists.

Peaches are the cheapest item in the evaporated fruits line. Though the quality of the stock offering is good, the demand is so light that it is practically a drug on the market. Prunes are high, having passed altogether under speculative control. Evaporated apples are up one-half cent, with stocks advised to have also gone out of first hands. The market in apricots is higher than a month ago, and it is firm at its present level.

A heavy sale of fish is being met with, and in that connection it is to be mentioned that in order to boom its demand the Pacific coast canners have set apart March 13 as a special day to push the sale of salmon.

The trade through the country is greatly interested in the recent decision of the supreme court under which the sale of bleached flour is permitted as long as no article deemed to be deleterious to health is used in the process of manufacture.

Healthy Dry Goods Trade.

The advent of warmer weather has been already responsible for increased sorting up orders in dry goods, according to F. A. Patrick & Co. That house notes a marked gain in its business in mackinaws and other products of its knitting and woolen factories.

Salesmen are said to be booking good initial orders for next fall's delivery and in their reports stress is being laid upon the fact that merchandising and credits are now upon a generally healthy basis. Retailers' demand is now largely for the better class of goods.

Liberal Hardware Orders.

Free ordering in general hardware lines is commented upon by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and the Kelley-Hoxe-Thomson company. The market is firm in all iron and steel products with further advances in sight. This is leading to greater readiness on the part of retailers to place future orders and assures heavy shipments over all parts of the territory with the opening of navigation.

Open wire fencing is up one-half point and an advance of $1 a ton in nails and wire is expected before the end of the week.

Building Materials In Demand.

An increase of 35 per cent in its aggregate business for February over the corresponding period last year, is advised by the Peyton Paper company. The expectations of the company, judging from present prospects are that its aggregate business up to April 1 will equal the tally up to June 1 a year ago.

That building operations are likely to be on a large scale throughout the coming season is foreshadowed in the carlot orders for building and roofing papers now being taken by the company. Quotations in papers and all classes of papers are being stiffly held.

Active Furniture Business.

Gratification was expressed by the De Witt-Seitz company over its business for the year up to date in furniture lines. An increase of 20 per cent in its aggregate trade for February over last year, was reported. Salesmen's bookings from North Dakota and Montana points are said to be showing a sharp picking up during the past ten days, attributable to the optimistic views entertained regarding the outlook for seeding and a greatly increased crop acreage under the best soil conditions.

Among the outside buyers in the company's warehouse yesterday were E. B. Lanager, Plummer, Minn.; John Harri, Ely, Minn., and H. H. Reyjalu, Mountain, N. D.

ELABORATE GUARD FOR MORGAN EXHIBIT

Fifty Special Watchmen and Many Electrical Devices Used.

New York, March 5.—Though the strictest secrecy had enveloped the measures taken, it has become known that unusual precaution is being exercised by the Metropolitan Museum of Art to guard against thieves and fire the $50,000,000 Morgan collection, now on view in that institution. It is said that the protective arrangements, which are most elaborate, would make virtually impossible a repetition of the Mona Lisa theft in the Louvre museum, with Raphael's Colonna Madonna the possible subject in this instance.

Fifty special watchmen, well armed, and two police detectives are the personnel of the scheme protecting the collection. In addition, the latest devices in electrical alarms have been installed, connecting fire and police headquarters with the different parts of the building.

Ten large gongs and many smaller ones would sound should unauthorized hands touch any of the Morgan art objects, bringing into the room every attendant and all the watchmen in the building. The same means would bring the reserves from the nearest police station.

FINDS WEALTHY UNCLE.

Girl Who Has Been Wisconsin Charge Locates Rich Relative.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 5.—After being a charge of the Wisconsin state industrial school for two years, Helen Sherman is today the ward of her millionaire uncle, Charles Page of Tulsa, Okla.

Page is said to have a large income from property interests and is engaged in a great philanthropic work, being credited with having adopted 300 poor children, which number he intends to increase to 1,000.

Hearing recently of the good work which the millionaire was doing with his money, Helen remarked casually to Miss Mary J. Berry, superintendent of the school, "He is my uncle."

Upon investigation, Miss Berry learned that what the girl had said was true, and she took the matter up with Mr. Page, with the result that Helen is today living with her wealthy uncle.

Money Saved by Making Your Cough Syrup at Home

Takes But a Few Moments, and Stops a Hard Cough in a Hurry.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. It keeps perfectly.

You will find it one of the best cough syrups you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and the taste is pleasant.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most vaulable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This plan for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

STATE EDUCATIONAL BOARD NOW FAVORED

Gopher Economy and Efficiency Commission Working on New Scheme.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—The abolishment of the board of regents of the university, the state normal and state high school boards and the concentration of the powers and duties of all these now independent organizations in a state board of education of fifteen members was agreed to as the ideal scheme for the reorganization of the state school system by the economy and efficiency commission late yesterday.

The committee having charge of the investigations being made into the educational system, was instructed to work out its plan with this idea as a basis.

This scheme not only met with the approval of the lay members of the commission, but was indorsed by Dean A. F. Woods of the state college of agriculture and others.

GRAND JURY FREES GANGMAN'S SLAYER.

St. Louis, Mo., March 5.—The grand jury has decided that Henry Zang was justified in killing Wesley Red Simon three hours after Simon went on trial last Monday for the murder of another gangster. Zang, who was to have been the chief witness against Simon, testified he shot the defendant when he thought Simon was about to kill him in accordance with threats made on Zang's life by the gang of which Simon is said to have been a member.

45,617 Idle in Chicago.

Chicago, March 5.—There are 45,617 unemployed men in Chicago, according to figures compiled by the police after a complete canvass of the city at the request of the Federal commission on industrial relations.

LAY STEEL THIS YEAR

Good Progress Being Made on Grand Marais & Northwestern.

Surveyors Are Getting Along Rapidly—Grading Will Begin Soon.

Good progress is being made in work preliminary to the construction of the Grand Marais & Northwestern Railway company's line through Cook county.

Surveyors have located nearly forty miles of the right-of-way out from Grand Marais, and it is expected that the remainder of the proposed route to Ely, the road's present objective point, will have been surveyed within the next few months. A large force has been engaged during the winter in clearing the right-of-way and it is planned to make a start on grading as early in the spring as possible.

Arthur Mitchell, president of the company, expressed himself as sanguine today that rails for thirty or forty miles of the road will be laid this year. The remainder of the road will be pushed through as rapidly as conditions warrant.

"Our line is going to lead to a wonderful development of the iron and timber resources over a large area of Cook county," said he. "It will open up some valuable iron deposits that are dormant for the lack of transportation facilities, and in the opinion of experts, a heavy ore tonnage will find an outlet at Grand Marais within a comparatively short time. As a result of the prospect of being at last afforded connection with the outside world, business interests at Grand Marais are quite enthusiastic and extensive plans for improvements in the town are being formulated."

GUILTY OF FRAUD AT TERRE HAUTE POLLS

Terre Haute, Ind., March 5.—William Huffman, who with Mayor L. M. Roberts and eight others was indicted for participation in election frauds here, was found guilty last night by a jury in the circuit court. Conviction carries a penalty of from three to ten years in the state penitentiary. Judge Felix Blankenbaker deferred sentence until the trials of the other nine men are held.

According to the charges made against Huffman, who formerly was a member of the city council, he, as an election inspector, removed 150 ballots from the sealed packages given him the night previous to the city election last November and marked them for L. M. Roberts. These ballots were counted for Roberts the next day, it was alleged.

Dr. E. T. Zarind, recently appointed a member of the city board of health by Mayor Roberts, testifying in Huffman's trial, confessed his part in marking the ballots and declared that Huffman had directed the work.

BLEASE NEAR FIGHT.

Is Center of Exciting Scene in Legislature.

Columbia, S. C., March 5.—An exciting scene marked the session of the house of representatives here last night when Governor Cole Blease went into the hall to reply to statements made by W. F. Stevenson in a speech on the asylum probe, and to deliver a message in person. Personal encounters at one time seemed likely.

When Governor Blease charged that Representative N. B. Barnwell was acting in a cowardly manner by raising a technical point that the governor was not within the constitutional limits in making his remarks, Mr. Barnwell advanced to the speaker's stand, but was restrained by delegates.

Governor Blease said that he came prepared for a fight because he could not stand the alleged misrepresentations.

Following the tilt with Barnwell, the governor left the hall, accompanied by a number of his supporters. Mr. Stevenson followed him for the purpose of stating that he did not wish Governor Blease to understand that he had apologized for any statement made in his speech. The governor apparently believed that Mr. Stevenson wanted to fight, and pulled off his coat.

"I have been in some fights, but I never take off my coat," said Mr. Stevenson, returning to the hall.

Disorder reigned for several minutes while the governor was making his charges. Friends of Mr. Barnwell and the governor crowded around, and for a time it seemed as if a general fight was imminent.

FRENCH "SIAMESE TWINS" CUT APART.

Paris, March 5.—Madeline-Suzanne, the French "Siamese twins," were separated yesterday by a surgical operation of extreme delicacy. The operation was performed with specially constructed instruments by Dr. Gustave le Fillatre, Dr. Risacher and Dr. Victor de Launnay and his wife, who also is a surgeon. Numerous other surgeons were present.

Madeleine-Suzanne were joined together in the region of the stomach and it was found that a portion of the intestines of Madeleine was within Suzanne's abdomen. This had to be detached from the wall of the fibrous cartilaginous bridge connecting the two children. A local anaesthetic was used and the babies cried a little during the operation, which lasted fifteen minutes.

Both children appeared to stand the operation well, but the surgeons could not give a definite opinion as to the ultimate success of their work.

No such operation has taken place in France since Dr. Doyen in 1902 separated the two Hindu children, Radica-Roodica, who died of tuberculosis after the operation.

The twins operated on yesterday were born Nov. 28, 1913. At birth they weighed ten pounds. Both children appeared perfectly healthy and were extremely lively.

HOUSE TRADE BOARD BILL NEARLY READY.

Washington, March 5.—Revision of the interstate trade commission bill, as prepared by the house interstate commerce committee, was practically concluded after a conference with President Wilson on the subject, attended by Representative Covington, chairman, and other members of the subcommittee. The bill will be taken up by the full committee immediately and reported to the house next week.

The senate committee on interstate commerce also is working on the trade commission plan, but probably will not report a bill until after the house has acted upon the Covington measure.

The house measure contemplates a trade commission to consist of three instead of five members, as originally prepared, and the commission would have power to investigate corporations as an aid to the attorney general and the courts.

To guard against undue publicity of the affairs of corporations, complained of as threatened by the terms of the original bill, the revised draft would provide that the commission should report to the president all unfair practices of corporations, not necessarily in violation of law. It would be left to the discretion of the president whether the results of such an inquiry should be made public.

NEW CLASS IN ENGLISH.

Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Unite to Teach Foreigners.

The educational department of the Y. M. C. A. has organized another class in English for foreigners. The first floor audience room of the Finnish Temperance hall has been rented for use Tuesday and Friday nights. This class is designed especially to serve the men living in the vicinity of St. Croix avenue and Lake avenue south. There are many people in that section of the city who know scarcely a word of the English language.

The Y. M. C. A. has invited the Y. W. C. A. to organize a class of women in the same building on the same nights. Both classes have made a good beginning.

As the knowledge of the students in English increases, they are taught the fundamental ideas of government and the relation between it and the individual.

A four months' term was conducted during the fall at 1125 West Superior street, where eighteen Italian young men were enrolled.

The Y. M. C. A. is about to issue a little folder anouncing the reopening of a second term at the same place. In this folder, the Italian consul has signed the following indorsement of the work:

"This is a good opportunity for non-English speaking men to learn the English language.

"Every man who expects to make America his home ought to learn the English language just as soon as possible."

This class will open in a few days and a good enrollment is expected.

SAME CASKET FOR FATHER AND CHILD.

Bowman, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The remains of Frank Bennett and his son, Marvin, aged 2, were buried together. On the day fixed for the funeral of the father the little boy died, and the funeral of the parent was postponed a day, the remains of the little lad being placed in the same casket. The wife and five children survive.

"REASONABLE DOUBT" IN WILLETT'S CASE.

New York, March 5.—William Willett, Jr., once a congressman and later a candidate in Queens county for supreme court justice, has been released on $20,000 bail under a certificate of reasonable doubt which will enable him to appeal from a conviction of using bribery in connection with his nomination. The certificate also acted as a stay of Willett's sentence—a year and a half in prison.

BREATHE FREELY! OPEN NOSTRILS AND STUFFED HEAD---END CATARRH

Instant Relief When Nose and Head Are Clogged From a Cold. Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges. Dull Headache Vanishes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

SUES LOEB COMPANY.

Injuries on Stairway Are Basis of Action.

Anton Johnson, who fell and fractured two bones of his left leg while ascending a flight of wooden stairs leading to the flats above 342 Lake avenue south April 6, 1911, yesterday began suit in district court against L. S. & S. Loeb company, owners of the property. Damages in the sum of $5,090 are asked. Negligence in failing to keep the stairway in proper repair is charged. The accident occurred when a decayed step gave way beneath him. The place is known as the Canal block.

BRINGS ACTION TO COLLECT $1,000.

W. E. Le Blanc started suit in district court yesterday against R. B. Knox to enforce the collection of $1,000 which he claims is due him. Le Blanc states that Mr. Knox, Napoleon Grignon and William Clifford, who organized the Rhodes Motor company in October, 1909, received $1,000 from him with the understanding that he was to be given certificates of stock in the company for that amount. He asserts that although he has made demands for it, the stock has never been issued to him.

SUES RAILWAY FOR BURNT TIMBER.

For the loss of 2,209 cords of standing timber in a fire which swept over his land April 25, 1909, Andrew J. Anderson wants the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company to pay him $2,509 damages. Anderson alleges that the company carelessly permitted dry grass and other inflammable material to accumulate on the right-of-way. He asserts that the fire originated on the right-of-way from engine sparks.

SPRECKELS DIVORCE SUIT IS DROPPED.

San Francisco, Cal., March 5.—Mrs. John D. Spreckels, Jr., left for Europe yesterday with a party of friends after announcing that she had discontinued her suit for divorce brought early this year on grounds of alleged cruelty. Spreckels contested the suit. Mrs. Spreckels would not discuss a reconciliation.

UPSET STOMACH, COSTIVE, BILIOUS, CASCARETS TONIGHT---DIME A BOX

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means your stomach is sour—your liver is torpid—your bowels constipated. It isn't your stomach's fault—it isn't indigestion—it's biliousness and constipation. Try Cascarets; they sweeten the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning.

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP.

WHY SPRING COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

If Neglected They Lead to Serious, Perhaps Fatal Results.

If you get cold at this time of year and try to "let it wear off," it frequently develops into a stubborn lung trouble, which may in turn become chronic asthma, bronchitis or consumption. It is important to remember that Father John's Medicine is best for colds because of its nourishing body-building elements, which give strength to the system and enable each organ to resume its normal functions. Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, contains no injurious drugs, but is a pure food medicine, for those who are weak and rundown.

MOTHERS WITH YOUNG CHILDREN

Require the nourishment contained in Father John's Medicine. Make Strength.

Father John's Medicine is for sale in Duluth by William A. Abbett, 205 West Superior street, 101 West Fourth street, 932 East Second street, also Boyce Drug Store, 331 West Superior street; Wirth Drug Store, 13 West Superior street, and practically all other drug stores in the city. If you have any difficulty in getting Father John's Medicine from your druggist, write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1 for a large bottle by express, prepaid.

"JINGLING BROTHERS" MAY BE SUED

Circus Kings Said to Object to Infringement on Their Name.

M. M. Hanna, who is in charge of the Jingling Brothers' circus, which will perform at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium March 23 and 24, has received a communication threatening a damage suit for infringing on the name of the famous "Ringling Brothers" shows. At least that was what Mr. Hanna said this morning, but there is a suspicion that Mr. Hanna is trying to emulate a regular circus press agent.

At a meeting of the general circus committee last night, it was decided to appoint various committees among the business men of the city to take part in the arrangements for the show. It has been arranged, also, to have a "rube" band parade the streets for a few days previous to the show to give the event publicity. Eight clowns also will be turned loose on the streets or put into one of the show windows of some down-town store.

Work is now progressing very rapidly in the arrangement of the program.

HAS TRANSPLANTED GENERATIVE ORGANS.

Chicago, March 5.—Dr. G. Frank Lydston announced last night at the meeting of the Chicago Medical association that he had successfully transplanted the generative gland of a dead body to the body of a living man. Dr. Lydston declared that when he had been unable to find a subject willing to undergo the operation, he had made the transplantation on himself.

Dr. Lydston also said he had implanted in a woman of 59 years the generative organs of a woman of 17 years who had been dead from violence twelve hours. This operation, he said, had been performed too recently for him to predict results. The wound, he declared, was healing rapidly and the operation gave evidence of being successful.

Will Issue Bonds.

New London, Conn., March 5.—The directors of the American Agricultural Chemical company at a special meeting here voted to issue debenture bonds to the amount not exceeding $15,000,000, bearing 5 per cent interest and payable in ten years.

LESS DYSPEPSIA NOW —HERE'S THE REASON

The fact that there is less dyspepsia and indigestion in this community than there used to be is largely, we believe, due to the extensive use of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, hundreds of packages of which we have sold. No wonder we have faith in them. No wonder we are willing to offer them to you for trial entirely at our risk.

Among other things, they contain Pepsin and Bismuth, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science. They soothe the inflamed stomach, allay pain, check heartburn and distress, help to digest the food, and tend to quickly restore the stomach to its natural, comfortable, healthy state.

There is no red tape about our guarantee. It means just what it says. We'll ask you no questions. Your word is enough for us. If Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets don't restore your stomach to health and make your digestion easy and comfortable, we want you to come back for your money. They are sold only at the 7,000 Rexall stores, and in this town only by us. Three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

portance by the number of sentences in which I state it. No communication I have addressed to the congress carried with it greater or more far-reaching implications to the interest of the country, and I come now to speak upon a matter with regard to which I am charged in a peculiar degree, by the Constitution itself, with personal responsibility.

"I have come to ask for the repeal of that provision of the Panama canal act of Aug. 24, 1912, which exempts vessels engaged in the coastwise trade of the United States from payment of tolls, and to urge upon you the justice, the wisdom and the large policy of such a repeal with the utmost earnestness of which I am capable.

Mistaken Economic Policy.

"In my own judgment, very fully considered and maturely formed, that exemption constitutes a mistaken economic policy from every point of view, and is, moreover, in plain contravention of the treaty with Great Britain concerning the canal concluded on Nov. 18, 1901.

"But I have not come to you to urge my personal views. I have come to state to you a fact and a situation. Whatever may be our own differences of opinion concerning this much debated measure, its meaning is not debated outside the United States. Everywhere else the language of the treaty is given but one interpretation, and that interpretation precludes the exemption I am asking you to repeal.

Should Voluntarily Withdraw.

"We consented to the treaty; its language we accepted, if we did not originate it; we are too big, too powerful, too self-respecting a nation to interpret with too strained or refined a reading the words of our own promises just because we have power enough to give us leave to read them as we please. The large thing to do is the only thing we can afford to do, a voluntary withdrawal from a position everywhere questioned and misunderstood.

"We ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong, and so once more deserve our reputation for generosity and the redemption of every obligation without quibble or hesitation.

"I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the administration. I shall not know how to deal with other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence if you do not grant it to me in ungrudging measure."

Dispute for Two Years.

The Panama tolls question has been a subject of dispute for nearly two years. Diplomatic correspondence between Great Britain and the United States found the question unsettled when President Taft left office. But, except for an assurance to James Bryce, then British ambassador, when he left the United States a year ago, that the question would be taken up in the regular session of congress, President Wilson never has directed any official communication to England on the tolls question.

The president recently told callers he had never discussed the matter formally or informally with the British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, because he believed the obligation on the part of the United States to repeal the exemption clause was one which this government itself should realize without outside influence or pressure.

Administration leaders in both house and senate have assured the president that with the delivery of a message by him, showing that international circumstances had arisen since the measure was last debated, the president's suggestion for repeal would bring prompt action.

Galleries Were Packed.

The house chamber and galleries were packed, as usual, to hear the president read his address. The French and German ambassadors and other members of the diplomatic corps were in spaces reserved for them. No official of the British embassy was present. The Misses Wilson had places in the executive gallery, but Mrs. Wilson, for the first time, was absent. She had not yet recovered from the shock of a fall in the White House a day or two ago.

Mr. Wilson's message was so brief that he had finished reading almost before the surprised galleries realized he had begun. It took less than five minutes, and as another burst of applause greeted its close, Mr. Wilson hurried out of the chamber and drove back to the White House. The joint session at once dissolved and the two houses resumed their work.

Within ten minutes after the president had addressed congress, Senator Chilton, Democrat, of the canals committee, introduced a bill authorizing the president to suspend tolls.

ford, Ont., in a telegram received here, asserts that he never met Eleanor Ellis except when she was with her husband or daughter, Violet.

Cauldwell admitted that he had received a telegram signed E. H. Ellis, but he said that he did not believe it was from Mrs. Ellis.

"Ellis is libelling the woman in an attempt to save his own neck. It is the act of a despicable coward," declared Cauldwell.

"I met Ellis and his wife and their daughter, Violet, last fall at Georgian bay, where I was spending my vacation. By accident we were assigned to the same hotel table, and Ellis introduced himself to me and I met the family. I did not cultivate them, as Ellis was disagreeable to me on account of his extreme nervousness. He told me a lot about the injury to his harness business inflicted by the automobile.

Only Met Her at Table.

"All Mrs. Ellis seemed to think of was the health of her husband and the comfort of her children. They would go for long walks together—sometimes just Ellis and Mrs. Ellis—but generally the three of them. I never saw Mrs. Ellis except at the table at which we all ate, or just to bow to her as I passed her on the porch. She seemed a domestic woman devoted to her family.

"I do not believe the telegram sent by 'E. H. Ellis' which I received was sent by Mrs. Ellis. I can understand no circumstances under which she would send a telegram to me. My friends here have not lost confidence in me on account of Ellis' cowardly attempt to drag me into the case."

chamber to the manager of a farmers' elevator company, which he said sustained his opinion.

Drake contended "repeated and useless sales" on the exchange added to and burden upon the growers. Commission houses which bought from growers never sold directly to consumers, he said, but sold to other brokers, who perhaps sold to others before the sale to the consumer was reached. He said the result was a system of double and triple commissions levied upon the grain and paid by the farmer.

Scored Minneapolis Chamber.

"The chamber of commerce of Minneapolis, the largest primary wheat market of the world, is a private market, a monopoly opposed to the interests of the producers it is supposed to serve," Benjamin Drake of Minneapolis, counsel for half a dozen growers' associations, declared yesterday before the committee.

Mr. Drake and representatives of organizations of the Western wheat growers urged the enactment of laws establishing Federal control of public terminal grain warehouses, government inspection and grading of grain, and prohibition of dealings in grain futures where actual delivery is not intended.

Enlargement of the scope of the pending Manahan resolution to direct an inquiry into the Chicago, Duluth and Minneapolis grain exchanges is contemplated now by the rules committee, as the result of a proposal that the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges also be investigated.

"School for Congressmen."

Chairman Henry had said that prohibition of trading in cotton futures, as provided in a bill which passed the house but failed in the senate, originally extended to grain exchanges, although it was altered in committee after grain men had made a "strong showing." Mr. Drake recalled this, and charged that the Chicago board of trade maintained an organized lobby, or "school for congressmen," which had accomplished this result. Growers, he said, had no knowledge of the protest against the original bill.

Drake placed before the committee many of the rules of the Minneapolis chamber, which, he said, showed its monopolistic tendencies and practices. He told of the collapse of the Farmers' exchange of Minnesota, saying:

"The man who broke that exchange is here today representing the chamber of commerce."

The membership of the chamber never had increased since its organization, he said, and those limited memberships were owned by banks, elevator and milling companies to a large extent. Several milling companies owned groups of memberships, he said, a single company having more than twenty.

Minnesota Men Questioned.

Representative Manahan called to the stand during the day Magnus Johnson of Kimball, Minn., vice president of the Equity Co-Operative exchange at Minneapolis; Ira D. McVickers, president of the Farmers' Grain Dealers' association of Iowa, and Ira Chryst, president of the American Society of Equity, an organization of farmers.

Mr. Johnson declared that 66 per cent of what the farmer produced was eaten up in delivering to the consumer or because of middlemen. He warned the committee that the question of the grain monopoly would become a national political issue if relief were not soon granted to farmers.

TAFT'S PHYSICAL ADVISOR COMING.

The physical department of the Y. M. C. A. is arranging for its annual banquet, which will take place about the middle of April. Director Olson is now corresponding with Dr. Barker, who was physical advisor for President Taft, to speak at the banquet. Dr. Barker has other work in the city that will require his presence for a week and it is planned to have him add this address to his list of activities here.

DYSPEPSIA OVERCOME

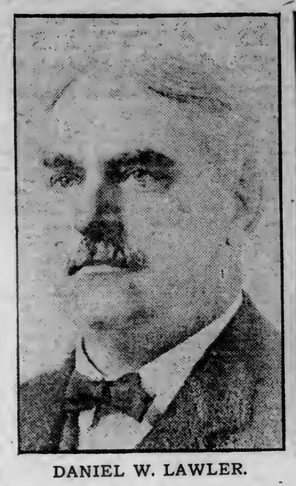
Tone Up the Stomach With Hood's Sarsaparilla.

When you have dyspepsia your life is miserable. You have a bad taste in your mouth, a tenderness at the pit of your stomach, a feeling of puffy fullness, headache, heartburn, and sometimes nausea.

Dyspepsia is difficult digestion—that is what the word means—and the only way to get rid of it is to give vigor and tone to the stomach and the whole digestive system. Hood's Sarsaparilla, sold by all druggists, is the one medicine which acts on the stomach through the blood and also directly. Its beneficial effects are felt at once. Improvement begins immediately.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, makes the rich red blood that is needed for perfect digestion, and builds up the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's, for no other medicine can take its place.

HIBERNIANS HONOR MEMORY OF ROBERT EMMET, MARTYR



DANIEL W. LAWLER.

RAY M. HUGHES.

The one hundred and thirty-sixth anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmet, Irish patriot, was fittingly observed in connection with a program which was given last evening at the Cathedral auditorium, under the auspices of the local branch of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. About 1,000 attended.

Daniel W. Lawler, former mayor of St. Paul, and Miss May Hammill, vice president of the Ladies' auxiliary, A. O. H., were the speakers for the occasion. Mrs. A. V. Kelly, elocutionist, entertained, and musical selections were furnished by Edward Costes, vocalist, and J. B. Warren, violinist. Ray M. Hughes presided as chairman of the meeting.

In his address, Mr. Lawler paid a glowing tribute to the memory of Emmet.

"We have stepped aside," said he, "to recall and honor the memory of a felon. We have gathered together to pay tribute to a man whose grave is unknown, but whose inspiring memory is cherished in the hearts of a grateful people; we are her to offer homage to a martyr whose monument has not been reared, but who will continue through time, the idol of a nation.

"Emmet was in every respect an ideal hero. He was young, handsome and talented; he was born to wealth and family and he was highly educated. Yet he sacrificed everything, even his very life, for his country."

Mr. Lawler concluded his address with references to the long strife for home rule in Ireland.

In her address, Miss Hammill declared that much is being accomplished by inculcating a knowledge of Irish history. An organized movement to this end is already under way, she said. The speaker also devoted a portion of her address to the part that women have in the effort to loosen the bonds that chafe every true son of Erin."

VICTIM OF STREET CAR

Minneapolis Salesman Killed While Trying to Head Off Car.

Death Was Instantaneous—Wife Is Visiting in Florida.

Running diagonally across Nineteenth avenue east and Superior street about 11 o'clock last evening to catch a westbound street car, E. H. Cannon, 50 years old, a traveling salesman from Minneapolis, failed to make the northwest corner in time, and was struck by the street car, being killed instantly. His skull was crushed and his left leg almost severed at the ankle.

It was at first believed that Mr. Cannon was still alive following the accident and he was taken to Ninth avenue east by the street car crew and then carried to St. Luke's hospital on First street, where an examination by Police Surgeon Murphy a few minutes later disclosed the fact that Mr. Cannon had been killed instantly.

According to a report made this morning by the street car motorman to R. H. Wellington, claim agent for the Duluth Street Railway company, Mr. Cannon had attempted to catch the car by running diagonally across the street from the southeast corner and although he signaled the car, he still kept on running, expecting, apparently, to reach the other corner before the car passed Nineteenth avenue. This report, Mr. Wellington said this morning, is verified by a man who was standing in the doorway of the Byers drug store. His name was not learned, but he told of the accident to passengers on the street car and the crew, corroborating the report made by the motorman.

Following the accident Mr. Cannon was taken into the car and rushed to the hospital, where it was found he was dead. Coroner McComb, who was notified later, ordered the body removed to the Grady & Horgan undertaking rooms, where an autopsy may be held today.

Mr. Cannon's relatives at Minneapolis, where he lived with his family at 2520 Grand avenue, were notified last evening of his death. It was learned that Mrs. Cannon is spending the winter in Florida and efforts will be made to reach her today.

Mr. Cannon came to Duluth last Sunday and was registered at the Spalding hotel. He was a traveling salesman for the Bliss Syrup Manufacturing company of Kansas City.

were normal and the business of the exchange was not affected.

Herman Sielcken of the firm of Crossman & Sielcken, coffee brokers and bankers, said that he had a cablegram from Rio Janeiro this morning which gave no intimation of trouble in that city.

"There have been repeated exaggerated rumors of rebellion and trouble," he added, "which have proved untrue. The Brazilian ambassador in Washington has promised to give me immediate notice of any trouble and I have heard nothing from him today."

"Don't Worry," Says Da Gama.

Washington, March 5.—Senor Da Gama, the ambassador from Brazil, received a brief dispatch from his government today directing him to assure legations and consular officers in this country "not to feel any uneasiness because of rumors."

There were no advices to supplement it, the ambassador said, and his only information of what the dispatch related to was contained in the news dispatches telling of a state of siege at Rio and revolutionary troubles in some of the Brazilian states.

News that Rio was under siege, and an uprising in the Northern states of Para, Pernambucco and Geara, perplexed the state department officials, as the interests of the Northern provinces and the Southern districts, including Rio, are quite distinct.

Mrs. Wilson Has Fall.

Washington, March 5.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is recovering from the shock of a fall on the White House floor last Sunday. She sustained no injuries and expects to be up and about in a day or two.

selves as leaders telling him he was deposed as superintendent.

"One of them said, 'me boss now.' As they seemed to have enough men to enforce their orders I complied," said the witness.

Potter also told of strikers' parades between 6 and 7 o'clock in the morning after operations were resumed in the mines. Women took part in them, he said, and assisted in assaults on non-union workmen.

Strike-breaker Testified.

One of the men whom Potter employed in Chicago, was Louis Dahlhoff. He testified that he came here in full knowledge of the strike. He felt that he was at liberty to leave the train at any time, he said, and before his arrival was permitted to go to and from the bunkhouse at Superior mine at will.

Guards for Protection.

Potter said the guards accompanied the strikebreakers on the trains solely to protect them against strike sympathizers, and that all who wished to leave the trains were permitted to do so. Potter said he was on the train which brought Witnesses Shann and Park from Detroit, and that no attempt was made to prevent anyone leaving the train at Saginaw, as they previously had testified.

Figures from the books of the mining companies were introduced yesterday by counsel for the operators to refute testimony by strikers as to the low wages paid the men. A. E. Petermann, of counsel for the companies, declared these figures proved that the general wage average was high, even though wages received in certain months were low.

The committee received figures in support of his contention that it was the custom to head contracts when it was found that miners were unable to make fair wages because of inexperience in the character of rock.

Denied Low Wage Claim.

Dolphius Little, a miner, had testified he received only 25 cents for nine days' work in February, 1911. Petermann declared the books showed Little had received an average daily wage of $3.08 from January to April, 1911, and that his daily average for that year was $2.97. Petermann declared Little's average had been $3.77 for every day he worked from January to July 1913.

W. J. Rickard, organizer of the Western Federation, had testified he had received but $4.39 for twenty-six days' work in the Osceola mine twelve years ago. Petermann declared the books showed Rickard had received $4.30 for two days' work in the Osceola and $47.56 for twenty-one days' work in the same month in the North Kearsarge, operated by the same company. He also said Rickard had averaged $3.79 from May to July, 1908, and had made an average of $5.30 in June of that year.

capacity in which there may seem to be an opportunity for usefulness."

President's Statement.

The statement of the president in accepting the resignation; said:

"It is with the greatest reluctance and regret that I see the administration deprived of the further services of Mr. John Bassett Moore. His counsel has been very valuable to us, but I cannot say that the resignation was unexpected, because when I with difficulty induced Mr. Moore a year ago to accept the post, he frankly told me that he felt certain that his other engagements and systematic work, which he had pledged himself to do, would not permit his giving more than a year at the outside, to this office."

Although the official correspondence between President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and Mr. Moore, announcing the resignation, emphasized that the counsellor was leaving the government service only because the term for which he had promised to serve was at an end, there was continued discussion in official and diplomatic circles of lack of harmony between Secretary Bryan and Counsellor Moore, and persistent stories of how Mr. Moore became dissatisfied with the arrangement of his duties in the state department.

Obeyed Orders.

While it was admitted that Mr. Moore's views on the recognition of the Huerta government and the administration's course in other foreign affairs differed from those of his chiefs, all officials took pains to say that the counsellor had carried out administration policies when once agreed upon.

One phase of the resignation being widely discussed was that Mr. Moore, at the end of his administration, found himself performing duties usually assigned to officials far below the rank of counsellor, and at times learned much regarding the administration's policies from news dispatches. One of such instances being referred to today was when Mr. Moore first heard, through the newspapers, of the sending of John Lind to Mexico.

The office of solicitor of the department also is vacant, no successor having been chosen to Joseph W. Folk, who resigned to become chief counsel to the interstate commerce commission.

revolt in Mexican warfare, ended at Topolobampo after a half hour of ineffective firing between the rebel warship Tampico and the Federal gunboats Morelos and Guerrero, which steamed down from Guaymas for the attack.

The Tampico remained at Topolobampo after its crew had mutinied and turned the little vessel over to the Carranza forces. The Morelos and Guerrero arrived off Topolobampo and opened fire at long range. The Tampico remained inside the harbor while the Federal ships took positions out in the Gulf of California.

The Tampico's guns seemed to have a longer range than those of the Federal gunboats, and the latter drew away.

Federals Forced to Retire.

Chihuahua, Mex., March 5.—An unsuccessful Federal attack on the troops of Gen. Contreras at Pedricona, thirty miles southwest of Torreon, was reported here today. There also was said to have been a fight at the bridge of Picardias between Gen. Robles and a detachment believed to have been sent out from Torreon for the purpose of co-operating by flanking Gen. Contreras. The Federals were forced to retire.

Says England Cannot Act.

San Antonio, Tex., March 5.—Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock of the British navy, who stopped here today en route from Austin to Galveston, made the declaration "England cannot intervene in Mexico." He declined to make further comment on the Mexican situation.

More Press Comment.

London, March 5.—The policy of the United States toward Mexico occupied a leading place in the editorial columns of the English newspapers today.

The Evening Standard discovers "a marked change in the whole trend of American foreign policy. Instead of 'haughty isolation,' based on the strict letter of the Monroe doctrine, the United States is now becoming anxious to stand well with the European powers. The government at Washington is apprehensive lest if it become involved in intervention in Mexico, Japan might seize the occasion to carry her ambitious designs on the Philippines and Hawaii into effect and believes that Europe if so disposed could lay an embargo on Japan's ambitions."

Bryan Has Huerta Note.

Washington, March 5.—Secretary Bryan today made public the text of the latest note from the Huerta government, asking the United States to "reflect upon the consequences" of raising the embargo on arms for the Constitutionalists. It came to the state department through Charge Algara of the Mexican embassy here, and was the same communication recently described in news dispatches from Mexico City.

Diaz at Washington.

Felix Diaz arrived here today to attempt to get a hearing before the senate foreign relations committee and give his views on the Mexican situation. Pedro Del Villar and Cecilio Ocon, who represented themselves as his supporters, appeared before the committee yesterday to ask what attitude this government would take toward a revolution headed by Diaz. The general himself, in New York last night, declared he did not know the two men.

Republican Speech Saturday.

Senator Fall of New Mexico, Republican, will speak Saturday on his resolution requesting the president to advise the senate as to what measures have been taken to protect American citizens in Mexico.

No speeches on that subject have been made in the senate, and the administration let it be known that it did not welcome discussion on the subject in congress at this time.

NO LOOKING BACK IN DULUTH

New Evidence Constantly Being Published.

Since the long succession of Duluth reports were first published in the local press there has been no looking back. Duluth evidence continues to pour in, and—better still—those whose reports were first published many years ago, verify all they said in a most hearty and unmistakable way. Read the experience of Mr. William Bain, retired shoemaker, of 1230 Chester terrace. He says: "About three years ago, I wasn't feeling well and my kidneys were disordered. My back hurt me, too. I had heard and read about Doan's Kidney Pills being good for kidney trouble and I got some. I took two or three boxes and they did me so much good that I haven't had much need of a kidney medicine since, in fact, the cure has been permanent. I willingly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills when they cured me and you can keep on using my statement."

WOMAN FLEES.

Keeper of House of Ill Fame Has Warrant Standing Against Her.

A warrant charging Phyllis Pendleton, 207 Cumming avenue, with being the keeper of a disorderly resort, was sworn out yesterday afternoon by C. W. Smith of Duluth, under the Wisconsin Linley abatement law. The Pendleton woman was not apprehended last night by the police and it is said she has been allowed to depart from the city.

The warrant for the woman's arrest followed an attempt on the part of Smith to recover a diamond stick pin alleged to have been stolen from him on the night of Feb. 14, at which time he claims to have visited the resort. When he complained to the police of the theft of the pin on the night of his visit to the place he was arrested on a charge of visiting a resort of illfame, which charge was later changed to disorderly conduct.

WIFE OBJECTS TO THROWING OF SHOES.

Ordinary beatings from her husband when he returned home the worse for alcohol were not objected to by Mrs. Josie Smith, but when her lord and master began throwing his shoes at her she balked. In a complaint in a divorce suit filed yesterday she states that her husband, George E. Smith, was a habitual drunkard and had on many occasions beaten her when in that condition. What brought the action was the throwing of the shoes, which she says occurred on Feb. 20.

FIFTH CANDIDATE FOR THE MAYORALTY.

Shortly before the closing of the city clerk's office yesterday afternoon, Dr. John G. Barnsdale filed nomination petitions for his candidacy for mayor at the primaries. This will make five contestants in the race. The following are the candidates for mayor in opposition to J. S. Konkel, incumbent who stands for re-election following a recall petition: J. R. Ellis, Edwin T. Harris, A. J. McRae, Nils Peterson and Dr. John G. Barnsdale.

For commissioner in addition to Commissioner O'Hare, who is standing for re-election: A. S. Andrews, Andrew Ekstrom, A. D. S. Gillett, John J. Jensen and Walter B. Kellogg.

"Blind Piggers" Fined.

Fines amounting to $53 each were paid yesterday afternoon by Pearl Clark, Bessie Wilson and Mr. and Mrs J. Conway, who were arrested Tuesday evening on charges of selling liquor without license. The four were arrested on complaints made out by the chief of police and served by Detectives McDonald and Galvin.

For Sanitary Measures.

The Douglas County Medical association, at its meeting held last night, adopted resolutions recommending that a city and county hospital be erected for the detention of all persons afflicted with contagious diseases and that an incinerator for the city be built. Both hospital and incinerator were recommended to be built within a year.

Railroad Hearing On.

The Wisconsin state railroad commission is holding a hearing in Superior today in regard to railroad rates to Superior from points south of Ashland. The charge of discrimination has been brought by the Webster Manufacturing company of South Superior, which claims that the present existing rates are too high.

PROVISIONS OF CHARTER CLEAR

Bids Must Be Asked on All Purchases Above $100.

City Attorney Harvey Clapp today furnished City Auditor B. J. Campbell with a written opinion relative to making purchases in which he states that the charter cannot be evaded by drawing a number of requisitions under $100 each to pay bills of more than that sum.

He points out that the charter states that bids must be asked on all purchases of more than $100, except for patented articles or goods on which competitive bids could not be secured. The auditor asked for the opinion when he received several such requisitions to cover a bill of the water and light department. The goods were ordered at one time, according to the auditor, but the requisitions were of different dates, and each was under $100, the limit allowed by the charter for making purchases by requisition, or without advertising for bids. The attorney stated that this constitutes an evasion of the charter. The opinion of the city's officials is that the charter is too restricted in this respect and results in the city paying more for its supplies, but the attorney holds that the section is clear, although it may be unfortunate.

FIRE WARDEN HAS A BUSY MONTH

Many Inspections Made and Safety Devices Are Ordered.

Fire Warden J. J. Schinlaub transacted a large amount of miscellaneous business during February, according to his monthly report, submitted today to Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken.

Special safety features received considerable attention. Three fire extinguishers were ordered installed in moving picture shows. Of seventy-five extinguishers inspected, two were ordered repaired and forty-six recharged. One elevator gate was ordered repaired as was the guard of one fire escape.

Other items of the report include: buildings visited 1,058; basements visited, 847; notices to remove rubbish, 343; notices to repair stove pipes, 10; notices to remove ashes, 21; install red lights, 23; repair stove, 1; place exit cards, 3; clean stoves, 7; repair casing over boiler, 1; repair bridging over boiler, 1, and inside stand pipes inspected, 2.

Patents Potato Harvester.

Garden, Mich., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.) — A potato harvester is the unique contrivance invented by Theodore H. Sexton, a young farmer of Garden township, Delta county, and for which he has applied for a patent. Several of the machines are being made at an Escanaba iron works. It is claimed the machine will practically revolutionize the method of harvesting potatoes.

Woodworth N. D., Ambitious.

Woodworth, N. D., March 5.—Woodworth has ambitions to be the capital of a new county to be carved out of Stutsman. Some of the business men are anxious to commence the fight for county division now while others believe it would be better to wait a year or so.

I. W. W. LEADER DEFIES COURT

Frank Tannenbaum and Others Arrested in New York Church.

Invasion During Service Follows Speech in Public Square.

New York, March 5.—Unshaven and defiant, Frank Tannenbaum, erstwhile waiter but now leader of an army of the unemployed which, under the banners of the Industrial Workers of the World, stormed New York churches last night until the police interfered, was brought into Jefferson Park police court today for arraignment on a charge of inciting a riot. Two hundred of his followers, held during the night in three separate prisons, were sent to the Tombs, further downtown, all charged with disorderly conduct.

"Only the Start."

"This is only the start," said Tannenbaum. "The I. W. W. is behind every man arrested. If necessary we will bring 500 agitators into the city within the next few days. The reason so many men are unemployed is that the factories are working their hands from twelve to fourteen hours a day. We are going to send men into these factories and demand that the working hours be reduced to eight. This will solve the whole problem."

Tannenbaum had a cell by himself during the night, but his followers did not fare so well. Their numbers made it imperative that five or six be placed in one cell, and under the circumstances sleep was out of the question. Throughout the night yells and protests kept the other prisoners awake.

Arrested in Church.

The men were arrested in St. Alphonsus' Roman Catholic church on West Broadway, after they had disregarded warnings not to enter the church.

A Lenten service was in progress in the church when the men marched in. Women screamed when they saw the intruders, who, paying little attention to this, quickly occupied seats well in front. When the last of the men had entered the church, the detectives ordered the doors locked.

When the police entered the church building pandemonium ensued. For half an hour there was wildest disorder, due in a measure to the efforts of the police to separate the intruders from the worshipers.

The men were taken from the church in twos and conveyed in patrol wagons to the nearest police stations.

Urged Revolution Tactics.

The unemployed gathered in Rutger's square shortly after dark, as has been their custom, and were addressed by Tannenbaum. The meeting was a gathering of more than 1,000 persons, who listened to speeches which, the police charged, ridiculed churches which had sheltered the unemployed on previous nights, and urged that drastic methods be adopted to get what the speakers claimed were the rights of the needy. By order of Police Commissioner McKay, the speeches were taken down stenographically, including, it was said, a plea by Tannenbaum for the adoption of "the tactics of the French revolutionists."

The scene at the throng, under Tannenbaum's leadership, entered St. Alphonsus' church was an extraordinary one.

"You men," said Father Schneider, the priest, "surely know that you have no legal right to enter this edifice in a body and seize the place by force."

"Well, these men are hungry," said Tannenbaum. "We have no homes. We have no food. We demand a place to sleep and we demand something to eat."

Kindly but firmly Father Schneider responded:

"If you have come here to worship, you may remain. If you have come here to stay—with the idea of making a prolonged visit—it becomes my duty to say to you that you will have to get out."

By this time the police had arrived.

CONGRESSMEN WILL HEAR "MOTHER" JONES

Abandon Hearings at Boulder on Colorado Coal Strike.

Denver, Colo., March 5.—The change of plans whereby hearings in Boulder were abandoned, delayed the opening of the congressional investigation into the Colorado coal strike here today. Counsel for the miners explained that in view of the change of plans they had not had time to notify witnesses and the committee marked time during the forenoon.

Testimony of Gen. John Chase of the militia, regarding military activity in the strike zone, is expected to be the burden of testimony at the hearings here, which will be concluded by the end of the week. It is probable that "Mother" Mary Jones, now held incommunicado as a military prisoner in Trinidad, also will testify here.

The investigation committee will probably spend two days of next week at Steamboat Springs, where conditions in Routt county coal fields are to be investigated.

Says Union Hurt Miners.

Walsenburg, Colo., March 5.—E. G. Bettis, operator of the Independent Royal George mine, in Fremont county, on the stand yesterday before the congressional investigation committee, accused the United Mine Workers of America of constantly interfering with the dealings of his company with its employes. The witness declared that as a result of this alleged interference the miners actually earned less under union conditions than they did under the open shop system.

Bettis, who appeared for the mine operators, signed a contract with the union after the strike was called and his men went back to work. His relations with the union terminated, he said, when the miners went on a second strike because the company refused to reinstate a man laid off after being employed for temporary work.

Bettis testified that the union tried to prevent his selling coal to an electric light and power company which furnished power to his mine, giving as a reason the fact that the electric company also furnished power to the Victor-American Fuel company.

EATING RELIEVES STOMACH TROUBLES

A Prominent Physician's Advice.

"Eat good foods and plenty of them. Dieting, in many cases, is almost criminal. Get back to normal. To do so you must have the proper quantity of nourishment. You need it for brain or physical work. Probably there is nothing the matter with your stomach except acidity. That is merely an abnormal secretion of acid in the stomach. Neutralize that acid and your stomach trouble will end at once. Neglect may mean ulcers if not cancer of the stomach. Do not take patented medicines or pepsin tablets for dyspepsia. Simply take a neutralizer of acid. Decidedly the best neutralizer is ordinary druggist's bisurated magnesia. You can get it at any drug store for a few cents. Take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water after each meal. The relief will be immediate."—Advertisement.

PROGRESS IN AGRICULTURE

Students at High School Pursue Various Lines of Study.

Excellent progress is being made in the agriculture courses now offered in the high school under the instructorship of Mr. Gibson.

The students have been furnished with individual copies of the following bulletins: "Concrete About the Home and on the Farm," "Minnesota Farmers' Institute Annual, 1913," "Care and Management of Poultry," "Marketing Eggs From the Farm," "Dressing and Curing Meat For Farm Use," "Selecting and Storing Seed Corn," "The Farm Vegetable Garden," "The Keeping of Dairy Cow Records," "Soil Tillage," "Rope; Some Knots and Splices."

Aside from these bulletins some valuable literature has been received from manufacturers of dairy equipment and from breeders' associations.

Series of Lectures.

A series of agricultural lectures is being given before the classes this spring by prominent agricultural experts of this section. The idea is to make these lectures the equivalent of an agricultural institute of such nature as to give the school work a practical and local application as seen by men who know local conditions from actual experience and experimentation.

Through the kindness of J. W. Nelson, an incubator is being used this week for class study in agriculture.

The agricultural students are now handing in their preliminary sketches preparatory to making individual sets of building plans of dairy barns for breeders' or dairymen's herds of various numbers. For suggestions in this matter, E. P. Gibson, instructor in agriculture at the Central high school, has procured blue prints and specifications of a number of styles of barns from the United States bureau of animal industry, from the James Manufacturing company and from the Louden Machinery company. Floor plans and cross-section drawings are to be handed in complete before the close of the present semester.

Lantern Slides.

Mr. Gibson is having a set of lantern slides prepared for lecture and class work on "Dairy Cattle and Dairy Equipment." These have been carefully selected from the best of sources and will be of immense value to the work.

Regular class work on field and garden crops will begin next week. Soils, forage crops, root crops, grains, potatoes and garden crops will be studied from a local point of view.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women, as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and then just to keep in the pink of condition.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Woman's Realm

Mrs. George Vincent, wife of the president of the University of Minnesota has written a play, "A Cowboy in a Kurhaus" which has recently been presented in Minneapolis at the Schubert theater and proved most delightful.

The play was given for the benefit of the Dean of Women's fund and netted $3,000 from three performances. The following notice of the play which appeared in the Minnesota Alumni Weekly of March 2 will interest many here who are former students of the university or are numbered in the circle of Mrs. Vincent's friends:

"Mrs. Vincent's play, 'A Cowboy in a Kurhaus,' is a success from every point of view. Three packed houses attested its production and the finances show a margin of $3,000 profit for the Dean of Women's fund. The play pretends to be nothing but a jolly comedy and give opportunity for much 'business' that is very taking. It is nowhere prosy, nor does the movement drag at any point. Those who took the various parts entered into their parts with zest, and the result was a thoroughly enjoyable evening for those who made up the audience, and if we mistake not for those who took part in the play. Dean Downey and Professors Frelin and Northrop made typical patients and were always in the background of the picture, though frequently in the limelight of the attention of the audience. Hugh Mercer, Principal Moyne and Prof. Andrist carried out their parts to the life, while Isabel Vincent and 'Emmeline', so named in honor of the great militant suffragette, though as his mistress said, 'the name was not altogether appropriate,' received repeated cheers.

"Miss Helen Abbott as the heroine, and Miss Ruth Harding as the slangy young American were convincing. Dr. Burton played the German count and was equally convincing in tennis suit and with the fuss and feathers of his uniform, and fairly outdid himself as an improvised auctioneer, when between acts he auctioned off the posters contributed by the Attic club and added $200 to the fund."

"The audience insisted upon calling Mrs. Vincent before the curtain, but could get no speech from her. The play was put on under the direction of Prof. Charles Mean Holt, and E. B. Pierce was business manager."

Others who took part in the play were Lester T. Banks, Charles W. Ames, Mrs. Winter, Mrs. Carl Schlenker, Miss Margaret Ames, Mrs. A. A. Law and Prof. F. L. Washburn.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

"Inauguration of Nations" Presented.

A group of members of the West Duluth W. C. T. U. presented the inauguration of nations at their clubrooms in the West Duluth library yesterday afternoon. Charades, character impersonations and music were enjoyed. Mrs. E. Hall gave two piano numbers, "Valse de Concert" (Wieniawsky) and Fantasy in C minor (Chopin). Miss Sylvia Bevier sang "The Thought of You" (Oley Speaks) and "Cloud Shadows" (James H. Rogers). A reading, "The Mother," and several Swedish dialect selections were given by Mrs. Eva Sawyer Parker. Mrs. Joseph Cockran won the favor of the afternoon.

A St. Patrick's day party has been planned for the afternoon of March 17. The hostesses will be: Mrs. George Little, Mrs. Milton E. Alley, Mrs. Samuel Huston, Mrs. G. L. Shoup, Mrs. Joseph, Cochrane, Mrs. W. H. Keeler and Mrs. Joseph Gibson.

MATINEE MUSICALE.

Mrs. John A. Stephenson is receiving the requests for numbers to be given at the Request program of the Matinee Musicale to be held March 24. She urges members to present their requests at once.

Glee Club Coming.

The Minnesota Alumni Weekly of this week announces that the Minnesota Glee club will come to Duluth a little later this spring for a concert here.

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER APPEARS IN MASQUE

—Copyrighted by the Bain News Service.

MISS ELEANOR WILSON, PERCY MACKAYE, MISS NORA HARRIS.

Percy Mackaye is the author of the masque called "Sanctuary" in which Miss Eleanor Wilson appeared in New York at the Hotel Astor. Mr. Mackaye is a son of the late Steele Mackaye, some of whose plays had phenomenal runs on the New York stage. Mr. Mackaye is himself a playwright and his play "A Thousand Years Ago" was produced recently in New York with success.

Officers Elected.

The annual election of officers was held at the meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Second Presbyterian church yesterday. Those elected were: Mrs. James McInnis, president; Mrs. John Page, vice president; Mrs. Robert Gillion, second vice president; Mrs. C. L. Stephens, secretary, and Mrs. John Ledingham, treasurer.

The Morningside club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. F. E. Hunn of 102 Summitt street.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. W. J. Olcott and the Misses Olcott will leave soon for California, where they will join Mr. Olcott.

Miss L. B. Hays of Lebanon, Ky., is the guest of Mrs. D. H. Haslam of 467 Mesaba avenue. Miss Hays has taught in the public schools of Nome and Candle, Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Turrish have returned from their wedding trip. They will leave in a few days for a three months' trip in the West.

DEFENDS HUSBAND; GETS HIM SENTENCED.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 5.—Mrs. Minnie Taylor, wife of John M. Taylor, a mining engineer, won probation for her husband on a bigamy charge, and then sent him to the county chain gang for two years to provide $1.50 a day for her and her two children.

Taylor was held on three charges: Bigamy, for having married May Reddy in New York, while still the husband of Mrs. Minnie Taylor; passing bad checks, and failure to provide for his legal wife and two children.

Mrs. Reddy Taylor prosecuted the bigamy charge, but the wife, Mrs. Minnie Taylor, defended her husband, saying that excessive use of liquor had rendered him irresponsible.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Fault Is With Dancers, Not With Dance.

This one's and that one's opinion of the modern dances are not productive of any definite ideas of their modesty and morality. One authority pronounces them beautiful, graceful, modest and without flaw whatsoever. Another makes the sweeping assertion that they are not fit for decent folk to dance or to witness. In fact, they lead to straight perdition.

Medical experts are of two minds regarding them, but that is to be expected, for doctors always disagree. One doctor claims that the modern dance steps are unequaled for reducing the waist line and for curing the ills of dyspepsia. Another doctor is just as positive that they make for poor figures, deformities, and encourage superfluous flesh.

The church has also taken a hand, going so far in some cases as to prohibit certain dances under pain of mortal sin. Some of the more conventional society women will not countenance them at such affairs as have their patronage. State solons have taken it upon themselves to investigate the pros and cons. And at last a little light is commencing to dawn upon the dance situation.

And so, it is not remarkable to find, after some of the smoke has been cleared away, that the trouble is not with the dance as a usual thing, but with the dancers, at least, with some of them. This is a state of affairs that we have to meet in all issues of life—not alone the dance, but with every innocent pleasure. Indeed, every phase of living may be so distorted from its original idea that its own mother would not recognize it.

The waltz is considered a beautiful as well as a proper dance by everyone who does not count dancing in the nature of a cardinal sin. Yet, who has not seen it shorn of all its beauty and made into a caricature of grace? Who has not seen it danced so vulgarly that it made one marvel at the manner of mind that could prefer this version of it to the oroginal conception?

The tango in the original, or as introduced by teachers of dancing in this country, is not in the least objectionable. It no more deserves censure than the waltz at its best does. And what is true of the tango is true of all the new dances. It must be admitted though that the new steps and poses as executed by some are enough to prohibit their presentation. However, the fault is not with the dance but with the dancers.

ARTIST "PEEVED" AT AMERICAN ACADEMY

JANET SCUDDER.

Janet Scudder, one of the best-known American artists, has just had a very unpleasant experience with the American academy. She persuaded Mme. Poupelet, a prominent French sculptor, to send some of her work here for the Winter academy. Mme. Poupelet stands very high in Paris, ranking with the men sculptors who exhibit at the Salon. When the Poupelet works arrived the judges of the academy rejected all but one small piece. Miss Scudder thinks they were lacking in judgment. Miss Scudder has done some very significant work in sculpture, her latest work being a memorial fountain to the late D. B. Burnham, which is to be placed in Burnham Green, Manila.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Motion Pictures.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

Here is what the Milwaukee Sentinel said of "The Traffic" which will be presented at the Lyceum for three nights beginning Tuesday:

"It is no easy task to write of 'The Traffic' while the wounds from its relentless flail are still bleeding and raw. Seen at the Davidson theater Thursday night, this expose of some of the methods of the white slave traffic shocked and horrified an audience that filled every seat in the theater. Long before the doors were opened the gallery crowd was struggling for admission, and it is estimated that hundreds were turned away. Such is the power of curiosity, of the appetite for abnormal. But for once the cheap sensationalism undoubtedly expected by many was not present, and those who came seeking it went away hushed and in most instances thoughtful.

"It is a terrifying play. It takes you by the throat and chokes you. It grips you by the heart and wrings it. It stirs you to the depths. You may squirm. You may argue that the stage is no place for the presentation of such themes but all to no avail. You may insist—and with truth—that the play is preachment rather than drama, that it is crude, that its argument is false at least in part and that its doctrines, as voiced by Molly McGuire in the last act, are dangerous. Still the vital fact remains. It may be exaggerated, but it has a terrifying ring of naked, brutal truth. It takes you by the shoulders and forces you to look with wide open, horror stricken eyes at things to which you have kept them closed before, things which exist and thrive because of that very blindness.

"Go to the play out of curiosity if you will. Seek in it the abnormal and the sensational. Laugh in the wrong places out of hysteria or defiance or sheer thoughtlessness, as many did Thursday night, but before the play is over be sure that it will 'get you' and that you will not shake it off lightly, hard as you may try. Rachael Marshall's play carries with it the conviction that she knows what she is writing about, and in her sincerity, her honesty and her daring she has done a great thing thing for the fight which society is making against one of its greatest curses. It will do much to shake that same society out of its smug indifference and to tear aside the coat of self-righteousness."

Four acts of the seven on this week's Orpheum bill stand out as among the most popular of their type of the season and they are proving the drawing card that is setting a new mark for attendance for the year to date.

Probably the comedy hit of the bill is provided by Van Hoven, the eccentric "magician," whose feats of "magic" are but the peg on which he hangs a monologue and some very amusing comedy stunts.

Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield, in their act, consisting of songs and travesties, have scored a genuine hit at every performance this week. Their telephone song and their travesty on the talking motion pictures are clever and amusing.

The Brads offer some of the best pantomime comedy in their acrobatic act seen this season. The man has a very funny makeup and he goes through his difficult tricks in a most amusing way. Difficult and unique as his tricks are, he gets more laughter from his pantomime than he does applause for his acrobatics. The young woman in the act is also a very clever performer.

Last but not least is Eugene Damond, the young violinist, who is creating much comment among musicians this week. The young man admits that he is appearing in vaudeville under an assumed name, fearing that a vaudeville tour would detract from his earning ability in the concert field. His father, who travels with him, says the young man is well known in musical circles in both New York and London and has appeared in recital many times in each of those cities.

The other three acts on the bill are up to the usual Orpheum standard and the bill as a whole is proving a very popular one.

Four acts of variety with a three-reel feature film will compose the bill at the Empress for the last three days of this week, commencing with the matinee performance today. Headlining the bill is Frank Bush, "the greatest story-teller in the world." Mr. Bush has such a big collection of stories that his act is changed twice daily. He imitates the Irish brogue in telling an Irish story, the Swedish, negro and many others.

Jack Bessey and Nell Paul will present a novelty society sketch entitled "The Morning After." The sketch is full of ginger and complicated situations. The comedy element predominates.

The Three Flying Kays have an aerial act that requires much skill and careful judgment of time and distance.

Leonard and Haley are a pair of singers who are presenting some very popular songs. They use many costume changes.

Opening this bill of vaudeville will be a three-reel feature film, "The Reform Candidate." This picture, with Lamar Johnstone and Francella Billington in the leads, tells a very interesting story of a strenuous fight against corrupt government.

For Friday night, at both shows, the Empress management will again offer its patrons an extra feature, another tango contest. Many contestants have entered their names.

TWENTY-YEARS LIMIT FOR KILLING SEVEN.

Nantes, France, March 5.—Marcel Redureau, the 15-year-old lad who last September killed seven persons with an ax at Basbriage-En-Landreau, was found guilty yesterday of the charge against him, and sentenced to twenty years in prison. The sentence is the maximum allowed by law.

In summing up for the defense, the boy's lawyer declared that at the time of the murder the lad was laboring over nervous fatigue due to hard work. When asked if he had anything to add to the words of his lawyer, Redureau rose with lowered head and wept, but said nothing.

Redureau, a vine-cutter, during a quarrel with his employer, killed the man with one blow of an ax. Entering his employer's house, in one room he slew his employer's wife and servant, and in another his employer's mother and three children. At the commencement of his trial Tuesday, Redureau sobbingly admitted the charge against him. A commission of doctors reported the boy apparently not in a normal condition.

COP BURGLARIZES POLICE STATION.

Eugene, Or., March 5.—While committing burglary in the police station, it is charged, Policeman P. E. McCune was arrested here. His alleged "haul" consisted of two bottles of prune brandy which had been confiscated in a raid on an illicit still.

It was discovered that some of the liquor stored at police headquarters had been removed, and the store room was watched. McCune was arrested, according to the police, as he was in the act of slipping two bottles into his pockets. A warrant was sworn out, charging him with burglary.

CLAIMS PERMISSION TO USE BANK FUNDS.

Portland, Or., March 5.—Charged with appropriating to his own use $18,202 of the bank's funds, Thomas R. Sheridan, former president of the First National Bank of Roseburg, Or., was arrested here. He was given a hearing in the United States district court and released on a $6,000 bond. Sheridan recently was indicted by a Federal grand jury on eight counts. It was charged that he lost the money in personal investments. Sheridan asserts he obtained verbal consent to use the bank's funds.

CAN LIMIT SALE OF PRISON GOODS.

Washington, March 5.—The house passed a bill to authorize the states to prohibit, by local laws, the sale of convict-made goods in the original package shipped in from outside the state.

COMPARES POLITICAL SPEECH TO PAINTING.

Chicago, March 5.—"A political speech should be as beautiful as a painting; its sequence of ideas should resemble the natural passage of chords in music," said Miss M. Katherine Lyons to a class of members of the Woman's party of Cook county. The teacher was an instructor in oratory and her pupils were prospective stump speakers, seeking light on how best to capture elusive votes in the coming spring elections.

Another idea which the teacher sought to implant in the minds of her hearers was:

"You must avoid a surplus of scattered ideas and seek harmony, simplicity and unity."

SHOOTS AT RAT; BLOWS UP WIFE.

Springfield, Ill., March 5.—When John Ross, living near Girard, fired a shotgun at a rat in his coal house, with his wife standing nearby, a can of blasting powder stored in the shed was exploded. Mrs. Ross was frightfully burned and is in a serious condition. Ross and Rolin Durche, who ran to her assistance, were also badly burned.

Cup for Capt. Inch.

Halifax, N. S., March 5.—The presentation of a silver cup and an address on behalf of the citizens of Halifax to Capt. Francis Inch, hero of the Volturno disaster, took place yesterday at the city hall. Mayor Blight made the presentation and Lieut. Governor MacGregor gave an address. Capt. Inch, who made his first visit to Halifax since the disaster, was taken completely by surprise.

GIRL BUTCHERED; CHINESE ARRESTED.

Stockton, Cal., March 5.—The body of Esther Crotzer, who had been missing from Stockton for six weeks, was found yesterday in Trapper slough, near Holt, Cal. The body had been cut in eleven pieces, which were contained in four sacks. The fall of water in the slough exposed the sacks. A Chinese barber in Holt is under arrest.

FOURTEEN YEARS FOR EMBEZZLER.

Muskogee, Okla., March 5.—W. S. Wainwright, former county treasurer of Muskogee county, was last night found guilty of embezzlement and sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary. Eight charges, alleging embezzlement of a total of $55,000 of county funds, were placed against Wainwright, although he was tried and convicted upon but one, the alleged embezzlement of $7,500.

Rogers Heads Brick Men.

New Orleans, La., March 5.—Eben Rogers, Alton, Ill., was elected president of the National Brick Manufacturers' association in convention here. Other officers elected include C. P. Mayer, Bridgeville, Pa., first vice president; Charles J. Deckman, Cleveland, second vice president; Theodore Randall, Indianapolis, re-elected secretary.

Rugby Man Can't Explain.

Rugby, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. C. Romaine, who disappeared from home several months ago, and who was found in a St. Paul hospital last week and returned to his home here, is still unable to give any connected account of his wanderings. Mr. Romaine's residence in Rugby was established when he told hospital attendants that he had relatives.

AN APPEAL FOR NATIONAL HONOR.

President Wilson, in urging the repeal of the provision exempting American coastwise vessels from the payment of Panama canal tolls, told congress today that this should be done not only because the provision is mistaken economic policy—that is, it is a ship subsidy and ship subsidies are immoral and dishonest—but because it is "in plain contravention of the treaty with Great Britain."

"The large thing to do," he says, "is the only thing we can afford to do—a voluntary withdrawal from a position everywhere questioned and misunderstood."

The president's brief but eloquent message is an appeal in behalf of the nation's honor—an appeal to congress to make good the nation's pledged word.

If congressional ears are deaf to such an appeal, then we have come upon sorry days indeed.

Old Man Winter's second wind?

THE MANAHAN OF WALL STREET.

David Lamar, called "the wolf of Wall Street," lately made loud charges against the United States Steel corporation.

Upon close inquiry, the facts upon which these charges were based prove to be non-existent.

David Lamar must be the Jim Manahan of Wall Street.

MacNaughton of the Calumet & Hecla denies, on advice of counsel, that he gets $100,000 a year. It isn't every man who has to consult his lawyer before denying that charge.

THE EXPERTS AND THE WATER RATES.

After it had established a new schedule of water rates in this city, the commission decided to have experts analyze that schedule.

These experts now confront their task. They should be aware—as they doubtless are—that this is a matter of great importance to Duluth, and that the citizens of this city will watch their deliberations with the keenest concern.

It is fair to assume, and we are sure every citizen does assume, that the experts approached this task with a determination to make an original study, and to make it thoroughly, painstakingly and with utterly no purpose either to justify or to condemn the new rates.

It is fair to assume, and we are sure every citizen does assume, that in making up their minds about these rates the experts will consider only the best interests of the community, and the best interests of the water department as an instrumentality that should deal justice to all alike, that should be made to serve the community to the utmost and that should be maintained upon a sound financial basis.

If these assumptions are correct—and we are certain that they are—the experts will undoubtedly pursue their investigation so as to find the right answers to these questions:

1. Should water rates be reduced to ordinary consumers when no provision has been made for retiring the large bonded debt, interest charges on which now constitute half the cost of water to the consumer?

2. Is it good business to increase by twenty per cent the rate for lawn-sprinkling?

3. Is it good business to increase by 150 per cent the charge for leakage and bleeders?

4. Is it good business to increase, to the extent proposed, the rates to large consumers who can, if the rates become too high, seek other sources of supply?

5. Is water sold to these consumers at a loss when their rate is less than the gross average cost of all water consumed, considering the fact that equipment extensive enough to supply all needs has to be maintained whether these large consumers use city water or not? Is such business not a parallel with the sale at low rates by electric companies of large quantities of electric power required to be maintained during "peak-of-the-load" hours, but otherwise wasted outside of those hours?

6. Is it good business or justice to make a large service charge for the use of standpipes and sprinkler systems when these constitute additional fire protection and a saving to the city at no expense whatever?

Such questions as these, we are sure, the community wants these experts to answer. It is in more or less doubt about them now. The employment of experts by the commission indicates that that body also is in more or less doubt about them.

It is of the highest importance that they should be answered authoritatively.

That is the business before the experts.

At least, nobody will object to John Lind as counsellor of the state department on the ground of excessive garrulity.

THE COUNTIES AND THE STATE TAXES.

A curious use is being made of a statement issued from the state auditor's office showing that all but six counties in Minnesota last year got back from the state in road and school aid more than they paid in direct state taxes.

In some quarters this is being used to prove that the average citizen who lives in these counties is not concerned in high state taxes.

That looks a good deal like using this statement as a red herring across a very warm scent.

While all but six counties do get back from the state more than they pay in, this does not alter the fact that every county is paying into the state treasury more than it ought to pay.

The counties that get back from the state in road and school aid more than they pay in are not therefor less interested in whether the amount they pay the state is larger than it should be.

Neither are they less interested in whether the state properly applies the millions it gets from both direct and indirect taxation, or in the question whether these large revenues—more from railroads alone than from direct taxes—should not have made it possible to reduce the state tax rate, which has increased alarmingly in spite of enormous increases in indirect taxes.

Nor should this showing cause anybody to ignore the fact that though the levying of large new indirect taxes always has been accompanied by a promise that the direct state tax would be reduced or abolished, the more indirect revenue the state has received, the more direct taxes it has levied and the higher the state tax rate which everybody pays has mounted.

The whole state paid in last year $4,800,013.79, and road and school aid distributed to the counties amounted to $4,308,656.96. The amount paid in was $491,356.83 more than was returned by the state.

St. Louis county alone paid in $863,785.02 more than it got back. It paid in $1,115,253.19, and got back $251,468.17; of which the magnificent sum of $7,417.88 was for road purposes!

The six counties that paid in more than they got back, with the amount of the difference in each case, are as follows: Cook, $647.41; Hennepin, $485,092.34; Itasca, $34,870.06; Ramsey, $294,565.48; Rock, $4,087.82; St. Louis, $863,785.02. The total of these figures is $1,683,039.13, of which St. Louis county contributed ONE-HALF.

Which seems to show that St. Louis county is holding up its end in the support of the state government; and we will say for it that it is doing it cheerfully, too. It pays because the heavy assessments on its iron mines enable it to pay. It should pay according to its ability to pay, it IS paying according to its ability to pay, and it is glad it can and is paying.

A couple or more such snowfalls as this and there will be a tendency to regard the groundhog's prognostications as an exhibition of delightful fabrications.

A FAIR QUESTION.

Our local contemporary, which with a zeal and vaulting ambition worthy of a better cause has assumed the mission of celebrant of the virtues and magnificences of Governor Eberhart, says:

> It cannot be disputed that of all the governors of this state, none other has done as much to further state development as has Governor Eberhart. He has applied it practically; has familiarized himself with the viewpoint and needs, the problems and ambitions, the difficulties and possibilities of every section, indeed, of every county, and has used all his personal influence as well as the powers and authority of his office to hasten settlement and promote development.

Very interesting. And the results of all this? Where, pray, and what, are they?

Peary says the opening of the Panama canal will be quite as important to the world as was the discovery of the North Pole. Very handsome of Peary to say so, but what does Dr. Cook think about it?

NO TAGS FOR BARTENDERS.

Commissioner Hicken has dropped his proposed ordinance licensing bartenders. He says he had found that the plan hasn't worked much good where it has been tried elsewhere.

Whether it is for this reason—and if it is for this reason it would have been wise (we say it in all kindness) to discover that fact first—or because of the storm of opposition that arose, we guess it's a good thing that the plan is dropped.

Its purpose was excellent. It was aimed to put definite responsibility on the bartenders. But the purpose of every addition to the growing accumulation of regulatory harness always is excellent. The road to failure in the handling of the saloon question is paved with good intentions.

The danger is of getting the machinery so complex and elaborate that it won't operate. If mere passing of laws and creation of regulations would make people good, this would have been a paradise long ago.

In such enterprises as this, as in most enterprises, simplicity is efficiency, and complexity is dangerously weakening.

That fellow who got thirty years for stealing a kiss might be excused for wishing he'd stolen either one more or none at all.

A BUSINESSLIKE STATE LAND POLICY.

Below The Herald presents a tentative resolution urging the state of Minnesota to adopt the right kind of a public land policy.

It is an adaptation, in more concrete and definite form, of the resolutions on this subject by the Northern Minnesota Development association at the recent Bemidji convention, and subsequently indorsed by the Southern Minnesota Better Development league.

Upon something like this the policy of the Northern Minnesota Development association, of Northern Minnesota, and of the state as a whole, should be based. We have no pride of authorship, and shall be glad to see the resolution improved in details or in expression.

But on something like it the N. M. D. A., the commercial clubs of Northern Minnesota and the county development associations should take firm and vigorous action. And on something like it every candidate for the legislature should be pledged in unmistakable terms.

The growth and prosperity of Northern Minnesota, of every community in Northern Minnesota from Duluth to the Red River valley and from Pine county to Roseau, and of the state itself, must to a large extent wait upon the settlement and development of fertile acres now idle and unproductive; and this process must in turn largely wait upon the adoption by the state of a progressive policy in the handling of its own lands, which overlie Northern Minnesota like an outgrown swaddling cloth.

That is why this resolution concerns vitally every citizen of Minnesota, and especially of Northern Minnesota:

> RESOLVED, that we urge the state of Minnesota, the largest owner of idle lands in the state, to adopt a human and businesslike land policy that will hasten the settlement and cultivation of its idle acres, put them on the tax rolls and the list of producing lands, and profit the permanent school funds; and to this end we suggest that the state create, out of the proceeds of land sales or otherwise, an ample reclamation revolving fund to be devoted to the following essential features of reclamation:
> 1. Partial clearing of each tract offered for sale, so that the settler may make a living from the start and while clearing the remaining acres by his own efforts;
>
> 2. Drainage of submerged areas; and
>
> 3. Road-building so that settlers may carry their goods to tracts now inaccessible, and bring their products out to market.
>
> We suggest that the cost of each of these steps in reclamation be added to the price of the land when sold, and recovered into the reclamation fund for further use; that the price of the land, with the profits of reclamation, be placed in the permanent funds; and that the reclamation fund, when it is no longer needed, be restored to the fund from which it was diverted. Should privately owned land be benefited incidentally, it should be assessed its pro rata share of the cost.

Republicans and Mexico

Editorial in the Springfield Republican.

From now on it is the purpose of the house Republicans to comment on developments in the Mexican situation, thus departing from the policy of silence adopted at the instance of the administration.—New York Sun Washington dispatch.

The Democrats were the opposition party in the days before the Spanish war. Those were critical days. The yellow newspapers had begun to "play up" in their headlines any incident of the Weyler regime, whether true or false, that would inflame public sentiment in this country and strengthen the popular demand for intervention in Cuba. Then came the blowing up of the Maine.

Democrats in congress cut loose very early in attacking the Cuban policy of the McKinley administration. They could see in it nothing but vacillation and cowardice. Feeling irresponsible themselves, they were glad to nag and torment the Republican administration into war with a European power. And curiously reminiscent of that period is the speech by Mr. Mondell of Wyoming in the house of representatives on Friday. The jingo Democrats of the spring of 1898 declared they did not want war. Mr. Mondell says he does not want war. But like the Democrats of that earlier time, when the destruction of the Maine had rendered the Cuban situation enormously more difficult, Mr. Mondell gets busy the moment things begin to look desperate for President Wilson.

It is a great pleasure to say that the Republicans as a whole in congress have thus far acted with much restraint and discretion regarding the Mexican situation. High praise should be given to the Republicans in the senate who serve on the foreign relations committee for their conservatism and forbearance in this crisis. Men like Messrs. Root of New York and Lodge of Massachusetts have showed clearly that they place country above party. Nor should we fail to mention ex-President Taft's fine expression of moral support for his successor in his address Friday evening at Washington, when he declared against military intervention. Gratefully acknowledging all this, one may frankly call attention to the probable results of a radical change from this policy on the part of any large number of Republicans in a position to harass the present administration in its conduct of affairs.

If there are enough Mondells, they may easily force intervention upon the government. But what would probably happen, from the political or party point of view? Let Republicans remember the political developments of the Spanish war period. The moment the sword flies from its scabbard, which party derives the more political advantage, the party in power or the party in opposition? The truth is that the administration always has the whip hand in appealing to the patriotism of a people at war. The jingo Democrats in 1898 were left trailing after McKinley, and a sorry procession of snarling patriots they made as the president they had sought to put into a hole ran off with all the glory. President Wilson is altogether too shrewd and subtle a statesman, he knows the game too well, to let himself be dished by teasing party opponents if war is finally forced upon him.

"There will be no Cubanizing of Mexico," shouted a Democratic congressman from Texas in Friday's house debate, if military intervention comes. "Mexico is contiguous territory," he warned Mondell. In 1846-1848 the Democratic administration of the time conquered Mexico and despoiled her of immense territories in order to strengthen slavery in this country, but the Whig party, which righteously denounced the performance, went to pieces within five years instead of gaining strength and power. No one can tell what selfish forces, what passions a war of intervention in Mexico would now set loose in this country, but of one thing the Republicans of today may be sure—a policy of criticism designed to nag the administration into war would be the most stupid imaginable, in its remoter results.

A Class in English

From Life: (A Slightly Exaggerated Version in Order to Bring Out a Great Truth.)

Scene—A public school recitation room. One teacher and fifty-two pupils. Temperature 75.

Teacher—Attention, everybody. Remember, we have only forty-five minute periods to study the English language, five minutes of which have already gone. (She writes on the blackboard this sentence:)

"The plowman homeward plods his weary way:

Now we will begin.

Inquisitive boy (raising his hand)—What are the parts of speech?

Teacher (serenely)—You are out of order. We do not teach parts of speech now. You must have been talking to your grandmother—a very reprehensible habit.

Attention—In the sentence I have written point out to me the adverbial and binominal adjectival and descriptive noninterrogatory clause which relates to the pronomial participle.

Bright boy—There ain't none.

Bright girl (next to him, quickly raising her hand)—He don't speak right.

Teacher—What is wrong about the expression used?

Boy in corner (who reads the comic section of the Sunday papers, grinning)—Everything.

Teacher—Very well. Now give an interlocutory, adverbial, dependent action interrelated to the principal subject. Also what is the predicated, periphrastic inference surrounding the inferential paradigm?

From the class—(Silence and shuffling.)

Teacher (desperately)—Have I taken four years' course in modern pedagogy for nothing!

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Tumulty, secretary to the president, likes to go to the theater in the afternoons rather than at night.

Two or three times a week Joe forgets his troubles by dashing off to a matinee.

His object in picking the matinee performance is because he likes to have the evening in which to keep up a personal acquaintance with his bunch of youngsters at home. The evening is the only time he can see them and check up how many there are.

President Wilson has his theatrical tastes pretty well defined. Best of all he likes a light-waisted comic opera, or musical comedy, with plenty of tuneful songs and dancing. But he also has a great fad for going to see a so-called stock company each week. The average theater-goer looks on a stock company attraction at popular prices feel like spending $3 for a seat. The president does not figure just that way. He likes the idea of seeing the same players over and over again in different parts and comparing their work in various roles. He was so pleased with the work of one young woman in a Washington stock company that he wrote her a highly complimentary letter.

And she was smart enough not to turn the letter over to her press agent, to make the president sorry he had written it.

A new member of congress asked Minority Leader James R. Mann if a certain Democrat was radical in his views.

"I should say he was radical," replied Mann. "He's one of the most wild-eyed radicals in the house. If we can get the appropriation we're going to appoint a couple of keepers to go around with him."

Representative Henry D. Clayton, chairman of the house judiciary committee, that is now mulling over anti-trust legislation, is a man with a quick temper; but it acts like a scape-valve to keep him in good humor most of the time.

Some people get mad and stay mad and go about nursing a grudge after the manner of an elephant. With Clayton, however, a burst of temper seems to burn up any ill-will he has about him, and purify his system.

A while ago he was making a campaign speech and some pin-headed yap in the audience made a crack to him about an inconsequential personal matter that was nobody's business. Instantly Clayton was in a rage and he called that man every unflattering name he could summon to his mind—and he is some summoner in such circumstances. Then he went on with his speech as quietly and unemotionally as if nothing had happened. Before the day was over he chanced to meet the man face to face, but he showed no serious anger; because he had already told the man just what he could do, and the outburst had given his feelings adequate relief.

One of the first campaign speeches Clayton ever made was in a part of his native state of Alabama that was a Populist hotbed. They did not care to hear straight Democratic stuff that Clayton was about to offer and they began to hoot and in every way possible make it perfectly clear to him that he might as well save his speech for some other locality. Clayton, however, did not care to make any other arrangements. He had come to get that speech off his chest and he could not bear the idea of taking it back home with him. So he got up on a barrel, entirely surrounded by Populists and whiskers and told them that he was going to make a speech—regardless. He started in amidst derisive shouts and jeers to hurl a choice line of expletives at the crowd. Some of these expletives were so neat and expressive that the jeering multitude kept still occasionally to hear them. Every time there was a lull, Clayton inserted part of his speech, and then taunted them for having had to listen to it. Little by little he fed them the entire speech. It took him several hours, but he would have said his piece if it took a week. He is that kind.

All the other little irritations of life seem trivial to Clayton when compared with the extreme annoyance of having to deal with the patent wire paper holders of modern commerce. Clayton thinks the proper way to fasten together papers dealing with anti-trust legislation, or any other papers for that matter, is with a pin. Every time he picks up a bunch of papers fastened with a wire holder and they pull apart, he makes a few more or less impassioned remarks, throws away the wire holder, and replaces it with a pin.

* * *

Most of the time Clayton is extremely calm in his manner. He has the courtliness and courtesy of an old-fashioned story-book Southerner. When he rises on the floor of the house and utters even the simple words: "The ju-dee-ci-a-ry com-mit-tee," he is as quiet and dignified as if he had just been delegated to announce the Crack of Dooin.

Whenever an appropriation bill is being considered in the house, one will find in the lap of Representative Fowler of Illinois a copy of the bill all interlined and annotated in pencil like a schoolboy's Latin book.

For every item in the appropriation bill, Fowler has written below what that item was in the bill the year before. If he detects a raise in anybody's salary he arises to inquire why. Usually he is greatly opposed to having anybody's salary raised.

There is just one class of government employes that he thinks should have more money. And that is the scrubwomen.

To My Foe.

When I remember that within me lies
As much of human frailty as in thee;
That thou, too, feel'st a hurt because of me,
My soul above its rancor fain would rise.
I would that I might see with clearer eyes,
Or better still, with thine, if it might be
That thou through mine our difference could'st see,
The right such vision then must recognize!
But if, despite my earnest will to love
Instead of hate thee, I my quarrel find
To be just in my esteem, then prithee know;
Still one restraining thought all else above
I will not cease to keep in heart and mind—
Thou art my fellow-man, although my foe.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

A Mystery.

Biwabik Times: How the deuce is it that at the last election it was shown that the progressives are in the vast majority in the state, and yet the standpatters have nearly all the good jobs? We have often been informed that it pays to be conservative and this would seem to indicate that proof of the fact is offered.

Can't Improve on Him.

Bagley Independent: D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls, Minn., is again a candidate for state senator from the Sixty-fifth district, comprising the counties of Red Lake, Pennington and Clearwater. His platform is clearly set forth in his announcement and should the people of his district decide to send him to the senate we feel satisfied that they will make no mistake.

Dan's Not Popular—Oh, No!

Bemidji Sentinel: While the editor of this newspaper was in Thief River Falls for a few hours he learned enough of the public sentiment to convince him that good old Dan O'Neill is going to round out his legislative career as a member of the senate, despite the opposition of a vigorous young banker.

And They Probably Will.

Princeton Union: James A. Peterson of Minneapolis is in the fight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination to a finish. If he is to be eliminated from the contest it will be only after the votes are counted. Mr. Peterson is a firm believer in the primary election law, and if he is to be eliminated he proposes that the voters shall do the elimination.

So May It Be!

Ely Miner: Walter J. Smith has announced himself and put up his $50 as a candidate for re-election as state treasurer. It only remains for the powers that be to fix the amount of bonds for the term beginning Jan. 1, 1915, in order to save time. The voters will do the rest.

The Only Honest Course.

Carlton Vidette: The Democratic party platform was wrong morally on the question of Panama canal tolls. Presumably somebody representing the coastwise shipping business offered that plank urging discrimination in favor of the coastwise traders of the United States regardless of treaty obligations, and it went through. President Wilson is clearly right in standing for good faith and good morals and for the repeal of that legislation which ignores both.

Why?

St. Peter Free Press: Senator Clague has been mentioned as good timber for most every office floating around and his friends are still busy pushing the good things along. The latest in that direction is the suggestion by the Redwood Falls Sun that he be nominated for lieutenant governor, in place of Mr. Burnquist. It would be interesting to know why such an effort is made to get Mr. Clague into a legislative position. There certainly must be a motive behind this unusual activity, and the voters of the state at large in general and the voters of the Second district in particular would not seriously object to being informed as to what it all means.

A Humble Glory

Emporia Gazette: Always the Kansas papers are worth reading, and he who puts a Kansas paper down without reading the local news makes a mistake. For instance, in The Wellington News the other day was this item:

"There is tragedy in every life—if not on the way, then at the end. Last week the heiress, well provided to live—as the world believes—passed to her reward just at the beginning of life, and at the open grave met the poorest of God's poor, entering upon her journey into a far country. All inequality ends at the gateway to the tomb.

"And yet to Jane Billings existence was not without its compensation, though the exultant triumph of her life was only another tragedy.

"Born in England of the lower classes, she came to free America and last to Wellington, a good many years ago. She was a child of poverty, but filled with that glorious pride which battles ever against the poorhouse. She lived alone in a shack facing out on an alley, but she daily thanked her God it was not as a public charge.

"The greatest tragedy of her life up to that time was when she lost her husband, and there was not enough money to keep his body outside of the potter's field. Then came the great ambition—that her own body might rest in purchased ground. And she saved her pennies, how, keeping soul and body together, is known only to God and a few big-hearted neighbors. At last there was enough in her scanty treasury to meet the financial demand of burial outside the pauper lots, and she called Will Carson from the postoffice and placed the money with him so that she might have in death what she never had in life—the best.

"Sunday afternoon Dr. Jacoby preached a beautiful sermon over her body at the Lutheran church. Beautiful songs were sung. Flowers were in profusion—the church was filled with sorrowful-hearted people.

"Jane Billings had done her best, at the close of day was kindly remembered, and went to her grave as she wished, thank God, not bankrupt."

Our Cumbersome Investigations.

Wadill Catchings in the World's Work: By congressional investigation, by expensive and long-drawn-out litigation conducted by the attorney-general, we are endeavoring to learn some of the facts of industrial business so that its abuses may be reformed. Today, congress and the department of justice engage in lengthy and enormously expensive investigations to learn whether the facts show that the Standard Oil company, the American Tobacco company, and other large corporations are violating the law. After years of delay and enormously costly litigation, during which the companies continue to "earn" tremendous profits, the Standard Oil company and the American Tobacco company are finally "dissolved." Notwithstanding the "dissolutions," the "earnings" continue to grow larger and larger. The conditions in the tobacco business appear to be just about the same, and in the oil business the price of gasoline continues to rise. The value of Standard Oil stocks increases a hundredfold. Every one wonders what the facts are now. The department of justice is about to start in motion the slow, cumbersome and expensive machinery to find out. Would it not be better if, instead of knowing the facts about merely one or two specially selected companies at a time, we knew all the facts about all companies at all times?

His Stock in Trade.

Youngstown, Ohio, Telegram: The nervous little man next to the car window sized up the fat man who shared the seat with him and ventured the inquiry:

"How's business?"

"Can't complain," said the other laconically.

"What do you deal in?"

"Mothers-in-law, billy goats, the weather, slit skirts, tramps, stranded actors, candidates, politics and the like."

"Whattyye tryin' to do?" snarled the nervous little man. "Tryin' to kid me?"

"Nope," the fat man grinned. "The things I have named in a large measure comprise my stock in trade. You see, my dear sir, I am a professional writer of jokes and anecdotes."

The Trades of Business.

The World's Work: A profession may be defined as the practice of applying general laws or principles to particular sets of facts, which have to be investigated and verified as facts, in such a way as to secure particular desired results. The work of the business executive or manager is a profession within the terms of this definition. The work of the bookkeeper, of the stenographer, and of many others engaged in "business" is essentially as much the work of a trade as is the work of a plumber. The trades of business bulk larger than the profession of business, and to many casual observers they hid the fact that there really is a profession of business.

RAILROADS OF THE UNITED STATES

To the Editor of The Herald:

How many railroads are there in the United States, and which is the longest? I had a dispute with a friend. He said there were only 165, but I think there are more. Where could I get the names of all. Yours very truly,

E. M. K.

West Duluth, March 3.

These questions could not be answered in anything less than an extensive article. There are so many subsidiary lines that might be counted as separate railroad companies, or that might be included under one company, that it is impossible to even estimate the number of railroads. For example the Pennsylvania Lines include perhaps a dozen or more different railroad companies. The Chicago & Northwestern road includes as a subsidiary the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, which runs to Duluth, and also many other subsidiary lines. The New York Central Lines comprise a score or more of railroads.

This interlocking also makes it difficult to state definitely which road has the greatest mileage. It is probably the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, however, which claims 10,618 miles. If Canada were included, the Canadian Pacific with its 13,280 miles would undoubtedly be the greatest system. The Pennsylvania Lines have a total mileage of 9,568 and the Burlington has 9,074. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul lines aggregate 9,321 miles. The New York Central is credited with but 3,750, but if all its subsidiary and associated lines were included, as is the case with the other roads mentioned, it would probably rank with them.

You can get further information from the official Railroad Guide, which can be purchased at local book stores, or which may probably be found at the public library.—The Editor.

WHO KNOWS THIS POEM?

To the Editor of The Herald:

Some time last summer or autumn I wrote in to The Herald asking for a part of a poem, and I have not heard from anyone yet who has this poem. I have forgotten the title of it, but it represents a missionary visiting a blacksmith. While there the missionary noticed a pile of old hammers in one corner, and asked the smithy if he used all of them. The smithy answered, "No, those are all worn out," and ended as the poem goes like this: "The anvil wears the hammers out, you know." Then reasoned the preacher:

"And so I thought the anvil of God's word,
For ages skeptic blows have beat upon,
But though the noise of falling blows were heard
The anvil is unworn—the hammers gone."

If anyone knows the first part of this poem I would be very much accommodated to hear from them, and many thanks, too.

HIS SENTIMENTS, TOO.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Your editorial in this evening's Herald, entitled, "Wilson Stands Firm," expresses my sentiments exactly. I have been aching to write to your Open Court on this subject for some time, but somehow I couldn't marshal the desired phrases. But since you have now done it for me, let me add my hearty amen. Surely, it is the plain duty of every thoughtful citizen to do what he can, in whatever way he can, to uphold the hands of our worthy president and secretary of state.

THE OHIO SENATORSHIP—No. 2.

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—As usual, the political situation in Ohio is interesting. So it is in Kansas, where the Hon. Bristow is seeking to retain a toga that does not quite fit him. When I contemplate the Hon. Bristow's politics it is a reminder of the fakir at Stratford who had for sale two skulls—one small, the other large—of Shakespeare, and he explained that one was taken from the boy Shakespeare and the other from the man Shakespeare. At home on the stump the Hon. Bristow is intensely "progressive;" in the senate he is as standpat as Curtis, or Long, could be, not in his speeches, perhaps, but in his votes.

I would talk about Ohio. They say Joseph B. Foraker is fixing to run for the senate. Shouldn't wonder. He is a game cock. Had there been no Forakers in the Yankee armies the rebels would have got no glory for the fight they made, and the Yankees would have had no victory that they achieved. On the field of battle this man was worthy the steel of the bravest soldier the South enlisted.

And had he been born sixty miles south of where he was born there is very slight doubt that he would have been one of John Morgan's rough-riders. He is half Southern in blood; he is a pillar of the Methodist church, and had he been a Kentuckian it is almost certain he would have adhered to the church "South," and that meant the gray in the war, though there were exceptions, such as Brownlow in Tennessee.

Also he is a Methodist in politics, a warm, fervid, intrepid, camp-meeting-of-a-man, rising of Cain with all who disagree with him—at least that was the Foraker of forty years ago. I think he has got more sense now. He has got a clear eye, and no dishonest man can look you in the face as he does. In private conduct he is a clean man without vice, small or great. For his lights, such as they are, he loves his country, and would endure as much suffering for the flag as any man in the country. They say he is a very superior lawyer. I am not capable of judging as to that; but he is a superb public speaker and in debate he can hold his own with the best of 'em.

I have nothing but contempt and hatred for the way this man was undone politically. It was worse than the methods of Jonathan Wild, for Foraker was not, could not be, a criminal. I never spoke to Foraker in my life. If he were to meet me he would not know me from Adam; but I believe him an honest and a maltreated man.

As I said, Foraker was "chained lightning" when he was first elected governor. I think it was his intention when first inaugurated to go down and march through Georgia again. Charles A. Dana very aptly called him "Fire-Alarm" Foraker, when he took a fit over President Cleveland's assent to returning certain Confederate battle flags to the commands that had marched under them in the war.

Well, Foraker got brawly over that, and as a senator in congress years afterward he was the author of a measure that restored those flags to the men who had parted with them at Appomattox and at other surrenders. He did it in a graceful speech that discovered that he could be as generous in peace as he had been brave in war.

And he is a brave man. He even tackled John Sherman, and had the voice of his party been potent, at Columbus, Foraker, and not Sherman, would have been senator that time. He challenged Mark Hanna, and Hanna allowed his re-election. Nay, he challenged McKinley himself, and the president dipped his flag.

I do not believe that Foraker is as big an intellect as Burton, though he can beat him speaking. It may be that Foraker is a greater lawyer—I'm inclined to think he is—but for statecraft Burton is the superior. However, you put the two out before the people on the stump, and Foraker will "eat him up." Burton always stands aloof. He is a man apart. He was not on McKinley's side and he was not on Foraker's side. He appears to have about as much blood as an angleworm; he is cold as a fish. Now John Sherman, that they called "Icicle John," was really a fiery furnace. He was no sage field that you could put a match to and make a great conflagration without heat; but rather he was a coal mine, that burned, though it smouldered. Yet the heat was there, as hot as Vesuvius, and you can feel it if you read his book.

There! I sat down to tell you how John Sherman sacrificed the speakership of the house for the senate in 1861. He had the speakership, a bird in hand; he sought the senatorship, a bird in the bush, and got it. He should not have had it. Intellectually, Robert C. Schenck, whom he beat for the senate, was his superior in a hundred ways, and it was understood that Schenck was to be the successor of Chase in the senate.

But Sherman got it, and maybe it was that which kept John Sherman from the presidency.

N. B. MORRISON HEADS ELKS

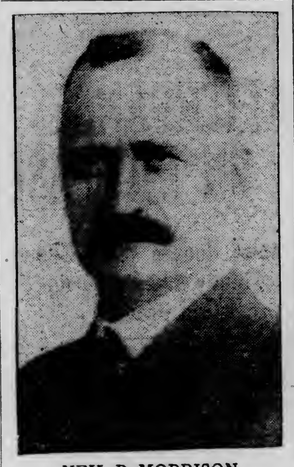
Prosperous and Successful Year Reported By Duluth Lodge.

Committee Unanimously in Favor of Summer Festival.

Neil B. Morrison was elected exalted ruler of Duluth Lodge No. 133, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at the annual meeting held at the club home, 311 West First street, last night. During the last year he served as leading knight.

Other officers chosen were: Leading knight, John E. Samuelson; loyal knight, A. J. McCulloch; lecturing knight, William J. North; secretary, George V. Heathcote, re-elected; treasurer, P. B. McTague, re-elected; representative to the grand lodge, E. J. Filiatrault; alternate representative, John L. Fuller; W. H. Alexander, trustee for three years; tiler, Jerry Seaman.

Last night's meeting was one of the largest which the local herd has ever held, and marked the close of the most successful year of its career. Under the direction of E. J. Filiatrault, who retired last night as exalted ruler, the membership has increased approximately 250. The lodge is in excellent financial condition.



NEIL B. MORRISON.

During the year plans have been in process of formulation for adding three more stories to the clubhouse, including gymnasium, baths, sleeping apartments, increased dining room facilities and enlarging the general club accommodations. The membership is now so great that the need of more room is being felt. When the addition is made, the Duluth Elks will have one of the most complete and handsome homes in the country.

Because of the lateness of the hour when the elections had been concluded and pending business transacted, the committee which had been appointed to investigate the midsummer pageant for 1915 did not make its report. It is stated that the committee has thoroughly gone into the matter and is unanimous in its approval of the project. The report will be submitted at the regular meeting to be held next Wednesday evening, and there is little question but that it will be approved.

Following the meeting a luncheon was served in the dining room.

SALVAGED SHIPS CHANGE OWNERS

Ontario Man May Own Matoa and Nicholas When Rebuilt.

Word comes from Cleveland that the Pittsburg Steamship company has accepted the offer of the Reid Wrecking company for the steamer Matoa. When the bids were opened the highest offer was $3,100. The Reid Wrecking company refused to accept it. The company has a half interest in the ship acquired by releasing her from Point Aux Barques, where she went ashore Nov. 9. In turn the Reid company then made an offer approximately 70 per cent higher than the high bid.

This makes the second wreck the Reid Wrecking company has bought in the last few days. The underwriters' representative sold the steamer I. W. Nicholas to the company for $6,000, subject to the approval of the underwriters, and will pay $35,000 for wrecking the ship.

Adam McKay of Hamilton, Ont., is reported to be a probable purchaser of both the Matoa and Nicholas after they are put in seaworthy condition. The Nicholas will probably be cut to Welland canal size. Mr. McKay also has a two-thirds interest in the steamer E. M. Peck, which was bought by the Reid company at marshal's sale. The Peck was wrecked by a boiler explosion at Racine, Wis., last season.

Mr. McKay also purchased the wooden steamer Byron Whitacker from the George Hall Coal company, according to reports that have reached here. The Whitacker, a Welland size boat, was sold to the Hall Coal company of Ogdensburg, N. Y., last fall by Capt. W. W. Eger of Chicago. In addition to these ships, it is understood Mr. McKay is negotiating for one or two other vessels.

The Algoma Central Steamship company of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., it is understood, has bought the steamer J. A. McKee from the Western Steamship company of Toronto. The McKee is a steel ship of 3,500 tons capacity, full Welland canal size, and built in 1908. The Western Steamship company owned the steamer Wexford, which was lost in the storm of Nov. 9 on Lake Huron, and the Algoma Central Steamship company owned the steamer Leafield, which was lost in the same storm on Lake Superior.

JUDGE IS IN TROUBLE OVER LONG SENTENCE

White Women Demand Leniency for Negro Who Stole Kiss.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 5.—Protests, threats of recall and denunciations have poured in upon Judge Willis of the criminal department of the superior court, because of his action Tuesday in sentencing to thirty years imprisonment Charles Guyton, a young negro convicted of highway robbery, although his only loot was a white girl's kiss.

Deputations of white women visited the judge to demand that action be taken to save Guyton from such severe punishment. Telephone messages informed him that petitions were being prepared for his recall. Other women called in person to say that steps would be taken to procure a pardon.

INCOME NOT TO BE TAXED TWICE

Commissioner Holds Assessment of Dividends May Be Deducted.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—Another of the many problems under the new income tax law has been solved by a ruling by the commissioner of internal revenue received by a St. Paul attorney who made returns under the law for a number of clients.

A client's gross income was $75,000 and the deductions were $40,000, leaving a net income of $35,000. Of the gross income, $50,000 consisted of dividends from corporations which already had paid the 1 per cent corporation tax. This remitted the normal tax on the net income and also showed $15,000 of the gross income had been assessed 1 per cent through the corporation tax.

The attorney inquired whether this 1 per cent could be deducted from the tax of 1 per cent extra levied on amounts running from $20,000 to $50,000.

The commissioner ruled that the taxpayer might apply the over payment on the additional tax, making such notations on the returns as would disclose the full facts on the returns.

In cases where the revenue derived from dividends exceeds the amount of net income, and the net income does not exceed $20,000, the ruling is that an application for refund may be made either by the withholding agent of the corporation or the individual on account of whom such taxes were withheld.

YES, CASTOR OIL IS THE BEST POSSIBLE CONSTIPATION MEDICINE.

"E. J." writes: "I am subject to constipation, and have noticed in a previous Doctor's Helps article that you advocate the free use of castor oil for its action on the stomach and the bowels. I wish you would advise me as to whether castor oil is better than the use of oils or other bowel medicine. I am also troubled with lumbago. Can you prescribe an effective treatment."

Castor oil is far superior for stomach and constipation trouble than any other medicine you can possibly procure. The real reason why castor oil does not do its most effective work in the average case is that an insufficient amount is taken. A big dose must be swallowed. No quantity less than two full tablespoonfuls of the stuff should ever be thought of being taken. The point is, get it in you—and half a glassful will be the best dosage. Nobody likes the stuff. But it can be fixed up in syrup and with seltzer water in such a way that you won't taste it. You must swallow it off, though, in a big gulp. Look at the ceiling and think of the pleasantest tasting drink you ever swallowed in your life whenever you have a dose of castor oil to get away with. After a certain small proportion of the oil has acted on the lining of the stomach and bowels, the excess quantity acts as a helpful lubricant. It acts also as a bolus and gives the bowels something to contract upon and push ahead.

Nearly everybody after a big dose of castor oil complains of being constipated for several days. This is perfectly natural, for the oil sweeps the thirty feet of intestines so thoroughly clean that there is nothing for the peristaltic action of the bowels to contract against. The simple remedy for this condition is for the patient to eat such things as graham bread, raw bran, wheat in the various preparations, well salted, as soon as the appetite returns. This will counteract the first few days of constipation following a dose of castor oil. The latter in itself does not constipate. It is purely the thoroughness with which the intestinal canal has been cleaned out that brings about the condition of constipated reaction.

Such things as celery would do you good, and if you would eat every day several saucers full of wheat you would be promptly helped. Do this: Get a bag of raw wheat from your grocer or the nearest dealer. Bake this in the oven. Then grind it fine in an ordinary coffee grinding mill. The ground wheat is then ready for eating. Chew it, and when you get tired of eating the raw article, cook it up into gems or eat it as a porridge. There are lots of ways to make it of an agreeable taste. Find them by using your own good experimental judgment.

Don't be afraid of castor oil. Furthermore, don't get scared at any unfavorable remarks made about castor oil. It is your best possible medicine—don't forget that. This will help your lumbago also. But the latter can be additionally aided by the application of several live dry cups to your stiff back muscles and a starvation diet for two days. Drink all the water you can swallow in this time. It will rapidly dissolve and wash away the poisons choking your back muscles and causing their exquisitely sensitive and painful condition.

HE IS BASHFUL AND KNOWS IT, BUT CAN'T STOP WORRYING.

"Will you please give me some help? I am working ten hours a day six days a week, and study several hours every night. I sleep poorly and am very nervous. Heavy work does not interfere with my thoughts. I have been taking pills for stomach trouble, but my bad feelings still persist."

Were you a patient of mine the first thing I would do would be to analyze your urine, then study your bowel movements which had resulted from a huge physic of castor oil. Each movement should be studied separately in a separate vessel. There is some irritative cause for your ailment and your bashfulness. It must be found first.

LITTLE ICE ON GREAT LAKES

Conditions Now Favorable for Early Navigation This Spring.

There is far less ice at the present time in the lake region than there was a year ago, according to the report just issued by the United States weather bureau. Most of the ice formed this year is said to have been formed during the cold weather in February. Conditions on the lakes indicate that navigation will open early this spring.

In the Duluth harbor the ice is reported to be 23 inches in thickness and the field extends from two to six miles out while beyond are broken fields and open water.

Extensive fields are reported to the north of Keweenaw Point, and over the eastern portion. At Whitefish Point the field is heavily windrowed and stationary. In the northern portion of Green Bay the ice is solid. In Michigan the fields are reported along the western and southern portions and also over the southeastern portion but are not heavy. At the Straits the ice is solid and not covered with snow. Open water is reported to the east of Bois Blanc Island.

In Lake Huron the fields are moving with the winds over the northern portion and are also reported over the central portion. The high winds of the first moved the field from the mouth of the lake to the east shore. St. Clair river is frozen from below Port Huron to Lake St. Clair where the ice averages 15 inches. Detroit river is open from the lake to about Third street, and frozen from there to Lake Erie. In Lake Erie the western portion is covered with ice to the east of Kelleys Island where open water is reported. Along the south shore and over the eastern portion the fields extend beyond vision but are not heavy. In Ontario the fields are not heavy and but few reported. Most of the harbors are closed east of Charlotte.

Lake Superior.

Two Harbors: Harbor is 12 inches in thickness and broken up around docks; open water in lake extends beyond vision.

Bayfield: Ice in harbor 18 inches in thickness; it is reported that the ice field extends beyond vision from the islands.

Washburn: Ice in harbor 24 inches in thickness; bay froze over on Jan. 1.

Ashland: Harbor ice 24 inches in thickness.

Port Arthur, Ont.: Harbor ice ranges from 14 to 25 inches; the lake is frozen over to Isle Royale; ice 14 inches at Thunder Cape and 25 at the breakwater; no channel cut yet.

Portage: Fields moving with the wind extend out about 4 to 5 miles; some open water visible.

Houghton: The harbor ice average 15 inches.

Pequaming: Harbor ice is 16 inches in thickness and extends beyond vision.

Marquette: Harbor ice 3 inches in thickness and is cracked; the most of the bay and lake are clear of ice; ice fields during January and February were light and of small area.

Munising: Harbor ice 16 inches in thickness.

Grand Marias, Mich.: Harbor ice is 16 inches in thickness; no heavy field ice visible in the lake; there has been but few fields noted during the winter; open water to east and west of this port.

Whitefish Point: The ice in the bay is 16 inches in thickness; no open water visible; the ice fields are stationary; fields heavily windrowed.

Sault Ste. Marie: Thickness of ice in the harbor 17.5 inches.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF---25 CENT DANDERINE

Ladies! Men! Here's the Quickest, Surest Dandruff Cure Known.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime — will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Operation Shock Fatal.

San Francisco, March 5.—E. W. Hale, a wealthy merchant of San Francisco and Sacramento, died in a hospital here today from the shock of a surgical operation performed several days ago. He was a native of Michigan, 67 years of age.

No Reprieve for Fariss.

Sacramento, Cal., March 5.—Governor Hiram W. Johnson returned a negative answer today to the telegraphic plea of Mrs. Edna Gerson Montague that he commute the death sentence of Ralph Fariss, who murdered her husband, Horace Montague, a Southern Pacific official, in a train holdup. Fariss is to be hanged Friday.

Mrs. Montague's appeal to the governor declared that all crime is a social disease and that the law of love should prevent hanging. Governor Johnson replied that he could not override the law and the courts.

YOUNG WIFE ASKS DIVORCE

Widow and Mother of Four at 23 Weds Second Time.

Other Divorce Cases Being Heard By District Court Judges.

Married at 19, and four years later left a widow with four small children, Gertrude Musol Chmieriez, lost little time in embarking on a second matrimonial voyage. In the divorce court today, she sought a separation from her second husband, Roman Trocki, on the grounds of cruelty.

Mrs. Trocki was formerly Miss Gertrude Musol. She is an attractive young woman and might easily be mistaken for a girl of 20. In fact she rather surprised the court with her story of matrimonial experiences and when she informed the judge that she was the mother of four children.

She was a girl scarcely 19 when she married her first husband, John Chmieriez, on April 3, 1903. They lived together happily until death invaded the family taking the head of the household away. Chmieriez died Nov. 23, 1912.

At a wedding celebration at the West end on Labor day last, the young widow and Trocki first met. They were introduced to each other by her first husband's mother. Trocki, aged 30, was a widower with one child, and a cabinet maker by trade. After a brief courtship they decided to get married.

They were married on Nov. 3 about two months later. Wedding vows were not yet cold on his lips, according to the young wife's story, before he broke them. She stood two months of abuse, at his hands, she said, and then left him.

"The very day we were married, he changed," she told the court. She testified that he came home about 11:30 o'clock one night and pulled her out of bed to get supper for him. She also stated that immediately after they were married he expressed his views on "free love" and gave her to understand that he could live with whom he pleased as long as he pleased and quit when he pleased. "He said his word was as good as any church or any court," she testified.

Helen Bartley Files, a young Duluth woman, was granted a divorce from Frederick J. Files, whom she married three years ago. The case was heard yesterday afternoon in Judge Cant's court.

The divorce proceedings brought out a story of a man's ingratitude for great sacrifices made for him by a wife, of how after she had stood by him loyally when he faced trial for forgery in the courts he forsook her.

The Files forgery case and the trial will be remembered by many Duluthians. Files first pleaded guilty, but later changed his plea to not guilty and stood trial. The jury disagreed and finally the prosecution was dropped, with the understanding that he leave the country for Canada.

Mrs. Files stood loyally by her husband during the trouble and was to have gone with him to Canada. He deserted her, however, and made no attempt to have her join him after he had left for Canada. She testified yesterday that she knew nothing of his present whereabouts.

So untidy a housekeeper is Bertha Johnson, 25, and her temper is such that George E. Johnson, 28, her husband, has been granted a decree of divorce from her on the grounds of cruelty. The decree was granted by Judge Ensign this morning.

The Johnsons were married at Superior June 5, 1907, and are parents of one child, Helna, aged 4. While living in Duluth, Johnson claimed that he was obliged to get his own breakfasts or go without and that his wife often struck him and scratched him. During the month of July, 1913, Mrs. Johnson left for California. She has refused to return, he says.

A charge of infidelity which was made against her in the complaint was not pressed at the trial of the case today.

Judge Ensign also granted a divorce to Karn Gudith Nelson, 45, from John Nelson, 44, whom she married in this city on June 14, 1912. Mrs. Nelson testified that three months after the wedding he came home drunk and abused her.

Mrs. Judith L. Johnson, 38, mother of four children, told the court that she no longer desired to continue as the wife of a man who denied the paternity of his own children. She asked for a divorce from Aulus Johnson, 46, on the grounds of cruelty. The case was taken under advisement by Judge Cant.

Judge Cant also took under advisement two other cases, both suits for divorce on the grounds of desertion. Walter S. Casselman, 33, claims that his wife, Grace L. Casselman, 28, after eleven years of married life, left him Aug. 9, 1908. There is one child in the family, Isabel, 8 years old.

Theresa Blair, 43, is asking for a divorce from Thomas J. Blair, 44, who she married at Chicago, Aug. 12, 1894. She claims that he deserted May 5, 1907. There is one child, Bertha, aged 18.

Judge Cant this morning ordered findings in favor of Bertha E. Gaster, 45, who sued her husband, George Bertram Gaster, 41, for divorce on the grounds of desertion. They were married July 28, 1898, at Denver and are parents of three children. The alleged desertion took place Aug. 28, 1911.

CALLS WILSON'S TALK PLEA FOR HONESTY

Adamson of House Committee Comments on Tolls Address.

Washington, March 5.—Speaker Clark today ordered the president's address referred to the interstate commerce committee.

Chairman Adamson, who will have charge of the repeal legislation, declared the address fitted his ideas exactly.

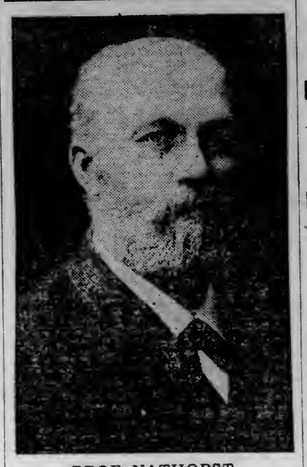
"The president's address pleases me," he said, "because it means honesty at home and justice abroad. It is not true that we are surrendering to Great Britain if we repeal the free tolls clause. I and other Democrats took a position against this piece of rascality before England ever heard of it."

Democratic Leader Underwood declined to discuss the president's address.

The section which Senator Chilton's bill would add to the Panama canal is as follows:

"The president, notwithstanding anything herein contained, is hereby authorized and empowered by proclamation to make, suspend, alter, change or abolish any tolls contemplated or provided for by this act, and may prescribe tolls to be charged in any case in which the tolls are prohibited herein."

PLANNED SWEDISH ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION



PROF. NATHORST.

Prof. Nathorst of Stockholm is one of the Swedish Antarctic committee which has planned a new Swedish expedition to the Antarctic to start in the autumn of 1915. The expedition will consist of ten scientific men. It will spend five years in exploration and scientific observation.

ATTENDANCE ON INCREASE

Social Center Work Shows Steady and Encouraging Growth.

The attendance at the social center meetings being conducted by Miss Marguerite Culkin, city social center director, is showing a steady and encouraging increase.

During February, the shortest month of the year, the sixty meetings which were held were attended by 2,294 persons. This is an increase of 400 over the January attendance and a gain of 800 over that for December.

Plans are now being discussed to keep two schoolhouses open for social center purposes during the summer months, in which event they would be under the charge of playground supervisors in their vicinity. No definite decision has been reached nor is it yet known which schools would be kept open if the idea is carried out.

Very little loss or damage of school property was reported. Only two electric light globes were broken and one copy of a school report missed. The light bulbs fell victims to volley ball players and the report was utilized to keep a score of the game.

VICTIMS IDENTIFY ALLEGED ASSAILANT

Johnson Is Said to Have Confessed to Minneapolis Police.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis T. Johnson, arrested near Russell, Minn., last night and brought here today by the local police, was positively identified by his two victims, Mrs. C. E. McRae and Leslie Almquist, whom he assaulted in the former's grocery store Saturday, according to the officials. Johnson is also said to have made a confession to the officers before leaving Russell.

A warrant charging Johnson with robbery in the first degree was issued by County Attorney James Robertson. The charge, on conviction, carries a sentence of imprisonment of from five to forty years.

ACCUSED OF SPENDING $40,000 FOOLISHLY.

Kansas City, Mo., March 5.—Charges of making unwarranted payments amounting to "not less than $40,000" of the funds of the Southwestern Interstate Coal Operators' association, are contained in a suit in equity filed in the circuit court here today against Charles S. Keith, president of the association. The action was brought by four coal companies of Fort Smith, Ark., known as the Bache-Denman interests.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twings. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

WILL BOOST WHOLE STATE

Minnesota Farm Land Association Organized at Minneapolis.

Legislature Will Be Asked for $100,000 for Advertising.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five hundred landmen had a "get together" convention today and organized the first state-wide development association in the history of Minnesota. The organization is to be called the Minnesota Farm Land association. A committee reported in favor of naming it the "Minnesota Land Advancement association," but the convention turned this down.

The most notable feature in the by-laws is a provision that no officer of the association shall take part in politics. The moment any officer becomes a candidate for political office he is to be forced to quit the association.

The committee on resolutions presented a long report pledging the association's support to all the various movements for the development of the state and its resources.

Ask $100,000 for Advertising.

The immigration department of the state was indorsed, and it was recommended that the next legislature appropriate $100,000 to be used by the immigration department for advertising purposes.

It was further recommended that a real estate brokers' license law be presented to the next legislature.

An appropriation for an adequate soil survey of state land was recommended, and the good roads movement was indorsed.

J. J. Hill delivered a brief address at noon in which he said that the best way to advertise land is to make the land advertise itself by its production. He said as long as land is producing a profit of only $3 to the farmer, it is going to be impossible to sell it or induce outsiders to settle on it. He said that by proper methods of handling land, the farms which are now selling for $60 an acre can be made to return 10 per cent profit on a valuation of $150 or $250 an acre.

After 300,000 Settlers.

The association will undertake to locate 300,000 bona fide settlers on Minnesota lands within the next five years. The convention was attended by several hundred men who believe in Minnesota and its future.

Chairman E. C. Garrigues said that, while each section of the state has its own peculiar problems, there are problems common to the whole state, and that there is need for a state-wide organization, forgetting sectional lines.

Edward M. Lehnerts of the university spoke on the opportunities Minnesota offered as a sight-seeing state, and urged the necessity of advertising natural beauties to attract tourists and pleasure-seekers. Others who spoke were Dan Wallace of the St. Paul Farmer, and J. C. Morrison of Morris.

The convention went on record as favoring efforts to raise money to give Minnesota representation at the San Francisco exposition in 1915.

BAD PAPER CAUSES CLOSING OF BANK.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., March 5.—The First National bank of this city was closed today pending an examination of its books. Bad paper to the extent of $70,000 is said to have caused the examiner to take this action. The directors assured depositors that none would lose a cent.

The bank is capitalized at $100,000 and has deposits exceeding $500,000.

COLLEGE COURSES FOR CONVICTS.

Nelson Antrim Crawford in The Survey: A course in stock breeding in a penitentiary? Unusual, to say the least, is it not? And yet this is only one of a number of courses now being given in the Kansas penitentiary at Lansing, by the agricultural college of the state. Indeed, every extension course offered to the citizens of the state—and there are about forty such courses at present—is offered to any prisoner who cares to take it.

The courses follow the three lines of vocational activity: Agriculture, engineering and home economics. Specific phases of each are dealt with, such as soils, stock breeding, farm blacksmiting, farm drainage; carpentry and building, shop mechanical drawing, shop mathematics, gasoline engines; cooking sewing, home sanitation.

The work offered in these courses is intended not to supplant, but to supplement, such educational facilities as are furnished by the penitentiary itself.

The penitentiary is visited at intervals by one of the extension professors, who talks with the men personally, endeavoring to interest them in extension courses, helping them decide what line to pursue, and encouraging them in their study. The prison chaplain is giving vigorous assistance in the work.

EXPERT SECURES WATER RATE DATA

Erickson Will Make a Thorough Study of Duluth Problem.

Following a general discussion yesterday of the water rate question H. Erickson, member of the Wisconsin railway commission, who is one of the committee of three which will pass upon the rates recently put into effect by the water and light department, took with him a considerable amount of data which he wishes to study and analyze.

When he first agreed to act upon the committee the department sent him a small volume of figures and statistics pertaining to the Duluth situation and at the meeting yesterday he asked a number of questions which had occurred to him as he was going over the material.

When the committee will hold another meeting is indefinite but it will likely be within a short time. No conclusions of any kind were reached at the first gathering. The other members of the committee are: D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, and W. B. Rittenhouse, who is making the revaluation of the plant of the Duluth-Edison Electric company.

DOCTOR HELD ON FEDERAL CHARGE

Warrant Alleges Sending of Objectionable Matter Through Mails.

Dr. Daniel W. Riesland was arrested by the Federal authorities this morning on a bench warrant issued by Judge Page Morris. He is charged withr sending objectionable matte through the mails.

Dr. Riesland waived the reading of the indictment against him and entered a demurrer to the charge. The demurrer will be heard by Judge Morris on March 24. The prisoner was released on payment of $1,000 bail.

An indictment against Dr. Riesland was entered last January by the Federal grand jury, but it was never served at that time. When Judge Morris returned yesterday from Omaha, he issued a bench warrant against Dr. Riesland and he was taken into custody this morning by Deputy Marshal Mallory.

Dr. Riesland occupies offices at 707-8 Palladio building. He is a chiropractor.

SAY MILL CITY IS FAVORED BY RATES

Milwaukee Men Complain of Grain Carrying Charges.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 5. — That grain shipments from Western points are made to Milwaukee via Minneapolis at a cheaper rate than when they come direct to this city was today alleged by the chamber of commerce before Examiner Orville Berry of the interstate commerce commission at a hearing in the government building.

The Milwaukee organization is complaining against the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads, and it further charges that Minneapolis is favored over Milwaukee in direct shipments, despite a longer haul, from points in Southern Minnesota, Northern Iowa and Southern South Dakota.

The original complaint included a petition for relief in through lake and rail shipments and joint shipments, but this portion was withdrawn without prejudicing any of the complainants' rights.

What Thin Folks Should Do To Gain Weight

Physician's Advice for Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is indorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. Boyce Drug store and other leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

RIEDELSBERGER DIES ON COAST

Well Known Musician, Formerly of Duluth, Passes Away.

Word has been received here of the death in San Diego, Cal., of Franz Carl Rab Riedelsberger, formerly Duluth's leading violinist.

Mr. Riedelsberger will be remembered by Duluthians of over a decade ago. Ernest Lachmund brought him here originally in 1893 or 1894 and they were associated together in musical instruction. He was regarded as one of the most accomplished violinists of the West at the time, excelling as a soloist. He left here about 1898, going from here to Des Moines, Iowa, remaining there about two years and then going to Minneapolis, where he became the first violinist of the Minneapolis symphony orchestra and later headed a string quartet, consisting of himself, Franz Heinz, Olaf Hals and Carlo Fischer, which became famous throughout the Northwest. From Minneapolis he went west and has been on the coast ever since. He left Minneapolis because of ill health. His death was caused by a nervous breakodwn.

TERRE HAUTE CASES SET FOR MARCH 16.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 5.—The trials of Mayor Don Roberts, Mara Meyers, a prominent merchant, Gerhardt Monninger, councilman, and John Roper, who served as election inspectors last fall, all of whom are charged in indictments with fraudulent election operations and conspiracy, were set for March 16 by Judge Charles M. Fortune in circuit court here this morning.

William Huffman, former councilman, found guilty last spring of permitting ballots to leave his possession while he was election inspector last fall, was to be called before Special Judge Blankenbacker this afternoon for sentence.

SIX MONTHS FOR INSULTING PRINCE

German Punished for Printing Article Headed "William the Last."

Berlin, March 5.—For insulting the crown prince in a newspaper article, Hans Leuss, a writer, today was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

The article, which appeared in the weekly, Die Welt am Montag, was entitled "William the Last." It declared that the crown prince, by sending a telegram of congratulation to Col. von Reuter in connection with the incidents between the army and civilian authorities at Zabern, and by his farewell order to the Death's Head Hussars, when he left the command on Jan. 3, was "propagating republicanism." The writer said it would be "a public misfortune," if the crown prince were called upon to ascend the throne.

Tried Behind Closed Doors.

The trial was held behind closed doors.

An Alsatian newspaper gives the text of the prince's telegram to Col. Von Reuter as follows:

"I congratulate you upon the firm, energetic stand you have taken."

The farewell address to the Death's Head Hussars concluded with the sentence:

"If ever the king calls and the bugle sounds the charge, then think of him whose fondest wish it was to live this moment of a soldier's highest happiness in your company."

ACCIDENT DELAYS LUNDGREN SENTENCE.

Gustav Lundgren, one of the clerks in the local money order department arrested last fall on a charge of embezzlement, will not be sentenced until March 19. The prisoner was to have been sentenced this morning, but owing to an accident last evening to his attorney, Andrew Nelson, who injured his knee while coasting, the postponement was ordered.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MARCH 8.

Luke xii., 35-48: Watchfulness.

THE CONNECTION.

This lesson is part of the talk of the Master in which He warns them against trusting in riches and entreats them to trust in God. In this he still uses parables—vivid, pictorial comparisons which he made upon the spot—to illustrate the idea He would impress on them. Remember the time and place, along in December, A. D. 29, over in Perea on the east of the Jordan.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Watchful Servants. 35-40.

"Let your loins be girded about, and your lamps burning; and be ye yourselves like unto men looking for their lord, when he shall return from the marriage feast; that, when he cometh and knocketh, they may straightway open unto him. Blessed are those servants, whom the lord when he cometh shall find watching; verily I say unto you, that he shall gird himself, and make them sit down to meat, and shall come and serve them. And if he shall come in the second watch, and if in the third, and find them so, blessed are those servants. But know this, that if the master of the house had known in what hour the thief was coming, he would have watched, and not have left his house to be broken through. Be ye also ready; for in an hour that ye think not the Son of man cometh."

1. EMERGENCIES.—Several emergencies were ahead of them—that of His future coming, that of death, that of strenuous duties, that of trial. He and they seemed to have in mind that of His second coming. They were anxious and curious about the future, but He would not tell them when nor how. He did something far better, told them to watch and be ready.

2. READINESS.—Whichever of those emergencies was ahead of them, there was only one requirement—to be ready, not to know. For His coming—a thing they didn't understand, nor do we—their readiness will consist in three features. First, wakefulness. The figure is Oriental, that of servants left in charge of important interests by their master and now, as the time of his return from a wedding, perhaps his own, draws near, they are on the tension of acute watchfulness. Second, the garb must prepare them for instant action. The girdle is the main thing. That does a twofold service, it holds the flowing robes together so that they cannot entangle the feet or legs nor be caught by obstacles, and gives vigor to the body by unifying all the powers and by stretching them to a tension. When the Easterner goes on a long journey or has hard work to do he buckles his girdle tighter or puts on two. The disciple must have all his powers unified with the girdle of truth and gathered up in readiness; he must not become entangled with the word of evil as his feet might become entangled in the flowing robes. Third, he must have a welcome ready for his master, with the bright light of a luminous spirit and with door ready to open at the first tap instead of having to be awakened by repeated knockings. A happy servant with his girdle on and a well trimmed lamp in his hand on the lookout—that's the picture of the disciple with expectant mind and radiant Christian hope. He is truly a fortunate, blessed man whom his Master finds thus ready. This readiness must be constant because the coming of the Master is uncertain and it will be too sudden to allow any preparation after He is at hand. They could not know when He would come any more than they knew when a thief would come to break into a house. To be ready any time one must be ready all the time.

3. REWARDS.—The Master will not forget the one who shows all that fidelity and diligence. While salvation is a gift, rewards are given for all service. The rewards are twofold—First, approval, and that is enough; second, honors, and they are varied. After their long and faithful watchings and serving He will actually change places with them and serve them. He is "servant of all" and He is now serving us all the time, far more than we can ever serve Him. There are other rewards not mentioned in these verses and one is larger service and still more work to do.

4. FIDELITY.—But the rewards are for only those who watch on through the advancing night till He comes, even as far as through the second and third watches from 9 just after all have gone to sleep till 3, when some are about to awake, the critical hours. The watchers are tried by the still hours, the heavy darkness, the possibility of His sudden appearing and the weariness of long watching when He "delays His coming." It may be as when a thief digs his way with a pick ax through the walls of a mud house. You might be ready for a thief if you knew the exact hour he would come, but this means to be on guard all the time.

II.

The Diligent Servants. 41-44.

"And Peter said, Lord, speakest Thou this parable unto us, or even unto all? And the Lord said, Who then is the faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall set over his household, to give them their portion of food in due season? Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing. Of a truth I say unto you, that he will set him over all that he hath."

1. WORK.—They are to work as well as watch. Peter, who thought the apostles alone were to have the honors, asked if He meant all or only the apostles and in these words Jesus assures him that honors come only to the workers. Those who look for the blessed coming may be too busy looking and too entranced to want to work, as they did at Thessalonica and Paul wrote to them "if a man will not work neither should he eat." Peter was thinking more of the rewards than of the duties. People have thought work unnecessary as He would soon come. To watch without working is spiritual insanity; to work without watching is stupidity; to dream and neither work nor watch is insanity. Christ rebukes Peter's conceit and tells him to work as steward, holding his powers and opportunities as a trust for Christ in behalf of others. His place of service will depend on how "wise and faithful" he is.

2. WAGES.—They do not depend on holding a position nor exactly on the amount of work, but on faithfulness in that work. Here is a four-fold reward—becoming more wise and faithful, reward enough in itself; getting more work to do; higher work to do; sharing in "all that He hath," honor, power, glory, fame, not inglorious ease, but increasing service.

III.

The Negligent Servant. 45-48.

"But if that servant shall say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming; and shall begin to beat the men servants and the maid servants, and to eat and drink, and to be drunken; the lord of that servant shall come in a day when he expecteth not, and in an hour when he knoweth not, and shall cut him asunder, and appoint his portion with the unfaithful. And that servant, who knew his lord's will, and made not ready, nor did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes; but he that knew not, and did things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. And to whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required; and to whom they commit much, of him will they ask the more."

1. IDLENESS.—It is pure carelessness, then indifference.

2. REBELLION.—He loses the sense of being a servant, then is a rebel. Unregenerate men in church always go wrong. They take advantage of their liberty to eat and be drunk, pervert themselves, become inhuman and unfaithful. The cause of it is in their natures, the occasion of it the absence of the Master.

3. PUNISHMENT.—It contrasts with the rewards of the diligent and is adjusted to their deserts. The punishment begins with the shock and surprise and terror of the false servant in the presence of his master now returned. It further consists in being "cut asunder," separated from glory and good. It is graded to the guilt.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Mr. Bostock, the famous trainer of lions and other fierce animals, says that whosoever goes into the business of taming animals must neither smoke nor drink, because one of the necessary qualifications for success in this business is absolute steadiness of nerve, watchfulness every moment of the time. The quivering of an eyelid, the least evidence of being startled, means danger or death; and no man who is addicted to alcohol or tobacco can be sure of his nerves in such a place as that.—Hull.

The great cause of social crime is drink; the great cause of poverty is drink. When I hear of a family broken up and ask the cause—drink. If I go to the gallows and ask its victim the cause, he answers—drink. Then I ask myself in perfect wonderment, Why do not men put a stop to this thing?—Archbishop Ireland.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What is the relation between readiness and happiness?
2. How are you to have loins girded and lamps burning?
3. What would you do if you knew Christ would come tomorrow?
4. Is there anything in your habits or work that you would not want Him to see?
5. Why does the higher position expose to greater temptation and require greater watchfulness?

The Diminishing Dollar

The Government is making more dollars every year—and so are you—and the dollars are just as large as they ever were, but they are actually smaller in purchasing power than ever before. The problem is to make a dollar go as far as possible in purchasing the necessities of life. For a dollar you can get one hundred and that means a hundred wholesome, nourishing breakfasts. If you add coffee, milk and cream a deliciously nourishing Shredded Wheat breakfast should not cost over five cents. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is the whole wheat prepared in digestible form. It is ready-cooked and ready-to-serve—a boon to busy housekeepers with growing children.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with hot milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Deliciously nourishing when eaten in combination with baked apples, stewed prunes, sliced bananas or canned or preserved fruits. Try toasted Triscuit, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon with butter, cheese or marmalade.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms of diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Kit" writes: "I am far below normal weight. I suffer with headaches and am nervous to the point of exhaustion. If you can tell me something to help me I shall be very grateful."

Answer: I can prescribe nothing so effective as a thorough course of three grain hypo-nuclaine tablets. These tablets will aid in extracting the nutrition from the food which will increase the red blood supply, overcome nervousness and you will become plump and healthy. This treatment should be continued for several months, as it takes time to change the tissues and cells of the body.

"Sarah" says: "Can anything be done for one who is bothered with rheumatism. If so, please reply."

Answer: You can be relieved of your rheumatism if you take the following: Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful at meal times and at bed time and you will soon be cured. Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

"Ray" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial trouble be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me, what would you suggest?"

Answer: To cure chronic cold, sore throat and bronchitis, I would advise the use of concentrated essence menthol-laxene. Purchase this at any drug store in 2 1-2 oz. packages and mix according to directions given on bottle and you will very shortly be relieved of all bronchial trouble. This will not only relieve, but will correct, and is very pleasant to take.

"Hulda" says: "I cannot eat without great distress after eating. I am sleepless and restless, nervous and irritable. Can you tell me anything that would cure me."

Answer: Your trouble is all due to your stomach, which causes the nervous, restless feeling. Take tablets triopeptine and you will soon be relieved of all this trouble. These are packed in sealed cartons and are pink, white and blue tablets to be taken after meals. Take the pink tablet after breakfast, white after dinner and blue after supper. If this is continued the curative agencies will soon restore natural digestion.

"W. W." writes: "I wake in the morning as tired as when I retired. My stomach feels weak, my arms and limbs tremble and I look with despair upon the day's work. I seem to have no energy or recuperative forces. Severe headaches, worry, and embarrassment at my condition are symptoms."

Answer: The vital forces have ebbed low and your nerves need stimulating while your nutritive forces need toning up to supply energy. Begin taking three grain cadomene tablets and continue until recovery is satisfactory. Get an original sealed tube with full directions.

S. W. C. writes: "I have led an intemperate life and am a great sufferer from kidney and bladder irregularities. Have great pain in back and region of bladder, while the passages are either scant or copious, with unnatural odor and color."

Answer: Excesses in eating and drinking are responsible for many ills. Be careful of diet and drinking and to relieve the unnatural conditions of kidney and bladder begin taking balmwort tablets at once. Full directions are with each sealed tube. This is a fine, reliable remedy which I have prescribed to hundreds with good results.

Miss T. R. asks: "Do you think a weight of 190 pounds is too much for a girl of medium height; and what can I safely take to reduce about 30 pounds."

Answer: Your weight is excessive, and if it increases it may cause much suffering and embarrassment. I advise the regular use of 5-grain arbolone tablets, which are sold by most pharmacies in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration.

• • •

"Carpenter" writes: "My liver and kidneys are in a bad condition. I have dizzy spells and dark spots before my eyes. Also have twinges of rheumatism. Can I be helped?"

Answer: To relieve kidney and liver trouble use three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). These are packed in sealed tubes with full directions for taking. They act pleasantly and tone up the bowels and liver and purify the blood. They are convenient, effective and highly curative.

"Phoebe"—The following will correct your children of bedwetting: Get 2 drams of tincture rhus-aromatic; 1 dram tincture cubebs and 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort. Mix, and give the child from 10 to 15 drops in water about one hour before each meal.

"Maud" writes: "I have suffered a great deal with catarrh. It gives me headaches, affects my eyes and my breath is awful. Can you prescribe something to cure it. Only my nostrils and throat are affected."

Answer: I have prescribed antiseptic vilane powder and grateful letters from hundreds indicate that it is speedily curative, but must be used occasionally to prevent a recurrence. Get a two ounce original package of vilane powder; use a half teaspoonful to a pint of warm water. From the palm of the hand snuff the water through the nostrils until thoroughly cleansed, two or three times daily. Mix a level teaspoonful of vilane powder with an ounce of lard or vaseline and apply well up into the nostrils twice daily and your catarrh should soon be gone.

"Oada" writes: "I am troubled with itching scalp, dandruff and my hair is falling out. It is harsh and brittle."

Answer: Plain Yellow Minyol is the best remedy for itching scalp, falling hair and dandruff that I know of. It can be bought in 4 oz. jars and if used according to directions will overcome diseases of the hair and scalp. If the hair is harsh and brittle and you are bothered with those straggling locks, the use of minyol will restore that soft, fluffy appearance and bring back the intense natural color.

DIAZ WANTS TO GET INTO MEXICAN GAME

Seeks Assurance of Recognition From Washington Government.

Washington, March 4.—Pedro del Vilar and Cecilio Ocon, who said they represented Felix Diaz, talked in private with the senate foreign relations committee today about the Mexican situation. It was learned afterward that they told the senators Felix Diaz was thinking of some military activity in Mexico and they wanted to know what would be the position of the United States toward recognizing Diaz if he should start a revolution. The senators told them the United States would give no assurances whatever to any prospective revolution.

The Mexicans were taken before the committee by Senator Fall.

The committee also heard Boaz W. Long, chief of the bureau of Latin-American affairs of the state department, who brought many communications to the department regarding Mexico.

"We felt that the entire matter should be withheld from publication," said Senator Shiveley. "We wish to get all the first-hand information of Mexican conditions that we can. The only thing we can say is that we were inquiring into the actual conditions existing in Mexico, and that further meetings of the committee probably will be held to continue the inquiry."

None of the members of the committee would discuss the conference except to say that "it was very interesting."

WILL MARRY WHILE 7,000 MILES APART

Girl With Fiance in America Is Protected By Spanish Law.

Ottawa, Ill., March 4.—Seven thousand miles of land and sea will separate Angel Fernandez of the village of Depue, near here, from his bride, Pilar Mallada, when they are made man and wife in Aviles, Spain, Easter Monday.

Fernandez looks forward to celebrating the occasion in his Lasalle county home, while in far-off Spain his wedding march will be played and his blushing bride will be led to the altar by Nicholas Mallada, who, in a formal legal contract, has been made Fernandez' proxy for the marriage ceremony.

In accordance with their sealed agreement, Mallada will take the vows and then start Mrs. Fernandez on the long journey to join her husband.

The marriage by proxy is a Spanish governmental requirement, as a promise of marriage is not considered sufficient protection to young girls crossing the ocean to meet their prospective husbands.

TO MOVE HOUSE ACROSS ON ICE.

Escanaba, Mich., March 4.—To move a twelve-room dwelling from Masonville to Escanaba over the ice of Little Bay de Noque, twelve miles, is the unusual task John K. Stack, Jr., a wealthy lumberman plans. The ice covering the bay has been carefully tested and there is no doubt the load can be safely borne up. The house will be placed on runners and hauled by horses. Several cottages formerly at Garth were moved across the ice of the bay to Wells some years ago, but the structure now to be transported is several times larger than any of these.

WOULD BAR GOODS OF FOREIGN TRUSTS

They Keep Cost of Living High, Says Philadelphia Lawyer.

Washington, March 4.—Foreign industrial combinations were charged with maintaining the high cost of living, by Horace Stern, a Philadelphia lawyer who discussed the administration trust bills today before the house judiciary committee. He urged that the Sherman law be amended to forbid the selling agents of foreign trust or monopolies disposing of their products in the United States.

"There exist, notably in Germany and France, very large combinations and trade associations formed for the restriction of competition, which merely pocket as additional profit the tariff duties formerly collected by our government," said he. "Our tariff policy is arbitrarily defied by foreign trusts."

POSTOFFICE BILL NOW UP TO HOUSE.

Washington, March 5.—Disputed points between house and senate on the postal appropriation bill have been compromised. The measure was accepted by the senate and went to the house for final passage.

The postmaster general would be empowered to fix the time limit for delivery of parcel post in congested zones. The pay of substitute clerks and carriers was compromised at 35 cents an hour and the $1,200 a year maximum for rural carriers was agreed upon. The life of several joint postal commissions was extended to Dec. 1.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY STAND

Because of Terrible Backache. Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered from displacement and inflammation, and had such pains in my sides, and terrible backache so that I could hardly stand. I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I can do any amount of work, sleep good, eat good, and don't have a bit of trouble. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to every suffering womam."—Mrs. HARRY FISHER, 1642 Juniata Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Woman's Case.

Providence, R. I.—"I cannot speak too highly of your Vegetable Compound as it has done wonders for me and I would not be without it. I had a displacement, bearing down, and backache, until I could hardly stand and was thoroughly run down when I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me and I am in the best of health at present. I work in a factory all day long besides doing my housework so you can see what it has done for me. I give you permission to publish my name and I speak of your Vegetable Compound to many of my friends."—Mrs. ABRIL LAWSON, 126 Lippitt St., Providence, R. I.

Danger Signals to Women

are what one physician called backache, headache, nervousness, and the blues. In many cases they are symptoms of some female derangement or an inflammatory, ulcerative condition, which may be overcome by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of American women willingly testify to its virtue.

GERMAN OFFICER APPROVES DEWEY

Retired Commander of Cormorant Confirms His Manila Bay Story.

Berlin, March 5.—Rear Admiral Brussakis, a retired officer of the German navy, who commanded the German cruiser Cormorant at the time of the Spanish-American war, has added his version of the Manila bay incident over which controversy has been aroused by the publication of Admiral Dewey's autobiography.

Writing of the arrival of the cruiser Cormorant at Manila bay on May 9, 1898, the German naval officer says that the McCullough, an American vessel, fired a blank shot in order to attract the attention of the cruiser. The Cormorant halted, and later an American officer came on board and communicated to her commander that a blockade of Manila had been instituted by the American fleet.

Was Proper Signal.

Admiral Brussakis considered that the firing of the blank shot was a proper signal, and the only one under the circumstances.

This statement confirms Admiral Dewey's version of the incident and disproves the assertion made by Vice Admiral von Diederichs, the ranking officer of the German fleet, that notice of the blockade had not yet been communicated to the Germans.

Count Ernest von Reventlow, a well known naval expert, confusing the foregoing episode with the one which happened six weeks later and narrated by Admiral Dewey, accuses the American admiral of drawing upon his imagination for his story.

PUPILS TO APPEAR AT FREE CONCERT

Musical Work of Public Schools to Be Shown on Program.

At next Sunday's free concert in the Masonic temple the public will have an opportunity of hearing and judging the practical results of the musical work that is being done in the public schools.

Pupils from the seventh and eighth grades of the Adams and Longfellow schools will give groups of songs. These pupils sang before the Matinee Musicale a few weeks ago and gained much well-deserved praise.

Miss Clara Thomas, music supervisor, will give a talk on public school music, thus enabling the public to know what is being done, and how the pupils are being trained in the appreciation and rendering of good music. A solo will also be given by Miss Loretta O'Gorman.

The organ numbers are attractive and of varied interest, including "Sicilian Vespers" overture, selections from "Carmen," a dance by Beethoven, and Wagner's fantastic "Dwarfs' March." The program follows:

Organ—"Sicilian Vespers" overture.. ..... Verdi

Vocal—"As in a Rose Jar"....Cadman Loretta O'Gorman.

"REAL COUNT" GETS LIMIT IN PRISON.

New York, March 5.—After the attorney for Pietro Giambruno, one of six bomb-planters lately found guilty, had pleaded for his client on the ground that he was a real count, the scion of a noble Palermo family, Giambruno received the maximum sentence of not more than nine years and six months in prison.

On learning that the prisoner was a count, Judge Mulqueen remarked grimly that he wished he could impose a heavier sentence. Giambruno is the second of the six to be sent to Sing Sing.

SULZER DENOUNCES EXTRA SESSION LAWS

Makes Bitter Speech on Floor of New York Assembly.

Albany, N. Y., March 5.—Assemblyman William Sulzer, at yesterday's session of the state legislature, made a bitter attack on the "political machine" which controlled both houses of the legislature when he was governor. He denounced the whole range of legislation passed at the extraordinary session.

"The state primary bill," he shouted. "resembles a real direct primary bill about as much as a jackrabbit resembles a jackass. I denounce it here as a farce and a fraud. Mr. Murphy would not permit his marionettes to pass a genuine bill because he knew it would put him out of business.

"This mighty hue and cry about the reorganization of the Democratic party is farcical. They are only putting new faces on old scarecrows to keep the crows out of their political cornfields."

"Mr. Speaker," interjected an assemblyman, "I arise to ask what bill is before the house."

"Bill Sulzer," shouted the former governor in reply, "and he will proceed to say that unless his own or similar amendments are adopted to the primary law, the same old bosses will control in everything at the next election or before."

MANY FIRES ARE PUT OUT

Northern Forest Protective Association Saves Upper Michigan Property.

Annual Meeting of Association Just Held at Marquette Shows Work.

Marquette, Mich., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the year 1913 the Northern Forest Protective association extinguished 107 fires in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan in the territory covered by the association according to the reports presented at the meeting of the association just held here. Besides electing officers the association listened to many interesting reports. The directors elected were: T. A. Green of Ontonagon, C. V. R. Townsend of Negaunee, W. H. Johnston of Ishpeming, J. E. Sherman and A. E. Miller of Marquette, C. H. Worcester of Chicago and F. H. Smith of Traverse City.

In round numbers 2,130,000 acres of land in the Upper Peninsula is listed in the association, and is protected through the season of forest fire danger by a force of twenty-two rangers, organized by and under the direction of Secretary Forester T. B. Wyman of Munising. Last year the income of the association was $17,000, of which $10,000 was expended for the support of the ranger service. Its efficiency was shown by the fact that the losses by fire by members were purely negligible. In his report Mr. Wyman outlined in detail the year's operations and his plans for expanding and making still more efficient the protective work.

Movies Show Methods.

The most interesting feature of the session was a graphic illustration of the workings of the Federal forest service in the Western states by a moving picture film showing the inception of a forest fire, the discovery of its existence, the rallying of the Federal rangers to fight it and the methods they pursued to overcome it. The picture did more to show the efficiency of the Federal service than an hour of talking could have done, and it was followed with much interest.

Report of Secretary.

"The total area of Upper Peninsula timber lands listed with the association for the season was 2,139,081, which acreage was patrolled by your twenty-two mounted wardens," said Secretary Forester Wyman, in his report.

"To satisfactorily patrol this area your wardens were obliged to have an eye to fully twice as much in addition. Constant changes, and changes for the worse, were going on upon the listed lands because of the fact of constantly increasing areas of slash caused by forest operations, and the almost entire lack of destruction of this slash by those who created it. Unless definite plans are made to rid operated lands of this constantly increasing quantity of fire-fuel, and carried out to the letter, there will come a day when some careless individual will throw down a lighted match, leave his camp fire unquenched, fail to properly guard his burning brush; when some lumber concern or railroad will operate an engine lacking the proper equipment; and when anyone of these careless actions occurs in a season of drouth and is accompanied by a 'sixty-mile hell-wind' untoward destruction is sure to occur regardless of patrol, public co-operation and all other measures which may have been thoroughly developed.

Fought 107 Fires.

"During the season of 1913, 107 fires, necessitating labor in quenching, were reported to this office. In addition a large number of incipient fires were put out by wardens without the necessity of assistance and before any headway had been gained. Of the 107 fires reported the causes as traced by your wardens were as follows:

	No.	P. C.
Clearing land	45	42
Locomotives, railroad and logging	22	20
Campers	8	7
Slash burning, county road and operating concerns	6	6
Fishermen	4	4
Traction engines	2	2
Berry pickers	2	2
Lightning	2	2
Incendiary	1	1
Pipe	1	1
Deer shining	1	1
Outbreak	1	1
Unknown	11	10
Total	107	100

"The loss occasioned by these fires upon listed lands, while burning over a total of 4,780 acres of which 2,560 acres were purposely burned to destroy slash, amounted to approximately $1,000.

"Fires occurring on abutting lands not listed for patrol and hence not coming under the immediate jurisdiction of our patrol force, burned an aggregate territory of 11,280 acres, causing a loss of approximately $12,600."

HEAVY FIRE LOSS AT SOLON SPRINGS

Twelve Buildings Destroyed Causing Loss of About $45,000.

Solon Springs Wis., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire starting in the warehouse of the Cosgrove Mercantile company in the heart of the business section about 6 o'clock last night, from what source has not developed consumed twelve buildings including the Springs hotel and caused a property loss of about $45,000, nearly all covered by insurance.

The report that the fire originated from an employe of the Cosgrove concern lighting a match while working about the light generating plant of the mercantile company is denied. By the time the volunteer fire department and a bucket brigade got to the blaze ready for action the buildings in the same block with the Cosgrove company were afire and all Main street seemed threatened.

Superior Sends Apparatus.

An urgency call was sent to Superior and some fire apparatus of that city was loaded on an Omaha railroad flat car and rushed here at breakneck speed. By the time the Superior engine arrived and got into action twelve buildings and contents were beyond salvage and the department prevented other buildings from catching. The fire was extinguished by midnight.

Little of the contents of any of the buildings were saved. Edward Cosgrove, owner of the Cosgrove Mercantile company, estimated his loss at about $20,000, covered by insurance.

Other buildings destroyed were: A dwelling owned by Charles Lord, the Thompson barber shop, a saloon and barn owned by Charles Waterbury, a saloon and icehouse owned by Charles Lord, the residence of John Lindberg and the Springs hotel and bar owned by George Halling. All the structures were insured.

East Side Spared.

None of the buildings on the east side of the tracks were touched by the blaze, being protected by the vigilance of the bucket brigades. For a time the telephone service leading into Solon Springs was paralyzed on account of poles being burned down. Repair crews were sent from the head of the lakes and communication was restored by 11 o'clock. No one was seriously injured during the fire, although several sustained burns and bruises.

ANOTHER FEDERAL JUDGE TO PRESIDE

Judge Amidon Will Not Conduct Third Trial of Bismarck Publishers.

Bismarck, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third trial of Sam Clark and G. H. Crockard, local publishers, probably will take place at the term of the Federal district court opening here March 17.

Judge Amidon will not preside again, affidavits of perjudice having been filed against him, and he will call in another jurist.

On the first trial of the case a disagreement resulted. The second trial verdict of guilty has just been reversed.

EBERHART TO SPEAK.

Governor to Address East Grand Forks Farmers' Short Course.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor A. O. Eberhart will speak at the farmers' short course week of instruction here next week.

The week's work will feature corn, small grains, livestock and domestic economics. The latter branch, regular classes for the farm women and their daughters will be conducted.

Each evening during the week there will be special entertainment features that are also arranged for by the local committee.

CONVICTED ON CONVICT'S EVIDENCE.

Minot, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The testimony of two convicts, James Sackett and Robert Stransmore, convicted Gus Du Quesne in district court of burglary.

Sackett and Stransmore testified that they worked with Du Quesne in committing the burglary. They had already pleaded guilty, and received minimum penitentiary sentences.

GRAND FORKS AUTO SHOW IS SUCCESS.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual auto show, which ends tomorrow, has been the best attended in the history of local shows. Dealers declare the number of prospective buyers of cars is large, and they anticipate a splendid year as a result.

The attendance mark of last year had been passed when the show closed its doors last night.

MILK MAID IS KICKED BY COW.

New York Mills, Minn., March 5.—Miss Anna Lousten was kicked by a cow that she was about to milk Tuesday. The animal knocked her down and repeatedly kicked her, breaking both bones in her right leg, tearing away part of her upper lip, knocking out several teeth, and injuring her nose and forehead.

MAN OF 60 PUTS HIGHWAYMEN TO ROUT.

Bismarck, N. D., March 5.—J. O. Reid, 60 years old, ordered by two hold-up men to throw up his hands, responded by sending an uppercut to the jaw of one of the men, knocking him to the ground. The other robber fled. Reid escaped uninjured and with his roll of $8 intact.

FEDERAL AID FOR MANDAN STATION.

Manden, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Plains Experimental station will receive a $32,000 appropriation from the Federal government according to the bill that has been introduced covering such stations. In addition there will be a $15,000 appropriation for the establishment of a live stock and dairy experimental department on the farm. The $32,000 appropriation is contemplated for maintainance and the completion of several buildings started last year.

Verein is Enjoined.

Mandan, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—An injunction of a year against the German Verein of St. Anthony, this county, is the result of a quarrel between Nick Helbling and the custodian of the club.

Helbling made complaint to the county officials that liquor was sold on the premises, and the state's attorney launched injunctional proceedings, which are granted by Judge Nuchols. Sheriff McDonald served the injunction and padlocked the building.

EXPECT SETTLERS AROUND FLOODWOOD

Immigration Agent Who Has Been East Looks for Many to Come.

Floodwood, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to the financial statement of Village Recorder W. P. Hicken, the village treasury has a cash balance of $712.88.

G. I. Idzorek of the land department of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad has just returned from Pennsylvania and other Eastern states, after a five weeks' trip drumming up immigration for the Floodwood district. He expects a good many settlers to come during the spring. Wo.. both in the mines and factories in the East is very scarce and thousands of men are lying idle. People who have a little money saved up are looking for land, and a good many are expected to investigate Northern Minnesota.

There will be two tickets in the field at next Tuesday's election, the Progressive, with John Stokke for mayor, and Dr. Trippletт on the Republican ticket.

TEACHERS ASK FOR MORE PAY

Brainerd Educators Claim Living Expenses Have All Advanced.

Brainerd, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—For over an hour the school board wrestled with the petition from the Teachers' league asking for an increase of salary, discussing it from all angles and then adjourned. It will come up again.

The petition recites that the teachers find their present salaries inadequate to meet the demands upon them for ordinary living expenses, board, clothing, laundry, doctors' dentists' and oculists' services, church and club dues and many incidental expenses. The salaries are inadequate to meet the expense of study, travel and other means of self-improvement which it is considered should be expected of teachers employed in the school system, occupying, as does the Brainerd school, one of the first places in the state. The salaries are inadequate because they leave no surplus for a "rainy" day.

What Teachers Claim.

"We have a real pride in our schools," say the teachers, "and wish to continue their high standard, which we cannot do if underpaid and worried about both present and future conditions. Many of us have spent years in preparation for our work and, added to that, we have served faithfully in the public schools, each year adding to our efficiency as teachers, and we believe that our salaries should, at least, equal those of the custodians of the buildings."

They want the salaries increased in proportion to the increasd cost of living, which they claim has advanced, according to statistics, 60 per cent in the last ten years and 25 per cent in the last six months. They close with this appeal in their petition: To illustrate: The rooms which we occupied last year at a rental of $8 per month have been costing us $10 since last September. Board has increased accordingly. You have not advanced our salaries in proportion to these increased expenses. Will you not do so now?"

The petition is signed by the executive board, Miss Louise Barrett, president; Miss Mary A. Scott, vice president; Miss Mary L. Small, second vice president; Mrs. Addie Clark, third vice president; Miss Katherine A. Howland, secretary; Miss Amy J. Lowey, corresponding secretary.

LECTURE AT DETROIT.

Prof. Sanford Has Been Invited to the Minnesota Town.

Detroit, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The former students of the university of Minnesota residing in Detroit have made arrangements to have Prof. Maria L. Sanford lecture here Monday, March 9, so those who had been under her during her twenty-nine years of service in the university of Minnesota could hear her again. Tickets will be sold to the public, and all proceeds will be given to the public library.

The local ministers' association decided to inaugurate a "go to church Sunday" movement. The date has not yet been decided, but preparation work will begin at once.

BEAR LEAVES DEN AND LOSES LIFE.

Wins Fair Essay Prize.

Detroit, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert Johnson of Floyd Lake has received notice from Secretary J. C. Simpson of the Minnesota state fair board that he has again been awarded the prize for the best essay on "What I Saw and Learned at the State Fair as a Member of the Farm Boys' Camp." The prize is a membership in the state fair boys camp for the 1914 state fair.

New Fargo Garbage Ordinance.

Fargo, N. D., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order to secure free and daily garbage removal in Fargo, the city commission has prepared a new ordinance providing that no broken glass or other such material can be placed in the cans. A local resident will remove all garbage without cost to the city or to the property owners.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Elgin, N. D.—The organization of a Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company will probably be effected here Saturday. There will be a mass meeting of the farmers tributary to this section and in the forenoon several speakers, among them practical insurance men, will be heard, and in the afternoon a vote will be taken on the question of organization.

Portland, N. D.—The people of Portland are anxious to have the electric light plant, recently indorsed at a special election, put in operation. The bids will soon be asked for. The town will have a 24-hour service and the bonds will be in denominations of $1,000 and run twenty years at 6 per cent. A park board will also be secured to increase the attractiveness of Portland.

Velva, N. D.—Reports of friction between the several cities in the southern part of McHenry county, interested in the plan of dividing the county, are not founded on fact, according to the statements of leaders in the movement. At several conferences held recently, it is apparent that the towns are pulling together.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The fourth annual meeting of the State Federation of Commercial Clubs will be held here on Monday evening and Tuesday, March 16 and 17.

Manning, N. D.—Rev. J. C. Erb, while performing the evening chores about his farm, slipped upon some ice that covered the surface of the ground close to his well and fell. The fall resulted in a compound fracture of his left wrist.

Grand Forks, N. D.—A. J. Becker, acting dean of the civil and mechanical engineering department at the state university, has obtained a year's leave of absence from the institution next year. He is planning to enter the University of Illinois for the purpose of taking post-graduate work. He will take up in particular the study of architecture.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—Carl Ebner who was arrested in Superior a few days ago on a charge of robbery committed here, was arraigned in Judge Alpin's court, and was bound over to circuit court. He was taken to Marquette to await his trial.

Ishpeming—A ski tramp is planned by members of the Ishpeming Ski club for Sunday. It is expected that the party will take the train to Michigamme and from that place to ski to the Wahlman camp, where a big dinner will be enjoyed. The party will return on the evening train.

Menominee—A collision of ice yachts cost William Stackel, president of the junior class, Menominee high school, his right leg. The vessel ran wild and endangered a big crowd watching speed tests.

Negaunee—District Deputy James Patterson of Marquette, installed the officers of the Knights of the Modern Maccabees as follows: Post commander, James Blee; commander, Joseph O. Cyr; lieutenant commander, Ed Martin; record keeper, O. M. Coldren; finance keeper, Godfrey Trotochaud; chaplain, John Lenten; master-at-arms, William Mode; sergeant, William J. Thomas; first master of the guards, John Beaulieu; second master of the guards, Frank V. Koob; sentinel, Max Faust; picket, Adolph Koob.

Ishpeming—John Lucarello, who was arraigned before Judge J. D. West on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, was fined $55, after having entered a plea of guilty. He assaulted Tony Codutix, a fellow-countryman, with a revolver.

Marquette—Francis Thornton died March 8, at the Marquette county poor farm, after an extended illness. He was aged 80 years. Nothing is known of his antecedents and it is thought it is unlikely it will be possible to locate any relatives.

Houghton — The Portage Lake hockey team defeated the Calumet septet in one of the most exciting games of the season at the Amphidrome Monday night by a score of 8 to 1. About 3,000 hockey fans witnessed the contest.

Iron Mountain—The funeral of Mrs. Frank Carbis, who died Sunday, was held Tuesday.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison — Harry Koch, who failed to answer a summons of the student court last week in a case concerning junior class finances, was suspended for a week by the faculty.

Appleton — Gordon Roach of Fennimore, Lawrence college freshman, immediately after submitting to vaccination, washed the vaccine out of his arm and was taken sick with smallpox.

Fond du Lac—John Arnold, blacksmith, in tearing down a seventy-year-old mansion, found a tin box containing a collection of old money, amounting to $63.

Green Bay—Albert Poindexter lies in a hospital here in a critical condition and William Hatch is lodged in jail, where a charge of assault with intent to kill was lodged against him by the police as the result of a stabbing affray. Poindexter received fifteen slashes in the body before escaping from the house through a window. Both are negroes.

Fond du Lac—Mrs. Joseph Schaefer, a resident of Fond du Lac county sixty-five years, died after seven weeks' illness. She was 60 years old. Her husband died ten years ago, aged 82. She was the mother of eleven children, ten of whom live. She was the grandmother of thirty-six, great-grandmother of twenty-six and great-great-grandmother of three.

Milwaukee—Fred Leuken was seriously injured at the Orpheum theater during the performance Monday afternoon by Brutus, one of the five lions in the act that he is presenting this week. Luegen had his back to the animals and was addressing the audience when the beast, with a single stroke of his paw, laid open Lueken's back from his neck to his waist.

Eau Claire — Miss Margaret Bartz, aged 18 years, a resident of Granton, Wis., died at the Sacred Heart hospital March 3. The remains were shipped to Granton for interment.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—Mrs. Augusta Anderson has started suit against the city to recover $3,000 as damages received in a fall on the slippery sidewalks of the city about a month ago.

Little Falls—County Auditor B. Y. McNairy has received notice that Morrison county is entitled to $2.20 for each 5,603 pupils in the state apportionment for schools. This will amount to $12,326.60.

Brainerd—W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, and President C. A. Allbright of the association, appeared before the board of county commissioners and secured an appropriation of $325 for development work to be carried on by the association in encouraging immigration.

International Falls—More than enough signatures have been received to the petition for a vote on license at the April election, so that a contest between wet and dry in International Falls is assured.

Bemidji—Wilhelm Strand of Kelliher was brought here by John Brady, marshal of that village, to serve a 90-day term imposed upon him by A. B. Taylor, justice of the peace. Strand was arrested on Feb. 3 thirty minutes after he had broken into the L. Latterell store at Kelliher and had taken several traps and other supplies.

Winona—The local weather bureau reports that the average temperature for February was 13 deg. below zero, the coldest it has been since 1906, when the average was the same. There have been fewer colder Februarries than the one in 1914 within the past thirty years and more. The record has been beaten only six times since 1873, when the weather bureau was first opened here.

Minneapolis—James Moran, a brakeman, was seriously hurt when six freight cars in an M. & St. L. switch train were wrecked by a spreading rail at 2 a. m. March 4, at Fourteenth avenue south and Riverside. Moran sustained a fractured rib and bruises about the head.

Little Falls—George Mosher, a liveryman at Motley, and Willard Holme, also residing in Motley, were arrested here on a warrant charging them with bootlegging in the territory about Motley. They are alleged to have brought and sold liquor into Motley and throughout the southern part of Cass county, both dry places.

"How do you make such delicious muffins? Mine are always so dry. And if I make the batter thin they fall. How do you do it?"

"I make them about as you do, only I use K C Baking Powder. Mine always turn out well, so it must be the baking powder."

It is the baking powder. To make muffins, cakes and pastry rich and moist, yet light and feathery, a modern double acting baking powder must be used—one that will give off leavening gas in the oven as well as in the mixing bowl.

KC BAKING POWDER

is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which starts to raise as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. This sustains the raise until your muffins, biscuits or cake is done.

K C Baking Powder costs less than the old fashioned quick acting kinds, yet you need use no more and it is superior to them in every way.

SCALY PIMPLES ON HANDS AND ARMS

Little White Bumps Came in Clusters, Would Swell Up, Burn, Itch and Ache. Couldn't Sleep For Torture. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured.

6 East Sixth St., Coffeyville, Kan.—"About two years ago my pet kitten caught some kind of disease. I tried to doctor the little thing and I caught the disease on my hands and arms. It first broke out in little watery pimples and when the water dried out they all ran together and got scaly. There were lots of little white bumps about as big as the end of a pin and they would come in clusters.

When I would scratch them yellow water would appear. Then my hands and arms would swell up and burn and itch and ache till it seemed li' I would go crazy. Heat would make it worse. When the weather was hot I couldn't sleep nights for the torture. I felt so ashamed of my hands they looked so terribly. I couldn't bear any clothing to touch my arms at all.

"I used every ointment and lotion I could hear of for relief but nothing seemed beneficial. So after over a year of suffering and torture I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I got some. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and they cured my arms and hands." (Signed) Miss Laura Medberry, June 5, 1913.

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

AGAIN permit us to refer to the subject of a hockey game on next Saturday evening. Yes, "Ham" Baker will be among us. You see Hamilton is one of the thoroughly tried dependables of the Victoria Hockey team of Winnipeg—the team that made so brilliant a showing here earlier in the season. The team is coming back and will meet our team at the rink on Saturday evening. That arrangement should appeal to all of the lovers of the very best in sport.

The Vics of Winnipeg have one of the very best hockey teams in the Dominion of Canada. But it does not require a great deal of space to convince the followers of the game here of that fact. A crowded house witnessed the quality of hockey the Vics are capable of putting up and the return game should be productive of even a greater brilliance.

Winnipeg beat us rather easily upon the visit of that team earlier in the season. Maybe the Vics will cart home another victory—but it's a cinch that it will require harder playing and most of us believe that the score will be closer.

Linder and his confreres had not played together very much before that game with the pride of the Western Dominion; this shift it will be decidedly different and the followers of the game will be very greatly disappointed if the game does not show that the aggregation the curling club has is not eminently able to travel in the very fastest company in the land.

It looks now as if a crowd equal to the capacity turnout of the early season game will be on hand. The Vics have the name—and the members of the team are grand players—and the game promised to be one grand contest.

You had better plan to go.

The Golden Aftermath.

THERE are aftermaths to all things—even a funeral. Even some sewing bees have exciting aftermaths—so then think of the highly exciting after talk that should by all precedents and rights follow joyously in the wake of an honest-to-goodness prize fight.

The gorgeous affair of Tuesday evening furnished the followers of Pal Brown with the surprise of their sweet or sour, young or old lives, just as the case may be. One gent seated near us was an ardent follower of the house of Brown.

The boys came to their corners after the close of the first round.

"Here goes the Tillman idol," said this fellow. He had a dinkey little mustache.

"Tillman will last the fight out," said a man who sat next to the man who sat next to us.

"I'll bet you money that Brown finishes him off before the eighth round," said the man with the little mustache. At the same time the gent with the hirsute adornment of the upper lip made a business-like reach in the general direction of the right trouser pocket.

Whether there was any coin of the realm in that right trouser pocket, it was no business of ours to inquire.

"No—I don't care to bet," said the man who had expressed the belief that Tillman would manage somehow to last the ten rounds out.

That is the way a lot of the followers of Brown felt. And what does it all mean? Simply that Pal Brown will have to show more stuff than he exhibited in any round of the ten that was fought at Superior last Tuesday evening.

We, for one, are frank to say that Ad Wolgast will beat the Brown that opposed Tillman—or at least that is our belief. It may be that Brown did not show his best; or it may be that he can do better upon another occasion. Be that as it may, or will be, the fact remains unadorned and unembellished, that Brown failed to exhibit lightweight championship qualities.

In the 133-pound division—for they are beginning to differentiate between the lightweight class and the real and genuine 133 pounders, are such classy performers as Charley White, Joe Mandot, Jose Rivers, Ad Wolgast, the Lockport Duffy—and that Griffith boy of Akron, Ohio.

If Pal is going to meet and hold his own with these boys, he will have to show an improved form over the one of Tuesday. This is said in a friendly spirit of plain fact.

It is said from the camp of Brown that he made one of the worst fights of his career. That is neither here nor there; men in this sweet old hard iron life are judged from what they do—not from the way in which they feel. Brown failed to make the showing his always loyal friends expected of him—and that is about all there is to it.

The Case of Yokel.

OLD Mike Yokel will be forced by the swift flare of public opinion to speedily come to some decision concerning the waiting Waino. The Ketonen lad, quiet, unassuming, unboasting, with a menace in his very self poise, waits keenly for the acceptance of his defi from the camp of the mighty middleweight champion wrestler of the world.

There were some to laugh to scorn the early pretentions of the little Finn. But if some of these people could scan the Salt Lake City papers they would rather believe that Waino has a large following in the city of many loves.

You see Ketonen beat Chris Jordon in the first mixup of their match. The first time the men went to the mat the Finn got his man—got him from a position underneath. And Thomas Abbington Scanlon had his roll on the Greek. That is an important detail of the contest.

It took Mike three solid hours and four strenuous minutes to beat Jordon—and Thomas Abbington Scanlon had his roll on the Greek. Tom possessed a lot of confidence in the Greek—yes he did.

The fans out Salt Lake City way saw Waino do the things to Jordon—and they think he is the great white-haired middleweight of them all who can stride into the ring and make things generally hum with the Rocky Mountain Lion.

Who knows?

The Credits Are Needed.

HARVARD, we notice, is suggesting that courses in the athletics of the university go as credits toward the sweet day when the youth with the cap and serious look goes forth to grasp his sheep skin and live on pater.

This, gentlemen, is a blessing indeed. How many poor and struggling athletes are there who make an impromptu turkish bath out of the study room during those last grilling hours before the examinations? Ah, sir, answer that question!

Were the good school to give each shining athlete a sweet faced credit for valiant service on the diamond or gridiron or perforce for labor on the sticky floor of the basket ball room, there would be less anguish among the coaches, followers of the team and the members of the alumni association who are furnishing funds for the sake of dear old alma mater.

LOCAL PLAYERS ARE VERY FAST

Duluth Y. M. C. A. Will Send Crack Handball Team to St. Paul.

Duluth handball players are practicing daily for the meeting with the cracks of the St. Paul Y. M. C. A., which will take place March 14 on the courts of the St. Paul association.

The chief hope of the local players is pinned on Bill Wendlandt, one of the real stars of the Northwest. This boy has defeated all of the players at the Head of the Lakes and supplemented his many local victories by taking George Sudheimer, one of the best of the St. Paul players, down the line for five straight games.

In Dr. Clark, Bill Dreves and Eddie Barry, the Duluth Y. M. C. A. will be represented by some of the best players in the state. These men will be at a disadvantage on the St. Paul courts, but the followers of the game here are of the opinion that the Zenith City stars will win at least part of the games.

Duluth will have some very strong doubles and in this event the St. Paul men will be given a very hard run.

ARBITRATION DECISIONS.

National Baseball Board Refuses to Advance Canadian League.

Auburn, N. Y., March 4.—The national board of baseball arbitration today denied the application of the Canadian league to be advanced to Class B. It also handed down the following decisions:

Services of players awarded included the following: Fred Curtis to Superior, Wis.; Fred Nye to Dubuque; William Lane to Fond du Lac.

Claims disallowed: M. A. Cavanaugh against Wausau; Al Swalm against Rowland of Dubuque, Iowa.

Applications granted: Enoch Lewis, J. E. Harrington and George J. Sohn to be free agents; E. T. Roller against Cadillac.

BILL BRADLEY MAY MANAGE BROOKLYN.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 5.—Bill Bradley, former third baseman of the Cleveland American league team, but now aligned with the Federal league, before leaving Hot Springs last night presumably for Brooklyn, announced that he had been offered attractive terms to manage the Brooklyn club and had been tentatively accepted.

Bradley is quoted as saying that a determined effort would be made by the Federals to sign Collins, Gregg, Whaling, Perdue, Lewis, Cady, Leonard, Wagner, Engle and other players at Hot Springs. Besides Bradley, another Federal league representative is said to be in Hot Springs conducting negotiations.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 5.—"The organization will back the Cleveland club to the limit should the Federal league carry out its threat to wage war for the services of Pitcher Blanding," said Ban Johnson, president of the American league at the Union station last night, after a conference with Charles Somers, owner of the Cleveland club.

Johnson and other baseball magnates were on their way to New York to meet the members of the Comiskey-McGraw party on its return from the trip around the world.

Spokane, Wash., March 5.—Clarence (Skipper) Roberts, a pitcher last year for the St. Louis Nationals and later turned over to the Oakland team of the Pacific Coast league, announced yesterday that he had signed with the Pittsburg Federal league team.

Paso Robles, Cal., March 5.—That Hal Chase, the hold-out first baseman, would join the Chicago White Sox at Oakland, Cal., Friday, was confirmed in a message received here. Chase is in San Jose, Cal.

DATES SET FOR BIG TENNIS CUP MATCHES.

New York, March 5.—The international challenges for the Davis lawn tennis cup will be played on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 13-15.

The American national lawn tennis champion tournament at Newport will begin on Aug. 24, a week later than usual.

These dates were announced by R. D. Wrenn, president of the National Lawn Tennis association. The places at which the international matches will be played were not chosen on account of the absence from the city of Henry W. Slocum, a member of the Davis cup committee, which has this matter in charge. The national tournament will begin later than usual to avoid crowding on the heels of the international event.

The American committee decided that the matches in the first round, between Canada and Australasia and between the British Isles and Belgium, must be completed by July 25, the semi-final round by Aug. 1, and the final match by Aug. 8.

CONTROL IMPRESSES HIM

Australian Promoter Attends Meeting of New York Athletic Commission.

New York, March 5.—A feature of yesterday's session of the New York state athletic commisston was the presence of Reginald L. Baker of Sydney, Australia, former referee for Hugh McIntosh and now prominently connected with the prize ring in the antipodes as owner of clubs in Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane and Adelaide. Mr. Baker, who is better known in Australia as "Snowy," expressed himself as greatly impressed by the thoroughness of control exercised by the board.

He attended the meeting to gather data for an attempt to standardize weights and penalties in the prize ring, an effort in behalf of which he is now touring the world. Baker will sail for Europe next Tuesday to take the matter up with the French federation of boxing clubs and the National Sporting club of London.

CORDIAL ANYWAY.

Rebel Oakes of St. Louis National Jumps to Federals.

St. Louis, Mo., March 5.—E. T. "Rebel" Oakes, for three years center field for the St. Louis Nationals, has jumped to the Federal league, according to a dispatch received here last night from St. Augustine, Fla., the team's training camp. The dispatch says Manager Miller J. Huggins received the following telegram dated at Atlanta, Ga.:

"Have signed with Federals. Good luck to you. Regards to boys.

"E. T. OAKES."

This is the first intimation the local club received that Oakes would not play for St. Louis this season. Early last week Huggins received a wire from Oakes saying he would report March 2.

Packey Still Barred.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 5.—The suspension of Packey McFarland for one year from engaging in boxing contests in Wisconsin, meted out by the Wisconsin boxing commission on Dec. 16 for alleged "stalling" in his contest with Jack Britton in Milwaukee on Dec. 8, has been set aside by Judge Eschweiler of the circuit court for the reason that the proceeding was irregular. The suspension ruling of Monday last, however, stands, as McFarland was given an opportunity on the latter date to appear before the commission but failed to make his appearance either in person or by counsel.

THREE BAKERS IN LINE-UP OF THE WINNIPEG TEAM

Duluth Hockey Team Expects to Defeat the Canadian Seven.

Interest increases afternoonly and eveningly in the coming contest between the Bakers—pardon, the Victorias—and the crack hockey team of the Duluth Curling club. The Bakers—well, there will be three of them in the lineup of the wonderful Victoria team. Some of the fans, lots of 'em, in fact, vividly recall what the Victorias did with "Hammy" Baker in the line-up—and now the question of the hockey hour is just what will the eminent Vics do with three stalwart Bakers in their ranks.

This is the darling game that the fans of this fair city should witness. During the season's length our team has shown gradual improvement. The combination play has been improved and the team play has been immensely worked up. Also the members of the Duluth seven are far better now at breaking up the combination play of their opponents.

Opposed to Duluth will be one of the greatest teams in all of Canada. This statement travels along the pike without the ornate company of Herr Exaggeration. It stands alone, like Henry George, for men.

Never in the short but exceedingly large league history of hockey here has there been a team on home grown ice that compared to the Vics. They are redolent of expert ability. The Vics come with the reputation of being about the class of the Winnipeg sevens and all good and well informed people are perfectly well aware of the fact that some hockey is played in the metropolis of Western Canada.

Great Game Looked For.

In poring over the interesting dope most of us have come to the opinion that no matter if the visitors win, the game will be interesting. Mind, that is not admitting that the Vics are going to win. Our team is performing at the very highest tempo of ability; and even if the Vic scintillate with shining and gleaming class, the fact remains that the Canadian guests of the management will meet one of the best teams in the whole Middle West.

Joe Linder has stated that he expects to win—that is, Joe and the other members of the local team expect to win. Joseph has a great and loving regard for the truth. The gallant leader of the Duluth team points out just where his men have improved, just where they are better than at any time during the season—and also declares that right now the Duluth Hockey team is better than any team in the Western division of the American Hockey association.

Fans here know that Duluth is stronger now than at any time during the season. The fact is generally appreciated that Winnipeg is coming with a stronger team than was brought here for the first large game of the year. In every small and large detail the game of Saturday evening should surpass the contest of some months ago.

If the two other Bakers are of the same hockey mould as "Ham," then the fans here will see some real stuff. And the thought also comes—if "Ham" shows the stuff he exhibited here upon a previous occasion, it may not make so much difference whether the other two Bakers show so very much after all.

"Ham" is like a lurid headliner on an excellent bill of vaudeville; he stands out, dominates and is the center of interest. He is the headliner of the coming game—and everyone is waiting and watching for "Ham."

WESTERGAARD HERE FOR CONTEST WITH ZBYSZKO

Big Des Moines Swede Confident of Giving the Gigantic Pole the Greatest Mat Battle of His Career---Sailor Jack Arrives.

Large Jess Westergaard, looking larger than ever, and his genial manager, Oscar Thorson, arrived in Duluth early today and are supremely serene in the belief that the wonderful big Swede of Des Moines, Iowa, is going to spring a surprise on the wrestling world quite equal to the boxing sensation sprung by John Tecumseh Tillman.

In the first place Westergaard looks in the very best condition of his career. The big Des Moines mat star is today in the prime of his wrestling ability, according to the statement of Manager Thorson, who says there is no American left in the game, now that the immortal Gotch has dropped out, who can take the measure of Jess—or, in fact, whom Jess can't beat.

"I have got all over the idea of being a white hope," said Westergaard at the St. Louis today. "Wrestling is my business. During all of the present season I have trained as I have never prepared for any contests in the past, and you can take it from me that I am right. I am big enough and strong enough to meet any man in the world on even terms, and you can bet that Zbyszko, great as the big Pole is, will have the battle of his life."

Manager Thorson is even more enthusiastic over the big Swede.

"Jess is the best of all the Americans," said Thorson. "There are none of the Americans who can pin the shoulders of the big Des Moines boy to the mat. This is the best year of Westergaard. Jess is 29 years of age and is going better than ever. We have been in New Orleans, Birmingham and Omaha, and have wrestled something like twenty-seven matches and have not lost a fall. Jess weighs 222 pounds. The big Swede is about five pounds heavier than ever before, and is stronger. You will see Westergaard right. Jess has defeated Charley Cutler twice and you can take it from me that there is no wrestler among them all that we believe has anything on Westergaard.

"I will let Jess meet any man in the world and will ask no odds. The time has come when the people want to see the best American come to the front. We have the greatest of them all—at least we believe we have, and they can't come too fast for us. The contest with Zbyszko will show the fans for Duluth once for all just how good this wonderful big fellow is.

Jess is Right for Pole.

"If Westergaard was ever right for any contest, he is properly conditioned for the finish contest with Zybszko. It is the biggest contest of the American mat and we have cancelled dates to get right. We want to show the hundreds of Scandinavian friends of the tall boy that he is there at every stage of the game, and I think they will see one of the real stars of the mat."

Sailor Jack is here for the match with Ketonen and he looks in grand shape. The sailor really believes that he is going to best the wonderful little Finn.

Ketonen declares that he is going in to finish the marine in jig time. This contest, one that is exciting a large amount of interest, promises to stand out with the big battle of the giants as one that will furnish the fans with lots of excitement and a whole lot of action.

"I have to show how good I am," said Ketonen. "This fellow is tough and I want to beat him and beat him fast, if it is possible, just to show the people of Duluth that I am qualified to meet Yokel."

Stanislaus Zbyszko will arrive later in the day and will rest for the contest of tomorrow evening.

Westergaard was born in Kristianstad, Skane, Sweden, and his father and grandfather served in the Swedish army as officers. The big Des Moines wrestler came to Duluth in the early days, but later went to Des Moines.

NORTHERNS AND BAGLEYS TO MEET

The Bagleys and Northerns of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league will meet at the curling club rink this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

The Northerns are at the present time close in the race for the leadership and are going to take no chance with the jewelers. As the Bagleys have shown improvement with the progress of the season, it is expected that the contest will be close and interesting.

The Northerns are in the best condition of the season, all of their men are back in the game, and the contest is expected to be one of the best of the schedule.

The season of the league will come to a close shortly after the middle of the month.

GIVES DEFENDER BALLOON.

Rodman Wanamaker Makes Valuable Present to Aero Club.

New York, March 5.—Interest in ballooning as an international sport was marked yesterday by the presentation of a large racing balloon to the Aero club of America by Rodman Wanamaker, to be used for the defense of the international cup in the contest of Oct. 6 next, starting from Kansas City.

Announcement of the gift was made at a meeting of the executive committee of the club, of which the president, Alan R. Hawley, is chairman. It was voted to accept the balloon with thanks to the donor. The balloon is being constructed to Mr. Wanamaker's order in this city. It will have a capacity of 80,000 cubic feet, the limit permitted under the rules of the trophy. Its completion is expected within a month. Two other balloons will be used by the Americans in the contest.

One of the three pilots for the American team this year has accepted the place, it was announced. He is H. E. Honeywell of St. Louis, who was second in last year's contest. Ralph H. Upson, one of the American pair who won in the race from Paris, is considering the invitation given to him to take part again, and will give an answer within a week. The club also hopes to obtain the services of Lieut. Frank P. Lahm, U. S. A., who is on his way back to this country after nearly three years' service in the Philippines, where he has been in charge of a detachment of the army aviation corps. Lieut. Lahm was the winner of the first of the international balloon contests in France in 1906.

For the national balloon race, held annually in this country, the Aero club announced that the entries must be in by May 1. Portland, Or., which is an applicant for the contest, has been asked as to the character of the gas to be supplied there. In the event that the conditions at Portland are not satisfactory, there is a possibility, it is understood, that the race will be started from St. Louis.

SKATING BENEFIT FOR CHAMPION FRANK BRYANT

There will be a benefit for Frank Bryant given at the Auditorium next Tuesday. The proceeds of the roller skating races will go to assist in defraying the expenses of the local flyer to the world's meet at Detroit, Mich.

Bryant will contest against Haggerty, Maher and Belanger, and in addition to this race there will be a contest between some of the cracks of the city.

The world's meet will be held at Detroit starting March 12. All of the cracks of the roller skating world have entered, and the meet will be without a doubt the largest and greatest ever held in the world.

JAMES K. HACKETT HEIR TO $2,500,000

Inherits Property of Niece Who Refused to Receive Him.

New York, March 5.—James K. Hackett, the actor, former husband of Mary Mannering, is heir to the bulk of an estate valued at $2,500,000.

Mrs. Minnie Hackett Trowbridge died at her home here from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy suffered more than five years ago.

The woman who died was Hackett's niece and desired above all things that others should inherit her property. She had never received Hackett at her home; she had declined to hold any communication with him; she had expressed totally different purposes and plans for her money. Yet for three years, other relatives, her warmest personal friends, lawyers and financial institutions who had the management of her property have known that the actor must inevitably receive the bulk of it.

Hackett will receive the money because as uncle of Mrs. Trowbridge he is nearest of kin and entitled to a residuary estate which had been bequeathed to her husband, Francis E. Trowbridge, who died in 1910.

Mrs. Trowbridge some years ago had suffered an attack of aphasia and had been declared incompetent to draw up another will after the death of her husband.

THREE AUTOS COLLIDE.

Mrs. Charles W. Murphy of Chicago Seriously Injured.

Chicago, March 5.—Mrs. Charles Webb Murphy, wife of the former owner of the Chicago Cubs, was seriously injured in a triple automobile collision here yesterday. Several other persons were slightly injured. Mrs. Murphy suffered a broken shoulder, bruises and possible internal injuries.

The Murphy car crashed into two others at the intersection of North avenue and the Lake Shore drive, in the most fashionable section of Chicago. Mrs. Murphy was thrown from her seat and dashed against the front of her limousine. Mrs. Murphy's ear was wrecked. Occupants of the other cars in the triple crash were less painfully injured and their machines were able to leave the place of accident.

Killed in His Own Mine.

Readville, Sask., March 5.—Peter Bungard, proprietor of a coal mine twenty miles southwest of here, was overcome by gas in a passage of the mine yesterday and when found by workmen was dead. The mine has been on fire for two months and Bungard entered to make an investigation.

Men Alleged to Have Killed Nashwauk Officer Bound Over.

Coroner's Jury Found They Contributed to Death of Officer.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The five men arrested at the time Policeman August Kappo was mortally wounded here on the evening of Feb. 10 during an exchange of shots when he killed Broso Brosich, had a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Edward Goffney yesterday afternoon following the report of the coroner's inquest and all were held to the next grand jury. Sheriff Riley and deputies took the accused back to the Itasca county jail at Grand Rapids.

County Attorney McOuat was here for the inquest and preliminary hearing while Attorney McMahon of Virginia looked after the interests of the accused.

Result of Inquest.

The finding of the coroner's jury follows:

"The death of Patrolman Kappo came by a group of men of whom Mike Yaher, Steve Sterich, Mike Bontich, Eli Karrakas and Broso Brosich are implicated. The death of Louis Brozich came from being shot by August Kappo."

FIREMEN'S SPORT, ALSO HOMECOMING

Ely Plans of Having Double Entertainment Next Summer.

Ely, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the Mesaba Firemen's association's tournament and a homecoming planned here July 22-25 Ely is already planning to entertain 1,000 or more visitors. The representatives of all the fire departments interested in the tournament met here and outlined the plans for the firemen's tournament next July. Chief Cox of the local department, aided by the council, plans of making the gathering a big success. Considerable money will be distributed in prizes.

COMMUNITY'S MORAL SIDE IS IMPORTANT

Duluthian Advises Hibbing Club on Getting New Industries.

Hibbing, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—That a campaign for industries was secondary to a campaign for a cleaner, more attractive and more wholesome community in commercial club work, was the keynote of the address delivered last evening by Lieut. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club.

"Industries are not hanging on trees to be picked off by the locality with an ambitious club," he said. "The industrial men who contemplate a change investigate the moral side of the community. They look at the schools, the churches, the parks and the civic spirit and then if transportation facilities are adequate and there is a demand for their wares with the raw product within handy distance, they become approachable. A club should ascertain what is used at home for which material is at hand or can be easily obtained and then specialize in those lines."

Compliments Hibbing Club.

Mr. Eva complimented the club on securing the services of a paid secretary and lauded the municipal publicity bureau that has been established by the village. He dwelt at some length on the agricultural possibilities of Northern Minnesota and urged the building of good roads and the encouragement of the settlers, along the lines that are being worked out by the county club and subsidiary organizations. He showed the increase in urban population in St. Louis county, which grew from 18,061 in 1900 to 47,211 in 1910, and commented on the showing of the last census that while the urban population of the state increased but 1 per cent, the increase in St. Louis county was 18 per cent.

The remarks were well received and the members asked several questions regarding organization work and what a club could accomplish in the community.

O'Neil Talks About Roads.

That twenty-seven miles of new road had already been contracted for in the district and that ten or twelve more miles would be built in addition to that in sight during the coming year was the statement of R. S. O'Neil of Chisholm, county commissioner, who was present at the meeting. The approximate amount of money that will be spent will be $92,000.

"It has been my endeavor," said Mr. O'Neil, "to spread the road work as much as possible though we cannot on the limited funds appropriated for the work allow all the petitions that are received, nor keep all our present roads in as good shape as they should be."

Mr. O'Neil pointed out that no county road work would be done during his administration in the townships of Stuntz, Nichols, Balkan or Great Scott as he felt that those boards had sufficient funds at their command.

Potato Warehouse.

The need of a potato warehouse and cold storage plant was briefly shown in short talks by several of the members of the club and without doubt definite action will be taken at an early meeting. A suitable building in which the produce that will be brought in by the farmers can be kept will be constructed and arrangements made so that the merchants may buy when the demand is on.

The extension of the electric road, the suppression of noxious weeds, and other club activities were discussed.

Eveleth, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Thirteenth anniversary of the organization of the Gustavus Adolphus lodge of the Scandinavian Good Templars will be celebrated Thursday night, March 12, at Monitor hall.

The program will include an address by Mr. Holmsten, a well known temperance lecturer. Refreshments will be served.

NASHWAUK CAUCUS.

Candidates for Village and Township Officers Nominated.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village and township caucus held Tuesday night to name candidates for the coming election was well attended. The village caucus resulted as follows, the person receiving the larger vote being the nominee:

President, John P. Roatama 262, Abe Markus 201; clerk, William Suml 242, M. J. Donovan 225; treasurer, P. Verra 227, James Cannon 137, Gust Sandell 144; trustees No. 1, Edward Wilson by acclamation; trustees No. 2, Wilbur Ohles 213 and Frank Schinelli 34; trustees No. 3, John Carlson 169, Joe De Petro 69 and Frank Schinelli 61; justice of the peace for two years, Edward Gaffney; constable for two years, William Hayes.

Township caucus — Supervisor for three years, H. V. Wakkinen by acclamation; clerk for one year, W. J. Ethier by acclamation; treasurer for one year, Edward Gaffney by acclamation; constable for two years, John Webb by acclamation; justice of the peace for a term of one year, P. E. McEachin.

FAVOR OPENING HIBBING AVENUE.

Hibbing, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—That definite action on the opening of Fourth avenue will be taken at the next council meeting is the opinion of the city officials who well realize the necessity of throwing that thoroughfare open to the public. The rapid increase of business in that vicinity and the number of new houses that are being built in that part of town makes necessary the shortening of the route.

SEEKING SITE IN MINNESOTA

Virginia Commercial Club Gets Inquiry From Paper Plant.

Virginia, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Toeller of the Commercial club has received a letter from a Western manufacturing concern about to establish a branch somewhere in Northern Minnesota, regarding the possibility of securing a location in Virginia.

The concern manufactures wrapping paper of all kinds and paper wrapping machinery and is now doing business in a Pacific coast city, but finds it advisable to look for a location in this section. Every effort will be made to impress them with Virginia's advantages. The letter will be submitted to the membership of the club at its next meeting.

ABANDONED WIVES TO MAKE COMPLAINT

Chisholm Pair, Left By Husbands, to Interview County Attorney.

Chisholm, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Lottie Johnson and Mrs. Mary Luoma went to Duluth today to confer with County Attorney Warren E. Greene in regard to taking some action relative to their husbands.

Mrs. Johnson's husband has been absent over a year, while Mrs. Luoma's has been away for several years. Each leaves a large family.

Mrs. Johnson has four or five children and Mrs. Luoma seven or eight. It is expected that some action will be taken by the grand jury in each case. The village has been providing for the families since their husbands' departure and it is through the efforts of the authorities that the arrangement to have these women go to Duluth and testify against their husbands was arranged.

SEEK GILBERT JOBS.

No Dearth of Candidates in Mesaba Range Village.

Gilbert, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interest in the coming village election grows daily. The president, Dr. Fred Barrett is a candidate for re-election. He has two opponents, Mike Kohler and S. B. Dunn. Mr. Kohler is a member of the present council, and one of the pioneers of old Sparta. Mr. Dunn announced himself as candidate last year, but withdrew at the last minute for business reasons.

For trustee, there are six candidates so far announced: Julius Pordeau, C. M. Campbell, John Connors, Leo Kukar, Frank Walli and Frank Gimpol. Mr. Bordeau is a member of the present council and Messrs. Campbell and Gimpel have been members of former councils. The present clerk, A. E. MacInnis has two opponents, O. R. Olson and Thomas Sharpe. W. J. Luke, the present treasurer, will be opposed by Matt Hyovalti, who is the present street commissioner.

The township of Missabe Mountain election will be held at the same time as the village election, the present supervisor, Thomas Hendy, of Virginia, is a candidate for re-election, and to date no one has announced any opposition. F. P. Rutherford, the present clerk will be opposed by Ed Brown and J. C. Faith. Herman Bodas, the present highway overseer, will be opposed by A. J. Noble and Anton Erjvoc. A. E. MacInnis will be opposed for treasurer by James MacArthur. H. R. Edmonds will have Timothy Burns as his opponent for assessor.

KILLED NEAR McKINLEY.

"Jakie the Bear" Ground to Pieces Under Iron Range Train.

McKinley, Minn., March 5. — Jacob Jacobson, known as "Jakie the Bear," a woodsman and section laborer, was instantly killed Tuesday night while attempting to board a Iron Range train near the McKinley station. His body was terribly mangled. The body was removed to Biwabik.

Jacobson was a Finn about 45 years of age.

SEEKS UNION STATION.

Virginia Wants Missabe and Iron Range Roads to Build Jointly.

Virginia, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A committee consisting of M. A. Murphy, James Lavick and Andrew Hawkinson has been appointed by President W. J. Archer of the Commercial club to confer with President McGonagle of the Missabe railway and President House of the Iron Range relative to the construction of a new downtown passenger station. The Iron Range depot is located remote from the business district of the city and must soon be replaced by a new structure and as the Missabe is said to be contemplating extensive improvements to its station, the officials of the club think there is an excellent opportunity to induce the two roads to combine upon a downtown station.

ALL CANDIDATES WILL BE HEARD

Twenty-One Aspirants for Chisholm Offices Invited to Speak.

Chisholm, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—All of the twenty-one candidates for office at the coming village election will have a chance to tell where they stand at the big mass meeting to be held in the Finnish opera house next Saturday evening. All will be invited to seats on the stage.

TO WORK SECTION 1.

Virginia Mining Man Has Secured Lease on the Property.

Virginia, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Claypool, a Virginia mining man, has secured a lease on the Section 1 mine, near here, the fee of which is owned by Mountain Iron and Virginia business men, and work on its development will begin soon. Section 1 is an underground property and the ore body is not large as compared with most of the other mines in the Virginia district. Mr. Claypool, who is to have charge of the property, was formerly superintendent of the Coleraine washing plant and was also superintendent at the Cavour mine of the Hartley interests in the Buhl district.

GILBERT CHILD IS SCALDED TO DEATH.

Gilbert, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lopp fell into a tub of hot water yesterday at his home and was so badly scalded that he died in four hours.

KILLED BY TREE.

Tower, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Kopp, in the employ of the Luni Lake Timber company at Camp 1, was killed on Monday morning by a tree he had felled rebounding and striking him with force enough to cause immediate death.

EVELETH JAIL EMPTY.

Eveleth, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Only one case has come before the municipal judge last week and it was speedily dismissed. The cells in the city jail are without tenants.

TOWER BRIEFS.

Tower, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jacob Korpi, manager for the Tower Mercantile company, has purchased the home of E. W. Lund at North Second street and will occupy it.

It is announced the Vermilion hotel will reopen in about two or three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Benson arrived home Monday evening from a trip of several days at Virginia.

Miss Irene Ross, a student in the high school has won four high school credits for the local school in a Minneapolis Journal contest.

EVELETH DESIRES A NEW THEATER.

Eveleth, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The securing of a better theater for this city will be one of the topics discussed at a meeting of the Commercial club Monday night. The city already has a magnificent municipal auditorium, but feels the need of a large theater.

The club will also discuss county road matters.

Virginia "Dough" Day.

Virginia, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday was "dough day at the city hall and City Clerk Bickford distributed a total of $5,664.15 to the various employes of the city. Of this amount $1,756.50 was for official salaries; police department, $1,605; fire department, $1,362.25; street and team work, $2,301.50; incinerator plant, $640.

No Pay; No Service.

Hibbing, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—No more credit is to be extended by the water and light department of the village. In the future unless light bills are paid before the 20th of the month the current will be shut off and no excuses will be allowed to change the decision. There is a large amount on the books now that there may be difficulty in collecting though an effort is being made to satisfactorily arbitrate. Several snags have been struck by the collectors because of agreements and understandings had with the former accountant.

Buys Eveleth Property.

Eveleth, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sam Ellis, proprietor of a local store has purchased the location on the west side of Grant avenue, between Pierce and Monroe streets from Dave Simon, now a resident of St. Paul. Mr. Ellis expects eventually to have the frame building now standing on the property razed and a fireproof business block erected.

Banquet for Solberg.

Virginia, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry Solberg, president of the Virginia Ski club, was guest of honor at a banquet given in Odd Fellows hall last night for the successful manner in which he handled the late contest and in commemoration of his leaving next week for a visit to Norway.

More Range Telephones.

Hibbing, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new telephone directories issued by the Mesaba Telephone company are being distributed to the patrons this week. The list shows a substantial increase in the number of telephone users not only in the village but in all of the range towns.

New Eveleth Concern.

Eveleth, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A wholesale liquor house will be opened here wimin a few days by J. Clagne and J. De Yoannes of Calumet, Mich., in a building on Grand avenue now being vacated by Joseph Francel, who has been operating a saloon.

Hibbing Brewers Win.

Hibbing, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Brewers defeated Kohrt Bros. in an interesting bowling match at the Ideal alleys, taking two games out of three and scoring 1,832 pins against their opponents' 1,755.

To Hear Duluth Woman.

Virginia, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Spiegel of Duluth, a prominent club woman, has been invited to address the Virginia Study club at one of its meetings in the near future on the subject of "The Maeterlinck."

Lectures at Ely.

Ely, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Rev. W. Bell of Virginia gave an illustrated lecture at the Presbyterian church last evening on "The Bible." This was the second of the series given by Mr. Bell at the local church.

Virginia vs. Ely High.

Ely, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friday evening the last basket ball game for the season at home will be played at the Lincoln school gymnasium, when Virginia high school and the Ely high school meet.

Entertained at McKinley.

Eveleth, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of local women, members of the Agudas Achim Temple(were entertained yesterday at McKinley by Mrs. Maurice Bright.

FALLS TO HIS DEATH

Spalding Employe Is Found Crushed Under Freight Elevator.

Believed to Have Fallen Six Stories—Found By Brother.

Whether Zalman Levine, 24 years old, dishwasher at the Spalding hotel, who was found crushed underneath the freight elevator at 9 o'clock last evening, came to his death by falling accidentally from the third floor, or whether he committed suicide by leaping to his death at the bottom of the shaft, is unknown.

The condition of the body today shows that Levine was not crushed by the elevator, but that his death was due to a fall from a distance, as his feet and legs are crushed. He had been sent up to the third floor of the hotel about 7:30 o'clock last evening to obtain some towels from the housekeeper, but had failed to return to the kitchen all evening. When the body was found at the bottom of the elevator shaft at 9 o'clock by the young man's brother, Frank Levine, porter at the hotel, the bundle of towels was lying beside the body.

It is believed that Levine fell from the third floor to the bottom of the shaft, making it practically a fall of six stories, there being a double basement and parlor floor to count besides.

Coroner McComb, who was called following the finding of the body last evening, had it removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms, where an autopsy will be held today.

Levine came to Duluth recently from Russia and had been employed as a dishwasher at the Spalding ever since his arrival. His brother, Frank, has been here several years. Their parents reside in Russia.

No funeral arrangements have been made as yet.

SNOWFALL REACHES ALMOST FIVE INCHES

Minnesota Storm Center—Only Light Flurries to Come.

The snow fall which has mantled Duluth since last night is centered over Minnesota and has covered not only most of this state but also Western Wisconsin and Manitoba.

H. W. Richardson, local weather forecaster, says that four and a half to five inches of snow has fallen in Duluth and that the same condition prevails over most of the territory covered.

He says that the most of the snow has already fallen and that for the rest of the day only flurries will be seen.

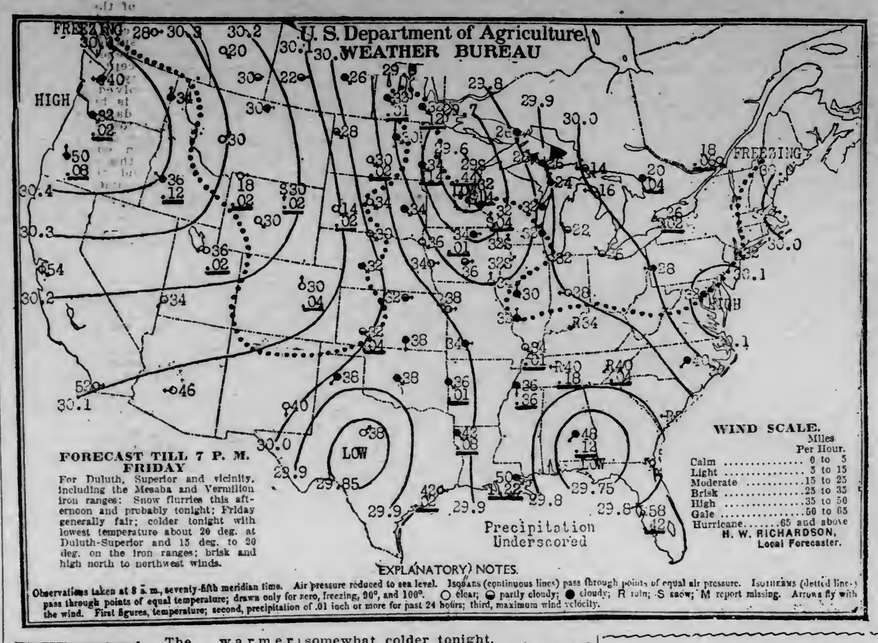
CHICAGO MAN COUNSEL.

W. O. Thompson Chosen By Industrial Relations Board.

Washington, March 5.—W. O. Thompson of Chicago has been appointed counsel of the United States commission on industrial relations. Chairman Walsh made this announcement with the explanation that Mr. Thompson, an expert on labor problems, would accompnay the commission and take an active part in the hearings soon to be conducted in different parts of the country, to develop a basis for an effort to improve relations between employes and employers.

Mr. Walsh, discussing work of the commission, said its efforts would be centered upon devising and putting into operation machinery through which labor disputes can be amicably settled. The present industrial conditions, he said, furnished a problem imperatively demanding immediate solution.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. FRIDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Snow flurries this afternoon and probably tonight; Friday generally fair; colder tonight with lowest temperature about 20 deg. at Duluth-Superior and 15 deg. to 20 deg. on the iron ranges; brisk and high north to northwest winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. ○ clear; ◒ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

COLDER

The warmer weather has brought on snow and plenty of it. Four and a half to five inches of the white stuff has fallen but it's about all over. There will be flurries, however, according to promise, for most of the day and probably tonight. The temperature will also get a trifle colder. It will be a great night for skiers with conditions pretty nearly ideal.

A year ago today was mild. The sun rose this morning at 6:40 and will set this evening at 5:59, giving eleven hours and nineteen minutes of sunshine, four minutes more than yesterday. The twelve-hour sunshine day will be reached on the 18th.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Light to heavy falls of snow or rain fell during Wednesday, or last night over the St. Lawrence, Red River, Mississippi and Lower Ohio valleys, Gulf and South Atlantic states, the Rocky mountains and Far West. Warmer weather prevails in the Middle states and the Upper Mississippi valley, but it has turned colder throughout the greater portion of the Northwest, which latter condition ought to reach the Head of the Lakes tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 5.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Wisconsin—Light snow tonight with somewhat colder in west portion; Friday generally fair.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; somewhat colder tonight.

Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota—Fair tonight and Friday; somewhat colder tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Friday; somewhat colder tonight.

Lower Michigan—Snow tonight and Friday; warmer in extreme northeast portion tonight.

Upper Michigan—Snow tonight and probably Friday; warmer in extreme east portion tonight.

You'll Crow Over "GETS-IT" for Corns

It Will Startle You How "GETS-IT" Gets Corns Every Time.

"One, two, three!" That's about as long as it takes you to apply "GETS-IT," the new plan, simplest, surest corn cure the world has ever seen.

"This Is No Place For a Crow. Her Corns Are All Gone. She Must Have Used 'GETS-IT.'"

Corn fussing is all over. Corns, corn pains and calluses are absolutely done for, from the minute you apply "GETS-IT." Forget the bother of useless plasters, greasy salves that spread and make toes sore and raw, little doughnut cotton rings that press on corns, forget, knives, razors, scissors and the dangers of blood poison from drawing blood, and the contraptions and harnesses that simply make corns worse. "GETS-IT" never hurts the flesh, never falls.

"GETS-IT" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Stork and Cupid Cunning Plotters

Many a New Home will Have a Little Sunbeam to Brighten it.

There is some dread in every woman's mind as to the probable pain, distress and danger of child-birth. But, thanks to a remarkable remedy known as Mother's Friend, the period is one of joyful anticipation.

Mother's Friend is a penetrating, external application. It makes the muscles of the stomach and abdomen pliant so they expand easily and naturally without pain, and with none of that peculiar nausea, nervousness and other symptoms that tend to weaken the prospective mother. Thus Cupid and the stork are rated as cunning plotters to herald the coming of a little sunbeam to gladden the hearts and homes.

Thousands of women know from experience Mother's Friend is one of our greatest contributions to happy motherhood. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Especially recommended as a preventive of caking breast.

Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 231 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable book to expectant mothers.

How You May Throw Away Your Glasses

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism eye-strain cataract, sore eye lids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

HAVE YOU HAD THE GRIP?

There are certain disorders, such as the grip, that especially debilitate and make the body an easy prey for more dangerous diseases. Ask those who have had the grip regarding the present condition of their health and most of them will answer: "Since I had the grip I have never been well." They still have profuse perspiration, the persistent weakness of the limbs, the disordered digestion, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart caused by the thin-blooded condition in which the grip almost always leaves its victim after the fever and influenza have subsided. They are furthermore, at the mercy of relapses and of complications, often very serious. In an attack of the grip there is a rapid thinning of the blood and not until the blood is built up again is complete health restored.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly make the blood rich and red, drive out the lingering germs from the system and transform despondent grip victims into cheerful, healthy men and women.

Try the pills for any form of debility caused by thin blood.

Guarantee Cures

It takes a builder three or four years to learn his trade thoroughly. How long would it take to learn all trades?

The doctor who spends four years at a Medical College is incapable of treating with success all the countless diseases of men, women and children. He knows a little of everything, but nothing thoroughly. We cure diseases and weaknesses peculiar to men. This is our sole field. The true specialist never attempts to do more than he can do WELL. His persistent study, diligent research and scientific investigations are all on the line of a few diseases. A SINGLE CLASS OF THEM on which all his efforts are concentrated, and to which his entire practice is limited. Hence he becomes supreme in his chosen field.

We do not pretend to know all about disease; in fact, our knowledge is very limited and extends only to one class—DISEASES OF MEN. If you are afflicted with any disease that is peculiar to men, STOMACH TROUBLE, SKIN DISEASE, BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, RHEUMATISM, OR ANY OTHER DISEASE OF A CHRONIC OR NEWLY CONTRACTED NATURE, we invite you to consult us and promise you a cure. Twenty-six years of hard and constant effort here have given us the means, methods and remedies to effect PERMANENT CURES. We assist every afflicted man to clear up and out of his body all poisons, we free him from his bad habits, we cure his maladies and return him to perfect health.

SUMMONS IN APPLICATION FOR REGISTRATION OF LAND.—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis, —ss.

District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

In the matter of the application of Nikaniss Company to register the title to the following described real estate situated in St. Louis County,

SHARP BREAK AT THE CLOSE

Flaxseed Slumps Again With Heavy Offerings During Final Hour.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 5.—The market broke sharply at the close on liquidation. May wheat closed ¾c off and July ⅝c off. May durum closed ⅝c off and July ⅝c off.

Oats closed ⅜c off at 37⅝@38⅛c. Rye closed unchanged at 56@56½c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 37½c bid and July at 38⅜c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 89¾c bid and calls at 90¼c bid.

Trading in wheat was quiet on today's market, and a weaker tendency was shown, during the first three hours' trading.

May wheat opened unchanged at 92½c and weakened ¼c. The July option opened unchanged at 93⅛c and held there. May durum opened unchanged at 91¾c, and after selling up ¼c, it receded to its opening figure.

The continued heavy primary receipts acted as a wet blanket upon the market. Today they showed an increase of 146,000 bu over last year. Arrivals at Minneapolis came to 360 cars against 252 a year ago, and stocks there showed an increase of 600,000 bu in the five days. Duluth receipts came to 28 cars against 47 a year ago, and there were on the track for the day 42 cars of all grains.

Wheat stocks in the local elevators have increased 24,000 bu in the four days bringing them up to 13,262,000 bu. Stores of all grains have increased 59,000 bu in that time and they now stand at 20,082,000 bu.

Eastern inquiry was reported by Duluth operators, but no business was put through, except in durum, in which a couple of lots were sold. In addition to the sale of spring wheat reported by an operator yesterday afternoon, it is advised that remaining stocks of hard winter wheat in elevators here have been cleaned up, for spring shipment.

A slight improvement in the Eastern millers' demand was reported from Buffalo. St. Louis wired that some further export sales of hard winter wheat had been put through to go out via New Orleans.

News was generally to the effect that mild weather prevails over the entire winter wheat territory, and that the high condition of the plant is being maintained.

Wheat at Liverpool closed unchanged to ¼d higher today, after ruling weaker earlier on freer offerings from Argentina and poor consumptive demand.

Flax Breaks Again.

Weakness was shown in the flaxseed market again today after early steadiness. On the windup losses of 1⅝@2c were recorded. The slump came about near the close on a renewal of liquidation. Closing prices were at the bottom.

Receipts were light with local arrivals amounting to only four cars. It is said, however, that crushers are well supplied for the time being and that they are only in the market at times when quotations look attractive.

Cables were easier, lower on the whole. Buenos Aires closed 1½c down. Antwerp and London were both unchanged.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.57⅜ and closed 1⅜c off at $1.55⅝ asked. The July option opened ⅛c up at $1.59½ and closed 2c off at $1.57¼.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.36¼ and July at $1.38½ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Argentine estimates on shipments this week are for 2,400,000 bu of wheat and 425,000 bu of corn.

A wire from Kansas City today reported fine weather, making experts bearish on July wheat. No complaints regarding conditions were reported down there except from the northeastern part of Kansas, where they came from last week. It is thought that a continuation of the present weather should reveal the growing crop condition in a few days.

* * *

At Minneapolis cash demand was very good with millers taking offerings more freely. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at Pacific coast values and velvet chaff at ⅛c to 1c over May. Flour sales were light. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 91¼c to 92¾c and No. 2 northern at from 88⅞c to 90⅞c.

* * *

A Liverpool cable today said: "Wheat is easier, with no demand. The market affected by free offers from Argentina; poor consumption demand. Corn is weak, affected by Argentine news."

* * *

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "A slight change in sentiment regarding the immediate course of the wheat market was noticeable after the close yesterday, a number of traders expressing the belief that there had been enough for the time being. The utter absence of crop damage complaint from the Southwest was regarded by bears as strongly in their favor and they advised sales."

Broomhall's special Russian news says: "Weather is mild and winter sowings over a very large area are showing an unsatisfactory condition. Arrivals at ports for shipment are decreasing and interior stocks are being questioned. There still is plenty of freight room which is being offered freely. Odessa continues to sell freely to Mediterranean ports, although the demand from Western Europe keeps small."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The wheat market opened with some support on comparative steadiness in America and prices were unchanged. The market was extremely dull and this steadiness was offset by cheaper Plate offers and very small demand for forward delivery. Advices from Russia are less favorable and private advices report lighter actual clearances this week from the country. The market lacks an initiative as demand is being satisfied and holdings of reserves are considered large. At 1:30 p. m. prices were unchanged.

"Corn opened unchanged to ¼d higher on the late steadiness in America and expected light shipments from Argentina. Later there was a decline of ¼d to ⅜d on small spot trade at the decline, favorable weather and crop advices from Argentina and nearness of Plate shipments."

Damage reports continue to come to hand from Hungary and the outlook for the new crop is unsatisfactory. Buying of foreign wheat continues there.

The outturn of wheat in Bengal is officially placed at 94 per cent and Bihiri and Orissa at 100 per cent with a full acreage.

The Northwestern Miller says: "As an illustration of how light the wheat movement from first hands in the Northwest is, one Minneapolis company, operating about 200 elevators, report its daily receipts as averaging only 5,000 bu. Interior elevator stocks in Minnesota and North Dakota are estimated by a prominent Minneapolis elevator manager at 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 bu, or about half of what they were two months ago. Since then heavy sales have been made to arrive during March, and further sharp reductions in interior stocks are anticipated."

* * *

Grain experts point out that the United States is selling as much wheat abroad as a year ago, but that shipments from Argentina are less than half of what they were then. Despite the prospects of a large winter crop in this country, the market outlook is generally regarded as bullish. It is felt that with the season of crop scares near at hand, it is a risky proposition to take a bearish position on the market at present. A feature commented upon is the immense absorption of wheat at points outside of the large centers. Mills in the Southwest are said to have done well in selling their by-products as feedstuffs, so that so far they have experienced a profitable season.

Barley, 43@62c. Rye, 55@56c. Bran unchanged.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Opens Easy, But Rallies on Absence of Offerings.

Chicago, March 5.—After an easy start today, wheat rallied, but the hardening of prices was due more to absence of offerings than to any special demand. Notice of export sales at Omaha tended slightly to help the bulls. There were also advices that the crop outlook in Russia had been less favorable, and that clearances from that country were lighter. The opening was unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower, but the reaction carried the market above last night's level all around.

Absence of adverse crops news brought about later a decided sag. The close was weak at ⅜@½c to ½c net decline.

Prospects of country roads soon breaking up gave firmness to corn. Interior Illinois points reported an active call from feeders. Prices, which at the outset varied from ½c off to a shade advance, rose gradually to a material extent.

A fresh setback took place, the result of attention being drawn to the fact that the present stock in Chicago is larger than ever before known at this time of the year. Closing prices were weak, ⅛@⅜c to ⅝c under last night.

In the oats crowd buying on the part of the cash houses strengthened the market. Selling was only of a scattered sort.

Falling off in receipts of hogs at Western centers as compared with a week ago furnished an excuse for a slight upturn in provisions. Demand was chiefly for lard.

Wheat—No. 2 red, 94½@95c; No. 3 red, 93@94c; No. 2 hard, 92@92¾c; No. 3 hard, 91¼@92c. No. 2 northern, 94¾@95½c; No. 3 northern, 92¾@95c; No. 2 spring, 94½@95½c; No. 3 spring, 92½@94½c.

REALIZING SALES IN MINING STOCKS

Market Turns Weaker at Close—Calumet & Corbin a Strong Feature.

After ruling strong during the greater part of the session, the market in mining stocks at Boston sold off slightly near the close today on the absorption of considerable realizing sales. Final quotations showed only small changes from yesterday, but they were off in the main.

Alaska Gold closed a fraction up at $22.12; Butte & Superior 25 cents off at $35.25; Calumet & Arizona unchanged at $68; Franklin 68 cents off at $6.94; Granby 26 cents at $84.25; North Butte unchanged at $28.75; Shattuck 25 cents up at $28.50, and Amalgamated Copper 88 cents off at $73.87.

Calumet & Corbin was the feature in the Duluth curb list with sales reported in it at from 24 to 26 cents. It closed at 26 cents bid at Boston.

Alex Scott sold at $5; Calumet & Montana at 20 cents; Carman at 28 cents; Keating at $1.18 and Denn at $7.62.

LOSSES ARE RECOVERED

Stocks Strong at Opening But Depressed By Chesapeake's Slump.

When Forced Liquidation Is Completed, Prices Mend Somewhat.

New York, March 5.—Fortified by large speculative orders for the principal stocks, and signs of a better demand for a wide assortment of minor specialties, the market displayed general strength for a time today. Appearance of railroad statements, including Reading's showing further decrease in earnings, had only a temporary influence and it was not until acute weakness developed in Chesapeake & Ohio that the upward movement was checked.

The provision of Chesapeake & Ohio's note issue calling for expenditures of $17,000,000 for improvements in the next five years, before dividends are paid, caused the stock to sell down 5 points to 59. Bear operators made the most of this slump and sold stocks all through the list, depressing prices under yesterday's close.

Bonds were irregular.

Chesapeake & Ohio opened 2 points lower today, being depressed by the announcement of the $33,000,000 issue of 5 per cent notes. This was the only movement of importance in the early trading with the exception of a rise of a point in Texas company to 149⅞, a new high record. Trading was fairly active, particularly in Steel, which rose fractionally. Changes in general were irregular with a good undertone.

Shorts showed a disposition to buy back stocks, and some specialties reflecting favorable conditions fluctuated widely. Increased weakness of Chesapeake & Ohio, which fell 3½, caused the list to fall back later to fractionally under yesterday's close.

Reactionary tendencies were in the main checked by midday, but the list continued to present features of weakness. Beet sugar dropped 2½. General Motors advanced 4 points.

Eastern railroad stocks showed general weakness following a further break in Chesapeake & Ohio to 58¾. Baltimore & Ohio gave way 2 points and Reading and Lehigh Valley 1.

The market closed steady. Completion of forced liquidation in various spots removed a load from the market and prices rallied somewhat in the final hour. New Haven jumped 2 points.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

FARM LANDS.

We have a list of real bargains in farm land, located in Carlton, Aitkin, St. Louis and Lake counties, consisting of 40, 80, 120 and 160-acre tracts, at prices ranging from $2.50 per acre up to $20 per acre, according to location. Call and look over our list.

TO TRADE.

Double house in West Duluth, price $2,500, $1,000 cash, balance to suit; two blocks from Grand avenue car line; must be seen to be appreciated. Will trade this for improved farm.

SPECIAL FARM LAND BARGAIN.

120 acres, 8 miles southeast of Brainerd, Minn.; good soil; no mineral reservations. Our price $15 per acre; easily worth $25. This is one of our best land propositions. If you will investigate this you will be convinced.

ANCHOR REALTY COMPANY,
600-601 Torrey Building.
Melrose 5890.

WILL SELL UNDIVIDED INTEREST in a 40-acre apple orchard located in Bitter Root valley, Montana. This orchard is full 6 years old and will bear its first commercial crop this year. The owner won't dispose of the entire 40 acres, but will sell undivided interests to about one-half of it as follows:

1-acre tracts at $400 per acre.
5-acre tracts at $375 per acre.
10-acre tracts at $350 per acre.
20-acre tracts at $300 per acre.

Owner also guarantees that this year's upkeep will not cost you more than $20 per acre, which should easily be returned from crop.

This is a snap. Ask anyone owning orchards in Bitter Root valley—plenty of them in Duluth. Write B 169, Herald.

FOR SALE.

Only $1 an acre per month. Better than a savings bank. Why? Because a savings bank pays 3 per cent while a Duluth-Florida Land company farm on the St. John river will increase at least 10 per cent. Write today or call on Duluth-Florida Land company, room 5, Phoenix block, Duluth, Minn.

FOR SALE—CHOICE DAIRY LANDS near Alborn and Payne, on the main line of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway; special prices and terms for the next sixty days. Dairymen investigate. L. B. Arnold, land commissioner, 100 Wolvin building, Duluth, Minn.

FOR SALE—WISCONSIN, THE BEST dairy and general crop state in the Union; settlers wanted; will sacrifice land prices to get them; ask for booklet about Wisconsin Central land grant. Address Land Dept., Soo Line, Minneapolis, Minn.

PUBLIC HEALTH WORK BY NEGROES.

William Anthony Aery in the Survey: An army of 30,000 Virginia negroes busy at one time in town, city and country district, with the tasks of general house cleaning, whitewashing dwellings, fences, and outhouses, building sanitary privies, protecting the water supply from contamination—this is "clean-up day," a victory won by the Negro Organization society of Virginia through the co-operation of white men and black men.

A Health Handbook for Colored People prepared at the request of the society and especially adapted for health campaign work, was issued as a public document in the Virginia health bulletin series, and was distributed by the Virginia state board of health. This handbook was copied word for word in a number of negro newspapers, was read from many pulpits and was made the basis for many sermons and lectures by race leaders. White newspapers impressed on colored people the necessity of getting rid of insanitary conditions and protecting the health of white and colored people alike by improving their living conditions.

The Little Basket Has Gone for Keeps

The little basket that used to go to market on the arm of our mothers has been put away. Nowadays women do most of their "shopping" at home through the advertising columns of the evening newspaper, and do the buying only when they go downtown. It is one of the greatest conveniences to most women and makes economy a pleasure instead of an ordeal of haggling and bickering. Glance through this paper and see for yourself the efforts that Duluth merchants are making to please you.

PROPOSE THOROUGH AIRING OF ALL GRAIN AND COTTON TRADING

House Committee Tentatively Agrees to Manahan's Proposition.

Miller Tells Members Duluth Board Will Welcome Inquiry.

Canby of Chicago Defends Practices of Wheat Pits.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 6.—Congressional investigation of the entire subject of trading in futures, both grain and cotton, tentatively has been agreed upon. Chairman Henry of the house rules committee today so told Henry S. Robbins, counsel for the Chicago board of trade, at the hearing on Representative Manahan's resolution to investigate the grain exchanges of Duluth, Chicago and Minneapolis.

Mr. Robbins said if an investigation of the grain exchanges were ordered, the Chicago board of trade favored a sweeping inquiry into the whole subject. Chairman Henry replied that it was planned to do that and carry out the platform pledges of the Democratic party. Whether legislation to regulate cotton future trading will be coupled with laws for grain dealings, has not been decided.

Mr. Robbins said he favored a commission of senators, representatives and men from private life. He mentioned President Hadley of Yale university as the type of man he had in mind.

"Nothing to Conceal."

"The Chicago board of trade has nothing to conceal," he declared. "We favor the fullest and most comprehensive investigation possible, if you decide that any investigation is necessary or advisable."

Defense of the practices of wheat pits was made today by C. H. Canby, president of the Chicago board of trade. The Chicago board, he said, was merely a market place; monopoly through its instrumentality was impossible.

Mr. Canby insisted he had personal knowledge that "sharp and even bitter competition" existed between the elevator companies in Chicago. An exception was made in 1905, he said, when a pool lasted for three months and collapsed of its own weight. That, he said, was a period when the Sherman act was a dead letter on the FOUR DIE IN HOTEL FIRE AT SAXON, WIS.

Another Victim Is in Critical Condition—Firebug Is Suspected.

Ashland, Wis., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the result of a fire which destroyed Patrick Auger's boarding house and saloon at Saxon, Wis., early today, four persons were burned to death and one is dying at an Ashland hospital.

The victims:

TILLIE AUGER, aged 24; daughter of Patrick Auger.

THREE UNKNOWN MEN.

Anna Bauer of Butternut, Wis., is in a hospital here in a critical condition.

This is the sixth fire in Saxon within a year. It is believed all the fires have been started by incendiaries. Several arrests have been made, but there have been no convictions. A hundred thousand dollar loss is the record of the several fires, last night's costing $5,000.

SIXTEEN INDICTMENTS FOR MEMPHIS BANKER

Memphis, March 6.—Sixteen indictments were returned yesterday against C. Hunter Raine, former president of the Mercantile bank of Memphis; four against Claude Anderson, cashier, and one jointly against Raine and Anderson. The indictments charge embezzlement and other irregularities, to which is attributed the wrecking of the bank. Anderson furnished $10,000 bail and was released. Raine is in prison, where he was placed Feb. 9.

"STREET SAFER THAN HOME" IN CHICAGO

Chicago, March 6.—Streets in Chicago are safer than the homes, and horse-drawn vehicles contributed to more accidents than the motor cars, according to the first report of the public safety commission named by Peter Hoffman, coroner.

"In 1912 there were two more accidental deaths reported in homes than in the streets," the report said. "Asphyxiation, falling downstairs, burning, scalding and smothering of children, were the causes of the greatest number of home deaths."

HAS NO REDRESS FOR DYNAMITE CHARIVARI

Alma, Kan., March 6.—The city of Alma cannot be punished for failure to protect William Boyd and his bride from the strenuous charivari of seventy-five men and boys, Judge John Curran decided in the district court here. Boyd had sued for $1,670, alleging the charivari party really was a "mob." The judge did not think so. However, attorneys for the city, after the court gave its decision, agreed voluntarily to allow Boyd $75 to repair his home, which was damaged by dynamite used by the crowd.

SATISFIED TO SPEND 15 YEARS IN PRISON

W. C. ELLIS,
Cincinnati Man Convicted of Murdering His Wife in Chicago Hotel.

ELLIS LIKES THE VERDICT

Will Not Fight Finding That He Is Uxoricide.

Will Serve Fifteen-Year Term If New Trial Is Denied.

Chicago, March 6.—William Cheney Ellis, the Cincinnati leather merchant, who was convicted yesterday and punishment fixed at fifteen years' imprisonment for the murder of his wife in a Chicago hotel last October, today occupied a cell in the county jail, awaiting action on a motion for a new trial.

George Remus, Ellis' counsel, indicated he would not press the motion, which was filed immediately after the verdict was read. Should a new trial be denied, Mr. Remus said Ellis probably would be taken to the penitentiary without appealing to a higher court.

Both Ellis and his attorney seemed to be satisfied with the verdict, which Mr. Remus termed "a complete victory for the defense."

Had Celebrated Anniversary.

William Cheney Ellis killed his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Hosea Ellis, here last October, the night after they had celebrated their ninth wedding anniversary with a dinner and a theater party.

Mrs. Ellis had come here some days ahead of her husband and had made the trip against his wishes, it later was made known. At the trial Ellis defended himself by testifying that he had reason to suspect his wife was here to meet Fred Cauldwell of Brantford, Ont., Canada, a young dry goods merchant they had met a month previous while on a vacation in Canada. He said that the thought drove him to frenzy, and expert witnesses set up the plea of psychic epilepsy, or transitory insanity.

Ellis was a well known dealer in leather goods in Cincinnati and was supposed to be wealthy. He is 47 years

JOHN D. BUYS OLD CHINA FOR $350,000.

New York, March 6.—Twenty ancient Chinese porcelains were purchased recently by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for $350,000, according to a report published here, and are on view at his home in this city. They were shown privately at art galleries here, and were seen by Mr. Rockefeller, who at once began negotiations for their purchase. They formerly were in the Richard Bennett collection of England.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Senator Poindexter introduced a resolution calling on President Wilson to explain certain phrases in his Panama canal address.

Senator Fall conferred with Felix Diaz, who wants a hearing on Mexican affairs before the foreign relations committee.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont warned Senator Ashurst not to press for a vote now on the woman suffrage constitutional amendment.

Immigration committee practically completed its work on the Burnett bill with a literacy test.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Interstate committee reported a bill to repal the Panama canal tolls exemption.

Representative Hensley asked the labor committee to report a bill to prohibit importation of prison-made goods.

Representative Aswell of Louisiana urged the civil service committee to segregate white and negro government clerks.

Representatives of the Chicago board of trade replied to charges that it is operating as an illegal monopoly.

CANAL TOLLS BILL IN HOUSE

Committee Votes Favorable Report, Seventeen to Four.

Probably Will Not Be Taken Up Before Thursday.

Washington, March 6.—The Sims bill to repeal the Panama tolls exemption was reported favorably by the house commerce committee today by a vote of 17 to 4. Representatives Doremus of Michigan, Democrat; Knowland of California, Republican; O'Shaughnessy of Michigan, Democrat, and Lafferty of Washington, Progressive, voted against it.

The bill as reported by the committee is brief and to the point. It simply provides that the sentence in the Panama canal act, reading "No tolls shall be levied upon vessels engaged in the coastwise trade of the United States," shall be repealed.

Members who voted against it pointed out that another provision relating to minimum tolls also must be repealed, or the whole question still will be open and the United States may in its discretion allow American vessels free use of the canal.

With three days allowed for the minority report, it is probable no effort will be made to take up the bill in the house before next Thursday.

NO FURTHER NEWS OF BRAZIL REVOLT

State Rights Are Said to Figure in the Trouble.

Washington, March 6.—Early diplomatic dispatches and other official advices today contained no further news of the revolutionary disturbances in Brazil. That three large cities—Rio Janeiro, Nictheroy and Petropolis—were declared in a state of siege because of revolutionary movements in three great states, caused a good deal of uneasiness in the Latin-American colony, although all expressed confidence in the ability of the government to handle the situation.

The negro population, which is nearly 80 per cent of the total in Brazil, is a serious factor in the present situation. Various causes are assigned for the unrest, which began about a year ago in the state of Pernambuco. There was a disturbance there when the Federal government took certain local actions which were regarded as an invasion of the state's sovereign rights.

Troubles in financial affairs, in the rubber market, and the coffee business, were pointed out as being contributory to the present situation.

CUBAN WOMAN SHOT BY NEW YORK LOVER

Youth Commits Suicide After Killing Mrs. Garcia.

New York, March 6.—Mrs. Mabel Garcia, a well-to-do Cuban and owner of a cigar factory, was shot and killed in her home in Park avenue today by Victor Reynolds, a young employe whose attentions she had rejected. Reynolds committed suicide.

ATTACKS ON TRAINS IN COPPER COUNTRY DESCRIBED IN PROBE

Congressmen Begin Night Sessions—Two Going to Calumet.

Testimony for National Guard and for Operators Given.

Houghton, Mich., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attacks on trains bearing imported workmen were described today to the congressional investigators by witnesses for the operators.

Charles F. Dettman, a Mineral Range railroad conductor, testified that 50 or 60 shots were fired on a train one mile west of Hancock on the night of Oct. 24, 1913. Soldiers in the vestibules of the cars returned the fire. The strikebreakers lay flat on the floors of the cars and escaped unhurt, but witness said he found sixteen bullet holes in an extra car ahead.

Henry Herlich, engineer of the same train, said a bullet entered the cab and passed within a foot of him.

Probe Italian Hall Disaster.

Chairman Taylor announced today that some members of the committee would visit Calumet tomorrow to take testimony on the Italian hall disaster, provided there was some assurance that the operators would finish presentation of their testimony by midnight Saturday. Judge Taylor of Arkansas and Mr. Casey probably will go to Calumet. The congressmen are anxious to leave here Sunday for Chicago to begin hearings there.

Imported strike-breakers yesterday testified they had not been led to believe there was no labor trouble in the Copper country when they accepted positions, and that they had not been taken to the Copper country by force.

Night hearings were begun yesterday by the committee in an endeavor to close the inquiry as soon as possible.

Testimony of Guardsmen.

The Michigan National Guard late yesterday began the introduction of

SIX GREAT DEPARTMENTS

Scheme of Government Proposed By State Efficiency Commission.

Complete Civil Service System and Budget Plan Included.

St. Paul, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Understanding that a complete civil service system, covering all but the heads of departments and a very few confidential officers is an essential part of any plan proposed, and that a budget system is to be a corollary of any plan adopted, the efficiency commission has worked out a scheme of six great departments to carry on all the business of the state, plus a group of officers for general administration now elected under the Constitution.

In the group for general administration are the secretary of state as chief election officer and keeper of the state's records, the attorney general as the head of the legal department, the auditor to be auditor for the state and not to be cumbered with executive duties, having the public examiner as one of his assistants, and a financial board to include the duties of the tax commission and some other things. The purchase of supplies, the collection of revenues and the care of the office quarters should be part of the treasurer's job.

The Six Departments.

Then come the six departments, names not chosen but something like the following:

Public Lands and Works.
Public Welfare.
Public Education.
Labor and Commerce.
Agriculture.
Health and Safety.

Each of these departments has an advisory board attached. One board may have nothing more to do than to decide where state highways shall be located, but if any regulatory duties

FORMER LAWYER FOR THAW IS DISBARRED

Hartridge Used Money to Induce Witnesses to Leave City.

New York, March 6.—Clifford W. Hartridge, counsel for Harry K. Thaw at his first trial for the killing of Stanford White, was disbarred from the practice of law today by the appellate division of the supreme court. The court found that Hartridge had squandered $39,000 to induce women witnesses who might have testified against Thaw to leave the city.

Daniel O'Reilly, another of the Thaw lawyers, died not long ago after serving a term on Blackwell's island for receiving stolen property.

SAYS CANADA WOULD VOTE RECIPROCITY

Rodolphe Lemieux Addresses Wholesale Lumbermen's Meeting.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 6.—The National Wholesale Lumber Dealers' association closed its annual convention today after electing a Canadian, Gordon C. Edwards of Ottawa, for president. The vice president is W. W. Knight of Indianapolis.

Rodolphe Lemieux, former postmaster general of Canada, was the chief speaker at the closing session. He said:

"If an appeal were made now to the Canadian people, there would be an overwhelming majority in favor of the reciprocity pact. The defeat of the pact in September, 1911, was wrong. Last year 56 per cent of Canada's business was with the United States, and 54 per cent of the foreign trade of the United States was with Canada. That is not based on sentiment, it pays you and it pays us. We hope that it will go on increasing every year. Trade is the forerunner of peace and the vanguard of progress."

SIFTING THE ASHES.

BRITISH-AMERICAN PROBE INTO BENTON'S DEATH IS UNLIKELY

Physical Evidence Is Believed to Have Been Destroyed.

McCarthy Is Reported to Have Escaped From Mexico.

Senator Works, Republican, Flays the Washington Policy.

Washington, March 6.—From the British point of view, which doubtless will be adopted by the state department, no useful purpose now can be served by dispatching to Chihuahua the American-British commission to exhume the body of W. S. Benton to discover from its wounds the manner in which the man met death at the hands of Gen. Villa.

Time probably has destroyed any physical evidence for the legal case that ultimately will be presented for settlement by the British government, in accordance with the pledge of Sir Edward Grey, and reliance will be placed entirely upon testimony already collected.

It is expected that the British consul, Perceval, ordered to El Paso in the early stages of the case to cooperate with the American commissioners, soon will return to Galveston.

German Rumor Unfounded.

A short mid-winter holiday of two of the attaches of the German enbassy, and the departure for the City of Mexico of a third attache, formed the foundation for a report today that a considerable portion of the embassy staff had been ordered to the Mexican capital.

Capt. Franz Von Fapen, the military attache, is not only credited to the embassy at Washington, but also to the German legation at the City of Mexico. He is comparatively new to his duties, and never before has had opportunity to present himself at his other post, as required by the rule. His visit to Mexico at this time is for that purpose.

Get Receiving Ship Ready.

Valejo, Cal., March 6.—Telegraphic orders have been received from the navy department to fit out the receiving ship Cleveland at the earliest practicable date. It is believed here that she will be sent to Mexican waters with a full complement of men.

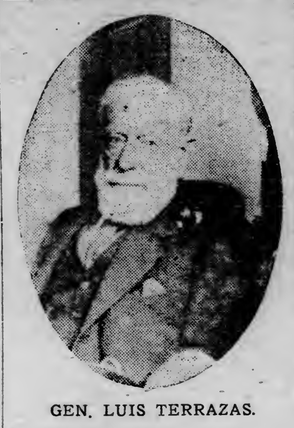
SAYS HE WOULD DIE TO SAVE SON'S LIFE



GEN. LUIS TERRAZAS.

TOO POOR TO RANSOM SON

Gen. Terrazas, Once Multi-Millionaire, Cannot Raise $250,000.

Is Given Until Sunday to Pay Villa's Demand.

El Paso, Tex., March 6.—Gen. Terrazas has until next Sunday to pay the 500,000 pesos ransom for his son, Luis, who is held by the rebel general, Francisco Villa at Chihuahua. This sum is equal to $250,000 American gold, but the once multi-millionaire of Mexico has not now that much money, according to his own admission to friends.

The letter demanding the money was dated March 3, and stated that if the ransom were not paid within five days Luis would be "taken south" with Gen. Villa.

This threat Gen. Terrazas construes in only one way, and that is that his son will fall a victim to the notorious "fugitive law" if the money is not forthcoming. Under the convenient provisions of "ley fuga" the prisoner is always "shot while trying to escape."

Son Already Paid $650,000.

Gen. Terrazas, who is 80 years old, is greatly shaken by the peril to his son. The latter has been a prisoner for several months and has already submitted to the extortion of $650,000 American gold to save his life.

It is probable that George C. Carothers, special agent of the department of state at Washington, will be appealed to upon his return from Nogales tonight, to use his good offices with Gen. Villa, whom he has known intimately for many years. It is hoped that Carothers may prevail upon the rebel leader to put a milder interpretation on the "trip south" than is usual in such cases.

Meanwhile friends and relatives of the family are doing what they can to obtain a reduction in the ransom to a figure which the old general can raise, and to get an extension of time for further negotiations.

Willing to Die for Son.

"I am very old and money means nothing to me," said Gen. Terrazas, pathetically. "They can have every cent I have if my boy is only spared to me and his children." Three years ago the Terrazas fortune was estimated at $40,000,000. The aged father said he would gladly return to Chihuahua and be executed if Villa would release his son, who is the father of thirteen children.

GRAFT CHARGED TO COUNTY OFFICERS

St. Louis, Mo., March 6.—Official reports stating that thirteen officers and former officers of St. Louis county have collected and appropriated to their own use since 1907 more than $55,000 to which they were not entitled, were filed with the county court today by State Auditor Gordon.

Of this amount it is stated about $50,000 belongs to the county and about $5,000 to the state. The money represents fees collected by county officers.

TAFT SAYS PAPERS MAKE COURT TROUBLE.

Boston, Mass., March 6. — Former President Taft in an address here last night deplored the influence of newspapers on jurors. He said:

"It is proper for newspapers to comment after judgment in a case, but it is the trial of cases in the newspapers before judgment that has led to much of the criticism of the courts. Why, when I was president I had to pardon two or three men who had been convicted by public clamor when they were really innocent."

$10,000 HOLD-UP IN FACTORY IN ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, Mo., March 6.—The paymaster of the Brown Shoe company was robbed of $10,000 at a factory of the company this afternoon, according to a report telephoned to the police headquarters. The robbery was committed by two men who jumped from an automobile, ran into the factory and held up the paymaster.

POINDEXTER WANTS WILSON TO EXPLAIN

Offers Resolution Asking About Delicate Foreign Relations.

Washington, March 6.—Senator Poindexter, Progressive, introduced a resolution calling on President Wilson to explain what matters of "even greater delicacy and nearer consequence" he referred to in his address to congress yesterday as depending on the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption.

The resolution, with a similar one by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington, went over for a day under the rules.

At the White House yesterday the president, when questioned about that feature of his address, explained that he meant to say that it was very awkward to deal with foreign nations which took the position that the United States did not live up to its treaty obligations. That particular phrase of the address, however, was widely discussed in official and congressional circles, and many constructions were applied to it.

BRITONS LAUD U. S. PRESIDENT

Address on Canal Tolls Brings Response From the Press.

Mexican Affairs Are Viewed in Light of Honest Policy.

London, March 6.—Laudatory comments on President Wilson's message to congress are published in most of the newspapers of this country today. The government organ, the Westminster Gazette, pays the highest compliments to President Wilson for his attitude in regard to the question of Panama tolls. It says:

"It is not always convenient to hail a statesman of another country as a 'just judge,' when he advocates your cause against a section of his own countrymen. We cannot refrain, however, from expressing respectful admiration of the courage and manliness with which President Wilson handles the Panama tolls question.

Example to Old World.

"The president of the United States sets an example of straight dealing which may be recommended to diplomats of the Old World. Other statesmen in other countries are capable of doing the thing he has done, but most of them would fetch about for diplo-

NON-OWNERS OF PROPERTY OBJECT

West End Men Charged With Halting Oneota Paving Plans.

Many West Duluthians are becoming convinced that they will not get a thoroughfare paved between the city proper and the suburb this summer. They aver that the principal agitation against the Oneota street paving has been raised by non-holders of property while those who will be financially interested in the matter have remained silent.

"Our petition for the paving of Oneota street has been complete and we are willing to pay our full share," said C. W. Raymond, a heavy property holder on Oneota street. "The proviso to the paving of the street was that all other improvement should first be put in before the paving was laid in order that the improved street would not have to be torn up at intervals. These improvements include the laying of water and gas mains, telephone and electric wire conduits and the filling in of the bridges at Fortieth and Forty-third avenues.

"The greatest objection seems to have come from non-property owners in the West end who insist on the other route. The real property owners are keeping still."

"It makes little difference which street is paved first," said W. B. Getchell this morning. "It probably would have been better to pave Oneota street first, because during the work, traffic could better be taken care of on Third street. If Third street is not to be paved, and the other work not touched, it is probable that the city commissioners will find money to do other smaller improvements in this end of the city which the residents have been clamoring for, especially the Highland street viaduct."

Sherette Funeral.

The funeral service for Mrs. Elizabeth Sherette, 74 years old, pioneer resident of Fond du Lac, was held yesterday from her former home in the suburb. Rev. John Begley, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church of New Duluth, officiated. Burial was made in the Fond du Lac reservation cemetery.

"You'll Do Better at Kelly's"

Enjoy your evenings at home in a Kelly Comfort Chair.

THE chair that radiates comfort and cheer. Its luxurious and massive appearance will give tone and character to any room.

Think of the convenience of having your favorite books and magazines at your fingers' ends. Some styles of Kelly Comfort are made with compartments which place them within easy reach. The comfortable back fits you. All are automatic and operated by the pressure of your back as you recline in their roomy depths. No manipulation. You can instantly adjust a Kelly to any position, forward or backward. Vacated, it resumes its upright position.

Every Kelly Comfort is equipped with a perfectly concealed foot rest finished and upholstered to match the chair.

If needed, the panel below the seat is lifted and the foot rest slides into place. This foot rest is different from all other foot rests and is fully protected by a patent.

The backs and seats of the Kelly Comfort are filled with springs made especially for them, making them of great resiliency and softness.

The thoroughness of Kelly construction, their high-grade materials and their superior workmanship, insure a lifetime of service and comfort. You can make no mistake if it's a Kelly.

STEAL EVERYTHING THAT IS NOT NAILED DOWN

"This is the blankety blankest place you ever saw for petty thefts," is the way A. L. Bishop, agent at the Northern Pacific depot, expressed himself last night when he started to turn on the platform lights at the station. Some one had removed the globes during the day.

"Some one steals something here every day," said Mr. Bishop. "They take the lamps out of the sockets, rulers, pencils, weights and everything they get their hands upon. We have to have our eyes open all of the time or they would steal the depot by pieces.

"The presence of an officer does not do much good. Nothing is taken when they are around. The stuff is taken by young men and the stuff taken often is absolutely of no use to the thieves. It just seems that there is an inborn desire on the part of some of these fellows to take something and they do it when and where you least expect it."

Not the Right Man.

The West Duluth police yesterday afternoon "almost" caught a fugitive. Patrolman Ek was "tipped off" to a man who was said to resemble Mike Radovac, the Stillwater convict who a few days ago shot Parole Agent Frank A. Whittier at St. Paul.

Going to the place where the man was said to be, he found Adolph Ricetti, whose striking resemblance to the escaped convict convinced the officer for a short time that he had the right man. Taking him to the police station he was compared to the photograph published in The Herald.

"It's a good picture of me," said Ricetti, "but I am not the man." Measurements proved that he was not the man wanted, and he was released.

With the Curlers.

The Zauft rink got into the finals of the Commercial club event at the Western Curling rink last night by winning from Quinn by a score of 14 to 11. In spite of the heavy condition of the ice many good plays were made by members of both rinks.

Tonight Wieland and Wade will play their final game in the Burns event. The winning or losing of this game will decide whether Wade will play Iltis in order to represent the upper squad in the finals of the event. Evered and Judson rinks will play the finals of the Henricksen event tonight.

TRIP NETS BIG MONEY

World-Touring Baseball Players Have Successful Financial Tour.

Profits Estimated at Almost $100,000—Home in Snow Storm.

New York, March 6.—The world-girdling American baseball players came home today in a snow storm. While harbor craft tooted and envoys from the Federal league figuratively waved enticing contracts, the Giant-White Sox combination drew into Quarantine shortly after 8 o'clock.

The Federal league representatives were unable to obtain passes to board the Lusitania to greet the travelers down the bay. Organized baseball was more fortunate in having obtained revenue cutter passes in advance, and a delegation was able to board the ship before she came to her pier.

The Giants-White Sox baseball touring party gathered in Cincinnati on Saturday, Oct. 18, where the first game of the long schedule was played against the Cincinnati club. From there the players traveled in a special train by easy stages to the Pacific coast, playing frequent games en route. Doubts regarding the financial success of the trip were early removed by the unexpectedly large attendance, and when the squad sailed from Seattle on Nov. 19, thirty-two games had been played in thirty-three days.

The party arrived at Yokohama on Dec. 6, four days late, after a rough voyage. From Japan the itinerary carried the tourists to China, Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, Egypt, Continental Europe and England.

During the foreign part of the tour the largest attendance was recorded in Japan, Australia and England.

The biggest gate receipts were collected at the game played in London on Feb. 26, when 30,000 spectators, including King George, witnessed the defeat of the Giants by the White Sox in a sensational eleven-inning game. This game officially closed the tour, the party sailing from Liverpool on Feb. 27.

More than seventy games were played during the trip and the list would have been larger but for rain at Paris, Rome and several cities in China and Japan. Notwithstanding these setbacks the financial returns were far in excess of expectations and the profits are estimated at nearly $100,000. Manager McGraw, of the New York Nationals, and Charles Comiskey, president of the Chicago American league club, who financed the expedition, ceased to worry about the success of the tour several months ago. A generous dividend is assured, not only for the promoters, but for the players who entered the trip on a sharing basis.

Tentative plans already have been made for foreign tours during the winters of 1914-15 and 1915-16. South America, Africa and part of the territory covered during the present tour will be visited.

The ferryboat Niagara, chartered for the occasion and laden with fans, steamed down the bay to greet the tourists. Men and boys on board, dressed in baseball uniforms, lined the rails and waved flags as the band played. A light snow was falling as the Lusitania rosed her way up the river. The ball players stood at the rails cheering in response to the welcome and one of their number unfurled a huge American flag.

In a final concert on the liner last night, Herman Schaefer sang German songs, and Mike Dolin displayed his talents as an entertainer.

FEDERALS HAVE VERY POOR LUCK

Tourist Stars Signing Up With Their Old Managers.

New York, March 6.—Ban Johnson of the American league, was one of the first to greet John McGraw and Charles Comiskey on board the Lusitania. Mr. Comiskey was looking well, considering the siege of illness he had abroad. He and McGraw were enthusiastic over the reception accorded the teams, especially the way they were received in Japan and England. They said they regretted keenly not having been able to play in Paris.

Nearly every player received some sort of offer from the Federals by wireless. None, however, announced any intention of signing. Dick Egan, the Cincinnati secondbaseman, recently sold to Brooklyn, promptly signed up with Ebbets. Tris Speaker said he would sign up with the Bostons, and Doolan made the same promise to Baker of Philadelphia.

Ban Johnson and Club Owners Farrell, New York; Ebbets, Brooklyn; Lannin, Boston; and Baker, Philadelphia, were the only representatives of organized baseball who climbed aboard the Lusitania from the revenue cutter. A delegation of Chicago fans on the Niagara had to delay their handshaking until the players came ashore. In deference to the request of Collector of the Port Malone, none of the magnates attempted to have a contract signed on board, but as soon as the vessel reached the dock, Ebbets introduced Egan as his new shortstop.

"I've just signed a three-year contract with Brooklyn," said Egan, "and the terms offered are satisfactory to me."

Though none of the Federal league representatives came aboard, President Gilmore with Otto Knabe, Stovall and other Federal league officials were on the pier, anxious to know whether any of the wireless messages had brought results. Among the players who received such messages were: Schaefer, McGee, Doolan, Speaker, Egan, Wingo, Crawford and Leverenz. The signing of Speaker, Doolan and Egan promptly eliminated them from any possibility of entering the Federal fold and none of the other players mentioned would admit that they were taking the offers seriously.

TANGO TEACHER LOSES DIAMONDS

Searching for Sparklers Said to Be Worth $3,000.

Four diamonds valued at $3,000 were reported lost Tuesday evening by Mrs. George Brosseau of 3 St. Elmo apartments, and as yet the stones are unfound. The police have taken the case in hand and are scouring the entire city in an effort to locate the sparklers. A reward of $500 is offered for their recovery.

Mrs. Brosseau, who is assisting George Dahl, the tango specialist, in teaching Duluthians how to master the new ballroom steps, left the latter's offices in the Aeolian building, Fourth avenue east and Superior street, early Tuesday evening for her home at 721 East Superior street. Between the two buildings, Mrs. Brosseau claims she dropped her handkerchief, in which were wrapped four unset diamonds.

WORK FOR CANAL FROM LAKE TO RIVER

Minnesota and Wisconsin Legislators Are on Sub-Committee.

St. Paul, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota and Wisconsin commission on the Lake Superior-Mississippi river canal today appointed two state senators, George H. Sullivan of Stillwater, Minn., and E. C. Ackley of Chippewa Falls, Wis., to gather data favorable to the project. These men will also prepare the briefs which are to be submitted to the general board of army engineers at Washington when the appeal of Minnesota from the unfavorable verdict on the canal plan by the local board of engineers is heard.

Senator Sullivan introduced the bill in the legislature which created the Minnesota commission and provided for an appropriation of $2,000 to carry on the work.

The two senators will work independently for a time, each collecting information from his own state. The data thus secured will be united and codified for the brief which is to be prepared later.

No date for the hearing at Washington has been fixed, but it is understood it can be held at any time the state desires.

RELIGION AT VERY LOW EBB

Social Service at 'Varsities Is More Prominent, Say Students.

Many Papers Are Read at Church "College Night" Gathering.

Although social service work is not neglected at the University of Minnesota, Laird Goodman, president of the Northern Minnesota Alumni association, declared at the "college night" gathering at the Pilgrim Congregational church last evening, that despite the large membership, religious sentiment is comparatively very low at the state institution.

Conditions at thirteen American universities and colleges were shown by the speakers of the evening and it was the general opinion that the religious life of the higher educational institutions is largely confined to social service work. Mr. Goodman declared that the religious sentiment at the Minnesota university is at a low ebb, regardless of the fact that the social service work is a prominent factor in student life.

During the evening, letters from members of the Pilgrim Congregational church, who are attending colleges in all parts of the country, were read by the alumni of the respective schools or their friends. Rev. C. N. Thorp, pastor of the church, presided at the gathering, appropriately named "college night."

E. W. Matter read a letter from his son, Willard B. Matter, who is attending Oberlin college in Ohio. Mrs. W. C. Allen gave a short talk on Wellesley and a letter from G. M. Bates at Beloit college was read by I. K. Lewis, graduate of that institution. The University of Pennsylvania was reported by W. W. McMillan, who read a letter sent by Theron H. Hawkes. A letter by Miss Mildred George at Olivet college was read by her brother, Harry L. George.

The Misses Cant sent a letter from Mt. Holyoke, where they are attending school this year, and the note was read by Mrs. C. N. Thorp, wife of the pastor. Rev. Thorp made a report on the religious work at the University of Colorado by reading the letter sent by Albert Wade. Miss Dorothy Olcott read a letter sent by Miss Constance Mitchell at Smith and one was read by Miss Alice Drew, who received it from Miss Ray Phillips, a student at Carleton.

W. C. Allen, W. F. Sandford and E. D. Field spoke about the religious conditions at Bowdoin, Amherst and Dartmouth colleges, respectively.

STEFANSSON TELLS PLANS

Proposes to Make the Longest Sled Trip on Record.

Did Not Know of Loss of His Power Schooner.

Washington, March 6.—Gilbert H. Grosvenor, director and editor of the National Geographic society, has just received a letter from Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer whose steamer, the Karluk, is gripped in the ice of the Arctic ocean, stating that he is planning the longest sled trip ever made, from Barrow, Alaska, to Prince Patrick Island, across the Canadian boundary line practically 600 miles eastward. When Stefansson's letter was written from the northernmost point in Alaska, he was unaware of the fate of the Karluk, other than that she had been frozen in the ice, and did not know that the power schooner, Mary Sachs, purchased by him at Nome for use of the southern party of his Canadian expedition, has been crushed into small bits by the ice of the Arctic coast of Alaska some time in November.

His letter follows:

Lost a Year of Time.

"You have, I suppose, seen a newspaper account of our fortunes, or misfortunes, rather. At the best, as it is, we have lost a year of time; at the worst, the Karluk is gone, with half our equipment (the men are safe enough).. I never looked on the expedition as a race; Macmillan may cover the region northwest of Prince Patrick Island ahead of us; Amundsen may catch up to us—there is still the main work to do for which we set out, and, Karluk or no Karluk, we shall try to carry it out next year or some other year. I think I shall make for Prince Patrick Island on the Mary Sachs next spring, leaving the Karluk to follow if she gets free. I may even go by sled this winter to look the ground over. It will be the longest sled trip ever made, if I do go, but it looks easy to me.

"Please remember me to Mr. Bell and the members of your research committee. I hope they remember me half as pleasantly as I do them."

Financed by Canada.

The National Geographic society had originally planned to finance the present Stefansson expedition, and it was only at the request of Premier Borden of Canada that the society relinquished its claim upon the explorer. Premier Borden, in a letter to Mr. Grosvenor, stated that the government of Canada was of the opinion that, since Canada was the country to be explored, it was more fitting for the expedition to go up under the Canadian flag and for it to be financed by the Canadian government.

"The government is, however, desirous that the line of investigation begun by Mr. Stefansson and the members of your association should be continued and would be glad of the scientific co-operation of your members so as to obtain the best results from this expedition," wrote Premier Borden.

The only stipulation made by the National Geographic society, in relinquishing its claim, was that the expedition start in May or June, 1913, as the society's research committee regarded it as most important that the work be undertaken during 1913.

RUMORS OF BIG MERGER

Canadian Pacific Road May Absorb the Canadian Northern.

Difficulty in Financing Completion of Latter Is Reported.

A rumor is current in Ottawa and Toronto that one of the biggest deals in the history of Canadian finance is on in connection with a proposal for the absorption by the Canadian Pacific railroad of the Canadian Northern, or at least for a community of interests arrangement between the companies.

It is intimated that with their goal for the building of a transcontinental railway almost reached, Mackenzie & Mann have been experiencing difficulty in financing their project to its conclusion, it being estimated that it will entail an expenditure of $50,000,000 to complete and equip their system.

An application to the Canadian government for a loan of $25,000,000 met with such strong opposition from the Western members, that Premier Borden hesitated to put it through for fear of disrupting the party. The Canadian Pacific management was then reported to have been approached with a view to arriving at some absorption arrangement, and it is now intimated that as a result of negotiations that have been going on during the last two weeks, a definite announcement is likely to be made shortly.

Huge Sum Expended.

According to a statement recently issued by Mackenzie & Mann, more than $320,000,000 has been expended in the building of the Canadian Northern railroad system up to date. Liberal assistance has been forthcoming in the way of guarantees and bonuses from the Dominion and provincial governments as well as from being largely financed through the floating of bonds on the London market. Only last spring an additional Dominion government bonus was passed to the company to apply towards the building of its line between Port Arthur and Sudbury.

It is regarded as interesting at this juncture that a bill introduced in the British Columbia legislature to grant further assistance to the extent of $5,000,000 to the Canadian Northern railway by way of guarantee of bonds, has been given its second reading. It increases the guarantee by the province from $35,000 to $45,000 a mile for the 111 miles of the main line from Yellowhead to Vancouver, which, it is claimed, will cost $70,000 a mile. The total guarantee now given by British Columbia to the Canadian Northern is $47,975,000. That province has besides guaranteed other Canadian lines, including projects to be yet carried through, bringing the total up to $83,000,000.

GRAND FORKS WILL ENTERTAIN GUESTS

James J. Hill and Others Expected at Big Agricultural Banquet.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans are completed for the big gathering here tomorrow to mark the progress North Dakota has made agriculturally.

With James J. Hill as the principal speaker, and with a delegation of Twin City and Chicago business men coming on a special train in the evening, two hours before the banquet begins, the affair has taken on importance.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, there will be a meeting of the invited guests at the Commercial club rooms and the Elks club rooms. In the evening, immediately upon the arrival of the special train from the Twin Cities, a reception will be tendered at the club rooms.

At the banquet, James J. Hill will be the principal speaker; Dean Russell of the University of Wisconsin will also speak, as will Governor L. B. Hanna.

The banquet menu will be entirely North Dakotan. Every product making up the dinner will be from North Dakota's farms.

It is expected about 400 will participate.

WANT CANADA TO PASS NEW LAWS.

Ottawa, March 6.—Resolutions were passed by the Social Service congress, calling on the Dominion government to appoint a royal commission to investigate and make a report on the coal miners' strike on Vancouver island; to prevent the manufacture, importation and sale of cigarettes in cases; to establish employment bureaus; to appoint a royal commission to investigate the unemployment problem; to enact a policy that will raise the Indians to a level of citizenship; to create a department of child welfare; to give pensions to mothers; to initiate and old age pension, and to assist the extension of co-operative societies.

The congress went on record as being in favor of woman suffrage, labor unions, total abstinence and social survey work.

JUDGE AND EX-JUDGE BOTH ARE INDICTED.

Kansas City, Mo., March 6.—Judge H. C. Gilbert, presiding judge of the Jackson county court, and E. E. Axline, a former judge, were indicted by a grand jury on charges of malfeasance in office. The indictments were based on the payment in 1911 of $29,000 to a construction company for work in connection with the construction of the county poor farm. Both judges declared they approved the allowance only after a board of arbitration had fixed the amount.

The article is accompanied by several illustrations showing how back yards used to look and how their appearance has been transformed by the gardening movement. DULUTH A CITY OF HOMECROFTING

Florida Paper Points to Zenith City in Full Page Feature.

Duluth's homecrofting is featured in a full page article of the Sunday issue of the Times Union, published at Jacksonville, Fla.

The city is pictured as one which has beautified its back yards, and turned them and the vacant lots to useful purposes by gardening, thereby not only improving the appearance of the city but proving a considerable factor in reducing the high cost of living.

A complete history of the homecrofting movement is given. It commences with the turning into a garden eight years ago the vacant property across from the high school, where the great possibilities of small gardens were demonstrated, and follows its development and spread throughout the city step by step. Reference is made to the contests which were instituted and several instances are cited showing how curiosity or accident led to small beginnings which resulted in bigger and better gardens the following seasons.

SHOWS HOW TWELVE SYSTEMS CONTROL 606 SEPARATE RAILROADS

Report Is Taken From Records of Commerce Commission.

Other Interests Also Are Dominated By Same Powers.

Washington, March 6.—Evidence submitted today to the interstate commerce commission by Frank Lyon, representing the Pittsburg Coal company, and compiled by Frank J. Warne from the commission's records, was intended to show that the hundreds of railroads in the East were controlled, as to their financial operations, rates and practices, through ownership, lease or interlocking stock ownership, by a few great systems.

It was Lyon's contention that such control was inimical to the shipping public, because, he asserted, it practically eliminated competition.

In the Eastern territory there are approximately 897 separate railroad companies. Of these, the tables showed, 606 are controlled by twelve systems.

Thus the New York Central absolutely controls 118; the Pennsylvania, 112; the Reading, 80; the Baltimore & Ohio, 78; the Erie, 53; the Delaware & Hudson, 14; the Lehigh Valley, 13; the Western Maryland, 9, and so on.

"Nominally Independent."

The control of the other roads, Dr. Warne said, was in the hands of "nominally independent lines," some of which are economically dependent on the larger systems.

The total number of telephone companies in which the New York Central exercises either a majority, joint or minority interest, through stock ownership or through lease, contract or agreement, is 204.

The total number of telephone companies in which the Pennsylvania has a majority or minority interest through stock ownership or through lease, contract or agreement, is 245, of which 138 are controlled through majority interest and 107 through minority interest.

Interlocking Directorates.

It was contended by Warne's statement that all the directors of the several large systems also were directors or officers of from five to fifty or sixty separate corporations subsidiary to the parent systems.

At today's hearing manufacturers of the Mahoning and Shenango valleys in Ohio protested against the proposed advance of rates, particularly on coal transported to them from the Pittsburg district. They also protested against the proposed charge for the spotting of cars.

OFFER CASSELTON MILL.

Effort to Sell Property to D. M. Baldwin Is Made.

Moorhead, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dwight M. Baldwin may not rebuild the flour mill burned here a few days ago. An effort is being made by the estate of the late H. F. Chaffee to sell him the Chaffee mill at Casselton, N. D. It has been inspected, but no definite announcement has yet been made.

REPORTS WILL BE AMENDED

Annual Statements of Three Corporations Held to Be Incomplete.

Traction Company Is First to File Its Revised Report.

The public service corporations whose annual statements were held by the city attorney to be incomplete in that they did not give sufficiently detailed statements of their expenses and therefore not in compliance with the city charter, will filed amended statements.

At the last meeting of the city council, City Attorney Harvey Clapp submitted an opinion to the effect that the reports of the Duluth Street Railway company, the Duluth-Edison Electric company, and the Great Northern Power company were insufficient and a resolution was passed giving them fifteen days in which to meet the requirements of the charter.

This morning an additional statement was filed with City Auditor B. J. Campbell by the Duluth Street Railway company and it is said by the city officials that the other two companies will do the same before the expiration of the fifteen-day limit.

The supplementary report of the street car company does not change the statement previously filed but gives in more detail the nature of its expenses. The total earnings of the company were $960,247.77 and the total expenses were $934,653.61, giving a net income of $25,594.16. The expenses specified include: Injuries and damages, $40,480.59; power, $130,174.52; operation of cars, $216,460.80; legal expense, $6,731.90; advertising account of traffic, $503.50; miscellaneous advertising expenses, $1,362.29; maintenance of ways and structures, $40,528.14; and maintenance of equipment, $50,438.75. The total operating expenses were $550,402.29. Interest on the bonded debt, dividends and depreciation are also deducted from the gross earnings in arriving at the net income.

OBITUARY

Former United States Senator W. A. Massey of Reno, Nev., died suddenly March 5 while en route from Reno to Susanville, Cal., on legal business. Death is attributed to heart trouble.

Mr. Massey served as United States senator from Nevada from 1912 to 1918, being appointed by Governor Oddie to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Senator George S. Nixon.

He was born in Oakfield, Perry county, Ohio, and went west in 1886. At one time he was chief justice of the supreme court of Nevada.

Carlota Perry, author, died in Chicago March 4. The body was taken to Watertown, Wis., for interment. Miss Perry was associated with a coterie of writers including Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Sarah D. Hobart, Helen Hunt Jackson, Lucy Larcom and others.

William Dulancy, who started life as a farm hand at 25 cents a day, died at Hannibal, Mo., March 5, leaving an estate valued at $1,000,000. He was 96 years old. He was noted as a philanthropist, having given several poor girls a college education.

I. August Stanwood, who, watching hornets hunt their nests half a century ago, conceived the idea of manufacturing paper from wood, and thus became, it is said, the first producer of paper from wood pulp, died in his Brooklyn home March 4. From old fence rails and dry logs the hornets, observed by Mr. Stanwood, scraped wood fiber, and with it constructed their homes. In 1862 he built a wood pulp factory, which still stands, in Gardiner, Me. Before his discovery, paper was made chiefly from rags. Mr. Stanwood was born in Augusta, Me., seventy-five years ago.

Richard Despard Dodge, a retired civil engineer and formerly instructor in the United States naval academy, died in New York March 5.

William G. Conrad, long prominent in the business and political life of Montana, died at Winchester, Va., March 6, aged 70. A native of Virginia, Mr. Conrad went to what is now Montana in the frontier days, and for many years was engaged in mercantile business at Fort Benton and in the steamboat business on the Missouri river. The firm of Conrad Bros. was known all over the Northwest and in the Canadian Northwest.

When James J. Hill and Senator Paris Gibson, formerly of Minneapolis, laid out the city of Great Falls, Mont., in 1886, Mr. Conrad moved there from Fort Benton, embarking in the banking and mercantile business. He amassed a fortune, and about fifteen years ago sold his string of Canadian stores to the Hudson Bay company and disposed of his Montana mercantile interests, but continued in the banking business at Great Falls and Helena. He was twice a candidate for United States senator as a Democrat, opposing W. A. Clark, and during the Democratic national convention at Denver in 1908 was a candidate for the vice presidential nomination. Mr. Conrad maintained summer homes at Great Falls and Helena in Montana, and a winter home at White Post, Va.

FOURTH OF HARVARD ALUMNI LAWYERS

Cambridge, Mass., March 6.—More than one-quarter of the 21,780 living alumni of Harvard university are engaged in the practice of law, according to figures announced today. Educational work is a close second with 4,300 representatives. Other occupations which has a considerable following are medicine with 3,400, business with 1,900, manufacturing with 1,800, and the ministry with 1,100.

SEEKS DETAILS OF STREET DEFECTS

Commercial Club Starts Active Campaign for Improvement.

The Commercial club is starting an inquiry campaign, which bids fair to record every street defect in Duluth, its location and extent in a very short time. The club is sending out to all commercial organizations in the city, of which there are quite a number, ample supplies of postal cards to be distributed among the members with the object in view of having a complete report made of such defects. Along with the request there is printed on the card a street diagram with two intersections. The informant is expected to give the name of the street on which the defect is, the names of the intersecting thoroughfares, and mark on the diagram as nearly as possible where the defect is located and to tell below other details. This card is then to be sent to the street improvement committee of the Duluth Commercial club for filing and reference.

It is believed that this will cause a more thorough knowledge of thoroughfare conditions and give better facilities for having such defects remedied than any other method.

ANOTHER GUNMAN TO DIE WEEK OF APRIL 13

Special Guard Surrounds Shillitoni When He Is Sentenced.

New York, March 6.—Oresto Shillitoni, murderer of two policemen, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison during the week beginning April 13. This is the same week set for the death of the four gunmen found guilty of the murder of Herman Rosenthal. So many of Shillitoni's East side friends crowded the court room when sentence was pronounced that extraordinary measures were taken to prevent any outbreak. Twenty policemen surrounded him.

WILLING TO BE PROBED

Duluth Grain Exchange Does Not Assume Chicago's Attitude.

Courts Thorough Investigation By Congress—Will Help Committee.

The Duluth board of trade has notified Congressman C. B. Miller that it does not take the same stand as was taken by the attorney for the Chicago board of trade before the rules committee of congress, that the national house of representatives has no authority to investigate the grain exchanges.

The Duluth board, on the other hand, requests such investigation and will give a proper committee every possible assistance. This notification to congress was sent as a result of a meeting of the executive committee of the board of trade held this morning. The letter forwarded to Congressman Miller is as follows:

"Press reports of this morning state that Henry S. Robbins, attorney for the Chicago board of trade, before the rules committee of the house yesterday, denied the authority of congress to investigate the grain exchanges complained of in the Manahan resolution. Whether Mr. Robbins is right or not, the Duluth board of trade desires it to be distinctly understood that it is not taking that position. If congress should, in its wisdom, determine to investigate the workings of the grain exchanges of the country, the Duluth board of trade will welcome the inquiry and will afford every assistance in its power toward acquainting the investigators with every phase of the grain business.

Want Thorough Probe.

"The position of the Duluth board of trade from the first, and we desire to renew it now, is that if there is to be an investigation it should be a broad one, including all of the grain exchanges, and should be made by a commission that will give the time and attention necessary to a full understanding of the subject. The grain business is of enormous importance and its ramifications are many and wide and no legislation should be determined upon until after a clear appreciation of its consequences has been attained.

"The perfection of marketing methods for turning enormous crops of grain each year into money with the least possible undue depression of price and the elimination of every possible expense between grower and consumer, as represented by the grain exchanges, is twenty years in advance of marketing methods in other farm products and because of its very enterprise and perfection attracts the attacks of those unable to comprehend its efficiency. The Duluth board of trade would appreciate the judgment of high-minded and competent public representatives on these very points."

School Board to Meet.
The school board meeting scheduled for tonight does not give much promise of being anything more than routine. There is nothing in sight which indicates anything unusual. It is possible that a delegation from the West End Commercial club will attend to see what can be done toward getting a junior high school established in the West end. There is no chance for immediately doing this, for bonds will have to be voted on first in order that necessary building may be done at the Lincoln school.

The code has been under course of preparation for some time and received further consideration this morning.

Fire in Residence.
A small fire of unknown origin slightly damaged the residence of William Barbes, 1931 Lake avenue, about 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The firemen had no difficulty in extinguishing the flames.

Meeting Postponed.
The Aerial Hive No. 975 will hold its regular meeting March 13, instead of March 6.

Grand Jury Due to Report.
The March grand jury is expected to complete its work and submit its final report to Judge Dancer in district court late this afternoon. According to the county attorney's office, indictments are expected to be returned in about fifteen criminal cases. The jury has been in session since Wednesday.

Uneventful Meeting.
The March meeting of the county board was an uneventful one. Except for the letting of several road contracts in the various districts, little other than routine business was transacted. The board received about twenty-five new road petitions and set hearing dates in six cases. W. E. Rose was granted a saloon transfer at Kettle Falls and a liquor license was also granted to Daniel De Caigney.

Temple Services.
"The Holy Trinity" will be the subject of the sermon to be delivered this evening by Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits at the regular Temple Emmanuel services, which will begin at 8 o'clock. They are open to the public.

THREE MARKETS FOR DULUTH

The three public markets of the city will be operated again this season, the city co-operating with the farmers to improve the facilities in order that the benefits may be enjoyed by an increasing number of people.

F. O. Fischtner, chairman of the market committee of the Federated Farmers' clubs of the territory tributary to Duluth, called upon Mayor Prince this morning to ascertain what the city's attitude would be relative to the markets this season. The mayor assured him that the administration will do all in its power to increase their usefulness, as this would be in the interests of the residents of the city as well as the farmers. The mayor stated that he hoped the public markets would develop to such an extent that they could be conducted the year around.

The West Duluth market will have the advantages of the comfort station which was installed this winter. The West end market will continue at the same location but has no comfort station. An effort will be made to provide more room for the farmers in the basement of the armory and the sheds for the shelter of the horses will be repaired and improved.

The market at the armory has been in operation for several summers and those in the western suburbs were started last season. All of them were well patronized.

DECLARES RATES "HIGHWAY ROBBERY"

Edmund J. Phelps of Minneapolis, owner of the Miller hotel building, has written a letter to members of the city council severely criticizing fire service charges being made by the water and light department since the new rates were put into effect Jan. 1 last.

He declares that their only excuse is that given by the highway robber, "he needed the money."

Mr. Phelps repeats many of the arguments against the fire service charge which were made when the new rates were announced. He states that his quarterly bill is $18, or $72 a year, and that if this had been in force during the twenty-five years he has owned the property he would have paid the city about $4,000, without having used any appreciable quantity of water through the sprinkler system. He says that in Minneapolis meters are attached to these connections to prevent the use of water for general purposes and that the charge is $4 a year. He strongly objects to the charge and has sent the same protest to each member of the commission and to Manager D. A. Reed of the water department.

MOTHER SAVES TWO CHILDREN

Fire of unknown origin this morning routed Mrs. Mary Joleaud and her two children out of their home at 533½ Garfield avenue.

Mrs. Joleaud was downstairs at the time she discovered the blaze gaining headway at the head of the stairs. She rushed up and unassisted carried her two children to safety. They were both in bed when reached by their mother.

First Assistant Fire Chief Granzow said this morning that he is unable to ascertain the cause of the fire. He estimates the damage to the building and contents at about $300. The structure is owned by J. Zien.

WILL INSPECT ALL ELEVATORS

The annual inspection of all passenger and freight elevators in the city was commenced this morning by Adolph Anderson, deputy building inspector.

It is estimated that Duluth has approximately 250 elevators and these are closely examined each year to see that they comply with the safety provisions of the city ordinance governing their operation. Each year a number are found where repairs or improvements are necessary.

As many accidents are liable to occur with the freight as with the passenger elevators and it is considered equally essential that they be provided with safeguards. The officials state that if anything, it is more important that these be watched as they are more likely to be operated by inexperienced persons and are not as certain to receive the attention given passenger lifts.

Passes Bad Check.
Melvin D. Bergquist, 19 years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief Troyer on a charge of larceny in the third degree.

Young Bergquist was accused of having passed a worthless check on the Vienna bakery. The check was made out for $10 on the First National bank and was signed by Bergquist himself.

He pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Cutting and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs or serve sixty days on the work farm. On his promise to behave in the future, the court suspended sentence and placed Bergquist on parole for one year.

ROADS CONSIDER RATES SETTLED

G. Roy Hall and C. F. Macdonald, members of the Commercial club's traffic commission, returned this morning from Milwaukee, where they went to represent Duluth in the Milwaukee grain rate case which was being heard before an examiner of the Interstate commerce commission.

Mr. Hall said this morning that the testimony of the petitioners, the Milwaukee traffic commission, to have the recently ordered Duluth grain rates modified on the ground that they were discriminatory against Milwaukee, was taken, and that the railroads did not enter any testimony. The roads simply entered the statement that they considered the matter settled when the Duluth case was decided, for at that time the Milwaukee and Chicago interests were intervenors, and the interstate commerce commission disposed of their cases at that time.

HOLUM CONVICTED OF KILLING WIFE

Grand Forks, N. D., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matt Holum, at noon today was declared guilty of manslaughter in the first degree and sentenced to fifteen years imprisonment. Judge Kneeshaw, addressing the jurors, declared his approval of the verdict, maintaining there was absolutely no question of Holum's guilt, the only question being that of the penalty to be imposed.

Killed Wife Last June.

Holum was tried for killing his wife at their farm home near Milton, N. D., last June. The woman died from the effect of injuries which the husband claimed were given her by the blow of a horse, and which the state maintained were administered by the husband.

The woman met death in a barn on their farm. She was lying in a driveway, at the rear of a stall, and her head was beaten in. The fact that most of the blows were on the head has been used by the prosecution in fighting the charge that a horse kicked her.

Stories of frequent quarrels between the couple were related on the witness stand, and, threats on the part of Holum, toward his wife, were detailed for the state.

Holum during the entire case, maintained an unusual attitude, seemingly being entirely devoid of interest in the outcome. It was not until the day his attorney made a plea for his freedom that he weakened, and for an hour wept.

DOYLE TELLS ABOUT WORK OF THE U. M. W.

Denver, Colo., March 6.—E. L. Doyle, secretary and treasurer of District 15, United Mine Workers of America, resumed his testimony when the house committee investigating the Colorado coal miners' strike began today's session. His testimony dealt mainly with the strike in Northern Colorado and he was led through an extended interrogatory regarding the principles of the United Mine Workers and their attitude toward employers and toward unorganized labor.

Doyle was one of the strike leaders imprisoned by Judge Greeley Whitford of the district court for contempt in violating an injunction against picketing. He was questioned closely concerning purchase of arms. He said there was no record of money spent for guns, but admitted that he had given money to men who "came to me and said they needed protection for their homes."

The United Mine Workers have paid practically $2,000,000 in strike benefits to Colorado miners since April 1, 1910, he said. He argued that the right of a labor organization to require only its members be employed was similar to the right of a community to make rules for the regulation of those living in it.

Art Firm Fails.
Chicago, March 6.—Liabilities of more than $1,000,000 are said to be involved in the receivership, established here today, for Moulton & Rickston, dealers in paintings, etchings and art objects. DULUTH—SUPERIOR—VIRGINIA

WOULD FLY OVER THE WATER FROM DULUTH TO SAN FRANCISCO EXPOSITION

Chicago Aviator Plans the Longest Aeroplane Flight Ever Attempted.

Will Make Circuit of United States, Going Through Canal.

Wants to Advertise Duluth and the 1915 Midsummer Festival.

MURRELL ELLIS.

Suppose a flying boat were to start out from Duluth during the coming summer, fly down the lakes, through the Erie canal, down the Atlantic coast, through the Panama canal and up to San Francisco;

And suppose the boat was named "The Duluth;"

And suppose it carried under its planes in big letters the words, "Go to the Panama exposition by way of Duluth and see the midsummer festival;"

And suppose it carried Duluth pamphlets to be scattered broadcast in every city stopped at in the longest trip ever made by a flying machine;

And suppose the aviator told the newspapers in every city he visited that he started from Duluth, was backed by Duluth business men, and he was employed to get people to visit Duluth on their way to the coast;

And suppose the boat were exhibited at the San Francisco exposition as having made the longest flight on record, starting from Duluth and bearing the good wishes of Duluth people to the visitors at the exposition; and an invitation to visit Duluth on the way home;

Would it be worth $5,000 to the business men of Duluth to finance such a plan?

That is the question that Murrell Ellis, an aviator, is going to put up to Duluth citizens.

Ellis has arrived in Duluth and intends to make this city his home, living now at 219 Fifth avenue west. He has had several years' experience as an aviator, and has many times proven his ability to handle any kind of air craft. He was the first man to fly over the city of Chicago.

Ellis now has a flying boat of his own, but he says it is not staunch enough to make such a lengthy trip. He would take a passenger with him to handle the advertising campaign, as he would have all he could do to keep his machine in good condition, and his boat will not carry a passenger.

Will Pay Own Expenses.

Ellis believes the trip will finance itself after the start. He has some private means and says he would be more than willing to undertake to make the trip pay for itself if he were provided with a boat and a few hundred dollars of initial expense money to keep him going until the trip became well advertised ahead.

"The boat would cost about $4,000," said Ellis, "and I would need about $1,000 more for my first expenses. The boat could be sold at the end of the trip, and would probably reimburse the backers of the project to the extent of $1,500. I would agree to complete the trip, even if I had to pay the expense out of my own pocket. It would be the longest flight ever made by an aeroplane, several times as long as the proposed trip across the Atlantic. I could carry advertising material from Duluth manufacturers, and advertising material for the Duluth summer festival. Of course an ordinary aeroplane flight is no longer a novelty, but a trip like that would attract attention all over the world. Every newspaper in every city visited would give it unlimited space, and we would visit just the cities from which the traffic through Duluth would be drawn. I would figure on making my expenses on exhibition flights, selling souvenirs and taking up people for trips along the way.

"Duluth has several products manufactured here which now have a national sale. Think what a chance that would be to advertise them on the side.

"I am not going into this because of the money to be made, for I do not expect to clear much more than my expenses. If I do that, I will feel myself lucky; but I would do it for the pleasure of the trip, the love of flying and the reputation it would give me as an aviator."

Ellis maintains that he is determined to make the venture whether it is properly financed or not, and says that if he can do nothing better he will take his own machine and attempt it, but he feels that to be assured of success he should have a new flying boat and some expense money.

WAG'S REMARK MISINTERPRETED

Lester Park Club Not Accusing Teachers of Being Scantily Clad.

The remark of a wag at the meeting of the Lester Park Improvement club last night that the wearing of diaphanous gowns by women caused unnecessary expenses in furnishing fuel for heating purposes, caused a misunderstanding of conditions at the Lester Park school, according to an official of the club today.

"We did get a communication that pupils were complaining of the school being over-heated," said this official, "but no cause was given. Then some one trying to be funny made the remark that if women wore more clothes, it wouldn't be necessary to waste so much fuel. The morning paper evidently took the wag seriously, and would lead the public to believe that teachers do not wear enough clothing.

"The whole report was taken more or less as a joke, but we feel it our duty to make an investigation. There was no intimation in the complaint that teachers do not wear enough clothes or are at all inclined toward the diaphanous gown."

The Lakeside school does not come within the jurisdiction of the club's activities, and only the Lester Park school conditions will be looked into.

Dr. Charles A. McFadden was elected to succeed Capt. J. C. Bush as president, and other new officers elected were: C. R. Fenton, vice president; C. W. Jerome, secretary; C. C. Teare, treasurer.

Among the new improvements secured by the club during the last year, according to retiring President Bush were: A new comfort station, more street lights, school ground and minor improvements.

The club authorized a communication to the department of public works, directing attention to the sidewalks in various parts of the eastern suburb, and voted to request fifty street improvement cards from the Commercial club and ordered a communication sent to the street railway company requesting the continuance of "safety" placards in street cars.

C. J. West spoke briefly defending the raise in the city water rates.

TORTOISE RIM "SPECS" THE LATEST WRINKLE

"Owl-Like Optics" Enlarge One's Vision, Declare Duluthians.

And now comes the tortoise shell spectacles, which are fast becoming the rage in college towns and which are just beginning to be worn by Duluthians.

The tortoise shell spectacles are worn by some with the frame that comes over the ear, also made of tortoise shell, while others have a wide ribbon dangling from the glasses to the wearer's neck.

Few Duluthians have so far screwed up enough courage to make the venture and they can occasionally be seen on Superior street. The others only wear them when reading or when seated quietly by the fireside, without any possible chance of an attack. They claim the big glasses enlarge the vision, and are restful for the eyes.

The black or dark-brown rims give the appearance of owl-like optics. The ribbon must be least a quarter of an inch wide and is even more noticeable than any other part of the spectacles.

CLOQUET GIRL IS BRIDE OF HAWKEYE

Brilliant Wedding at Which Rabbi Lefkovits of Duluth Officiates.

Cloquet, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A brilliant wedding was solemnized last evening when Miss Fannie Summerfield, eldest daughter of Mrs. Mary Summerfield, became the bride of M. E. Chapman of Centerville, Iowa, at 6 o'clock at the bride's home on Chestnut street, Rabbi Lefkowits of Duluth, officiating.

The bride wore cream charmeuse, trimmed with pearls and Vienese lace and the arm bouquet was made up of bride roses and lillies of the valley. The living rooms and dining room were very prettily decorated in colors indicating the spring season, and baskets of spring flowers were hung about the rooms. The wedding gifts were numerous.

MRS. M. E. CHAPMAN.

Miss Summerfield has lived in Cloquet the greater part of her life and has a very wide acquaintanceship. She graduated from the local high school and later attended the Milwaukee-Downer institute at Milwaukee. Mr. Chapman has various business interests at Centerville, Iowa.

Honeymoon in East.

Dinner was served at 7 o'clock to about thirty guests. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Chapman motored to Carlton and took the train for St. Paul. After an extended trip through the East, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman will return to Centerville, where they will be at home after June 1.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. H. Chapman, Lazarus Chapman, Miss Mollie Chapman and A. Goldstein of Centerville, Iowa; Harry Silver of Seattle, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Markowitz, Miss Bessie Markowitz and Mrs. D. N. Summerfield of Duluth; Mr. and Mrs. Rogalsky, Hibbing; Mr. and Mrs. Shapiro, International Falls; Mr. and Mrs. A. Silver, Miss Florence Silver, Mr. and Mrs. I. Summerfield, and Arthur Summerfield of St. Paul.

Entertain Their Parents.

MILLER TALKS ON PHILIPPINE AFFAIRS

Makes Speech in House Vigorously Criticizing Administration.

Washington, March 6. — Vigorous criticism of the present administration of Philippine affairs was voiced in a speech in the house yesterday by Representative Miller of Minnesota, who some months ago made a five months' tour of the islands.

Mr. Miller declared that financial and business conditions in the islands were deplorable, and produced statistics designed to show a great falling off in exports and imports, as well as general business depression.

The efficiency of the government organization in the islands, Mr. Miller said, had been destroyed by the "wholesale discharge of tried and trained American officials."

SWIFT RETRIBUTION

A certain well-known railroad conductor who makes his home in Duluth "got his" a few days ago in a way that he is not likely to forget for some time. There's a law against anybody toting a bottle of whisky or any spirituous liquor onto a train and drinking it there. Most of the train crews, when they see anything like this going on confiscate the property. What they do with it is another story, of course.

This conductor espied a flask protruding from the side pocket of one of his passengers the other day and promptly grabbed it. The passenger protested, but to no avail.

The "con" went to another part of the train and took a pretty good "swig." Then he grimaced and sputtered. Calling his brakeman he asked the latter's opinion of what kind of whisky he thought it was. The brakey took a nip and immediately spat it out, declaring that it was not whisky. Curiosity caused the "con" to go back to his passenger and demand what kind of whisky he carried anyway.

"That isn't whisky," said the passenger mildly, "it is medicine for my horse."

THIRTY DAYS FOR CHURCH STORMER.

New York, March 6.—Joseph Albers, a member of Frank Tannenbaum's Industrial Workers of the World army which stormed New York churches, was sentenced in police court today to serve thirty days in jail. He was convicted of disorderly conduct and breach of peace. Nearly 200 other cases remained to be disposed of.

WORTHINGTON ONCE MORE UNDER ARREST

The Federal Government Charges Use of Mails to Defraud.

Chicago, March 6.—John W. Worthington, head of the defunct American Banking association, who has been charged with many irregularities, was arrested last night for the seventh time in as many days. As the banker stepped from the detective bureau where he obtained release on a $5,000 bond, he was accosted by a United States marshal and served with a warrant charging him with using the mails to defraud.

The warrant was identical with one served on Harry H. Thomas, said to have been associated with him. It is alleged that the two represented themselves as brokers in 1911, and obtained $5,000 worth of stock and $2,000 in certificates of deposit from the Central Savings bank at Waterloo, Iowa. The stock and certificates have disappeared, it is charged. Thomas was released on bonds.

A receiver was appointed yesterday for the banking association, and attorneys for the creditors estimated Worthington's assets at $600,000. They could not say what the liabilities were.

Assistant District Attorney Stansbury said he would endeavor to have charges against Worthington in the state courts dropped so that the government's prosecution would not be hampered.

Federal Judge Carpenter said he would refer the bankruptcy proceedings to a master in chancery.

SAMARITAN DANCERS WILL GO TANGOLESS.

Contrary to a report published this morning, Alpha council, No. 1, Modern Samaritans, decided at its meeting last evening not to permit the dancing of the tango at its next ball, which will be given soon after the end of Lent.

The members of the council discussed the matter last evening and decided that in view of the fact that the majority of those who will attend the ball know nothing about the new dance, those who did know would monopolize the floor, impede the other dancers and make things disagreeable. Therefore it was decided not to permit it.

The merits or demerits of the dance were not discussed.

TRAINMEN IN A GET-TOGETHER

Yardmasters Have Many Guests at Monthly Open Meeting.

A monthly open meeting of the Yardmasters' association was held last evening at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. These monthly get-together meetings are to be held at the different points involved in the association, rotating between Duluth, Proctor, Carlton, Two Harbors and Superior and will be in addition to the regular meetings of the association. Last evening in addition to the yardmasters, dispatchers and railroad officials were present. The object of these meetings is to try to increase efficiency in train service at the Head of the Lakes.

A. V. Brown, division superintendent of the Northern Pacific road, gave one of the principal addresses of the evening. Co-operation was his theme and he attributed the success of Howard Elliot, formerly president of the Northern Pacific and now head of the New Haven road, to his co-operative spirit. He said that that is the secret of efficiency anywhere and urged that it be the guide of the yardmasters and others in the railroad business at this point. The meeting was largely attended.

THINKS OLD ART WORK TINTERETTO'S

Paris, March 6.—City Councillor Adrien Mithouard, while inspecting a storehouse where old pictures and bric-a-brac from churches and public buildings are kept, today found a dusty canvas which he declared was by Tinteretto. The staff of the storehouse was skeptical, but nevertheless M. Mithouard, after having cleaned the dirt from the painting, insisted that it was the famous "Adoration of the Shepherds," which, according to tradition, once hung in the old church at Auteuil.

The picture will be submitted to experts.

KEEP UNEMPLOYED FROM GATHERING

New York Police Prevent Demonstration in Public Park.

New York, March 6.—The police handled the problem of the unemployed last night by refusing to allow them to congregate in numbers out of doors, as has been their custom.

The few stragglers who appeared at their usual gathering place, Rutgers square, seemed uncertain as to what they should do in view of the wholesale arrest Wednesday night, when nearly 200 of their number, including Frank Tannenbaum, their leader, were taken into custody when they entered St. Alphonsus' church. Two men who addressed the few who came together were arrested.

Tannenbaum, after nearly twenty-four hours in jail through failure to secure bail, was liberated pending a hearing on the charge of inciting a riot. A surety company furnished the bond of $7,500 required.

It was assumed that he purposed to seek the counsel of other leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, under whose banner the unemployed have been active recently. While Tannenbaum was making his plans, 190 men who were arrested with him were tenants of cells in several city prisons, awaiting trial.

The men arrested last night were Theodore Freeman, a waiter from Boston, who said he had no home, and Darwin Meserole, a Brooklyn lawyer. Freeman attempted to speak to the stragglers and Meserole denounced Freeman's arrest, said the police. In the night court Freeman was fined $3. Meserole was discharged.

COMMERCIAL CLUB BACKS UP SUMMER CARNIVAL PLANS

Members Unanimously Approve Project and Will Appoint a Committee of Three to Work in Conjunction With Other Organizations---Festival for Each Year Is Favored.

The West End Commercial club went on record last night as being willing to give all possible aid to the proposed midsummer festival for 1915 and a committee of three will work in conjunction with committees from other organizations of the city in making the affair a success. The club adopted the resolutions unanimously.

L. A. Simonson, president of the club, was elected chairman of the committee, with power to appoint two other West end men to act with him. Mr. Simonson said this morning that he intended appointing men who could give their time to the affair and intends interviewing some of the business men on that subject during the next week.

The plan for a festival for midsummer appealed to all of the members as one of the best that has been suggested for advertising Duluth abroad as an ideal place to spend the summer. Suggestions that such a festival should be made an annual affair were given hearty approval.

FELLS SURE OF Y. M. C. A.

Rev. George E. Silloway Finds Sentiment Strong for It.

Gets Many Promises of Financial Support, He Tells Club.

"The proposition of having a Y. M. C. A. in the West end has developed itself down to the financial problem," this morning said Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, who during the last month has been trying to learn what support such an institution would be given in this end of the city.

"In fact," he continued, "the sentiment is keen for the institution. Men in all walks of life have spoken highly of the proposition and some have gone so far as to say, 'When you are ready for the money call around. We have some for you.'"

Mr. Silloway gave a short report of what he had done during the last month in testing the sentiment, at the meeting of the West End Commercial club last night.

REV. GEORGE E. SILLOWAY.

"I will have a report more in detail at the next meeting," he said. "It is now only a question of $20,000 that keeps us from having the institution and for this part of the city, which has seventeen handsome churches and strong congregations, to say nothing of many large industries, it should be but little trouble to raise that amount."

At a meeting of the committee on public buildings, to be held next week, plans for a campaign to raise the money will be made. The members of the committee are Rev. Mr. Silloway, chairman; John J. Moe and Martin Timmerman.

ATTACK ON RIFLE RANGE INSPIRED

Sale of Property at High Figure the Aim, Says Col. Resche.

"I will give $10 for every bullet that any man can prove went from our rifle range to Lincoln park," said Col. F. E. Resche, commanding officer of the Third Regiment, Minnesota National Guard, in response to the charges made by the Fifth Ward Improvement club that the rifle range on Duluth Heights was a menace to public safety.

"The charges made are nothing but malicious lies," said the colonel. "The men have an embankment 100 feet high and 300 feet long to shoot at, making it almost an impossibility to fire over it if the men do miss the targets. The lies have been started in an attempt to compel us to purchase property that we do not want at a hold-up price."

"The club was probably hasty in adopting the resolutions," said W. I. Pierce, secretary of the Fifth Ward Improvement club. "They were presented by one of the residents and adopted without any investigation. In fact they were railroaded through."

Col. Resche said that the rifle range was situated so that the shots went in a northwesterly direction and that it would be an impossibility for bullets to travel towards Lincoln park even if they did go over the embankment because they would then have to travel in a semi-circle the park being located paving of this street, may result in the city having no paved "trail" to West Duluth this year. At least such was the sentiment expressed by members of the city commission at the meeting of the West End Commercial club last night.

Commissioners Murchison, Voss and Merritt were present at the meeting. Commissioner Murchison said that the Superior street route had been originally chosen because the property owners had shown willingness to pay their full share of the cost and that it would cost the city less for its part of the work. He intimated that if the other route was decided on that the paving would not be laid on Third street, but that it might be laid as far as Third and Vernon.

Commissioner Voss spoke on the financial aspect of the venture, saying that in his opinion the city would hardly be able to stand the cost of laying the paving on Third street, if the property owners would pay only about one-half of the actual cost. On the basis of $175 a lot, he said, proper paving for the thoroughfare could never be laid.

Commissioner Merritt defended the stand of the water department in raising the rates to the large consumers.

INVESTING IN DULUTH

Johnstown Capitalists Invest $50,000 for Sites for New Enterprises.

Came to Superior First, But Duluth Looked Better to Them.

A syndicate of Johnstown, Pa., capitalists yesterday purchased $50,400 worth of property in the vicinity of the new steel plant, and during the coming summer will invest several times that sum in business enterprises in that district.

The members of the party were originally attracted to the Head of the Lakes by advertising matter sent out by the Superior Commercial club. They were familiar with steel cities through long business experience at Johnstown, and were interested in the future of the Duluth plant. They came to Superior last week, and after but a brief investigation there, discovered that the plant was in Duluth, and promptly came to this side of the harbor, registering at the Spalding hotel. They have spent several days thoroughly investigating conditions, interviewing the Commercial club officers, the city commissioners, and many business men. Yesterday, through the Steel Plant Investment company, they closed for property on Gary street and Commonwealth avenue in Gary, for a total of $50,400.

In the party were: Walter P. Bishop, attorney of Philadelphia; Adam Stibach, a retired wholesale liquor dealer of Johnstown; John R. Flynn, the owner of the B. & O. hotel at Johnstown; Robert Purse, a master plumber and dealer in plumbers' supplies of Johnstown; and Joseph Moore, proprietor of the Stonycreek hotel at Johnstown.

All of them but Mr. Bishop returned to the East last night.

Mr. Bishop will remain for a few days to prepare the necessary legal papers.

"My clients come from the wealthy German families of Pennsylvania," said Mr. Bishop. "They are shrewd business men, who have seen the growth of Johnstown, owing to its steel plant. They came out here and went into conditions most thoroughly, and decided to invest. The money they paid for the land is but a small part of what they will invest, but I prefer not to disclose what lines of business they will enter, as they do not want competitors to forestall them.

"They are but the advance guard of a decided movement from that district. The people in that district have heard a lot about Duluth, and I believe you will see a big influx of men with money to invest during this coming spring and summer. Duluth looks like the best city on the map to me, right at the present time."

Lands in Rudd Estate Involved in Probate Action.

Sarah A. Taylor petitioned the probate court yesterday for an order determining the descent of land in this county which is a part of the estate of the late Charles P. Rudd, who died seventeen years ago at Ashland, Wis.

Rudd made out a will May 11, 1882, at Louisville, Ky., leaving all of his property except $100 for masses to be repeated for his soul, to his brother, John D. Rudd. The brother later conveyed certain real estate in section 27, 50-15, St. Louis county, belonging to the estate, to Mrs. Taylor. She is now seeking to have the descent of the land determined.

SQUATS ON RAILROAD.

On an Investment of $300 Man Nets $25 a Day.

Seizes Railroads By the Rights of Sovereign Squatter.

Webbers Falls, Okla., March 6.—Seizing a railroad by the rights of a sovereign squatter, M. J. Maples, formerly justice of the peace and owner of a hack line and a ferry across the Arkansas river between this place and the town of Warner, has become a railroad magnate. Maples invested $300 cash, and is making a return of $25 a day, which he declares is better than any big trunk line can boast in proportion to investment. Maples lives at Webbers Falls.

Several years ago citizens of Webbers Falls, by popular subscription, built a branch line to a connection with the Midland Valley railroad at Warner, a distance of eleven miles, the new road being known as the Webbers Falls, Shawnee & Western, and being the only railroad at Webbers Falls. The road was operated for several months and then abandoned for lack of profitable patronage.

Finds Old Gasoline Car.

Squire Maples knew a good thing when he saw it. He entered the market for rolling stock and finally found an old gasoline inspection car in Chicago which met his needs. He paid $300 for the car and had it shipped to Oklahoma. He started traffic between Webbers Falls and Warner and has been doing a thriving business. Men who had sunk their money in the railroad began kicking about its pre-emption by Squire Maples, but for no tangible reason other than he was "butting in on something that did not belong to him."

They have failed utterly to dislodge the squire, who is being encouraged by other citizens to stay at the throttle. They feel the need of the railroad, and think that if Squire Maples had spunk enough to run it nobody should object.

Squire Maples calls his train the Lightning Bug. The car is operated by a gasoline engine. There are no seats, which compels passengers to stand or sit on the floor. The car accommodates seventeen passengers. Sometimes Maples attaches a small freight car for freight purposes.

Has Mail Contract.

The contract for carrying the United States mails between Webbers Falls and Warner is held by Squire Maples, and more than pays operating expenses. Three round trips a day are made, the running time for eleven miles, including stops, being thirty-three minutes. A stop will be made anywhere to let a passenger climb aboard.

A one-way ticket costs 50 cents, considerably in excess of Oklahoma's two-cent rate, but Squire Mapls has not been bothered by the state corporation commission, and stands ready to prove that his fare is not excessive for the privilege and pleasure of riding on the Lightning Bug. Unless $1.50 is in sight for each trip the Bug refuses to fly, save for the one trip to carry the mails. If there is only one passenger he must pay $1.50; for two the fare is 75 cents each, and if there should be three the schedule begins running at 50 cents. For special trips the Lightning Bug may be chartered for $1.50, or $3 for the round trip, which is cheaper than livery hire.

Carries Much Freight.

As a freight line Squire Maples is making things hum. Webbers Falls is a good trading point, and has about 1,000 inhabitants. The merchants prefer to get their merchandise from the nearest railroad point, which gives the Lightning Bug a monopoly of this traffic. The rate for freight is 35 cents a hundred.

The Oklahoma Jim Crow law, requiring separate accommodations for negro and white passengers, is strictly enforced. The negroes, if there should be any, ride in the freight car. The only employe is Squire Maples' son, who serves as engineer, conductor, auditor, spotter, brakeman and section hand. Notwithstanding his multifarious duties, he is a hale, hearty young man, with no sign of nervous breakdown.

BUFFALO BILL AND THE MOVIES

Famous Scout and Showman Is Large on the Job.

Washington, March 6.—There was a rumor around the other night that Buffalo Bill, scout, hunter and showman, was dying in a hospital here. But he was not.

"I am not a dead one by any means," said Col. Cody. "I might quote to you from Mark Twain: 'The report of my death is greatly exaggerated.' I have yet a great lifework to complete before I pass over the river. I am in splendid health, and have spent practically all of last fall and winter in the saddle.

"While my show has been in winter quarters I have been supervising the taking of moving pictures on the plains, in the Rocky mountains, and at the historic battlefields of the frontier, realistic pictures with real soldiers and real Indians, many of whom actually participated in the battles of the frontier. These pictures cover the opening of the great wild and woolly West, inhabited by hostile tribes of fearless Indians, where the white man to maintain a foothold had to fight for his existence with that bravery and heroism that made the men of the great frontier red-blooded, manly men. These pictures start with the opening of the West and come down in well-defined periods to the present day, showing the development of the Indians from savages, through the government's paternal care, schools, and the advancement of modern civilization.

"These pictures have been taken for the United States government and will be preserved in the archives of the interior and war departments for the education of future generations.

"These pictures will not be sold to any moving picture film concerns to be copied and distributed all over the country. They will be shown by the war and interior departments as an educational feature of the work of the government and in preserving historically one of the greatest periods.

"In the work of making these pictures such men as Gen. Miles, Gen. J. M. Lee, Gen. McD. Baldwin, Gen. Maus, Gen. Charles King, Col. Sickles and others of the United States army, who participated in many of the historic battles of the frontier, had a part. We used the Twelfth United States cavalry to depict the troops."

WOMAN REFUSES TO GIVE UP HER GUM.

Reading, Pa., March 6.—For chewing gum, a young married woman, a Mrs. Hinnershitz, was in danger of being turned over to the sheriff for contempt at a session of court by Judge George W. Wagner.

Clara Schmeck asked for an order on her husband, Irvin S. Schmeck, who she alleged, left her without a good reason.

The couple lived in Hyde Park, a suburb, and Mrs Hinnershitz, dressed in black, was called by the defense. After she took the oath, her jaws began to work, and Judge Wagner stood the sight for a few minutes, then exclaimed:

"You'd better take that chewing gum out of your mouth."

"You're not my boss," was the answer, given curtly. The face of the judge reddened.

"You'll take it out, or I'll make you." The woman stared at him indignantly and defiantly.

"Call the sheriff," directed the court.

"I ain't got nothing in my mouth," then came from the woman in black. She was not seen to remove anything. Her jaws, however, ceased to work, because she had swallowed the gum, and the case of Mrs. Schmeck was dismissed.

FINDS THE ORIGINAL HOME OF AMAZONS.

Cambridge, Mass., March 6.—Dr. Hamilton Rice, Harvard explorer and scientist, thinks he has discovered the home of the ancient Amazons. Dr. Rice returned recently to this country after seven years of exploration between the Upper Amazon and Orinoco river basins in South America.

In searching for an exchange of canoe crews he found a small settlement of men and women along the banks of the Icana river. The women appeared to be permanent residents, but the men were mostly from the tribes along the River Guiana. This seemed peculiar to the scientist, and his wonder was increased when he opened negotiations and found that he had to deal with the women, one of whom appeared to be the chief power of the settlement.

After parleys, entreaties and arguments with the militant Amazon leader, all to no purpose, Dr. Rice decided he must gain the services of the men by force. He threatened to burn the village. The woman came to terms immediately and the services of three men and a boy were granted.

Dr. Rice learned that the village was under feminine domination, and that masculine society was tolerated only twice a year.

ON EFFECT OF LITTLE THINGS

Health Expert Discusses Minor Ills and Individual Efficiency.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 6.—In his little "Talks on Health and Hygiene," Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon dwells on "Minor Ills Versus Individual Efficiency." Dr. Dixon says:

"A wag once said, 'Corns cause more real pain in the world than cancer.'

"This is jesting about a serious subject, and yet, after all, there is an element of truth behind it. There has been a deal of talk about efficiency, conservation and kindred topics, and reams of figures have been published to show leaks in our national economics. These are all very well, but the thing which most interests every man and woman is how to get the maximum of work and play into each twenty-four hours.

"It is almost impossible to overestimate the effect of little things upon our everyday affairs. Suppose Mr. Humdrum Business Man comes home tired to dinner and finds his favorite dish on the table. He overeats, the weather is cold and he goes to bed in a warm room, remarking that open windows are all right for fresh-air fiends, but not for him.

"In the morning he gets up with a headache and a general stuffy sensation. If breakfast is five minutes late he kicks the cat, spanks the baby, quarrels with his wife and starts for the office in a fair way to be at odds with himself and a trial to his associates for the balance of the working day.

"The worst of ill temper is that it is more contagious than any known infection. It can be carried a thousand miles over the telephone wire and estrange a firm's best customer or find its way into a letter and take the enthusiasm and snap out of a good salesman for a week.

"Who would venture to estimate the business loss in the course of a year resulting from the ill-tempered indifference of clerks and salespeople caused by little ailments which upset their equanimity? One of the largest department stores in Philadelphia has placed chiropodists in the employes' restrooms, and the employes are being taught to ask immediate attention to any little discomfort which their feet may cause them.

"Fifteen minutes' chat with a doctor now and then when one is suffering from some little upset is better than to be the subject of a serious consultation later."

SECOND HOMESTAKE MAY BE DEVELOPED

Deadwood, S. D., March 6.—John T. Milliken of St. Louis, the millionaire who owned the famous Golden Cycle mine at Colorado Springs, has purchased the Oro Hondo. Milliken took his time investigating conditions here, then went ahead and has now announced that he will spend from $100,000 to $300,000 in proving that the continuation of the Homestake ledges lies in the Oro Hondo adjoining. He has the means and the determination to carry out his plans without interruption; machinery for sinking the shaft another 1,000 feet at least is arriving and men are being hired for the work.

Close on the heels of the Oro Hondo deal comes a deal for the Minnesota Mines company property in the Maitland district, west of here. This property was worked by J. G. Little and associates of Minneapolis until limited means put an end to the development.

The past week representatives of some of the heavy stockholders of the Calumet & Arizona Mining company of Bisbee, one of the biggest concerns in the West, have been making a careful examination of the Minnesota Mines company property with a view of securing it for their employers. The plans, if the purchase is made as seems probable, embrace extensive operations with a large force of miners, making it one of the most important projects in the Hills.

PRISONERS ARE PUT IN COFFINS

Woman Explorer Tells of Atrocities Seen in Mongolia.

London, March 6.—The contrasts of Mongolia—its strong attractiveness and gleams of Western civilization, and its depraved morality and barbarity—were recently vividly sketched by Mrs. Herbert Bulstrode at a meeting of the Royal Asiatic society. Mrs. Bulstrode accomplished a remarkable feat last year when, with but a solitary companion, she traveled over 700 miles by caravan in Mongolia.

Describing the prisons of the capital, to which she succeeded in gaining admission, Mrs. Bulstrode said: "Within a small compound, fenced in by high spiked palisades, are five or six dungeons. There are human beings in those dungeons and among them quite a number of highly civilized, refined and gentle Chinese, who are shut up for the remainder of their lives in heavy, iron-bound wooden coffins, out of which they never, under any circumstances, move. They cannot sit upright. They cannot lie down flat. They see daylight but for a few minutes, when their food is thrown into their coffins through a hole four or five inches in diameter twice daily.

"These coffins, of which I counted over fifty—and there were many others which I could not count—are scattered about on the filthy floors of the dungeons. Nothing I can ever see in the future will wipe out the memory of that terrible prison."

A grewsome picture was drawn of the Mongolians' treatment of their dead. "They throw their dead," she said, "out into the hillsides, where dogs and vultures speedily devour them. A lasting impression of Urga is that of a city strewn with bones and of horrible ghoulish and terribly savage dogs, which you may count sometimes in hundreds, silently gnawing, gnawing away at something which makes you shudder as you ride quickly past."

The chamber of commerce at Santiago de Cuba held a meeting recently to discuss the preliminary steps for the holding of a national exposition, which is intended to be opened at the beginning of the year 1915 to celebrate the official opening of the Panama canal.

Woman's Realm

The Woman's Council has fallen in line for the midsummer pageant in 1915.

At a meeting of the council in the clubrcom of the library this morning, it was decided to appoint three members to represent the council on the general committee which will have charge of the first annual summer pageant. The pageant and festival are designed to attract summer travelers to Duluth, in order they may become acquainted with the advantages of commerce and climate that Duluth affords. The president of the council will name the committee.

Mrs. Harold Figraeus of the Linnaea society reported on a visit to the county poor farm, dealing at length on the department for tubercular patients. Only one of the thirty-beds is unoccupied. The patients whose condition permits assist in the duties of the house but with these exceptions all the work is done by the nurse, the cook and a man who is on duty at night and who assists when the work is heavy. Mrs. Figraeus told of the hours for meals and reported on the nourishment given the patients. A phonograph furnishes amusement and the gift of records and of magazines would be appreciated by the patients. The county poor farm proper was reported to be in a good sanitary condition. This has been an unusually heavy winter in both departments of the institution.

Industrial Home.

Mrs. A. B. Siewert described the conditions that led up to the effort to obtain the Girls' Industrial home. She gave an interesting account of the home and the work done in it, also of the good it has done and is doing for girls and young women who are in need of protection and training that is given there. A person is admitted through a written request, there being no need of appearing in court in order to gain entrance. There are two departments to the institution, one is for girls who are not working and for whom everything is supplied; the other department is for those who have positions but who wish to stay in the home because of the low rate at which they may support themselves there. Room rent, board and washing are furnished for $2.50 a week.

There are now eight girls in the home. They take turns doing the washing, ironing and cleaning and as each of these household duties must be done in the best manner possible and under instruction, after a girl has been in the home a few months she is capable of doing all of them well.

A domestic science kitchen has been provided and for a month a teacher of domestic science was in charge.

In addition to the time alloted for study there is a program for work and recreation. Monday morning three girls do the washing while the others put the house in order for the day. Tuesday is taken up with ironing and the regular weekly mending. Wednesday morning there is a domestic science lesson. Wednesday afternoon is given to recreation, walks, car rides or good moving picture shows. Thursday morning there is another domestic science lesson and in the afternoon there is cutting, the county providing material for every day dresses. Friday is spent in cleaning the house and sewing. On Saturday morning the girls cook for that day and for Sunday and in the afternoon embroider and crochet. A course of twelve lessons in basketry has been started. The girls are taught to make useful baskets that will find a ready sale and are very enthusiastic about this branch of their work.

Mrs. R. C. Dyer, who has been appointed to meet the advertising vigilance committee of the Commercial club, gave her report. She spoke of the encouragement that is given by the better class of posters, but reported that they still leave much to be desired.

In the absence of the president the meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. D. Morrison.

DOING ITS SHARE TO SEND NORMANNA CHORUS TO EUROPE

Matinee Musicale Will Donate Proceeds of Monday Entertainment to Norwegian Singers.

The Matinee Musicale is planning to do its full share in having Duluth represented by the Normanna chorus at the Norwegian centennial in Christiania this coming summer, and the Monday program has been changed to an evening concert, the proceeds to go to the Normanna society.

The Normanna chorus that will be heard at the concert of the Matinee Musicale, under the special leadership of Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten Monday night at the First Methodist church, is an organization of forty sons of Nordland. Under the leadership of Jens Flaaten they have taken prizes in singing contests and are preparing to sing at the June festival in Chicago.

A part of the Nrdron chorus of Superior will sing with the Normanna chorus and Magnus Peterson, Nordron soloist, will give Grieg's beautiful "Den Store Hvide Flok."

Of Marie Ewertson O'Meara, the St. Paul contralto, who will also be on the program, a critic says: "She does not know how great her art is—she is so simple and unaffected in it all. Yet to me she is a great artist and I have heard only a few that I like as well."

Mrs. O'Meara is a native of Ohio. She is of German and Danish descent and for generations a musical atmosphere has surrounded the families. In addition to her beautiful voice, Mrs. O'Meara has a delightful personality that adds charm to her singing.

Hans Norley will give a solo, "Varde," that describes dramatically the custom of burning fires on rocky promontories as signals in time of war.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Motion pictures.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

"The Traffic," which comes to the Lyceum Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, is said to be the most audacious play of serious purpose ever presented to an American public. It deals with the unvarnished truth about the white slave trade. The author of this defiant adventure into dramatic realism is Rachael Marshall, whose great-grandfather was the famous Chief Justice Marshall. Miss Marshall is a pupil and colleague of Jane Addams, herself a convent-bred student of sociology, a linguist and painter. The young playwright's mother was a granddaughter of Governor Vallerie of Louisiana, an aristocratic house of French grandees.

Convincing fidelity to facts is said to be the startling feature of "The Traffic." It is to be lavishly staged, costumed and equipped for the local public, and will be presented by a company of competent players. Startling as is the effect of "The Traffic" upon the audience, yet it is a play of essential cleanliness, it is claimed.

"The 'old-timer'—the man or woman who knows—will be amazed at the audacious truth of its scenes and dialogue, and yet there is not a prurient moment in the progress of the four acts," says one critic. "In a large and daring way 'The Traffic' propounds the momentous question, 'Will the American theater-goers approve the truth—the absolute veritles of the stage?' "

During its record-breaking run at Howard's theater, Chicago, where it is nightly turning away hundreds of anxious theater-goers, "The Traffic" has been approved by prominent sociologists, clergymen, public officials and men and women in all walks and stations of life, and seems destined to occupy this cozy playhouse for months to come. So great has been the demand from outside cities, another company in every way equal has been formed to supply the wants of the theater-goers.

There have been a few first-class comedy pantomimists at the Orpheum this season, not more than three or four.

A trick bicyclist who was seen in the local theater a few weeks ago was generally conceded to be one of the funniest pantomime comedians ever seen in the theater. He did not speak a word during his act, but kept the audience in a gale of laughter.

There is another good pantomime comedian on this week's bill in the person of the male member of the team known as "The Brads." The Brads are acrobats, but the comedy acrobatic work of the man attracts as much or more attention than the difficult feats they perform. He has a grotesque costume and presents a grotesque figure, doing odd tricks that are not attempted by the average comedy acrobat, who generally is attired either as a clown or a tramp.

Honors of this week's bill have been about equally shared by four acts, The Brads, Eugene Damond, the young violinist, Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield and Van Hoven, the Mad Magician.

The author of "Ain't It Awful, Mabel?" will headline the new bill opening with the Sunday matinee. He is John E. Hazzard, who is well known both as an author of comedy sketches, and as a monologist. He will give his monologue as the feature act of next week's bill. Mabelle Adams, who is well known to Duluth Orpheum patrons, will return next week with her company in a new one-act play entitled "Wanda." Miss Adams is both an actress of the emotional type and a violinist and her new act gives her an opportunity to display both talents.

The other acts will be as follows: McDevitt, Kelly & Lucey, known as the piano movers and the actress; Cummings and Gladyings, in songs and dances; Kimberly & Mohr, in "Club Land;" the Aerial Lloyds, and Tilli Abott.

With Frank Bush, one of the stage's greatest story tellers, as headliner, assisted by three other high-class vaudeville acts and a three-reel feature film, the bill at the Empress, which began a three-day engagement yesterday, is probably the best vaudeville program seen at that popular playhouse this season.

Frank Bush is in a class by himself as a story teller. Practically every nationality comes within his range of stories, and when he is on the stage, the audience sees the real character portrayed without burlesque or distortion. Probably this is because Mr. Bush's stories are all his own, picked up from all phases of life. In fact he seldom goes to a city for an engagement without adding a new story to his list. That is the reason he gives for changing his act for each show—his list is so large that he seldom repeats a story in the same city.

"The Morning After," a sketch presented by Jack Bessy and Nell Paul, was one of the hits of the "all-hit" bill. It is a concoction of comedy, melodrama and burlesque built along popular lines. It introduces an intoxicated husband, a type, rather too numerous on the stage at the present time. However, the sketch is much better than most playlets of that class. It is well played and is full of new jokes.

Leonard and Haley appeared in a singing and dancing act, which was well received. The Three Flying Kays closed the vaudeville bill with a fast aerial act.

A feature film entitled, "The Reform Candidate" was better than usual, being full of interesting situations well played.

Another tango contest will be put on tonight. Prizes amounting to $25 will be awarded.

HONOR GUEST TAKES POISON AT DINNER

Makes Tragic Ending to Farewell Given By Joliet Friends.

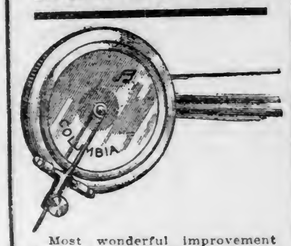
Joliet, Ill., March 6.—A farewell party given to Dr. Emuel Steiner on the eve of his departure for San Francisco to take an appointment as a lieutenant in the marine corps medical department, had a tragic end last night when the guest of the evening attempted to swallow the contents of a vial of poison.

The bottle was knocked from Steiner's hand by Moe Robinson, one of the hosts of the occasion, but not before a quantity of the poison had been swallowed.

Friends of Dr. Steiner were unable to explain his act. They said he had appeared unusually cheerful. His recovery was said today to be doubtful.

Steiner formerly lived in Chicago.

NEW COLUMBIA
No. 6 REPRODUCER



Most wonderful improvement in tone reproduction in years, giving all shadings such as over and under tones and inflection in voice natural as life.

The needle arm is one solid piece like a tuning fork carrying tone complete to diaphragm. It has no springs, the resistance of which must be overcome. It has no rubber bushing on back to obliterate finer vibrations which make up the over and under tones.

The diaphragm is one-third larger, lowering the pitch and making tone more mellow and pleasing to the ear.

All GRAFONOLAS are now equipped with this new improvement. Come in and hear them!

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Don't Gab at Matinees, Give Others a Chance.

Ladies, will you tell me why it is you pay out your money for matinee tickets and proceed to gossip all through the performance, scarcely seeming to give the stage a glance, let alone a thought? I should think you might exchange confidences, compare less samples and enlarge upon the benefits of massage creams and other toilet preparations better at home than in a theater. Besides the saving of two or three dollars ought to appeal to you.

There are people, both men and women, who make nuisances of themselves at the theater, in one way or another, and I suppose there always will be. But for constant gabble and chatter I recommend the matinee where ladies largely predominate and where the air is redolent with violet sachet. Such a matinee is the place par-excellence to be disturbed. If you want to see the play, better make arrangements to attend an evening performance.

I have had this experience frequently and can only say the nuisance grows and there doesn't seem to be a remedy for it. People who pay the prices asked in our theaters ought to be assured the opportunity of seeing and hearing that which is presented for their pleasure and instruction without annoyance and confusion occasioned by persons seated in their vicinity.

Often times a whispered conversation between two light-tongued women does not carry so that it reaches theater attendants. It carries far enough, though, to spoil an entire afternoon's enjoyment for a score of people, as happened at a matinee I recently attended. A woman who walked out with me at the close of the performance complained bitterly. "I do not have a chance to go very often," she said. "I live too far out of town." With a sigh, she aded, "But I decided that I would give myself a treat which those silly women back of me spoiled."

That was just one case. Every person attending the theater is entitled to both hear and see the play without being disturbed by these nuisances who care nothing for the comforts of others. Every person should remember this and have a care that his or her deportment does not interfere with not only the pleasure but the rights of others. If persons will not respect these common rights in public places, then I think they should be asked to leave a place of amusement, and unless they consent to quiet behavior, that makes it agreeable for all, their leave-taking should be firmly enforced.

MORE SUPPORT FOR THE 1915 SUMMER FESTIVAL.

The Park Point Improvement club Tuesday night, and the West End Commercial club last night, added themselves to the growing list of live civic organizations which have shown their eagerness to DO IT FOR DULUTH by indorsing the summer festival idea and pledging it their hearty support.

Though local in their scope, both these organizations are valuable factors in the community life, and their support and help will be of great benefit in the work of getting under way this big project for the glory and prosperity of Duluth.

This makes seven strong civic organizations that have committed themselves to this enterprise, and word from the others is that they, too, will fall in line at their next meetings.

So far, the organizations to which the committee from the Retail Merchants' association sent invitations to join have accepted unanimously as rapidly as their regular meetings came about.

This is the Duluth spirit, the spirit that does things—the spirit that will make of the midsummer festival and pageant a means of advertising Duluth far and wide as the best of all places not only for summer outings, but to live in and be happy and prosperous in.

It seems reasonable to believe that the man who can dig Mexico out of the mire will be qualified to travel in the Goethals class.

WHOSE OX IS GORED.

Telling congress a fearful tale about conditions in the Philippines yesterday, Congressman Miller of Duluth said that the efficiency of government organization in the islands has been destroyed "by the wholesale discharge of tried and trained American officials."

It could not possibly be, could it, that this is a mistake and that instead of "American" Mr. Miller said—or meant—"Republican"?

It doesn't require a Hamlet to discover that there is something rotten south of the Rio Grande.

THE GROWTH OF SOCIAL CENTERS IN DULUTH.

The February report of social center work in Duluth under the direction of Miss Margaret Culkin and the city department of public welfare, which is in charge of Mayor Prince, is highly gratifying.

Though the month was a short one, the attendance was 2,294, which is an increase of four hundred over January and of eight hundred over December.

A growing interest, a growing tendency toward permanence, a growing attendance—these are signs that the social centers are doing in Duluth what was expected of them. They are cementing neighborhoods, they are enlivening the community life, they are making for better citizenship.

In view of the alarm of some about the possibility that damage might be done to school property, the report on this point is interesting. The total damage during February was as follows: 1 school report, absent-mindedly used as a scorecard and lost; 2 electric light bulbs, which got in the way of a volley ball and were destroyed. Nothing alarming about this.

There is talk of keeping at least two of the schools open during the summer for social center uses. It ought by all means to be done. Much mischief comes because young people have no other place to go but dangerous places. That alone is argument enough for keeping the social center work going all through the year.

So far the civic side, the ultimate object of social center work, has had comparatively little development. That will come. In the meantime, it is worthy of note that three local improvement associations, which really are neighborhood civic centers, are using the schools for their meetings to discuss public business.

Gradually it is working out so that some day soon we shall get pretty wide and valuable use out of the school buildings which used to be closed and idle except during the comparatively small proportion of the time they are in use for school purposes.

One of the most discouraging things about the Mexican situation is that some of the English people have begun to write to the Times about it.

WITH THE FEEBLE-MINDED, AN ARGUMENT IS A BRAWL.

Morris Hillquit, a Socialist, and Dr. John Augustine Ryan, a Catholic priest and educator, have been debating Socialism in Everybody's Magazine.

Each is as well qualified to uphold his end of the argument as anybody we can think of—Hillquit because he knows his subject and is sane and reasonable, Dr. Ryan because he has not only thoroughly studied the subject but because he is not guilty of the arrant folly of most opponents of Socialism, who kill their arguments at the start by denying the evils against which Socialism is aimed.

And the debate is illuminating and instructive.

One very important thing it teaches, besides illuminating the issues for many who were in the dark. This is that nothing—except self-revelation of littleness and meanness of spirit—is gained by losing your temper in an argument.

These two are threshing out the question thoroughly without getting angry, without losing dignity, self-respect or mutual respect, without impugning motives or calling names—the cheapest and lowest form of discussion, and a form utterly without profit.

That is a lesson that a great many people need to learn.

In putting Boston business on a cash basis, one naturally wonders whether Mayor Curley pronounces it "cawsh."

THE REPUBLICAN MASS CONVENTION.

Those who are discussing the good government and anti-Eberhart mass convention, otherwise known as the elimination conference, mostly are putting undue emphasis on the attitude of candidates for the governorship.

The success of this convention does not depend on the candidates.

If it did, it could be put down right now as a failure and a fiasco.

The question whether this candidate or that is willing to abide by the result of the convention is not very material. All are willing to abide by it if they are selected. All are unwilling, whether they confess it or not, if somebody else is selected.

The success of such a convention depends wholly on the rank and file of the voters—upon the interest they show and the spirit in which they act.

If, when the county mass conferences are held, there is a large attendance in each county; if, when the delegates selected at these county conferences gather in the state conference in Minneapolis March 19 there is a full and representative attendance; if, in short, the movement to clean out the organization now in control of the Republican party comes up strongly from the people, is earnest, free, sincere, impressive in volume and character: then no candidate can afford to stand in its way, and the candidate who does stand in its way will be run over and badly hurt.

On the other hand, if the local attendance is slender, if the representation from the state at large is scattered and largely controlled by self-seeking candidates, then the mass conference will be a failure which no candidate or anybody else will respect.

The purpose of the conference is splendid. The work it has cut out for itself is a work that needs to be done. In the interests of good government and a state administration that can be respected and supported with good heart, we shall hope that the Republicans will pick the best possible man as their candidate for governor, just as we shall hope that the Democrats will pick the best possible man as their candidate.

With the Republican factional leaders and their followers belaboring each other and proving pretty conclusively that Republican government of Minnesota has been incompetent, wasteful and inefficient, the Democrats have the easy seat and the opportunity—if they will take it.

So far as the Republicans are concerned, there is but one thing that can save them—if the Democrats are wise—and that is to throw into the discard all the brawling, scrambling, self-seeking candidates now in the field and to pick in their stead a man of high character and strong ability who will appeal to popular imagination as a man who would be his own man in office, and who would be true only to the public good as governor.

And that is not very likely to happen.

Electricity has been adapted to forty-two uses about the household, but it hasn't yet reached the stage of development where it can be trusted to put the cat out at night.

COMPETITION FOR BASEBALL ENGLISH.

One of the wonders of modern life is baseball English. Clear as print and eloquent as the King James Bible to the initiate, it makes the uninitiate tear his hair and sob with anguish.

But the manufacturers of baseball English need have a care. There are rivals in the field. For instance, here is a paragraph from Outing, in which a falconer describes his sport:

> I found my eyes jowking on the cadge, but she awoke, mantled and roused a little, after which I let her bowse. Hooded, with jesses, leash and bells in perfect order, I took her on the fist and so to the fields. It was evident that she was in yarak, for her sails, mails and train ruffled eagerly, and her petty singles contracted so that her talons gripped the glove hard. A rook appeared and I flew her at it. It was too far off and escaped, but it was a marvel to see Lady wait on, discover another quarry, chase it, throwing up cleverly, and finally bind to it with a lightning stoop. She was depluming it when I was able to make in easily.

Let the skilled journeyman in the manufacture of baseball language chew on that awhile!

One good thing, though, is that few of us need read falconer English, though all of us have to read baseball English.

It is claimed that the United States census bureau is the greatest statistical institution in the world. What about the baseball records?

The Obliging Highwayman.

National Monthly: It was payday at the consolidated coal and lumber works and a mine worker was returning home with his monthly envelope. He met a bad man with a pistol, who demanded his wages. The worker handed the money over.

"Now," said he, "my wife will think that I've gambled or drank; won't you shoot a hole in my coat, so that I can prove that I was attacked and robbed?"

"Why, certainly so," answered the robber.

The worker held out his coat tail while the other punctured it with a bullet.

"Another," begged the worker, and the other fired again.

"Another," and there was another hole in the garment, another and still another.

"That's all the cartridges I've got," said the robber.

"All the cartridges you've got?" said the worker, picking up a rock. "Then give back that money; hand over your pistol and whatever else you happen to have."

The Prayer of the Man in the Street.

By Bouck White in the Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Lord, I want to be strong. I'm a weakling. I don't stand on my feet. I shuffle along, hiding my principles, dodging this way and that.

The trouble with me is, I'm a coward. I'm not playing the man. I'm one bundle of evasiveness and fearings and triviality. I'm ashamed of it. And so I come to you, the maker of manly man. You delight in strength. You look with pity on weak-kneed folk. But you give yourself freely to people who stand for something.

Therefore, be my companion, God of the strong and the unafraid—that I may learn from you how to hold myself straight up; how to walk with a resolute stride, and to speak out with resonant tones. Make over unto me your quality of courageousness. Teach me to look life square in the face, and to fear nothing in earth or hell except you.

Then I know I'll count for something. At present I count for nothing—a cipher; a mere zero in the arithmetic of the ages. Build a bony framework of principles inside of me, to the end that I may be an upstanding fellow, a man with whom strong men will comrade.

Fiber me into moral courage. Strengthen me, and I shall be strong. Straighten me, and I shall be straight. Prop me up to stand for the right when the right is unpopular.

And so I shall begin to live. I will fear neither death, nor poverty, nor public opinion. And the world will behold in me an erect soul, mighty with the mightiness of manhood. Amen.

Josephine Only A Stepping Stone

From "French Episodes," by Julia Pardoe.

Barras, head of the government, induced Josephine Beauharnais to become Bonaparte's wife. Mme. Tallien had apparently taken the affection of Barras away from Josephine. Bonaparte started like a war horse at the sound of a trumpet when Barras abruptly proposed that he should offer the widow his hand.

"I want no wife save this," he exclaimed, striking his sword hilt.

"Listen to me," said Barras. "You are brave, but poor. This widow of the Marquis de Beauharnais is in a position to advance your future. You are a foreigner and an exile. Her influential friends will serve you. Marry her and I procure you the command of the army in Italy."

A flush passed over the face of Bonaparte.

"Decide!" said Barras.

We all know the result. The bribe was too tempting, and Josephine yielded also. If her heart remained awhile untouched, her vanity was less passive. As she listened to the glowing prophecies of the ardent young soldier she began to indulge the same visions and glory in the same hopes.

She requested him to accompany her to M. Raguideau, a lawyer in whom she had long been accustomed to confide. They went, and Bonaparte waited in an anteroom while she talked with Raguideau in his office. She neglected to close the door, and it happened that Bonaparte was able to overhear the conversation.

"If you are really going to marry this adventurer," said Raguideau, "it will be the worse for you."

"Oh, why?" asked Josephine.

"Why? A paltry general, without either name or prospects. Will he ever become a Dumouriez or a Pichegru? Better marry a good rich army contractor. The profession of arms is worthless now. You will repent your folly all your life. Whoever heard of a sensible woman throwing herself away on a man whose fortune consists in his sword and his great coat?"

Bonaparte was half suffocated with rage and impatience in listening to this. He was on the point of dashing into the room, but refrained. Josephine came out ruffled and annoyed, but it is remarkable that neither of them said a word about the conversation right up to the time when Napoleon was crowned emperor by the pope, in Paris.

On the morning of that day he sent for Raguideau. The honest lawyer was lost in amazement. He was ushered into an apartment of the Tuileries, and found himself in presence of Napoleon and Josephine.

"Aha!" said the emperor. "Do you remember a day when I accompanied to your house Mme. de Beauharnais, now empress of the French? Do you remember your panegyric of which I was the object?"

A deluge of such questions stupefied Raguideau, and Josephine was bewildered.

The poor fellow could hardly gasp out a word. When he found speech, it was "How could I tell?—How could I guess?—thought only of her and her fatherless children—I wanted to see them restored to prosperity and honor." With that he burst into tears.

"I believe you," said the emperor. Then he paused, and added, "The future is beyond the grasp of any living man. Well, look here. I have a punishment for you. I condemn you to go this day to Notre Dame, and witness the coronation. Not in a corner—not behind a pillar, which will prevent my knowing your obedience—but in the best seat that I can command for you."

Why I Attend Church

An extract from the Congressional Record of the United States on "Why I Attend Church" has been sent to the Tribune by the Rev. W. S. Plumer Bryan, pastor of the Church of the Covant (Presbyterian), who obtained it from one of his parishioners.

"I understand," Dr. Bryan said, "that this is the first instance when unanimous consent was given for the publication in the Congressional Record of an article of such a character."

The article was written by Claude Weaver, congressman from Oklahoma, and was introduced into the Congressional Record at the request of Scott Ferris of Oklahoma. It follows:

I go to church because I find peace there, that peace which De Quincy described as a resting from human labors, a Sabbath repose, a respite granted from the secret burdens of the heart, as if I stood at a distance and aloof from the uproar of life; as if the tumult and fever and strife were suspended; as if there brooded over me a dovelike and halcyon calm.

I go to church because I love the music I hear there; the mighty roll of the great organ, mingled with the marvelous symphonies of that divine stringed instrument, the human voice, untwisting all the chains that tie the hidden soul of the harmony.

I go to church because I delight to hear the teachings of the preacher, whose soul is dedicated to God; whose field is as wide as God's universe; whose theme is the destiny of man and whose words are the oracles of fate. Marvelous is the spell of the preacher to whom God has given genius and consecration and power of illustration drawn from the old, sacred, immortal book, and from the miracles of nature no less revealed in the crimson tipped flower turned up by the plowshare of Robert Burns upon the soil of Ayr than in the long reaches of the star girt skies.

I go to church because "the way is dark and I am far from home" and because the church is the polar star to light my pathway in the rayless night.

I go to church because the church ministers not only to the spiritual, but also to the material needs of life and because it is there the charities that soothe and heal and bless are scattered at the feet of man like flowers.

I go to church because in that atmosphere vice and crime wither and die.

I go to church because I hear the teachings of the philosophy of Jesus, the incomparable man, and if you say His teaching is philosophy and not religion and that He was a man and not a god, then the philosophy of that Man has redeemed the world from savagery and blessed mankind with Christian civilization, and, to my mind, it is a thing worth while hearing.

I go to church because I find there consolation and hope; because I see there the dawn and not the sunset, and it is better for man if the hope is baseless and the vision but an elusive phantom to cherish a dream so glorious and beautiful than to be weighted down and crushed with the quarried mountains of a world without hope and without God.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Bryan says that the best two speeches delivered in his '96 campaign were not delivered by him, but by two newspapermen.

Bryan reached Erie, Pa., one night, accompanied by twenty-four writing men who had been traveling with him on his speaking tour. All were tired. The newspapermen had not slept for about thirty hours. But there was a convention in town and the hotels were crowded.

The newspapermen, feeling desperate for loss of sleep, selected one Charles M. Pepper to go to the hotel clerk and make a speech presenting their view of the situation. Pepper went and spoke as follows:

"You say your rooms are all occupied. That may be, but we simply have to sleep, and we are going to have rooms. If you can't dig us up sleeping places we shall be compelled to find some ourselves. If they are occupied we shall drive the guests out. There are twenty-four of us and we are a husky lot. We feel that we can overpower all the police force in town. Understand, we do not wish to be ugly about this thing, but we intend to have a place to sleep. Kindly see what you can do."

Within three-quarters of an hour the correspondents had twenty-four beds and cots in a large sample room on the second floor and were making themselves comfortable.

Just as they were ready for bed, a disturbing sound arose—the sound of several men down on the sidewalk below in a heated political argument. One declared that it would be impossible to maintain the parities between gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

"Win" Thomas, brother of Gus Thomas, the playwright, went to the window in a suit of Japanese silk pajamas with lovely flowers embroidered down the front. When he mussed his hair up he looked not unlike William Jennings Bryan, and the crowd yelled.

Thomas lifted his hand in a Bryan-like command for silence, and addressed the multitude, saying:

"You declare that we cannot maintain the parities between the metals at the ratio of 16 to 1. I tell you that we can. (Applause). We can do so without the aid or consent of any other nation. (Cheers). I don't know exactly how we can do it, but it can be done. Now then, having settled that, go home you night prowling hoodlums, and let me get some sleep, that I may maintain the parities between slumber and wakefulness. I bid you one and all good night."

The most Chesterfieldian person about the capitol is Kennedy F. Rea, clerk of the senate committee on appropriations. Besides being a man of handsome presence and ingratiating personality, he has a never-failing fund of courtesy on tap for prince or pauper, and all-comers, without pull and without price. And Rea is courteous without slopping over. He doesn't go flying about scraping his feet, begging pardon, saying "After you," or any of that stuff, but simply in a quiet, orderly, and unostentatious manner operates, on a high-grade, dignified basis of "We strive to please."

This is not a paid advertisement for Rea, but he would be worth about $100,000 a year to the complaint department of some big corporation. One wouldn't have the heart to kick about a gas bill, for example, after talking it over with Rea.

A few mornings ago, an old colored woman dropped into several offices about the capitol on an errand that seemed important to her. She had met up with several professional crabs in her morning travels before she went in to state her wants to Rea.

In a few minutes she came out shaking her head solemnly and muttering:

"Um-um-m! Such a LOVELY gemman. SUCH a lovely gemman!"

Representative Denis O'Leary of New York simply can't get himself accustomed or hardened to the amount of time devoted to talk in congress.

Nearly every day he looks into the chamber, shakes his head sadly, and walks back to his office.

"If I were the chaplain," he remarked one day, shortly after he first came to congress, "I would quit praying for the members of congress and pray for the country."

* * *

Representative Cary of Wisconsin, by the way, has hit on a scheme to reduce the amount of talk in congress.

"My plan," says Cary, "would be to let each man talk five minutes, any time he can get the recognition of the chair, and for each minute he talks beyond that make him pay out of his salary what it costs the country to have congress in session—about $12 a minute, I believe it is.

"There would be one trouble," concedes Cary, "and that is that a lot of members would go home at the close of a session flat broke, leaving their families in comparative want."

* * *

And right in that same connection, the other day Representative A. W. Lafferty sat figuring with a pencil on a piece of paper.

"Well, it's too much for me," he remarked with a yawn, after he had been at his task some few minutes. "I never was much of a hand at figures anyhow."

"And what are you trying to figure?" was the next question.

"I was trying to estimate," replied Lafferty, "how many trees must be cut down each year to make wood pulp to make white paper to make the pages of the Congressional Record that Jim Mann over yonder covers with language."

Have a Dinner Entertainer.

Wu Ting-fang, late Chinese minister to the United States, in Harper's Monthly: As a rule, a dinner conversation is seldom worth remembering, which is a pity. Man, the most sensible of all animals, more readily leans to nonsense than to rational discourse. Perhaps the flow of words may be as steady as the eastward flow of the Yangste-Kiang in my own country, but the memory remains only a recollection of a vague, undefined—what? The conversation, like the flavors provided by the cooks, has been evanescent. Why should not hostesses make as much effort to stimulate the minds of their guests as they do to gratify their palates? What a boon it would be to many a bashful man, sitting next to a woman with whom he has nothing in common, if some public entertainer during the dinner relieved him from the necessity of always thinking as to what he should say next? How much more he could enjoy the fine dinners his hostess has provided; and as for the woman—what a number of suppressed yawns she might avoid! To take great pains and spend large sums to provide tasty food for people who cannot enjoy it because they have to talk to one another seems a pity. Let one man talk to the crowd, and leave them leisure to eat, is my suggestion.

The State Auditorship

Press Comments on the Rines-Preus Contest.

Shamefully Too Bad.

Aurora News: 'Tis a pity that Insurance Commissioner J. A. O. Preus is to be stamped with the Eberhart coat of arms, but it appears to be taken for granted that he has been placed into the race for state auditor to add strength to the state machine which now has a strangle hold on the machinery of government. Preus is a man of recognized ability who will be able to measure up to most anyone's ideas of efficiency, and if he can break away from the combine his future in state politics is limited only by the top.

We Notice the "But," And He Is Being Made the Butt.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The state press pretty generally has a good word for Jake Preus, the state insurance commissioner who wants to be state auditor. But (notice the but) he will not do, for the reason that he is a part of the Eberhart outfit, and the disposition is to down the gang.

Let Anybody Do It!

Biwabik Times: The state house political machine is now reaching out to capture the state auditorship. And from the look of things it is to be Sammy Iverson who will put it over on the Eberhart administration. We await the centralizing of the opposition with considerable impatience.

Important If True.

Luverne Herald: The entrance of Jake Preus into the campaign for state auditor has thrown the bitter fear of defeat into the hearts of Rines' followers.

No Influences But the Voters.

Princeton Union: No mercenary consideration influences the newspaper support that Henry Rines is receiving for state auditor. It is a voluntary support and is accorded him without money or hope of reward in the shape of fat appointive offices. No powerful influences are backing Mr. Rines' candidacy. Even were Mr. Rines so disposed, which he is not, he is not in a position, financially, to purchase newspaper or any other support.

Was on the Job.

St. Peter Free Press: Henry Rines of Mora, now candidate for state auditor, in case of his election would be just the boy to make some of the habitual grafters sit up and take notice. Of this he gave ample proof while speaker of the house last year. He was always onto his job and was never caught asleep when things crept into the house adroitly mixed up with schemes of a doubtful nature.

An Unfortunate Sacrifice.

Crosby Crucible: Henry Rines of the Mora Times will have opposition for the state auditorship, J. A. O. Preus, state commissioner of insurance, having announced his candidacy for the nomination on Tuesday, and the understanding is that the present administration's machine is back of him.

Personally, we were rather sorry to read of Mr. Preus' announcement, as we had hoped that Mr. Rines would receive the nomination without opposition. Too, Mr. Preus sized up to us as being the right man in the right job when he said that he thought there should be state regulation of insurance rates, and we hoped he would decide to stay with the insurance commissionership until he could effect that change in the insurance conditions.

Mr. Rines served the people well in the state legislature, and his good work entitles him to the nomination for the higher position if he wants it.

The Voters Will Indorse Your View.

Brown's Valley Tribune: The Tribune is in receipt of a letter from J. A. O. Preus of St. Paul, present insurance commissioner, in which he announces himself a candidate for state auditor against Henry Rines, late speaker of the house of representatives. Personally, Mr. Preus is a pleasant gentleman to meet; he also has ability far above the ordinary. In fact, to him, in the minds of many, has been credited much of the "brains" of the Eberhart machine; he is decidedly clever, and popular with those who come to know him. But after all, it is not Mr. Preus' cleverness and personality that should be considered in this contest. Mr. Rines has fairly won his way, through his splendid legislative record for progressive principles, and we feel that he is entitled to the votes of the people in the primaries for the office to which he aspires.

One Step at a Time.

One step at a time, and that well placed,
We reach the grandest height;
One stroke at a time, earth's hidden stores
Will slowly come to light;
One seed at a time, and the forest grows;
One drop at a time, and the river flows
Into a boundless sea.

One word at a time and the greatest book
Is written and is read;
One stone at a time, and a palace rears
Aloft its stately head;
One blow at a time, and the tree's cleft through,
And a city will stand where the forest grew
A few short years before.

One foe at a time and he subdued,
And the conflict will be won;
One grain at a time, and the sands of life
Will slowly all be run;
One minute, another, the hours fly;
One day at a time, and our lives speed by
Into eternity!

One grain of knowledge, and that well stored,
Another, and more than them;
As time rolls on your mind will shine
With many a garnered gem
Of thought and wisdom. And time will tell,
"One thing at a time, and that done well,"
Is wisdom's proven rule.

—Tit-Bits.

Talkative Mother.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Here is a story that was told by Justice S. Leslie Mestrezat of this state the other night when one of the party at a social affair remarked on the propensity of the fair sex to disseminate a choice bit of news.

Some time ago two men were sitting in a clubroom when one of them leaned over and in a whispering voice told the other an amazing bit of gossip.

"Now I am going to ask you just one favor, old fellow," said the man in concluding the story. "Please don't let it go any further."

"No, of course not," readily responded the other, "but how in the world did you ever come to hear about it?"

"My wife told me," answered the first party, with a wise look. "You know these women can't keep a secret."

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Former Adjt.-Gen. John H. Mullen dropped dead in the street at Wabasha, Minn., today from heart disease. He recently lost both legs by amputation on account of rheumatism. He was interested in the West Duluth Light and Water company and in enterprises at Superior.

The Scandinavian meeting held at West Duluth last night to recommend a candidate to Mayor Lewis for appointment on the board of public works was largely attended. P. Rowen was chairman and John Ecklund secretary. The following names were voted on for the board of works appointment: F. Olund, Otto Erickson, C. A. Johnson and E. Engberg. The latter received the highest number of votes, but on a motion to make his nomination unanimous there were almost as many negative as affirmative and the meeting adjourned in a pretty chilly atmosphere.

The Duluth Banjo club held its annual meeting last evening and elected the following officers: R. E. Williams, president; Leon Shaw, vice president; J. A. Olds, secretary and treasurer; William Chapman, manager. Robert Crombie and F. Carlson, banjo players, and E. B. Northwood, mandolin player, were male members.

The annual meeting of the Missabe Mountain Iron company was held today. The following officers were elected unanimously: President, W. J. Olcott; vice president, H. C. Merritt; secretary, E. H. Hall; treasurer, Charles E. Scheide; counsel, George Wellwood Murray; attorney, J. B. Cotton.

The first copy of the Duluth Blue Book, about which so much has been said and written, made its appearance today.

Howard & Haynie's drygoods store will be reopened soon, the appraisers who are estimating the damage done to the stock by the recent fire being almost through their work.

George E. Wells has gone to Toledo, Ohio, for a lengthy visit.

J. P. Matthews of Spokane Falls, Wash., is in the city. He is a large contractor and built the new ore dock at Two Harbors.

The Bates-Park company has been incorporated for the purpose of buying and selling goods and merchandise. The capital stock is $10,000 and the incorporators are M. W. Bates, M. F. Bates, W. G. Park and J. R. Park.

The grain commission firm of S. G. Wightman company has been incorporated by S. G. Wightman, A. B. Hilton and H. L. Wright. The capital is $10,000.

A marriage license has been issued to Karl Frederick Green and Anna Margarette Louise Shipper.

Not That Kind of Officer.

Neale's Monthly: Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States army, has had many expressions of admiration voiced as to his personal appearance. It remained, however, for a humble maid servant to apotheosize his looks.

A young girl—who, knowing the general, worships him as her hero—always keeps a photograph of him in uniform on her dressing table. One day, entering her bedroom suddenly, she chanced upon her newly acquired maid, who stood agape, with gleaming eyes, holding the photograph in her hand.

Startled into speech, the servant asked. "What's he, miss?"

"He's an officer, Norah." The young mistress deemed that answer sufficient.

"Gee, miss," was the breathless comment, as the maid put down the picture lingeringly, "but ain't he the sweet-lookin' cop!"

A Picture.

From the top of my old bookcase,
As I turn the evening light,
Shines a face so kind and hopeful,
I forget that it is night.
And I gently take the picture,
And in trembling sit apart,
As I know full well the image
Rests forever in my heart.

THE MAGAZINE MAN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In Tuesday's Herald a letter was written by an invalid about "The Magazine Man's" work. Today I received word that John Gordon wrote to 425 persons in Duluth, getting only seven replies. Let me take it for granted that these 418 did not read his circular. Surely, if they did I cannot see how they could for a minute let it slip their mind. Kind reader, if you received his circular, read it, and order your magazines from him. He is still behind with eleven subscriptions for February to get the $3,000 for the I. P. A. You can renew subscriptions through him. If you did not get his circular send for one. His address is 2423 South Twenty-fourth street, Omaha, Neb.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decisions were announced today by the Minnesota supreme court:

Hubbard County.

John Bouck, respondent, vs. J. Shere, appellant—

1. Complaint construed to present by proper allegations two separate causes of action, at least two theories upon which plaintiff might be entitled to relief, and since there was no election at the trial upon which theory plaintiff would proceed, he was entitled to recover upon either.

2. The evidence held to support the verdict finding a sale by plaintiff to defendant of his interest in the business of a co-partnership in which they were the sole members, and defendant's agreement to pay plaintiff therefor the value thereof to be ascertained from an inventory of the firm assets.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Clay County.

Olena Kragnes, individually and as Adm'x., respondent, vs. Gilbert Kragnes, appellant—

1. The doctrine of advancements, as regulated and controlled by G. S. 1913, Sec. 7404, applies to interstate estates only; it has no application where the property of the decedent is fully disposed of by his last will and testament.

2. A promissory note given by a son to his father in his lifetime, where the father subsequently makes a will disposing of his estate at his death may, in an action upon the note by the executor of the will, be shown by parol evidence to have been given without consideration, that the money represented by the note was a gift by the father, and that the note was not intended as an obligation for the repayment of the money.

Judgment reversed. BROWN, C. J.

Ramsey County.

S. Goldish, respondent, vs. Andrew Schoch Grocery company, appellant—

1. In an action to recover upon a bank check given in payment for certain oranges sold by plaintiff to defendant, the defense being that the oranges were falsely and fraudulently represented as sound and in good condition, it is held that the evidence supports the verdict of the jury and that the record presents no reversible errors.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Pine County.

Frank Howell, administrator, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway Company, appellant—

Plaintiff's intestate, a boy of the age of 7 years and 3 months, was killed on a street crossing by being struck by a train of the defendant. It is held:

1. There was not a fatal variance between the allegations of negligence and the proof.

2. The evidence was sufficient to warrant submitting to the jury the question of defendant's negligence.

3. It did not conclusively appear that deceased was guilty of contributory negligence.

Judgment affirmed. BUNN, J.

Ramsey County.

Hattie E. Pierson, respondent, vs. Modern Woodmen of America, appellant—

In an action by the beneficiary named in a membership certificate issued by a fraternal insurance company to recover the amount payable upon the death of the member the court rightly excluded a purported by-law pleaded in abatement, because the printed copy offered in evidence was not properly authenticated, and also because there was no offer to prove that the by-law was in force at the time when it could be material to the issues involved.

The evidence of the disappearance of the insured, of his continued absence for more than seven years, and of the inquiry and search for him, was such that it sustains the finding of the jury that he was dead.

No error was made in refusing to give certain instructions requested by defendant, for, in so far as such instructions embodied sound rules of law applicable to the issues litigated, they were fully covered by the general charge.

Order affirmed. HOLT, J.

Fillmore County.

H. H. Hammer, appellant, vs. Albert Forde, respondent—

Allegations in a pleading are privileged and cannot serve as a basis for a libel suit unless it clearly appears that the same were not pertinent, material, or relevant to the controversy in litigation. All doubt should be resolved against a contention that the privilege has been exceeded.

Under this rule the demurrer to the complaint herein was properly sustained.

Order affirmed. HOLT, J.

Hennepin County.

Ignacy Zakrzewski, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway company, appellant—

Where reasonably necessary a railway company must keep and maintain stock pens in such condition and equipped with such facilities that animals confined therein awaiting shipment may receive proper care and attention during a reasonable time prior to loading.

In the absence of statutory provisions a railway company is not required to furnish feed or water to livestock in its pens awaiting shipment unless the company has accepted the care and control thereof.

Order reversed and new trial granted. HOLT, J.

Ramsey County.

Mary Dougherty, respondent, vs. The Supreme Court of the Independent Orders of Foresters, appellant—

1. If a benefit society by a course of conduct in accepting payment of dues and assessments after the time required by its laws, creates a belief on the part of the member that strict compliance with the letter of the contract as to time of payment will not be exacted, and the member in consequence fails to pay on the day appointed, the society will be held to have waived the requirement, and it will be estopped from setting it up as a cause of forfeiture.

2. When by the laws of such a society, a subordinate body is the sole agency by which the society transacts the business for which it was organized, if the conduct of the subordinate body is such as to operate as a waiver of timely payment, such waiver is binding upon the superior body of the order itself, even though the superior body has no knowledge of the course of conduct of the subordinate body on which the waiver is based.

3. Where prompt payment has been waived, the member cannot be expelled without some notice that further indulgence will cease and that no further delays will be granted, and, that hence it is incumbent on him to pay in strict accordance with the laws of the order.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

Ramsey County.

In the matter of the application of Joseph Garceau to register title. Joseph Garceau, applicant, vs. George D. Archand et al, defendants; Michael McNamara, appellant; Julius A. Haussner, respondent—

An attorney for a defendant in an ejectment suit, after the termination of the suit in favor of the plaintiff, purchased, for a valuable consideration, the interest of the plaintiff in the land. The trial court found that before doing so, he advised his client fully as to his rights and the client decided not to take further proceedings in the matter, and, further, that the purchase was made with the consent and approval of the client. These findings are sustained by the evidence. Under this state of facts, it cannot be held that the money paid for the deed to the attorney was merely an advancement in the interest of the client, or that the deed was taken as security for money advanced. Nor can it be held that the attorney held the land in trust for his client. An attorney at law is held to the highest duty of fidelity to his client. When an attorney purchases from the adverse party the subject matter of litigation, either during the pendency of the litigation, or after it is over, the burden is upon him to establish the fairness and good faith of the transaction. But the law does not absolutely disable him from so purchasing. Where it is clear that the client intended that he should do so and acquiesced in his action in so doing, and the transaction is open, honest, and fair and there is no fraud or concealment and no advantage taken by the attorney, the transactions will be upheld. The facts of this case bring it within this rule, and the purchase by the attorney is sustained.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

Hennepin County.

Northwestern Lumber & Wrecking company, plaintiff, vs. Elizabeth F. Parker, et al., defendants, and G. A. Chafee, trustee in bankruptcy for the H. O. Roberts company and the Gardner Hardware company, defendants-respondents—

1. A two-story and basement building was leased to one tenant, the first story and basement for manufacturing purposes, and the second story for living apartments. At the instance of the tenant a lien claimant furnished the labor and part of the material for installing a combination steam heating and power plant in the building. If the plant was a fixture in the legal sense, the freehold is lienable; if it was removable, the freehold is not lienable.

2. Where a controversy arises between vendor and vendee or mortgagor and mortgagee, all articles originally personality which have been actually or constructively attached, are fixtures and part of the freehold.

3. When the question arises between landlord and tenant, articles, ordinarily fixtures, if attached by a tenant for trade purposes, may be removed during the tenancy, so long as such removal does not result in material and permanent injury to the freehold. In no case can the tenant remove fixtures if they are permanent in their nature and if their removal will leave freehold in a substantially worse plight than before the annexation was made. The evidence sustains the finding of the trial court that this plant became part of the land.

4. A tenant with the assent of the landlord gave a chattel mortgage on articles attached to the realty. The effect of this was to make these articles personal property as between these parties, but the rights of persons performing labor in annexing such articles to the freehold without knowledge of such contract could not be affected thereby.

5. Painting a building inside and out, papering, painting and kalsomining inside, and putting on a section of new roof, to fit premises for the occupancy by a tenant, are not "repairs," within a statute which provides that, against a lessor, no lien is given for repairs made by or at the instance of his lessee.

6. Where work done under several contracts is practically continuous and constitutes one job, only one lien statement need be filed.

7. The contract price as agreed upon between a lien claimant and the party ordering the work is prima facie evidence of its value as against the owner.

8. The evidence sustains the finding of the trial court that the owner of the premises authorized these improvements.

Order and judgment affirmed. HALLAM, J.

Becker County.

Math Helback, respondent, vs. Northern Pacific Railway company, appellant—

Plaintiff, finding a freight train obstructing the street along which he was walking, attempted to climb through the train between the cars and was injured. He conceded negligence on his own part, but contended that the engineer wilfully and wantonly inflicted the injury by backing the train after having actual knowledge that he was climbing between the cars. Held that the evidence is not sufficient to sustain a finding that the engineer knew that plaintiff was in a place of danger.

Order reversed and judgment directed for defendant. TAYLOR, C.

Washington County.

Frances Ellen Robertson, appellant, vs. Charles Corcoran, executor, et al, respondents—

John Matthias Carr, appellant, vs. Charles Corcoran, executor, et al, respondents—

1. A person may by contract bind himself to give his property to certain designated persons at his death, and specific performance thereof may be enforced.

2. To warrant specific performance of an oral contract to give property by will, the contract must be reasonable and satisfactorily established, and must have been performed to such extent and in such manner that the beneficiary cannot be properly compensated in damages.

3. Assuming a peculiar personal and domestic relation as a member of the family of the promisor, pursuant to the contract, and giving him the society and services incident to such relation, and of a kind and character, the value of which is not measurable in money, is sufficient to justify specific performance; but services not of such peculiar character, and for which reasonable compensation can be made in money, are not sufficient to justify such relief.

4. Upon a motion for judgment on the pleadings, every reasonable intendment will be indulged in favor of the pleading attacked. Held that under this rule it was error to grant judgment on the pleadings in the present case.

Judgments reversed. TAYLOR, C.

DEATH DUE TO SKULL FRACTURE

No Blame Fixed in Killing of E. H. Cannon By Car.

No new features developed at the post mortem examination held yesterday afternoon over the body of E. H. Cannon, the traveling salesman from Minneapolis who was killed by a street car at Nineteenth avenue east and Superior street about 11 o'clock Wednesday night.

Deputy Coroner McAuliffe, assisted by Police Surgeon Murphy, who was called to St. Luke's hospital following the accident, conducted the post mortem. Dr. McAuliffe said this morning that Cannon came to his death by being run over by a street car and that death was due to a fractured skull. The dead man's left foot was almost severed at the ankle.

The physicians did not decide as to whose negligence the accident was due, as this is not part of a post mortem examination, Dr. McAuliffe said this morning. According to a witness and the motorman of the street car, Cannon ran diagonally across the street to the northwest corner in an effort to catch this westbound car, but failed to judge the distance and was struck by the oncoming car. The man was rushed to St. Luke's hospital, being taken to Ninth avenue east by the street car crew and then carried to First street by passengers on the car. It was then believed that he was still alive, but Police Surgeon Murphy declared that Cannon died immediately after the accident.

Accompanied by his sister-in-law, Mrs. May B. Urquhart, of Minneapolis and C. B. Gedney of St. Paul, a lifelong friend of Mr. Cannon's, the body was taken last evening to Minneapolis, where the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Cannon, who has been spending the winter in Florida, is expected home today. Besides the widow, Cannon leaves two sisters and three brothers.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Suicide Theory Set Aside By Coroner in Elevator Tragedy.

Zalman Levine, 24 years old, whose body was found at the bottom of the Spalding hotel elevator shaft Wednesday evening, came to his death by accidentally falling from the third floor, according to the decision of Coroner McComb and Deputy Coroner McAuliffe, following a post mortem examination of the body yesterday afternoon and a careful inspection of the freight elevator in the hotel building.

Dr. McAuliffe said this morning that the condition of the body shows that Levine came to his death by falling from the third floor and not from being crushed by the elevator. It is believed that Levine accidentally fell through the elevator door.

Levine, who was a dishwasher at the Spalding hotel, was sent to the third floor about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening to obtain some towels. When he failed to return about 9 o'clock a search was made and his lifeless body was found lying at the bottom of the freight elevator shaft. His brother, Harry Levine, porter at the hotel, made the discovery.

The funeral of Levine was held at 9:30 o'clock this morning from the Crawford undertaking rooms. Interment was made at the Jewish cemetery on the Maple Grove road. Levine leaves a father, four sisters and one brother living in Russia. He came here nine weeks ago.

FRUIT LAXATIVE IF CONSTIPATED, TAKE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Best Liver and Bowel Regulator for Mamma, Daddy and Children.

If you're headachy, constipated, bilious or stomach is disordered and you want to enjoy the nicest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced, take a tablespoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" to-night and in the morning all the constipation poison, bile and clogged-up waste will gently move out of the system without griping and you will feel splendid.

Every member of the family should use this fruit laxative as occasion demands. It is just as effective for grandpa as it is for baby. It simply can not injure. Even cross, sick, feverish children just love its pleasant taste and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing."

For thirty years "California Syrup of Figs" has been recommended by physicians as the ideal stomach, liver and bowel cleanser. Millions of families who are well informed use nothing else, but recently there has come a flood of spurious fig syrups, so we warn the public to ask plainly at drug stores for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," and see that it is prepared by "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no cheaper size. Hand back any "counterfeit" with contempt.

M'GILVRAY HEADS LAND ASSOCIATION

George Rupley of Duluth One of Members of Executive Committee.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 6.—The convention of land men ended last night by perfecting the organization of the Minnesota Farm Land association, to boost the state, advertise its resources and secure legislation that will encourage settlers.

J. C. McGilvray was elected president after a spirited contest in which he received 52 votes against 19 for E. F. Farmer of Minneapolis, and 10 for J. J. Opsahl of Bemidji.

The executive committee, one from each congressional district was elected and includes George E. Rupley, Duluth, Eighth district.

The executive committee, in session after the convention elected J. B. Ludlow of Rushmore, vice president; George W. Dodge of Delano, treasurer, and W. R. McKenzie of Bemidji, secretary. Mrs. McKenzie's election is temporary.

The only fight on the long list of resolutions introduced by the committee was on the proposal to have all real estate dealers licensed and bonded by the state. W. D. Washburn led a fight against this, but was forced to withdraw his amendment.

Against Curbstone Brokers.

Resolutions were adopted vigorously denouncing curbstone brokers and their methods, and pledging the association to keep all such people out of the association.

During the day the various development associations fixed the dates for their "twice-a-year meetings," as follows:

West Central Development association, June 17, 18, 19, and Nov. 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Northern Development association, June 3, 4 and 5, and Dec. 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Red River Valley association, June 25, 26, and Jan. 5, 6, 7 and 8.

The annual meeting of the Minnesota Farm Land association will be held on the second Monday in January.

Married 58 Years.

Girard, Kan., March 6.—"Fifty-eight years of happiness," was written upon a great wedding cake which Judge W. B. Crawford and his wife cut and distributed to eight children, twenty-four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. It was the celebration of their fifty-eighth wedding anniversary. Both are 80 years old. They were married at Chester, Ill.

COLD IN THE HEAD--CATARRH--BRONCHITIS? NO MATTER--USE HYOMEI

It Has Benefited Thousands of Sufferers and Will Do the Same for You or Money Refunded.

Hyomei is certainly the common sense treatment for head colds, catarrh, hoarseness, bronchitis or any trouble of the breathing organs—you breathe it—no stomach dosing. You wouldn't pour medicine into the stomach to heal a raw and inflamed burn or bruise, then why try to soothe and heal the sore and inflamed mucous membrane lining the air passages of the nose, throat and lungs by any process except the most direct right-to-the-spot way—that's the Hyomei method. When using Hyomei you breathe in an antiseptic and germicidal air that immediately and effectively reaches all the air cells, destroys the catarrh germs, stops the poisonous secretion and the irritation, soothes and heals the raw and inflamed membrane, and gives quick and permanent relief.

Nothing easier, safer, or more pleasant than the Hyomei treatment—you breathe it through a small hard rubber inhaler that comes with every complete outfit. Just try it—and if not benefited Boyce drug store will refund the purchase price. Isn't that convincing proof that Hyomei has a remarkable healing and health-restoring power?

The constant snuffling, discharge from the nose, frequent sneezing, watery eyes, clogged nostrils, and that choked-up feeling in the morning all make life a burden.

Do not suffer needlessly. Begin using Hyomei now — today—and see how quickly you get relief. All druggists sell it. Ask for complete Hyomei outfit, $1.00 size. Extra bottles, if later needed 50 cents.

EGGS STILL GOING DOWN

Imports Under New Tariff Are Causing Steady Decline.

Butter Prices Expected to Be Unchanged Until Grass Grows.

A further cheapening in the price of eggs to 28@29c a dozen and a weak tendency still in evidence, is a feature in the local produce market today. Receipts are reported to be steadily on the increase and with declines thought certain at New York and other Eastern markets as a result of liberal importations, it is expected by packers that storage stocks will be put away next month at the lowest prices in years. A drop of several cents from present figures is looked for.

The dependence of this country upon foreign sources for a part of its supply of eggs, is commented upon by dealers. It is noted that according to a report by the department of commerce at Washington, imports of eggs during the fiscal year 1913 aggregated 1,367,000 dozens as compared with only 368,000 dozens back in 1903. In the first three months under the new tariff law, October, November and December last, when eggs were admitted free of duty, imports came to 1,701,153 dozens, most of them being entered during the month of December.

Some Eggs Dutiable.

Eggs other than those in the natural condition are still subject to duty, though at reduced rates, and these show increasing imports in the brief period for which the monthly figures are at hand. Frozen or preserved eggs, the duty on which is now 2 cents per pound, compared with 5 cents a dozen under the former tariff, show for the last three months of 1913 a total importation of about 1,000,000 pounds, valued at approximately $115,000. Egg yolks, now dutiable at 10 per cent ad valorem instead of 25 per cent, as under the old law, aggregated about 200,000 pounds, and dried eggs, 8,534 pounds for the three months ended with December. In each case the imports were considerably larger than those for the corresponding period of 1912.

The countries contributing the eggs imported into the United States are few in number. Our imported eggs are chiefly the product of China, Siberia, Russia, and Southern Europe, those arriving from England and Germany having been for the most part shipped into those countries for resale to foreign markets. Of eggs imported in the natural state, England is the chief normal source, next in order being China (including Hongkong) and Canada. Frozen eggs are chiefly from England, with smaller quantities from Hongkong. Egg yolks come almost exclusively from Germany, which imports large quantities of eggs from the producing centers of Europe and Asia, and re-exports them in this form to the United States and other parts of the world.

The bulk of the eggs imported are consumed in the large Eastern cities, so it is readily to be understood that an enormous trade is capable of being developed in shipments from Duluth to Buffalo, New York and other centers as a result of the recent decision of the interstate commerce commission imposing upon the lake lines the necessity of providing refrigerator service for the transportation of butter, eggs and poultry. The opinion is expressed that the opportunity now offers to develop the poultry raising industry in this district to such an extent as to return substantial incomes to fanciers engaged in it.

Butter Prices Unchanged.

Butter prices are unchanged, the Bridgeman-Russell company quoting fresh creamery product at 31 to 32 cents a pound, June storage at 28 cents, first creamery at 30 to 31 cents and dairy at 22 to 23 cents. The Eastern markets are stronger at present, as a result of storage supplies being nearly exhausted. It is thought that prices will remain at nearly their present basis till early in May, when fresh pasturage will become available for cattle.

Green Vegetables Plentiful.

Supplies of California, Florida and Louisiana green vegetables are plentiful and prices are cheap for the season, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company. Sales are being found good both locally and through the range towns.

Onions are higher, attributable to supplies being in the process of cleaning up.

Potatoes are off to 70 cents a bushel and the market in them is weak. Large stocks are estimated to be still in growers' hands, and efforts are now being made to force these out in advance of arrivals of new Southern potatoes, which are expected in about a month. Florida tubers are already offering on this market at $3 per hamper of 47 pounds.

Oranges are the feature in fruits, with the prices in them firm on account of Calumet shipments having been interfered with through storms. Lemons are also up for the same reason. Grapefruit is easier, due to larger supplies.

Ben Davis barrel apples and Western box apples are up slightly, attributable to the gradual cleaning up of stocks in dealers' hands.

Poultry Market Firm.

Poultry quotations are firm all through the list, with few live birds or fresh dressed stock being marketed at present. A similar situation prevails in meats, in which quotations in beef, veal, lamb and mutton are unchanged. Pork is slightly easier.

MINNESOTANS AT NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Washington, March 6.—Register C. F. Hartman of the Duluth land office is here on his way to Boston to visit his daughter.

J. D. Conan and wife of Ely, and Lawrence Gilley of Duluth are also among Washington visitors. Mr. Gilley witnessed the delivery of President Wilson's address to congress as the guest of Representative Miller.

MITCHEL REASSURES TANGO DEVOTEES.

New York, March 6.—Mayor Mitchel has relieved the doubts and fears of Broadway restauranteurs and tango devotees who have been exercised over the recent closing of the cafes at 1 o'clock by the statement that he does not intend strictly to enforce the excise law.

"I don't mean to open the city and let the restaurants run wild," said the mayor, "but on the other hand I certainly don't intend to drive the people out of the restaurants at 1 o'clock.

"I am afraid that certain persons misunderstood what I said previous to election. Those persons who think that a promise of personal liberty means an opportunity to use premises for illicit purposes will be disillusioned."

Can Bridge Mississippi.

Washington, March 6.—The senate passed a bill granting rights to construct a railway bridge across the Mississippi river at Keokuk, Ia., to the Inter-City Bridge company.

WOULD BUY SEEDS AT COST

R. K. Doe Suggests Plan for Aiding Farmers of This District.

Would Have Commercial Club and Railroad Agents Co-operate.

What looks like a very simple and practical plan of aiding agriculture in this district is suggested by Rasmus K. Doe, examiner in the United States naturalization service.

This is that the railroads, in cooperation with the Duluth Commercial club and the district agricultural supervisor, A. B. Hostetter, make arrangements to supply the best seeds at cost to the farmers located along their lines.

"The cost," said Mr. Doe yesterday afternoon, "would be very small. The gain would be incalculable.

"Good seeds are a fundamental need in successful agriculture. With seed selection in intelligent hands, as it would be under this plan, the farmers of this section would be supplied with the very best possible seeds, those best adapted to the conditions prevailing here, at the lowest possible cost.

"Though quality is a first consideration and cost only secondary, the advantage of cheapness through buying in quantities would be well worth while. I should say that the farmer's seeds would cost him at least 25 per cent less this way than when each farmer buys separately.

Plan of Procedure.

"Suppose that each of the railroads in St. Louis county should send a circular to each agent, notifying him that this plan had been adopted, and instructing him to inform the farmers of the fact. A date would be fixed before which all orders must be in. Each farmer would estimate the quantity of each kind of seed he will need, and give his order to the agent with, say 10 per cent of the regular retail cost of such seed. The agents would send the orders in to headquarters, and the railroad could either handle the buying itself, or turn it all over to the Commercial club, which I have no doubt would glady co-operate in this work as it has in all enterprises for the development of agriculture in this section.

"The orders in, Mr. Hostetter could be asked to buy the necessary seeds, getting the varieties he knows to be best adapted to this section, and buying them at wholesale rates from reliable seedsmen.

"When the seeds arrive, they could be repacked by the Commercial club or the railroads in the proper quantities, and distributed through the local agents to the farmers.

"The railroads of this section are deeply interested in the success of agriculture, because more and more they will be dependent upon agricultural products for traffic. Even the ore-carrying roads, though this is a small item to them, would doubtless be glad to go in if the others did, through public spirit, if not through self-interest.

"It would take a little organization to perfect the simple machinery necessary to handle this work, but not very much, and as I have said the cost would be infinitessimal compared with the good it would do not only to the farmers, but to the railroads and the community at large.

"It would also be helpful if Mr. Hostetter would prepare, to send out with each kind of seed, simple printed cultural directions that would be helpful to the growers, based on his expert knowledge of farming in general and particularly of farming in this section.

"It seems to me that it would be a splendid investment for the railroads, and though it is outside of their ordinary activities it ought to be something that they would gladly take up. Settlement and development along their lines hinge upon successful agriculture, and one of the primary factors in successful agriculture is good seeds."

JAPAN IS PEACEFUL.

Dr. Sato Says There Is No Need to Fear War.

Amherst, Mass., March 6.—Dr. Shousake Sato, Japanese exchange lecturer at the Massachusetts agricultural college, incident to an address on "The Progress from Feudalism to the New Imperialism," said:

"Japan is strictly keeping the gentleman's agreement entered into between the United States and Japan, so there is no cause to fear laborers coming to this country. The question relates itself to the people already settled in California, the settlement of which cannot be permitted to mar the cordial relations which have existed between the two nations.

"Japan will always look for peace from over the Pacific. It is our sincerest hope that the Stars and Stripes and the flag of the Rising Sun may ever be a guarantee of peace and world's brotherhood."

Dr. Sato is president of the Saphoro agricultural college in Japan.

ROCK ISLAND NEEDS TOLD

Chairman Schumacher Delivers Report to Bondholders' Committee.

Must Raise $20,000,000 By July 1 of This Year.

New York, March 6.—In a detailed report to the Bondholders' Protective committee, T. M. Schumacher, chairman of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company, makes known the result of his recent investigation of the Rick Island lines, including their present cash needs and future requirements.

Mr. Schumacher estimates that not less than $20,000,000 will be required by July 1 next to meet bonds and car trust certificates maturing, floating indebtedness, including $1,500,000 due the railroad company, and interest payments, together with many other pressing obligations. He estimates that cash on hand and net earnings for the period will aggregate $8,000,000, and the management is now applying for permission to make a short term loan for $7,500,000 against securities in the company's treasury. It is believed that such a loan can be secured, but there will then remain $4,500,000 to be provided between now and July 1, 1914.

Would Pass Dividend.

No provision is made for the payment of the dividend due May 1, 1914, on the stock of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company held as collateral for the 4 per cent bonds of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company, due 2002, and in the judgment of the management this dividend should not be paid, says Mr. Schumacher.

Of the system's future needs, he says:

"In order that the railway company may be operated to the best advantage and produce the best results, an expenditure of about $25,000,000 would be required for betterments and improvements during the next five years. This sum should put the road in better shape to compete successfully with its neighbors.

"The physical condition of the road is not by any means what it should be to handle the business which is likely to be offered when the general business of the country revives, as we hope and believe it will in the not distant future.

"In our judgment, however, the entire sum need not be spent immediately, but should be spread in equal installments over a period of five years."

Needs in Five Years.

The estimated total requirements for the next five years are given in the report as not less than $50,000,000, including betterments and maturing car trust certificates of $12,000,000.

Against these requirements the company now has treasury bonds of $15,000,000, and will receive in five years at the rate of $3,500,000 annually, $17,500,000 of 4 per cent refunding mortgage bonds. These securities, the report says, should have a good market, if the credit of the company can be re-established.

The company's other needs are gone into at length, including the obligations of the operating company (the Illinois corporation), which is responsible for $266,000,000 of outstanding bonds.

Mr. Schumacher's final conclusions are:

"Unless some plan can be devised which has a good prospect of accomplishing these results, and which is fair to all classes of security holders, including the 4 per cent bonds represented by your committee, the management that I represent will feel it inadvisable to continue in charge of the property.

"If the expenditures indicated above are made and a fair plan of organization can be devised which will provide the necessary funds as needed, we have great confidence that the property will produce satisfactory results, and that, in time, substantial dividends can be resumed on a proper stock capital, and the interests of all be fully conserved."

BIGGER INCOME IN INTERNAL REVENUE.

Washington, March 6.—While customs receipts have fallen off under the new tariff, the internal revenue bureau is coming to the rescue with increased collections. The total collected by the bureau from July 1, 1913, to Jan. 31, 1914, was $191,792,279, an increase of $2,636,329 over the corresponding period of the previous year. The tax on tobacco brought in $47,645,545, an increase of $2,371,258, and fermented liquors $40,276,380, an increase of $1,412,306. Distilled spirits, including whisky, however, brought in only $98,940,304, a decrease of $1,409,719.

Included in the total for the seven months was $59,328 paid by individuals subject to the income tax. This tax is not payable, under the law, until assessments have been made, and need not be paid until June next, but many persons sent their contributions.

The official tabulation of the returns of individuals subject to the tax has not been completed, and several internal revenue collection districts still are to be heard from.

ARMY OF IDLE MEN ROUTED BY POLICE.

Oakland, Cal., March 6.—"General" Kelly's band of 2,000 unemployed men, which started from San Francisco Tuesday to march to the national capital, was routed here yesterday by 250 policemen armed with rifles. The entire band was put aboard street cars and shipped to Richmond, a nearby town.

At Richmond the travelers immediately began a riot, attempting to demolish a large wooden storage building. Policemen dispersed them with a liberal use of their clubs and arrested a number of the ring leaders.

MAKES YOUR BACKACHE VANISH, DRIVES ALL RHEUMATIC PAINS AWAY

New Discovery Eases Stiff, Sore, Swollen Joints and Muscles Relieving Backache and Bladder Disorders After Few Doses Are Taken.

No matter how badly you suffer, how chronic your case may be, or what has failed to cure you, your pains will leave, your aches vanish and the torturous, killing backache or rheumatism will bother you no more.

This is what Croxone, the new scientific discovery, does for sufferers of such troubles. It cures these diseases because it reaches the cause and removes it. It soaks right into the walls and linings of the kidneys and cleans out the stopped-up, inactive organs like water does a sponge—neutralizes, and dissolves every particle of uric acid and makes the kidneys sift from the blood all the waste matter and poisons that lodge in the joints and muscles to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism. It soothes and heals the delicate lining of the bladder and leaves the kidneys in a clean, strong, healthy condition, so they can filter the blood and keep you well.

If you suffer with backache—have pains in the neck or sides—nervous or dizzy spells—a few doses of Croxone will relieve the congestion and you will be surprised how quickly all kidney, bladder and rheumatic troubles will disappear.

Croxone is different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else on earth ever used for the purpose. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves your suffering the very first time you use it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SAWMILL FIRE ALTERS PLANS

Destruction of Bemidji Plant Means Further Use of Crookston Mill.

Word Received in Polk County City Not to Dismantle That Mill.

Crookston, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The destruction of the sawmill of the Bemidji Lumber company yesterday, resulted in a telegram being sent here to stop the work of dismantling the local mill of the Crookston Lumber company. The dismantling had not proceeded far, and it is probable that logs will be railed here for this summer's run. It was the intention of the Crookston Lumber company to saw no more logs here, as difficulty had been experienced in getting the logs down for the past few years, and the distance tariff made the freight rates prohibitive.

When the Crookston Lumber company acquired more logs tributary to Bemidji, disposing of their logs tributary to the Red Lake river to the Thief River Falls Lumber company it was decided to close the sawmill here, keeping only the planer in operation until the present stock of lumber had been exhausted. It is very probable, however, that the mill here will now be operated at least this season.

BIG ACREAGE OF GRAIN EXPECTED

Prospects Good for Extensive Seeding in Red River Valley.

Crookston, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fields in the Red River valley are bare, and the farmers are actively preparing for the seeding of the largest acreage ever cropped in the Red River valley. There is 50 per cent more plowing done than a year ago, practically all land being plowed that is under cultivation. The wheat acreage will be somewhat increased this year, owing to the plowing of a considerable acreage of pasture land, the corn and potato land which puts the ground in ideal condition for wheat, and the fact that, where a few years ago there was a very large acreage of summer fallowing every year, the land formerly summer fallowed is now sown to corn, potatoes or some cultivated crop, permitting an increased acreage of small grains while the corn acreage is being doubled every year as well.

Stock in Demand.

The general conditions are well illustrated by a stock sale this week, when Shorthorn yearling calves, full bloods, sold for $100 and grade cows for an average of $80 each and good mule teams for $500 a span. An immense amount of blooded stock, Shorthorns and Holsteins mostly, has been shipped in from Iowa and Wisconsin this spring, indicating greater attention to stock raising and dairying. A wet snow, melting as fast as it fell, has been falling for the past two days, and with rain at times, is providing plenty of much desired moisture.

NEGAUNEE MAN HAS HIS WIFE ARRESTED

Claims Woman Tried to Pour Lysol Oil Into His Coffee.

Negaunee, Mich., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alleging that his wife tried to poison him following a long standing difficulty, James Fashion swore out a warrant for her arrest before Judge Ver Ran and the woman was compelled to furnish bonds in $1,000 pending a hearing.

He alleges that Tuesday while he was eating his breakfast Mrs. Fashion waited on him. As she poured out his coffee he noticed, he says, a peculiar odor. Upon examination of the cup he says he found poison.

Marshal Newcombe later had the contents of the cup analyzed and it was found to contain lysol, which is used extensively as a disinfectant. Mrs. Fashion claims that she did not know anything about the lysol or how it got into the coffee.

Afraid to Live With Her.

Fashion told the officers that he was afraid to live with the woman any longer. He insisted that Marshal Newcombe accompany him to the family home, while he got his belongings.

Fashion told the marshal that he will at once begin divorce proceedings.

Mrs. Fashion, who is well known in the city, has given the officers much trouble. She conducted a restaurant on Iron street at one time and the place was a center of disturbance. About three years ago she figured in a case at Marquette, but was released on a suspended sentence. Fashion married her shortly afterward.

NEW SETTLERS FINDING HOMES

Many People Locating in Pine County Around Hinckley.

Hinckley, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Not in years have as many new settlers come to this part of Pine county this early in the year. Almost daily there is a new arrival bringing household goods and stock to locate on land. The following are late arrivals:

James White of Ocheydon, Iowa, who will move onto the farm known as the Chris Opshal farm a short distance east of town.

Charles Stewart of Ocheydon, Iowa, will move on the farm formerly owned by William Pilgrim in Munch township four miles southeast of town.

Claus Kadous of Ellendorf, Iowa, will move onto the farm formerly owned by Frank Keen.

W. H. Vancleave of Ocheydon, Iowa, takes possession of the farm formerly owned by Gus Weesen, in Munch township and about four miles southeast of town.

Frank Lynch of Estherville, Iowa, has arrived and moves onto the forty acres north of town usually known as the Peterson forty.

Elmer Clark of Estherville, Iowa, will move onto the S. W. one-fourth of section 10, a part of the I. D. Curryer farm.

Nels Swendson from Slayton, Minn., will locate on the eighty acres in Barry town, formerly owned by Edward Pruden. Mr. Swendson owns forty acres on the west side of the road, opposite the south half of this eighty, he has rented the eighty acres.

M. H. Spangler of Ruthton, will locate on some land in section 6, Barry township on the west side of the Friesland road.

C. H. Gillet of Billings, Mont., arrived several days ago with a carload of stock and farm implements and will locate on the Karl Shultz farm four miles north of Hinckley.

MUCH LIGNITE COAL.

Six Workable Veins Are Known of in North Dakota.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report of the North Dakota geological survey for the past year, made by Prof. H. G. Leonard of the University of North Dakota, is devoted particularly to the lignite coal situation. The report shows that in several instances, six workable veins of the coal have been found, lying one on top of the other. They lie in about 600 feet.

The report shows that the longest worked lignite mines are in the vicinity of Sims, having been in operation since 1884.

Special attention is given to the conditions in Morton, Burleigh and parts of adjoining counties, where the work was carried on during the past season.

LAW NOT MANDATORY

As to Insurance Commissioner Barring Out Derelict Companies.

St. Paul, Minn., March 6.—In an opinion given Insurance Commissioner J. A. O. Preus Assistant Attorney General Weeks holds the provision of the law penalizing insurance companies for failing to report at a certain time each year, as to their financial condition, does not make it mandatory upon the commissioner to order that they cease operating in the state while the default continues. Many of the companies are only a day or two late with their reports.

Mr. Preus also asked the attorney general if the fine of $100 a day for each day's delay in reporting can be enforced. The total amount, extending over a period of three years, is $138,000. This matter has not been passed upon.

OPEN SHOP FIGHT.

Little Change in Labor Situation at Fargo, N. D.

Fargo, N. D., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—There has been no change in the local labor situation between the master builders and the building trades unions over the open shop. There is considerable bitterness over the manner in which the union men were so frequently called off jobs last summer for what the local contractors insist was without justification. They claim they lost money by the actions of the union men and that in the future they will do what they can under the open shop plan and if they are unable to secure the contracts in that manner they will let them go rather than take work and be treated by the union workers as they were last year.

As the result of the differences between the contractors and the workers a number of union carpenters and brick masons have removed to other cities.

TO MEET AT FARGO

Sons of Norway to Gather Before Sailing for Old Country.

Fargo, N. D., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a curtain raiser for the trip to be taken to Norway in June to attend the centenary exercises and the Norwegian exposition, the Sons of Norway have decided to hold a big celebration in Fargo May 17. There will be a meeting this evening to complete the preliminary plans. There will be prominent speakers, several bands, a parade, with ceremonies in the park, athletic contests and a grand ball. The three Norwegian statues here will be decorated.

WILL INSPECT SITE.

Governor Agent to Look Over Offer at Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., March 6.—Postmaster Anton Erickson has received information from B. R. Newton, assistant secretary of the treasury department at Washington that J. R. Robinson has been designated as site agent to inspect the properties offered for sale to the government for the proposed Bemidji Federal building. No date for the Bemidji inspection was given, but Mr. Robinson will arrive here as soon as his work will permit.

Isanti Bank to Build.

Isanti, Minn., March 6.—At a meeting of the directors of the Security bank this week it was decided to purchase the Albert Carlson lots as a site for the new bank building. The property has a frontage of fifty feet on the south side of Main street, west of the postoffice, and is at present occupied by Miss Hulda Carlson's restaurant and the Northwestern and Tri-State telephone exchanges. Mr. Carlson will remove the buildings to other lots early in the spring, and work on the erection of the new bank building will commence as soon as possible.

New Grafton, N. D., Hotel.

Grafton, N. D., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new brick hotel is to be erected in Grafton. If no individual takes up the proposition a stock company will be organized for that purpose. Grafton has two hotels, both of which have excellent service, but the buildings are not new and the public demand for a modern structure is very pronounced. The site most favored is a lot between the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern depots. This would be convenient to the trains and also to the business session.

Many New Corporations.

Bismarck, N. D., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another record month for new corporations is reported by Secretary of State Thomas Hall, showing new concerns chartered which have a total capitalization of $595,000.

During the last three months there has been remarkable activity in the matter of launching new business enterprises, satisfactory business prospects being responsible for the steps taken.

Of the new corporations, only two are banks, being the First State Bank of Crystal Springs, and the Dawson State Bank of Dawson, both in Kidder county.

Pair Not Murdered.

Minot, N. D., March 6.—The coroner's jury investigating the deaths of Spera Zivau and John Glamouis, Greeks, returned verdicts of accidental death. The disappearance of some silver money, which both were known to have possessed, is still troubling officials. Greek friends of the men are confident they were murdered and are beginning an investigation of their own.

Two Italians, held pending the investigation, were released.

For School Consolidation.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A week's campaign of rural schools will be conducted in Grand Forks county during the first part of April, the plan for the propaganda being under the direction of Miss Beatrice Johnstone, superintendent of schools, and N. C. Macdonald, rural school inspector.

Northwestern authorities on the question of school consolidation will be speakers at the meetings, twelve of which will be held, and which are aimed at getting in touch with every district school officer in the county.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—The infant child, a boy, 1 month old, of Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Ward, died March 4, at the home of Mrs. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace, at 506 Third stret. The funeral was held at the residence, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Oscar Skogland, a transient, was sentenced to serve a term of thirty days in the Grand Forks county jail by Judge Phil McLoughlin on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by M. Smith, a farmer living in the western part of the county, who was in the city en route to the woods to bring his horses back to the farm.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Mike Mitche, a Bulgarian boy 13 years of age, was arrested on a charge of looting outside paper mail and stealing a pouch containing mail and papers. When arrested the youth admitted having stolen packages containing Sunday papers from the Milwaukee passenger station and dug up a mail pouch hid in a shed which he confessed having stolen from the depot.

Fargo, N. D.—The meeting of the North Dakota Telephone association will be held here at the Fargo Commercial club, March 25 and 26.

Churchs Ferry, N. D.—Mrs. Ole O. Underberg died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Castel, at the age of 88 years, 7 months and 18 days. She was helpless for some time prior to her death.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Local Elks are planning a monster minstrel show to be put on during the month of April, under the direction of Holly and Anne Sheppard, whose productions throughout this part of the country have given them a wide reputation.

Fargo, N. D.—William Jackson and his wife, colored, who were arrested here last spring for conducting an opium joint, were released from jail Tuesday. Jackson has been confined in the Grand Forks jail and his wife at Devils Lake.

Grandin, N. D.—The Grandin Cooperative store, owned and operated by the farmers, held a meeting and decided to have a sale and close out the entire business.

Elgin, N. D.—A meeting of the farmers of this section will be held here Saturday for the purpose of organizing a Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company.

Fargo, N. D.—Caroline Topp, the 12-year-old daughter of Gustave Topp, a well-known farmer of Grace City, died March 4 at a local hospital. She was the eldest of five children. The body was taken to Grace City, and the funeral will be held there on Saturday.

Benedict, N. D.—A lodge of Rebekahs was instituted with twenty-nine members. Of the twenty-nine members, seventeen were initiated into the assembly. Mrs. Clara Schrepel was the presiding noble grand during the ceremony of the institution.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—Governor McGovern has commuted the sentence of Dr. A. R. Law of this city, now serving in the state prison at Waupun, from six years to three years. Dr. Law was convicted in the fall of 1912 by a jury in the circuit court for Dane county of manslaughter in the second degree for causing the death of Anna O'Brien by a criminal operation. The case was taken to the supreme court.

Green Bay—Alleging that an X-ray machine burned a deep hole in his hip, Andrew Brickner of Oconto brought suit for $20,000 against two physicians, H. P. Rhode, Green Bay, and P. F. Gaunt of Oconto, in circuit court here. Brickner claims he will be crippled for life.

Oconomowoc—The annual Percheron dispersion sale at Fred Pabst's Oconomowoc lake farm March 2 drew over 1,000 visitors. Sixty head of imported and home-bred Percherons were sold, the total sales amounting to $25,010.

Milwaukee—D. Milton Jones, aged 53, accountant and prominent member of the Masonic lodge, died suddenly March 4. Mr. Jones was born in Utica, N. Y. He is survived by his widow and a brother in Chicago. He had resided in Milwaukee for sixteen years, coming here from Chicago. Mr. Jones was a thirty-second degree Mason and a member of Tripoli temple of Shriners.

Madison — Under the direction of Prof. Ely of the university an Irish library is to be started at the historical library. About $500 has been subscribed for books and other Irish material. An Irish society has been formed among the students, and will hold a big celebration on St. Patrick's day.

Bangor—Awakened by flames and smoke in her room, Mrs. D. A. Taylor had just time to seize her baby and escape from the room, clad in her night dress, to a neighbor's home. The house was partially burned.

Madison—A meeting of the university branch of the East Division High School Alumni association elected the following officers: Frank Downey, president; Elsie Peters, vice president, and Gordon Klapp, secretary-treasurer.

Neenah—Seymour P. Smith, 92 years old, the oldest resident of this city, is dead. Pneumonia was the cause of death. Mr. Smith was born in Otisco, N. Y., in 1821, and had been a resident of Neenah forty-seven years. Surviving are a sister and two daughters.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—The Marquette fire department elected officers as follows: Assistant chief, James J. Donovan; second assistant, Martin Delaney; captain, M. V. Mullaly; first assistant captain, P. L. Hopkins; lieutenant, Malcolm Bell; secretary and treasurer, John Siegel. Company No. 2—First assistant captain, Frank La Bonte; second assistant captain, F. V. McGuire; lieutenant, Joseph Love.

Hancock—Announcement is made of the coming marriage of Thomas Tippett, formerly of Quincy, and Miss Flossie Dowdrick of Marquette on March 12. Thomas Tippett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Tippett of the Quincy location. Miss Dowdrick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dowdrick.

Marquette—Miss Marian Hathway and Miss Alida Anderson will represent the Marquette high school in the sub-district oratorical and declamatory contest which is to be held at Negaunee the latter part of this month.

Hancock—P. S. Barton has arrived in Hancock to assume the duties of chief gunner's mate on the training ship Yantic. He came from a receiving ship at Norfolk. Barton has been in the service many years. He succeeds J. S. Quinsburg of similar rank, who had been aboard the Yantic since last November. Quinsburg has been ordered to a receiving ship at Norfolk.

Manistique—D. E. Franklin of the U. S. S. Michigan writes George E. Holbein of Manistique from Guantanamo bay, Cuba, that a party of sailors from the ship intend to spend September in camp at some point in the Upper peninsula, and makes inquiry concerning conditions and attractions. The jackies want a place where they can obtain fish, boats and a cabin.

Hancock—The Building & Loan association has changed its name to the Detroit & Northern Michigan Building & Loan association. W. H. Faucett, Charles Smith, W. H. Thielman, W. B. Hoar and C. D. Hanchette were elected directors for three years, and the following officers were elected: President, S. B. Harris; vice presidents, Henry L. Baer and P. H. Paine; secretary-treasurer and attorney, C. Hanchette.

Calumet—There were forty-five births in Calumet township during the month of February, comparing with twenty-three births in January.

All Clogged Up? Here's Quick Relief

A Simple Remedy to Correct Constipation Before It Becomes Chronic.

Very few people go through life without some time or other being troubled with constipation. Thousands injure themselves by the use of strong cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and similar things. They have temporary value in some cases, it is true, but the good effect is soon lost, and the more one takes of them the less effective they become.

A physic or purgative is seldom necessary, and much better and more permanent results can be obtained by using a scientific remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It does not hide behind a high sounding name, but is what it is represented to be, a mild laxative medicine. It is so mild that thousands of mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet it is so compounded, and contains such definite ingredients that it will have equally good effect when used by a person suffering from the worst chronic constipation. In fact, among the greatest endorsers of Syrup Pepsin are elderly people who have suffered for years and found nothing to benefit them until they took Syrup Pepsin.

It is a fact that millions of families have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, homes like those of Mr. H. W. Fenstermaker, Siegfried, Pa. He says he had had wonderful results from the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, that, in fact, he has never found a remedy so good, and he is glad to recommend it. The special value of this grand laxative tonic is that it is suited to the needs of every member of the family. It is pleasant-tasting, mild and non-griping. Unlike harsh physics, it works gradually and in a very brief time the stomach and bowel muscles are trained to do their work naturally again, when all medicines can be dispensed with.

MR. H. W. FENSTERMAKER.

You can obtain a bottle at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar. The latter size is usually bought by families who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

HOW THE WOMEN OF VIENNA OBTAIN THEIR PERFECT BUST DEVELOPMENT

Dr. Colonnay of the Faculty of Medicine, Paris, Dispels Many Popular Illusions and Upsets All Previous Theories Regarding Rapid Development of the Bust—Why Costly Avertised Methods Fail.

How Any Woman May Now Develop Her Bust at Least Six Inches in 30 Days Without Exercises, Massage, Prescriptions, Apparatus or Any Similar Expensive, Inconvenient and Harmful Methods—The Simple Home Method Used by the Women of Vienna Fully Explained Below for the Benefit of Herald Readers:

"No matter whether a woman be young or old, nor what her condition of health may be, I firmly believe that in this treatment she has an infallible method for developing and beautifying her bust." Thus speaks no less an authority than Dr. Colonnay, of the Faculty of Medicine, Paris, regarding the remarkable method of natural bust development first used in this country by Mlle. Margaret Merlain, who until a short time ago was so thin and emaciated as to appear almost cadaverous. Her cheeks were horribly sunken, her neck, shoulders, and chest showed scraggy outlines of the bones, and her bust was absolutely flat and undeveloped. In startling contrast with her former self Mlle. Merlain is now proud possessor of face and neck with full and softly-rounded contour, her bust has been developed six inches until it is perfectly firm and exactly the right proportions, and her entire form has the symmetry and youthful grace of outline which excites the admiration and envy of every woman with an angular, masculine figure. A bustless and undeveloped woman always appears utterly lacking in the most essential attribute of feminine attractiveness, without which distinguishing feature she appears to be incomplete. But at last there has been discovered a means whereby any woman can quickly and easily obtain a superb and beautiful bust.

Best of all, every woman has at hand, in the strict privacy of her own home, facilities for obtaining the same results which Mlle. Merlain and several of her friends have found so simple and easy of accomplishment. There are no prescriptions to have filled, no apparatus or appliance to buy, no time-wasting exercises, massage or similar worthless advertised methods to use. In short, Mlle. Merlain has nothing whatever to sell you, and all you need to do is to send for the book she has just published. By sending the coupon below as evidence that you are a reader of The Herald, you can obtain one of these books absolutely free of cost, for arrangements have just been made to distribute 1,000 regular copies as a special advertising and introductory offer. At present the books are not for sale, but you can obtain one in exchange for the attached coupon, with the understanding that you will recommend the method to others after you find it entirely satisfactory yourself, and also write Mlle. Merlain a confidential letter testifying to what the method has done for you. Postage on a letter to England is only two cents. Send no money for the book, for it is entirely free, but if convenient two two-cent stamps may be enclosed for return postage. There is no agreement to sign, and sending for the book places you under no obligation whatever.

CAREER OF SERVICE ENDS

Miss Julia Calverley, Dean of Duluth School Teachers, Dies.

Many Prominent Duluthians Received Early Training at Her Hands.

Miss Julia Calverley, Duluth's pioneer school teacher and the first to be placed on a pension by the school board after a continuous service of nearly thirty years, which ended about five years ago, died at 7 o'clock this morning at 616 East First street, where she had been making her home with her sisters, Miss Belle Calverley, principal of the Jefferson school, and Miss Fannie Calverley of the Endion school.

Miss Calverley was born in Superior in 1856 and began teaching school when but 17 years of age. She first taught at Houghton, Mich., and later at Superior. When her parents moved to Duluth, she began teaching here and was the dean of teachers at the time of her retirement about five years ago, when she was placed on a pension. She was at that time teaching at the Washington school.

Many Duluthians now prominent in the business and social life of this city, remember Miss Calverley when they attended school in the nineties. She had made an enviable record while teaching and was endeared to hundreds of Duluth residents.

Her mother died here eleven years and her father nine years ago. She is survived by three brothers and two sisters, who are: Miss Belle Calverley, principal of the Jefferson school; Miss Fannie Calverley, teacher at the Endion school; Ned of Duluth; W. D., Houghton, Mich.; and George, Calumet, Mich.

About five years ago Miss Calverley retired from active teaching on account of illness. About three weeks ago she was taken seriously ill with pneumonia, ending in her untimely death early this morning.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the residence, with interment at the Forest Hill cemetery.

BRITONS LAUD U. S. PRESIDENT

matic phrases or make-believe arguments to save the faces of their governments, or to conceal from their own public that they are proposing a change of policy.

"It is a great example. If the people of the United States respond to it as we feel confident they will do, they will have done much more than adjust the difference between them and us with regard to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. They will have set a precedent of profound importance to the whole world."

Referring to President Wilson's mention of "other matters of even greater delicacy," the Westminster Gazette says:

"We understand the allusion, and think it right to say at once that Mr. Wilson's handling of this question greatly facilitates quiet consideration of the other and more delicate questions here alluded to."

On Subject of Benton.

On the subject of William S. Benton, the British rancheman killed at Juarez, the same newspaper says:

"When we are dealing with a man of such manifest uprightness and good will as President Wilson, we shall certainly not expect our government to force those issues in a chop-logical and contentious spirit. * * * The only material point for us to consider is whether, if the United States were non-existent in this affair, we could do anything better for ourselves than it is endeavoring to do for us. To that question there is none but a negative answer.

"We greatly deprecate all efforts in this country to force the United States into an adventurous policy out of keeping with President Wilson's ideas."

"Sweetens the Atmosphere."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "President Wilson's action sweetens the atmosphere of international relations between us and our kin on the other side of the Atlantic. We may question, if we will, the wisdom with which the high moral principle guiding President Wilson has been applied to Mexican questions and others, but in all matters we shall henceforth feel confidence that insofar as he controls affairs of state, they will be conducted as by one who, having sworn unto his neighbor, 'disappointeth him not though it were his own hindrance.'

"While acceptance of the invitation to participate in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco would be incomparable in magnitude with the high-minded act of President Wilson, the British government has it in its hands to give a token of reciprocal good will."

The Globe, the Evening Standard and the Liverpool Post likewise applaud President Wilson's message and urge the British government to reciprocate by accepting the invitation to take part officially in the San Francisco exposition.

An Inspiration.

The Evening Star, in an editorial article, characterizes President Wilson's message as one of the most noble acts of statesmanship in the history of nations.

"The message," it says, "is the most splendid memorial that could be devised for the worthy celebration of the centenary of peace between the United States and Great Britain. It sets President Wilson for all time in the high rank of great American presidents, whose names are an inspiration to democracy on both sides of the Atlantic."

The Star urges the British government to reciprocate by reversing its decision not to participate in the San Francisco exposition.

ATTACKS ON TRAINS IN COPPER COUNTRY DESCRIBED IN PROBE

witnesses before the committee to answer charges of misconduct preferred against its members by copper mine strikers.

O. N. Hilton objected to testimony regarding the general conduct of the soldiers, claiming that it should be limited to a reply to the specific instances of "cruelty and misconduct" which had been cited. The committee expressed a willingness to hear several witnesses as to the general conduct of militiamen.

A strikers' parade more than a mile in length passed the courthouse in which the committee was meeting. No demonstration was made.

Several witnesses were introduced by the operators to refute the strikers' charges that peonage was practiced to prevent workmen from deserting.

Denied Peonage Charges.

William Edwards, who was brought here from Detroit among a trainload of strikebreakers early in January, contradicted the testimony of Herbert Shann, that he was prevented by armed men from leaving the train at Saginaw. He said that he was in the same car with Shann and that the latter left the train at Saginaw with eight or ten others to get some lunch. No effort was made by the guard to restrain them. The witness said he found conditions here were as Potter represented and he felt that he was free to leave at any time. He was put to work on a one-man drill in the Isle Royale mine. He said he was satisfied with the work.

William Kerdinsky, a former student in the University of Paris, now working as a trammer in Quincy mine, testified the work was the best he had had in America. He was hired through an employment agency in New York several months ago. He felt that he was able to leave at any time.

"Came Over on Boat."

"Did you come over to this country on your own notion?" asked Congressman Switzer.

"No, sir. I came on an American boat," was the answer.

Questioned further the witness said he had come to the United States of his own volition because he lacked funds to continue his studies.

Eric Bamberg said that he came to the mines to make a home for his parents. He declared that a striker offered him $10 and a trip to Chicago to quit.

A score of the strike-breakers testified that they had signed contracts to come here to work as trammers at $2.50 a day. Many of them said that they had only worked a short time before they were put on drills and paid from $8 to $3.50 a day.

are found in the department, to that board they will be assigned. Another board will take the place of the visitors to state institutions and also investigate the field of social ailments and a board of public welfare. Another will make health regulations, another determine labor questions. But in each case the head of the department runs the department and is responsible to the appointing power. The board is there only for advisory or regulative duty.

The Board of Education.

With two exceptions, education, the commission holds, is different in its nature from government. There it is proposed to create a single board to unify the educational policy of the state, and to divide the board into smaller groups to act as directors of the university, of the state school system and of the normal board, leaving to the large board only the broadest questions. In education it is proposed to let the board be directors of the executive officers.

The other exception is in the railroad and warehouse commission, a tribunal, which the commission finds doing certain executive duties and to which it proposes to leave grain inspection. It is admitted that to turn over those executive duties to an executive department would be more logical; but because the system is established, because Minnesota grades have a national significance, because the railroad commission has emphatically made a good job of it, the commission is disposed to sacrifice logic to the existing situation and to tradition.

Departures From the Scheme.

Tradition is responsible for two minor departures from the general scheme. One is the historical society. left blooming alone in the diagram. The other is the soldiers' home. Everywhere else, whatever body exercises state authority or spends state money, is to be attached more or less intimately to the executive government of the state.

This is the outline. The commission believes these should be the departments, each with a single executive head and that every function listed on the statute books or the appropriation rolls can find an appropriate place in one of these departments.

To test it by the criticism of the present executives and to plan the internal machinery of the departments is the next task of the commission.

statute books and business morals were at low ebb. He vigorously refuted charges that the Chicago board participated in monopolistic operations.

Charges that growers were damaged through the process of mixing grains, he declared, are a "base slander on honest grain inspectors." He read telegrams from buyers saying they found nothing unsatisfactory in the Illinois inspection.

Miller Defends Duluth Board.

Representative Miller of Duluth appeared before the committee and stated that the Duluth board of trade would welcome a fair and impartial inquiry into its affairs and business methods.

"The Duluth board of trade," said Mr. Miller, "did not send a committee here to attend this hearing, but is willing to do so if their presence is desired. We take the position that we welcome any legitimate inquiry into the business methods, transactions and general policy of the board and its members. We know nothing about the methods of other grain exchanges, but for myself I can say that, with an experience extending over some years, and having followed two investigations, the Duluth board of trade is absolutely free from gambling and is of the utmost value to the grain producers of the Northwest, giving them an absolutely square deal in grain transactions at a minimum of expense and a maximum of efficiency. Everything respecting the working of the Duluth board of trade is open to examination and inspection.

"If an investigation should be ordered we recommend an investigation of all grain exchanges in the United States by a competent and impartial committee."

Mere Place of Trading.

Attorney Robbins told the committee that the organizations were not and could not be involved in any grain monopoly, because they were not engaged as organizations in commercial enterprises. He declared the exchange merely provided places and means of trading, but took no part in the deals.

Mr. Robbins argued that congress had no power to conduct the investigation proposed in Representative Manahan's pending resolution to gather information on which prosecutions under the Sherman law by the department of justice might be based. The department, he said, already was "efficient enough" and state laws covered all points in the complaint of farmers' organizations not to be reached by the Sherman act.

In his opening statement, Mr. Robbins contended strongly that the Federal government had no jurisdiction over terminal grain elevators because they were not engaged in interstate business. Prohibition of future trading in grain, he argued, also was beyond the constitutional powers of congress.

Future Dealings Intrastate.

He declared that the future dealings were intrastate, and cited opinions of the supreme court to support the contention. Brokers' wires were not common carriers, he said, and in certain cases the court had held cotton contracts made between Alabama and New York brokers not to be interstate commerce.

It would be impossible, Mr. Robbins added for an exchange to eliminate from its future trades those that were purely gambling. Either all future dealings must be prohibited, he said, or the subject let alone. He insisted that the whole system of distributing farm products was necessarily a speculative one, and the present method had persisted because it was the best one yet found.

BRITISH-AMERICAN PROBE INTO BENTON'S DEATH IS UNLIKELY

road engineer believed to have been slain by bandits or rebels in Mexico, and for whom the state department at Washington was conducting a search, is alive and well. This news was received here today by an attorney in whose hands Mrs. McCarthy had placed the quest for her husband's fate.

The information came from New Orleans and said McCarthy had been located there. It gave details of his narrow escape from being slain in the wilds of Huerta's domain, but said he got away with his life, though seriously injured.

Works Plays Policy.

Washington, March 6.—Predicting that the Mexican situation is a matter with which the United States shall be forced to deal in some decisive way, and that very soon, Senator Works, Republican of California, sharply criticized the Mexican policy of the administration today in a speech in the senate.

"We may be forced yet," he said, "to intervene in some form in Mexico. If we do, it should not be for the aggrandizement of our country, the acquisition of territory or any other advantage to us, but in the interest of the Mexican people and others resident there; the restoration of peace and order, and the establishment of a stable government for our sister republic."

To speak of the relations of the United States with Mexico, Senator Works asserted, was an unpleasant task.

"Dark Page In Our History."

"It is a dark page in our history," he continued. "Unless the American people shall have lost all virility, courage and patriotism, it will be read in the years to come with sorrow and shame. For three long years American citizens have been murdered, their wives and daughters outraged, their homes pillaged and their property destroyed, and this administration has done nothing more than to enter occasional mild protests and submissive appeals—and to whom? Huerta, whose government we had refused to recognize, and who, according to our view, had no power nor authority to act. To Villa, not recognized as a belligerent, not even a soldier, but a brigand and murderer of the innocent people! To Carranza, a weakling dominated by Villa and equally without authority! What had we a right to expect from protests and appeals made to such as these?"

Outlined Events.

Senator Works outlined the events in the history of Mexico leading up to the present difficulties and the refusal of this government to recognize Huerta after the assassination of Madero, "doubtless by Huerta, who succeeded him, or with his knowledge and connivance." After the withdrawal of Ambassador Wilson from Mexico, Senator Works declared, referring to the sending of John Lind to Mexico City, there "commenced a series of conduct of a kind wholly unknown to diplomacy and so absurd as to make us ridiculous at home and abroad."

The demand of the president in his message to Huerta that there should be an armistice could not have been complied with, the senator continued, and the demand that security be given for a free election in Mexico was impossible of fulfillment because of the ignorance of the Mexican masses. Such an election, he declared, "probably would have brought about the election of a bull fighter for president."

When Huerta Refused.

"Naturally, Huerta refused to consider these proposals," continued the senator. "What else could have been expected? His refusal put us in a most unfortunate position. It could not enforce demand. It might go to war, but refusal to comply with the demands could furnish no justification for declaring war, because we had no right to make them. So we had to submit tamely to the position of Huerta, bear the sneers of the Mexican people and the indulgent smiles of all the nations of the world. And, whatever may be said of Huerta in other respects—and I have no disposition to defend him—he did bear himself with courage, wisdom and moderation in this whole matter.

"At last a prominent British subject was brutally murdered by Villa, or by his orders. Public indignation ran high. The people were aroused, but the state department maintained its usual degree of composure. I do not know why the murder of a citizen of Great Britain should have created more feeling than the assassination of hundreds of our own people, except that we have assumed to be the protector of citizens and subjects of all other nations, and insisted that such nations should leave this duty and responsibility to us. It therefore involves the question of our good faith toward other nations when we allow their people to be slaughtered in Mexico.

"Humbly Petitioned Villa."

"This case was one to put our good faith and our courage to the test. The poor widow asked for the body of her dead husband, buried on Mexican soil. And what did our government do to secure this right? It humbly petitioned Villa, his murderer, to allow his remains to be removed. The state department spent days in trying to find out whether this man was shot by Villa or put to death by order of a drum-head court-martial, called, not by a soldier, not by a belligerent, but by a brigand and a professional murderer.

"What possible difference whether he lost his life one way or another. This sorrowing widow was left waiting for her dead. What should have the government done in the case? Just what it should have done for one of its own citizens—sent our soldiers into Mexico and brought out the body. What right has Villa to say that the body of the victim of his wrath and cruelty should be removed or not? What has become of our courage and manhood that we could leave it to him to settle such a question?"

ELLIS LIKTS THE VERDICT

old. Mrs. Ellis was a beautiful woman and the mother of two little daughters, Eleanor and Violet, 8 and 2 years old.

Found With the Body.

Ellis killed his wife in their local hotel room some time in the night of Oct. 15 or the early morning hours of Oct. 16. He was found with the body the afternoon of Oct. 16. Ellis was then clad in his trousers, undergarments and his wife's kimono. His neck and wrists were bloody, where he had slashed himself with a penknife. He was trying to light a cigar, and his first act was to ask the house detective for a match.

Mrs. Ellis' body was lying on the bed in its nightdress. It was stone cold. Several bullets had been fired into her left side, and her neck had been gashed from side to side down to the spinal column. The window curtain, telephone receiver, bureau and chairs and other objects handled by Ellis during the long hours he passed with the corpse were bloodied by his fingers.

Claimed Suicide Pact.

Ellis' first assertion was that the killing was the result of a suicide agreement entered into by his wife and himself because of his business troubles. He insisted that she had killed herself and that he had then attempted to kill himself, but had failed. The tragedy took place, he said, after they had decided that life was hopeless for them.

Ellis' story began to break down when the story of his jealousy of Cauldwell escaped him. Before the coroner's jury he stated formally, after witnesses had testified that Mrs. Ellis' wounds could not have been self-inflicted, that he had killed his wife as she lay in bed, unsuspecting. He declared that she was "the best and purest woman in the world" and that he had no reason to suspect her. Denials were received from Cauldwell in Canada that he had been in communication with Mrs. Ellis, and Ellis was taken to the jail hospital. His wounds proved to be slight.

Kissed Wife's Body.

Before leaving the coroner's jury room, Ellis asked to be permitted to take a farewell view of his wife's body. He was brought to where it lay on the undertaker's slab, and he repeatedly kissed her cold lips.

Ellis' story to the coroner's jury of how he lay all night after the murder, kissing and caressing the corpse, horrified all who heard it. Throughout the recital he sat half stupefied, as if overwhelmed by his deed.

Soon after he began to regain his health in the jail hospital, however, Ellis expressed a desire to live "for the sake of his children," and it became apparent that his counsel strenuously would resist conviction for murder.

Prominent among those who attended the trial were the 77-year-old father of Mrs. Ellis and his venerable wife, who were roused to make the journey from Cincinnati for the purpose of defending the reputation of their daughter, attacked in Ellis' assertion of his jealousy.

The "transitory insanity" defense, later modified to "psycich epilepsy," was fiercely attacked by alienists called by the state.

A tragic moment in the trial was when a copy of a telegram signed "E. H. Ellis" and sent to Fred Cauldwell was read. The message said that the sender would be in Chicago for a few days.

WORKS DISAPPROVES PRESIDENT'S COURSE.

Washington, March 6.—Emphatic disapproval of the administration, the legislation which it has passed and of what he called the "coercion used by President Wilson to compel action by congress," was voiced in the senate today by Senator Works of California, in delivering what he termed a "friendly" review of the achievements of the executive and legislative branches of the government in the "one year of Democratic rule."

A year of almost continuous congressional session, "mostly for the political advantage of the Democratic party," was declared to be the most striking feature of the administration.

END INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, GAS, SOUR STOMACH --- PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Time It! In Five Minutes Your Upset Stomach Will Feel Fine.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store, and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach, all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

GRAIN TRADERS SEEK "PLUMS"

All Want Jobs When They Read Groundless Report That Julius H. Barnes Will Run for Congress.

In its issue of today the Labor World published by W. E. McEwen, says that Julius H. Barnes, head of the Ames-Brooks company in the Board of Trade building, and chairman of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, is being talked about for congress.

In addition to this Mr. McEwen questions the advisability of such a candidacy and wants to know Mr. Barnes' attitude on certain public questions.

The announcement caused a good deal of amusement on the trading floor of the board of trade and Mr. Barnes was besieged in a joking way for jobs in the national capital. There was scarcely a trader, big or little who did not ask for a clerkship or something. Mr. Barnes took the matter good naturedly and promised everybody a job. He was asked if he would care to make a statement in reply to the semi-announcement.

"I don't know of anything that I need say," said Mr. Barnes. "Those who know me are fully aware that I would not become a candidate for any political office, congressman least of all. It seems extraordinary that when a man has performed some public service that it should be taken for granted that he is a candidate for some office or other. I certainly am not a candidate and will not be. I am glad to be able to do anything for Duluth and her business interests at any time that I can, but I don't need to hold office to do it."

Great New Food Discovery

One of the most healthful of all grains that has never been used for food satisfactorily. This is flax. Flax has native oiling and healing properties which are invaluable to the stomach. Many physicians for years have prescribed for children and older patients suffering from digestion troubles, a porridge containing flax. The Roman soldiers, who were marvels of endurance, ate no meat, but lived on wheat and rye with flax added as a conditioner. The Romans fed their workmen quantities of flax not only for its food value but because, as our own farmers well know, it kept them in normal, healthy condition.

The reason millers have not given us flax mixed with wheat or other grains is because of its objectionable taste. It is left to a Pacific Coast physician to find a process of giving flax a rich, delightful flavor. This new flax-food is called flaxose. It is to be hoped that American millers will lose no time in giving us this new food-laxative in practical form, which will bring to the family table the unmatched diet of the sturdy Roman soldiers. The world has already waited too long for flaxose, for nine-tenths of our people are today suffering from indigestion and its train of troubles.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

STANISLAUS ZBYSZKO did two hours of road work yesterday in preparation for the meeting of this evening with Jess Westergaard. The Tall Swede of Des Moines worked fast enough yesterday to keep those large and supple muscles in working order. Neither of the giants did anything today in the line of exercise; both are fit and ready for one gruelling mat battle.

In the meeting of these two men, two of the greatest matmen of the world are coming together. As Gotch stood above all of the other Americans of the mat, so Jess Westergaard has come to be looked upon as the American wrestler most competent to carry the robes of American supremacy.

Also with Gotch out of the running there is no room for argument over the wonderful fitness of Zbyszko as the most conspicuous figure in the wrestling world. There have been literal loads of lemons sent across the sea to reap the harvest of the American dollar, but in Stanislaus Zbyszko, postoffice address, Poland, Europe has sent to these ofttime hospitable shores the greatest wrestler in many respects of any in the world, and one of the most remarkable athletic freaks of all time.

Sandow, Louis Cyr and other huge muscled athletes have been possessed of superhuman strength; but it has been a matter of record that outside of some well rehearsed tricks these men were of little practical value as athletes.

In the case of the ponderous Pole it is quite different. In addition to the irresistible strength of Zbyszko, there is the superhuman endurance and the supple muscles that have enabled this man to travel through four of the most wonderful tours that have ever been accomplished by any wrestler in the history of any athletic game.

In these four or five campaigns that have carried the human bear to all parts of the world, he has wrestled the toughest men in the world. And with the single exception of Gotch no man has ever beaten the big Pole.

In Westergaard the best of all the wrestlers in the land has been secured to meet Zbyszko. The big Swede is right: is fit, in fact, to make the showing of his career, and if ever a contest bore the earmarks of ripe promise, this is the one.

In Ketonen and Sailor Jack the fans are going to have the classiest advance match that ever paved appetites for larger doings.

The fans here know the sailor is one tough mat nut, and if Ketonen is not all that has been claimed for him at various times, there will be another athletic upset of large proportions.

From his looks the sailor is right—and when he is right there are precious few that can beat him in any length of time.

They Won't Believe It.

ONCE there was an old woman. What about it? Well wait. This old woman went to a circus and gazed with wonder and her two dim old eyes at a giraffe. In long and awed wonderment the elderly lady stood. Then she turned to the partner of her joys and sorrows and declared:

"There ain't no such an animal!"

From the range comes the story that Pal Brown was not beaten on the square—or that he failed to win a victory. In other words, Bill, some of the fight fans from that more or less primitive section of the country came down and saw the battle and then declared that there could be no such result.

It's pretty small to say that Brown did not do his best. It is a greater discredit to the boy than saying he was fairly and honestly beaten.

There have been other boys before who have met with surprises—this is no time in this complicated civilization of the twentieth century to say that so utterly unexpected a result as the Brown-Tillman one could not occur.

We have known for years that some of the fans on the range believed implicitly that Pal Brown was almost incapable of encountering defeat. In our humble opinion he was not beaten in last Tuesday's encounter. Two of our contemporaries disagree with our viewpoint. Be that as it may, the potent and ever recurring fact remains that Brown did not win—and that fact should not be made the excuse to say that the iron ore scrapper did not try—he did.

Serious Matters Up Before Baseball Magnates in All Leagues—Open Season for Players.

New York, March 6.—Behind the welcome being extended today to the returned world touring Giants and White Sox more serious matters having to do with plans for war against the new Federal league occupied the attention of the men high in the councils of organized baseball.

At the National league meeting final disposition of Evers' case was expected to be announced during the day. The report that Charles P. Taft, who purchased the holdings of Charles W. Murphy in the Chicago Cubs, was expected to arrive in town during the day to treat with would-be purchasers, added interest to what action the National league directors would take with reference to the future ownership of the Chicago club.

The vacancy on the directorate caused by the retirement of Murphy was another matter for consideration.

An informal meeting of the national commission was also said to be one of the chief features of the day. The members of the commission—President Tener of the National league, President Johnson of the American league and Garry Herrmann, the chairman—are in the city. The commission, it is said, has taken over the management of the fight against Federal league invasion, and today the supreme court of baseball is expected to hold conferences with officials of the minor organizations here to join in the welcoming to the returning tourists.

The stand taken by Ban Johnson of war to the finish against the Federal league indicated today that the head of the American league intended to call all National league club owners and officials to account for dickering with the so-called outlaws over players, who, it is alleged, have violated contracts or ignored accepted terms. The meeting yesterday of William F. Baker of the Philadelphia club and James Gaffney of the Boston club with President Gilmore for the purpose, was denounced by President Johnson in no uncertain terms.

President Ban Johnson of the American league came into the city on the same train today with President Gilmore of the Federal organization. Last night brought President Tener of the National league to the city.

The Chicago friends of President Comiskey, eighty in number, also arrived yesterday and registered at the hotel where Ban Johnson is making his headquarters.

CENTRAL WILL MEET NORMAL

Basket Ball Quints Will Play Across the Bay.

This evening at the gymnasium of the Superior Normal school the basket ball team of Duluth Central high will meet the Normal school quint. The game is the second of the season, the Central boys losing the initial contest early in the present year.

Coach Schilling's men have improved considerably since the early part of the season. All of the members of the team are practically green men and it has required time and a lot of coaching to whip the team in shape. The high school boys are expected to put up the best article of basket ball of the year.

While the record this season has not been an impressive one, the high school boys have done all that could be reasonably expected of a team whose members are playing their first year.

Following is the lineup:

Monte Cross Says Harry Fritz Is a Young La Joie.

Chicago, March 6.—Monte Cross joined the Federal league umpires here yesterday and brought with him a high testimonial for Harry Fritz, third baseman for the Wilmington tri-state league team, who is sought by Manager Tinker of the local club. According to Cross, Fritz is a "young La Joie."

President Weeghman of the local club did not go to New York after all with the rest of the Federal leaguers, having found business enough here to keep him busy. President Gilmore of the league will represent the Chicago club in negotiations with the returning world touring ball players.

BUYS PITTSBURG FEDERAL CLUB

Smoky City Capitalist Buys Interest of Kerr and Barbour.

New York, March 6.—Edward D. Gwynner, a Pittsburg capitalist, has purchased a controlling interest in the Pittsburg club of the Federal league, according to a report in baseball circles. William S. Kerr, a Pittsburg contractor, and John R. Barbour, a broker, were the original promoters of the club.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 6.—"I have no doubt the report of the sale of the controlling interest in the club to Mr. Gwynner is true," said W. T. McCullough, secretary of the Pittsburg Federal league club, when shown a dispatch from New York that Edward Gwynner, a local capitalist, had purchased the stock held by W. A. Kerr and John R. Barbour. Mr. Kerr, who has been president of the local club is now in New York. In his absence Secretary McCullough would not confirm the reported sale, but it is believed here the report is true.

It is reported here that Mr. Gwynner, who has several other local men interested with him, will become president of the local club. Gwynner is president of the Allegheny Traction company and is heavily interested in other local corporations.

Secretary McCullough admitted negotiations for the sale of the club had been started and were practically complete when Kerr went to New York.

CAPTAIN LINDER SAYS DULUTH HAS EVEN SHOW

Curling Club Hockey Team Leader Believes His Men Can Beat the Famous Victorias of Winnipeg.

The hockey game that is scheduled for tomorrow evening between the crack Duluth Curling club team and the wonderful Victoria hockey team of Winnipeg is expected to prove the real treat of the season and to result in the greatest contest played here since the game was placed on its present basis.

A lot has been written concerning the coming encounter; however, the two most important angles are that both of the teams will be stronger than in the previous game, which was virtually the first real contest of the season. Linder's bunch is better and the Vics will present a much stronger lineup than the one that defeated us in the game that served to open the eyes of the followers of the sport.

Capt. Linder and the members of the Duluth team, knowing full well the wonderful aggregation that the Vics will start, believe that Duluth has an even chance for victory.

No hockey team in the country has shown the improvement that has marked the progress of the curling club seven since the somewhat bad start against the Vics. The improvement has been steady and reached its highest results in the two games with the All-Stars of Winnipeg.

The Linderites Strong.

Right along, Joe Linder has claimed that with a better start his team would have been returned the winner in the Western division of the American Hockey association. After considering the fact of the American Soo winning the flag in this division of the league, some of us are inclined to agree with the opinion harbored tenaciously and grimly by our gallant leader.

Be that as it may, the fact remains that in the Duluth Curling club team in its present form and the crack Vics the fans should behold one of the best games of the season and a contest that should be worth going miles to see.

Some are inclined to the belief that the Vics will again triumph. Those holding that opinion point out that if the Vics were able to defeat Duluth with a team that was weakened by substitutions, the Vics with three of the Bakers in the lineup will be able to trim the Dulutnians, no matter how much improvement the locals have accumulated.

It is the radical and often riotous difference of opinion that has caused the greatest upheavals in this world, and therefore the difference of opinion lurking around concerning the game scheduled for tomorrow evening lends interest and exceeding animation to the impending event.

MAKING THE EAST SIT UP

Order for $5,000 Worth of Shells for Duluth Boat Club Brings Stories of Fabulous Wealth Behind Club.

Coach Ten Eyck states that the even dozen racing shells that are being built at the Davy plant in Cambridge, Mass., will be shipped here some time during the present month.

The shells under construction at the present time will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000. The order is one of the largest that has ever been placed with any Eastern builder for years. In the consignment there will be four eight-oared shells, two fours, two doubles and two singles.

It is amusing to read in one of the Eastern exchanges the account of the fabulous wealth that is supposed to be behind the Duluth Boat club.

Here is what the Eaestern paper says:

"The Duluth B. C. has the backing of a group of wealthy millers in the Northwest. The proceeds from the sale of the old racing boats was only a drop in a bucket when considered as the wherewithal to purchase a new fleet with. The big wheat and grain men of Duluth are members of the club. They provided the money for the new navy. As Young Jim's crews were invariably successful when they rowed in the old and somewhat slow shells, it is expected the Duluth crews this coming season will smash all sorts of records."

LOREN CURTIS HERE.

Halsted Wrestler Wants to Get a Line on Waino Ketonen.

Loren Curtis, the farmer wrestler of Halsted, Minn., is in the city. The long freak of the mat came down to get a look at Waino Ketonen in action. Curtis wants a crack at Ketonen, just as he is anxious to meet any man in the world at the middleweight poundage.

Around the northern section of this state and through North Dakota the followers of Curtis believe that he can beat any man in the world who does not weigh more than 158 pounds.

Curtis is the same boy who beat Martin Johnson in straight falls at Grand Forks, and is on the trail for a meeting with Walter Miller.

HIBBING QUINT IS AFTER TITLE

Range Basket Ball Team Disputes Claims of Aitkin.

Coach W. H. Schilling of the Central high school is in receipt of a letter from Walter Millon, physical instructor of the Hibbing high school, in which Mr. Millon presses the claims of the Hibbing high school basket ball team as the rightful representative of the northern part of the state in the state interscholastic basket ball championships that will be competed at Northfield, Minn., this month.

It looks as if Aitkin and Hibbing are the teams best qualified to represent this part of Minnesota in the state title contest, and as the state committee will hold a meeting in Minneapolis on March 14, the matter will have to be decided soon.

Following is the record of the Hibbing high school basket ball team:

THIS LOOKS LIKE A REAL HOCKEY TEAM

Here is the way the Winnipeg Victorias will line up:

Goal—Basil Baker, age 26, weight 150 pounds. Born in Winnipeg, has played senior hockey for five years, and was with the celebrated 1911 and 1912 Allan cup holders, amateur champions of Canada. Is considered one of the best goalkeepers playing the game.

Point—Corky Fowler, age 23, weight 155 pounds. Has played senior hockey for four years, was also with the celebrated 1911-1912 Allan cup team, and is very fast and a good checker.

Cover point—Ralph Baker, age 20, weight 150 pounds, born in Winnipeg. Has been playing hockey for four or five years. Was last year substitute on the Winnipeg Allan cup team.

Left wing—Hammy Baker, age 21, weight 156 pounds. One of the most tricky and sensational players in Canada. Was also born in Winnipeg, and has played with the Victorias for five years.

Center—Francis Caldwell, age 22, weight 135 pounds. Is considered one of the best center men playing the game, and has also been with the Victorias for five years. He is also home brew.

Forward—Jack Hughes, age 23, weighs 145 pounds. Played with the Kenora team in 1910. Played with the Winnipegs in 1911-1912, joined the Victorias this season and plays position of rover.

Right wing—E. B. Paterson, age 22, weighs 145 pounds. Born in Winnipeg. Plays in the Bankers' league and on the champion intermediate Victorias. This season has acted as spare man.

Forward—Alex Romeril, age 21, weighs 155 pounds. Good hard worker. Has played with the Toronto Rowing club team, and has acted as spare man.

"TRIS" SPEAKER WON'T DESERT RED SOX.

Boston, Mass., March 6.—An intimation that "Tris" Speaker, center fielder of the Boston American league team, is not inclined to accept an offer to join the Federal league is contained in a wireless message which he sent to this city before the Lusitania docked in New York today. The message sent in response to a query whether he would sign with Boston this season was:

"Expect to be with Red Sox."

MANY ENTER ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL RACES.

Philadelphia, March 6.—Nearly 200 institutions already are entered for the annual relay races for the University of Pennsylvania on April 25, according to athletic authorities of the university. The number includes nearly all the big colleges East and West and also Oxford university of England. The captain of the English team has not yet decided whether to send a two or a four-mile relay team.

The four-mile relay race for the international championship if Oxford enters the contest, is expected to be the feature event of the meet. Pennsylvania and Chicago are entered in this race, and it is expected that two other American colleges that have fast milers will be represented.

ILLINOIS CLUB WINS.

Close Contests in Central A. A. U. Championships.

Chicago, March 6.—The two remaining events in the Central A. A. U., swimming championships were won last night by the Illinois Athletic club team in its own tank.

The victories gave the tri-color natators a total of 85 points, the Chicago Athletic association, 28; Northwestern university, 5; the University of Illinois, 3; the University of Chicago, 3; the University of Wisconsin, 3; Evanston academy, 3, and the Hamilton club, 1.

GEORGE V WILL GIVE BOXERS THE ONCE-OVER.

London, March 6.—According to Sporting Life, King George intends to set the seal of his approval on boxing. By royal command members of the household brigade and several professional boxers will soon give an exhibition of the art of self-defense before him.

Form Class D. League.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 6.—The Pennsylvania and West Virginia Baseball league was organized here yesterday by directors of the old Ohio and Pennsylvania league. Franchises were awarded to six towns in Pennsylvania and two in West Virginia. It will be a Class D organization.

Play Post Season Games.

Boston, Mass., March 6.—Post season baseball games between the New England league and the Eastern association pennant winners, will be a regular fixture hereafter. This announcement was made by President Timothy H. Murnane of the New England league.

Cross Outpoints Bloom.

New York, March 6.—Leach Cross of this city, outpointed Phil Bloom in a ten-round bout last night. Three rounds were even, Cross had the better of four, while three were Bloom's.

Trim the White Sox.

Oakland, Cal., March 6.—In the first professional baseball game of the season, the Oakland Coast league team yesterday defeated the Chicago Americans first team by a score of 7 to 5.

Tie in Golf Contest.

Gulfport, Miss., March 6.—J. H. Jones, Chicago and J. W. Moulding, Edgewater Golf club, yesterday tied with 85 on low score in the qualifying round of the Mississippi coast golf championship here.

JURY SEES MOVIES; FINDS MEN GUILTY.

New York, March 6.—A jury, after witnessing white slavery motion pictures in the court of general sessions, convicted Samuel H. London, who wrote the story depicted by the film, and Harry C. Bohn, manager of a theater where it had been produced, of showing pictures of an immoral character. The jury deliberated less than an hour. Extreme clemency was recommended, and the defendants were paroled for sentence next Thursday.

Beware of Boils—THEIR Very Appearance Denotes a Blood Condition That Requires Prompt Action

At the first appearance of pimples and boils the blood should be given a good searching internal bath with S. S. S., the greatest blood purifier known to man.

This remarkable remedy has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In a few minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder, to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to dissolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the skin that cause boils and other skin eruptions.

And best of all this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are observed. Old eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health. That strange moody, morbid feeling of depression is rectified and the entire system responds with surprising energy.

You can get S. S. S. at any drug store. Beware of any effort to sell you something claimed to be "just as good." If yours is a peculiar case and you desire expert advice, write to The Swift Specific Co., 309 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

MAYOR TAKES TWO VAGS INTO CUSTODY

Four vagrants were arrested yesterday afternoon, two of them having been taken into custody by Mayor Prince. The city executive turned his two prisoners over to Frank Hicks, probation officer, and the latter brought them before Judge Cutting.

The two men, Sam Smith, 35, and William Kemp, 34, pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy and were both sent to the work farm for thirty days. They were given the alternative of paying $40 and costs, but being unable to do so, will have to spend the next month on the farm.

Oscar Otterson, 24 years old, who was arrested for vagrancy by Patrolmen Danielson and Olson only after the former gave the officers quite a fight, pleaded guilty this morning and was also sent to the farm for thirty days.

Philip McGraw, 19 years old, one of the youngest vagrants ever brought in at headquarters, pleaded guilty when brought before Judge Cutting this morning, and on his promise to leave the city the court suspended sentence.

SAYS WIFE IS DRUNKARD

Wife's Answer Is That Her Husband Made Her One.

District Court Judges Still Busy With Divorce Actions.

Not until she had become a wife and mother did Agnes Mierzwinski take her first sip of wine and her first taste of whisky.

Five years ago Agnes was a healthy country girl, aged 16. She is of Polish parentage and was accustomed to drinking beer at her father's home on the farm.

Five years in the city as the wife of a liquor salesman finds her defendant in a divorce action brought on the grounds that she is an habitual drunkard.

In district court today she filed her answer to the charge of habitual drunkenness filed against her in divorce proceedings instituted by her husband, Mikolaj Mierzwinski. She is now 21 and the mother of two children. He is 24.

When she lived with the old folks on their farm in the town of Gnesen she states, she was accustomed to drinking beer only. She states that she never drank to excess nor indulged in liquor stronger than beer until after she became the wife of Mierzwinski.

After their marriage, she declares, Mierzwinski continually urged her to drink, brought home beer, whisky and other intoxicants and insisted that she should drink with him. She also asserts that he forced the children to drink at times. On several occasions, she says, he gave beer and whisky parties for men at his home and insisted that she should join in the drinking.

In short, she alleges that what liquor she has consumed has been with his knowledge and consent and usually under his express direction. Mierzwinski is a beer salesman and in the course of his employment visits saloons constantly. She asserts that he is very intemperate in his habits and has come home drunk time after time.

While in a state of intoxication, she claims that he is brutal and abusive, that he has often kicked, beaten and otherwise mistreated her and the children and that on several occasions, she has been obliged to take the children and seek refuge outside the house.

He ceased caring for her long ago, she complains, and has frequently evinced his desire and intent to be rid of her. She claims that the divorce action was brought for the purpose of getting rid of her so that he might be free to marry a stenographer employed in this city. The name of the "stenographer" is not disclosed in the pleadings.

The claim is also made that Mierzwinski ordered her to consult a physician during the month of December last when it became known that she was about to be a mother. The purpose of the visit to the doctor proposed by him was to have an abortion performed. She claims that after having been forced to consult with the physician, he flew into a rage when she informed him that the physician refused to perform the operation.

The young wife also claims that her husband has failed to support her or the children, and that she has been obliged to earn a living for the family by taking in boarders. She asks the court to grant the decree of divorce to her instead of him and to award her the custody of the children and alimony. Mrs. Mierzwinski is represented by Attorney R. M. Funck and the plaintiff by Attorney B. M. Goldberg.

Alexander D. Kerr, 54 years old, who was tried and acquitted a few months ago on a charge of having perpetrated a robbery at the Park Point street railway barn, appeared in district court yesterday as plaintiff in an action for divorce. He asked for a legal separation from Helen Kerr on the grounds of desertion. Mrs. Kerr is twenty years his junior.

Kerr told the court that they were married at Winona, Minn., on March 16, 1911. He declared that she deserted him on Oct. 1, 1912, while they were living in Duluth, and returned to Winona. Mrs. Kerr answered in the case but did not appear in court to contest the action. In her answer she asked that in the event that a divorce was granted, she be allowed to resume her maiden name, that of Helen Neudahl.

Judge Cant has taken the case under advisement.

Infidelity is charged against Frank Allison Haining of Brookston in a suit filed yesterday by Minnie Belle Haining, his wife, who is seeking separation after thirty years of married life. They were married March 22, 1884, and are parents of seven children, three of whom are minors and are living at home with their mother. Both are 47 years old. In her complaint, Mrs. Haining charges that her husband committed adultery with one Betty Stein during the month of January this year.

Luella Cunningham, 22, thought that when Edward Cunningham, 33 kissed her goodbye at Cloquet and told her he was going to their former home in Virginia, that he was going back after their household goods. That was more than a year ago and he has never shown up, she says. They were married July 23, 1912, at Virginia, and the desertion took place six weeks later at Cloquet, she says.

* * *

Mary A. Menelce, 53, was yesterday granted a divorce by Judge Cant from Samuel Menelce, 56, to whom she was married at Airdrie, Scotland, June 14, 1878. The decree was granted on the grounds of desertion, Mrs. Menelce testifying that her husband left her thirteen years ago. There are five children, all adults.

Because Charles Franklin Murray, 34, deserted her five years ago, Helga Mathilda Murray, 31, was granted a divorce this morning in Judge Cant's division of the district court. She was also awarded the custody of their child, Melvin, 7, and allowed to resume her maiden name, that of Eriksen. The Murrays were married at Fargo April 4, 1905.

* * *

Nannie Munslow, 38, was granted a divorce by Judge Ensign yesterday afternoon from Albert E. Munslow, 39, to whom she was married at Torquay, England, April 6, 1894. The decree was given on the grounds of cruel treatment. Mrs. Munslow, who has resided in the city for the past eight years, testified that her husband was addicted to drunkenness and to abusive habits. She also claimed that it was necessary at times to appeal to charitable institutions for existence. The woman was granted the custody of her five children, ranging in age from 2 to 18 years.

Christina Martha Collins, 34, will no longer continue as the wife of Henry Collins, 40. She was granted a divorce by Judge Ensign yesterday afternoon after she had proven to the satisfaction of the court that her husband had deserted her less than two months after their wedding. They were married Sept. 10, 1912, and he deserted her Oct. 25 of the same year, she said.

AUDITING CITY BOOKS

J. S. Matteson Will Also Revise System of Municipal Accounting.

James S. Matteson of the local firm of Matteson & MacGregor, public accountants, this morning began his audit of the city books for the year 1913.

In addition to making this audit Mr. Matteson will assist in revising the city's entire accounting system, as recommended in the report made by Dr. B. M. Rastall last fall. New forms will be prepared and new methods installed with a view to reducing the possibility of errors to a minimum and increasing efficiency. City Auditor B. J. Campbell will work with and cooperate with the accountant in order that he may become thoroughly familiar with the changes. These will be outlined by Mr. Matteson, with the assistance of the auditor, but the duty of putting them into operation will devolve largely upon the auditor.

Dr. Rastall's recommendations include having the accounting system further centralized in the auditor's office, supplemented by detailed reports from the various departments, saving the auditor much of the detail work which now comes to him; basing the system upon values accrued and liabilities incurred, the present system being practically a record of cash receipts and expenditures; securing complete records of each department, to give accurate ideas of the results obtained from expenditures; distinguishing between operation and capital accounts; opening property accounts, with a thorough revaluation of city property, charging depreciation and showing changes in value.

Relative to the annual report the business doctor stated that it should be issued in such form that it will interest the average citizen and show him in concise, easily understandable terms the actual standing of the city, accompanied by a balance sheet and statements reviewing the work of the past year and setting forth what is contemplated for the coming year.

Further suggestions were that definite dates be fixed as paydays for employes and for the payment of bills, with accounts submitted monthly in such manner that they may be passed upon intelligently; that there is an annual inventory of equipment and supplies, and that much of the present red tape be eliminated, as it results in no effective check upon payments of bills and is not businesslike.

Dr. Rastall recommended that the city employ an expert accountant and recommended Mr. Matteson. Following several conferences with Finance Commissioner F. J. Voss he agreed to undertake the task, for which he will be paid $1,000. The price is considered very reasonable and met with the unanimous approval of the other members of the council.

MUST NOW FACE LARCENY CHARGE

After a nation-wide search which began on Feb. 19 last, S. H. Cashman, wanted here on a charge of grand larceny, that of having passed a worthless check on the Glass Block store, was yesterday arrested at Milwaukee. The local police were immediately notified of the arrest and a deputy sheriff left here this morning to bring the prisoner back to Duluth.

On Feb. 18 Cashman, it is alleged, went into the Glass Block store and, buying some merchandise, gave a check for $45, signed in his own name, and made payable on the American Exchange National bank. F. A. Sicard, superintendent at the department store, swore out a warrant for the arrest of Cashman the following day, when it was learned that the check was worthless, but Cashman had left the city and his whereabouts were unknown.

It was then that Chief Troyer began a search for the fugitive. He notified police officers throughout the country, and after nearly three weeks, Cashman is now in the hands of the law. He will be brought back here to answer a charge of grand larceny.

At one time Cashman lived at 706½ Second street.

"Les Soies Americaines Sont Bien de la Mode"

Paris says "the American Silks are indeed the vogue," and right proud may we be of the silks our own country has produced for the coming season. You may see the best of the American silks alongside the choicest Imported weaves if you visit this store now.

Tomorrow Will Be the Last Day of the Silk Show

Our Third Floor has been the Mecca of fashion-loving folks this week. Men as well as women have come in numbers to enjoy the exhibit that has no counterpart in this region.

We are inviting special attention to the true Paul Poiret designs which have been chosen by this master designer as his choice for the fashions of the coming season.

Come—you will not be urged to buy—the display is arranged solely to acqaint you with the supremacy of Gray's silk section.

The Improved Warner Rust-Proof Corsets for Spring

Are Ideally Unobtrusive.

The vogue for spring calls for the effect of the un-corsetted figure, and if you secure the proper model from our great assortment of new Warner styles neither you nor anyone else will realize you are wearing a corset.

The corset you will get will be so ideally comfortable that you will not feel it and the figure will appear corsetless while at the same time perfectly molding the figure in sinuous lines. The grace of movement for dancing is especially noted.

The New Wooltex Suits and Coats Are Here For Your "Try-on"

Please note—we say "try-on". We'll not ask you to buy—we simply want you to see how to dress exceedingly well at reasonable cost! You women who enjoy the knowledge that your suits and dresses are not common—are delighted with the new Wooltex styles.

You who appreciate wearing the correct styles a little in advance of other women find your desires gratified in our new Wooltex Coats and Suits.

The 1914 Styles In Women's Shoes For Street and Dress Are Ready.

The skirt fashions necessitate the greatest care in choosing Footwear, and right fortunate is the woman who comes here to be daintily shod.

Splendid assortments of the correct styles made up in the best possible manner of the better grades of Gun Metal, Dull Kid and Patent Leather—some of them have cloth tops—others have soft, dull leather tops. Tipped or plain toes, as you prefer. Improved welted or very flexible turned soles, as suits you. Prices on these finer grades of fine Boots range $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00 the pair.

Our assortments of sizes and widths are so complete that you are sure of getting a most comfortable, as well as good looking shoe, for our salespeople always take time to fit properly no matter how rushed we may be. We would rather lose the sale of one pair of shoes than to lose a customer through selling shoes which did not fit as they should.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ERICK LAKE IS MURDERED

Found in Cabin on Farm Shot in Abdomen and Throat Cut.

Former Eveleth Man Apparently Was Killed for His Money.

Eveleth, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Coroner F. E. Helps assisted by Assistant County Attorney E. L. Boyle this afternoon is conducting an inquest into the death of Erick Lane, a farmer, who was found murdered in his cabin about twenty-five miles east of here, near Morcum, on the Vermilion road, and whose mutilated body was brought here last night by neighbors.

The jury consisting of A. E. Pfremmer, Cass Jenkins, Albert Rohrer, D. A. Williams and Frank Matson viewed the body at the morgue this morning and this afternoon at 2 began to hear evidence.

Everything so far adduced points to Lake having been killed apparently for his money. His brother-in-law who lives in that section, a man by the name of Larson, who arrived last evening with the body, says that last fall he knew Lake had $400 or $500 on his person which he carried in a belt and so far as known he had not spent it or put it into a bank.

Found Sitting in Chair.

Lake was found sitting on a chair in his cabin with a wound in the groin, a ghastly opening evidently made by a 12 gauge shotgun and his throat cut. A wad from the gun was found in the groin. His throat had evidently been cut with a razor. The money belt about the body was empty. It looks as though the man had been killed outdoors and dragged inside. The barrel of a shotgun was found in the cabin while in the stove was the partly burned stock of the gun. It is said that the nature of the wounds disproves the suicide theory. It is said that the last seen of Lake alive was a few mornings ago when he left a lumber camp where he was employed saying he was going to his cabin. Lake was about 40, single, and formerly worked in the mines here until he was crippled and then turned his attention to farming. His only known relative is Mrs. Larson, wife of the man who came here with the body and who is aiding the authorities in every way to clear up the affair.

It is expected the jury will return a verdict late today finding that Lake was murdered but by whom has not developed.

ACTION AGAINST ELY SCHOOL HEAD

Must Show Cause Why Pupil Should Not Be Reinstated.

Stanley Adkins, superintendent of the public schools at Ely, must appear in district court tomorrow in response to an order to show cause why he should not reinstate Lillian Kearney, a high school student, recently expelled from the Ely high school.

The order to show cause directed against the Ely superintendent, was secured by Thomas Kearney of Fall Lake, the girl's father. The order was signed by Judge Bert Fesler and made returnable tomorrow at the special term of court.

Kearney represents in his petition that his daughter was expelled from the school March 2 without good cause and that the affair has resulted in considerable mental anguish and a feeling of humiliation on the part of the young woman.

RAILROAD MEN INSPECT.

Great Northern Officials Look Over the Mesaba Range.

Hibbing, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special train consisting of three private cars with an engine, carrying a party of Great Northern railroad officials on their regular trip of inspection, made a thirty-minute stop in Hibbing late yesterday afternoon.

Great preparations are being made for the handling of the ore this season, according to the officials, much new equipment being added.

In the party were James Gruber, vice president; W. J. Kenney, vice president of traffic department; C. O. Jenks, general manager, of Superior; S. Ennis, superintendent, Superior; J. W. Smith, master mechanic; James Wear, trainmaster; H. S. Woolan, resident engineer, Superior, and J. C. Morrell, in charge of the Allouez docks.

HIBBING LOCAL TALENT TO PLAY

Hibbing, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The Irish Eden," a clever comedy in three acts will be presented under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ladies Auxiliary at the St. Patrick's day entertainment at the Power theater, March 17.

The play is to be under the direct supervision of Mrs. W. R. Spensley and will include the following well known local talent: Ernest Farnand, A. H. Farnand, J. P. Murphy, S. C. Scott, Gus Hammer, A. Donovan, William Taylor, Marcella LaVell, Myrtle LaVell, Vera Bechtel, May Furlong, Isabel Moran and Mrs. W. R. Spensley. Six children will also take part in the production.

Ray M. Hughes of Duluth will deliver the St. Patrick's day address and there will also be other numbers on the program that will be announced later.

The ticket sale is reported as large and it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

Freckle-Face

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of othine, double strength, from Boyce drug store and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds in February and March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more othine is sold in these months. Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

TOWER MAN IS KILLED BY TREE

Lorenzo Bruno Loses Life in Camp Ten Miles From City.

Tower, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lorenzo Bruno of this city was killed Wednesday in the camp of Albert Gage, about ten miles from this city, by a falling tree.

Mr. Bruno was an unmarried man, who had lived in Tower for many years.

HIBBING'S ICE NOW HARVESTED

About 3,000 Tons Have Been Put Up By One Concern.

Hibbing, March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 1914 ice harvest of the Rock Lake Ice Supply company is practically completed and Emil Anderson, proprietor, reports a most successful season. Thirty-five men have been at work for the past five or six weeks and have stored more than 3,000 tons. The ice taken from Rock Lake, it is claimed, is of exceptional quality and the past season has been an excellent one for the securing of good clean ice free from snow.

It is claimed that Mr. Anderson is the only ice man in the state using steam to harvest the ice crop. A steam hauler is used by the company to hoist the chunks and carry the ice from the lake to the storage houses.

PROPOSED ROUTE IS LOOKED OVER

Tentative Extension of Mesaba Electric Railway Being Considered.

Hibbing, Minn., March .—(Special to The Herald.)—An inspection of the proposed extension of the Mesaba Electric railroad as far as Nashwauk was made yesterday afternoon by Clarence P. Fowler, engineer, H. S. Newton, general manager of the road, Secretary J. L. Lewis of the local Commercial club, S. C. Scott, village attorney and B. J. Burrows representing the council.

The trip was made in an automobile. Figures will be secured as soon as possible from the Oliver iron Mining company on the amount of ore located between here and Nashwauk so that an estimate may be formed of the possible population on locations that will be established as the mining operations continue.

At Nashwauk the local delegation was met by a large committee and all put forth every effort to secure the facts and figures desired by the investigators.

THREATENS TO KILL.

Hibbing Man Alleged to Have Drawn Revolver Upon Another.

Hibbing, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with intent to kill, John Ciruto was arrested late yesterday afternoon and lodged in the village jail.

It is claimed that Ciruto was intoxicated during the afternoon and became involved in an argument with Toney Azzo in a local saloon. Muttering threats, he was finally persuaded to leave, but returned in a few minutes brandishing a loaded revolver which he pointed at the object of his wrath. He was overpowered and taken to the jail.

Late last year Ciruto, whose name at that time was given as Gualitto, was assaulted by Rosario Marino after a controversy over a debt. Azzo and other Italians who were friendly to Marino endeavored to have the matter adjusted, but the assailant, who entered a plea of guilty, was sentenced to the St. Cloud reformatory. Ciruto since that time has apparently harbored a feeling of enmity against the friends of the man who made the vicious assault.

TOWER BRIEFS.

Tower, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Saturday night, March 7, the local basket ball team will play Ely. A special train load is expected here.

The date for the production of the "Country Kid," by the Tower Commercial club members, has been set for Friday evening, March 13.

An epidemic of mumps is prevalent here.

A second crop of ice was cut and shipped to Aurora by a brewing company. The ice is of fair quality and a couple of feet in thickness.

VIRGINIA NOTES.

Engineers of That Locality Plan on Organizing a Club.

Virginia, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The office force of the Mesaba Electric Railway company is at the car barns, having vacated the quarters occupied in the Finch block since the car barn fire. Work on the construction of the new car barns and office building at Olcott park will begin as soon as weather conditions permit this spring.

Claimants against the Minnesota Screen company, of Virginia, which a short time ago filed a petition in bankruptcy, have been notified that the first hearing of creditors will be held March 14. The affairs of the concern are considerably involved and its outstanding obligations amount to $8,000, with encumbered assets for a like amount.

Plan Engineers Club.

A call will be issued soon by well known Virginia engineers for a meeting to organize the mechanical, electrical and mining engineers into an Engineers' club. It is planned to meet at regular intervals for the purpose of discussing engineering problems and matters of all sorts that are of interest to the craft. In the city of Virginia and at nearby points there are over fifty engineers who are eligible to membership and they are heartily in favor of the formation of the club.

HAWKINSON TO RUN.

Former Virginia Mayor Is Out for Commissioner.

Andrew Hawkinson, former mayor of Virginia and now a member of the county poor commission, yesterday made formal announcement of his intention to become a candidate for county commissioner in the Sixth district.

Mr. Hawkinson filed with the county auditor for the June primaries. The incumbent from the Sixth district is Neil McInnis, chairman of the board. Mr. McInnis will not seek re-election. The only other candidate in the field is Martin Nelson, also of Virginia.

WANT MORE SPENT.

Opponents to Nicholas Township Officers Put Up Ticket.

Eveleth, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The present office holders in Nichols township will have opposition at the election March 10. The opposition favors the expenditure of more money for roads and public improvements. The township includes West Virginia and Ellis and takes in the Leonidas location of the Oliver Iron Mining company, just outside the limits of Eveleth.

At a caucus the following were named on an independent ticket to oppose the present officials:

For supervisor, Rolland E. Schur of Ellis; for clerk, L. H. Beorger of West Virginia; for treasurer, C. C. Harwood of West Virginia; for justice of the peace, J. G. Lockhart of West Virginia; for constable, Oscar Hendrickson of West Virginia.

ELKS PLAN CARNIVAL.

Virginia Lodge to Have Some Fun Next Summer.

Virginia, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the biggest carnivals ever held on the range will be staged by local Elks during the week of July 6-11, arrangements having been completed with representatives of shows. The lodge committee will be A. F. Thayer, John A. Kennedy, Joseph Backus, Adolph Brandstetter, Peterson, M. H. Godfrey, Al G. Flournoy, Ellis Walsh, William Rooney and M. E. Fanning. There are twenty shows in the carnival attraction and the show is the same which will appear in Duluth the week previous under the auspices of Aad temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Local Elks plan to make the carnival week in Virginia a memorable occasion.

SPECIAL EVELETH SCHOOL ELECTION

Eveleth, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special school meeting will be held here March 14 at the high school building to vote upon the question of erecting a building for a manual training department to be ready for use at the opening of school next year. If it is decided to build the voters will also be called upon to select a site.

EVELETH SEEKS NEW HIGHWAY

Eveleth, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. A. Perham is in Duluth as a representative of the Eveleth Commercial club to appear before the county commissioners on road matters.

Eveleth wants a road opened up straight south from the city to the township line, a distance of six miles. The road would be midway between the Wolf road and the Miller trunk road. It would result in the opening up of a rich agricultural territory near the city and would lessen the distance to Eveleth for settlers already located on the township road with which the new road would connect.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Luster and Abundance.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 13 West Superior street.

SNOW

The weather man has been behaving first rate with conditions in Duluth and people in general seem to feel that the city is getting a square deal right along now. However, if the snow fall will stop now there will be perfect bliss for there is enough for skiing and for coasting, etc., and too much would spoil it. More snow flurries, however, are promised for tonight and probably tomorrow, with slightly colder weather.

A year ago today was cold. The sun rose this morning at 6:38 and will set at 6 o'clock this evening, giving eleven hours and twenty-two minutes of sunshine, three minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance centered over the Upper Mississippi valley caused snow or rain throughout the Northwest, the western lake region and Atlantic states during the last twenty-four hours. Somewhat colder weather prevails in Nebraska, the Dakotas, Western Minnesota, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, elsewhere the twenty-four hour changes have been unimportant."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 6.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Wisconsin—Light snow tonight and probably Saturday; somewhat colder in west portion tonight and in east portion Saturday.

Minnesota — Unsettled weather tonight and Saturday; probably snow; somewhat colder tonight.

Iowa — Unsettled weather tonight and Saturday, probably snow flurries; somewhat colder tonight.

North Dakota and South Dakota — Fair tonight and Saturday; slightly colder tonight.

Montana — Fair tonight and Saturday; not much change in temperature.

Lower Michigan—Local snows tonight and Saturday.

Upper Michigan — Snow tonight and Saturday.

EVELETH OFFICIALS.

Judges and Clerks for Nashwauk Contest Are Appointed.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council has appointed the following judges and clerks for next Tuesday's election:

J. C. Shellman, H. A. Gilruth, John Chinelli, Eli Tuomola, Edward Gaffney. The liquor license applications of Jalmer Heino, Peter Zagar and J. H. Carlson were ordered published and the hearing set for March 23. The matter of purchasing a site for a village hall was turned down on motion of Clerk M. J. Donovan.

DULUTH WOMAN CAPTURES TROPHY.

Hibbing, Minn., March .—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Victor Munson entertained at bridge whist Wednesday afternoon at her home. Three tables were played, Mrs. R. Weeding winning head prize and Mrs. W. Anderson of Duluth, a guest of Mrs. Munson, the consolation trophy. Lunch was served. The following were the guests: Mrs. R. Weeding, Mrs. Tom Peterson, Mrs. C. E. Martin, Mrs. Nels Olander, Mrs. W. Lendberg, Mrs. C. Bjorking, Mrs. O. Sandmoen, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Hans Hanson, Mrs. J. Jockie of Hibbing and Mrs. W. Anderson of Duluth. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. O. Sandmoen on Third avenue.

NEW TRAINMASTER AT KELLY LAKE

Hibbing, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Wear, who was in the village yesterday with the Great Northern officials, succeeds Trainmaster Hicken at Kelly Lake. Mr. Hicken goes to Superior as trainmaster there.

J. A. Keyes of Duluth is assisting at the Great Northern station during the absence of M. J. Moran, who is taking a three weeks' vacation. H. J. Johnson has been checked in as agent.

Breitung Nominations.

Tower, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Voters of the township of Breitung held their annual caucus in Soudan and nominated candidates as follows:

Supervisor for three years, Louis Johnson.

Constable, John Drangoon.

Overseer of highways, E. Hendricksen.

Justice of the peace, Hort Hewitt.

Clerk, Edward Mickola.

Assessor, M. J. Jeranson.

Treasurer, Fred Williams, nominated by acclamation.

Haupt Saloon Keeper Fined.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Bergman, who conducts a saloon at Haupt, in the town of Nore, was brought before Justice Kearney this week charged with having kept his place open on Sunday. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

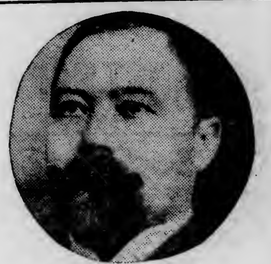
Accept Architect's Plans.

Virginia, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.—A special meeting of the board of education was held last night and the sketches submitted by Bray & Nystrom of Duluth for the new Southside school were accepted. The perfected plans will be submitted to the board at as early a date as possible.

$150,000 Fire in Syracuse.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 6.—Fire in the Coog block at Clifford and West Onondaga streets early today threatened the business section of Syracuse and caused a loss of over $150,000. The plant of the Syracuse Press suffered $50,000 damage.

NEW MEMBER OF COUNTY POOR BOARD



DR. H. HOVDE.

Dr. Hovde was appointed by Chairman McInnis of the county board yesterday to succeed Dr. C. W. More of Eveleth as a member of the county poor commission. Dr. Hovde is a prominent physician of this city. The other members of the poor commission are John H. Hearding, chairman, and Andrew Hawkinson of Virginia.

REPORT THAT POPE IS ILL IS DENIED

Rome, March 6.—Erroneous reports were current in Rome today that the pope was ill and had fainted shortly after rising. The condition of the pope was normal. He rose at his usual hour and celebrated mass. He then conferred with Cardinals Merry del Val and De Lai.

A SIMPLE WAY TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent Falling Hair and End Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need) apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.

MANY WILL TAKE COURSE

First Short Course at Duluth Demonstration Farm Will Begin Monday.

Farmers' Clubs Liberally Represented—Continues for Two Weeks.

Plans are nearly complete for the first annual short course, perhaps more properly called the first session of the continuation school, at the new Duluth branch of the agricultural division of the state university.

Several of the students are already on the ground and at work earning a portion of their projected expenditures at the coming institute. The number of outside students has been limited owing to the lack of facilities of a new plant to care for a large number while doing good work. However any number of local and nearby students can be well cared for.

Registrations are coming in not only from St. Louis but from neighboring counties as well. Every farmer's club in Lake county will be represented. All students as far as possible are being listed by club name. City students are invited to take in the work. Several mature men have registered up to the present time.

The Woodland car will be met daily at 8 a. m. at Hardy street. Persons missing this car are directed to go to the end of the line which is two and a quarter miles from the station. Guide boards will direct the way. The work will begin at 9 o'clock Monday morning and those in charge advise all persons planning to take the work to begin at that time so as to get the unity of the course. No tuition fee will be charged. Students living at home will be able to secure dinner at the farm at a cost of service charge. An invitation is extended to all to attend and aid in making the whole project a signal success.

The course will last for two weeks beginning March 9 and ending on March 21. Talks and instruction will be given by M. J. Thompson, Fred Ward, A. J. McGuire, A. B. Hostetter, E. K. Coe, E. J. Deiwiche, K. D. Van Wagenen, H. Pfinghoeft, W. E. Dickinson, D. B. Jewell, F. B. McLeran, G. P. Grout, C. E. Roe, J. Kimball, A. H. Crassweller, W. H. McKerrow, Prof. Andrew Boss and Dean A. F. Woods, the two latter of the agricultural department of the state university. Every phase of farming and fruit raising will be dealt with.

TAFT'S PHYSICAL ADVISER COMING

Dr. Barker Will Speak Here Five Days on Sex Problems.

The latest ideas and facts concerning the sex question and suggestions, which if carried out, would enable one to live to be 100 years old, will be embodied in a series of lectures to be given in Duluth during the week of April 12 to 17 by Dr. C. E. Barker, who was personal physical adviser to President Taft when he was in the White House. The lecture will be under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

The meetings will be open to the general public. There will be lectures for wives, mothers, fathers, business men, and others.

On April 11 there will be a men's mass meeting, followed by an address at some church in the evening. The Y. M. C. A. has undertaken the management of the lecture on "Mothers' Relations to Their Daughters," to be given April 13. "The Father's Responsibility to His Son," will be the subject for the following evening, and "How a Busy Man Can Be Well All the Year," the address before the professional and business men the night after.

"How to Live to Be 100 Years Old" will be Dr. Barker's subject before the general public, and on Friday night, April 17, the doctor will conclude his campaign by addressing a mass meeting of young men on "Social Purity."

CHURCH ROW CASES MAY NOT BE TRIED.

South Bend, Ind., March 6.—The cases of members of the St. Casimir's Polish Catholic church, charged with contempt of court as an outgrowth of the rioting at the church on Feb. 15, were indefinitely continued in court today. It is understood the cases will not be tried, the authorities having agreed to drop the matter if the trouble is settled.

Bishop Herman J. Alerding of Fort Wayne wished to install Rev. Stanislaus Gruza, a priest at St. Casimir's. The bishop's choice was opposed by many of the members of the church, and a court order, restraining the members from interfering with Rev. Gruza, was issued by Judge W. A. Funk. When the priest attempted to enter the church for Sunday service, however, he was met with resistance, and the police were called to quell the riot. Nine church members later were arrested and charged with contempt.

GERMS MADE HARMLESS

Rich red blood is the power that keeps the human body in order. Every day many germs of disease enter our bodies but they are made harmless and passed off if the fighting forces of the body are in good condition. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood, enable it to absorb more oxygen, the agent which burns up the body poisons. In this way Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not only a tonic but a specific for the host of diseases that come as a result of thin blood and can get a foot-hold only when the tone of the body is low.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red, and strengthen the nerves.

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness, sciatica. Build up your blood and note how the purer and richer blood fights your battle against the disease. Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that with the observance of ordinary rules of health will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin this treatment now.

A booklet, "Common Ailments, How to Treat Them," is free for the asking. Address: The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

BIG IMPETUS FROM THE PANAMA CANAL

Seattle Man Says Great Projects Are Under Way in West.

J. F. Saunders of Seattle, who is at the Holland today, believes that the completion of the Panama canal will mean increased activity along the Pacific coast, as far north as Seattle.

"Seattle is not going back," said Mr. Saunders. "The story of a large number of idle men is greatly exaggerated. While it is true that there are some men out of employment on the Pacific coast country, it is also true that optimism was never so great as now.

"For instance Seattle is building some of the largest buildings in the history of the city, and real estate values are rapidly increasing. In Los Angeles property that was bought two years ago, has more than doubled in value. San Francisco has never been busier.

"On the coast all of us believe that the opening of the Panama canal means an increased trade that will benefit every city on the coast and will also mean more business to the interior country. Scientific agricultural methods have wrought about a wonderful change in several of the Pacific coast states, and with a general increase in business there should be a wonderful increase in the number of people taking up farming land.

"One of the greatest and most direct benefits we expect from the opening of the Panama canal, is the increase in immigration. The west coast country will get a large share of the immigration to the United States.

"Don't let anyone tell you times are hard in the West—that is, tell it and get away with it. The times over the entire length and breadth of the country may be a trifle quiet, but we are booming in the West and we are going to have the best year in our history."

SCHOOL IS DESTROYED.

Building at Cedar Lake, Aitkin County, Is Burned.

Aitkin, Minn., March 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cedar Lake schoolhouse, three miles west of Aitkin, was entirely destroyed by fire, together with its contents, at an early hour Tuesday morning. H. O. Marks is the teacher and school had been in session on Monday. The text books and school library are included in the loss. One thousand dollars insurance was carried. The origin of the fire is unknown.

NOTICE OF EXPIRATION OF REDEMPTION—
Office of the County Auditor, County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota.
To Chas. McHardy et al.:

You are hereby notified that the following described piece or parcel of land, situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and known and described as follows, to-wit: Undivided One-sixteenth (1-16) of Lot Nine (9), Section Fourteen (14), Township Sixty-two (62) North, Range Fourteen (14) West, 4th P. M., according to the government survey thereof, is now assessed in your name; that on the 10th day of May, A. D. 1909, at the sale of land pursuant to the Real Estate Tax Judgment, duly given and made in and by the District Court in and for the said County of St. Louis on the 23rd day of March, A. D. 1909, in proceedings to enforce the payment of taxes delinquent upon real estate for the year 1907, for the said County of St. Louis, the above described piece or parcel of land was sold to the State of Minnesota for the sum of Twenty-four cents (24c), and was, on the 24th day of January, A. D. 1914, assigned by the State of Minnesota for the sum of One and 69-100 Dollars ($1.69), and the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from said assignment, exclusive of the cost to accrue upon this notice, is the sum of One and 69-100 Dollars ($1.69), and interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from said 24th day of January, A. D. 1914, to the day such redemption is made, and that the said tax certificate has been presented to me by the holder thereof, and the time for redemption of said piece or parcel of land from said assignment will expire sixty (60) days after the service of this notice and proof thereof has been filed in my office.

Witness my hand and official seal the 13th day of February, A. D. 1914.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— GARY BUILDING COMPANY

For the purpose of forming and being a body corporate under and by virtue of the provisions of Chapter 52 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year 1905, and all laws amendatory thereof, we, the undersigned, have adopted, signed, sealed and acknowledged the following certificate of incorporation.

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be Gary Building Company, and its principal place of business shall be Duluth, Minnesota.

The general nature of its business shall be acquiring, buying, owning, selling, leasing, conveying, mortgaging, improving, and generally dealing in lands and real estate of every kind and description; the building and construction of, the making and furnishing plans for and the contracting for and superintending the construction of, all kinds of houses, buildings, factories, warehouses, wharves, railroads, roads, bridges, and all other kinds of construction or engineering work; the manufacture and sale of and the dealing in all kinds of concrete blocks and all other products of concrete and all other building and construction material; and in general the doing of all such acts and things as are usual, necessary, convenient or expedient in conducting and managing the business of said corporation in any of its branches, and such other enterprises or things as are incident thereto.

ARTICLE II.

The period of the duration of this corporation shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators are James E. Rockwell, Duluth, Minnesota, William R. Perrin, Duluth, Minnesota, and A. T. Banning, Jr., Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The government of this corporation and the conduct of its affairs shall be vested in a Board of Directors to consist of such number as may from time to time be provided in the by-laws, not, however, to be less than three or more than five, and in the officers hereinafter named. Said Directors shall all be stockholders of this corporation and shall be elected by the stockholders at their annual meeting which shall be held on the first Monday in March of each year. They shall hold office for one year after their election, or until their successors are elected and qualify, but vacancies occurring in their membership may be filled by the Board of Directors until successors shall be elected at the succeeding annual meeting or at a special meeting of the Stockholders called for that purpose. Until the Directors elected at the first annual meeting shall qualify, the following persons shall constitute the Board of Directors of this corporation, to-wit: James E. Rockwell, William R. Perrin and A. T. Banning, Jr., all residing in Duluth, Minnesota.

The officers of this corporation, each one of whom shall be a stockholder, shall be a President, a Vice President, a Secretary and a Treasurer. Any two of said offices may be held by the same person, with the exception of the offices of President and Vice President. Said officers shall be chosen by the Board of Directors in such manner and for such terms as may be prescribed by the by-laws. Until said officers are so chosen by the Board of Directors, the following-named persons shall be the officers of this corporation, to-wit: James E. Rockwell, President and Treasurer, William R. Perrin, Vice President, and A. T. Banning, Jr., Secretary.

PETITION FOR PUBLIC DITCH—
State of Minnesota, County of Carlton —ss.
District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

To the Judge of the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District in the State of Minnesota:

The undersigned land owners, whose lands will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for, the expense of the construction of the ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare, and the reclamation of wet and overflowed lands, require the establishment and construction of a drainage system with several laterals and branch ditches, along the following described routes in the towns of Corona, Perch Lake and Red Clover, in the County of Carlton, and unorganized territory in Congressional townships 50 and ranges 18 and 19, in said county of St. Louis, Minnesota, and that the construction of same would be of public benefit and utility and promote the public health, remove stagnant water, improve the sanitary conditions, and will facilitate the building of public roads; that much of the lands in said drainage district are now wet and overflowed and unfit for agricultural purposes without drainage, and which would, if drained, become very productive land, and said drainage ditch would make practicable the settlement and development of a large part of Carlton and St. Louis counties.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at a meandered lake at a point seven hundred feet south of the center of section two (2) in township forty-eight (48), range nineteen (19), in Carlton County, Minnesota, and running thence north along the quarter line in said section 2 to Stony Brook; thence following the course of the Stony Brook as nearly as practicable in a northerly direction through sections thirty-five (35) and twenty-six (26), in township forty-nine (49), range nineteen (19), to Rice Lake; thence through Rice Lake to the outlet into the Stony Brook in the northeast part thereof; thence following the general course of the Stony Brook in a northerly direction through sections thirty (30) nineteen (19), eighteen (18), seventeen (17), seven and six (7 and 6), in township forty-nine (49), range eighteen (18), and sections twelve (12) and one (1), in township forty-nine (49), range nineteen (19), in Carlton county, and sections thirty-one (31), thirty-two (32), thirty-three (33), twenty-eight (28), twenty-nine (29), twenty-one (21), twenty-two (22) and sixteen (16), in township fifty (50), range eighteen (18), in St. Louis County, following the general course of said Stony Brook as far as practicable, and terminating at a point in said Stony Brook in section sixteen (16), township fifty (50), range eighteen (18), St. Louis County, five hundred (500) feet north of the dam now located and constructed in said Stony Brook in said section 16, as its outlet; and also all laterals and branch ditches which may be found necessary by the Engineer, to fully drain the lands in the watershed of the proposed ditch.

That all of the meandered lakes affected by the proposed ditch are normally of a shallow, grassy and marshy character.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such ditch and drainage system, and cause the same to be constructed as provided by chapter two hundred thirty (230) of the general laws of Minnesota for 1905, and acts amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto.

GIANT STEAMER WILL BE LAUNCHED

The date now set for the launching of the 625 freighter, the longest on the great lakes, under construction at the Port Arthur ship yards, is Saturday, March 28. It is barely possible, though not expected, that the date will have to be changed.

The steamer will be named W. Grant Morden. It is being built for the new Canadian merger of companies.

FEBRUARY LAKE LEVELS.

The United States lake survey reports the stages of the Great Lakes for the month of February, 1914, as follows:

Lakes—	Feet above mean sea level.
Superior	602.18
Michigan-Huron	580.06
Erie	571.33
Ontario	245.87

Lake Superior is .20 foot lower than last month, .61 foot higher than a year ago, .38 foot above the average stage of February of the last ten years, .70 foot below the high stage of February, 1901, and 1.42 feet above the low stage of February, 1871. It will probably fall .1 feet during March.

Lakes Michigan-Huron are .03 foot lower than last month, .11 foot higher than a year ago, .01 foot lower than the average stage of February of the last ten years, 2.66 feet below the high stage of February, 1886, .90 foot above the low stage of February, 1896. They will probably rise to .01 foot during March.

Lake Erie is .33 foot lower than last month, .68 foot lower than a year ago, .08 foot above the average stage of February of the last ten years, 2.02 feet below the high stage of February, 1863, and 1.10 feet above the low stage of February, 1902. It will probably rise .1 foot during March.

Lake Ontario is .27 foot higher than last month, .88 foot lower than a year ago, .19 foot higher than the average stage of February of the last ten years, 1.80 feet below the high stage of February, 1886, and 2.04 feet above the low stage of February, 1897. It will probably rise .2 foot during March.

Cincinnati may establish a municipal fresh air farm for poor and tired mothers and children.

MARKET HAS STRONG TONE

Wheat Sells Higher With Good Eastern Demand and Export Trade.

Flaxseed Reacts Sharply on Buying By Crushers and Operators.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 6.—The market closed strong and at the top. May wheat closed ⅝c up and July ¼c up. May durum closed ⅜c up and July ⅝c up.

Oats closed ¼c up at 37¾@38¼c. Rye closed unchanged at 56@56½c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 44@66c.

At Winnipeg, May oats at 37¼c bid and July at 39¾c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90⅝@90½c bid, and calls at 90⅜@90⅞c bid.

The wheat market was firm, and it ruled fractionally higher during the first three hours trading today. This was attributed to improved Eastern and export demand, with some sales of spring wheat reported as having been effected at Duluth.

May wheat opened ⅛c up at 91⅝c and held at around that basis up to the final hour. The July option opened unchanged at 92½ and it gained a fraction. May durum opened unchanged at 91⅛c and also gained ⅛c.

Strength in the market was helped by a falling off in the run of primary receipts, which were reported at 578,000 bu against 836,000 bu last year.

At Minneapolis receipts dropped down to 208 cars against 408 a year ago. Stocks there showed an increase of 700,000 bu in the week. Inspections here were 31 cars, against 60 last year, and stocks in the local elevators will, it is estimated, show an increase for the week of 75,000 bu in wheat and 10,000 bu in flaxseed.

Better export trade was advised at other markets as a result of the break yesterday having brought some offers within workable limits. Boston reported a cargo of wheat as having been sold for shipment to Hull. New York advised the booking of a cargo for Avonmouth, and the engaging of vessel space during March for shipments to Rotterdam, Hamburg and Antwerp.

Advices from over the winter wheat territory were still bearish, the conditions being regarded as ideal for the plant.

Liverpool closed lower on the weaker situation in America and on cheaper Argentina offerings, while the Continental demand appeared to have suddenly dried up.

Flax Has Good Advance.

Flaxseed advanced sharply today under the execution of liberal buying orders from crushers and traders at the start. Advances of 1½@1¾c were scored within a few minutes of the opening. Early demand satisfied, the market receded, quotations showing losses of ¾c from their high points. The close was strong and at the top with advances of 1⅞@2c for the day.

The foreign markets were all lower, Buenos Aires closing ¼c off; London 1¾d off and Antwerp ⅞c off.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.55⅝ and it closed 1⅞c up at $1.57⅜. The July option opened ¼c up at $1.57½ and it closed 2c higher at $1.59½.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.37¾ bid and July at $1.39⅞ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Argentine shipments of wheat were 2,736,000 bu against 2,136,000 bu last week and 5,272,000 bu last year. The week, there was reported favorable for the movement, and also for the development of corn. The market in corn was easy at Buenos Aires on the favorable crop prospects. The visible Argentine wheat supply was reported at 7,800,000 bu against 2,560,000 bu last week and 7,960,000 bu last year.

The following letter from Antwerp has been received by a Chicago house: "Speculation has again been active this week and a large number of Australian cargoes have changed hands. A novelty in the grain trade has been a sale of an Australian steamer cargo by an Antwerp house to Brazil. It is anyhow circumstantial evidence that the Argentine crop is very small and of poor quality. The Danube remains firm. There is too much extra demand from Mediterranean ports and Hungary.

"The gap created by the failure in River Plate and the small crop in India is large, about 80,000,000 bu. Russia alone could eventually fill it up, but Russia is a very doubtful quantity. Russia rarely makes big breaks, if any, before the middle of May, and then the situation will be overshadowed by the new crop positions. Until then the market will remain on a supply and demand basis, and we think that the demand beginning March will be big, while the supplies may perhaps disappoint many millers who are waiting for a break."

Kansas City wired: "Allen Logan's report says: 'The wheat acreage of Kansas is 8,735,375 acres. Reports show no abandonment whatever, ample subsoil moisture and no damage of consequence at all. His report shows 11,537,000 bu wheat in farmers' hands and about 8,500,000 in country elevators and millers' hands.'"

The Minneapolis cash market was a little firmer, with good demand for desirable milling wheat. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from ¼c to 2¼c over May and velvet chaff at ½@1c over May. Flour sales were moderate, but some mills noted a little better demand. Shipping directions were slow with a few mills and unless they improve it may be necessary to curtail capacity. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 90¾c to 92¼c and No. 2 northern at from 88¾c to 90¼c.

Bradstreet's reported American clearances for the week at 3,577,000 bu of wheat and 610,000 bu of oats.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Easy American cables yesterday and the bearish report by Snow, together with expectations of larger world's shipments this week, prompted realizing at the opening and values were ⅜d lower. Following the opening there was some support in March, which advanced ¼d with more inquiry for Manitobas. During the morning the market suffered from further pressure in the distant months on the larger and cheaper Plata offers and a pause in the demand from the Continent. Spots were ½d to ¾d lower and cargoes were freely offered at a decline. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was easy, ½d to ¾d lower.

"Corn opened ¼d lower with easy American cables and pressure of spot, and later July further declined ¼d with favorable weather and crop news from Argentina and weakness in Buenos Aires. Later July recovered most of the decline with shorts covering. At 1:30 p. m. prices were ¼d lower and the undertone steady."

Modern Miller says: "Mild weather prevails throughout the winter wheat belt. Soaking rains in Texas have been beneficial and the growing wheat withstood the February low temperatures without damage. Favorable conditions prevail in Oklahoma and Kansas. Conditions in the soft wheat states are excellent. In Southern Illinois there is apprehension that the ice covering caused some damage to the plant. The winter wheat crop prospects remain unexcelled."

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Prices Are Little Changed and Receipts Small.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 6.—Small receipts and seasonable weather contributed to practically unchanged prices in the local wheat market during the forenoon. Little interest was displayed by traders.

Wheat—May opened 90½c to 90¼c; high, 90⅝c; low, 90@90¼c; closed 90½@90⅝c bid. July opened 91⅝c; high, 92c; low, 91½c; closed 92c asked.

Cash: No. 1 hard, 93⅞c; No. 1 northern, 91⅛@92¾c; to arrive, 92⅞c; choice to arrive, 92⅞c; No. 2 northern, 88⅝@90⅜c; to arrive, 88⅝@90⅝c; No. 3 wheat, 86½@88⅝c. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 57¼@57¾c. Oats—No. 3 white, 37@37¼c. Flax, $1.54@1.57.

An increased demand for all grades of flour was reported today by Minneapolis millers. Prices unchanged. Shipments, 57,456 bbls. Barley, 14@65c. Rye, 55@56c. Bran unchanged.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Develops Strength in Spite of Weak Cables.

Chicago, March 6.—Wheat developed strength today in spite of weak cables on buying due to the fact that receipts Northwest showed an unexpectedly sharp falling off. Opening figures which varied from last night's level to ⅛@¼c lower, were followed by a general advance.

A slight sag ensued, but improved export demand brought about later a further upturn. The close was steady, ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c net higher.

In the corn crowd, predictions that receipts during March and April would not be more than a third of the amounts a year ago helped to bring about an upturn. Quotations after starting ⅜c off to ⅛c up made an all around ascent.

Largely increased offerings afterwards led to a reaction, but the market again hardened. The close was steady, a shade to ⅛c above last night.

Talk of Canadian competition had some effect on the oats market. Firmness of other cereals, however, checked the bears.

Higher prices for hogs gave provisions a lift. First sales were 2½c to 5c higher and there was a subsequent further gain.

Wheat—No. 2 red, 94½@95c; No. 3 red, 93@94c; No. 2 hard, 92@92¼c; No. 3 hard, 91½@92c; No. 2 northern, 94@95½c; No. 3 northern, 93@94c; No. 2 spring, 94@95c; No. 3 spring, 93@94c.

WIRE TROUBLE; TRADING LIGHT

Mining stocks showed a dragging tendency at Boston again today, quotations showed only fractional changes. Business was light, owing to poor wire service. Butte & Superior sold closed unchanged at $35; Granby 38c off at $83.75; North Butte unchanged at $28.50; Butte & Ballaklava unchanged at $5.25; Calumet & Arizona a fraction up ex-dividend $1.25 at $66.87; Franklin unchanged at $6.25; and Amalgamated Copper $1.25 off at $72.87.

Calumet & Corbin was in good demand at Boston, selling at 28@30c and closing at the latter figure bid. In the Duluth curb list, Denn was stronger, selling at $7.75. Carman sold at 28c.

Production of the Anaconda Copper company, according to Paine, Webber & Co.'s Boston wire was 21,300,000 lbs. copper during February, compared with 24,400,000 lbs. in January.

At St. Louis lead closed dull at $3.90@3.92½ and spelter dull at $5.15@5.17½.

Gay & Sturgis received the following comment on the market from New York today: "Do not become too bearish because it looks weak on the tape. It is not as weak as it looks. Weak spots are developing, as I intimated would be natural. Such stocks as C. & O. and M., K. & T. are seeking their proper level. The market will be all the better for the decline in these stocks. Such stocks as Bethlehem Steel, the Traction stocks and the copper stocks should be bought on all weak days. The good copper stocks will come in for a share of attention later on."

Bank Clearings.

New York, March 6.—Dun's review tomorrow will say: Clearings through the banks this week were again in moderate volume, although displaying some improvement over the week before, the total amounting to $3,149,791,366, a decrease of 7 per cent as compared with last year.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Lowest Prices of Session Made in Final Half Hour.

St. Paul Slumps at Rapid Rate and Loses Four Points.

New York, March 6.—Heavy selling of a few stocks caused general depression today. Chesapeake & Ohio's decline reached 5 points by noon and Baltimore & Ohio was down 2½. Both of these stocks were sold heavily by London.

The appearance of further unfavorable railroad reports for January and the poor showing in gross made by various lines in the last week of February also weakened the railroad list. Traders were reluctant to take stocks and prices fell away steadily until there were numerous losses of 1 to 4 points.

Bonds were easy.

Heavy selling of Chesapeake & Ohio was resumed at the opening today. The first transaction was a block of 4,000 shares at 56¾ to 56, a maximum loss of 1¾. Rock Island securities were again weak. The preferred stock reached a new low record at 7⅞, and the collaterals declined a point. Baltimore & Ohio lost a point. Changes elsewhere were small and irregular.

Plunging on the short side made sharp inroads on prices. Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio continued the chief centers of weakness, with losses of 3 and 2½ points, respectively. Reading, Northern Pacific, New Haven and Southern Pacific gave way a point.

Speculation became listless when the selling movement ended. Bulls did little, fearing to meet a fresh supply of stocks.

Traders took profits on the short side, and there was a better tone after noon. Chesapeake & Ohio rallied a point.

The market closed weak. The day's low prices were made in the final half hour, when St. Paul slumped at a rapid rate and lost four points. The stock was sold on allegations by an examiner of the Interstate commerce commission that irregularities had been discovered in the company's financial statements.

WILL SELL UNDIVIDED INTEREST in a 40-acre apple orchard located in Bitter Root valley, Montana. This orchard is full 6 years old and will bear its first commercial crop this year.

The owner won't dispose of the entire 40 acres, but will sell undivided interests to about one-half of it as follows:

1-acre tracts at $400 per acre.
5-acre tracts at $375 per acre.
10-acre tracts at $350 per acre.
20-acre tracts at $300 per acre.

Owner also guarantees that this year's upkeep will not cost you more than $20 per acre, which should easily be returned from crop.

This is a snap. Ask anyone owning orchards in Bitter Root valley—plenty of them in Duluth. Write B 169, Herald.

NO MEDIATION FROM ANY OUTSIDE NATION WANTED, SAYS HUERTA

Mexican Plans to Increase Strength of His Army.

No Change Yet in Affairs Surrounding Benton's Death.

Carranza's Cause Has Lost Prestige at Washington.

Mexico City, March 7.—Mediation in any form by other governments, even though the governments be Latin-American, would not be tolerated by Mexico.

This reply was given by President Huerta to a question based on the assumption that Chile, Argentina and Brazil were disposed to extend their good offices. These countries have followed the example of the United States in not recognizing the Huerta government.

As indicative of Huerta's intention to increase the strength of the army, the executive issued a decree providing for the appointment of five division generals of the army, a rank not now in existence, and ten generals of corps. Among the promotions to a division generalship is that of Gen. Pasquale Orozco, Jr.

It is admitted that attack on Mazatlan has been resumed.

Enrique C. Creel, former ambassador to the United States, has resigned the presidency of the Aguilar Oil company, a Cowdray concern, to go to Europe.

Will Establish Bank.

That the government is determined to establish a Federal bank, is officially announced. As a reason for this move, it is stated, notwithstanding the fact that the banks now existing have been given the privilege of issuing notes to three times the value of their metal reserve, they have shown no indication of aiding the government by doing so. The Federal bank, the government says, will have a metal reserve guaranteeing one-third of the

CLUBS JACKRABBIT; SHOOTS HIMSELF

North Dakotan Runs Handcar for Help and May Survive.

Bow Bells, N. D., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a bullet hole through his abdomen and two intestines perforated, William Brown, a Soo tower man, stationed half a mile from here, climbed back into his tower and set signal, then secured a hand car and propelled himself into town and submitted to an operation which may save his life. He had shot and wounded a jackrabbit and was using the butt of his rifle to club it to death when the weapon was accidentally discharged.

MARCONI WILL SHOW WIRELESS TELEPHONE

Plans Exhibit in Italian Section at Frisco Fair.

Rome, March 7.—William Marconi, the wireless telegraph inventor, announced today that he would participate in the Italian section of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco. He said he hoped to be able to communiate from the exposition by wireless telephone with all the states in the Union, as well as with Canada.

RESERVE BANK DATA WILL CLOSE MONDAY

President Will Name the Federal Board Before April.

Washington, March 7.—Under a decision of the reserve bank organization committee, all information designed to affect the definition of Federal reserve districts or the location of reserve bank cities must be received at the treasury department by March 9.

Although the committee has spent much time discussing the location of reserve cities, since its trip through the country ended here Feb. 18, it was decided that additional data should be considered if filed before next Monday.

Owing to the illness of Secretary Houston, the committee has met only a few times recently. Beginning Tuesday, however, the task of making the selections will be taken up in earnest and it is understood, will be completed in time to allow President Wilson to name the members of the Federal reserve board before April 1.

The law provides that not more than one member of the board shall come from one district, and they must be defined before the nominations are made.

Secretary McAdoo today made public the following statement:

"A statement published this morning that the reserve bank organization committee had determined upon eleven banks and had designated certain cities as the headquarters for such banks, is mere fabrication. The committee has reached no conclusion whatever on this subject, and in order that the country may be prepared for a recrudescence of such statements, we desire to say that any statements purporting to give the views or opinions of the committee in advance of their formal announcement are wholly unauthorized and absolutely speculative."

ON 3,000-MILE HIKE IN HIS CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR

HENRY ROETHE.

Madison, Wis., March 7.—Henry Roethe is "the walking candidate." He wants to be governor of Wisconsin on a platform of economy and lower taxes, and to prove his faith by his works, he is tramping 3,000 miles looking for votes. He will spend in every county of the state. He estimates the cost of his campaign at $1,000, which he will spend for food and lodging.

GO TO PLAN WOMEN'S SOUTHERN CAMPAIGN

Suffrage Leaders Will Hold First Conference at Birmingham.

New York, March 7.—The New York members of the executive board of the National Woman Suffrage association left today for Birmingham, Ala., to attend the first of several conferences which will discuss plans for enfranchising the women of the South.

In the party were Mrs. Mary W. Bennett, secretary; Miss Caroline Ruutz-Rees, vice president, and Mrs. James Laidlaw, auditor of the national organization. Other members of the executive board, including Mrs. Stanley McCormick, treasurer, will join the party in Washington. Miss Jane Addams, vice president, also will attend the conference.

MANAHAN IN RIVAL BODY

Minnesotan's Motive in Seeking Grain Trade Probe Questioned.

Simpson of Minneapolis Appears Before House Committee.

Washington, March 7.—At today's hearing on Representative Manahan's resolution for congressional investigation of the Chicago, Duluth and Minneapolis grain exchanges, the interests of middle Western grain farmers were represented by J. W. Shorthill of Nebraska. He urged a full investigation, and said that the farmers wanted to find out just what the effect of eliminating, future dealings in grain would be.

It had been suggested, he said, that prohibiting future dealings would give the "moneyed elevator interests" control of the cash grain market. He also said that the effect of future grain dealings on the credit of the farmer in the country banks should be investigated.

Simpson Defends Exchanges.

David F. Simpson of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce said that he believed the grain exchanges of the country would welcome a broad, thorough investigation, and insisted they had not eliminated competition nor combined to reduce the price of grain to farmers.

Simpson declared the Minnesota courts had decided that the grain exchanges were in no way operating in violation of the law, and that the evidence against the exchanges was part of a factional fight for business between the Minnesota exchanges and the Equity Co-Operative exchange, recently organized, now being waged in the Northwest.

Questioned Manahan's Motives.

Simpson said the Minnesota legislature's investigation had developed that Representative Manahan, author of the investigation resolution, was an officer of the Equity exchange.

Representative Manahan interrupted to say his name had been used by the organization without his knowledge, but that after learning of its use he acquiesced. Letterheads showing the use of Mr. Manahan's name were placed in the record.

REFUSES TO PAY FOR BIG MEAL; IS SHOT

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 7.—Stephen Brick, 23 years old, is in a hospital here today suffering from bullet wounds in both feet and another in the back, the result of having walked out of a restaurant after eating a hearty meal which he ordered and did not pay for.

James Dunne, proprietor of the restaurant, gave chase to Brick when the latter tried to evade payment for the meal, it is claimed, and when he captured him, drew a 32-caliber revolver and, according to the police, began shooting at Brick's feet. After firing a bullet into each foot Dunne released his man, and after Brick had gone some distance Dunne, according to the police, took another aim and shot him in the back. Dunne was arrested, and gave bonds for has appearance on March 19.

MORE POWER NEEDED FOR FACTORIES

Increased Demand Forces Great Northern Power Co. to Enlarge.

New Unit Will Add 25 Per Cent to Its Capacity.

Huge Dam Will Be Constructed at Island Lake.

Demands for power from new industries in Duluth have forced the power company to expand.

The Great Northern Power company has let contracts which will result in adding 25 per cent more power to its plant than it now possesses. Just what the cost will be cannot yet be determined owing to the fact that it is still uncertain what kind of a dam will be built at Island lake. It is said, however, that the cost will be more than $300,000. The additional power will be ready by Sept. 1.

The Duluth Boiler works is now constructing a huge steel pipe to be used in connection with the new unit that will be put in at Thomson. This unit will have a capacity of 15,000-horse power. The present capacity of the company is 42,000-horse power with its three units now being used.

The company recently closed negotiations with the Weyerhaeuser interests, the result of which is that the power company has acquired the rights to the Weyerhaeuser flowage at Island lake, and to control that water has let a contract for the construction of a dam to be about forty feet high. It has acquired the right to 8,000 acres and in all its water will cover about 11,000 acres there, and the water will be more than enough for the new unit.

The uncertainty as to what kind of a dam will be built at the lake is caused by the fact that it is not yet known what the foundation is. Coffer dams have been put down and the engineers of the company are investigating the bottom. The kind of a dam that can be used will be determined probably within a few days and then the total cost of the work can be accurately estimated.

W. N. Ryerson, manager of the company, says that the increase is made necessary by the business the company is doing.

"We have had a splendid year in 1913," said Mr. Ryerson, today, "and the outlook for the current year is very much better. The business is outgrowing our capacity, and we must make this provision to take care of it. As Duluth grows as a manufacturing and industrial center so grows the demand for power. We hope to have the new unit running by Sept. 1, and then will be prepared for more demand."

HUNT BLACK HAND IN PENNSYLVANIA

Indiana, Pa., March 7.—A detail of the state constabulary today was sent to Iselin, Pa., to hunt down a gang of Black Hand operators who have been in that section for several weeks. Recently the residence of G. C. Campbell, manager of a coal company store, was blown up, and yesterday a box of dynamite was found on the porch of the house occupied by G. Steffna, a butcher. On it lay a letter telling him he must place $1,000 at a designated spot, or the dynamite would be used.

NEAR END OF COPPER PROBE

Two Congressmen Hear of Holiday Disaster at Calumet.

Sheriff Cruse's Defense Is Heard By Other Committeemen.

Houghton, Mich., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the house committee investigating the strike of the Northern Michigan copper miners expected today to conclude their hearings in the Copper Country. Before returning to Washington the congressmen will hold a hearing at Chicago to take testimony from members of the Michigan National Guard, who did strike duty last summer.

Two members of the committee went to Calumet today to make an investigation of the Italian hall disaster there on Christmas eve. Final witnesses for the operators were heard here by the other committeemen.

The defense of Sheriff Cruse against charges of non-administration of justice during the strike was begun before the congressional investigators this morning. John Hild, the first witness, was employed as a mine guard at the Quincy. He said he was one of three guards shot by strikers at that mine Dec. 10.

Told of Assaults.

A score of witnesses told yesterday of assaults on non-union men and other alleged acts of violence committed by the strikers and sympathizers.

John Latola, a Finnish miner, told the committee he had given up his card in the Western Federation of Miners last January and returned to work because he discovered the strike leaders were preaching unlawful doctrine. He said he had become convinced at first that the leaders stood for lawlessness, but had dropped out in January "because of public opinion."

His testimony was expunged from the record on the motion of O. N. Hilton, counsel for the strikers, on the ground it did not show unlawful acts were directly traceable to specific speeches of the leaders.

Congressman Switzer asked to be recorded as favoring the admission of Latola's testimony.

Latola said he had reached his conclusion through listening to speeches by Victor Brander and others.

"Brander is not a member of the Federation," Hilton said.

"He is a Socialist," said S. N. Lawton of counsel for the operators, "and Socialism is the doctrine and the practice of the Western Federation of Miners."

EIGHTEEN MEN ARE ADRIFT ON OCEAN IN SMALL, OPEN BOAT

The Steamer Charlemagne Tower, Jr., Sinks Off New Jersey Coast.

Four of Crew Are Saved But Storm Stops Life Savers.

Vessel's First Trip in Six Years Ends in Disaster.

Seaside Park, N. J., March 7.—Eighteen members, including the captain, of the crew of the steamer Charlemagne Tower, Jr., which sank near here, are adrift on the ocean in an open boat. The last seen of them they were going out to sea in a southeasterly direction.

The steamer sank in fifty feet of water, three-quarters of a mile off shore between Cedar Creek and Forked River life saving stations, six miles south of here.

H. B. Thompson of Brooklyn, first mate, and three members of the crew were brought ashore.

The revenue cutter Itasca put to sea to search for the castaways.

There are two big sand bars near the spot where the steamer went to the bottom, and the life savers were handicapped in launching their boats. One finally was launched, but was upset and the live savers waded ashore.

Lost in Snowstorm.

The captain of the vessel and seventeen men took a long boat. It was so overcrowded that they were afraid to try landing on the first bar, and hung around outside, hoping the turbulent sea would subside. Snow was falling; it grew thicker about 3 a. m. today, and the long boat was lost from view.

The weather lightened up again about 3:30 and there was then no sign of the longboat. When last seen the men were so cold they could not use the oars, and therefore could not control the craft. Unless soon found by the revenue cutter or some steamer it was believed all would perish.

Wire communication along the coast has been completely prostrated since last Sunday's storm and communication among the life-saving stations was difficult and only accomplished after delay.

First Trip in Six Years.

The Tower was owned by the Southern Transportation company, with which Charles W. Morse of New York is identified. It is said this was the first trip of the steamer in six years and that the crew was new to the officers.

Thompson, mate of the Tower, who managed to get ashore with a part of the crew, said the repairs to the machinery at Hampton roads on Wednesday were hasty and not well done. The engines went bad again soon after putting to sea, and this condition, combined with heavy seas due to the storm, resulted in the wreck. The ship leaks in bow and stern, he said, and in the end all the plates were shaken loose. Water poured into the vessel.

The captain realizing the danger, steered the boat toward the coast Friday morning.

COL. ROOSEVELT AGAIN MADE GRANDFATHER

ETHEL ROOSEVELT DERBY.

New York, March 7.—A son was born today to Mrs. Richard Derby, who was Ethel Roosevelt, daughter of Theodore Roosevelt.

JAIL "JAIL EDITOR" FOR LIBEL ON PRINCE

More German Papers Are in Trouble Over Articles.

Berlin, March 7.—Ernest Meyer, "jail editor" of the Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts, was found guilty and sentenced to three months in prison today on charges of treason for libeling Crown Prince Frederick William.

The offense was committed in an article satirizing the farewell issued by the crown prince when he left the command of the Death's Head Hussars at Danzig. Hans Leues, editor of the weekly, Die Welt am Montag, on Thursday was sentenced to six months' imprisonment on a similar charge. A third suit against another paper is to be tried next week.

Every paper in Germany bears the name of a man who takes responsibility for all articles contained in the publication. He is commonly known as the "jail editor."

BRITISH TROOPS HAVE HOT FIGHTS WITH AFRICAN TRIBES

Three Orderlies Retake Stockade When Soldiers Desert.

Wounded Officer Is Carried Over 500 Miles By Aides.

London, March 7.—News has just reached here of two exciting scrimmages between British troops and tribesmen in Africa.

In the first of these Maj. James Lionel Joyce Conroy of the Connaught rangers, who was awarded the Distinguished Service Order medal in South Africa in 1900, was killed in a fight with outlaws near Wadal Hadi, in the Sudan. Maj. Conroy was in charge of a contingent of an Arab battalion of the Egyptian army. The leaders of the outlaws and other members of the bands were killed and the remainder made prisoners. Besides Maj. Conroy the British troops lost three men killed and four wounded.

Deserted Wounded Officer.

In the second affair Lieut. Jones was shot through both legs during an attack on a stockade by Abyssinian raiders in British East Africa. When Lieut. Jones was wounded, his soldiers, except three orderlies, fled. These men, at Jones' command, retook the stockade by assault.

Two of the soldiers, both natives, then bore the wounded officer on a stretcher 500 miles to his post. Blood poisoning meantime had set in, and Jones was conveyed to another post, where a doctor was stationed. His bearers found the doctor absent, and a journey to Nairobi was started. On the way the stretcher was charged by two rhinos, which the faithful orderlies killed. At Nyiri, a doctor and a nurse were found.

The muscles of one of Jones' legs were so shrunk that the leg will always be four inches shorter than the other. The doctors regard Jones' arrival at the hospital alive as miraculous.

Mistrial in Election Case.

Chicago, March 7.—The jury in the case of B. J. Mahony, assistant state's attorney, accused of fraudulently marking ballots in the election of November, 1912, was discharged today, having failed to reach a verdict. The jury deliberated nearly twenty-four hours.

House Adopts Alaska Bill.

Washington, March 7.—The conference report on the Alaska railroad bill was adopted by the house. It now goes to the senate.

THE DAWN OF TOMORROW.

SAXON, WIS., PEOPLE NEARLY LYNCH SUSPECTED FIREBUG

Two Men From Duluth Are Among Those Burned to Death.

Evidence Points to Former New York Waif as the Criminal.

Ashland, Wis., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Suspected of having started the fire that last Thursday night destroyed the Auger boarding house and burned four persons to cinders, Joe Legendre, an ex-convict, was rushed out of Saxon by officers late yesterday afternoon and placed in jail at Hurley, to prevent his being lynched by the angry people. State Fire Marshal Host of Milwaukee will personally superintend the investigation before the inquest is resumed next Wednesday.

Evidence at the inquest implicated Legendre of setting fire to the Auger boarding house Thursday night.

Two of the men burned to death arrived from Duluth on the evening train, but there is absolutely nothing to identify them. The third man was named Newman, a cook, from Escanaba.

Was New York Waif.

Legendre's real name was Savage. He was one of a party of New York waifs sent West for adoption and was adopted by a man named Legendre. He was sent to the reformatory for robbing a saloon keeper at Babcock, Wis., and served a term in Waupun for shooting a blacksmith at Mosinee. He was arrested and bound over last summer on a charge of arson, but the case was dropped. The officers believe he set numerous fires at Saxon during the last two years, and also the two fires Thursday night.

Anna Bowers, the sole survivor of the five persons who were asleep in the boarding house, still is alive.

Big funerals were held at Saxon today for Tillie Auger and the three men.

KENTUCKY WOMAN GUILTY OF KILLING

Pikeville, Ky., March 7.—Mrs. Maud Taylor, aged 30 years, was sentenced to the penitentiary for from two to twenty-one years for the killing of Cleveland Huffman. The case was one of the most noted in the history of mountain troubles in Kentucky. Mrs. Taylor is one of the few women ever convicted on a charge of manslaughter in Kentucky.

NEW WARRANT OUT FOR AURORA MURDER

Girl's Father Hires Lawyer Who Clashes With Prosecutor.

Aurora, Ill., March 7.—A new warrant in the St. Nicholas cemetery murder case was issued last night, charging Anthony Petras with slaying his former sweetheart, 20-year-old Theresa Hollander, but State's Attorney Tyers, in whose absence the writ was sworn out, said that he would oppose serving of the warrant.

"I have just returned from Peoria," said the state's attorney, "and did not even know a new warrant had been asked or issued. We already have one warrant for Petras, a coroner's jury warrant, and there is no necessity for another one. I am willing to accept help from outside attorneys in criminal cases, but I think that I should be notified before steps are taken in a case which has been in my charge."

Girl's Father Responsible.

Petras is now out on $10,000 bail held to the May grand jury. Up to 10:30 o'clock the new warrant had not been served. It was sworn out on complaint of Louis Hollander, father of the murdered girl, who retained Attorney F. R. Reid to take action to hurry the case. Attorney Reid contends that the February grand jury can be recalled from a recess to take up the case, and if it chooses can hold the accused without bail.

LONDON SOCIETY IS DUPED BY IMPOSTERS

Bogus Crown Prince and "Peer" Friend Are Feted.

London, March 7.—All London is laughing over the easy manner in which Claude Grahame-White, the aviator, and a number of the members of the nobility who follow the flying pastime were duped recently by a bogus crown prince of Wurtemburg and his equally bogus friend, "Lord Hope." After enjoying a free flight with Grahame-White, pilot, the "prince" favored the assembled fashionable persons with his company and then disappeared, leaving "Lord Hope" to bask in his reflected glory. This the "lord" did so well that he has been a favored guest of London society leaders for the last week.

It now develops that neither the "prince" nor the "lord" is mentioned in the Almanach de Gotha or Debrett's Peerage, and society is wondering the reason for the hoax, since the men took nothing but an extensive lot of entertainment.

FESTIVAL IS APPROVED

Real Estate Exchange and Svea Club Fall Into Line.

Eleven Big Organizations Have Already Approved the Project.

Two more Duluth organizations have fallen into line and have thrown their support to the midsummer festival for 1914.

The Duluth Real Estate exchange and the Svea Glee club have responded to the call sent out by the Duluth Retail Merchants' committee by approving the plan unanimously and appointing committees to direct the active support of the organizations.

Eleven of the leading organizations of the city have now pledged support to the project by a unanimous vote and have appointed committees to cooperate with the general committee. The other organizations will take action at coming meetings in the near future. No organization has raised any objection to the project and hearty support is expected from all.

The bodies that have already fallen into line are: The Duluth Retail Merchants' association, Retail Grocers, Elks, Shriners, Park Point Improvement club, Woman's council, West End Commercial club, West Duluth Commercial club, Rotary club, Real Estate exchange and the Svea Glee club.

A committee appointed by the Real Estate exchange consists of John A. Stephenson, Charles L. Rakowsky and A. A. Fider.

The Svea Glee club appointed Charles F. Forsell, J. A. Wallin and I. Holmberg.

Union of Singers.

The Svea club suggests the uniting of all singing societies in Duluth to take part in the vocal program. A large open air concert is suggested in the following letter to The Herald:

"To the Editor of Duluth Evening Herald:

"Dear Sir—At the regular March business meeting of the Svea Glee club our attention was called to your appeal to the different societies to line up for the proposed 1915 midsummer festival in Duluth, and it was enthusiastically received and unanimously voted to instruct the secretary to write The Herald with the request to place the club on record as a willing cooperative body in said undertaking. And the following members were appointed to serve as a committee in behalf of our club in conjunction with committees of other organizations: Charles F. Forsell, J. A. Wallin, I. Holmberg.

"Suggestions were freely offered by members of the club as to the nature of our part in the program and the sentiment seemed in favor of uniting all male choruses of Duluth to form one big chorus and give an open air concert, and otherwise assist with renditions of vocal numbers as would seem consistent with requirements at the time.

"For further information write or call chairman of our committee, Charles F. Forsell, 334 East Superior street, city. Very truly yours,

"SVEA GLEE CLUB,
"By THEO. ANDERSON,
"Secretary."

West End Saloon Keeper Arrested for Selling to Blacklisted Man.

If Telesfore Pinsonnault, saloon keeper at 1920 West Superior street, who was arrested by Chief Troyen yesterday afternoon on a charge of selling liquor to Charles Pavey, a "blacklister," is found guilty of the charge, it is probable Commissioner Hicken will ask for the revocation of his saloon license.

Pinsonnault was taken into custody yesterday afternoon and arraigned immediately following his arrest. He pleaded not guilty when brought before Judge Cutting and his trial was set for next Wednesday morning. The saloon keeper was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Some time ago Chief Troyer sent out an order to all saloon keepers in Duluth to the effect that Charles Pavey had been placed on the "black list" and that under no circumstances must liquor be sold to him, at least, until the notice was withdrawn. The order was made upon the request of Miss Anna Pavey, sister of the "blacklister," who complained of his excessive drinking.

Pavey and his sister operate the Bijou theater in the West end. Recently the latter complained to the police and the order was sent to every saloon in Duluth. Pavey lives at 1828 West Second street.

INCOME TAX LIKELY TO MEET FORECASTS

Treasury Officials Expect to Get $50,000,000 Under Law.

Washington, March 7. — The income tax law bids fair to live up to the expectations of the administration by producing about $50,000,000 annually in revenue, paid by about 425,000 individuals.

Although treasury officials decided not to make public, for the present, the reports of internal revenue collectors on the income tax, it became known that more than 400,000 individuals had made returns in the sixty-three collection districts up to Monday midnight, when the time limit expired. From these individuals, it was understood, the government would probably collect more than $14,000,000.

It has been the opinion among officials that thousands of individuals would take advantage of the thirty days' extension of time granted in case of sickness, and they expect the final figures to show at least 25,000 more reporting than were given in the preliminary lists from collectors. If they are not mistaken in this view the actual results will be close to the estimates made at the time the legislation was before congress. This additional number, officials are inclined to believe, will not only include the number subject to the tax, but the amount to be collected.

Including the incorporation tax as amended in the present law, it was estimated that the annual revenue from this source would amount to about $85,000,000.

CUTS THROAT, BUT WILL LIVE

Hans Larson, aged 50 years, tried to commit suicide this morning at the house where he rooms, 3904 West Fourth street. He attempted to cut his throat but will recover, Police Surgeon Murphy thinks.

Larson is single and has made his home in Duluth for the last twenty-six years. He is foreman at the Boston coal dock.

Larson has been ill for some time, and is said to have become discouraged and morose lately, although nothing in the way of taking his own life was expected. It is believed that his mind has been affected by his sickness or through worrying about it. He is at St. Luke's hospital and is believed not to be in danger.

FAT MAN GETS STUCK IN EXIT; NINE CAUGHT

Chicago, March 7.—One man who was too fat to get through a hole in the wall caused the arrest of himself and nine others when the police raided a basement gambling room downtown. When the police came, the players fled for a small hole in the rear wall planned for an emergency exit. One escaped and the fat man, who was second, got stuck, preventing the others from gaining their liberty.

SEBASTIAN BOYS GET $1 APIECE

Chicago, March 7.—Don B. Sebastian and John Sebastian, son and grandson of the late John Sebastian, former vice president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway, were given $1 each from his $62,000 estate, according to his will. The remainder was given to his widow, Mrs. Irene L. Sebastian, who was named executrix. Marcus L. Bell said Mr. Sebastian was on friendly terms with his son, but expected his widow to provide for him.

Terrazas Offered Money.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 7.—Alberto Terrazas, son of Gen. Luis Terrazas, the head of the famous Chihuahua family, said today he had no fears at present for the life of his brother, Luis, who is being held for ransom by the Mexican rebels.

Yet, added to this is his significant qualification that while he is planning to take his wife and four children abroad, "much depends on the treatment meted out to my brother."

Terrazas confirmed the report that his father has offered the rebels 500,000 pesos for the release of Luis.

No Report on Benton.

Washington, March 7.—Secretary Bryan said today that the Anglo-American commission appointed to examine the body of William S. Benton, the British subject, still was in "statu quo." In official circles it was understood the commission will make no further effort to accomplish the task for which it was appointed. Secretary Bryan also said nothing had been received concerning the investigations being made in the Benton and Bauch cases by the Mexican Constitutionalist commission.

The secretary expects to receive the commission's findings in the Bauch case. Gen. Carranza already had declared that any information in the Benton case must be delivered to the British authorities themselves.

Discussed by Cabinet.

The cabinet meeting yesterday developed a discussion of the importance of the future attitude of Gen. Carranza, Mexican Constitutionalist leader, toward the United States. The American government, however, intends to suspend further development of its policy toward Mexico until the Constitutionalist commission appointed by Carranza has investigated and reported on the execution of William S. Benton, a British subject.

High officials of the administration believe the fortunes of the Constitutionalists hang on the report, and that only a clear explanation of the Benton incident and adequate reparation will regain for Carranza and his followers the prestige they had acquired as persons desiring to restore constitutional government to Mexico.

Administration leaders assert the political future of Carranza seems dependent upon the Benton incident, for should the Constitutionalists triumph and Carranza be elected, there are strong indications that Great Britain would refuse to recognize him unless the Benton incident had been settled.

Carranza May Change Mind.

There have been assurances from some of Carranza's friends that the attitude of the Constitutionalist leader that he need not supply information to the United States concerning a British subject would be modified.

SUPERIOR, NEB., BANK CLOSES

Superior, Neb., March 7.—The First State Savings bank of this city was closed yesterday upon the action of bank officials, and announcement made that the institution was in charge of the state banking board.

Heavy demands of depositors, following the failure of the First National bank of Superior, with which the savings bank was formerly affiliated, is reported to have necessitated the closing of the doors. Guy M. Seeman of this city was appointed receiver of the bank. The last statement of the bank showed liabilities of nearly $139,000.

Oppose Seamen's Bill.

Washington, March 7.—Representatives of lake carriers, including W. D. Hamilton and Dennis Sullivan, appeared before the house merchant marine committee to oppose the La Follette seamen's bill. Frank H. Masten of the Cleveland, Ohio, chamber of commerce, advocated a commission to revise and simplify the existing laws on the subject.

NO PLANS YET FOR FUNERAL

George W. Vanderbilt's Burial Place to Be Determined.

Youngest of Famous Family Dies Few Days After Operation.

Washington, March 7.—Arrangements for the funeral of George W. Vanderbilt were delayed today, pending conferences between his brother, Frederick W. Vanderbilt, and other members of the family. Efforts were being made to communicate with William K. Vanderbilt, who is abroad. It is regarded as probable that the body will be taken to New York today or tomorrow and be buried on the old Vanderbilt estate at New Dorp, Staten Island.

George W. Vanderbilt, 52 years old, multi-millionaire, philanthropist and sportsman of international renown, died here yesterday afternoon from heart failure following an operation for appendicitis last Tuesday. His death came suddenly, caused indirectly through the development of pulmonary embolism, which affected the heart, preventing blood circulation.

Death Was Sudden.

Although seriously ill for some time, Mr. Vanderbilt had sustained the operation and continued to show signs of improvement until the complications unexpectedly arose. Previous to their appearance no alarm had been felt for his recovery, and physicians said his condition was improving daily. Mrs. Vanderbilt, who was formerly Miss Edith Dresser of New York, had been continuously in attendance at the bedside. She was almost prostrated by her husband's sudden death.

Ask Burial at Biltmore.

Asheville, N. C., March 7.—The vestry of All Souls' church, Biltmore, of which George W. Vanderbilt was a member, has requested that the body be buried under the chancel of the church here. Close associates here of Mr. Vanderbilt said he made provision in his will for the maintenance of the church and the memorial hospital he built and endowed several years ago. It also was said the Biltmore estate would be preserved. The forests, aggregating about 100,000 acres, however, eventually will be included in the Southern Appalachian National Park reserve.

Youngest of Family.

New York, March 6.—George Washington Vanderbilt was the youngest and probably the least known of the sons of the late William K. Vanderbilt. He never took an active part in the business and financial world where other members of the family gained wealth and distinction. He was a student and a traveler, and his chief interest was his magnificent estate at Biltmore, near Asheville, N. C., where he spent the greater part of his time.

Mr. Vanderbilt was born in the old Vanderbilt home at New Dorp, Staten Island, Nov. 14, 1862. In 1885 he became interested in the wild mountain region of Western North Carolina, and by successive purchases he accumulated an estate of 100,000 acres on the French Broad river and laid out there a vast park and erected buildings on a scale which seldom has been equalled in this country.

Built Model Town.

Mr. Vanderbilt devoted most of his time to the personal supervision of this estate. In the valley he built a model town and called it Biltmore. His farms were filled with blooded stock and he devoted thousands of dollars to the scientific conservation of the forests which covered the greater part of his property.

George Vanderbilt's fortune never was a factor in Wall Street. He was supposed, however, to be one of America's wealthiest men. He had a number of charities and he spent money without stint upon the development of his mountain estate. He seldom came to New York, but spent part of his summers at Bar Harbor, Me., where he had a handsome home.

In 1898 Mr. Vanderbilt married Miss Edith Stuyvesant Dresser. Mrs. Vanderbilt and one child, a daughter, survive him.

It is estimated by some who knew Mr. Vanderbilt well that he had left an estate valued at more than $50,000,000.

BULLETS FOLLOW DOTS AND DASHES

Telegraph Operators' Scrap Over Wire Ends in Shooting.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 7.—Following a quarrel over the wire between two operators of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, Thomas Karr, telegraph operator at Schleisingerville, is at St. Joseph's hospital, and is not expected to live.

Karr and A. La Point, operator at Rugby Junction, had had personal trouble over the wire. Karr came down early today to see La Point about it, and a word fight ensued. Karr slapped La Point's jaw, it is said, and La Point drew his revolver and fired twice at Karr, both shots taking effect. One bullet lodged in Karr's mouth, passing through his cheek. The second passed through the abdominal wall.

La Point is being held pending the outcome of Karr's injuries.

To Grade Turpentine.

Washington, March 7.—As the result of a conference here between representatives of the resin and turpentine and allied interests and the bureau of chemistry, a committee was named to consider ways and means for securing a uniform standard throughout the country for grading of these products. J. A. G. Carson of Savannah, Ga., president of the Carson Naval Stores company, was made chairman of the commission.

TONE UP THE BLOOD

Hood's Sarsaparilla, a Spring Tonic-Medicine, Is Necessary.

Everybody is troubled at this season with loss of vitality, failure of appetite, that tired feeling, or with billous turns, dull headaches, indigestion and other stomach troubles, or with pimples and other eruptions on the face and body. The reason is that the blood is impure and impoverished.

Hood's Sarsaparilla relieves all these ailments. Ask your druggist for this medicine and get it today. It is the old reliable medicine that has stood the test for forty years,—that makes pure, rich blood—that strengthens every organ and builds up the whole system. It is the all-the-year-round blood-purifier and health-giver. Nothing else acts like it, for nothing else is like it; so be sure to get Hood's.

GET CLOSER TO FARMERS

D. & I. R. Experts Will Visit Farms on Special Tour.

Home Life and Boys' and Girls' Clubs to Be Featured.

Teaching agriculture and home improvement to farmers in the rural communities rather than giving lectures and demonstrations in the cities will be the aim of the agricultural department of the Duluth & Iron Range Railway company this spring. The agricultural department of the railway company is now working in conjunction with the extension department of the University of Minnesota Agricultural college, and the two will co-operate to develop St. Louis county agriculture.

W. A. Dickinson, agricultural superintendent of the D. & I. R., said today that the agricultural special would start out the second or third week in May this spring instead of in April as has been the custom during the last few years. This will give the farmers time to get their work well under way so that they can better spare time to take advantage of the instruction offered.

"The work will be similar to that of a farm institute," said Mr. Dickinson. "It will consist of lectures, demonstrations and stock judging and home life and club work for boys and girls will be featured. Twelve towns will be visited."

The corps of lecturers and demonstrators will consist of the best instructors in St. Louis county. The list of instructors and the itinerary are now being arranged. The route will be over the D. & I. R. and the D., M. & N. roads.

Great interest has been taken in the agricultural specials in the past, Mr. Dickinson says, and last year the train was visited by 22,000 persons. By getting in closer touch with the farmers and farm conditions, much better results are expected this year.

VINCENT HEAD OF EDUCATORS

G. E. Vincent, University of Minnesota, president; Mrs. J. T. Brown, Chicago, vice president; Daniel R. Forgan, Chicago, treasurer; Henry F. Cope, Chicago, general secretary; A. W. Harris, Northwestern university, chairman executive board; C. M. Stuart, Evanston, Ill., recording secretary.

The new directors are: Miss Jane Addams, Chicago; President Hyde of Bowdoin college; Dean Brown of Yale Divinity school; Governor Simeon E. Baldwin of Connecticut; Miss Grace Dodge of New York City, and George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia.

Weigle State Director.

The new state directors are:

Colorado—President Frank P. Rall, Denver; Illinois, W. C. Bagley, Urbana; Georgia, W. J. Gwynne; Indiana, W. L. Bryan, Bloomington; Minnesota, L. A. Weigle, Northfield; Virginia, President F. W. Boatwright, Richmond; Mississippi, Rev. R. T. Selby, Brookfield; Pennsylvania, Dr. Joseph Swain.

General Secretary Cope suggested Buffalo for the next convention, the subject to be child welfare. He also suggested a convention at the Panama exposition.

ADMINISTRATION FORCES DEFEATED

Opposition Captures Deer River Caucus and Names Ticket.

Deer River, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The administration caucus to nominate candidates to be voted on next Tuesday was held at 8 o'clock last night and adjourned, with a full ticket made up in forty-five minutes. Opposition was alert, and with a strong phalanx swamped the administration side and named all new men. The opposition centered strongly against A. D. Ingersoll, who has been clerk of the board for several years. It is said that, fearing saloon control, most of the business men are active for a change of officers.

Following is the ticket nominated: President, Henry G. Seaman; trustees, A. McCallum, P. J. Daly and O. H. Sweum; village clerk, R. F. Beall; treasurer, S. J. Moran, the present incumbent; justice of peace, Ed Chill; constable, E. R. Tellin.

It is expected the defeated faction will get up another ticket and a spirited battle is looked for on election day.

IRON RIVER, MICH.

Iron River, Mich., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Delore Bruno and Miss Laura Duff were quietly married on Sunday by Rev. Father Lenhart. They left Tuesday to make their home in Washington, where Mr. Bruno is in business.

The Brides' club met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Walter Sweet.

Mrs. Shields and Mrs. Plecta of Crystal Falls were guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duff, on Monday.

A son was born on Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Laing.

The first passenger train over the new St. Paul railroad left here Monday morning. About 100 people made the return trip to Channing.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollin of Crystal Falls were in town Monday.

Mrs. William Jobe of Crystal Falls was a town visitor on Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Libby spent the week in Chicago.

Mrs. Williams Embs is spending a few days with relatives in Escanaba.

BESSEMER NOTES.

Bessemer, Mich., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Johnston left Monday for an extended visit at Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. S. H. Holly, who has been visiting at the home of C. E. Holly, left the latter part of the week for Duluth.

Mrs. John Luxmore spent Thursday afternoon with friends in Ironwood and Hurley.

Mrs. Alex Caldwell of Minneapolis and Mrs. Estella Cstermeyer of Spokane, Wash., are visiting at the home of Mrs. E. Morse.

The Misses Helen MacFarlane and Erma Webb left Saturday evening for Ann Arbor where they will take up nursing.

Mrs. M. A. Dyer has returned from Ashland, Wis., where she visited her sister, Mrs. Cochran.

Joe Duda, formerly of this city, who has been at Saskatoon, Sask., Can., has returned to Bessemer and will spend some time here visiting his mother and other relatives.

At the last meeting of the Bessemer Improvement association the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Edward Pascoe; secretary and treasurer, W. O. Forman; members of the executive committee, Mrs. Knight, Miss Vomestak, Messrs. Baird, Bayliss and Cobb.

Mayor Byrne has let a contract to William Martens this week to erect a building on the corner of Case and Sellar streets, 22 by 46 feet. The first floor will be arranged for business block and the upper story for living rooms.

DENIES NEW TRIAL IN KIDNAPING CASE

Judge McClenahan Rules Against Men in Crosby Affair.

Brainerd, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arguments consuming two hours were made in the so-called kidnaping case, wherein the defendants asked for a new trial. The motion was denied by Judge W. S. McClenahan. The trial relates to the alleged kidnaping of one Teodor Sjogren from Crosby at the time of the miners' strike last spring. Appearing for the state were Assistant Attorney General Alonzo J. Edgerton and County Attorney G. S. Swanson. For the defendants, Peter L. Newman and William J. Sullivan of Crosby, appeared Alderman & Clark and M. E. Ryan of Brainerd. An appeal will now be taken to the supreme court.

The Most Modern Homes Use Electrical Appliances

Even homes enjoying the advantages of Electric Light have not reached the highest point of domestic efficiency, unless they are equipped with one or more of the handy electrical household appliances. Besides a saving of time and labor, tasks are performed better and with an indescribable feeling of satisfaction.

Lessen the Household Labors

An Electric Vacuum Cleaner cleans thoroughly and quickly. It does not stir up the germ-laden dust as a broom does, and it avoids the back-breaking labor of sweeping. An Electric Sewing Machine Motor allows you to do a great deal more work than you can accomplish on a foot-power machine—saves time and strength as well. You owe it to yourself to investigate.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

ALTON, Ill., is to have a city plan made for her. Dr. Werner Hegemann, of the Association of American City Planning and Engineering Workers, will be in Alton for a week, at the invitation of the Alton Board of Trade. The fee charged is easily within the reach of the board of trade. If the plan to be suggested by Dr. Hegemann is lived up to, Alton will not be left a city of helter-skelter arrangement. Dr. Hegemann will make a survey of the city, and after his week's work he will give his conclusions. He will be asked to make suggestions about the water front, and also about how the city back on the hills should be arranged. He will give suggestions as to city parks and boulevards.

American cities are alike in that they have grown in almost any old way, no systematic plans for their development having been followed, and Duluth is no exception to the rule. This was strongly pointed out by Prof. Smith, superintendent of the highway division of the university of Wisconsin, in an address delivered recently before the West Duluth Commercial club. He earnestly advocated city planning and urged that Duluth lose no time in making a start, asserting that the advantages and financial returns would be manifold. In European cities arbitrary rules governing building and development are strictly enforced.

SON'S CONVICTION MAY KILL MOTHER

Aged Parent of Matt Holum Near Death at Milton, N. D.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The conviction here yesterday of her son, Matt Holum, of murdering his wife may result in the death of Mrs. Holum, the 80-year-old mother of the murderer, who lies ill at her home at Milton.

A constant attendant for several days at the trial of her son, she was found lying on the floor of her room in a local hotel, senseless, the result of worry over the case.

Removed to her home, she has failed to rally.

Holum Is Unconcerned.

Holum accepted the verdict of the jury that condemned him to fifteen years' imprisonment as stoically as he has followed his entire trial.

It has come from the jury room that the first ballot resulted in conviction. That is, the jurors voted on the question of whether or not Mrs. Holum was killed by her husband, or was kicked to death by a horse. Each of the twelve men voted that she died at her husband's hands.

CORNELL DEBATERS WIN FROM PENNSY

Philadelphia, March 7.—The Cornell negative team defeated the University of Pennsylvania affirmative team here last night in the triangular debate between Pennsylvania, Cornell and Columbia on the question, "Resolved, that the states should, by law, enforce a minimum wage for women and children in mercantile and industrial establishments."

The judges were Justice Von Mosch Zisker of the supreme court of Pennsylvania; Judge Isaac Johnson of Delaware county, and Harry D. Westcott. The Pennsylvania team was composed of Walter M. Burkhardt, Wallace C. Arnold and Homer R. Sullivan. The Cornell team consisted of Charles W. Harrison, H. A. Wichlens and R. Riegelman.

CARING FOR COUNTY POOR

Relief Extended to 263 Persons at Poor Farm in February.

Thirty-Eight Patients Are Treated at the Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

Relief and medical attendance were extended to 263 persons at the three institutions maintained by St. Louis county at the poor farm during the month of February, according to the monthly report of Dr. C. J. Woolway, medical superintendent. The report shows that the daily average was 206 persons.

During the month 120 patients were cared for at the county hospital. Of this number forty were discharged. Of those discharged, four were sent to St. Luke's hospital for operation, and three transferred to the tuberculosis sanitarium. There were five deaths among the hospital cases.

During the month, 105 inmates were cared for at the almshouse, many of whom received treatment for minor ailments in the county hospital section in the same building. Three of the inmates were discharged and one, aged 56, died.

Thirty-eight patients were given treatment and care at the tuberculosis sanitarium. Of this number two were discharged and four died. Two of those who died were in the institution but two days, one, six days, and the other, ten days.

A summary of the population statistics for the last month follows:

Total population, three institutions, Feb. 1, 202, divided as follows: Inmates, almshouse, 102; hospital cases, 71; tuberculosis patients, 29.

Outside of the poor farm during the month of February, Clerk Charles Shogran of the poor commission provided $1,068 worth of groceries to poor families throughout the county. In all 180 grocery orders were issued involving about 700 needy persons.

The average sum expended by the county in each case was $5.93. Out of the 180 cases, 113 were $10 orders, 51 were $8 orders, 12 were for $12 each and four for $16 each.

The following sums were expended in the various localities of the county for groceries: Duluth, $484; Eveleth, $116; Virginia, $92; Buhl, $72; Hibbing, $40; Gilbert and Sparta, $44; Aurora, $24; Ely, $60; Tower, $16; other localities not classified, $80.

SAYS MONEY WAS LOANED

A. J. Whiteman Denies Anything Criminal in Zion City Affair.

Is Now Employed in Chicago in an Insurance Office.

Waukegan, Ill. March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. J. Whiteman arrived in Zion City Wednesday night on the 7:06 train from Hot Springs, Ark. He was accompanied by Apostle F. M. Royal and A. A. Walker, chief of police at Zion City. Mr. Whiteman immediately conferred with Overseer Voliva and Apostle Royal, and later Mrs. Sarah Conder was brought face to face with Mr. Whiteman, and she was asked to explain the transaction whereby the $2,500 was transferred to him. Mr. Whiteman claims that he received the money merely as a loan, and was given until July 1 to refund it. He claims that he secured this loan to cover a mortgage that was due on some property in the state of New York.

Not a Zion Member.

The statement was made in Chicago papers that Mr. Whiteman was a minister of the gospel and connected with the Zion movement. Mr. Voliva absolutely denies the statement. He says that Mr. Whiteman and Mrs. Conder are not members of the Zion church, although he does admit that Mr. Whiteman's mother has long been affiliated with the Zion movement. It was stated that Mr. Whiteman will set to work, through his attorneys, to secure money on property which he controls in New York state, to refund this loan within ten days, and it was said that he was prepared on his arrival to refund a large portion of the money transferred to him.

Mr. Whiteman said that he was completely surprised at the action taken by Mrs. Conder, because the money was loaned him at least a month before he left for Hot Springs, showing clearly that he did not attempt to flee the country with the money. He says his whereabouts were also known and he purchased a return ticket when he left Zion City for Hot Springs, Ark. He also claims that he received a wire on Saturday last saying that his mother was sick, and would have come immediately had he not been detained.

Merely a Loan.

"The money," he said, "was merely handed me as a loan until July 1, and there was nothing secret in the whole transaction. I obtained the money from Mrs. Conder on Jan. 12, and I remained in Zion City until Feb. 14, so the statement is absolutely false, which was made in the papers that as soon as I received the money, I fled the country. I also told Mrs. Conder, before I left Zion City I was going to Hot Springs for three weeks, and I had daily correspondence with Zion City while I was away. Benjamin Sweeney wired me on Saturday last to come home at once as my mother was very ill, and I would have done so if I had not been detained by Pinkerton's agents who were seeking another man in the hotel, whom I knew five years ago but about whose transactions I was absolutely ignorant. I was not placed under arrest at all over the Zion City affair. There were no warrants served on me, and in fact the whole matter has been settled satisfactorily without going to court. I went to Hot Springs to take the baths and drink the water as I had been sick for more than three months."

Mr. Whiteman wished to emphatically contradict the fact that he was a minister of the gospel as was stated. He has no connection with the Zion movement other than that he is friendly to Voliva and the Zion teaching, his mother being a member of the church. He is employed in Chicago in an insurance office and goes daily to the city.

ANDERSON HEADS ATHLETIC CLUB

Adams Association Plans Series of Dances for Summer.

The Adams Athletic association held its annual election of officers last night at its club rooms, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Henry A. Anderson was elected president; Charles Albright, vice president; John Geistman, secretary and treasurer; Harry Peterson, property man, and Michael Atol, sergeant-at-arms.

The club made plans for giving a series of dances this summer at one of the West end halls. These dances have proved popular with the young people of the city and are expected to be a success this year.

A committee was also appointed to make arrangements for the annual banquet of the organization. The committee members are Harry Peterson, Clarence Rankin and John Eckman. The banquet will be held the latter part of this month in one of the West end hotels.

LARGE CROWD AT CHURCH BENEFIT

An interesting program was given last evening at the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, for the benefit of the Sunday school. The affair was attended by a crowd which taxed the capacity of the club rooms.

Readings by Agnes May Johnson and Miss Dorothea Patton; "chalk talks," by C. B. Gilbert; vocal solos by Miss Esther Larson, Sydney Mortenrud and Mrs. C. B. Gilbert; songs by the Svea Glee club, and violin numbers by the Lavick brothers featured the program.

BOYLE LAUDS LABOR REFORM

Approves Compensation Act and Minimum Wage Scale for Women.

State Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth was the principal speaker last night at the meeting of the French Naturalization club at the French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Mr. Boyle spoke on the workingmen's compensation act saying, that it was a great boon to the workingman and that although it was not perfect, in time, he said, amendments to better it could be made by the legislature.

Senator Boyle also touched upon the proposed law providing the minimum scale of wages for women would bring more men into employment. Employers, he said, would soon realize that when they could not employ women under a specified wage scale, that they would pay a higher wage to men and employ them. He also touched on sanitation in factories and workshops.

PLAN TO RAISE FUND FOR PAVING

Business Houses Will Be Asked for $20,000 for Third Street.

An attempt will be made to raise $20,000, the amount said to be required above the amount which property owners will pay for the paving of Third street from Vernon to Fifty-fourth avenues, according to action taken last night at the meeting of the Onecta and Hazelwood Improvement club. Members of the club will attempt to raise the money through the large business houses of the city, which are interested in having a good thoroughfare between the city proper and West Duluth.

The club adopted resolutions calling for the building of an additional four rooms and an assembly hall to the Merritt school. Members of the club stated that the building was now taxed to its capacity and that the additional room would be required to meet the demands of the rapidly increasing population.

The following chairmen of committees were named by L. A. Larson, president of the club: Fred Jeffreys, public utilities; L. A. Larson, public works; Emil Krebs, finance; B. A. Wicklund, schools and parks; J. B. Gibson, social affairs, and John Bodin, economy.

Hike to Cabin.

A party of West end young people will enjoy a hike this evening to a cabin at Woodland, where a program of games and other amusements has been planned. The party will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Meagher. Among those who will make up the part will be: Misses Thyra Peterson, Geneva Dehl, Lillian Peterson and Lillie Whittle, and Messrs. William Drennan, O. Jackson, Clarence Rankin and Earl Chamberlain.

Will Give Program.

The Young Ladies' society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will entertain Wednesday evening at a social and literary program in the church parlors. The following program has been arranged:

West End Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hime, 2028 West Superior street, have as their guests this week, Miss Lena Redlich of St. Paul, and Elmer Donaldson of Minneapolis.

Gust Hjerpe left this noon for Two Harbors.

A musical and literary entertainment was given last evening by the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street.

Miss Marguerite Culkin, social center director for the city was the principal speaker last night at the meeting of the Adams School Alumni association. A literary program was given by the members.

Alec A. McNeil of Minneapolis, who has been visiting relatives in the West end for the last week, left for his home yesterday.

George E. Blair of Calumet, Mich., is spending a few days visiting in this end of the city.

NORDICA'S HEALTH GETTING BETTER

Thursday Island, Australasia, March 7.—The condition of health of Lillian Nordica, the American singer, is said by her physicians to be improving steadily. She hopes to be able to leave here on March 28.

Mme. Nordica suffered from a serious attack of pneumonia in December, brought about by shock and exposure at the time of the grounding in the Gulf of Papua of the steamer Tasman, on which she was a passenger.

EXPLANATION BY EARLING

Head of C. M. & St. P. Answers Commerce Commission Charges.

Says Apparent Discrepancies Were to Meet State Law.

Washington, March 7.—An explanation of conditions on which were based the charges made yesterday by the interstate commerce commission against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, is made by A. J. Earling, president of the road. Mr. Earling gives the reason for the apparent overvaluation of the investment in the Puget Sound extension and asserts there had been "no intention to make other than accurate statements of its operating or financial condition for the purpose of promoting the sale of its stock or for any other purpose."

The statement says that the original stock of the Puget Sound company was $3,000,000. When the construction of the extension was nearly completed, it was found that a mortgage for $200,000,000 will be needed to conclude the construction and for equipment to provide future extensions. A mortgage for $2,000,000 was issued. The statement says that the laws of the state of Washington, in which the Puget Sound line was incorporated, provide that bonds issued by railroad companies should at no time exceed double the amount of the capital stock. Accordingly the capital stock was increased from $3,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Still Holds Stock.

"Certificates representing this amount of stock," the statement says, "were delivered to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company on Jan. 2, 1909. This company has ever since held these certificates; it has not parted with a single share of these stocks and never will.

"This stock was carried on the books of the St. Paul company at $10,000,000 until Jan. 1, 1913, when it purchased the Puget Sound company, and since then it has been treated by the St. Paul company and carried on its books as a title.

"It was carried on the books of the Puget Sound company at $100,000,000 in order to make it valid stock under the laws of Washington. While this was not in strict compliance with the accounting rules of the interstate commerce commission, it was necessary under the laws of Washington in order to give validity to the bonds.

Action by Commission.

"About a year ago the commission called attention to the accounts of the Puget Sound company in connection with itss construction and early operation. After several conferences with a member of the commission it was recommended that accounts which had been questioned should be revised. Practically all of the accounts have been revised in conformity with the requirements of the commission.

"These differences in accounting occurred during the transition of the Puget Sound lines from a construction to an operating condition, covering three years or more. Construction and operation work was carried on simultaneously, necessarily leading to accounting discrepancies in auditing reports of large numbers of new men who were not familiar with the classification of accounts as prescribed by the commission.

"The allusion to the sale of Puget Sound bonds, has reference to the sale of $25,000,000 of the first mortgage bonds of the company in the spring of 1911. Nothing in connection with the revision of these accounts can have any effect on the assets of either company, or the value of Puget's Sounds's bonds or the security behind them."

The statement was several hours in preparation. Mr. Earling being in conference with legal counsel for the railroad and several other railway officials.

Trustee's Sale of Manufacturing Plant and Equipment

The real property of the Minnesota Screen company, consisting of eight lots in Virginia and the factory erected thereon, and all the machinery installed therein, together with the furniture and fixtures, stock and supplies, will be sold at public auction at the factory, in Virginia, on Saturday, the 14th day of March, 1914, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day.

TRULY LIVE ANIMALS AT JINGLING CIRCUS

Forest Reserve Will Supply Wild Beasts--Daring Feats Planned.

The menagerie of the Jingling Bros.' circus, which is to appear at the Y. M. C. A., March 23 and 24, promises to be the best ever exhibited at a "Y" circus. M. M. Hanna is arranging with the forest reserve officials to secure some of the wild animals for a special exhibition.

Rehearsals are now under way for some of the ring stunts and part of the musical program. The rube band rehearsed in the Y. M. C. A. basement last night behind closed doors until stopped by the police for creating a nuisance.

The leap for life, a death-defying and hair-raising stunt, is to be one of the many hazardous stunts.

Seven clowns are rehearsing and one of the board of trade members, who is to perform in this capacity, is talking of making this profession his future life work.

Well-known business men are being drafted into the service to serve on all the principal committees. Commissioner Hicken is being urged to sell pink lemonade.

EPISCOPAL DEAN BARS THE TANGO

Spokane, Wash., March 7.—The Very Rev. H. W. Hicks, dean of All Saints Episcopal cathedral, has barred the dancing of the tango in his parish. The current issue of the cathedral paper contains the dean's prohibition against the tango, but gives his approval of the hesitation waltz and one-step. The dean, in his announcement, says:

"Two young people interlocking knees and putting their chests together and then pushing each other across the floor with a duck-like walk, are not dancing, and until society can become sane and return to those dances which express true rythm, no dance where an admission fee is charged can be given by an ysociety of the cathedral parish."

DISCOUNT ON DUTY ORDERED

Five Per Cent Clause of Tariff Law Declared Valid.

Importers Win and Are Ready to Fight Any Appeal.

New York, March 7.—A 5 per cent discount on all imports carried by ships of American registry, as provided for in the new tariff law, is granted by the board of United States general appraisers in an opinion given by Judge B. S. Waite. The board held that the favoring of American shipping was the plain intent of congress in framing the statute, and that the allowance to American vessels did not impair treaties with foreign countries.

The act allows a discount of 5 per cent on duties of all merchandise imported in vessels of American registry, provided that the granting of this discount does not involve violation of any treaty.

The decision, if it is upheld by the higher courts, to which an appeal will be taken, will affect four ships of the American line from Southampton to New York, two ships of the Red Star line and all coastwise vessels, which by law are all of American registration.

No Nation Favored.

The board further states that this is not a statute extending favor to any particular country, but rather an offer to all importers of all nations to make use of the reduction allowed by American shipping. The treaties involved, reads the opinion, being in effect with Austria-Hungary, Great Britain, Holland, Germany and other powers, were not self-executing, and the matter of their application was a political one, not within the jurisdiction of the courts.

The contest over the provision of the statute was begun about November, when Attorney General McReynolds informed the various port authorities that the discount, which was provisionally granted by the statute, could not be allowed to American vessels without a violation of existing treaties between the United States and other powers. He therefore declared it inoperative and instructed port collectors to make no allowance for ships of American registry. Several foreign governments had protested against the enforcement of the provision.

Importers Behind Movement.

Attorney General McReynolds' action was followed by a protest from the importers, which was filed with the board of general appraisers, who have been considering the case since last December.

The decision has caused considerable commotion among the importers in New York.

"An immediate appeal will be taken to the United States court of customs appeals in Washington," said a member of a law firm acting for several large importers in this city. "Our clients, who brought this action after the opinion was expressed by the attorney general last November, will not be satisfied until the case has been appealed to the United tSates supreme court, if necessary."

May Seek Repeal.

Washington, March 7.—If the courts finally sustain the ruling of the board of general appraisers that the 5 per cent discount must be granted imports in American ships under the new tariff law, the administration in all probability will undertake to have congress repeal the sub-section of the law granting the discount. Several nations protested against the provision and it was understood that repeal would be sought. Opposition was expressed, however, by Representative Underwood, majority leader in the house, and other prominent figures at the capitol, and talk of repeal was dropped pending a decision by the courts.

THREE YEARS FOR "FRIEND OF MORGAN"

London, March 7.—John Archibald Campbell Mason, who represented himself as a millionaire and friend of J. P. Morgan of New York, and who was accused of securing $2,500,000 from a Miss Ethel S. Lucena whom, it was alleged, he had promised to marry, was sentenced in Old Bailey criminal court to three years imprisonment, and recommended for deportation on a charge of false pretenses.

Mason secured membership in two leading clubs here by representing himself as a member of the Knickerbocker club in New York city. Also, through plausible stories, he was able to secure through the American embassy a ticket to the royal enclosure at the Ascot race course, but later was ruled off the turf by the Jockey club.

ANNOUNCEMENT

JOHN R. MEINING

To the Voters and Taxpayers of St. Louis County, Minn.:

Ladies and Gentlemen—I hereby announce myself as a candidate for nomination for election to the office of sheriff of St. Louis county. The custom is, in this county, to re-elect county officials who have served the people faithfully and well.

My terms of service have been characterized by economy of administration, honesty, fairness and efficiency.

By virtue of experience I am better qualified today to maintain a high standard of efficient and economic service than ever before.

I have no dead wood in my corps of deputies. All are able and all are kept busy. All difficulties between employer and employed, when referred to me as sheriff, have been handled with fairness and success. There has been no bloodshed. There has been no persecution.

I have worked harmoniously with the legal department of the county and have greatly facilitated all civil and criminal procedure.

I respectfully ask you to support me for nomination and election, assuring you of my fixed purpose to ever strive to render the best service attainable. Respectfully yours, JOHN R. MEINING.

CHARGES DESERTION.

Ethel Shelley Starts Action to Secure Divorce.

Two months after Homer Shelley had promised to love, protect and support his wife, Ethel Shelley, he broke his vows by deserting her, according to charges made in a divorce action begun yesterday in district court.

Mrs. Shelley, plaintiff, alleges that they were married June 15, 1908, at Windsor, Ont., and shortly afterwards came to the United States, locating in the city of Milwaukee. The desertion is alleged to have taken place on Aug. 9. She asks the court to restore her maiden name, Ethel Grant.

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE.

Marian Strand Charges Twenty-six Years of Cruelty.

On the grounds of cruelty, Marian Strand, 51, wants a divorce from John Strand, 48, to whom she was married at Vadsoe, Norway, March 30, 1884. Suit was filed yesterday afternoon in district court.

Mrs. Strand complains that she has borne brutal treatment at his hands for the last twenty-six years. Several accusations of cruelty are recited. She declares that during the fall of 1911 he attacked her with a butcher knife and that she took a beating at his hands last December.

As a result of his cruelty, she says, her health has been impaired. There are seven children in the family whose ages range from 25 to 13 years. The custody of the youngest child is sought by the mother. She also asks the court to allow her suitable alimony.

PRESIDENT GOES TO SEE OCULIST

Washington, March 7.—President Wilson left at 10 a. m. over the Pennsylvania railroad for Philadelphia to pay his annual visit to an oculist. He expects to return to the capital tonight.

Members of the cabinet and their wives entertained President Wilson and his family last night at dinner at a hotel on the anniversary of the first cabinet meeting of the present administration. Mrs. Wilson, who has been slightly ill for several days, was unable to go, but the Misses Margaret and Eleanor Wilson and their cousin, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, accompanied the president. The secretary to the president and Mrs. Tumulty were the only other guests.

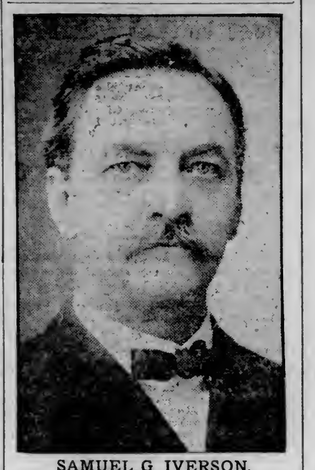
IVERSON IN FAVOR OF COUNTY OPTION AND WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Opens His Campaign for Governor With Speech at Rushford.

Opposes Public Utilities Commission and Declares for Economy.



SAMUEL G. IVERSON.

Rushford, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Samuel G. Iverson opened his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor with an address in the opera house here last evening. This is the state auditor's native place, and he was given an enthusiastic reception by his old friends and neighbors. Delegations were present from Lanesboro and Houston and the surrounding country, and the opera house was filled. Mr. Iverson said:

"The greatest problem before the people of Minnesota at this time is the regulation and control of the liquor traffic. It is the one question upon which the people have a right to ask every candidate for public office just where he stands. In answer to that question I unreservedly declare myself in favor of county option, and, if elected governor, I shall recommend the enactment of such a law. When the traffic has been voted out of a county, city or village the people there should be protected from those who would nullify their act by shipping it in from the outside. I shall also recommend that county boards be prohibited from issuing saloon licenses to road houses, etc. I shall further recommend that we retain the present local option law and extend it to include cities and villages of all classes and sizes and that in city wards where saloons are now permitted the residents of such wards be given the right to vote upon the license question if they wish to do so.

Minnesota Lags Behind.

"In spite of our widespread sentiment against the liquor traffic, Minnesota is far behind sister states on this question. This is through defeat of wholesome legislation. But the liquor interests are riding to a fall, not alone in Minnesota, but throughout the nation. They are making their last fight here this year, their back is up to the precipice, and one step more and the saloon as it now exists, a rendezvous for crime and criminals, with its trail of vice, wretchedness and poverty will be hurled into oblivion. This must come through the ballot box. I appeal to the people to demand of every candidate for the legislature just where he stands on the liquor question. If he is in favor of 'county option' he is, as a rule, right upon all public questions.

"The Invisible Government."

"This unseen power has raised up in our midst a keen and resourceful dictator with unlimited dictatorial powers; he assumes political leadership, dictates who shall or shall not become candidates for even high offices; assumes dictatorship over public policies and directs what legislation shall or shall not be enacted by the representatives of the people in legislature assembled; selects candidates in the several legislative districts throughout the state to represent the special liquor interests in the state legislature; who serve notice on upright citizens of Minnesota that the power of the machine and its wealth will be used to defeat them for legislative honors unless they will promise to be subservient and defend the liquor traffic in the honorable halls of the legislature; who insolently resists every law for the control and regulation of his clients' business. This dictator is both a system and a personality; is the enemy of every ennobling uplift movement; is concerned only in fattening the money bags of the system even at the cost of the hope and ambition, the happiness and lives of unfortunate humanity. Common decency and the inborn love of liberty prompts every free man to strike a blow at this blighting and withering power of darkness.

The Public Utilities Problem.

"I am unalterably opposed to a state commission to take over control of local public utilities. I favor the principles as set forth in the Nolan bill, giving local governmental bodies the right to regulate and even fix prices for the service furnished, and the Minnette bill to permit the physical connection of telephone lines. If elected, I shall recommend the re-enactment of these bills or similar laws. Intermunicipal utilities such as electric lines between cities or villages, telegraph, telephone or companies rendering a state-wide service may properly be entrusted to our railroad and warehouse commission, which is amply able to handle them. The principle of home rule is fundamental and is cherished by nearly all citizens. I am in favor of municipal ownership of all local or intra-municipal service companies such as gas, electric, heat and also local street car systems.

Intelligent Economy Needed.

"As a state, we have become very extravagant. Up to 1912 we had spent $22,454,000 for new state buildings, and $12,500,000 or 55 per cent of that sum within the last ten years. From 1900 to 1910 the population increased 18½ per cent, while our expenditures more than doubled, to 134 per cent. Every legitimate demand to care for the wards of the state should be promptly met, but beyond that it is time to stop the erection of new buildings. Needless departments should be cut out, and co-ordinated with others performing a similar service. There are over sixty such departments nearly all with a staff of inspectors and inspectors of inspectors. Thirty citizens are at present engaged in the laudable work of simplifying this absurd condition of our affairs, and we hope may evolve a sensible working system. Let us spend less money and sympathy on the wrong-doers and criminals and carefully consider the welfare of those who live upright decent lives and those who pay the taxes. Extravagance is today a common thing from the national to village cost. The average rate of taxation in one of our counties is 7.2 per cent. In certain villages the rate is over 10 per cent and while the assessments are not over 50 per cent of real value, it is always true that the percentage rises with the tax rate. In addition to this, while our state debt is very small, the debts of minor municipalities are very large. The latest figures from the U. S. census at hand for comparison show that in Wisconsin the municipal debt per capita was $10.48, in Iowa $7.84, in Minnesota $22.07. We are thus pledging the credit and the earnings of our children to pay present day extravagances. It is safe to presume that those who come after us will have cares enough of their own making. It is imperative that public corporations must curtail their reckless expenditures and in this movement the state should be a model. We need a revival of old fashioned economy."

Mr. Iverson also dealt with the necessity of law enforcement, transportation laws, trusts and monopolies, and declared for the initiative, referendum and recall. He favored a state civil service law; declared for the elective franchise for women; said he would urge a legislative inquiry into the treatment of grain raisers at the terminal stations, and favored a higher scale of indemnity under the workmen's compensation act.

FIFTEEN ARE INDICTED

All But Five Bills Are Kept Secret Pending Arrests.

Burglary, Robbery and Larceny Among the Charges.

Fifteen indictments and two no true bills were returned by the March grand jury, which submitted its final report to Judge Dancer in district court late yesterday afternoon. The jury had been in session since Wednesday.

Of the fifteen true bills, all but five are secret, the defendants not being in custody. The indictments made public were returned against the following:

James Walter McDonald, Jr., charged with grand larceny in the second degree. McDonald, a negro, is accused of having secured a diamond ring valued at $120 from the Henricksen Jewelry company on a worthless check. McDonald claims to be a physician and says that his home is in Minneapolis.

Frank Fisher was indicted for burglary in the third degree. Fisher, aged 36, is charged with stealing a quantity of fish and cheese from a Northern Pacific box car on Jan. 30 last in the company's yards near Garfield avenue, and to have planted it in another car.

John Sayne and Emil Bobolz are held for burglary in the third degree. Bobolz, aged 40, and Sayne, 21, were arrested on Feb. 17 last on a charge of having purloined two sacks of flour from a Soo Line freight car standing in the yards at Rice's Point. They are alleged to have hauled the flour across the bay on sleds, disposing of it in Superior. Both men resided on Garfield avenue.

Mikee Oblin, 22; Daniel Koruga, 25; Isaac Neguin, 29; George Yurcovich, 25; and Peter Kaich, 24, are held for robbery in the first degree. The quintet is jointly charged on two counts with having on Feb. 20 waylaid and robbed Rudolph Baich and William Downes of $9.50 and $15, respectively. The robbery is alleged to have taken place on Commonwealth avenue near the Missabe bridge.

No true bills were returned in favor of John Tuulensuu, who was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of having on Feb. 11 assaulted John Nummenen with a pocket knife, and Frank Conley, against whom a serious charge had been preferred.

A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance, while at the theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling and on all occasions, should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. The board denied a liquor license to George Musolf in township 54-14.

KELLY'S ARMY "PASSED ON"

One California County Spends $709.50 on Railway Fares.

Some Men Lured From Good Jobs Are in the Ranks.

San Francisco, Cal., March 7.—"Pass them along" is the plan on which California communities are dealing with "Gen." Kelly's army of unemployed, now on its way to Washington, D. C., and as a result the tourists are traveling in state.

It cost Contra Costa county $709.50 in railroad fares to ship the army to Benecia, Solona county. Benicia at once made preparations to send the army to Yolo and Sacramento counties. An appeal to the state railroad commission brought permission for the Southern Pacific to grant a reduced fare, but the railroad company itself refused to be a party to any plan "for dumping a lot of undesirables on unoffending communities," and the county officials then agreed to pay first-class fares, as had Contra Costa.

Ready to Call Militia.

There was a hitch while the railroad company rounded up cars to make up a special train, and the army camped at Benicia for the night with Adjt.-Gen. Forbes of the California National Guard on hand to see whether there would be any need of calling out state troops to preserve order.

Contra Costa county was lavish in its hospitality. It distributed to the two camps of marchers 3,000 loaves of bread, six quarters of beef, fifty sacks of potatoes, twelve sacks of onions, a wagonload of fish, and tea, coffee and rice by the hundredweight.

"Col." Louis La Place, attached to the staff of "Gen." Kelly, deserted and returned to San Francisco yesterday to resume his place as a police detective. When the unemployed first invaded the city four months ago La Place was detailed to join them and his identity was hidden so completely that he returned with his head in bandages as a result of a beating given him by the deputy sheriff at Richmond when the army engaged in a riot.

Some Left Good Jobs.

La Place says the army consists of 1,172 officers and privates and is growing in numbers daily; that it plans to divide into two divisions on reaching Kansas, one continuing to Washington, D. C., by way of Kansas City and the other by way of Omaha.

La Place expresses little sympathy with the personnel of the army or the purposes of its leaders. Some of the members, he says, are workingmen who were lured from good positions, and the rest he declares to be incurable vagrants with no thought of looking for work. The leaders, he says, are all professional agitators.

OPPOSED TO NEW RATES

Real Estate Men Ask for Reduction of 8 Cent Minimum.

Merritt's Schedule Good in Theory But Poor Business Policy.

The Duluth Real Estate exchange is opposed to the new rates recently put into effect by the water and light department and favors a return to the maximum 17½-cent rate and a reduction of the present 8-cent minimum, according to a copy of a resolution which has been submitted to Leonidas Merritt, head of the division of public utilities.

The resolution declares that while the 8-cent rate may be theoretically ideal, it is the belief of the exchange that it is too high to retain what is now profitable business of large industrial consumers, who can otherwise secure their water supply; that because there is danger of a time coming when the general taxpayers may be called upon to make up deficiencies and provide funds for emergencies, the rate of 17½ cents for the general consumer is low enough; that bond interest should not be considered in pumping cost; that the rates should encourage installation of sprinkling equipment and standpipes, and that a lower rate should be made for lawn sprinkling.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, Commissioner Merritt and Manager Reed of the water and light department have requested an expression of opinion from the real estate men as to their views relative to city water rates, etc., and whether such rate should be equal for all consumers, domestic and industrial.

"Be it resolved, It is the opinion of the Duluth Real Estate exchange that the rates should have a larger spread than that between 8 and 15 cents per 100 cubic feet. The rate of 8 cents is too high to keep what is now profitable business of large industrial consumers, who can otherwise obtain their water supply. We believe that an 8-cent rate minimum may be proper theoretically, and may be ideal, but we believe that the large consumers will make arrangements to get their water supply at a lesser cost.

Business Policy.

"We think it good business policy to make the rates at a figure low enough to hold the bulk of the business on the department's books, providing such rates would still leave a fair profit over and above actual pumping cost and any other expenses directly traceable to such particular service, including interest and maintenance charges or extra expenditures made necessary by such business. Such practice of making a difference of rates is uniformly followed by private business concerns everywhere, furnishing larger quantities at proportionately lower rates than smaller quantities.

"We believe that the plant belongs, not to the consumers only, but to the citizenship, the taxpayers of the city as a whole; that, therefore, the consumers alone are not to be considered. The streets are used by the plant, torn up, thereby causing great inconvenience and expense to all taxpayers, and frequently are not properly replaced. Credit of the city as a whole is pledged for all indebtedness of the plant.

"If the plant is run solely to make the lowest possible rates for consumers, there is danger of a time coming when general taxpayers may be called upon to make up deficiencies and provide funds for emergencies, and therefore we believe that the rates for the general consumer, 17½ cents, are low enough for the present. It is our belief that the plant should be run strictly on the best business principles and all money possible collected from big consumers, even at lower rates when necessary to hold the business. We believe a surplus should be built up, invested in additional equipment and extensions, thus increasing the value of the whole. The time may come when the plant alone, without the credit of the city, can finance its indebtedness, and on its assets alone sell bonds for new funds; in which case, after allowing the city some compensation for the use of its streets, avenues and alleys, it should be fair to consider only rates satisfactory to the majority of consumers in numbers, thereby favoring the smaller consumer and establishing very low rates for him and proportionate rates for others, but such a time we believe is far distant.

Taxpayers First.

"It is our belief that all taxpayers as a whole should come first, the consumers next.

"It is our belief that the interest on bonds should not be chargeable as an item in figuring the cost of pumping water.

"The city as a whole, and every person in it, is benefited by reason of an efficient water and gas plant; the city is more desirable as a place of habitation by reason thereof, whether the person is a large or small consumer, whether he is a property owner or not.

"The citizens finally are guarantors of the bonds, and as such are entitled to benefits such as rates that will encourage the installation of sprinkler equipments, standpipes in buildings, and any other methods that will save the city and fire department expenses, and that will result in the lessening of the fire insurance rates, all tending to prevent conflagration.

"We also believe that a lower rate than 8 cents should be made for lawn sprinkling whether done during the day or night, as the beauty of lawns is a decided asset for any city and enhances the value of the property therein. Lawns are not only for the pleasure of those who maintain them but for all citizens who enjoy their proximity. It is our belief that the best exemplifications of why the cost of pumping water should not be charged with the interest on the debt is illustrated by two cities, one having no debt against its water plant and the other having a debt. In the first instance the city had at some time furnished all the funds necessary for the equipment and acquisition of the water plant, and if it was just to charge the cost of pumping with this item, such cities should receive interest from the department for all such funds previously expended."

DAMAGES FOR WIFE'S DEATH

Alfred Mayer Not Satisfed With "Pneumonia" as the Cause.

Circumstances leading up to and surrounding the death of Rose Mayer, 35, wife of Alfred Mayer, 2501 West Superior street, on the night of Feb. 2, may form the basis of a claim for damages for alleged wrongful death.

This was indicated today in a petition filed this morning in probate court by Alfred Mayer, husband, who is seeking letters of administration on her estate. In his petition Mayer states that her estate consists of personal property worth $250 and a cause of action for alleged wrongful death.

Mrs. Mayer is reported to have died at the hospital following a short illness with pneumonia. Besides her husband, she left four small children, ranging in age from 9 to 2 years, surviving her. Mr. Mayer would not give any details regarding the contemplated suit.

Dolfilo Lemire, 61, 1021 Minnesota avenue, petitioned the court for the appointment of George Harris as administrator of the estate of his son, Ollvine Lemire, whose death occurred in this city on Feb. 27 last. Lemire left personal property worth $750 and real estate valued at $2,875. The younger Lemire was 33 years old.

Hjalmar Gustafson, who died Feb. 17 last at Chisholm, left an estate of $1,200, which will be divided between his two minor daughters, Elvera, 14, and Mary, 12. Gust Peterson of Chisholm today petitioned for letters of administration on his estate.

OBITUARY

Chief Justice Harry H. Clabaugh of the supreme court of the District of Columbia died suddenly at Washington, March 6, of heart disease. He was 58 years old.

Sir George William Ross, senator of the Dominion of Canada and former premier of the Province of Ontario, died at Toronto, Ont., March 7, after an illness lasting several weeks. He was born in 1841. By profession, a lawyer, Sir George was known popularly as the "Father of the New Ontario," owing to his immense activities in the development of that province. He was recognized as one of the best public speakers in the Dominion. He was strongly in favor of reciprocal trade relations with the United States, and a resolution introduced by him in 1882 gave birth to the movement for reciprocity. He was called to the senate of Canada in 1907 and was knighted by King George in 1910. Sir George was a prolific writer on educational subjects, temperance and contemporary history.

Read Admiral George A. Lyon, U. S. N., retired, died in Philadelphia, Pa., March 6. The body was taken to Erie, Pa., where the funeral services will be held. He was 76 years old.

McDONALD RETURNS.

Immigration Officer Visits Eastern Points on Trip.

Brown McDonald, local immigration inspector, who took seven aliens to Eastern ports two weeks ago for deportation to their respective countries, returned this morning. While east Mr. McDonald attended the first anniversary dinner of the department of commerce and labor, held at the Raleigh hotel at Washington last week.

At the dinner in Washington were present Secretary of Labor Wilson, who made the principal address of the evening, other prominent labor men of the country and their wives and daughters. There were 2000 members of the department present.

While east Mr. McDonald spent several days in New York and was in the metropolis during the heavy snow storm last week. There were 12,000 men at work removing the snow while he was there, Mr. McDonald said this morning in discussing the storm.

Louis Moe Called.

Louis Moe, 56 years old, 304 South Fifty-ninth avenue west, died last night at St. Luke's hospital after a short illness. The body was taken to Richter's undertaking rooms to await funeral arrangements. Mr. Moe leaves a widow, one brother, Peter, of Minneapolis, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Sloath of Two Harbors and Mrs. H. Benson of West Duluth. He was a member of the Sons of Norway, which will probably have charge of the funeral.

COAL MAN MAY BUY THE CUBS

Chicago, March 7.—A number of Chicago fans will be partners of John T. Connery if his reported efforts to purchase the controlling stock of the Chicago National league club are successful. Harry Gibbons, the politician, and Fred Blockl, are among those who will take part of the stock, it was learned today.

John T. Connery, who is in New York with the fans who went to greet the returning world tourists, is president of a coal company. He is able financially to take over the controlling interest, it is said, and is a baseball enthusiast.

Chief Umpire "Bill" Brennan of the Federal league and his corps met today and decided on interpretation of the rules. The interpretations, however, will be referred to President Gilmore of the federals before they are adopted and the assignment of umpires to training camps will await the return of the president, who is expected back from New York tomorrow.

GUARANTEE ASSESSMENT

Favored By Realty Exchange for Water Main Extension.

Merritt Says Method Will Be Changed in Near Future.

The Duluth Read Estate exchange favors a guarantee assessment against all property benefited by water and gas main extensions rather than a flat charge per front foot to pay the cost of the work.

The real estate men advocate an annual charge equal to 8 per cent on the cost of the extension, less approximately one-half the income from water and gas received there from each year until one-half of the income equals the annual assessment charge, when the assessments would cease.

Under the method which has been in vogue in the past the water and light department has received an 8 per cent guarantee on the cost of the extension, but it has been paid by those using water. Vacant lots were benefited by having the mains laid ready for use but paid nothing. The proposed change would distribute the guarantee charge equally against all lots, whether utilizing the service or not.

It would also save the department from loss. Under the present system the guarantee payments ceased when the bills equaled 8 per cent. This did not take into consideration the cost of furnishing water. To illustrate, assume an extension cost $1,000. The 8 per cent guarantee would be $80 a year. Under the present system the guarantee payments end when the water consumers are using $80 worth of water. Under the proposed system they would have to be using $160 worth of water before the guarantee payments stopped, which would give the department 8 per cent on the extension and also payment for furnishing water.

The committee which investigated the question, consisting of T. W. Hoopes, N. J. Upham and C. P. Colman, stated that this would make it easier to get needed extensions without causing the department any loss, as occurs under the present system. The committee expressed the belief that the net income of the surplus earnings should be put into extensions. "This will be much better for the city than to invest the surplus earnings in a sinking fund," said the report, "paying it twice the interest it could hope to get, and as the service is increased will add materially to the value and earning capacity of the whole plant."

Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the division of public utilities, states that the present system will not be continued but just what the change will be has not been definitely determined. He said that the recommendations of the real estate exchange will be given serious consideration.

A dispatch from Washington says that John Swinland of Duluth has been granted a patent for a folding umbrella.

Former Alderman Ill.
Ex-Alderman John A. MacDonell who has been recovering from a several weeks' siege of the grip has taken a relapse and is again confined to his home.

Permit Accepted.
Nicholas di Benedotto of Ironwood, Minn., yesterday successfully passed the tests at the navy recruiting station and his application was accepted by Chief Quartermaster Erickson. Di Benedotto will leave for Minneapolis this afternoon and will later be assigned to an Eastern training station.

Sent to Work Farm.
For being drunk a third time, two well-known police characters will have to serve terms on the work farm, having been denied the alternative of paying fines when arraigned in police court this morning. Ole Olson was sent up for sixty days and Albert McGlynn for forty days. They pleaded guilty when brought in police court.

Fined For Contempt.
Peter Brockovich was arrested this morning in contempt of court on a bench warrant sworn out by Judge Cutting. He was subpoenaed as a witness in the case against Gust Suomi two weeks ago, but failed to appear at the trial. He pleaded guilty when arraigned this morning and was fined $20 and costs or twenty days on the work farm. He paid his fine.

Too Little Candy in Pound.
A. Apostalakas, proprietor of a candy store at 111 West Superior street, was arrested this morning on a charge of short-weighing in the sale of candy. He was arrested on the complaint of C. A. Montgomery, state inspector of weights and measures, on a charge of selling fifteen ounces of candy for a pound. He pleaded guilty when arraigned following his arrest and he was fined $20 and costs or twenty days. He paid his fine.

Would Locate Son.
G. M. Miller of Minneapolis has sent a communication to Chief Troyer, asking the police to locate the son of Edgar Bonney, who died in the Mill City last week. It is understood, the communication states, that the dead man's son is either in Duluth or Superior. He is supposed to be working on a railroad.

Swedish Editor to Preach.
Rev. E. Bahlhielm, editor of a Swedish church paper in Minneapolis, will speak tomorrow morning and evening at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

Many More Made Camels.
Duluth temple, No. 186, Camels of the World, added sixty-one to its number at its regular meeting last evening in K. P. hall. Announcement was made that the charter will close next Friday evening. On that evening C. Herbst Morris, international director, will be present to officiate at the closing ceremonies of the open charter. Nomination of officers will take place that evening also and it is expected that a class of about 150 will be added. This will make the lodge membership about 700.

HAPPENINGS AT THE DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY

Located at 118-120 Fourth Avenue West, Christie Building.

The college is now giving lessons by mail in Gregg shorthand at very nominal rates. This course appeals particularly to teachers who can, by taking such a course, get a good start in the work before entering the summer classes in June. The college is in session throughout the entire year, and students may begin with equal advantage at any time.

New classes will be organized on Monday, March 9, in all departments of the school.

The following young people have left the college to accept the following positions: Isabel Anderson, bookkeeper for Bridgeman & Russell Co.; Elmer Lindbeck, bookkeeper for W. B. Rittenhouse; Walter Willman, stenographer for Duluth Engineering Co.; Angela Sever, bookkeeper for Bridgeman & Russell Co.; Arthur Johnston, bookkeeper and stenographer for Manley-McLennan agency; Fred Anderson, stenographer for district superintendent of schools, Hibbing, Minn.

SAYS HE WAS PAID BY BOTH SIDES IN STRIKE

Denver, Colo., March 7.—The congressional committee investigating the Colorado coal miners' strike began its session today with the prospect of having all the testimony in before midnight. The principal witness expected to testify was Adjt. Gen. John Chase, who was to give the military version of the various matters in which the National Guard of Colorado has been concerned.

Arthur Langowski, 21 years old, swore before the committee late yesterday that he received $3 a day from the coal operators while exploding dynamite for the United Mine Workers of America.

Office Men Invited.

George D. McCarthy, secretary of the Duluth Association of Office Men, has received word from the Minneapolis association to the effect that Former President Taft will address them on March 16, and inviting the Duluth association members to attend. An effort will be made to get a good sized delegation from here. Those desiring to go are requested to notify Mr. McCarthy at the Commercial club.

ATTORNEYS WANT ALL THREE JUDGES RE-ELECTED

At an enthusiastic meeting of the St. Louis county Bar association this afternoon at the Commercial club, the re-election of J. D. Ensign, W. A. Cant and Bert Fesler to district judgeships, was unanimously approved. Three vacancies will occur on the district bench to be filled at the next election. L. C. Harris put the motion approving the re-election of the present judges. It was seconded by Theodore Hollister, John Dwan of Two Harbors and Howard T. Abbott and carried unanimously.

About 125 attorneys attended.

The Bar association also passed a motion to ask the court to adjourn over March 17, so that its members might attend the banquet of the Ramsey County Bar association in St. Paul, which will be addressed by former President Taft.

CONFER WITH LAKE LINES

Duluth Firms Will Discuss Refrigerator Service on Lakes.

As a result of the decision recently rendered by the interstate commerce commission, which commands the lake freight lines to provide refrigeration facilities on their vessels for the transportation of dairy products, a meeting will be held in Duluth on Monday of representatives of the lake lines together with the companies here which bore the brunt of the fight for such service.

The local companies—the ones that made refrigeration on lake vessels imperative—are the Bridgeman & Russell company and the Northern Cold Storage & Warehouse company. They bore the expense of the case and went to the trouble of preparing the evidence, but the decision will benefit every dealer in dairy products in Northern Minnesota and every farmer.

The meeting of Monday is to determine among the lines themselves, with the acquiescence of the two Duluth companies, most interested, what vessels will be fitted up for the refrigerating business this spring. Of course, in this connection the schedule of the vessels will have to be considered to a large degree, and it is because of this that the Duluth companies are called into the conference because their important shipping days will have to be considered.

H. S. Noble, manager of the Mutual Transit company of Buffalo wired this morning that it will be convenient for him to be here on Monday; J. C. Evans of the Anchor line has agreed to send one representative of his company, and Edwin T. Douglass, general manager of the Western Transit company has written Bridgeman & Russell that his company will be represented by S. D. Barlow, general freight agent, who will be prepared to deal with the traffic aspects of the situation and by M. L. White, assistant to the general manager, who will be prepared to deal with such operating questions as may arise.

The suggestion for this conference came from the Duluth companies, for, although they had won, they desired to save the transportation companies as much expense as possible and get together with them on a common sense basis; hence the desire to compare schedules with necessities in the matter.

CREW SHIFTS ON ROCK PILE

The Point of Rocks is the scene of a constantly shifting crew of men who are taking advantage of the opportunity afforded to gain temporary employment, enabling them to earn enough money to pay for jobs or get to other cities.

The crew averages about half a dozen men each day, most of whom are secured from the Salvation Army, but the same faces are seldom seen two days in succession. For making big rocks into little stones, reducing boulders to a size that can be handled by the rock crusher, they are getting 75 cents per yard. And the surprising feature is that nearly all who have applied have not been the least bit afraid to work. Although swinging the sledge is a man's size job, they have not been afraid of sweating, as shown by the returns. It is stated at the works division office, where the time checks are approved, that the men have been averaging $1.50 to $2.00 per day. Which means that they have each been producing upwards of two yards of little stones from big stones every day.

The Point of Rocks will be continued in operation as any reasonable demand for it. The city figures that it can afford to keep it going at the price which it is paying to have the rock reduced.

ANTI-MACHINE MEN TO MEET HERE SATURDAY

County Conference in Preparation for March 19, to Be Held at City Hall Next Saturday; Thirty-Nine Delegates to Be Chosen—John E. Samuelson County Chairman.

The time, the place for the elimination conference in St. Louis county have been announced. The committee in charge at Minneapolis decided on March 14, which will be next Saturday, for county conferences, and at that time Republicans of anti-machine tendencies are invited to take part in a county conference and elect thirty-nine delegates from St. Louis county to attend the state conference, which is to be held in Minneapolis March 19.

The St. Louis county conference will take place at the council chamber in the city hall at 8 o'clock in the evening, John E. Samuelson, lawyer, with offices in the Providence building, is county chairman and he invites inquiry as to the conference. He may be reached by telephoning his office, Melrose 582, or his residence, Melrose 3375.

To those who are sincerely desirous of seeing the state machine beaten, even though a few of the candidates refuse to play, this county caucus is of great importance, for on the personnel of the Minneapolis conference a very great deal depends. If its personnel is not representative, the candidates, it is generally conceded, cannot be blamed should they refuse to be guided by its decision; but if the representation is as it should be, the anti-machine candidate who refuses to stand without hitching will be in a position where he can be eclipsed for all time and probably will be.

BUSINESS EXPANDS.

Richard Warner of Grand Rapids, a commercial representative who covers a large trade territory, at the Spalding today declared that business conditions over the Northwest were showing certain indications of improvement.

"There is a greater demand for various commodities now than was apparent two monthes ago," said Mr. Warner. "Even in the Copper Country the increase of business is apparent in the face of the effects of the strike. I have covered a large amount of territory and am convinced of the increased feeling of confidence amoung the business men."

Mr. Warner has made Duluth for a number of years and is well known to the trade here.

CITY'S HEALTH IN FEBRUARY

The health department bulletin for February, edited by Dr. I. J. Murphy, medical inspector, states that scarlet fever is the only contagious disease which was noticeably prevalent during the month.

The number of cases increased from 39 in January to 59 in February and during the first week of March about a dozen new cases were added to the list.

Twenty-seven new cases of tuberculosis were added to the department records in February, the biggest number of additions in the history of the department's tuberculosis work. Most of them were discovered through the clinics at the dispensary and the activity of the visiting nurses.

The bulletin's summary of February conditions is in part as follows:

"Scarlet fever for the third consecutive month continues to be the only transmissible disease at all prevalent in our midst. With the exception of a well localized epidemic on Garfield avenue the cases have been very scattered and have affected both children and adults. This, with other information on file at the health department, would indicate that there has been no common or single source of infection.

"Diphtheria remained about the same; there were twelve cases last month and sixteen this month.

"Measles was quite prevalent, but as a rule no physician was called and it was only by checking up children absent from school that the few cases—thirteen—on our records were discovered.

"Smallpox remained about as for last month. There was only one case more, making twenty-six in all.

"Only one new case of typhoid fever was reported, and that was infected by contact with another member of the family.

"The tuberculosis register was increased by 27 new cases and decreased by 12 deaths. Fifty-seven examinations were made at the free dispensary. The nurses made 178 visits. Sanitarium admissions were secured as follows: State sanitarium, 4; Nopeming, 2; county pavilion, 8.

"The total number of deaths was 109, of which 20 were under 1 year of age."

WILL BE SENT BACK TO ITALY

Refused admittance by Canada, from which country they came to the United States, Marino Papparelli, 23, and his wife, Rebecca Papparelli, 24, who were arrested at Virginia late last December by the local immigration authorities, will be deported to Italy in the very near future.

Papparelli left Italy when but 10 years old, but never became a citizen of Canada, nor did his father, who is now dead. His wife, who was Rebecca Cohen, was born in Roumania 24 years ago and although never in Italy in her life, is now compelled to go back there with her husband. United States and Canada both refuse to keep the couple.

Rebecca was arrested in a disorderly house at Virginia and it was alleged that she was married to Papparelli and that he was living on the proceeds of her shame. It was also learned that they came here from Canada by way of International Falls and had never gained legal admission into this country.

Instead of pressing a white slave charge against Papparelli, the local immigration authorities decided to send him and his wife back to Canada, from whence they came.

IRISH SHAMROCKS GROWN IN DULUTH

Real Irish shamrocks, or rather shamrocks of Irish descent, as they grew in this country, will be seen on St. Patrick's day in Duluth. The plants are the property of Mrs. M. H. Brown and were raised at her home in Woodland. A year ago last October Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. Mary Anne Denny, brought a shamrock plant from Dublin. There was a generous supply of its native black soil clinging to its roots and it stood transplanting and separating so well that now there are about seventy-five plants.

RETELL STORIES OF CALUMET DISASTER

Calumet, Mich., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Persons who testified before the coroner's inquest last January that a man wearing a Citizens' alliance button started the Christmas eve panic here in Italian hall, today repeated their assertions before Representatives Taylor of Arkansas and Casey of Pennsylvania, congressional investigators.

Description of the man varied as greatly as it did before the coroner's jury, which body disregarded this line of testimony in reaching an open verdict.

ELY SCHOOL CASE IS DISMISSED

Thomas Kearney of Fall Lake has dismissed the proceedings which he instituted this week against Stanley Adkins, superintendent of the public schools at Ely, requiring Adkins to appear in district court today on an order to show cause why he should not reinstate Lillian Kearney, a student, recently expelled from the Ely high school.

When the case was called on the special term calendar this morning, Crassweller, Crassweller & Ely, attorneys for Kearney, announced that the case might be stricken. It is understood that the affair has been satisfactorily settled out of court.

Superior

DIES OF PNEUMONIA AND SEVERE INJURIES.

Louis J. Johnson, the farmer from Dewey, Wis., who was brought to the city yesterday suffering from a fracture of both legs and from pneumonia, died last night at St. Mary's hospital. Both legs had been crushed by the falling of a pile of logs on which he was working. Johnson leaves a widow, two sons and three daughters. His father, a brother and sister also survive him. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

Arm Wrenched By Pulley.

Harry Mills, 383 West Fourteenth street, had his left arm torn from its socket in an accident at the Berwind coal dock late yesterday. His arm was caught in one of the pulleys. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital and it is probable that amputation will be necessary.

City Spends $180,802.

During the last year public improvements amounted to $180,802.45, according to the annual report filed by the department of public works yesterday. The larger items are for paving contracts, aggregating $84,454; cement walks, $25,961; sewers, $42,139.88, and water main extensions, $2,930.

Why Should We Suffer?

Why should any person in this enlightened age run the chance of ending their lives in misery? Why should you, my friend, who have everything to live for, neglect your condition and put off treatment for even a day, knowing these facts, when it may be avoided so easily? Knowing that you want to get well, and free from suffering—free from pain, and so that you may profit by newly originated treatment. It matters not how bad your case may be or how different doctors have failed to help you; it matters not how despondent or discouraged you are; it matters not whether you have faith, you will be convinced in a very short time that the Electro Vito treatments will drive all pains from your body, and make the world look brighter, give you more ambition, strength and energy, and start you on the road to health. So do not despair or give up, it is only necessary that you simply try to be yourself again.

Let the Electro Medical Doctors aid you in the restoration of your health.

CHURCH WILL RESUME SERVICES

Repairs at Holy Apostles' Edifice Now Well Under Way.

Sunday school and services at the Holy Apostles' Episcopal church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Elinor street, will be resumed against tomorrow morning. The morning service will be held at 11 o'clock at which time Rev. Wilfred Clarke, rector, will preach.

The alterations and repairs to the church have progressed so far that it is expected that the services will be continued every Sunday from now on. The building has been arranged so that the entry to the church is now Fifty-seventh avenue instead of Elinor street as formerly. A basement has been built under it and the auditorium enlarged and remodeled.

JUDSON RINK GETS ANOTHER TROPHY

Wins in Esterly Event By 14 to 8 Over Evered Crew.

Dr. W. E. Judson and his rink walked off with another of the trophies at the Western Curling rink last night. This time they defeated Evered's aggregation by a score of 14 to 8 in the finals of the Esterly event.

Dr. Judson's rink won the Bagley event Wednesday evening by defeating Ittis, giving the rink two of the trophies. Handsome individual souvenirs usually go with both of these cups, and will be awarded at the annual banquet of the club which will be held during the latter part of April.

Wade also defeated Wieland's rink in the Burns event last night by a score of 18 to 9. This evening Wade will play in the semi-finals with the Brown rink.

Finals will probably be played Monday night in two events. If Brown wins tonight he will play Zauft in the finals of the Commercial club; and the finals in the Union Match or Henricksen will also be played. The Wade rink is in both of the latter finals, and will have to play Ittis in the Henricksen and the Olson rink in the Union Match.

ENTHUSIASM FOR FESTIVAL

Commercial Club Names Committee for Active Co-operation.

P. H. Martin, president of the West Duluth Commercial club; Frank E. Watson and Charles G. Futter will comprise a committee which will represent the local club on the joint committee to have charge of the midsummer festival which is being planned for 1915. The committee was announced last evening at the meeting of the club.

Enthusiasm over the project of giving the city country-wide advertisement as a summer resort and the best place to spend a summer vacation, was evinced by the members. The committee was authorized to assist the central committee in every way possible.

ANNUAL "SPREAD" AT ELY SCHOOL.

The annual "spread" held by the seventh grade of the Ely school was held last night in the hall of the school. Forty pupils of the grade attended. Girls of the class served the banquet. Following the meal short talks were given by some of the pupils. Colors of the class, red and royal purple, and national colors predominated. Miss Minnie Fedl, the class teacher, and Principal H. G. House chaperoned the party.

WOULD BLOCK CITY'S RETREAT

Commercial Club Protests Abandonment of Paving Job.

West Duluth business men do not propose to allow the city commissioners to back up on their order authorizing the paving of West Superior, Jenswold and Oneota streets without protest. At a meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last night a committee was appointed to protest against the proposed abandoning of the project and to bring all possible influence to bear to have the work at least begun this year.

The members of the committee are W. A. Pond, chairman; Frank E. Watson and John Eklund. It is proposed to interview all of the larger property owners along the proposed route, including officials of the Patrick Knitting company, Zinsmaster-Smith Bread company, Duluth Street Railway company, Elliott Packing company, Gopher Realty company, Duluth Missabe & Northern railroad, and many of the smaller owners.

It is contended that this route is the one that will have to be improved first. The principal reason given is that the property owners are willing to pay for the improvement. Another reason is that if the Third street route was first chosen it would mean that team traffic between West Duluth and the city proper would be shut off, owing to the blocking of that street and the impossible condition of Oneota street for heavy draying or even lighter vehicles. It is also claimed by the West Duluth business men that the city commission has no business to rescind the order to pave this thoroughfare without the proper petition signed by the right percentage of property owners.

GOOD TEMPLAR LODGES WILL HOLD A REUNION.

A reunion of all of the Good Templar lodges at the Head of the Lakes has been planned by members of Morning Star lodge, No. 17 of West Duluth, for Tuesday evening. Invitations have been sent to Nordon lodge of Proctor, Harmony and Fram lodges of Superior, and Evening Star, North Star, Lysglint and Vergeland of Duluth.

As a feature of the meeting arrangements have been made to initiate a large class of new members. The initiating officers will be chosen from among the officials of the various visiting lodges. A program of music, addresses and other features is being arranged. All members of the order are invited and members of the committee say that everything will be free.

Dies of White Plague.

Sam Radich, 22 years old, died last night at the Duluth hospital following an illness of four months of tuberculosis. The young man had been boarding at 5602 Raleigh street. His parents are believed to be living in Austria. The funeral will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the St. James Catholic church with burial in Calvary cemetery.

Mothers' Club.

The Mothers' club of the Fairmont school will hold its regular meeting in the school Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Following a short business session an address will be given by Miss Miller, the city tuberculosis nurse.

The hostesses for the afternoon who will serve light refreshments at the close of the session are: Mrs. G. Landry, Mrs. A. La Fortune, Mrs. H. R. Olson, Mrs. C. Vangen, Mrs. Strevels, and Mrs. Jasper.

Will Attend Funeral.

Frank Ehr and daughter, Miss Agnes Ehr, 617 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, and the former's brother, Joseph Ehr, left this afternoon for Portage, Wis., to attend the funeral of their brother, Peter Ehr, who died last night. Mr. Ehr was well known in this end of the city. He had been suffering for several years from cancer. The funeral will be held Monday morning at Portage.

Royal League Party.

Another of the series of private entertainments for members only has been planned for Tuesday evening by the two West Duluth councils of the Royal league. A masquerade will feature the affair. The committee in charge consists of: Mrs. H. J. Liberty, Mrs. J. E. Smith and Mrs. George L. Hise of the Pocahontas lodge; and E. W. Lund, Alex Bergren and Carl J. Nelson of the West Duluth lodge.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Sunshine Circle of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church will be entertained Monday evening at the home of Miss Alice Apland, 4225 West Fifth street. The annual election of officers will be held.

Miss Mabel Folger, 4808 West Sixth street, will entertain Monday evening for members of the Dr. Bacon Missionary Society of the West Duluth Baptist church.

West Duluth Socialists held a meeting last night at Victor's hall, 5528 Grand avenue. The speakers were O. P. Wilson, state organizer and Richard Jones.

The New Duluth Commercial club will hold a meeting at the Maccabee hall Tuesday evening.

Watch repairing. Hurst, West Duluth.

TWO BOYS CONFESS TO $2,000 BURGLARIES

Kansas City Police Are Shown Cache of Young Thieves.

Kansas City, Mo., March 7.—Two penitent boys, according to the police, told a story which explains the disappearance of more than $2,000 worth of jewelry and clothing from South side homes within the last month.

Leo Eagle, 15 years old, and Arthur Rhodes, 16, were conferring in an alley in the middle of the night when arrested. They carried revolvers, blackjacks, pockets full of cigars and matches.

The boys led the police to their cache in a deserted shed back of a downtown theater. A box was dug up in the bottom of the shed. It was full of watches, bracelets and lockets. The boys said they had sold much other loot, including clothing, musical instruments, umbrellas and shotguns.

Today dozens of fashionable women visited the police station to identify various articles of jewelry.

HOIST SAIL ON CAKE OF ICE AND SAIL HOME

Three Wisconsin Fishermen Navigate Green Bay and Cheat Fate.

Marinette, Wis., March 7.—Hoisting a sail attached to an improvised mast on a large cake of ice, Sam and Arthur Knutson and Frank Highlander, three Door county fishermen who were marooned on the ice of Green Bay all night when a large opening in the ice separated them from the shore, were able to navigate successfully across an opening ten to twelve rods wide early today.

The men had been fishing all day Friday, and when ready to return home discovered the wide opening, caused by a shift in the ice, and were kept prisoners until they devised their unusual mode of reaching safety.

SALARIES ARE RAISED

Teachers Given Increases That Will Cost the City $31,000.

Miss Agnes Wells Resigns to Take College Professorship.

Aside from changing the minimum and maximum salary limits, the meeting of the school board last night developed nothing outside of routine business.

Supt. R. E. Denfeld was not present owing to the fact that he was confined to his bed with sickness. The salary matter came up in the report of the committee on schools, which was adopted without change. The recommendation was made that the minimum salary be fixed at $600 a year and the maximum for all grades at $950, an increase in each case of $50, and the maximum for the junior high school at $1,000. The increase in the salary list will amount to about $31,000.

The same committee also recommended the fixing of school term dates as follows: For the next school year—First term to open Aug. 31, and running sixteen weeks to Dec. 18; a vacation of two weeks to intervene and the second term to open Jan. 4, to run twelve weeks, closing March 26; then one week to intervene, the third and last term of the year opening April 15, running ten weeks and closing June 11.

The salaries of several individual teachers were raised because of changes in lines of work.

It was proposed some time ago that unless terms with owners of six lots needed for the proposed new school at Gary and New Duluth were reached, condemnation proceedings should be instituted. This matter came up in regular order last night, but it was decided to wait a while longer to see if amicable terms could not be reached.

Miss Wells Resigns.

The board regretfully accepted the resignation of Miss Agnes E. Wells, who has been instructor in mathematics in the Central high school for years. Miss Wells has been offered and has accepted the chair of mathematics in Carleton college.

It was also announced that Utilities Commissioner Merritt has agreed to let the board pay its water rentals once each month instead of having to pay several times a month at the various pay districts in which the schools are located. It was also decided to cut out the standpipe service in the schools because of the drastic raise of rates for such service.

D. E. Giffit presented a petition signed by a number of residents of Woodland asking that a kindergarten department be established at the new Cobb school. The petitioners pledged the attendance of at least twelve children if the department is started April 13, and more during the next school year. The matter was left to the superintendent to report at the next meeting.

The medical inspector reported that during the month he has inspected 953 pupils and has found a number of ailments, chiefly in the matter of defective eyes, adnoids, tonsilitis and the like. Two cases of tuberculosis were found.

YOUNG MAN HELD FOR LARCENY

Leo Gorman Faces Charge of Stealing Ten Dollars.

Leo Gorman, 17 years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of petit larceny preferred against him by Miss Mercy Haskins of 2601 West Huron street, who claims that he came to her home to collect a bill for $4 and that after she had paid the bill, young Gorman took a $10 bill from the table.

According to the complaint, young Gorman went to the home of Miss Haskins on Feb. 28 last, and told her that he was collecting for his father, James Gorman, a West end plumber. She gave him a $5 bill in payment for her debt of $4 and claims that when she stepped out of the room for a few minutes, Gorman took a $10 bill from the table.

The police said this morning that young Gorman had not been authorized by his father to make any collections.

Gorman will be arraigned in the juvenile court either today or Monday.

NINE PRISONERS WILL BE SENTENCED

Nine prisoners will be arraigned before Judge Cant in district court this afternoon to answer charges preferred against them in indictments returned yesterday afternoon by the March grand jury. The crimes with which the men are charged include highway robbery, grand larceny and burglary.

The defendants are: Mike Oblin, Isaac Neguin, Peter Kaich, George Yurkovich and Daniel Koruga, jointly indicted on two counts for robbery in the first degree; J. W. McDonald, Jr., colored, accused of grand larceny in the second degree; John Sayen and Emil Bobolz, charged with grand larceny in the second degree, and Frank Fisher, indicted for burglary in the third degree.

GETS $4250 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Anna Johnson Settles Case With American Bridge Company.

Anna Johnson, widow of Emil Johnson of this city, who was accidentally killed Sept. 18 last while in the employ of the American Bridge company, has accepted $4,250 from her husband's employers on her claim for wrongful death.

In district court today, the widow, as administratrix of her husband's estate, petitioned the court to set a date for the hearing on an order for final distribution of the fund. Practically all of the expenses have been paid and the settlement will be net to the widow and her three children.

LOSES 6,000-MILE RACE BY HALF HOUR.

Kansas City, Mo., March 7.—Death was the victor in a 6,000-mile race which ended today when Miss Mary Peters arrived here from Paris thirty minutes after her mother, Mrs. Annie Ingles Peters, widow of Mason S. Peters, former Populist congressman from Kansas, died.

ANNA HELD MERE "PIKER"

William Silverberg Planned to Take Bath in Real Beer.

Arrested for Blind-Pigging, Gives Reason for Big Beer Stock.

William Silverberg, 24 years old, although but a cook in the Tampereen hotel, 603 West First street, was planning to go Anna Held one better when it came to taking a real classy bath. The fair Anna, it was press-agented, was wont to bathe in milk. But William told the police this morning that he was going to take a bath in beer, real beer.

At least, this is the reason given by William for having four cases of beer in the kitchen of the hotel, where he is the cook. He said that he has been suffering from a skin disease and that he was told a beer bath would cure it immediately.

Silverberg was arrested yesterday afternoon by Sergeant Fritz on a charge of running a "blind-pig," and this morning Matt Aho, proprietor of the hotel, was taken into custody on the same charge. Patrolman Le Beau reported to Chief Troyer yesterday that he saw a brewery wagon unload several cases of beer at the rear door of the hotel and shortly after a warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Silverberg. His employer was arrested this morning.

Both Silverberg and Aho pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Cutting this morning and their trial was set for 10 o'clock the morning of March 17. Bail in each case was fixed at $100.

FEBRUARY WORK OF ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Eighty-four new cases involving the welfare of 184 individuals were investigated at the hands of the Associated Charities during February, according to the monthly report of the secretary, Miss Edna G. Meeker.

Of the 184 persons involved, seventy-five were grown men, thirty-nine were women and seventy were children. Forty-five of the applicants for relief were transient men. Three widows and one widower also applied for help.

Forty-three personal applications were made at the office of the Associated Charities and thirty-nine cases were brought to the attention of the organization by other societies or individuals. The Associated Charities referred forty cases to others for disposition.

The report also shows the following work done by the society: Visits to homes, 114; reference calls, 102; business calls, 44; calls at office, 690; total number of calls of visitors, 260.

HUSBANDS MUST PAY ALIMONY

Two Wives Secure Orders From District Court Judges.

James Ryia and Frank Broze, defendants in actions for divorce brought by their wives, Victoria Ryia and Rose Broze, were ordered in district court this morning to pay attorney's fees and temporary alimony during the pendancy of the cases against them. Judge Cant ordered Ryia to pay $25 attorney's fees and $5 a week alimony. Judge Fester made a similar requirement of Broze.

This afternoon Judge Dancer will hear the application of May Rose, 18, for an order requiring her 19-year-old husband, Samuel Rose, to pay her money for attorney's fees and temporary alimony. The Roses were married four years ago and are parents of one child. Mrs. Rose claims that he deserted her during the fall of 1912.

TANNENBAUM IS INDICTED FOR RIOT

New York, March 7.—Frank Tannenbaum, the 21-year-old Industrial Worker of the World and leader of a small "army" of unemployed who have been invading churches in this city for the purpose of getting food and lodging, was held for the grand jury in connection with the raid of Wednesday night on St. Alphonsus church by Tannenbaum and 190 of his followers. Tannenbaum, who had been released on $7,500 bail after his preliminary hearing, was held in the same bail. The charge against him is inciting a riot, a felony.

Max Appel, secretary of the International Workingmen's Defense league, organized last Wednesday night, says $30,000 has already been raised for the defense of Tannenbaum.

FOOD PRICES ARE ON THE DOWN GRADE

Highest Level in Twenty-four Years Reached on on Nov. 15, 1913.

Washington, March 7.—Food prices in the United States reached the highest level in twenty-four years on Nov. 15, 1913. Since that date there had been a slight decline in prices, though the average still is well above that of a year ago.

The department of labor has made public a repor showing the retail prices of the principal articles of food as observed by the government's agents in forty of the most important industrial cities of the country.

"Throughout the whole of 1913, high prices prevailed," the report says, "while the last three months of the year was a period of decline in the prices of twelve of the fifteen articles of food."

It further points out that the decline was "more than counterbalanced by an advanced price of eggs to a level never before reached."

For three articles—eggs, cornmeal and milk—the highest price was reached in November. For the remaining seventeen articles—butter, hens, flour, sirloin steak, round steak, rib roast, and lard, pork chops and potatoes—prices were lower than the maximum quoted earlier in the year. A further comparison or retail prices in Nov. 1, 1913, with prices on the same date in 1912, shows that twelve of the fifteen articles for which prices are given were higher and three were lower in price.

ADMITS FRAME-UP IN ABDUCTION CASE

Western Fuel Company Witness' Accuser Drops Charges.

San Francisco, Cal., March 7.—On motion of her counsel, who admitted that she did not have a case, the charge of seduction brought against David G. Powers by Miss Lena Caduff, a candy dipper, was dismissed by Police Judge Crist.

Powers formerly was assistant superintendent of the Western Fuel company, and the charge, coming when he was under subpoena as the government's star witness in the customs fraud cases against eight directors, officers and employes of that company, caused intense feeling between prosecution and defense.

FINED FOR "BEATING DEVIL OUT OF MAN"

Murphysboro, Ill., March 7.—Three members of the "Holy Roller" sect, Adam Cripps, Myrtle Cripps and Ruth Hickman, were fined $50 each here on a charge of assaulting Noah Hickman, an epileptic. They said his epilepsy was the work of the devil and they attempted to beat the devil out of him.

NO HABEAS CORPUS FOR "MOTHER" JONES

Trinidad, Colo., March 7.—Judge A. W. McHendrie has denied the writ of habeas corpus for "Mother" Jones, the noted woman strike leader held under military guard at the San Rafael hospital, and remanded the prisoner to the custody of the respondent in the action, Gen. John Chase, commander of the state militia in the strike zone.

Immediately on hearing the decision, Attorney F. W. Clark, local counsel for the United Mine Workers of America, asked for and was granted sixty days to prepare a bill of exceptions to be submitted to the supreme court.

A clam chowder luncheon was served, there was wrestling, songs and addresses and Johnny Tillman of Minneapolis was seen in shadow boxing with his manager, Frank Tyrrel.

APPEAL TO HIGH COURT

Settlement for $100 Is Set Aside By District Court.

Guardian of Insane Man Took Trifling Sum as Damages.

From the order of the district court, sitting en banc, affirming the action of the municipal court in setting aside a settlement made between the La Rue Mining company and a former guardian of an injured employe, attorneys for the mining company have appealed to the supreme court.

V. D. Nickolich, now serving time in Stillwater penitentiary for embezzlement in connection with probate court matters, while acting as guardian for one Novo Dasich, an injured miner now confined in the state hospital for the insane at Fergus Falls, settled his cause of action with the mining company for $100 in the Duluth municipal court.

Daisch, with another workman, on April 20, 1911, was preparing a blast in the La Rue mine at Nashwauk when the chamber in which he was working became suddenly flooded. The water came up to his waist and as a result of the exposure which followed, he was confined to a hospital for four weeks and finally lost his reason.

Nickolich was appointed guardian by the probate court and brought an action for $500 damages against the mining company. The attorney for the guardian was J. de la Motte. Nicholich settled the case for $100. Later he was removed as guardian because the probate court held that he had violated his trust and had embezzled funds committed to his charge.

William Getty, new guardian, petitioned the municipal court to have the settlement set aside as insufficient. The mining company protested but the court vacated the judgment. The matter was appealed to the district court and the action of the lower court was sustained. It will now be carried to the highest court.

SPECIAL

$59.10

This Grafonola, equipped with the new No. 6 Reproducer and tone arm, the VERY LATEST improvement, and the best; including 14 Double Records, 28 Selections—enough of the world's best music for an entire evening's entertainment—all on easy payments.

You cannot weigh a Grafonola in terms of dollars—it must be placed upon the same terms as patriotism, love of home, love of kindred; for its not the instrument itself that gives it worth, it's the atmosphere it creates in the home.

The songless home is apt to be the weak home; it's the home usually where people discuss whether life is worth living; it's the home where the boy and girl, finding no fund of happiness and amusement, seek their pleasures elsewhere—it's too often the average home where life is unrelieved by any ready-at-hand enjoyment. The songless home does not mould strong characters.

The coming of the Grafonola into such a home is more than the chance acquaintance who can entertain at times by a song or instrumental selection. It is the friend of all the family and can be drawn on for many a happy hour.

Do not fail to come in and let us show you the new improved Grafonola—it brings the actual lifelikeness of the artists to your home.

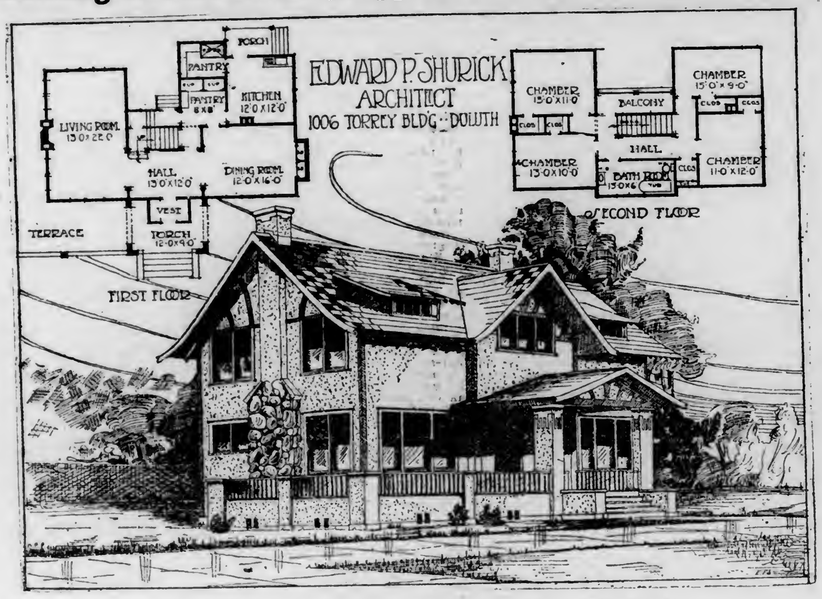
Hints for Prospective Builders----Directory of Duluth's Leading Home Builders, Supplies and Furnishing Concerns



Can Be Built in Duluth for $3,200

In this design we have a story and a half house, but it possesses all the characteristics of a full two-story, as the rooms on the second floor are not cut off on a slant at the ceiling.

It is a popular design for a family of five people or more, and all the rooms are large and well lighted. The first floor has a large living room with fire place of ample dimensions. Opening off from this room is the reception hall with open stair case leading to second floor. On the right of the reception room is the dining room with built-in sideboard and a door leading to the pantry and then into the kitchen.

The second floor has four large chambers, with bathroom of good size. To the right of the staircase as you come up is found a door leading to a balcony which may be used for a sleeping porch if desired. The finish on first floor is birch with maple floors, and the second floor finish is yellow pine. Full size basement is provided for with hot water heating plant. This house would cost, complete, in Duluth or the immediate vicinity, about $3200.

FIRST STATE CENSUS OF COUNTY SHOWED 294 RESIDENTS

Until 1880 the Little Settlement of Duluth Had a Hard Time Holding Its Own—Growth of Population Since Then Has Been Steady and Rapid—Deputy County Auditor Has Some Interesting Documents From the Early Days—Early Settlers a Healthy Lot.

BACK in the pioneer days when Duluth was a struggling village of a dozen or more rude shacks squatted on the lower terraces of a wooded hillside and Superior street was a rough and pebbly trail flanked by a few cheap buildings and Indian huts, the actual number of families residing in what is now St. Louis county could almost be counted on one's fingers.

But times have changed since the '60s. The wand of progress touched the little bright spot in the wilderness and transformed the jungle at the head of the Great Lakes into the paved and spacious streets of a city overlooking the greatest inland harbor of the world. The cheap wooden frame buildings, where lived the pioneers, proved to be the staging whereby the real city was built.

In scanning the history of the development of Duluth from a few rude shanties to a great and important city, it is interesting to trace the growth of population in Duluth and St. Louis county from the pioneer days to the present time. In the early days St. Louis county's population was located entirely within three townships, Fond du Lac, Oneota and Duluth, all of which are now embraced within the present limits of the city of Duluth.

Minnesota was admitted to the Union as a state in 1856 and the first Federal census so far as Duluth or St. Louis county was concerned was taken in 1860. The first decennial state census was taken in 1865, five years later. The somewhat checkered growth of the population of the county may be seen from the following statistics:

Federal census of 1860	406
State census of 1865	294
Federal census of 1870	4,561
State census of 1875	3,517
Federal census of 1880	4,504
State census of 1885	20,453
Federal census of 1890	44,862
State census of 1895	78,576
Federal census of 1900	82,932
State census of 1905	117,513
Federal census of 1910	163,274

The Decreases.

Decreases which may be noted in the census returns for 1865 and 1875 were not brought about through any padding of the Federal census during the early days. On the contrary, the falling off in population in the periods between 1860 and 1870 and between 1870 and 1880 actually occurred, according to the stories told by the pioneers who lived in Duluth in the early days.

The combined population of Oneota, Duluth and Fond du Lac townships, comprising St. Louis county, was 406 in 1860. Since 1856, when the first settlements were made at Fond du Lac and at Superior, people had been flocking in. Superior grew to be a town of importance, but the War of the Rebellion came and its boom fell through.

The new city across the bay became dejected and a rapid decline followed. The effects were also felt on the Duluth side and during the early 60's many of the earlier settlers became discouraged and left the Head of the Lakes. By the time that the first state census was taken in 1865, St. Louis county's population had been cut nearly in half. The returns showed 294 inhabitants.

The Copper Boom.

The copper excitement at the Head of the Lakes during the period between 1856 and 1861 attracted many to Duluth and vicinity and when the boom fell through it was discovered that the north shore cliffs of Lake Superior were not as rich in copper as had been dreamed, many of the mineral seekers leaving the country.

In the days of the copper excitement it is said that the north shore line of Lake Superior from Duluth to the mouth of Sucker river was lined with rude shacks, about a mile apart, which had been built by adventurers in search of copper and even the precious metals.

Refused $50,000.

The late Vose Palmer, a well known pioneer who died in this city about ten years ago, often told the story of how he had been offered $50,000 by Eastern capitalists for his "copper claim" of 160 acres at the mouth of Sucker river. Mr. Palmer was slow about accepting the offer, even though it was a big one. One day he received a letter from the proposed purchasers stating that money conditions were not as good as they had anticipated. An extension of the option was asked for. Mr. Palmer refused and the deal fell through. He afterward proved up his claim and got his patents from the government. The place is known as Palmer's Siding, a station on the Duluth & Iron Range railroad.

The year 1869 saw a fresh influx of settlers into St. Louis county and Duluth. This was occasioned by the building of the Lake Superior & Mississippi railroad, later known as the St. Paul & Duluth and eventually as the Northern Pacific. Jay Cooke, an Eastern financier, who was the Morgan of his day, became interested in the project and a few papers signed in Philadelphia again put Duluth on her feet.

Census of 1870.

The Federal census of 1870 gives the population of St. Louis county as 4,561. Five years later, when the second state census was taken, the returns showed 3,517 inhabitants, or more than one thousand less than in 1870. This is attributed to the fact that Duluth had not recovered from another setback received when Jay Cooke failed in 1873. Cooke's failure was felt over the entire country and marked an era of hard times.

In 1880, Duluth was again getting on her feet. During the early part of the year lumbering interests began to appear and during the next ten years the lumbering industry was the principal one of the city. The Federal census of 1880 for St. Louis county was 4,504 or slightly less than in 1870, when the count was 4,561. From 1880 on, the growth has been a steadily increasing one.

Through the courtesy of L. A. Marvin, deputy county auditor, extracts from a copy of the first state census return ever made in Duluth or St. Louis county are reproduced herewith. The interesting documents have been in the possession of Mr. Marvin since the death of his father, the late Luke Marvin, in 1880. The late Mr. Marvin was one of the first county officials. As county auditor he had charge of the taking of the census.

Other Counties.

Returns were also made by the county auditor of St. Louis county for Lake and Carlton counties. Carlton makes and twelve females. The population of twenty-eight people, sixteen males and twelve females. The population of the entire county was embraced in five families according to the census returns.

Lake county in 1865 had thirty-six families, consisting of 154 persons, many of whom were Indians. The returns show that the Wielands predominated in this county, there being eighteen people by that name residing there.

St. Louis county, according to the count of 1865, had sixty-one families and a population of 294, of which 168 were male and 126 females. The townships were canvassed separately, the results being as follows:

Township.	Families.	Males.	Females.	Total.
Oneota	22	66	46	112
Duluth	23	71	55	126
Fond du Lac	16	31	25	56
Ttl. St. Louis county	61	168	126	294

The census returns for Duluth and Oneota townships as well as at Fond du Lac contain the names of many well-known pioneers, many of whom have spent their lives here. Among the families mentioned as residing in Duluth township were those of William Nettleton, Sidney Luce, Luke Marvin, Vose Palmer, Alonzo Palmer, Zach Brown, Samuel Badger and John G. Rakowsky. In Oneota lived the Merritts, Wheelers, Balleys, Careys and the Buckinghams. The settlement at Fond du Lac was largely Indian.

A Healthy Lot.

It is interesting to note in connection with the 1865 census of St. Louis, Carlton and Lake counties, that no one resided in any of the three counties, according to the census returns, who was afflicted with blindness or insanity or was deaf and dumb. Everyone counted had a clear slate indicating that the pioneers were a healthy lot.

Provision was made in the census returns for the enumeration of all soldiers in the actual service of the government at that time. There were none in Carlton or Lake counties, but a few scattered around Duluth. Among those named in the census returns are: John G. Rakowsky, the oldest Civil war veteran of Duluth now living; Leonidas Merritt, Dorius Martin, Joseph Landry, William C. Bailey, Nels Swenson, William H. H. Harrison, John Baptiste Welter and Mitchell Howell.

RADICAL CHANGES IN COLLEGES URGED

Higher Standards and Better Pay for Teachers Included.

New Haven, Conn., March 7.—Four recommendations for radical changes in American institutions of higher education were made to the Religious Education association today by Prof. John J. Stevenson of New York university. They were as follows:

"1—The work of colleges and universities should be differentiated sharply; colleges without proper resources and equipment should be converted into academies or secondary schools.

"2—A higher standard should be set for teachers.

"3—The salary of a full professor at 35 should compare favorably with that of a lawyer or physician of equal ability at the same age; salaries at present paid to college teachers are actually small, and advance through the several grades to full professors is slow.

"4—The college faculty should have its own representative on the board of trustees."

PETITION DENIED.

Injury Case Will Not Be Remanded to District Court.

The petition of John Munter, administrator of the estate of John Huuri, who was killed in a mine near Hibbing on March 6 last, to remand the damage suit of the latter against the Morton Mining company back to the district court, was denied yesterday afternoon by Federal Judge Page Morris.

Huuri was killed in an accident in the defendant company's mine and Munter recently brought suit against the mining company and Herman Nygard, foreman of the gang in which Huuri was working at the time of the accident. The defendants succeeded in having the case removed to the Federal court from the district court, where the suit was first filed, and Munter then sought to have it remanded to the state court.

"THE REPEAL OF RETICENCE."

Under the above title Agnes Repplier writes with amazing and timely good sense in the Atlantic about the prevailing habit of frankness—so miscalled—on subjects which have long been treated with delicacy if not with reticence.

"The 'conspiracy of silence' is broken," she says. "Of that there can be no doubt. In its day it was a menace, and few of us would now advocate the deliberate ignoring of things not to be denied." But why, she asks in effect, need we fly from one extreme to another much worse?

"It was never intended," she says, "by those who first advised a clearer understanding of sexual relations and hygienic rules that everybody should chatter freely respecting these grave issues; that teachers, lecturers, novelists, story-writers, militants, dramatists, social workers and magazine editors should copiously impart all they know, or assume they know, to the world. The lack of restraint, the lack of balance, the lack of soberness and common sense, were never more apparent than in the obsession of sex which has set us all a-babbling about matters once excluded from the amenities of conversation."

Everybody, now, has a mission to tell all he knows—or thinks he knows—about sex. The stage is turned into "a clinic for the diagnosing of disease and into a self-authorized commission for the intimate study of vice. * * * The doors of the brothel have been flung hospitably open, and we have been invited to peer and peep (always in the interests of morality) into regions that were formerly closed to the uninitiated. * * * Familiarity with vice is now advocated as a safeguard. * * * * Depravity is a valuable asset when it is presented to the consideration of the undepraved. It is coining money for the proprietors of moving pictures. * * * The public is assured that 'care has been taken to eliminate all suggestiveness,' which is in a measure true. When everything is told, there is no room left for suggestion. If you kick a man down stairs and out of your door, you may candidly say that you never suggested that he should leave the house. * * * Nor is it for the conveying of lessons that managers present these photo plays to the world. They are out to make money, and they are making it."

There is the nub of it. Caterers to the ugliest appetites, long restrained by laws in the interests of decency, now fatten egregiously on the public display of indecency, and they do it under the flimsy pretense of "teaching moral lessons." The pretense is rank hypocrisy. The doors of decency have been beaten down by dealers in wares long illicit, but now sought to be made regular by the support of neurasthenic "reformers" whose pathological pruriency they represent to be zeal in the cause of morality.

Is it news that it is dangerous and bad to violate the seventh commandment? Is it news that innocent girls should beware of designing villains? Is it news that there is no fate more terrible than to become that most hopeless of all miscrables, the resident of a brothel? Is it news that wrong is wrong, that evil is evil, that transgressors against moral laws will be punished much more inevitably than those who break statute laws? If these are news—and the stage and the magazine press are full of this startling news—then it is news that black is black and white is white.

The rotting carcass of an animal, long dead, lies in the alley.

Shall we notify the scavenger, whose unsavory duty it is to clean the mess, and then walk in the park and smell the flowers while he attends to his duty?

Or shall we all flock to the alley, taking the children of course, and stand about and gape and fill our eyes and nostrils with the fascinating sight and odor of corruption? Better still, shall we not license a theatrical pander to rope in the delicious spectacle and charge us an admission, which we will eagerly pay—special rates to families?

The latter is the prevailing fashion. Is it a pretty one? Is it necessary? Does it do us good? Is it not, on the other hand, doing a terrible injury by callousing our souls to horror?

Vice is a monster of so frightful mien,
As to be hated needs but to be seen;
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace.

The literature and drama of our time, if it is doing nothing else, is making this monster familiar to old and young, to the innocent and the sophisticated. The point of endurance has been passed, the point of pity has been reached. Logically, our next step is to embrace that which familiarity has made no longer a monster.

Isn't it about time to call a halt, and to cultivate again some of that old-fashioned reticence which this mad age has repealed?

That railway entering Blagovestchensk raises interesting speculations as to what the brakeman can make out of calling that station.

THE STEEL PLANT IS IN DULUTH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I read—even in the Duluth papers—of the "steel plant at Gary." I sent a letter to a friend addressed to "Gary, Minn." and after staying awhile at some little town out in the western part of the state, it came back to me here. Will you please straighten this out?

INVESTOR.

St. Paul, Minn.

The only "steel plant at Gary" that we know anything about is at Gary, Indiana.

The only steel plant in which we of this section have any concern is the big steel plant nearing completion in Duluth—not near Duluth, or near Gary, or near Superior, but IN DULUTH.

The only community in Minnesota rightfully entitled to be called "Gary" is a small town in Norman county, in the northwestern part of the state. It has no steel plant.

Lots are being offered for sale in a division or addition near the steel plant site called "Gary," however, and it is the misleading use of its name that has created the confusion.

The great new steel plant of the Minnesota Steel company—a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation—which when completed will be "the last word in steel plants," is located IN Duluth: and Duluth is its proper and only address.

A railway has been opened to Blagovestchensk, Siberia. Now if they can get a freight train long enough they can cart that name off somewhere and import a new one.

WHAT WAR IN MEXICO MEANS.

What war in Mexico means—and intervention means war—is a subject worth the study of those whose nagging is designed to bring about intervention and war.

It means, first, the uniting of the sundered Mexican people, as nothing else could unite them. We want them united, but do we want to pay such a price for it? It means years of warfare—open fighting first, which would not last long, and long guerrilla warfare after. It means the spending of hundreds and thousands of precious American lives and untold amounts of American money. And to what end? To no end whatever, unless conquest and permanent occupation, and that the United States cannot consent to and keep its honor unsullied. Conquest would not recreate the Mexican people, would not fit them for self-government, would not change their character one iota except for the worse. Intervention, war and conquest might possibly enable American investors to operate their mines and oil wells for a time, under guard of American troops. Is that worth wasting lives for?

Ex-President Taft, speaking to the National Geographical society the other day, in a note of deep earnestness and sincerity gave this picture of the meaning of intervention:

> Those who lightly look forward to intervention are either utterly regardless of the loss of life and the expenditure of immense treasure, or else they don't know what armed intervention on the part of this government in Mexico will mean.
>
> Those of us who have had experience in the tranquilization of a tropical country, with a people not very different from the Mexicans, who take naturally to guerrilla warfare, and who would rather fight than work—that is, would rather fight and run than work—know the difficulties that an army would have to meet to accomplish the only purpose that we would have in going in, to-wit, the bringing about of law and order. It would involve the garrisoning with a sufficient force of every town. It would involve the organization of columns to chase the guerrillas into their mountain fastnesses and across trackless desert plains, and the subjugation of fifteen millions of people.
> I don't know when we would get through; I don't know how many lives it would involve; I don't know how much it would cost: but I do know it would be a drag upon us, and when we had gotten the thing done the future would still be doubtful and still be a charge and a burden upon our government and upon our treasury. I do not speak thus positively without some knowledge of the subject. No effort ought to be omitted to prevent a catastrophe like this.

It is this terrible catastrophe that the jingoes and the speculators in Mexican stocks are seeking to bring upon us. It is this terrible catastrophe that President Wilson is seeking to avert by any means consistent with national honor.

Every citizen of this land who places patriotism above private interest, and who values human lives more than dividends, will support the president earnestly, as the ex-president, to his credit, is supporting him.

It is said that Africans never sneeze. That statement would be easier to assimilate if it were confined to the one most noted African—the well-known Sphinx.

FOR A CITY AND COUNTY HOSPITAL.

The Woman's Council deserves the fullest and widest possible support in the campaign it has begun for a city and county hospital.

Elsewhere, such institutions are existent as a matter of course. St. Paul and Ramsey county had one when city and county had a population of forty-five thousand. Duluth now has a population of eighty-five thousand, St. Louis county has a population more than twice as much, and both have a need for such an institution vastly greater than the capital city and county had when they began theirs.

The total private hospital capacity in Duluth is a little more than three hundred beds. Every day the actual need of the county and city, centering in Duluth, is very much more than that. How much more it is can only be guessed; but the fact that the supply of hospital room is much below daily demands is well known to every doctor, nurse and agent of philanthropic work in the community.

From time to time, as the campaign for this much needed public service proceeds, concrete proofs of this condition will be produced in numbers large enough to convince the most skeptical.

The enterprise is justified both on economic and humanitarian grounds.

The lack of a city and county hospital is causing much unnecessary suffering and needless loss of life. Moreover, the lack is costing public and private relief agencies, directly and indirectly, large sums which a hospital would save.

The hospital is needed today.

It will take at least three years to get it.

But if the campaign is postponed a year, that means it will be four years before the county and city can have what they vitally need today.

Therefore the campaign for it should be begun at once, and pushed as rapidly as possible. And it should have the earnest and wholehearted support of everybody in St. Louis county and Duluth.

Consular Reports says there is some uncertainty as to telephones in China. Probably they blame it all on Central.

AN INSUFFERABLE SCREED.

The leading article in this month's Atlantic is called "Newspaper Morals," and it is written by Henry L. Mencken. It is not, however, a discussion of newspaper morals, but an exhibition of besotted conceit and of supercilious and asinine contempt for the judgment and character of what the writer chooses to call "the mob" or "the rabble."

This "rabble" or "mob"—which you and I call the plain people—he pictures as a clumsy monster, half blundering good humor, half brutal and remorseless cruelty, with the cruelty usually a part of its humorous pranks: a monster incapable of thought or understanding, with only senses instead of brains, feeling instead of intellect.

He pictures the newspaper as the trainer of this gross Caliban, often insincere, usually only half sincere, sometimes wholly insincere and making the monster lie down and roll over and jump through a hoop for its own sardonic pleasure.

Some phrases from this superficially clever article will show its temper:

> "The primary aim of all of them (the newspapers) was to please the crowd, to give a good show; and the way they set about giving that good show was by first selecting a deserving victim, and then putting him magnificently to the torture. This was their method when they were performing for their own profit only, when their one motive was to make the public read their paper; but it was still their method when they were battling bravely and unselfishly for the public good, and so discharging the highest duty of their profession."
> "He (the newspaper man) knows very well that a definite limit is set, not only on the people's capacity for grasping intellectual concepts, but also upon their capacity for grasping moral concepts."
>
> "He knows that it is hard for the plain people to THINK about a thing, but easy for them to FEEL."
> "The chief appeal of a newspaper, in all such holy causes, is not at all to the educated and reflective minority of citizens, but frankly to the ignorant and unreflective majority. The truth is that it would usually get a newspaper nowhere to address the former, for in the first place they are too few in number to make their support of much value in general engagements, and in the second place it is almost always impossible to convert them into disciplined and useful soldiers."

This, like the whole spirit of this amazing article, is a half-truth which is therefor much more grossly false than it would be if it were a complete falsehood. Any newspaper knows that appeals to the citizenship of the supercilliously superior minority which Mr. Mencken seems to typify are wasted. To be effective such appeals must be made to the heart and backbone of America, that plain people whom the superconceited call "the mob" or "the rabble."

Good government crusades, Mr. Mencken says, "belong to popular sport rather than to the science of good government. * * * For good government in the abstract the people of the United States seem to have no liking, or, at all events, no passion. It is impossible to get them stirred up over it, or even to make them give serious thought to it." Which is an absurdity. "What the mob thirsts for," continues Mr. Mencken, "is not good government in itself, but the merry chase of a definite exponent of bad government." The interest of the man in the street in such a crusade is "almost purely a sporting interest." And he is as ready to turn on the reformer in office as he is on the villain the reformer supplants, "The rabble wants a good show, a game, a victim: it doesn't care who that victim may be."

Great popular leaders, this man says, have had the faculty of interpreting abstract issues into "the simple terms of popular theory and emotion." It was Lincoln's strength "that he did not ask little fishes to think and act like whales."

The terms in which Lincoln spoke of great issues were the terms in which great issues should be stated. The esoterics of political thought, like the esoterics of art and other "culture," are merely the patter of a cult, a kind of Pythian brotherhood and sisterhood united by the bond of "I am higherbrowed than thou," as absurd and contemptible as the older "I am holier than thou."

Mr. Mencken is gracious enough to allow that good comes of it all. With the newspaper as "mob-leader," he says, progress is made, if it is slow and eccentric in its movements.

But this progress is not due, as this remarkably superior gentleman would have us think, to newspapers as mob-leaders, but—so far as the newspapers are responsible for it—to the newspapers as articulators of the impulses that well out of the heart of the plain people and sweep iniquity before them.

In other words, the newspaper as a reform agent is not a mob-trainer, not the master with a sharp stick prodding the monster Mr. Mencken has created out of his marvelously distorted thought, but the exponent and spokesman of the people's needs and aspirations for better and higher things.

This man's theory is intended to be a high compliment to newspaper influence; but for one we are not grateful for that which is created wholly out of the fabric of an astonishingly mistaken contempt for the plain people of which, despite his arrogant affectation, Mr. Mencken is only an unworthy member.

Holland exported $150,005 worth of umbrellas in 1913, against $241,492 worth in 1912. Apparently somebody somewhere is learning to stay indoors when it rains.

THE WOMEN AND THE 1915 FESTIVAL AND PAGEANT.

The tenth organization to indorse the movement for a midsummer festival and pageant beginning in 1915 is the Woman's Council.

There is no organization whose help ill be more welcome than this organization of the public-spirited womanhood of Duluth, which has already done so much for Duluth's civic well-being.

It was wise for the committee from the Retail Merchants' association which is organizing the general committee that will take charge of this project to invite the women to participate; and it is good that the women have consented and have pledged their best support to the enterprise.

There will be a part in this work for everybody. It is "everybody's party." It is carrying out a thought that has been long in many minds, that has had rather timid and halfway expression in various "fetes" and "larks," but that now, with everybody co-operating, bids fair to bloom into the fullness of complete realization.

This plan, which is everybody's plan and which everybody can help along, needs the interest and help of the women no less than of the men—indeed, the interest and help of the better half of the population are indispensable.

The support that came through the action of the Woman's Council yesterday, therefore, is support of the highest value.

John D. Rockefeller has spent three hundred and fifty thousand dollars for some old Chinese porcelain. Has John got that hard up for oil cans?

Madison Foresaw Trusts

A newly discovered essay of President Madison, according to the editors of Harper's Magazine, is printed for the first time in the magazine for March. Curiously enough the document deals with monopolies, corporations, perpetuities, etc. It begins as follows:

Monopolies, though in certain cases useful, ought to be granted with caution, and guarded with strictness against abuse. The Constitution of the United States has limited them to two cases—the authors of books, and of useful inventions, in both of which they are considered as a compensation for a benefit actually gained to the community as a purchase of property which the owner might otherwise withhold from public use. There can be no just objection to a temporary monopoly in these cases; but it ought to be temporary because under that limitation a sufficient recompence and encouragement may be given. The limitation is particularly proper in the case of inventions, because they grow as much out of preceding ones that there is the less merit in the authors; and because, for the same reason, the discovery might be expected in a short time from other hands.

Monopolies have been granted in other countries, and by some of the states in this, on another principle, that of supporting some useful undertaking until experience and success should render the monopoly unnecessary, and lead to a salutary competition. This was the policy of the monopoly granted in Virginia to Col. John Hoomes to establish a passenger stage from —— to ——. But grants of this sort can be justified in very peculiar cases only, if at all; the danger being very great that the good resulting from the operation of the monopoly will be overbalanced by the evil effect of the precedent; and it being not impossible that the monopoly itself, in its original operation, may produce more evil than good.

In all cases of monopoly, not excepting those in favor of authors and inventors, it would be well to reserve to the state a right to extinguish the monopoly by paying a specified and reasonable sum. This would guard against the public discontents resulting from the exorbitant gains of individuals, and from the inconvenient restrictions combined with them.

Sex Antagonism.

Life: The true sex antagonism is that between a woman and the other women.

Bill Nye's View of American History

From Bill Nye's History of the United States.

From time to time the English also discovered America, the Cabots finding Labrador while endeavoring to go to Asia via the North, and Frobisher discovered Baffin bay in 1576 while on a like errand. The Spanish discovered water mostly and England the ice belonging to South Africa.

Sir Walter Raleigh, with the indorsement of his half brother, Sir Humphrey Gilbert, regarding the idea of colonization in America, and being a great friend of Queen Elizabeth, got out a patent on Virginia. He planted a colony and a patch of tobacco on Roanoke island, but the colonists did not care for agriculture, preferring to hunt for gold and pearls. In this way they soon ran out of food and were constantly harassed by Indians.

It was an odd sight to see a colonist coming home after a long day hunting for pearls as he asked his wife if she would be good enough to pull an arrow out of some place which he could not reach himself.

During the epoch that the Cavaliers landed in Virginia and the Puritans in Massachusetts, the latter lived on maple sugar and armed prayer, while the former saluted his cow and, with bared head, milked her with his hat in one hand and his life in the other.

Immigration now began to increase along the coast. The Mayflower began to bring over vast quantities of antique furniture, mostly hall clocks for future sales. Hanging them on spars and masts during rough weather easily accounts for the fact that none of them have ever been known to go.

The Puritans now began to barter with the Indians, swapping square black bottles of liquid hell for farms in Massachusetts and additions to log towns. Dried apples and schools began to make their appearance. The low retreating forehead of the codfish began to be seen at the stores and virtue began to break out among the Indians after death.

The author will now refer to the discovery of the Hudson river and the town of New York via Fort Lee and the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street ferry.

New York was afterward sold for $24—the whole island. When I think of this I go into my family gallery, which I also use as a swear room, and tell those ancestors what I think of them. Where were they when New York was being sold for $24? Were they having their portraits taken by Landseer or their deposition by Jeffreys, or having their Little Lord Fauntleroy clothes made? Do not encourage them to believe they will escape me in the future years. Some of them died unregenerate and are now, I am told, in a country where they may possibly be damned; and I will attend to the rest personally.

Twenty-four dollars for New York! Why, my Croton water tax on one house and lot with fifty feet four and one-fourth inches front is $59 and no questions asked. Why, you can't get a voter for that now.

Henry—or Hendrick—Hudson was an English navigator of whose birth and early history nothing is known. He went up the river as far as Albany, but, finding no one there whom he knew, he hastened back as far as Two Hundred and Ninth street west and anchored. Here he landed and offered the Indians liquor, but they refused. How Two Hundred and Ninth street has changed. Mr. Hudson's great reputation lies in the fact that he discovered the river which bears his name, but the thinking mind will at once regard the discovery of an Indian who does not drink as far more wonderful. Some historians say that this especial delegation was swept away by pestilence, whilst others commenting on the incident maintain that Hudson lied.

Nothing more was heard of him till he turned up in a thinking part in Rip Van Winkle.

A solitary horseman about this time stood there aboard his horse, clothed in a little brief authority. As soon as Hudson landed and discovered the city he was approached by the chief, who said: "We gates? I am one of the committee to show you our little town. I suppose you have a power of attorney for discovering us?"

"Yes," said Hudson, "as Columbus used to say when he discovered San Salvador, 'I do it by the right vested in me by my sovereigns.'"

"That over-sizes my pile by a sovereign and a half," says one of the natives.

"Very good," said the chief as they jogged downtown on a swift Sixth avenue elevated towards the wigwam on Fourteenth street. "We do not care who discovers us so long as we control the city organization. How about it, Hank?"

"That will be satisfactory," said Mr. Hudson, taking out a package of imported cheese and eating it so that they could have the car to themselves. "That is, you do not care whose portrait is on the currency so long as you get it?"

"That is the sense of the meeting," said the chief, and thus New York was discovered.

A More Sensible Conclusion.

Pittsburg Dispatch: Time was when the fact of a talesman having read the newspapers was considered in some courts a positive disqualification for jury service. More enlightened views have come to prevail, and the possession of sufficient initiative and intelligence to desire to keep posted in the events of the day has for some time been tolerated in jurymen. Now comes Judge David H. Harris of Missouri with the proposition that a man who does not read the newspapers is a less capable juror than the man who does.

It may be safely stated as a general proposition, says this jurist, that the time has come when, if a man doesn't read the newspapers, his qualification to sit on the jury in any kind of a case is seriously to be questioned. This is a more sensible conclusion than the original and a gratifying evidence of legal progress.

God Bless You, Dear, Today!

If there be graveyards in the heart
From which no roses spring,
A place of wrecks, and old gray tomb
From which no birds take wing.
Where linger buried hopes and dreams
Like ghosts among the graves,
Why, buried hopes are dismal things,
And lonely ghosts are knaves!

If there come dreary winter days,
When summer roses fall
And lie, forgot, in withered drifts
Along the garden wall;
If all the wreaths a lover weaves
Turn thorns upon the brow—
Then out upon the silly fool
Who makes not merry now!

For if we cannot keep the past,
Why care for what's to come?
The instant's prick is all that stings,
And then the place is numb.
If Life's a lie, and Love's a cheat,
As I have heard men say,
Then here's a health, to fond deceit—
God bless you, dear, today!

—John Bennett.

Edward Shell has returned to West Duluth from Center City, Minn., where he spent the winter.

The new city council met last evening and Alderman B. F. Howard was elected president. Mayor Ray T. Lewis delivered his inaugural address, in which he strongly urged a reduction in the city's expenses to the utmost limit consistent with the public welfare.

"Bob" Burdette, the humorist, will lecture at the Lyceum theater March 22.

J. C. Hessian lectured before the Catholic club last evening on "Greek and Roman Mythology." Miss Julia Donovan and Franz Schultz sang solos.

Theodore Macey, the city poundmaster, lies seriously ill at his home, 1021 East Second street.

J. C. Schaefer, the merchant tailor, has made an assignment to Fred W. Smith, owing to the depressed condition of business. His stock is valued at $8,000, and his liabilities amount to only $5,400, while he has transferred all his real estate to the assignee, so that the creditors are fully protected. Mr. Schaefer intends to leave in a few days for Los Angeles, Cal., where he will reside in future. Mrs. Schaefer and the children left yesterday for that place.

Rainy Lake City now has a postmaster, D. P. Redding having received notice of his appointment yesterday.

Mrs. W. W. Schiffman and children left today for a visit in Southern California.

There was one of the biggest rushes at the United States land office this morning that has been seen for a long time. Town 64-18 was opened for settlement, and at one time nearly 400 men crowded into the office and corridors on the fourth floor of the Temple building. Only thirty-five filings were made.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The War With No Discharge.

I often heard my father tell of the embarkation of volunteers from his native town in the stirring days of '61. Many of the boys had enlisted for ninety days, but with some doubt as to whether the war would last that long. They were full of excitement and patriotic hilarity as they boarded the train, expecting to be home soon and at their old tasks. It seemed somewhat like a junket at the government's expense.

But when months and years passed and some came home only for burial, others came disabled and diseased, and still others were only reported "missing," every bit of glamour passed off and the whole country realized that we were engaged in a long and bitter war.

It is not otherwise with those who have enlisted in the age-long campaign of right against wrong, of truth against falsehood. They begin to realize that they are summoned not to a skirmish, nor to a single combat in which the enemy can be beaten off once for all. The campaign will not end for any of them while life lasts. They appreciate the message of the old hymn:

"Ne'er think the victory won
Nor once at ease sit down;
Thine arduous work will not be done
Till thou obtain thy crown."

No one enters into real power of character till his good impulses have become matters of principle. Spasmodic efforts, good intentions are useful, but must be established and made permanent. Neither the evils in one's own nature nor the intrenched evils of society will yield to any save determined and persistent assault. To fire a few shots at the enemy and then retire in disgust or discouragement is to act very much like a deserter.

A single victory over the dragons of oppression or unrighteousness does not mean that they are never again to lift their heads. The powers of darkness are rarely whipped so as to stay whipped. After the English people had wrested Magna Charta from reluctant King John on the plains of Runnymede they still had to fight for their rights. Good men have been fighting graft, intemperance, various forms of vice from the beginning and must fight them till the last trump shall sound.

The perseverance of the saints is an old-fashioned doctrine with a modern message. The real saint will persevere. Having begun he will also make an end. With constancy he will stick to his great moral task nor faint nor fail nor be discouraged till it be accomplished.

A friend asked Mr. Lincoln "If he could finish the war during his term of office." "I cannot say." "But, Mr. Lincoln, what do you mean to do?" "Peg away, sir; just peg away." And he did peg away. Only he who, having put his hand to the plow, looks not back, is fit for the kingdom of God.

THE PARSON.

Could Hold Him.

Judge: Jeremiah Corcoran and his horse and buggy were a familiar combination on the streets—or street—of Homeburg. One day the nag caught the driver napping and started off on a gallop, with Jerry tugging valiantly at the reins.

"What's the matter, Jerry?" called an acquaintance from the sidewalk. "Can't you hold him?"

"Sure, I can hold him," shouted Jerry, still tugging at the lines, "but I can't stop him."

Two Classes.

Oliver Wendell Holmes: The human race is divided into two classes—those that go ahead and do something and those who sit and inquire, "Why wasn't it done the other way?"

OHIO IN THE SENATE—No. 3.

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The political situation in Ohio is always interesting, as I said the other day, and this good year of 1914 it is somewhat exceptionally so. Ohio, long the Empire state of the Mississippi valley, has seen five of her sons inaugurated president of the United States on the fourth of March succeeding the quadrennial election in November. But no Ohio man has ever served two terms in that office. Five citizens of New York occupied the White House; but Fillmore and Arthur were not elected by the people. Four Virginians were elected president and each was re-elected. Another Virginian was vice president, and upon the death of the president one month after inauguration John Tyler became president in 1841.

Thus Ohio is also a mother of presidents and she may justly claim some of the states west of her as her children. Ohio was a Whig state. It became a Republican state, and until her vote was cast for Woodrow Wilson in 1912 she had solidly supported every Republican ticket for president and vice president, except in 1892 when she chose one of the Democratic electors and he voted for Grover Cleveland.

Of course it is tantamount to treason to say so, but a wrong was perpetrated when the Democrats of Ohio rejected Clement L. Vallandigham for senator and gave the toga to Allen G. Thurman in 1869, and I yield to no man in love and reverence for "the Old Roman."

It was in 1867—fall of that year—that the Democratic party saw the first streak of dawn after the long and doleful night that set in the eve of the presidential election in 1860. And that sunrise of such glorious promise was in Ohio. Allen G. Thurman was the Democratic candidate for governor against R. B. Hayes. On the night of election it was conceded that he was triumphant; but the succeeding week some monkey business was done and Hayes got it, though they could not count us out of our majority on joint ballot in the legislature.

It was Vallandigham's fight; it was Vallandigham's victory, and it was thoroughly understood that if the legislature should turn up Democratic Vallandigham was to be senator. Vallandigham was the greatest man Ohio ever produced—bar none. For intellect he was in the class of Thurman and Garfield; for magnificent strength and tremendous force of character he surpassed them all—Joshua R. Giddings and Ulysses S. Grant not excepted. Had that man lived he would have guided his party so as to save it a hundred blunders and he would have been president of the United States I have little doubt.

In the first place he was as sound as a trout on the tariff question; in the second place he was a sound money man. With Tilden at the East and Vallandigham at the West the Democratic party would have stood hitched to the rock old Jackson and Benton erected, and the Republican party would have been driven into the rag-money Greenback camp it had established. But they counted Thurman out of the office of governor and in a virtuous rage, to which Vallandigham bowed, they put Thurman in the senate. That sent Vallandigham to the bar, and one of the greatest calamities that ever overtook the country was the accident at Lebanon, Ohio, when the greatest of all Ohio's sons lost his life. At that time there was but one road open to the Democratic party—"the New Departure." This man could have set the party in the middle of the road; but Fate ruled otherwise, and the bow of Ulysses was unstrung till Woodrow Wilson came, two score years later, bended it, and sent the shaft that killed the G. O. P.

"Old Roman" Thurman was a senator in congress twelve years when that body was exceptional in the capacity of its membership for forensic debate. He was an old Virginian and might have been president had he not given in to the heresy of a morally stronger man, his mother's brother—"Old Bill" Allen—who proclaimed that "specie payment is a damned barren ideality." That drove the Ohio Democracy into the Greenback camp, where Vallandigham would have corraled the G. O. P. It beat "Old Bill" for re-election as governor of Ohio in 1875 by that same R. B. Hayes, and it made Hayes president. Unfortunately the "Old Roman" did not have the strength of will of his uncle, and, sound money man that he was, in an academic debate on the question, politically he allowed "Old Bill" to wash him over the dam and he and his party were hopeless in the vortex of partial repudiation.

But Thurman was precious in the senate. What a giant he was in debate! How with Ithuriel's spear he could pierce a heresy!

They tell this tale: Blaine got into the senate late one day and looked over on the Democratic side and thought that he had discovered that "the Old Roman" had dined sumptuously and possibly had looked on the wine that was red. And so "the Plumed Knight" sailed into the "Old Roman" on some question or other more or less political. Thurman was astonished, but, gathering himself together, "had it out" with "the man from Maine," to whom he gave the parliamentary "solar plexus" toward the end.

Walking into the cloakroom, where he was followed by Joe McDonald of Indiana and Gassaway Davis of West Virginia, Thurman blew a blast on his bandanna that was heard up in the press gallery and interrogated:

"Boys, did that damned harlequin get the better of me?"

"No, no, no, senator, you utterly crushed him."

Putting his handkerchief up, "the Old Roman" grimly threatened, "Never mind, never mind—one of these days he'll tackle me when I'm in trim and then won't I mash him!"

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By Donald McCaskey, M. D.

Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

THE KIND OF DIET YOU NEED FOR NERVOUS INDIGESTION.

An Ohio lady writes: "What would you prescribe for nervous indigestion? Milk and acid fruits disagree, and yet I am advised to take a lemon in the morning. I have pains three or four hours after eating, and like all dyspeptics, I get much discouraged. I practice deep breathing, cold bathing and all physical culture work that I can, yet I feel the need that my diet needs regulating. My principal diet just now is poached eggs, graham mush, quinces, dates and pears without sugar. I crave both sweet and sour foods. Is grapefruit advisable? Likewise oranges? Are the fat emulsions good for me? I consider your articles worth the whole newspaper."

Let me thank you for your generous compliment. Your experience with indigestion is about like that of many a man or woman who, having had a healthy supply of money, gets "stung" in this and that investment. Finally, when finances are all gone, they are compelled to suffer hardship awhile until they learn how to discriminate and to gradually add to their resources. This is what you must do in augmenting the supply of nervous force which controls your digestion. Then you can handle a goodly majority of all the foods your system craves. Just now you are "hard up" in your nerve supply, and your stomach and bowels suffer in consequence.

First of all do this: Clean your system out once a week with a major dose of castor oil, anywhere from two tablespoonfuls to one-half tumblerful. Don't side-step this. Swallow it once a week. This will cleanse your oppressed system of a great quantity of depressing poisons which are now being generated as a result of your improperly digested foods. You must thoroughly cleanse your millions of flesh cells and the blood which courses through the system before you can expect the human machinery to work smoothly.

Next thing is to sleep more.

Nothing so enables an exhausted nerve center to gather strength as rest. Lie down for a half hour every afternoon at least. Slip off your shoes and permit your tense nerves to relax. Don't declare that "you feel all right." That isn't the point. It isn't the way you feel—it is the need your nerves have for more energy to digest your food. You may feel you are "too busy" to take an occasional cat nap. But you are very foolish if you do not do so.

These frequent naps are like saving money—every time you have a little extra cash, add it to your savings bank account. That's the only way to get ahead. Gradually your constant dread of your indigestion pain and your fear that this or that will not agree with you will disappear. The more you let your mind be occupied with these fears that you are going to suffer, the more pronounced is the hold-up in the flow of nerve impulses to the stomach and bowels, which have to do with digesting the food you eat. This will become easier and easier as you deliberately occupy your thoughts with other subjects.

What you want is to cut out the physical culture "work" as you call it. Likewise, avoid the cold baths. The deep breathing is all right and will help you get air. But this is just the point I want to emphasize—it is air that you need. Air with its oxygen enables the chemical action of the flesh cells to be carried on vigorously. If the flesh doesn't get sufficient air the supply of oxygen is cut down, and the flesh of your body cannot work up to its full powers. It's a good deal like putting a lot of coal into a stove and then not affording a sufficient draft. As a result, the coal is only half burned, and acts as a choker and a pullback instead of a real live fuel maker. Get air, therefore. Sleep with your head right at the window, or better still, build a balcony out of your window and make yourself a sleeping bag canvas and line it with a blanket. Slip a knit yarn cap over your head and ears and get the air every night. Haven't you noticed how a tubercular person picks up when he's made to camp out in a tent and to live in the out of doors both day and night? Why does this occur? It is because the flesh in its chemical action is made to completely burn the fuel with which it is furnished. As a result, a ravenous appetite develops. This is what you need. It isn't so much a point of this or that especial kind of food after you once get your body to working a full 100 per cent. Any food will taste good to you after awhile. Just now your system is only about 30 per cent efficient. Procure and study carefully the previously written articles in these Doctor's Helps on digestive trouble.

LIVED HOUR AFTER SUBMARINE SANK

Efforts of Crew of Pigmy to Send Her to Surface.

London, March 7.—According to testimony of members of the crew of the destroyer Pigmy, which was on the spot when the submarine A 7 disappeared off Devonport in January, the occupants of the ill-fated vessel must have lived for at least an hour after the submarine sank, and during the greater part of that time were engaged in the hopeless task of trying to bring her to the surface. The crew of the Pigmy saw, during that time, periodical cone-shaped upheavals of water growing gradually less until they ceased. This, say the experts, proves that an effort was being made to restore buoyancy by blowing out the trimming tanks until the last ounce of compressed air was exhausted. How the surplus buoyancy, which every submersible retains when diving, was lost is a question which may never be solved. It might have been caused by a mishap to the tanks or failure of the torpedo tube door to operate.

There is now little hope of ever bringing the A 7 to the surface. She lies in twenty-seven fathoms of water, while no submarine has yet been raised from a greater depth than seven fathoms. Besides, the boat lies with her nose tilted at an angle of 30 deg. and her quarters buried in the mud to the base of her conning tower, so it would be almost impossible to get a grip on it.

Mother's Advice To Her Daughter

A Real Live Doll to Fondle is Woman's Greatest Happiness.

She is wisdom itself who knows of or learns of that famous remedy, Mother's Friend. It is an external application for the abdominal muscles and breasts. It has a wonderful influence, always allays all fear, banishes all pain, is a grateful encouragement to the expectant mother, and permits her to go through the period happy in mind, destined to anticipate woman's greatest happiness as nature intended she should.

The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles pliant and responsive to expansion. Thus all strain and tension upon the nerves and ligaments is avoided, and, in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread it is a season of calm repose and joyful expectation.

There is no nausea, no morning sickness, no nervous twitching, none of that constant strain known to so many women.

This splendid remedy can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 232 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book to expectant mothers.

Light On the Servant Problem.

THE TREASURE. By Kathleen Norris, author of "Mother," etc. New York: The Macmillan company. $1 net.

Mrs. Morris truly is a novelist—better say "the" novelist—of the American home.

This story is about the Salisburys and their servants. First, the usual train, described with rare humor, and then Justine, The Treasure. In Justine the possibility is suggested of the trained servant who makes a science and an art of household service—of cookery, budget-making, dietetics and all. With such a servant the household will get for its dollar spent a dollar in results. It will eliminate wastes. It will vastly increase its efficiency. It will feed its members for happiness, health and maximum usefulness.

Justine was such a servant. She was perfection. She serves, in a story, to show what servants can be. Also, we see how what the average wife and mother is not.

But Mrs. Salisbury, who appears to represent the old order, resents the authority Justine demands and must have to carry out her work as the school instructed her. Justine must keep the reins out of incompetent hands—those incompetent hands being none other than Mrs. Salisbury's—and Mrs. Salisbury fails to adjust herself to that condition. Moreover, she wearies of perfection itself.

It is made fairly plain, it seems, that Mrs. Salisbury's conception of "the relations of mistress and maid" is largely responsible for a good deal of the servant problem. Mr. Salisbury said "it's a funny thing about you wives. You keep wondering why smart girls won't go into housework, and yet if you get a girl who isn't a mere stupid machine you resent every sign she gives of being an intelligent human being."

Which, we think, was a center shot at Mrs. Salisbury and at a good many Mrs. Salisburys.

We should be at an impasse here if it were not that Mrs. Salisbury's daughter Sandy saw the philosophy of it and stood up for Justine and the graduated servant system. This spark of light from the new generation is encouraging indeed; though it is rather cruel to dash it with an account of the coldblooded way Sandy figured out the matter of matrimony.

There is a lot of modern life and modern tendencies in the story—which ran in the Saturday Evening Post, you may remember—and while the tale may not have the deep heart interest of "Mother," it is abundantly clever and readable.

The Old Order Changeth.

THE PRECIPICE. By Ella W. Peattie. Boston: Houghton-Mifflin company. $1.35 net. For sale in Duluth by the Glass Block store.

The notice on the cover of this book says that it "offers an epitome of the aspirations, doubts, dreads, furtive discontent and frank hope of women." In does indeed; and, moreover, it does it with sanity and good humor and common sense and without bitterness or hysteria. Besides, incidentally it tells a good story in a way that will hold the reader, man or woman either, so he is one who uses his brain for what it was made, from beginning to end.

The story, broadly, is about woman orienting herself in the new conditions—making these conditions, too, pretty much. More specifically it is about Kate Barrington, who found in "C bench," at the co-educational University of Chicago, which was for men only, a symbol that inspired much thought and had much to do with her career and the story, which opens as she was leaving school finally for home. It was even a symbol of such things as her father's domestic tyranny, his shutting his wife out of conversation, his contempt for women generally—perhaps due to his being a physician. We have met such physicians, with their monstrous contempt for womankind. Why?

At any rate, Kate's home life didn't incline her to marriage, especially when her mother broke down and passed out of life, a victim to her husband's brutal tyranny. Not choosing to become her mother's substitute as a victim of that tyranny, she left home and went to Chicago. She had observed, incidentally, that most of the men in her native village had broken their wives as her father had broken his. If there were any Mr. Henpecks in Silvertree the story omits mentioning them.

Kate took a post at Hull House, and became an active and successful social worker and guardian of children. She worked for a national children's bureau, and got it, and was invited to become its head just when the right man had invited her to occupy a pleasant though conventional place in his far Western home. Meanwhile, she saw types and experienced the swift current of modern life, of human history and human progress in the making. The types and experiences are too many and complex to be briefed here—suffice it that they are very real, very deftly sketched, and very cunningly knitted into the story. They might have been etched from life itself. It is a broad and ambitious canvass, a vivid assembling of modern woman's modern pains and hopes and joys and aspirations and failures and successes. It palpitates with life—with its sacrifices and tragedies and pleasures, and some of its humor.

The reader's thought will turn again and again to "Lena Vroom, that piteous little sister of Icarus with her scorched wings; to Honora Fulham with her shattered faith; to Mary Morrison with her wanton's wisdom; to Mary Finn, whose womanhood was her undoing; to Mauna Fitzgerald, who had given fame for love and found the bargain good; to Mrs. Leger, who turned to God; to her mother, the cringing wife, who could not keep faith with herself and her vows of obedience, and who had perished of the conflict; to Mrs. Dennison, happy in her mid-Victorian creed"; to Kate herself, poised in the midst of it all, type of the real and true new woman and promise of the future when the hysteria and prejudice and folly are purged away from the "new feminism" which is so ludicrously like the old, after all. Kate we found a little vacillating and indecisive about her love affairs; but that perhaps is logically due to the relatively small place she had given such things in her sphere of thought. The author has been wise enough to reckon fairly, though kindly, with woman's peculiar frailties.

Mrs. Peattie and we have reviewed a great many books—but not many better and worthier than this, which is written with power and illumined by insight, and which tells a worth while story entertainingly.

By "The O. Henry of London."

THE REMINGTON SENTENCE. By W. Pett Ridge, author of "Mixed Grill," etc. New York: The George H. Doran company. $1.25 net.

Mr. Pett Ridge is an English favorite, who has come to join the very pleasant company of English authors who are popular on this side. He is one of the newest comers—to us, the newest; but we should judge that he will be by no means the least popular.

For he has written a very delicious story here about the four Remingtons—Helen, Geoffrey, Walter and Taylor—who were "sentenced" by their father in his will to spend five years in London, where they were to make their own way. The father was wiser in his deathbed orders than he had been as a living father, for he appears not to have given his children much heed.

The story is told by Taylor, the youngest, who is known as "Snips," and who is all boy. Geoffrey is an insufferable prig, and does not surprise us by going decidedly wrong. Walter is thorough-going, quiet and practical. Helen is pretty and industrious. Snips is good tempered and keen-eyed, with a naive unconscious humor that is delightful. His account of his own exploits and ambitions and ideas and loves, and of what happened to this diverting family, is an exquisite piece of literary workmanship.

There is a romance to give the tale continuity; but Snips and his doings are what make it particularly worth while and admirable and distinctly worth reading.

Poetic Humor and Common Sense.

THE FOOTHILLS OF PARNASSUS. By John Kendrick Bangs. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25 net.

Though in general it is a merry lay that he sings, in this volume Mr. Bangs strikes notes all the way from gay to grave. There are lyrics, there are comics, but also there are poems that strike the deeper notes of love, of pain, of hope, of aspiration, of love of nature and of humankind. Perhaps no divine fire of genius blazes upon the mountain peaks of thought for this author—but the warm, steady glow of talent makes his work rare entertainment and gives it power to heartenand uplift and lighten.

A Dainty Giftbook for a Flower-Lover.

MORE GARDENING DON'TS. By Marion Chappell, author of "Gardening Don'ts." New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. 75 cents net.

"Don't neglect your old garden friends," is the sound advice on one page of this pretty and inspiring little book, "for the new ones. As with the human kind, the old often stand the stress and strain of bad times and bad weather better than the new."

It will make an ideal giftbook for the flower lover. Each page is devoted to an idea or a bit of good advice to creators of gardens and growers of flowers, and there are many excellent photographs of garden scenes and one exquisite garden picture in colors.

A Philosophic Washerwoman.

MRS. LINTHICUM AND MARY JANE. By Charlotte May Meredith. Chicago: M. A. Donahue & Co. $1.

This quite charming book is supposed to have been written by a washerwoman—but its real writer is a woman with humor and sympathy and humanity. Mrs. Linthicum has a keen and not uncomely philosophy, a keen insight into human nature and a kind heart; and her book about her homely experiences is well worth reading. C. A. Briggs, the cartoonist who won so much affection by his work on the Chicago Tribune, and who has been called to New York, furnishes excellent and suitable illustrations for the volume.

Miss Billy's Married Life.

MISS BILLY—MARRIED. By Eleanor H. Porter, author of "Miss Billy," "Miss Billy's Decision," etc. Boston: The Page company. $1.25 net.

This new story of captivating Miss Billy starts out where most novels end—with a wedding. Billy is being made Mrs. Bertram Henshaw, and the story is about how they pretty nearly didn't live happily ever afterwards, as well as about another romance and a number of other interesting things concerning interesting people.

Married life, you know, does not always turn out on closer inspection to be so smooth and well lighted and rose-bordered a road as it seems from the steps of the altar. There are adjustments to be made; the honeymoon will wane, and something must come in to take its place; housekeeping must be learned; life must be faced.

The story of how Billy adjusted herself is very sweetly humorous and pleasant. The tale of the dinner she cooked when the servants were away and Bertram brought in for dinner a man to whom she was anxious to show the brightest side of married life is worth the price of the book alone.

Besides all this, there is the romance of Mr. Arkwright, who had loved Billy, and Alice Gregory; there are Uncle William and Aunt Hannah, who get an idea they will be in the way, to be disposed of; there is the "Overflow Annex" for Billy's "extra happiness" to be told about: in short, there is plenty for another very pleasant Billy book, which former admirers of Billy will enjoy very much, and which will win her many new ones.

Women Composers.

WOMEN COMPOSERS. By Otto Ebel. Brooklyn: Chandler-Ebel Music company. 75c.

"Women Composers" is called by the author "A Biographical Handbook of Woman's Work in Music," and is dedicated to the Women's Musical Clubs of America. The present issue is the third edition of the little book. The names of women composers and writers of any musical literature have been included and the women of all countries and times have been listed. The work is arranged alphabetically and the main facts of each individual are given with encyclopedic brevity. There is little or no author's comment. Duluthians will be much interested that the name of Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker of this city is included among the song writers and her works, "A Sea Song" and "While Thou Wert By," are named as typical pieces. It is a valuable little handbook for the musician.

Humor In Slang.

BOOBS. As seen by John Henry. By George V. Hobart. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. 75 cents net.

Those familiar with the crisp and piquant humor of the John Henry stories will be glad of this new book. In it such modern instances as the cabaret, the turkey trot, the apartment house, tipping, etc., are discussed in John Henry's peculiar style of humor which, if sometimes a little obvious, is often keen and always fresh. Have you heard, for instance, of the "G. A. R. score" at golf? It's "out in '61, back in '65."

Socialist Books.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING. By Karl Kautsky. Chicago: Charles H. Kerr & Co. 50 cents.

In this little volume this livest of live subjects is discussed by the ablest exponent of Marxian Socialism in Europe. The translator is Austin Lewis.

The same publishers have also brought out a stenographic report of a debate between Tom Mann, the revolutionary English labor agitator, and Arthur M. Lewis of Chicago, on political action; Mann opposing, and Lewis defending the remedy of political action. The book, in paper cover, sells for 25 cents.

Prizes for Paintings.

Raphael Tuck & Sons, the great publishers of art goods, announce a "painting book contest," in which 1,250 prizes amounting to $5,000 are to be distributed. The judges are to be Philip Boileau, Nell Brinkley, Howard Chandler Christy, Harrison Fisher and James Montgomery Flagg. The prizes are to go to the young people who send in the best colored pictures in Tuck's painting books and albums, and the contest is divided into four sections: Those up to 10, those between 10 and 13, those between 13 and 15, and those between 15 and 18.

Among the Magazines.

"The Repeal of Reticence," by Agnes Repplier, is the Atlantic Monthly's definitive commentary upon current methods of advertising vice through multifarious and indiscriminate trumpeting of its dangers. Perhaps no contemporary phenomenon is more pronounced than the spectacle of an entire nation turning from the extreme of secrecy and reticence to the equally dangerous extreme of promiscuous unreserve. Other papers in this March Atlantic which will challenge immediate attention are Henry L. Mencken's incisive article on "Newspaper Morals," which escapes conventional criticism and expresses the innermost views of a serious newspaper man, and "The Monroe Doctrine and Latin America," by a distinguished Peruvian, F. Garcia Calderon, which examines our famous doctrine through the other end of the telescope. In "The Education of the Girl," Mary Leal Harkness protests against the opinion which apportions equal cultural values to Greek and cooking. "War and the Interests of Labor," by Alvin S. Johnson, is a peace argument driven home to unionism. "The Valuation of Railways," by Samuel O. Dunn, is a careful paper, giving a comprehensive idea of far-reaching changes of policy foreshadowed by the recent government move. "The Spirit of the Herd," by Dallas Lore Sharp, gives an interesting account of a stampede through the plains.

The Metropolitan for March contains an article by H. G. Wells entitled "The Disease of Parliaments." Mr. Wells says that we do not elect men who really represent us, and he suggests a remedy, which he calls "Sane Voting." In "The Failure of Government by Good People," Lincoln Steffens tells us what is the matter with Boston. Mr. Steffens has studied the political situation in Boston, and this is the first of a series of articles in which he will tell us what the trouble is. This is a strong fiction number, and contains short stories by Rudyard Kipling, Richard Harding Davis, Rupert Hughes, John Fleming Wilson and others. There are the usual departments and pictorial features, and eight pages of sculpture, drama and paintings printed by the new Rotogravure method.

The March month-end number of the Popular Magazine has three stories of the Western country by Roy Norton, Bertrand W. Sinclair and Robert V. Carr; one of the navy, by Ralph D. Paine; one of Mexico, by Robert Welles Ritchie; a mystery story of New York, by W. B. M. Ferguson; humorous stories, by George Randolph Chester, William H. Hamby and W. W. Aulick; a sketch of life in prehistoric days, by George Sterling; a gripping tale of a fugitive who seeks shelter in Labrador, by Theodore Goodridge Roberts.

In the March American Magazine Mary Antin, a wonderfully gifted young Russian Jewess, begins a new series of articles entitled "They Who Knock at Our Gates." The editors announce that this series is one of the most remarkable documents on immigration that they have ever seen. Mary Antin landed in America only a few years ago, an unknown little girl. Since then she has written one of the most remarkable books of our time. In the same number Hugh S. Fullerton, writing an article entitled "American Gambling and Gamblers," tells many fascinating true stories. Ray Stannard Baker, in his new department entitled "Seeing America," reports the new Chicago and its progressive people. Other notable contributions are "The Autobiography of a Stingy Man;" "The Soul's Winning Fight With Science," in which H. Addington Bruce shows that science has produced nothing that renders man's belief in immortality inconsistent; "How a Town Converted By-Paths Into Good Roads and Doubled Its Trade Territory," and "What Drink Did to One Man." Fiction is written by Richard Washburn Child, Edgar Allen Forbes, James D. Corrothers, Rufus Steele and Maravene Thompson.

The novelette in the March issue of Lippincott's is "The Man in the Street," by Mary Imlay Taylor, author of "The Reaping" and other well-liked books. This is a theatrical story of a unique type, and shows how an ordinarily good and well-intentioned man can be turned into a rascal by force of circumstances. The heroine is an actress, the leading male character, a playwright. Another striking feature is a remarkable paper on "The Dramatization of Novels and the Novelization of Plays," by Brander Matthews, the recognized authority on these subjects. "The Panama Canal and the Pacific Coasts Ports," by Forbes Lindsay, is a special article that is timely and interesting. Other noteworthy papers in the number are "Baiting the Railways," by Ramsey Benson; "Why the Dramatic Critic?" by Littell McClung; "The White Peril," by George L. Knapp; and "A Protest and a Query or Two," by Ethelbert D. Burrows. There are seven short stories: "His Surrender," a stirring tale of the Civil war, by Crittenden Marriott, author of "Sally Castleton, Southerner;" "The Silent Model," by Carolyn Wells; "Reprisal," by Joe H. Ranson; "Love o' Man," by Caroline Wood Morrison and Emma Bell Miles; "Old Hakka," by E. Young Wead; "Nine Points of the Law," by Thomas Grant Springer, and "A Telephone Tragedy," by Mary Day Harris.

A newly discovered essay of President Madison is printed for the first time in Harper's Magazine for March. Curiously enough the document deals with monopolies, corporations, perpetuities, etc., and for this reason it is of peculiar interest. In an article entitled "American Dinners and American Manners," Wu Ting-Fang, late Chinese minister to this country, makes a strong plea for dinners without intoxicating drinks. He also suggests that dinners would be more enjoyable if, instead of general conversation, one man could be hired to do all the talking while the others dined. Other interesting articles in this number of Harper's are: "Matutum, the Mountain of Mystery," by Maj. E. R. Heiberg, U. S. A., illustrated with photographs; "Ninepins and Necromancy," by Frances Wilson Huard; "Under the Apple Trees," by John Burroughs; "A Night in the Open," by Norman Duncan; "Dynamic Education," by John L. Mathews. The fiction includes: "Spring Recurrent," by Edith Barnard Delano; "An Adventure in Paleontology," by Alan Sullivan; "Suite Number Nineteen," by William Hamilton Osborne; "The Narrow Way," by V. H. Cornell; "The Comforter," by Elizabeth Jordan; "The Blue Dimity Dress," by Victor Rousseau; "The One Great Thing," by Eugene A. Clancy, and a continuation of Arnold Bennett's novel, "The Price of Love."

"Dicky's Corner," a pleasing story of a boy's venture in the junk business by Donal Hamilton Haines is the leading short story in the current number of The American Boy. "When Bob Helped," by May Grounds is another fictional story of a boy's successful ventures in the commercial world and will provide inspiration for the modern boy on the threshold of a business career. Stories of adventure by Rose Seelye-Miller and George M. Johnson are included. "To Rent: An Army on Elephants," by E. Alexander Powell, F. R. G. S., vividly portrays the thrilling career of an American military adventurer in India. Charles M. Seay, of the Edison Studios, is the author of "Some Interesting Facts About the Motion Picture," an article which is profusely illustrated.

The Wide World Magazine for March contains an unusually interesting number of articles full of adventure and thrill. Human interest abounds within its pages. There are an English girl's experiences as the wife of a Chinese who took her to China, where she was succeeded in her own home by another wife, this time a Chinese. There's the story of a party of wealthy New York business men seeking a gold mine in the Arctic. Then there is thrill a plenty in "The King's Vengeance," by Capt. Paul Gauthier. "The Trent 'Aegir'" is one of the most interesting and instructive articles published in a long time.

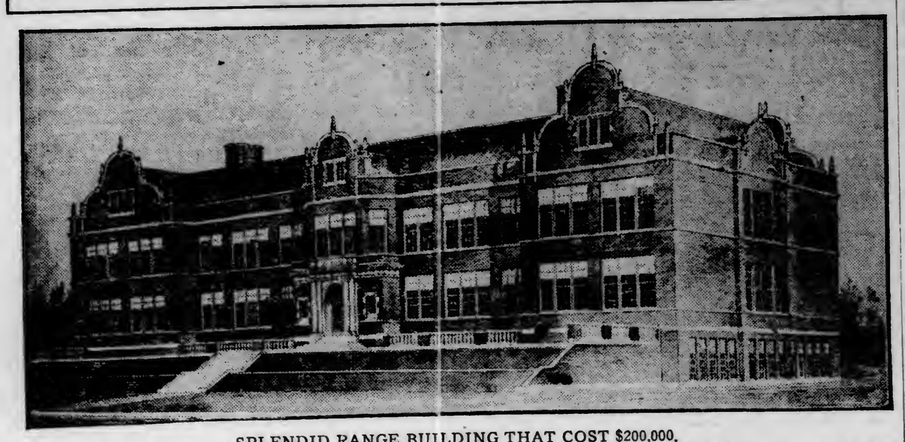
ON THE IRON RANGES

WILL DEDICATE BUHL'S NEW HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY, APRIL 17



SPLENDID RANGE BUILDING THAT COST $200,000.

Buhl, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—President George E. Vincent of the Minnesota university and perhaps Governor Eberhart will be among the speakers at the dedication of the new $200,000 high school, just completed here, on Friday, April 17. There will be an appropriate musical program. The building was designed by Anthony Puck of Duluth and is one of the finest, most up-to-date structures in the state.

CONTEST CENTERS ABOUT TREASURER

Little Else of Interest in Hibbing's Municipal Campaign.

Hibbing, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eliminate the contest over the office of treasurer and there would not be much ginger in the present village campaign. Treasurer McEachin seeks re-election.

J. B. Messner, Randall Neimi and Oscar Bijhala well known merchants, J. H. Nelson, a local tailor and Mike Gleason, a saloon keeper, are the other aspirants.

Judge Brady is without opposition for the municipal judgeship. Mayor Power, Recorder Haley and Councilmen Geisselman, Burrows and Curran, who are without any more dangerous competition than the three Socialists who, in order to live up to the platform of their party filed for councilmen.

For special municipal judge, an officer who acts during the absence of the regular officer, there are three candidates: T. S. Stillman, Herman Annoneli and A. E. Templeton. Mr. Stillman has held the position for some time.

Township Contest Lively.

In the township there is a battle for every position. For supervisor, R. M. Pritchard, James Butchart and Paul Williard are in the field. The first two are well known farmers while Mr. Willard is a mining man. For township clerk there are three candidates: Vic Bence, the present incumbent and George Healy who has held a similar position in the village of Alice.

For township treasurer Mike Cox, the present occupant of the office, is opposed by H. E. Schneider.

The election is lacking the sensational qualities that have been noticeable in the past. Election officials who have been appointed to act in the various precincts on Tuesday, and have failed to appear before Recorder Haley and take the necessary oath will be given until Monday afternoon to go through the necessary preliminaries and if they have not appeared by that time new men will be selected.

NEW HIGHWAY WILL PROVE GREAT BOON

Settlers North of Deer River Pleased Over County Board's Act.

Deer River, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The settlers north of Deer River are jubilant over the fact that the county board has called for bids for the making of forty miles of highway to run from Deer River to the north county line, at which point it is to connect with the Park Avenue road in Koochiching county, which leads to Northome. The contracts for their road are to be let in five separate sections. Bids will be heard by the county board of commissioners at Grand Rapids on March 25. Appropriation for the construction is part of the $300,000 voted in bonds last fall. The new highway will be an outlet to a great many settlers and it is anticipated that when it is completed many new settlers will settle in the fertile sections through which it passes, much of which is state land.

Beat Cass Lake.

The local high school basket ball team defeated the Cass Lake highs here last night. This is the third successive season the locals have held championship over the Cass Lakers.

Society is interested in the last number on the literary program given under auspices of the businessmen for the benefit of the Methodist church. The date is March 26, and the entertainers are the Illinois Glee club with their male quartet and Swiss bell ringers. The previous five numbers have been well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Peterson left Tuesday for Mellen, Wis., to visit Mrs. Peterson's parents.

Work on the Dumas bridge five miles west of here, one of the bridges in the making of the Duluth-Grand Forks highway, has been resumed by the Hennepin Bridge company after a temporary lull owing to a protest being filed by some meddlesome parties in the county. The temporary injunction was enforced by the war department with which the protest was filed claiming technical irregularity over navigation. County Commissioner C. M. Klag called on the war department officials at St. Paul and had the injunction removed.

Return to Superior.

James MacDonald and wife, who have been spending the winter here as guests of Mr. MacDonald's brother, J. D. MacDonald and wife, returned Wednesday to Superior to their home.

Mrs. P. P. Smith of County Road, who has been confined to her room for the past year from rheumatism is about to be removed to Minneapolis for treatment.

E. Burke, who recently purchased the Peterson hotel, contemplates making a large addition to the building this spring.

Miss Elsie Rayone, who for some time has been a suffer from stomach trouble, went to Bemidji Thursday to enter a hospital for treatment under Dr. Gilmore.

P. R. Brooks returned Thursday from Bemidji where he has been in a hospital the past two weeks receiving treatment for rheumatism with which he has suffered for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Patrick came up from Grand Rapids today to spend the Sabbath with former neighbors and friends.

Mrs. A. D. Ingersoll will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church at her residence next Wednesday afternoon.

EVELETH INVENTOR GETS MOVIE OFFER

Want to Show Him Wearing Fireproof Suit in Action.

Eveleth, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Panian, a local shoemaker, who recently gave a successful demonstration of a fireproof suit and helmit at Cincinnati, Ohio, who has returned, is in receipt of a letter from a moving picture concern asking him to return to Cincinnati and give a second demonstration in front of a motion picture machine.

Mr. Panian has no objection to appearing in the "movies," but feels that he cannot take the time to go East for another demonstration of his invention.

The idea was worked out and the model started in his shop here. The model was completed at the Crescent Tool company works at Cincinnati, where the demonstration was made. The model was rather clumsy, but Mr. Panian states that a suit can be designed which will not be so cumbersome and which will not impede the wearer.

The suit is intended for the use of men carrying the nozzle of a fire hose. The suit and helmet are lined with two layers of canvas, between which water is circulated by means of a tube which connects with the fire hose just back of the nozzle. The outlets for the water are at the hands.

Another small tube connected with a fan operated by the flow of water through the hose supplies air to the helmet, the foul air escaping at the back.

Mr. Panian believes that men equipped with the suits can carry a hose into the very heart of a fire.

The inventor is an Austrian and has been in this country eight years.

BOVEY NOTES.

Bovey, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Mabel Smith of Release visited here this week.

The Five Hundred club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Thomas Kingston next Wednesday.

Miss Lillian Frauti is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Victor Wakkinen of Keewatin.

Chris Hagen returned Wednesday from Thief River Falls, where he took the body of his wife for burial.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Provinski left Wednesday for Colby, Wis., to make their future home.

The following have been nominated for office: Mayor, George Andrew; councilmen, Eric Johnson, Charles Chalberg, James Matheson; clerk, C. J. Frauti; treasurer, E. Enstrom; constable, Gust Andres.

Mrs. R. Hawley is entertaining Mrs. Johnson of Grand Rapids this week.

Biwabik School Report.

Biwabik, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. J. E. Lunn's report of the school enrollment for the month of February shows 577; total attendance, 542; average daily attendance, 473.7 or a percentage of 81.19; neither tardy nor absent, 146; tardiness 101; total of 369 minutes being lost by the tardy ones.

Miss Fannie Stephenson's room had the highest percentage of attendance.

Give Program at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A literary program was given last night at the high school by the Crescent Literary society. Orchestra and vocal numbers and scenes from a number of the classics made up the program. The affair was in charge of Miss Schneider.

LAKE'S MURDER IS NOT YET CLEARED UP

Coroner's Jury Able Only to Decide That He Was Slain.

Eveleth, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The coroner's jury to investigate the death of Erick Lake, who was found in his cabin twenty-five miles east of here near Morcum with a wound in the abdomen and his throat cut, brought a verdict late yesterday afternoon that he came to his death at the hand of a person or persons to the jury unknown.

While it was not a part of the official verdict of the jury the men sitting in the case decided that the man had been killed at some place outside of the cabin, perhaps at some distance, and that the boy had been carried into the cabin and placed in a lounging position on a couch to convey the impression that he had committed suicide.

If such was the case the murderer evidently lost his nerve or became excited as he did not arrange the evidence so as to bear out a suicide theory. The barrel of a 12-gauge shot gun, the size with which Lake was killed, was found under the couch while the stock had been burned at except the metal part. It is supposed that the gun stock was destroyed to prevent its identification.

Throat Cut After Death.

A physician who examined the body states that the wound in the man's groin would have resulted in death or stupor so soon that he would have had no time to have disposed of the gun or the razor with which his neck was slashed. He also states that in his opinion the cut was inflicted after death.

Herman Kotola of this city discovered the body. He went out to see Lake and first inquired at a neighbors, where he was informed that Lake was staying at the home of Tavo Hattula. Upon inquiring there he was told that Lake had lost his mind about 2 o'clock last Saturday morning and after asking Hattula to shoot him had left for his own cabin. Kotola then went to Lake's own place and upon opening the door saw the body.

The officers have gone to the scene of the crime where they will question Hattula and other neighbors.

BUHL NEWS NOTES.

Current Happenings Gleaned in the Mesaba Range Village.

Buhl, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Mary Renlund was taken suddenly ill Sunday afternoon at her home on Jones avenue. The attending physician has up to this time been unable to determine the exact nature of her illness.

The Buhl high school basket ball team and many rooters went to Mountain Iron Saturday evening to play the team at that place and were beaten 15 to 5.

Messrs. Forsberg, Anderson, Bean and Durbahn entertained at dancing Tuesday evening at the clubhouse, indulging in some of the fashionable dances, after which a dainty luncheon was served.

The members of the Catholic Aid society held their regular meeting at the village hall Wednesday afternoon, a nice luncheon was served. Plans for giving a St. Patricks day entertainment were discussed.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Buhl church will meet next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. F. Nichols on Forrest avenue.

The engine at the power house that was damaged in the recent accident was shipped to the factory.

CATHEDRAL QUINT PROVE TOO SPEEDY

Defeat Two Harbors High School Five 23 to 15.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school basket ball team lost a fast and well-played game to the Cathedral high school quintet last night, 23 to 15. The Duluth players had a clever combination which seemed to baffle the local boys, and their basket shooting was much more accurate. Graves and Monahan, the two speedy forwards of the visitors, covered the floor in splendid shape and caged baskets from all points. Capt. Halliday for the locals also was in the game every minute and made some fine shots.

The lineup:

Duluth—		Two Harbors—
Barret	c	Daniels
Monahan	f	Richards
Graves	f	Halliday, capt.
Donaldson	g	Peglow
Hart	g	McCurdy
Sub—McNamara.

Score: Baskets—Graves, 3; Monahan, 4; McNamara, 1; Barret, 1; Donaldson, 1; Halliday, 4; Richards, 2; Daniels, 1. Free throws—Graves, 1; Barret, 2; Richards, 3. Referee—Conliff.

To Play C. A. C. Team.

The local city team will meet the C. A. C. team tonight in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The locals have been practicing daily and expect to defeat the Duluth team, although a fast and interesting game is looked for.

The lineup:

C. A. C.—		Two Harbors—
Dougherty	c	Woodward, capt.
Currie	f	Freeman
Paul	f	Kernan
Tourvail	g	Filiatrault
	g	Sullivan
H. Dougherty	g	Johnson

MILD.

And still the mild and spring-like weather continues. Were it not for the heavy snow on the ground one could easily be deceived into thinking that gentle spring had arrived. The weather man does not prophesy much change for the next thirty-six hours either. And nobody is objecting about it.

A year ago yesterday was cold. The sun rose this morning at 6:37 and will set this evening at 6:02 o'clock, giving eleven hours and twenty-five minutes of sunshine, three minutes more than yesterday and twenty minutes more than on March 1.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Snow or rain fell during Friday or last night over most districts to the eastward of the Rocky mountains except in the Gulf states. Somewhat colder weather prevails in the Northwest, Middle West and Rocky mountains, elsewhere the twenty-four-hour temperature changes were generally unimportant. A light frost occurred last night at Montgomery, Ala."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 7.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Take Soda for Acid Stomach or Indigestion—Try It

Indigestion, says a noted authority, is not caused by a lack of digestive juices, but by an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which promotes food fermentation, thus retarding digestion. Then our meals sour in the stomach and bowels like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon, then we get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest; we eructate food, belch gas and have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us that to instantly neutralize these stomach acids and stop food fermentation we must get a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets at any pharmacy and take one tablet any time followed by a tumbler of water which immediately settles the stomach; absorbs the gases and sweetens the entire digestive system.

He states that men and women who can trace their disordered stomachs and indigestion to acidity should not hesitate to take this harmless antacid at any time, as it is simply a compound of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

PROCTOR TEAM REBEKAH WORK

Coleraine, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The degree team from North Star Rebekah lodge of Proctor exemplified the work in admirable manner here Wednesday evening when a class was initiated by Banner Rebekah lodge, 109 of Coleraine, before a large number of members.

A banquet followed the initiation.

The local lodge is conducted by Mrs. Oscar Nelson, N. G., assisted by Mrs. Joseph Bain, V. G. Besides the degree team of Proctor, there were a number of outside guests, including, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Elsie Polkenhorn, Mrs. W. J. Warren, Miss Edith Warren, Mrs. Anna Therell, Mrs. E. E. Everett, all of Hibbing, and Mrs. J. Lathrope of Grand Rapids.

The following escorted the degree team from Proctor: Charles Ramfray, Charles Towner, Charles Doverstien, John Gretis and Louis Larson.

The degree team is composed of: Jane Paulu, N. G.; Edith McEwen, V. G.; Augusta Deirs, chaplain; Margaret Turner, P. N. G.; Edith Johnson, conductor; Eva Koons, warden; Leona Turner, R. S. N. G.; Bella Gustafson, L. S. V. G.; Leona Paplu, R. S. V. G.; Catherine Arbeck, L. S. V. G.; Winefred Hanson, Ruth; Francella Boehl, Naomi; Catherine Mathews and Ethel Gilderman, the Hebrew women; musician, Mayme Bassuet; captain, C. W. Towner.

LID FOR TOWER.

Reported That Vermilion Range City Will See Law Enforcement.

Tower, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is currently reported that orders will issue from city headquarters to close up the city beginning tomorrow and that next Sunday will be very dry here. It is said the order will include not only saloons, but pool halls, cigar stores and candy shops.

FUNERAL AT SUPERIOR FOR MRS. ROLLINS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. D. J. Rollins died very suddenly Tuesday noon. Mrs. Rollins was born in St. Stevens, N. B., and was 46 years of age. She was married to James Murchie sixteen years ago. Mr. Murchie died three years ago, and her marriage to D. J. Rollins took place Dec. 1, 1912. She is survived by her husband; one son, Colin Murchie; and two daughters, Myrtle B. and J. Pearl Rollins. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon in Superior, from the Methodist church.

Myers On Game Commission.

Biwabik, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The appointment by Governor Eberhart of Fred B. Myers, a local banker, to a position on the state game and fish commission to succeed E. L. Ogilvie of South St. Paul, is expected to remove friction alleged to have existed on the commission and to make that body more efficient. Range friends of a stricter enforcement of the game laws are pleased over the appointment, especially friends of George Wood of Hibbing, who it is claimed was unfairly removed from the service and has since done good work in the employ of range gun clubs.

CHISHOLM MAY HAVE ICE FAMINE.

Chisholm, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The present warm weather has caused havoc among teamsters who have been able to work but about sixty days during the entire winter. During the first of the season the snow kept back timber and logging work and that class of work was not well under way until around the holidays. When the roads were put in shape every available team was crowded into this work and the putting up of the ice crop left until later in the season. The recent thaws and losing of most of the snow now places the ice men in a quandry. Not enough ice has been put up for local commercial purposes.

GAVE INDIANS DRINK IS CHARGE PREFERRED.

Tower, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Bergstrom of Tower was arrested Thursday evening on complaint of Dr. O. I. Benson, superintendent of the government Indian school, on the charge of selling liquor to Indians. He was taken to Duluth on Friday, being held to the grand jury.

TOWER NOTES.

Tower, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The Country Kid" will be produced by local talent at the opera house on March 13 under the auspices of the Commercial club band.

The Vermilion Boat & Outing company will build a garage here near the boat landing.

John Owens of Cook was in this city during the week.

N. J. Benson has been spending several days at his farm near the west end of Lake Vermilion.

H. T. Olson is transporting lumber to his island, where he will build a cottage.

BIWABIK JOTTINGS.

Biwabik, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wilfred Symons left Wednesday for Soudan to be operated on for appendicitis.

G. A. Richards returned Tuesday evening from a business trip at Chicago and Milwaukee.

Clarence Colburn and Orris Dane left Wednesday for Portage, Wis., where they will visit for some time.

N. B. Shank was a Duluth visitor Monday on business.

Morris Donnellan represented the Biwabik fire department at a tournament meeting at Ely last Saturday evening.

Edward Verrill of Crosby is here visiting friends and relatives and is contemplating making quite a visit.

Herman Lundblad has returned from Pine City, where he has spent some time with his parents.

F. S. Colvin made a business trip to Fairbanks on Tuesday.

Mrs. E. J. Casey will entertain the Saturday Evening club this evening.

Mrs. J. G. Pasternackl of Virginia visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Richards Thursday.

F. B. Myers and J. S. Lutes returned Thursday from Crosby.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lane of Mesaba called on Biwabik friends this week.

B. H. Hoyer, commercial agent for the iron range called on Biwabik friends Friday.

Walter Donnellan left Friday for Duluth for a few days' visit.

Miss Beda Holst was a Virginia caller on Thursday.

Wilfred Syemons who was operated on for appendicitis at Soudan is doing nicely.

Miss Lillian Spain of Minneapolis visited at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Spurbeck this week.

C. L. Judd of Minneapolis attended to business matters here Thursday.

Mrs. Walter Donnellan spent several days in Duluth this week visiting friends.

Mrs. G. E. Mills was a Virginia caller on Thursday.

The Ruddy mine, which was closed down some time ago has again opened up which is very gratifying to Biwabik people.

Mrs. Jesse Myers entertained the card club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Christian, Jr., and Miss Ethel Guss were Virginia visitors on Friday.

Mrs. D. W. Owens and son, Howard, visited at Two Harbors on Saturday.

A number of people drove to Gilbert Friday evening to witness the Gilbert-Biwabik basket ball game.

D. N. McKenzie of Virginia attended to business matters here Wednesday.

Mrs. Peter McCall called on relatives at Eveleth Thursday.

Miss Lennie Wenstrom returned Thursday afternoon from Ely, she being called there some time ago by the death of her mother.

Biwabik Program.

Biwabik, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minerva Literary society of the high school gave the following program Friday evening in the high school auditorium: Roll call, current events; violin solo, Edwin Lofquist; reading, "My First Music Lesson," Stanley Burgraff; dialogue, "A Finished Education," Myrtle Jones and Clara Lintula; original story, Hilma Heitala; debate, "Resolved, That suffrage should be taken from the negroes." The affirmative side was argued by Roy Casey and Elsatia Koen; the negative side, Joe Shank, Beatrice Riley and Genevieve Bowen.

To Play at Soudan.

Soudan, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Tower, Soudan and Ely basket ball teams will play at the Finn hall, Soudan, tonight. The Elyites will come by special train and a big crowd is expected.

Gilbert Beats Biwabik.

Gilbert, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school basket ball team defeated the Biwabik high school quint here last night, 46 to 5.

YOU'RE CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS!---CASCARETS

Clean Your Waste-Clogged Liver and Bowels Tonight! Feel Bully!

Get a 10-cent box now.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get the desired results with Cascarets.

Don't let your stomach, liver and bowels make you miserable. Take Cascarets to-night; put an end to the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, backache and all other distress; cleanse your inside organs of all the bile, gases and constipated matter which is producing the misery.

A 10-cent box means health, happiness and a clear head for months. No more days of gloom and distress if you will take a Cascaret now and then. All druggists sell Cascarets. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

THE PREVENTION OF POULTRY DISEASES

BY JOHN R. BOWIE.

Fowls are liable to be affected by a number of diseases and may also be infected by various kinds of parasites which live on the surface of the body and also in the crop, stomach or intestines, taking the nourishment which should be used to put on flesh or produce eggs and also cause irritation and inflammation.

The contagious diseases produced by animal and vegetable germs are the most important the poultryman has to consider in trying to keep his birds healthy. These germs and the parasites should be kept out preferably by preventative measures, although there are cases where medicines may be advantageously given. As a rule, however, it is better to kill sick fowls, the cost of treatment being greater than the value of the birds. Moreover, the spread of contagious diseases is also there.

Starting Right.

To start right, then, set eggs from a flock which has shown no indications of contagious diseases for at least a year; avoid putting these eggs in packing such as chaff, etc., which may be musty or moldy; wipe them with a cloth wet in 70 or 80 per cent alcohol and hatch them in a thoroughly cleansed incubator. The young chicks should then be free from parasites and injurious germs of all kinds, and to keep them so put them in clean brooders and allow them to run only upon ground which has not been used for fowls for several years.

Should hens be used for hatching the chicks pick out those known to be healthy and dust well with lice powder before setting. Their nests should be perfectly clean, and there should be a box of road dust or sifted hard coal ashes under cover where they can dust themselves. When the young chicks are taken from the nest examine carefully for lice. These parasites accumulate under the throat and on the top and back of the head, and if any are found rub a little sweet oil, pure lard or vaseline with the finger over the parts where the lice are.

By starting thus a flock may be raised practically free from disease germs and parasites, but to keep germs and parasites from developing and increasing to a dangerous extent, the hens must be kept clean, the drinking fountains and feed troughs washed every day or two with boiling water, and if any mites are found on the birds or in their houses, the roosts and adjoining parts of the walls should be sprayed with a good disinfectant used in connection with freshly slacked lime.

FERTILIZERS AND GREEN MANURE CROPS

Cheap Insurance Against Poor Crops.

BY C. A. MOOERS,
Tennessee Experiment Station.

As an all around means of soil improvement no other material equals manure. Frequently, however, people want to know what to use to supplement insufficient supply of manure. If nothing be known about the special needs of the soil use a high grade complete fertilizer, such as truck growers make. One thousand or 1,500 pounds per acre is not too much, and this amount may be applied broadcast and mixed throughout the soil. However, a part may be saved for the row or in the hill for crops like potatoes, tomatoes, etc.

But will even 1,500 pounds per acre of high grade complete fertilizer build up the fertility of soil? The answer is quite simple. Fifteen hundred pounds of fertilizer contain several times the phosphoric acid removed by a heavy crop of vegetables, and the unused portion will remain in soil for the benefit of succeeding crops. The supply of potash need not give concern, but the weakness of the fertilizer is the low content of the high-priced element, nitrogen.

Use Care In Selection.

A comparison of the proportions of plant food elements present in fertilizers with those found in crops will make this point clear. Take corn, for example. In mature plants for every ten pounds of phosphoric acid are found twenty-three pounds of potash and thirty-two pounds of nitrogen, but in a common brand of trucker's fertilizer for every ten pounds of phosphoric acid are four pounds of potash and only three and one-third pounds of nitrogen. Thus 1,500 pounds of such fertilizer does not contain as much nitrogen as is required in the production of a forty bushel corn crop and less than one-third the amount removed by a heavy crop of cabbage. In fact, all of the nitrogen demanded by common farm and garden crops cannot be profitably supplied by commercial fertilizers. To build up soil in nitrogen recourse must be had to the growing for manurial purposes of leguminous plants, such as peas, beans, vetches, especially clovers, all of which gather nitrogen from air. A complete fertilizer for the legumes need contain only phosphoric acid and potash, but the sweetening of soil by an occasional liming will be of benefit to them and to the garden crops. Clover should be sown freely in midsummer wherever possible. Finally, as a result of the applications of manure, fertilizers, lime and the growing of legumes, fertility of soil is built up.

PRACTICAL INTENSIVE GARDEN PLANS

Systems Which Bring Good Results.

By JAMES B. MORMAN.

By intensive culture a small holder makes the best use of his land, increasing the surface area, while companion cropping is the most practical feature of intensive gardening. The following crop systems have given good results:

Two Crops.—Irish and sweet potatoes can be grown together. Plant early as possible a late variety of potato in rows three feet apart; put their seed pieces eighteen or twenty inches apart in rows. After the potatoes have been hilled the last time, set out sweet potato slips in ridges between Irish potato plants, and when frost has killed the sweet potato vines both crops can be dug together. As sweet potatoes take long to mature, best results are secured with a late variety of Irish potato as companion crop.

Another two-crop combination is sweet corn and cauliflower, the latter growing slowly and liking shade, the former growing rapidly in hot, moist weather, and in warm climates corn furnishes the shade which cauliflower requires. Cauliflower plants should be started early in boxes of rich soil; the sweet corn should be sown in hills three feet each way, and when the cauliflower plants are large enough transplant between rows of sweet corn in deep holes two or three feet apart and with both crops plant but a few rows at a time to provide a long cropping season, so cauliflower will follow corn for table use, being a late maturing crop.

A Three-Crop Combination.

Three Crops.—As soon as the land can be worked in spring, plant to early potatoes. When hilled the last time, plant sweet corn between the rows three feet apart, with occasional hills of winter squash. These two crops get a good start before potatoes mature. Dig potatoes when the tops are dead, so the digging may serve to cultivate the growing corn and squash. Broadcast with turnip seed, top dress with farm or chicken manure and thoroughly rake seed and fertilizer into soil. Sweet corn, winter squash and turnips are three good companion crops for fall use.

Another satisfactory combination after early potatoes is to plant sweet corn and winter squash, as previously described, with cauliflower or winter cabbage between the hills of corn. After potatoes are dug, plant to cowpeas, which gives three crops for table use, with cowpeas for soil improvement because of the nitrogen contained in the roots.

FENCING AND POSTS.

Rail and Board Fences Have Had Their Day.

By P. K. EDWARDS.

Pigs and the board fence were the bane of our existence as boys, for no matter how securely we fastened the old boards the pigs would get out just when we were starting for the swimming hole or going berrying. Now concrete posts and wire fencing have become substitutes for the board and rails and once set up are fortunately there to stay.

"But wire fencing is so expensive!" the reader will say. The reply to that is, "If you do not consider the lasting qualities of good heavy galvanized wire and the indestructibility of cement posts." The writer remembers putting a fifty-five inch woven wire fence around his garden some nineteen years ago, using chestnut posts set twenty feet apart. This fence is still standing and is to all appearances in excellent condition. Regarding the spacing of the posts around this garden, which bordered the highway and required 400 feet of fencing, if we had used a board fence with eight foot post spacing, thirty more posts would have been required, and as these cost even in those days 15 cents each, a saving of $4.50 was effected. In this particular case the posts being of chestnut (eight feet long) the butts were painted with a creosote preparation and set three feet in the ground. The gate, corner and end posts were nine feet, set four feet in the ground and to the butts of each of these posts were spiked two four-foot strips of heavy planking, one near the bottom, the other on the opposite side three feet higher up. These acted as anchors, preventing the posts from being loosened when the wire was tightened. On top of these anchors large stones were laid before the earth was replaced.

In using cement posts, which are easily made at home, be sure to have the butts of the corner and end posts extra heavy and then no anchors are needed; also provide for two bolt holes in each post, one near the top, the other near the bottom, to be used for the bolts which hold the wooden strip to which the wire is stapled.

In setting some 800 feet of poultry fencing this past year the writer used modern heavy woven wire, with six foot cement posts set three feet in the ground. To these short posts were bolted five foot wooden strips 3 by 4 inches, to which the wire was stapled. Many of the cement posts in this case had to have extra large butts on account of the hollows in the ground, which had a tendency to pull up the posts.

Today when the price of labor is so high, the stout, easily built wire fence is an economical investment.

FACTS ABOUT "HOG CHOLERA"

By M. H. REYNOLDS,
Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.

No Cholera Cure.

There is no known cure of preventive treatment by ordinary medicines that can be recommended for hog cholera. Disinfectants properly used in sufficient strength may have some value in preventing cholera simply by destroying virus on feeding floors, troughs, etc.

Serum.

The only treatment recommended by the Minnesota College of Agriculture for Cholera is the Dorset-Niles hog cholera serum. This serum is the watery portion of the blood of a specially treated immune hog. It undoubtedly has curative value in some cases, but should be recommended as a preventive treatment and not as a cure.

Good serum properly used is very reliable and has saved hogs worth millions of dollars, but large quantities of impotent or contaminated serum, and even imitations of serum, were used in this state during the past year with bad results.

Virus.

Virus, as usually understood in vaccination work, is the watery portion of the blood of a cholera-sick hog, and contains the specific virus which will produce true hog cholera when introduced without serum into the blood of a susceptible hog.

Use of Serum.

There has been a great deal of careless administration of hog cholera serum which has resulted in swellings, abscesses, lameness and unthriftiness that should not have occurred at all. If a man is using clean serum from a responsible source, these conditions are generally unnecessary and are to the discredit of the operator. Such bad results may follow the most careful administration of dirty or contaminated serum.

Serum-Only Treatment.

Serum-only treatment consists of the injection of serum by hypodermic syringe into the body of the hog without the use of virus. Under ordinary conditions the only legisimate use for serum alone is for apparently healthy hogs in sick herds. By this method it is necessary for every treated hog to have plenty of cholera infection. This can be accomplished (1) by very close confinement with sick or dead hogs; (2) by feeding large pieces of a hog dead from cholera to the treated hogs, being careful to avoid leaving blood and pieces of meat where they may infect untreated hogs, of (3) by any similar means of giving certain infection. Only hogs receiving sufficient infection will be permanently immune. Hogs treated with serum but not infected promptly or thoroughly enough, lose their immunity after a few weeks and are likely to die from cholera if infected, just as though they had not been treated.

It not infrequently happens that when serum is used without virus in a sick herd, the disease apparently disappears suddenly and entirely, and then after five or six weeks or even longer the disease reappears and a considerable portion of the herd is subsequently lost from cholera. The explanation is very simple. The hogs that subsequently died from cholera were temporarily protected by serum, but did not receive sufficient virus infection to produce the mild form of cholera through which a hog must pass in order to receive permanent immunity. Serum-only treatment should not be used on healthy, uninfected hogs that are not to receive infection, because the immunity given by the serum alone is too temporary to be practical.

There is no restriction in either law or regulation as to who may use commercial serum by the serum-only method. Serum produced at the state hog cholera serum plant, university farm, St. Paul, is sold at one-third of a cent per cc., and may be used only by persons holding a permit from the state livestock sanitary board.

Serum-Virus Treatment.

When treated by the serum-virus method, hogs receive simultaneous injections of serum and virus. Serum-virus treatment should as a rule be permitted only for healthy hogs in a cholera neighborhood and hogs with normal temperatures in infected herds. Under any ordinary circumstances serum-virus treatment should not be permitted in uninfected territory.

The only safe or economical rule is to use full doses of serum or even larger doses than may be actually necessary in either the serum-only or serum-virus method. The serum-only and serum-virus methods should both be recognized as legitimate and standard procedures when used in a proper way and under proper control. Cholera-free neighborhoods should aim to produce their own feeding-stock and not risk infection by shipping in feeders.

New Stock For Infected Territory.

The only process of immunization that can be relied upon for susceptible hogs going into territory that has been infected within a year is the serum-virus treatment. Hogs so treated should be regarded as objects of suspicion for three weeks, on account of possible vaccination cholera within that time.

A farmer living on an uninfected farm in infected territory can safely purchase only (1) hogs that have been through cholera some months before or (2) hogs previously susceptible that have received serum-virus treatment three weeks or more before they are moved to his place. In any case hogs going to an uninfected farm should be kept entirely apart from the healthy hogs already on the farm, taken care of by a separate herdsman, and kept in quarantine for at least two weeks.

Use fo Virus.

Obviously it would be a foolish and dangerous public policy to authorize the use of virus everywhere and by everybody. It is very plain that hog cholera virus means hog cholera and that virus is dangerous material to handle so far as hogs are concerned because it is capable of causing and spreading the disease. For this reason serum-virus treatment should not be used indiscriminately. Just where the line should be drawn seems to be an extremely difficult question to solve.

At present, only veterinarians in state employ may legally administer the serum-virus treatment, except upon written permission from the state live stock sanitary board. It is probable that in order to take care of the serious situation created by widespread cholera last year, more extensive plans will be adopted for providing serum-virus treatment for such cholera-swept districts.

At two recent conferences including state live stock sanitary board representatives, college and experiment station men, farmers, stockmen and others it was decided after long discussion that serum-virus treatment should be limited to veterinarians who have had training in bacteriology and who receive a permit from the state live stock sanitary board.

New Stock For Uninfected Territory.

A farmer living in uninfected territory and who wishes to increase his herd should do so if possible by raising his own stock or buying from the immediate neighborhood where he can be sure there has been no cholera. There can be no assurance of entire safety to the neighborhood if hogs are shipped in any stock car or pass through any stockyards or have had any real serum-virus treatment. "Doctored" virus is being sent out by some commercial firms. This is safe if sufficiently "doctored"; but it is of no use so far as conferring immunity is concerned.

Pregnant Sows.

There a little accurate information concerning the danger of treating pregnant sows by either the serum-only or the serum-virus method. We have some evidence that if either treatment is given when the sow is advanced in pregnancy there is danger of premature birth, or birth of dead pigs at the natural time, or the birth of living but very weak pigs. For the present we are not advising either form of treatment for pregnant sows except in early stages of pregnancy or in later stages when there is great risk from neighborhood infection and loss of the sows themselves. In this case it is not a question of saving the pigs but of saving the sow at a sacrince of the pigs if necessary.

Correspondence concerning state serum should be addressed to Veterinary Division, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn., where it is produced but letters concerning the use of virus to State Live Stock Sanitary board, Old Capitol, St. Paul.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

BY LE ROY CADY,
Associate Horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Spring is the best time to set out all kinds of fruits.

No place is too small to afford some garden or plant growth.

Do not cover fine seed deeply. Put on just enough dirt to cover the seed.

Take cuttings of all house plants that are to be planted out next spring.

Most of the bulbs put into the cellar last fall are well rooted now and ready to bring into the living rooms.

Go over the vegetables and fruits in the cellar and pick out those that are decayed.

Use wood ashes as a garden fertilizer, working them into the soil of rose beds and about fruit plants.

The roots of rheubarb put into the cellar last fall ought to be giving a good supply of stalks now which will be relished as fresh sauce.

Bring in branches of plums, pussy willows, and poplars and put them into water. They will open up and add brightness to the room.

Plants like sweet alyssum, nasturtiums, and some vegetables, as radish and lettuce, may be grown in a flat or window box if no other place is available.

SOWING CLOVER SEED.

By A. C. ARNY,
Assistant Agriculturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Clover should invariably be sown in the spring and, under normal conditions, comparatively early.

Broadcasting the seed and following with a harrow has been frequently advised, and is successful in Minnesota during wet seasons and on heavy soils; but is often unsatisfactory in dry seasons and on light soils. Clover should not be sown too deeply, and yet it is desirable to sow it sufficiently deep that it will neither blow out nor dry out easily. Under most conditions, either using the grass-seed attachment to the drill or mixing the seed with the grain is to be recommended. Excellent stands of grass have been obtained by mixing the red clover with the grain and sowing the balance of the grass seed mixtures broadcast. If grass seed is mixed with the grain and sown with a drill, the drill should not be run more than from one to two inches deep.

The amount of seed per acre will vary slightly with the method of seeding and the purity and germinating power of the seed. It is believed that in general too little rather than too much seed is sown. If clover is sown separately, it should be at the rate of from eight to ten pounds of red or mammoth, from four to six of alsike, and from three to four of white clover.

CORN AND PIG CONTEST.

By H. M. BUSH,
Farmers' Club Specialist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Murray county boys are going to see who can produce the most and cheapest pork this summer. A committee of business men and those interested in the Slayton school have raised nearly $150 in cash and merchandise which will be given as prizes to the boys in this and the acre yield corn contest. Three breeders of purebred swine in the county offered the choice of their herds to those winning prizes. The rules of the contest have not been definitely decided on, but the committee has made the statement that it intends to require each contestant to raise a litter of pigs from birth and to keep an accurate record of the feed cost. They are also to grow an acre of corn which is to be fed to this litter of pigs in the fall at the time they are fattened for market.

The prizes are to be liberal enough so many boys will be attrected to this contest. We expect to see the farmers of Murray county gain much knowledge from this contest which will help them in making the pork end of their farm business more profitable.

TEN YEARS OF FARMING IN TIMBERED SECTION

By A. J. McGUIRE,
Superintendent of North Central Experiment Station, Grand Rapids, Minn.

Aim of Work—For the past ten years, the time I have been in charge of the experiment station at Grand Rapids, my chief aim has been to work out a system of farming that would be most profitable and practical for the farmers of the timbered section.

The System of Farming—We have found that dairy farming for general conditions is, without any question, the most profitable, and entirely practical for the great majority of farmers. Hog raising, to a limited extent, and poultry raising can be carried on with dairying. Beef cattle and sheep can be kept to advantage under certain conditions, but the dairy cow should be the foundation of agriculture in the timbered section.

The Crops to Grow—We have found that oats, clover, fodder-corn, potatoes and rutabagas are the most profitable field crops, for general conditions. Any or all of the field crops common to Minnesota can be grown, but for the farm of forty acres or less under the plow, the crops mentioned will prove of the most advantage as the principal field crops. In certain locations and under certain conditions farmers may specialize to advantage in vegetables and small fruits, but as yet the field for this is limited.

Size of the Farm—The necessity of clearing the land compels small fields; but we have found that in dairy farming, with the right system of cropping, a farmer can succeed and make a splendid income with only twenty-one acres or less under the plow. For a man with little capital and not much help in his family, who is to begin a farm in the timbered section, forty acres of good land is sufficient and it is generally a misfortune for such a man to purchase over eighty acres of unimproved land in that the purchase of the land takes the capital which is required to prepare and improve the land for profitable production.

ROPE ON THE FARM.

The ability to tie a few useful knots and splice a rope is useful to the farmer as well as the sailor, and at times to people in all walks of life. The average person does not wish to spend the time necessary to learn a large number of knots, but he should master a few of those that are most useful, so thoroughly that he can make them at any time from memory. There are several ways of tying some knots and of making some of the splices and hitches, but the beginner should confine himself to the one method by which he can obtain the best results, even though it may not be the way which the expert would find quickest and easiest. Those who wish to tie the simple knots and make the splices of use on the farm, may secure, free of charge, a copy of Bulletin 136 entitled Rope and Its Use on the Farm, by addressing the Agricultural Experiment Station, University Farm, St. Paul.

MATING FOWLS.

By A. C. SMITH,
Poultryman, University Farm, St. Paul.

It is now time to give the subject of mating serious consideration. The kept-over hens will soon begin to lay. Having rested all the fall and winter, they are in prime health and full of vigor, just the birds to breed from, much preferable to those that have been steadily filling the egg basket since last October or November. These hens and pullets have done their task well, and we can rarely expect double duty from any animal any more than double time from the help we employ.

Select the strongest, healthiest, and most active hens in your flock, as they will produce vigorous, rapidly growing chicks, that make the best layers and the most profitable roosters. It is usually well to look for specimens just about the average or standard weight or size. Select and guard against deterioration in this respect.

Strong, sturdy birds are the kind the farmer wants, and the kind he must have to pay him a good profit, and that kind he may and will have, if he will select the right kind of breeding specimens. Select birds rather long of body, broad, with legs set well apart, but at the same time not inclined to be too deep behind compared with the forequarters, as such hens are inclined to convert their food into meat rather than eggs. Select the active, energetic kind, the one that gets up early and retires late, the one that has bright eyes and red face and wattles. It is better when hatching from high producers to select eggs from those in their second year, after they have rested and recovered from the great effort of their first year. Such a method offers these advantages: (1) the record of the hen is a known quantity; (2) the first eggs laid after the resting period, which are popularly supposed to be the strongest in generative power, may be selected; and (3) high-producing hens in their second year often begin to lay just before the most favorable season for hatching.

LORD DERBY MAY BE NEXT PREMIER

Likely to Be British Premier If the Unionists Win.

London, March 7.—Lord Derby is being picked by many political observers as likely to prove a "dark horse" in the contest for the premiership when the Unionists return to power.

Those who most ardently supported Bonar Law are now believing that his leadership has proved a failure. He is over 70 years of age and he is a Liberal-Unionist, a party association which has never helped a man to the leadership of the Unionists.

Lord Derby, on the other hand, who has been Unionist leader in Lancashire for many years, has never associated himself with the tariff reform which has helped to defeat the Unionists at three successive general elections. He is a "free fooder," like most Lancastrians, and has further strengthened his position by taking a strong stand against those who threatened civil war if the home rule bill is passed. While a staunch anti-home ruler, Lord Derby spoke strongly against the Ulster men, should they rise against law and order. Again he denounced attempts to revive the royal veto, when a section of his party suggested that the king should be petitioned to withhold his signature from the home rule bill. He therefore gained the reputation of being a strong Constitutionalist.

The Lancashire leader has the advantage of having served in the house of commons and has had considerable experience in the cabinet. He started his career as a member of the staff of the governor general of Canada; was chief press censor and private secretary to Lord Roberts during the South African war, and was twice mentioned in dispatches for conspicuous services. Upon return to England he became one of the lords of the treasury, and later financial secretary to the war office, where he remained until he entered the cabinet as postmaster general.

He had to retire from the house of commons, where he represented the West Houghton division of Lancashire for fourteen years, on the death of his father in 1906, but he has continued his interest in politics. If not actually premier when the Unionists return to power, he is sure to fill one of the cabinet offices. His great wealth will, of course, help him, but of even greater assistance is his intimacy with King George.

NOVEL CAMPAIGN AGAINST WELSH BILL.

London, March 7.—Unionist society women have started a novel campaign against the Welsh disestablishment bill. When the idea was first mooted the proposal was to hold Wednesday afternoon social functions during March at the town houses of four peeresses, each gathering being attended by one of the Welsh bishops. Other peeresses, however, have indicated their willingness to lend their houses to the public in the cause of the establishment, and these will be utilized on Saturday afternoons, when their owners are out of town for the week-end. The privilege of roaming through the homes of the aristocracy is expected to attract a great many people, and the gatherings will be announced as great musters against the bill.

There are now licensed in England 320,119 motor vehicles. These are made up of 175,247 motor cars, 132,245 motorcycles and 12,627 heavy motor vehicles.

The story of "The Black Circle," in three parts, which will be shown at the Lyceum, is briefly as follows:

At a brilliant court function at the embassy, valuable jewels are stolen. A note is left bearing the picture of a crown encircled by a black border. This is one of the many robberies of recent date by the mysterious Black Circle gang. The police make a frantic effort to locate the stronghold of the gang.

Robert Benton, a fashionable young man about town loses his money in a card game with George Morgan. He gives a promissory note to cover his losses and when the note falls due he is unable to pay. A furious interview follows and Robert, in desperation, remarks that apparently his only chance of ever paying, is to join the famous Black Circle. Morgan instantly seizes upon this suggestion and invites Benton to accompany him that night. They make their way to the headquarters of the gang, and Benton, much against his will, is initiated into the secrets of the order. A bold piece of work is assigned him and he decides to flee the country. He does so, leaving a note for Morgan.

He goes to a cattle ranch in America and obtains employment. A year later Benton and Lillian Graham, daughter of the ranch owner, become engaged to be married. On the other side of the Atlantic, the police finally succeed in locating Morgan and his confederates. Morgan escapes and also heads for America. As chance would have it, he meets Benton and threatens to expose him unless given a sum of money. At the point of a revolver, Benton compels him to leave the farm. Vowing vengeance, the blackmailer goes to an adjoining town and wires Benton to meet him, signing the name of Benton's employer. He uses the interval to abduct Lillian, and forces her to ride madly across the country with him. Returning from his unfortunate mission, Benton gives chase and overtakes the pair on the brink of a precipice. Brought to bay, Morgan threatens to hurl Lillian into the abyss below unless Benton consents to his demand. The panic-stricken youth asks for a truce, which allows old Tom, one of Benton's cowboys who had accompanied him, to cleverly threw a lasso around Morgan, making him a prisoner. Lillian is saved, but in the confusion Morgan escapes and, hurling himself over the precipice, puts an end to his wayward career, and allows the young couple a future undisturbed by the horror of the Black Circle.

The Traffic.

Rachael Marshall's astounding drama of the commerce in girls, "The Traffic," which has scored nothing less than a sensation in Chicago, will be seen at the Lyceum on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with matinees Wednesday and Thursday. At first the critics of Chicago recognized the power and truth of "The Traffic," but doubted the sincerity of purpose of its author, Miss Marshall, a young woman who has spent the greater portion of her life among reform movements, and whose investigation of the terrible conditions attendant upon the white slave traffic were responsible for her writting "The Traffic" in an effort to open the eyes of the general public to the condition as it exists and flourishes in many of the biggest American cities, in the hopes that it might arouse sufficient interest to bring forth legislation that would bring an end to such terrible conditions.

Since the opening, however, it has been highly approved by Lieutenant Governor Barrett O'Hara of Illinois, Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britten of Hull house, Maj. Funkhouser of the police department of Chicago and a number of earnest reformers, who while admitting that it is rather frank and severe, nevertheless approve it as a powerful lesson and warning to all young men and women.

"The Traffic" goes straight without any delicate shortcuts to the causes, the methods, the motives and results of commercialized vice. Its fascination and pointed truths disclose the industrial reasons that start so many girls on the road to the brothel. Poverty, sickness and dirt—all caused by insufficient pay for honest work—constitute the home and environment of many ignorant and innocent girls, and they are soon made aware that there is a way—one way only as they see it—by which they can get a share of the world's one standard treasure—money.

The producers of "The Traffic" have provided an exceptionally fine cast of players, while in its presentation and production it bears the touch of Belasco, it is said.

"Within the Law."

Bayard Veiller, author of the play, "Within the Law," which will come to the Lyceum theater on Friday and Saturday, has chosen for the theme of his melodrama a cross-section out of the life of a poor shop girl, who after "serving time" for a theft she didn't perpetrate, vows to "get even," which she does by marrying the son of her former employer. She is not in love nor does she believe she is in love with Dick Gilder, but marries him to bring disgrace to his father, who was the real means of sending her to prison. The employer, in order to make an example and stop the petty thievery which has been going on in his department store, "takes away her name and gives her a number," so she decides that she will "get even" by taking his name, thus causing the public disgrace that will follow the young man's marriage with an ex-convict. Meantime, following her release from prison, she organizes a band of "crooks" and takes her revenge upon society by helping in various nefarious money-procuring schemes that are nevertheless always "within the law." She even gets the aid of lawyers to protect her. Finally, Mary Turner is warned by the police to leave the city. She refuses, and a "stool pigeon," a member of the light-fingered gentry, who will turn informer on his former comrades—calls on her and asks her aid in a burglary which he proposes to commit. She refuses the proposition, because she will do nothing which is not "within the law." One of her lieutenants, a lovable character, although he is a forger, falls in with the scheme without her knowledge. The night of the burglary the police, who have been informed by a "stool pigeon," surround the place. It is the home of Mr. Gilder, Mary's former employer, which is about to be robbed, when Mary learns of the plan and warns the men by aid of the Morse telegraph code sent over the telephone. They refuse to make their escape without first securing the valuable tapestries, so Mary comes to them. Just as she exposes the "stool pigeon" her husband comes into the room in time to see the forger, Garson, shoot the "pigeon" with a revolver silenced with a Maxim patent mute. Although overcome by the fatality, the girl manages to allow the men to make their escape. Just as she is trying to convince her husband that he ought to leave her, so that she can make a hurried departure, the police inspector, who has been awaiting the signal of his men to make the coup, walks into the darkened room. A colloquy occurs, in which the girl and her husband, who will not leave her, try to bluff out and are almost successful, when a searchlight from the Metropolitan tower sweeps through the window disclosing the "stool pigeon" stretched on the floor. The inspector is making an astounding arrest when the girl in a stirring, dramatic speech forbids it, proclaiming that the man was shot by her husband in the defense of his home, the murder being, therefore, clearly "within the law."

This is part of the plot of Mr. Veiller's play, which is not only full of thrills and stirring situations, but is interspersed with comedy in the lightest vein. The "proof of the pudding is in the eating." "Within the Law" ran for two years at the Eltinge theater, New York city, and will be given here with the same splendid cast as seen here on its former presentation, including Jane Gordon, Eileen Wilson, Marcia Mainell, Robert Tabor, William Lambert, Daniel Sullivan, Wilson Reynolds, William Powell and others.

"Officer 666."

"Officer 666" is a good-natured "copper" and theater goers in New York all last season "laughed their heads off" at his ineffectual efforts to arrest the high-toned thief who, in the play, finally purloins the uniform of the brave officer and makes his "getaway." Not, however, before many thrilling episodes have cropped up in the three acts, Augustin MacHugh, the author of the farce, takes time to tell his most amusing story. "Officer 666," which is one of the genuine hits of 1912, will be presented here at the Lyceum March 16 and 17.

In the United States department stores have become established as institutions. Really they are great big country stores organized to supply the varied wants of large communities where the country store catered to a limited number of folk. With the growth of the department store came new problems for the thousands of people employed as parts of the big machine. Charles Klein recognized in the lives of these people dramatic possibilities which he has set down in "Maggie Pepper," the thoroughly interesting play in which Miss Rose Stahl and an excellent company will appear at the Lyceum late this month. There is probably no actress on the stage today who could so faithfully portray "Maggie Pepper," and the success of Miss Stahl in the part is even greater than that of the play itself, which stands among the notable hits of recent seasons.

A statement from the music publishers of "The Quaker Girl" score shows that over 8,000,000 copies of "Come to the Ball" have been sold up to date, making it the most popular and best seller since the days of "After the Ball."

McIntyre & Heath, acknowledged the most legitimately humorous men on the stage in the delineation of Southern negro types, will be an attraction at the Lyceum in April in an elaborate revival of their greatest musical comedy success, "The Ham Tree," under the management of John Cort. "The Ham Tree" is by George V. Hobart, and Jean Schwartz, and this season's presentation of the musical novelty has been fully revised and brought up-to-date. The production is staged by Ned Wayburn.

Gus Hill's new "Mutt and Jeff" production called "In Panama" is blazing a trail of merriment that has never been equalled by a play of any sort or character. There seems to be no limit to the possibilities of laugh producing material to be culled from the famous Fisher cartoons which are now running in more than 1,000 daily and Sunday newspapers throughout the United States and Canada. This season's offering is entirely new with the exception of the two inimitable droll characters "A. Mutt" and his little pal, "Mr. Othello Montgomery Jeffries." As is natural to suppose, fun is the paramount object of the play, and in that respect as well as from the standpoint of a musical production, "Mutt and Jeff in Panama" has no equal in the annals of musical comedy.

Mr. Hill has been lavish in his expenditures relative to scenery and electrical embellishments and it is not at all unlikely that nothing so elaborate has ever been presented at popular prices. The same may also be truthfully said regarding the twenty or more separate and distinct changes of magnificent costumes worn by the chorus in their divertisments and numberless songs written by that author of so many big hits, Leo Edwards. One of the scenic surprises is the passing of a full rigged ship through the great Panama canal and sailing out into the Pacific ocean, with our heroes "Mutt and Jeff," on board. A number of very interesting dramatic situations containing genuine thrills are added in order to relieve the strain of incessant laughter. The book furnished by Bud Fisher and Owen Davis gives ample opportunity for fun of the "Mutt and Jeff" brand. The entire production was staged under the personal direction of Mr. Hill which gives assurance of the best that money can buy or that brains can invent. Mr. Hill may be rightly called "the dean of cartoon comedy productions."

All through his life Maurice Maeterlinck, author of "The Blue Bird" which will be seen here shortly, has been something of an enigma, even to his intimate friends. He was born in Ghent, Belgium, Aug. 29, 1862, and has all his years of maturity followed the path of mysticism. First he used to write short stories. They were much like those of De Maupassant, but no one could make heads or tails of them. Only two men really supported him. Encouraged by their praise he continued and to this is largely due his success.

Acknowledgment of his genius, however, did not come to him until he was 27. He had written "La Princesse Maleine." No one could be found to publish the story. Finally a friend agreed to set it in type provided Maeterlinck would turn the hand press. Twenty-five copies were so printed. One fell into the hands of the poet Octavo Mirabeau, who was so pleased with the work that he wrote a three-column review of it in Le Figiro. This set the world a-talking.

About this time Maeterlinck went to Paris where he followed his inclination to work in seclusion. There he soon became known as a man of mystery. He has often been described as an artist-philosopher similar to Ibsen or Shaw. But unlike Ibsen he does not trust to action alone to reveal the symbolic lessons of his dramas. After the manner of Shaw he expounds his aim in essays. Early in his work he wove in peculiar ideas of destiny, the unknown determining force of life. At first all with him was predestination, but since the publication of the volume of essays called "Wisdom and Destiny" in which he said that will, courage, wisdom and love could help man to overcome destiny he has never returned to his early absolute fatalism. "The Blue Bird" is perhaps the most fanciful and beautiful of all of his works.

JACK HAZZARD,
At the Orpheum Next Week.

THE TWO COMEDIANS OF THE FOUR VALDARES
Coming to the Empress.

SCENE FROM "WITHIN THE LAW,"
Which Will Play a Return Date at the Lyceum Next Friday and Saturday.

Orpheum

Few comedy jingles have gained greater circulation during the last few years than the lines entitled "Ain't it Awful, Mabel?"

The sayings of the young woman who was a friend of Mabel's have created merriment from coast to coast. Their author will headline the new bill at the Duluth Orpheum next week. He is John E. Hazzard, who is as well known as a vaudevillian as he is as an author of comedy jingles, jokes and sketches. Mr. Hazzard has been starred in several musical comedies, and has also had experience in the legitimate drama. He has returned to his first love, vaudeville, and is now touring the Orpheum circuit giving his monologue. He has been warmly received in all the Orpheum cities visited to date, and is expected to prove a comedy hit at the Duluth theater next week.

Second in importance on the bill will be McDevitt, Kelly & Lucey, who are known as "The Piano Movers and the Actress." The comedy sketch tells of an actress who has been rehearsing. Her partners have deserted her and two piano movers come to take away the piano she has been using. She finds them good substitutes, and they present a lively turn consisting of songs, dances and comedy dialogue.

Kimberly and Mohr have an act that is said to be a real novelty. They call it "Clubland." One of the young men is a bachelor and the other a benedict, and they state their cases in song. One presents the joys of a bachelor's life, and the other replies with the advantages of a married man's life.

The arguments are sung instead of said, and they are said to offer a very good musical feature of a rather different type.

Orpheum audiences will remember Mabelle Adams, a violinist and actress, who was last seen at the Orpheum in a sketch called "Zita." She will be at the Duluth theater next week in a new one-act play entitled "Wanda," which is said to give her ample scope for her ability as an emotional actress, and also permit her to introduce her violin playing in an effective manner. She is a young woman of striking appearance, and the act has been quite generally praised in other Orpheum cities.

The Aerial Lloyds are four young men who offer a sensational casting act. The Duluth theater has not had a casting act this year, and the Lloyds are said to be at the top of their profession. Their feats of casting from the aerial trapezes are said to be sensational in the extreme.

Cummings and Gladyings constitute one of the popular "teams" of the Orpheum circuit. They have an offering consisting of songs, dances and dialogue, set off with new and striking costumes. The popularity of a team act depends almost entirely upon the personality of the performers, and the reception that Cummings and Gladyings have met with this season indicates that they have a personality that impresses itself on their audiences.

The seventh act on the bill will be offered by Tilli Abott and her partner. This young woman bills herself as "The Crazy Girl," and she is said to be a clever comedienne. She and her partner have a comedy acrobatic turn.

The Orpheum motion pictures and the overture by Director Fred G. Bradbury and the Orpheum orchestra, will complete the bill, which will continue all week with a daily matinee.

* * *

The last performance of this week's bill with Cecil Lean, Eugene Damond, The Brads, Van Hoven, Johnny Small, Crouch and Welch, and Asaki will be given this evening.

For the week of March 15, Manager Billings is promised a double headline bill, with Odiva, the famous swimmer and diver, and Lillian Shaw featured jointly.

Empress

Robert Sherman, the well known producer of high-class plays, has added another big success to his already lengthy list. "The Last Round-Up," which comes to the Empress theater today for a four days' engagement, is underscored as one of Mr. Sherman's very best offerings. This intensely interesting drama exudes the air of the plains and takes one back to the days when the cattle industry was one of the foremost occupations in the country.

Time and the onward march of civilization have done away with the extensive grazing lands of the West, but

"The Last Round-Up" will bring it all back to those who have known it.

No expense has been spared in producing this play, it is said. Every scenic effect that would add to the excellence of the production has been provided so that patrons of the Empress theater will be accorded the privilege of seeing this great Western drama in the same form that Chicago audiences have seen it.

A great melodrama that has been presented in every civilized country in the world, a romance and story of adventure, is what Chester Bishop and his company of associate players will offer at the Empress theater for four days starting with the matinee performance Sunday, March 22, in "The Count of Monte Cristo." "The Count of Monte Cristo" is written from the novel of the same name. The novel occupies seven volumes, but the play in tabloid form, embodies the most thrilling and interesting of the adventures. The book is familar to all lovers of stories.

Chester Bishop, star and manager of the "Monte Cristo" company, promises an elaborate and excellent performance of this great play. The first performance of this attraction will be Sunday, March 22.

For the last half of the week of March 8 the Empress management will offer its patrons a bill of vaudeville and the feature film, "Baffles, the Gentleman Burglar," a Keystone comedy. The acts so far scheduled are the Four Valdares, comedy cyclists of the nervy class. Their feats, while very funny, are difficult to execute. The Four Valdares are two dashing women and two men. Crawford and Broderick are billed as the Broadway Girl and Boy, offering many classy songs in a classy way. Glendower and Mannion will give their clever little farce sketch, "Christmas on the Comstock," while the La Rocco Brothers have a musical act. Opening this program is the funny comedy picture, "Baffles, Gentleman Burglar," a Keystone comedy with Ford Sterling in the role of police chief. The gentleman burglar robs police officers at will and the whole plot hinges on the efforts to capture him.

James P. Lee and company will present Mr. Lee's new success, "The Funny Moon," at the Empress theater, starting Sunday, March 15, for an engagement of four days.

Mr. Lee is a comedian of the old school and in this new vehicle he has one well adapted to him. "The Funny Moon" is filled with many complications.

"A Hot Old Time," the piece that made John and Emma Ray famous, will be seen at the Empress theater soon.

This famous laugh-provoker, with a cast as complete as the original show, is in two acts and two scenes, with a bunch of dancing chorus girls. Ned Melroy, well known in vaudeville as a portrayer of Irish characters, is playing Johnny Ray's part.

Rex

A five-part story based on the career of "Joan of Arc" will be shown at the Rex next week.

Joan of Arc cannot be described as a woman—she was but 19 years old when sent to her death, in the graphic words of Mark Twain, "on that black day whose accusing shadow will be always upon the memory of the French slaves of England, who were her assassins, and upon France, who essayed no rescue."

Throughout the story are many wonderful spectacular scenes; the crossing of the Loire at the head of her army; the fight at the towers in the battle of Orleans. Visionary figures from which come the voices that directed the course of Joan, lend interest and charm to the entire production. There is a dramatic climax when Loyseleur appeals to Joan as she is borne to the place of execution. He "grovels in the dust" and asks for pardon, which Joan yields. Then follow the lighting of the brands and the Maid of Orleans' death. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, were the only dates open, so great has been the demand, so the Rex management had to be satisfied to present "Joan of Arc" for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, instead of the whole week, as planned.

"Our Mutual Girl," fair Margaret, learns to Tango and vote for women in "Chapter VII" playing at the Rex, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Famous New York tango artists, teach her the new steps and famous suffragettes, including Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, Mrs. James Cooley, Miss Inez Mulholland and Mrs. Snyder, teach her to work for the "cause"—a wonderfully interesting story with a special appeal to intelligent, up-to-date folks.

Dickens is a favorite with all good picture fans, and Thursday, Friday and Saturday should bring every fan, young, old, little or big, to see "The Cricket On the Hearth," a story full of humanity and heart interest.

"Just a Song at Twilight," the dear old song, is sung by the little brother and sister out in the cold street and heard by the rich thoughtless sister. To carry out the sentiment in the story, Miss Stockdill will sing "Just a Song at Twilight," Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the three days the picture is shown.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

"Francesca da Rimini," a new opera by Zadonai, the young Italian composer, scored a success recently at Turin. Gabriel D'Annuncio is responsible for the libretto, which is based on the celebrated episode in Dante's "Inferno." It is possible that the new work may receive a hearing at the Metropolitan opera house next season.

* * *

John Mason is to be the star in a new play by Owen Davis, author of "The Family Cupboard," and many other plays. The new offering is described as being a frank and uncompromising melodrama. It has the striking title of "Drugged," and will be produced by A. H. Woods.

* * *

A suit has been filed against the Shuberts, the producers, and George Scarborough, author of "At Bay," by John H. Vernon, who claims that the play is a plagarism of his "Threads of Destiny."

* * *

Cecil Lean has married his vaudeville partner, Cleo Mayfield.

* * *

Bertha Kalisch begins a vaudeville engagement at the Palace theater, New York, tomorrow. Her vehicle will be "Mariana," a drama dealing with the conditions among the present-day Spanish nobility. She will play only the prologue.

* * *

It is stated that several of the Wagner operas will be submitted to the process of being boiled down for tabloid presentation in London by an American tenor. Shades of Bayreuth!

* * *

William A. Brady has acquired for production a play, entitled "Sugar," from the pen of Edith Yeager, an actress, who has already had several sketches presented in vaudeville.

* * *

It is said that next season Lew Fields is to be seen in straight comedy. The name of the play is "The High Cost of Loving."

* * *

Henry W. Savage will bring out the operetta, "The King of the Mountains," shortly. It is the joint work of Franz Lehar and Victor Leon, the old team which had been separated for some time. Leila Hughes will be seen in the principal role. Carolyn Wells is responsible for the American version.

* * *

Hazel Dawn will be seen under the direction of Arthur Hammerstein in a new musical production later this season. She recently resigned from the cast of "The Little Cafe" on account of trouble with the management. Miss Dawn may also be seen in a short season in vaudeville.

* * *

Joseph Santley will be seen in a five week' engagement in vaudeville beginning in June. He was the first of the musical comedy stars to swing himself to success with his tango dancing, which feature he takes with him in vaudeville.

* * *

Montreal has been added to the cities which are to have a theater on the Progressive Burlesque circuit next season. A new house will be built for the purpose. Pittsfield, Mass., has been stricken from the circuit.

* * *

Mlle. Polaire, a member of the Hoffman - Richardson - Polaire combination, which came to an untimely end early in the season on account of the artistic incompatibility of temper of the stars, is having trouble getting started right again in Paris, according to reports. The public does not seem to take to her new sketch, "Saint Gudule."

* * *

Billy Anderson's Gaiety theater venture in San Francisco seems to be having all sorts of trouble. Manager Rosenthal has severed his connection with the company. Jack Dalton, husband of Marie Dressler, has been appointed in his place. It is stated that the Candy Shop company, headed by Rock and Fulton, is headed East again. An indefinite stay in Chicago in the near future is among the bookings planned.

* * *

Leon Errol will have a prominent place in the new edition of Ziegfeld's "Follies."

* * *

"Young England," a new operetta by Leo Fall, is reported to have been successful in Berlin.

* * *

A California drama, "The Alien" by name, will be produced by William Elliott soon.

* * *

So successful has "Kitty MacKay" been that plans are being made to send out several road shows next season.

* * *

A second company to play "Sari," the first success that Henry W. Savage has had in a long while, is in process of formation. "Sari" is playing at the Liberty in New York.

* * *

"The Plant," a new play by H. J. O'Higgins and Harriet Ford, co-author of "The Argyle Case," was recently tried out in Buffalo. It is said not to be as effective as its predecessor. Ernest Truax has the title role in the new production, which is also a detective play.

* * *

Mrs. Fiske was recently seen in the title role in "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh" again. It is to be utilized as a filler between the closing of Mrs. Fiske's season in the "High Road" and her opening in a new play by John Luther Long, which is to take place some time later.

* * *

Olga Nethersole has given out that she would include in her next season's repertoire Maeterlinck's "Mary Magdalene," which she originally played at the New theater.

* * *

Leo Dietrichstein, who has recovered from his recent illness, has sailed for Europe. When he returns he will star under the management of David Belasco in a new play written by himself.

* * *

The recent appearance of Blanche Ring and her company in New Haven is said to have resulted in the suspension of twelve Yale seniors, who, it is reported, entertained some of the chorus beauties in a style not in keeping with the dignity of their alma mater.

* * *

Word emanated from Oliver Morosco's office that contracts had been signed between Puccini, the Italian composer, and Richard Walton Tully, the author of the "Bird of Paradise," whereby the grand opera master will convert this Hawaiian romance into grand opera. Author Tully will sail for Giacomo, Puccini's home about the first of May and from there the two will go to Hawaii, where they will stay at least from four to six months, so that the composer can become thoroughly imbued with the "atmosphere" of the play. This will be the third piece from the dramatic field that has been done by this celebrated composer, the others having been "Madame Butterfly" and "The Girl of the Golden West." Manager Morosco has his eyes on Mary Garden for the part of Luana, which is now being played by Miss Lenoro Ulrich, in the dramatic version.

Elsie Ferguson has been seelcted by the Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger to portray the important part of Lady Fredericka in "The Unseen Empire," a new drama written by Atherton Brownell and William Young, which will be produced in March. This means that she is to abandon her tour in "The Strange Woman."

* * *

William Faversham has signed with the United Booking Offices for a debut in vaudeville. His vehicle will be Edwin Milton Royle's "The Squaw Man" in its original form as a one-act sketch.

* * *

A second company is being formed to tour in Arthur Gillespie's musical production "September Morn," which has been so successful in Chicago. It is said that next year will witness the production of this play by four separate companies.

* * *

Gaby Deslys is to act the title role in Sam Bernard's revival of "The Girl From Kays."

* * *

Frank Craven, who will be remembered as Jimmy Gilley in "Rought and Paid For" the past two seasons in its performances, appeared in a play of his own, "Too Many Cooks," at the Thirty-ninth Street theater in New York last Wednesday night. His offering was well received.

SUMMER STOCK AT THE LYCEUM

Buffalo Company Will Be Brought Here—Will Redecorate Theater.

The Lyceum theater management has just closed a contract with Walter S. Baldwin to present a high-class stock company in Duluth during the coming summer, commencing about May 1.

Mr. Baldwin, who is well known through the United States, is the biggest stock company producer in the country. He has managed such famous stars as William Farnum, Dustin Farnum and Thais Maguire and almost all of the present-day stars have appeared at some time under his banner.

Mr. Baldwin now has a stock company playing at Buffalo, N. Y., which he will bring intact to Duluth, playing in such well known successes as "The Fortune Hunter," "Allas Jimmie Valentine," "Madam X," "Stop Thief," "The Gamblers," "The Butterfly On the Wheel," and all of the latest New York successes. Mr. Baldwin will have a company of twenty-five acting people, three scenic artists, and will build his productions exactly the same as they were presented in New York.

The Lyceum theater, prior to Mr. Baldwin's opening, has a very fine list of attractions, including "The Traffic," "Within the Law," "Officer 666," "Rose Stahl," "Quaker Girl," "McIntyre & Heath," "Peg O' My Heart," "Little Women," "The Blue Bird," "Damaged Goods," and Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

The theater will be closed for about three weeks during the later part of April to be entirely redecorated and renovated. New carpets, draperies and a new drop curtain, which is now being painted, will be installed. The decorating, the drop curtain, etc., will be done by the Lyceum decorating company of this city.

teresting article on this much discussed and much danced, if improperly, dance. Miss Phyllis Dare, the popular actress, has written "Tips for the Tango," for which she posed especially for the Strand. The illustrations show the right and the wrong way to take the different fascinating steps of the tango, and in article Miss Dare has pointed out the common pitfalls, and cautions would-be tangoists against missteps. "The Birds of Fashion," is another article of unusual interest to all magazine readers that will be found in the March Strand. Rarely has any magazine article been so beautifully illustrated by actual photographs of birds of fashion, indeed. The article has a direct bearing on the "Plumage Question."

* * *

The March Century is a good all around number. Fiction includes no less than nine short stories, among them "The World Set Free," a prophetic tale by H. G. Wells; "The Education of Popo," a story of a young Mexican's first love, by Maria Christina Nena, and an unusual story, "The Quality of Genius," by Katharine Holland Brown. The art in the number, besides the many illustrations in the text, consists of various insets. The frontispiece is a reproduction in full colors of a painting by George Inness, Jr., "Surely This Man Was the Son of God," which is a novel though reverent conception of the crucifixion. The original of this painting is said to have made a sensation when it was exhibited in Paris. There are four pages of the work of John S. Sargent, and eight pages of Leon Bagst, the eccentric Russian colorist. The non-fiction features of the number include "What Have Women Done With the Vote?" by George Creel; "The Golden Temple of Amritsar," an artistic piece of description by E. F. Benson; "Origins of the American People," a suggestive paper by Prof. Edward A. Ross, whose series on immigration is making a profound impression; "The Next Step in Prison Reform," a timely paper by Richard Barry; "What About Russia," by James Davenport Whelpley, touching upon the present situation between the United States and her old friend Russia; "Dublin," an article full of interest by Brand Whitlock, minister to Belgium. The editorial department is devoted to a tribute to the late S. Weir Mitchell, physician, novelist and poet. "In Lighter Vein," the humorous section of the magazine, continues to give full measure of small but brightly polished gems of literature and art.

Outing for March fills every requirement of the outdoor man and woman. "The Foundations of Dog Breeding" discusses what kennel men can learn from a study of the results of scientific experiments. All dog breeders should read this article by William Haynes. Charles Newton shows the varying effects obtained from different cartridges with black and with smokeless powder in his article entitled "Facts About Rifle Recoil." Overhauling that the boat owner should do to get the most out of his boat for the coming season, is discussed in an article entitled "Putting the Boat in Cruising Trim."

* * *

The seven short stories in the last issue of Women's Stories—month-end number for March—combine real fun with seriousness, entertainment with a deep, underlying purpose. For fun alone, read Helen Van Campen's latest Flossie-and-Elmer sketch, "Life on Broadway," and see "the passing show" through their shrewd eyes. "The Money in His Pockets," by Gertrude Brooke Hamilton, a story of a girl usher in a New York vaudeville house, of her "million-dollar kid," and Valeska Swift, the tango dancer, is good fun, too—almost to the end, but not quite. It hasn't the conventional happy climax, but the joy and satisfaction of finding human nature better than we expect it to be is always a good feeling to have at the end of a story.

The Popular Science Monthly of March contains the following articles: "On the Origin of the Flocking Habit of Migratory Birls," by Prof. C. C. Trowbridge; "Water," by Dr. E. P. Wightman; "Psychotherapy in Folk-medicine," by Dr. Abram Lipsky; "The Struggle for Equality in the United States," by Prof. Charles F. Emerick; "The Question of Agricultural Population," by Prof. Arland D. Weeks; "The Effects of School Life Upon Nutritive Processes, Health and the Composition of the Blood," by Prof. Lewis M. Terman; "The Physical Beethoven," by Dr. James Frederick Rogers; "The World Versus Matter," by Dr. William E. Ritter; "The Automobile and the Public Health," by Dr. P. G. Heinemann; "Tropical Nature in Columbia," by Prof. A. S. Pearse; "Work in Engineering at Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology"; "Track Scale Testing Equipment of the Bureau of Standards."

Alaska's coal deposits and the possibility of using them have been the subject of much controversy. In the leading article of the Engineering Magazine for March, J. Esdaile Florance expresses the conviction that if the Alaskans are permitted to open up their country in a manner similar to that in which the Western states have been opened up, the United States will soon have developed the richest territory in the world. He does not intend to add to the bitterness of feeling already awakened, but to submit the opinion of an engineer familiar with the conditions and opportunities, and earnestly desirous of finding some way of opening the region to professional activity and to the supply of its fuel demands from its own natural storehouses. A second article on "Preventable Losses in Factory Power Plants," by David Moffat Myers, discusses attainable efficiency and ordinary wastes, and is accompanied by a number of valuable illustrations showing the actual distribution of the heat derived from the coal used.

Life is out with a Proper Number. For some time this paper has had the reputation of being the nearest thing to a humorous publication in this country, with the possible exception of the Congressional Record. That it has justified its reputation appears to be evident in this number. The idea of issuing a Proper Number at this time is enough to make any publisher laugh. Of course, Life has not really done it. Life has only made an attempt. The effect, if not strictly proper, is somewhat startling. It brings us up with a short turn. One of the most interesting things in this number is the article by Gilbert Chesterton, the English paradoxical writer, on "What Is Proper?" In reading Mr. Chesterton's article, and in looking over this number of Life, we are firmly convinced that anything is proper if you wish to make it so, or that "a thing by any other name would be as proper." What Life has done has been to issue an unusually good number, and has called it a Proper Number. This makes it enough so for all intents and purposes, but if it were called an Improper Number it would serve the same purpose, although we are bound to say that there is nothing improper in it any more than there is anything particularly proper.

SAILORS WHITTLE OUT COMPLETE MODEL OF THE U. S. BATTLESHIP MICHIGAN

THE COMPLETED MODEL.

GEORGE A. SIBLEY.

RICHARD R. RADIG.

With pocket knives, some wood and wires, George A. Sibley and Richard R. Radig, two United States sailors detailed on the U. S. S. Gopher, have constructed an exact model of the United States battleship Michigan.

Sibley, who is 29 years old, and Radig, who is 26, have very little to do on the Gopher during the winter months, although they are compelled to spend their time on the ship, keeping the boat in first-class shape. During eheir spare moments they have worked on the boat and after a period of two months, they have just completed it.

The model is to be removed to the navy recruiting station at the post-office building, Monday morning, and it will be on exhibition there all of next week. Arrangements for this were made yesterday by Chief Quartermaster Erickson, who was in charge of the local station.

The model battleship is three feet leng, beam, seven inches and six inches depth. The hull is made of white pine, the deck of bird's-eye maple, with the masts made of wire. The guns are made of wood and the rails of wire. A complete wireless apparatus has been installed.

The battery, following exactly the plans of the U. S. S. Michigan, consists of models of eight 12-inch guns and twelve 5-inch guns. The ship is equipped with four search lights and two semaphore machines for sending signals. There are also one steam launch, one gasoline launch, two cutters, two whale boats, one dingey and two boat cranes as part of the equipment.

Sibley has been on the Gopher the last three years. His home is in Massachusetts, while Radig formerly lived in Wisconsin. Radig has been in the navy seven years and on the Gopher nearly three years. The latter is married.

FIRST HOME RULE IRISH VICEROY

Prince Arthur Said to Be Slated for the Position.

London, March 7.—It is almost definitely decided that Prince Arthur of Connaught is to be the first home rule viceroy of Ireland. There was some talk of his succeeding his father, the Duke of Connaught as governor-general of Canada, but this will not now take place, unless the Unionists are successful in preventing the government from establishing a parliament in Ireland.

Like all members of the Connaught family, Prince Arthur is extremely popular, and besides it is considered that he would make an able and responsible viceroy, while his nearness to the throne and his personal intimacy with the king would have a great effect in soothing Unionist susceptibilities in Ireland. It would be difficult for Irish society to boycott a viceregal court held by the first cousin and the niece of the sovereign, especially after the latter had visited Dublin in person to open the first Irish parliament, which he will do if that parliament is ever summoned.

There is little prospect, however, of the home rule bill becoming law early in the coming summer, as Nationalists and Liberals have often declared would be the case. It is now predicted that Ireland's fight for self-government will not be over before next fall.

At best nothing can be done with the home rule bill until April for financial affairs will take up all of March, and now that Premier Asquith has promised to make liberal concessions to overcome the objections of Ulster, it will probably take most of the summer to reframe the bill. No one is seriously displeased at the delay, for it is believed it will work to a better understanding. The government will have time to consider thoroughly its proposed amendments and to determine whether they will have the desired effect of promoting peace.

The alterations involved in the present bill would be enormous, and some portions would have to be redrafted if any of the amendments are adopted. The exclusion of Ulster would require a complete modification of the financial clauses, and home rule within home rule would be quite as complicated.

Premier Asquith will be very sure of his ground before placing any of his suggestions on paper but during the next few weeks various suggestions will be submitted to the Unionist leaders. If no agreement results the government will simply introduce its modifications and let the house and public opinion judge. Even when the suggestions come before the house progress will not be rapid. There are some irreconcilables who will fight the bill to the bitter end, while from other quarters there will come very severe criticism of details. The irreconcilables hope the government will produce a scheme which will be satisfactory to the majority of Unionists and Liberals, but which will meet with the disapproval of the Nationalists. Mr. Asquith is not at all likely to do that. He has staked the political fortunes on himself and his party on the home rule bill, and it is very wel known that his great ambition is to carry out the desires of his old chief, Gladstone, and bring contentment to the majority of Irishmen.

The procedure to be followed is very clearly stated in the parliament act. After the bill has been read a second time the government will come forward with their suggestions, and a long series of debates may be expected in the commons. The Unionists will doubtless oppose them, but it may be inferred from what Lloyd George said in the debate on the speech from the throne that the government will persist in them, and will send them to the lords. It is then that the real fight will begin, and it may be weeks before the struggle is finally decided.

GLYNN WANTS LABOR BUREAU FOR STATE

Suggests Plan in Special Message to the Legislature.

Albany, N. Y., March 6.—The New York state legislature was asked by Governor Glynn in a special message today to enact a measure for the aid of the unemployed. His plan is for the creation of a new bureau of employment in the state department of labor, "in charge of a director of recognized executive and managerial ability and technical and scientific knowledge upon the subject of unemployment."

The scheme contemplates the establishment of public employment bureaus at various points, the supreme director to be chosen by civil service examination.

An advisory committee composed of prominent employers and representatives of labor would be appointed by the labor commissioner for each office. It is specified that no applicant for work shall be deprived of the bureau's assistance because of his refusal to work in an establishment where a strike is in progress.

According to a London specialist, if white clothing for babies could be abolished, in a generation there would be a 20 per cent decrease in the number of persons with defective eyes.

WEDNESDAY — Jewish Chautauqua will meet at 3 p. m. at library club room, open to all interested; meeting of executive board of Ladies' Guild of Glen Avon Presbyterian church at 7:30 p. m. at home of Mrs. W. E. Kellogg, 307 Oxford street; meeting of Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity pro-cathedral at 2 p. m. at guild hall of the church.

THURSDAY—Monthly meeting of executive board of Twentieth Century club at 10 a. m. at library club room; regular meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps at 2:30 p. m. at Memorial hall, courthouse; Tabernacle Society of St. Clement's church will meet at church in afternoon.

FRIDAY—Guild of St. James will meet at 2:30 at Bishop's club rooms; Modern Drama class of Twentieth Century club will hold regular meeting at guild hall of Trinity pro-cathedral at 10 a. m. for study of Spanish drama.

SATURDAY—Regular meeting of Saturday club at 2:30 o'clock at the library club room.

Music has held first place in the interest of Duluthians during the last week and nearly every day has given some musical program of interest. Special Lenten musical services are being held in many of the churches and a special program was given last Sunday at the Pilgrim Congregational church with organ numbers by Miss Faith Helen Rogers and Mrs. Louis Dworshak.

Monday afternoon the students' program given before the Matinee Musicale members was an opportunity of hearing what the younger members of the club can do and promise is given of good talent for the future. Monday afternoon was also enjoyed by Twentieth Century club members who attended the March club tea at the library clubroom. A Scandinavian program had been arranged and coffee and Scandinavian cakes were served.

Tuesday afternoon the Lester Park club enjoyed a musicale at the Krieler piano store with an interesting talk on music by Miss Josephine Carey and good musical numbers.

The March meeting of the Cecilian society was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. C. Winton with an exceptionally fine program and a talk on the "Psychology of Music" by Mrs. Alexander M. Gow.

Another meeting of importance was the March gathering of the members of the Woman's Council which was held yesterday morning at the library clubroom. The women decided to fall in with the summer festival idea and to give their backing to the project in whatever way they could be of assistance.

For Working Women.

All wage-earning women and girls are invited to attend an open meeting which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Memorial hall, courthouse, when Minnesota laws governing the employment of women and children will be discussed by well-informed speakers.

The meeting has been called by Miss Victoria Erlcson, deputy factory inspector for Duluth, that all Duluth wage-earning women might become more familiar with the laws which govern their employment.

"We have held several of these meetings in St. Paul with the most satisfactory results," said Miss Agnes L. Peterson, superintendent of the state bureau of women and children, who is in Duluth for this meeting and who will speak on her work at the meeting tomorrow. "The bureau of women and children and the minimum wage commission were created by the legislature of Minnesota for the benefit of women and children wage earners and we feel that we can serve them better if we can get in closer touch with them and really know them and so we plan these meetings as a means of meeting the women who work.

"After the talks which will be given tomorrow afternoon there will be a social hour so that we can meet and talk with each other and really know what conditions are."

Miss Eliza P. Evans, secretary of the Minnesota minimum wage commission, and Senator James Boyle of Eveleth will also be speakers at the meeting tomorrow and there will be musical numbers and refreshments will be served. The program as arranged for the meeting is as follows:

Piano .....
Ruby May Krause.
Vocal solos .....
Margaret Linehan.
Violin solos .....
Emily Smith.
Address—"The Wage-Earning Woman and the Legislature" .....
Senator James Boyle, Eveleth, Minn.
Address—"The Minimum Wage" .....
Eliza P. Evans, Secretary Minimum Wage Commission.
Address—"Minnesota's Bureau of Women and Children" .....
Agnes L. Peterson, Superintendent State Bureau of Women and Children.

GREAT ENGLISH CONTRALTO WILL BE HEARD WITH HUSBAND IN CONCERT

MME. CLARA BUTT.

ONE of the important musical events of the season will be the Butt-Rumford recital at the Lyceum Wednesday evening, March 18. Madame Clara Butt and her husband, Kennerly Rumford, form a delightful musical contrast.

Speaking of Madame Butt a San Francisco critic said:

"She has two compelling arguments of song which no normal music lover can resist. She has a beautiful voice and a personality singularly sweet and appealing. Hers is the type of musicianship that puts mere textual criticism—if I may use the expression—to sleep, and all one can do is to sit still, be happy and drink one's fill of wonderful sound.

"To illustrate Madame Butt's power of artistic conjuration, I would draw attention to her singing of the little Belfast street song, 'B, for Barney.' It is a woman's dreaming over the name of the man she loves; she croons herself into the seventh heaven of beatitude with a mere letter of the alphabet. 'But what has that to do with music?' some literal minded person may ask. It has all the world to do with it, for it converts mere syllables into an art which the mere technician or the possessor of a voice and nothing more can neve remulate."

William Murdock is the pianist and Harold Craxton the accompanist.

Employes Do Not Make Rules They Are Paid to Enforce.

Few realize how ridiculous they make themselves appear when they bandy words or engage in heated arguments with the employes of any great corporation or business house over the manner in which affairs are conducted or rules laid down. Some people give the impression that every employe of the many large interests that cater to public needs is vested with the power to change the rules of the company to suit individual requirements.

These complainants are highly indignant when the humble representative of the company tries to explain that it is his duty to obey all rules himself and enforce them so far as he is able, and that any other course means the loss of his position. It makes no difference to these unreasonable beings—if their wishes are not complied with, they retaliate by heaping abuse upon the unfortunate man or woman, however subordinate, if they happen to represent the company.

Anyone who travels about knows that this is a common occurrence on electric cars, railroad trains, and in fact, in all public places where men rebel and violate the rules made in the interests of all, or at least to facilitate the movements of the greatest number. The street car conductors, conductors, porters and other on railroad trains, police officers and many more who have a limited authority, are on speaking terms with this sort of thing, and most of them are intimately acquainted with it to their disgust and great annoyance.

It is this in the public, with whom they have to deal on a large scale, that changes many a pleasant-spoken, kindly intentioned man into a surly, belligerant, who cannot bring himself to speak courteously to any one. He expects to meet with unreasonableness in nine out of every ten persons he encounters, and therefore, he is on the defensive all the time and succeeds on many occasions in making himself offensive to people who are entirely innocent of any intention to act in anything but a straightforward manner.

If the public wants more courteous treatment from the guardians of the law and order, they must first accord it themselves—first set the good example and be reasonable.

NORMANNA CHORUS WILL BE HEARD BEFORE MATINEE MUSICALE

MRS. MARIE EWERTSON O'MEARA.

THE regular meeting of the Matinee Musicale for next Monday has been changed to an evening concert and the Normanna chorus of Duluth will be featured and the proceeds from the concert given to that chorus to be used towards the fund which will send the Norwegian singers to the Norwegian centennial in Christiania during the coming summer.

Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten has charge of the program for the evening which will be given by the many Norwegian singers under the leadership of Jens Flaaten. These men have taken several prizes in singing contests and for the last two years have been preparing to sing at the festival in their fatherland in June.

The Duluth singers will be assisted by a part of the Nordron chorus of Superior and Magnus Pederson of that club will give Grieg's "Den Store Hvide Flok."

Another feature of the evening's concert will be the appearance of Marie Ewertson O'Meara of St. Paul, as soloist. She has been heard in Duluth on several special occasions and her delightful contralto voice and charming personality have won for her many admirers and friends who will be especially delighted to hear her again.

Hans Norley will give a solo, "Varde," that describes dramatically the custom of burning fires on rocky promontories as signals in time of war.

The Program.

The following program has been arranged by Mrs. Alphin Flaaten and Mrs. Louis Dworshak:

(a) "Olaf Trygvason".....Nordraak
(b) "Yderst ved Havet".....G. Lange
(Solo by Magnus Pederson.)

Accompanist, Mrs. J. N. McKindley.

MARDI GRAS AT PENSACOLA

King Priscus and His Knights, the Queen and Her Attendants Central Figures in the Beautiful Pageant.

Pensacola, Fla., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eat drink and be merry for tomorrow—is Lent. King Priscus and his knights, the queen and her attendants and all those who did the merry act will now enter upon the prescribed forty days' fasting and meditation—let us hope.

The writer's point of vantage, owing to the courtesy of George Henry, managing director of the San Carlos hotel, was one of the balconies of that unsurpassed hostelry. Promptly at 12 o'clock Monday noon King Priscus arrived at Palafox wharf in the royal yacht Marigold. The Eighth artillery band of Fort Barancus headed the parade, followed by the United States troops from the fort and the bluejackets from the battleship Mississippi. On reaching the San Carlos hotel his majesty saluted the queen, who occupied, with her attendants, the large central balcony overlooking Palafox street. The chosen queen was Miss Kitten Merrett, one of the most popular of the younger social set, as well as quite the prettiest. She was gowned in white, while her honor maids were in colors, making a very charming grouping.

The pageant proceeding to the city hall, the mayor presented the keys of the city to King Priscus with an appropriate speech. Making a detour, the pageant halted in San Carlos court, where guns were stacked and where the sailor boys and the bluejackets made a most effective picture. An attractive feature of the pageant was an automobile containing a number of prominent Pensacola women with a "Votes for Women" banner in the royal colors. Needless to say, they received tremendous applause. The weather, a most important factor of a street parade, was ideal, the thermometer after reaching 72 deg was forced to a standstill by a glorious breeze from the gulf.

The ball Monday evening in the San Carlos auditorium was a most delightful affair. The canopied throne at one end of the hall, which was to be the scene of the coronation the following evening, was decorated in the royal colors, purple and gold. The approach to the throne on either side against a background of dull green were tall, stately hollyhocks in various colors. These, with large jardinieres of American Beauties, made the most artistic color blending conceivable. The lure of the music was evidenced by the conspicuous absence of wall flowers as well as the attractive charms of the numerous pretty girls in ravishing evening gowns. Miss Merrett, in pale blue crepe du chino with crystal draperies and an arm bouquet of American Beauties, was adorably sweet, while the chaperones, beautifully gowned, lent the necessary dignity to the occasion.

Despite the rain on Tuesday the street carnival was in force throughout the day, and not until early morning were the revelers willing to forego further frolic. Confetti was lavishly bestowed upon young and old, and the masqueraders, joining hands with the god Momus, entered into the real spirit of the good cheer which comes only once in a twelve-month. The unmasking of the king and the coronation ceremonies were a triumphal closing of the Mardi Gras. King Priscus XV, in his royal robes topped with a mantle shimmering with jewels, which was borne by two pages clad in yellow satin and large plumed hats, was every inch a king. His knights, clothed in yellow satin, made an enviable bodyguard for their majesties. Nature was most generous when she fashioned the charming blue-eyed girl whom King Priscus had chosen for his queen. In her gown of white satin with silver accessories, a mantle of blue velvet, trimmed with broad bands of ermine, reaching to the hem of the court train, an arm bouquet of American Beauties, above which was the radiant face of youthful loveliness, was a picture which no artist could truthfully put upon canvas. The queen's attendants were gowned appropriately in white, each carrying an arm bouquet of carnations and ferns. The crown was carried on a white satin cushion by a dainty little miss clad in white. Four small pages in blue with slashings of white, blue capes and plumed hats, completed the fascinating ensemble. After the impressive ceremony of placing the crown upon the head of his queen and seating her beside him on the throne, the lights were lowered, the audience waiting in breathless silence for the upflashing which revealed the familiar features of T. J. Hanlon, a popular young business man, as King Priscus XV. George Hervey, president of the carnival association, then invited the guests to greet their king and queen. A dance at the Osceola club, where their majesties were honor guests, concluded the pre-Lenten festivities.

FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Young Members of St. Clement's Church Are Rehearsing Play.

"The Four-Leaved Shamrock," a three act comedy by C. J. Hamilton, is now being rehearsed by the Young Men's Sodality assisted by several members of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Clement's church for March 17.

The play deals with the poverty of an Irish family and the tyranny of a cruel landlord, and tells how the four-leaved shamrock effected the discovery of the title-deeds to the Glenwhyllion estate and with it brought hope and happiness to the family.

Rehearsals are under the direction of Father Raymond Basil and the characters are as follows:

Mr. O'Gorman of Gormansboro, (an Irish landlord in very reduced circumstances) .....Walter Emerson
Lord Kilgavan, alias Joseph Hopkins .....Charles Kremer
Hugh Dilwyn.....James Wade
Mrs. O'Gorman.....Mayme Monaghan
Rose O'Gorman.....Louise Emerson
Miss Tetbury Tattleton (a literary lady on a bicycle tour) Alice Kennedy

LITTLE TIME WASTED.

Divorcee Weds Two Days After Restrictions Are Removed.

Two days after the time fixed by statute prohibiting the remarriage of divorced persons had elapsed, Mrs. Sanna Hangsmaa, who divorced her husband, Jaakko Hangsmaa, Sept. 4, 1913, became the wife of Alex Maki. They were married yesterday afternoon.

Under the law she would have been free to marry on March 4, but the wedding was postponed for two days. Her first husband was divorced on the grounds of desertion. The woman appeared at the office of the clerk of the court for a marriage license to wed Maki two months ago, but was told at the time that she would be obliged to wait until the required six months were up.

Quality Furniture

Picturesque New Furniture Full of Charm and Yet Withal Priced Very Inexpensively

This early Spring announcement concerns a sale as well as a show—it is a value-giving event as well as an object lesson in furniture of high quality. And by that we mean furniture that will command immediate and close attention from those discerning folks who are fortunate enough to see it. Built with the idea that you home lovers would rather have quality than quantity and goodness more than just simply "looks." It is artistic without a jarring note—fine without freakishness. It is furniture that can be handed down as heirlooms to your children's children.

Mrs. Belmont Warns Senator.

Washington, March 7.—Mrs. O. P. Belmont has served notice on Senator Ashurst that the suffragists will declare war on him if he permits the woman suffrage constitutional amendment to go to a vote in the senate at this time when there is doubt that it would command the necessary two-thirds vote.

RELIGIOUS LIFE IN THE COLLEGES

Pastor Says Reports Read at College Night Were Encouraging.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your issue of today occurred a misleading report of "College Night" held last evening at Pilgrim church, at which meeting the religious life at thirteen representative colleges and universities was discussed. Your heading, "Religion at Very Low Ebb," and the summary as given, "It was the general opinion that the religious life of the higher educational institutions is largely confined to social service work," are so contrary to the actual facts shown in the letters and addresses at our meeting that in fairness to the colleges as well as to the speakers I beg to offer corrections of your report.

The speaker who represented the University of Minnesota did not state "that the religious sentiment at the university is at a very low ebb." He referred to the religious conditions that obtained there several years ago, when he was an undergraduate. He sketched the recent development of wider religious activity among the students, instancing the regular vesper services and other religious features for some of which Dr. Powell, formerly of this city, is responsible. Many students, living at home in Minneapolis and St. Paul, are active in their home churches. The report from our own state university, while not as glowing as some others, was a "report of progress."

Colorado college, from which a letter was read, was shown to be in a state of religious transition and reorganization. Much stronger constructive work is done there, notably in connection with excellent courses offered in the curriculum in religion and ethics.

Letters were read from Pilgrim church students at Carlton, Beloit, Olivet, Smith, Mount Holyoke, Oberlin and the University of Pennsylvania. Graduates spoke for Amherst, Bowdoin, Dartmouth and Wellesley. These letters addressed reported without a single exception strong religious life among the students at all these institutions, finding expression in religious services, college, class and group meetings for prayer and Bible study, courses in Bible and kindred subjects offered as electives, or required, and various forms of social service within and without the college community. Most of these colleges sustain missionaries on the foreign field. Several of these speakers and writers laid emphasis upon the wholesome religious atmosphere maintained through the presence and influence of members of the faculty, an atmosphere that develops the student into an earnest and efficient moral leader, with a life-long allegiance to the ideals of the Christian life.

It is characteristic of modern religion that it finds its expression not only in meetings, and services, but in manifold forms of social service. This development of social service is also seen in the religion of the college student. Those who attended our "College Night" were greatly cheered and enthused over the religious progress and activity in the colleges and universities reported. I believe a sketch of the meeting might more properly have been headed, "Religion at High Water Mark in the Colleges."

Cordially yours,
CHARLES N. THORP.

LORIMER RECEIVER.

Southern Traction Company Will Get Funds, He Says.

Danville, Ill., March 7.—Former Senator Lorimer and Wilbur E. Crane of Chicago and John A. Hamilton of Marissa, Ill., were named as receivers for the Southern Traction company, a combined electric and steam railway operating between East St. Louis and Belleville toward Duquoin. Federal Judge Wright named the receivers following a petition of Jared Y. Sanders, former governor of Louisiana, a heavy stockholder.

Sanders stated that the road needed about $20,000 to connect the tracks so that freight and passengers could be handled profitably. After the naming of the three receivers and fixing a bond of $25,000 each, Mr. Lorimer stated that the money was ready and that operations could be resumed within forty-eight hours.

Christian Endeavor Notes

City union notes—Arrangements are under way for a visit to Duluth and the range towns of R. A. Walker, field secretary of the Minnesota Christian Endeavor union. C. J. Hocking, vice president of the state union, has charge of this work. Mr. Waller will speak at the quarterly rally at the Union church, Wednesday evening, March 18, and then go to Bemidji.

The heads of the societies in the Duluth Christian Endeavor union will have a conference meeting and luncheon at K. P. hall, March 18. The president and secretary of each society are especially requested to attend. R. A. Walker will also address the members at this conference.

The Endeavorers will hold a union meeting at the county farm on Easter Sunday. Each society is asked to report to the chairman of the missionary committee, the number that will attend from their society, what they will furnish in the way of the program, and what flowers they can take to this meeting.

On Tuesday evening, March 10, will be the regular semi-monthly meeting at the Bethel. The Second Presbyterian society will lead this meeting, and the Highland society will furnish the music. The First Presbyterian, First Baptist, Pilgrim Congregational and Proctor M. E. societies will also be in attendance.

First Presbyterian—This society will have a special song service Sunday evening at 6:45, in charge of the music committee. Wednesday evening will be the business meetings. Supper will be served for the convenience of members at 6 o'clock, to be followed by meetings of all committees. The regular business session begins at 7:45.

Glen Avon Presbyterian—Charles Clark will lead the meeting of the Glen Avon society Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

First Baptist—The Christian Endeavor society of the First Baptist church will have G. W. Owen as leader Sunday.

Pilgrim Congregational—"The Value of an Education" will be the topic for Sunday. Rollin Hawkes will lead the meeting at 5:30 p. m.

Harvey Webb M. E.—Miss Edith Swenson, the president, will lead the Endeavor meeting of the above church at the usual hour. The business meeting will be held immediately following the Christian Endeavor meeting.

Union church—This society meets in K. P. hall Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The regular topic will be used with Mrs. B. V. Black as leader. The Bible class meets on Tuesday night at the home of the pastor.

First Christian—The First Christian society will have charge of the meeting at the county farm Sunday afternoon.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Steps Taken to Establish Co-operative Book Store on the Campus.

Annual Irish Banquet to Be Held on St. Patrick's Day.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—University students have started a movement for the establishment on the campus of a co-operative bookstore. To eliminate profits of the middleman and cut prices of text books and instruments is the purpose of the undergraduates. A petition is being circulated asking the university authorities for suitable room provision and the co-operation of the institution. H. W. Schroeder and R. J. Swenson, students in the academic college, are taking the lead and they estimate the saving from such an institution will be considerable.

The inter-sorority banquet given Tuesday night at the Leamington was a huge success. Two hundred girls were present, representing the eleven sororities on the campus. Dean Sweeney was the guest of honor. Between courses stunts were given by the various sororities. Sybil Bates was in charge of the affair.

* * *

The three-act musical comedy, to be called "The Campus Heart Breaker," unless someone proposes a more appropriate title, is to be the dramatic offering of the senior class on May 15 and 16, according to an announcement made by Walter Hughes, director of the play. The play is the work of Rudolph F. Broslus, a member of the graduating class.

* * *

The Northern Pacific railroad tracks through the university campus will be lowered, by agreement between the university regents and officials of the road Thursday, ending a controversy of several years' standing. The expense will be divided between the university and the railway company. The agreement was reached at a conference in the road's general office, in which several railroad officials and three members of the board of regents participated. The tracks will be lowered and roofed over between Oak street and the river.

* * *

The annual Irish banquet will be held in Shevlin hall at 6:30 on St. Patrick's day. For the occasion Shevlin hall is to be draped in green and trailing shamrock vines will be gathered about the sides.

* * *

On March 17, St. Patrick's day, the engineers will stage what will hereafter be an annual occurence, an engineers' celebration. The affair will be given by the Knights of St. Patrick, an organization to which all engineers belong. President Vincent has given sanction to the celebration and the engineers intend to make the day one long to be remembered by the university. The celebration will commence at 12 o'clock with a special engineers' program in chapel. President Vincent will speak, as will Dean Shenehon, and the engineers will put on a musical program. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a huge parade will be started from the engineering group. All engineers will take part, the seniors and post-seniors dressed in appropriate costume. A band will head the procession. After elaborate ceremonies on the parade grounds the program will be completed with a dance in the Armory in the evening.

* * *

Prof. Carlyle Scott, head of the department of music, has a plan on foot for a huge, all-university chorus which will give a grand performance at the Armory in conjunction with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra.

* * *

Full equipment for the new wireless station of the university has been ordered and is expected here within one or two weeks, at which time the work of assembling and construction will begin. At a recent meeting of the board of regents permission was given to use the top of the dentistry building for the erection of the tower.

* * *

Prof. Edward S. Thurston of the university law school is in receipt of a flattering offer to join the faculty of Yale university as a professor in the Yale college of law. Just what decision will be made is not known at present. President Vincent stated yesterday noon that every effort would be made to retain Mr. Thurston on the faculty.

* * *

By an extremely narrow margin, R. E. Ramaker Wednesday won the right to represent the medical college on the board of athletic control, thereby vindicating his previous election at the polls when, it was asserted, a majority of the medics were unable to cast their ballots. Boleslans Rosenthal, captain-elect of the 1914 football team, was definitely eliminated as candidate for the representativeship, the final vote showing a ballot of 210 votes for Ramaker as against 199 for Rosenthal, as against 94 to 90 in the contested election.

Dr. Samuel McCord Crothers of Cambridge, Mass., noted lecturer and author, spoke Thursday noon in chapel to a large audience.

Beginning next Tuesday, March 10, will be held a series of religious lectures by Dr. Albert Clark Fitch, president of the Andover Theological seminary at Cambridge, Mass.

"Tag days" on the campus were declared a nuisance Thursday by the administration board of the university. Several tag days in the last few months forced the board to this conclusion and an order was issued barring all tag days, except one—that for the benefit of the visiting nurses.

The plans for adapting the old chemistry building for a Men's union will be presented by the architect to the meeting of the board of governors next week. The plans include an auditorium, several music and recreation halls, study rooms and a large lunch room.

GROWTH OF DULUTH ORDER OF ELKS WILL NECESSITATE THE ADDITION OF SEVERAL STORIES TO THEIR CLUB ROOMS

The Duluth Lodge of Elks, No. 133, concluded a year of unprecedented prosperity and growth with the annual meeting and election of officers last Wednesday night.

Approximately 250 new sets of horns were added to the local herd and the accomplishments along its various other lines of activity were equally significant and encouraging. The great possibilities of Elkdom are being brought into their fullest realization, socially and fraternally, in the work which is being done by the Duluth members of the Benevojent and Protective Order of Elks.

The development of the local lodge has been so rapid that the need of larger quarters is beginning to be seriously felt, despite the fact that the handsome home which they now occupy on First street was built but a few years ago. To keep pace with its growth the lodge has been considering plans for an addition of three stories, providing five floors for the exclusive use of Duluth Elks and visiting brothers. With the addition the Elks would have one of the finest and best appointed club homes in the country. Among the new features which would be included would be sleeping accommodations for forty to fifty, a modern gymnasium with swimming pool and baths, increased dining room service and expansions of other facilities of the club. The lodge is reported to be in such excellent condition financially, that the officers are hopeful that it will be but a short time before the carrying out of these plans can be started.

E. J. FILIATRAULT,

Needs More Room.

During the last year the lodge has been under the direction of E. J. Filiatrault, retiring exalted ruler, and he has been one of the most enthusiastic advocates of the addition. "The Duluth lodge needs more room, and conveniently situated as it is in the heart of the city, the improvements would result in increased benefits to members and greater use of the club rooms," he states. "I should like to see the work started during the coming year."

Neil B. Morrison, elected exalted ruler at the last meeting, is one of the pioneer members of the lodge and an old-time resident of the city. He has advanced steadily from one chair to another and has devoted much of his time to the charity work of the order, but always it has been unostentatious, for he never speaks of it unless it is a case which needs consideration at a lodge meeting.

The other officers elected also have the high esteem of their fellow members. They are: John E. Samuelson, leading knight; A. J. McCulloch, loyal knight; W. J. North, lecturing knight; George V. Heathcote, secretary; P. B. McTague, treasurer; W. H. Alexander, trustee for three years, and Jerry Seaman, tiler. E. J. Filiatrault, retiring exalted ruler, was chosen as representative to the grand lodge, and John L. Fuller, formerly secretary for many years, was elected as his alternate.

The new officers will be installed at the regular meeting Wednesday night, April 1.

REDUCTION OF SALOONS

Movements in France and Germany to Secure the Needed Legislation.

French Plan Is to Forbid Opening of New Saloons.

Paris, March 7.—A bill to stop the opening of any more drinking establishments in France is to be presented to parliament as the opening wedge for the anti-alcoholic campaign which is being taken up anew by temperance advocates.

Here are some of the facts with which they are trying to drive home the need of restraint:

If the drinking places already established were so apportioned there would be one for every group of eighty inhabitants of France.

In some districts drinking places are so thickly placed that there is one for every seventeen persons.

New drinking places are springing up throughout the country at the rate of six a day.

More alcoholic drink, including wines, is consumed in France than in any other nation in the world.

In the form of spirits alone it is estimated that $236,000,000 worth was drank in France during 1911.

To Prevent New Saloons.

"Complete prohibition is beyond the wildest dreams of any French temperance reformer," says Henri Schmidt, who is author of the bill about to come before the house of deputies, "and the most we can hope at present is to forbid the opening of any new saloons. By refusing to grant new licenses we hope in the course of time, as some of the present drinking establishments fail or cease to exist for other reasons, to reduce the average of drinking places to one for 200 inhabitants. We shall not, however, try to prevent the opening of restaurants where drink is sold with meals.

"But even such a mild anti-alcoholic measure as this is likely to meet with much opposition in parliament. How difficult it is to pass temperance legislation in France may be judged from the fact that in 1912 only 126 out of 600 deputies voted in favor of a milder bill which originated in the senate and was twelve years passing through the upper house.

"We hope, however, that the general elections this spring will considerably increase the temperance vote in the chamber, and we are organizing an energetic non-party campaign throughout France, urging each political group to obtain from their candidate a declaration on the drink question and if possible a pledge to support anti-alcoholic legislation.

War on Absinthe.

"After the passage of the law at present before the house there are two other projects which we hope to realize in course of time. One is the absolute prohibiting of the sale of absinthe. Official statistics show that the consumption of this liquor which stood at 700,000 litres in 1874 had increased to 28,000,000 litres in 1910. The increase of crime in France during recent years is largely due to absinthe-drinking. Our mad-houses are filled with lunatics who would have been sane and healthy men and women but for absinthe.

"The second anti-alcoholic measure will be for abolishing the 'privilege' of spirit distillers to manufacture a quantity of spirit free from taxation for consumption by themselves and their families. The amount of spirits thus manufactured is enormous, especially in the cider districts such as Normandy and Brittany where every peasant is a distiller of spirit in a small way. The government has no check whatever on spirit manufactured under the 'privilege' and of course it is not by any means consumed by the distiller and his family. It is estimated that if the spirits manufactured under the privilege were taxed at the same rate as other alcohol it would bring a revenue of at least $25,000,000.

No War Against Wine.

"We propose no legislation at present against the drinking of wine. In districts where nothing but wine is consumed there is very little alcoholism. Unfortunately inhabitants of the famous wine-growing districts of France are no longer content to drink wine alone. They have acquired the taste for more pernicious drinks and at the same time more absinthe is being drank each year in the Midi than in any other part of France."

Mme. Leon Brunschweig, general secretary of the French union for women's suffrage and a prominent temperance reformer says: "Anti-alcoholism is one of the chief planks in our platform and I believe the granting of votes for women will be the only means of securing a temperance majority in the French parliament."

Similar Move in Germany.

Berlin, March 7.—The German parliament, like that of France, will soon be called upon to consider measures of restraint upon the liquor business of the empire.

The Federal council has prepared for consideration a bill which is the result of years of agitation against the issuing of liquor licenses regardless of whether there is any real demand for more drinking places. Under the existing law municipalities are authorized to refuse licenses where the need for their issuance is not proved, but the new measure makes such refusal mandatory. It also requires applicants for licenses to show that they are persons of good character, and can be depended upon to conduct their business properly.

The new measure is general in its application, but is aimed primarily at Berlin, where the development of drinking places of a dubious sort in the last three or four years has been amazing. Quiet residential districts have been invaded by gaudy restaurants and cafes and institutions known as "American bars" equipped with barmaids and exotic fiddlers, and serving mixed drinks termed "American." To these places come hangers-on of both sexes; none of them close their doors before 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning, and in most of them business is at its height at those hours.

Breed Immorality.

Proponents of the new licensing bill declare that not one in ten of these resorts exists to meet a real need, but rather to create one, and they are prolific breeding places of immorality. Particular objection is raised to the so-called "Animerknelpen" or "Animation bars" places where the guests are encouraged to drink as much as possible. All these resorts have barmaids whose greatest assets, from the standpoint of the house, are their good looks and ability to put away drink for drink with their customers. These women, work on percentage, which naturally spurs them to sell as many drinks as possible.

The difficulty in combatting places of this sort by a general law is found in the fact that a great number of highly respectable places employ women as barmaids or waiters. In South Germany, indeed, the female waiter is the rule. In view of this, the Federal council bill leaves it to the governments of the individual Federal states to make regulations governing the employment, manner of occupation and method of paying women employes. It is probable that the adoption of the bill will be followed by measures on the part of the Prussian government to decrease greatly, if not wipe out entirely, the "animation bars" and similar resorts of the capital city.

To Enforce Italian Laws.

Rome, March 7.—A committee of pharmacists has undertaken organized effort to help enforce the new laws against alcoholism in Italy, the outgrowth of the recent international congress held in Milan.

A circular issued by the committee reads:

"The superior council of public health recognizes that grave effects from intemperance have not as yet shown themselves in Italy but it considers conditions favorable for starting an anti-alcoholic campaign, particularly in the form of prevention.

"With the purpose of insuring a more efficacious defense against the insidious advances of intemperance we recommended:

"(1) That courses of education in hygiene, including particularly the dangers of alcoholism, be instituted in the public schools and that in sections where the evils of alcoholism already exist more forcible propaganda be instituted under auspices of the police.

"(2) That the government shall favor the institution of asylums for the care and cure of drunkards."

EQUITABLE WILL HAVE FINE BLOCK

NEW EQUITABLE BUILDING IN NEW YORK.

In contrast with the new buildings going up in this vicinity, some interesting figures are given regarding the construction of the new Equitable building, now in course of construction in New York, which is to be thirty-eight stories high and is built on ground which sold recently for $13,500,000.

Twenty-two million brick will be used; 350,000 square feet of marble trim and material for flooring; 1,350,000 cubic feet of sand, 33,000 barrels of cement in the foundations; 120,000 cubic feet of cement in the building itself; 1,215,000 cubic feet of broken stone; 18,000 gallons of paint for the structural steel; 168,000 cubic feet of terra cotta and 4,000,000 hollow tiles. There will be fifty elevators and 5,000 windows.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Seniors Lead Honor List; French Club Entertains; First Interscholastic Debate Planned; Faculty Forms Conference Committee as Advisory Body; Hockey Championship Will Be Decided Soon.

The list of the honor students of the first month of the second semester was read on Monday morning during the chapel exercises. The seniors showed themselves to be in the lead as they compose the smallest class and had a comparatively greater number of their members on the "A" and "B" lists. The classes stood as follows: Seniors, 37; juniors, 35; sophomores, 40, and freshmen, 49.

The high school orchestra began a regular series of rehearsals again on Wednesday in preparation for the senior play, for which it will give the musical numbers.

* * *

The report cards for the first month of the semester were given out on Monday at the close of school and students were instructed to return them not later than Wednesday. Many students are careless about returning the cards on time and hereafter they will be asked to go after the same in case they have forgotten them.

* * *

Principal Leonard Young has been very busy the last week checking up seniors on the condition of their work toward graduation. Those students who are in junior session rooms and who hope to graduate have been given special attention.

* * *

The French club held one of its regular meetings during the week at which the following program was given: Original story, Dorothy Patton; French jokes, Willet Davis and Fanny Weinberg; song by Mr. Romieux. Various French songs were enjoyed, all the members of the club joining. In order to promote a social time for the members of the club it was decided to give a judge party on next Wednesday afternoon. The following committee was named: Margaret Hoyt, Alice Holohan and Fanny Weinberg.

* * *

The high school championship debate occurred on Wednesday morning during the chapel exercises and was won by the sophomores. The seniors made a good presentation but lost by a vote of 2 to 1.

* * *

Owing to the poor attendance of the stumpers the regular scheduled program for Wednesday afternoon was postponed.

* * *

The Central basket ball team played one of its hardest games on Friday night against the strong Superior normal five in the normal gymnasium. The following players made the trip: Capt. Larsen, Foyjack, Olson, Stevens, Solheim, Garau and Scrivine. Taylor and Neff of the second team acted as scorer and timekeeper, respectively. Dennis Deighton of Duluth served as referee.

* * *

Editor Harold Bradley of the 1914 Zenith now expects to place the new publication on sale May 15.

The first interscholastic debate of the year will occur this evening when Central's strong debating trio will meet the team of the Cloquet high school at Cloquet. The state league question will be debated and reads as follows: "Resolved, That All Judges Should Be Made Subject to Popular Recall, Constitutionally Granted." The new course in agriculture is proving very popular with the boys of the high school and Mr. Gibson aims constantly to keep the course from becoming a mere text book affair.

A splendid club offer has been made to the agriculture students on a year's subscription to Kimball's Dairy Farmer with "Van Pelt's Cow Demonstration Book" as a premium. Twenty-three of the boys have already taken advantage of this special offer, and arrangements have been made whereby the agriculture students can give local dairymen the same club rates.

FEDERAL CHILD LABOR BILL

Ten Years' War Shows Need for National as Well as State Law—"State Rights Cannot Justify Children's Wrongs."

By OWEN R. LOVEJOY,
Secretary National Child Labor Committee.

(Exclusive Service, The Survey Press Bureau.)

A few months ago Justin McKenna speaking for the supreme court of the United States said, "It must be kept in mind that we are one people, and the powers reserved to the states and those conferred on the nation are adapted to be exercised, whether independently or concurrently, to promote the general welfare, material and moral."

In the interest of this general welfare both material and moral, the national child labor committee has been leading forces for ten years to abolish the inhuman abuses of child labor. Evidence has been gathered and published showing little children in coal mines, cotton mills, fruit and vegetable canneries, oyster packing houses along the Gulf coast, the sweat shops of our great cities and the glass factories of Pennsylvania and the Middle West, and the public has become aroused to realize that child labor is a national extravagance as well as a national disgrace.

If newspaper publicity and denunciation from the pulpit and platform could cure this evil it would already have disappeared. Unfortunately child labor is not a sectional abuse. It exists wherever industries are of a nature to make it immediately profitable to the employer. Those who oppose child labor in the abstract are often quite as vigorous in favoring or condoning it in the concrete.

When it has come to the real issue—the attempt to get effective state laws enacted—almost insuperable difficulties have been encountered. The industries affected have always opposed these measures on the ground that such laws would handicap them in competition with other states. This objection has always been unfounded because child labor is the most extravagant and wasteful kind of labor. Advanced laws enacted in New York, Massachusetts or Ohio have been due to the intelligence of the people rather than to their virtue. The results of such legislation have always proven its economic wisdom. Nevertheless the opposition to child labor laws is still quite as effective with many legislative committees as though it were not founded on a fallacy.

When fairly good laws have been secured in a given state the people of that state are helpless to protest themselves from purchasing goods produced by exploiters of young children in neighboring states and shipped into local markets. The states are therefore powerless except by improbable, joint and simultaneous action to effectively prohibit child labor.

The national child labor committee has become convinced that the only way in which the evil can be banished from America is by striking at the privilege the exploiters of child enjoy through the facilities offered by interstate commerce. The forces opposed to child labor now call upon the Federal government to forbid such facilities to these unfair task masters.

There are those who contend that the Federal government is incompetent to do this, who look upon our republic as a political expression of the Newtonian theory—a mechanism controlled by system of checks and balances. This theory has never been sound and applied to government. It is preferable to accept the position so strikingly annunciated by President Wilson in his book, "The New Freedom"—"To interpret the Constitution of the United States according to the Darwinian principle * * * that a nation is a living thing and not a machine." With this point of view the abuse of child labor may be approached in the terms expressed by Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court in the case of Champion vs. Ames. He said: "We should hesitate long before adjudging that an evil of such appaling character, carried on through interstate commerce, cannot be met and crushed by the only power competent to that end."

A bill carefully drawn, forbidding the privileges of interstate commerce to manufacturing establishments in which children under 14 years of age are employed or in which children under 16 are compelled to work more than eight hours a day or during the night, or to mines and quarries in which children under 16 are employed at any time, was presented to a number of prominent lawyers and to state and Federal officials conversant with the custom and practice in these matters, and finally placed in the hands of Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, who introduced the bill in the house of representatives on Jan. 26, and of Senator Robert L. Owen of Owen, Okla., who introduced the bill in the senate on Feb. 21.

Already a number of state and national organizations have given the measure their indorsement, testifying to their belief in the principle so emphatically stated by Abraham Lincoln that "The Union is older than the states." It is gratifying to record that the state child labor committee first to indorse this bill met under the shadow of the capitol of the old confederacy in Richmond, Va., and by unanimous vote indorsing the bill struck a blow at what President Wilson has appropriately called "that ancient doctrine" of state rights. Virginia thus leads the states in declaring that state rights cannot justify children's wrongs.

The bill provides for a board composed of the secretary of commerce, the secretary of labor and the attorney general, who shall draft all rules and regulations, and gives power to the secretary of labor to make any necessary investigations. The plan of administration links the Federal government with state officials and also provides that any factory inspector, school attendance officer or any other person may bring to the district attorney any evidence of violations.

A number of bills have been introduced on this subject, but it is believed that when all are considered together by congressional committees the Owen-Palmer bill will be regarded as advanced enough in standards to be worth while, and simple enough to be enforceable.

It has been introduced by Democrats but the friends of the measure hope it will be considered on its merits regardless of party lines by all who believe that young children should be free from the burden of wage-earning, and that older children should be protected from overwork and from hazardous occupations.

Hinckley, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grasston defeated the Hinckley basket ball quint 44 to 24 Saturday evening.

The W. C. T. U. general meeting was well attended Sunday evening. Attorney Lamson discussed the temperance question from a legal viewpoint, C. L. Jack from a business standpoint, R. W. La Du from an educational outlook and Revs. Peterson and Blanchette presented the moral aspects of the question. The male quartet rendered several appreciative selections.

Tuesday morning, Mrs. C. W. Crippen, after ten years of illness and suffering, died. For the past six years the family have made this their home, moving here from Pierson, Iowa. The deceased leaves a husband and five children, Clarence, Lois, Lee, William and Miss Margaret Bassett. Funeral exercises were held at the home Wednesday and the remains taken to Pierson, Iowa, for interment.

J. F. Larsen of South Stillwater, ex-superintendent of schools of Washington county, was here this week arranging a series of county meetings in the interests of the American Society of Equity.

Miss Jessie Stephan spent the week-end at the home of her parents at Pine City.

P. A. Christiansen was a Twin City visitor Monday.

Joseph Voderbeck of St. Paul spent the fore part of the week at the Williams home.

D. C. Washburn of Elk River visited at the Pryor home Thursday.

Mrs. H. Dempsey and children after a two months' sojourn at St. Paul, returned home Saturday.

George Peterson of North Branch was transacting business in Hinckley last Thursday.

Mesdames Ingram and Lewis of Sandstone were callers in Hinckley Saturday last.

Isadore Wendt of the Northern Pacific force was a St. Paul passenger Saturday.

Miss Ethel Laughlin was the guest of Miss Katherine Ober at Sandstone Saturday.

The Hinckley Hardware company, a new firm, is now open for business in the Patrick block.

Miss Ruby Curryer came down from her school at Wrenshall Friday and spent the week-end vacation with her parents.

Mrs. A. V. Evans, formerly of Madella, en route to her new home in Montana, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. John O'Iirien, a few days.

MRS. WINN'S ADVICE TO WOMEN

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be Restored to Health.

Kansas City, Mo.—"The doctors told me I would never be a mother. Every month the pains were so bad that I could not bear my weight on one foot. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and had not finished the first bottle when I felt greatly relieved and I took it until it made me sound and well, and I now have two fine baby girls. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for what it has done for me. I always speak a word in favor of your medicine to other women who suffer when I have an opportunity."—Mrs. H. T. WINN, 1225 Freemont Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Read What Another Woman says:

Cumming, Ga.—"I tell some suffering woman every day of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it has done for me. I could not eat or sleep, had a bad stomach and was in misery all the time. I could not do my housework or walk any distance without suffering great pain. I tried doctors' medicines and different patent medicines but failed to get relief. My husband brought home your Vegetable Compound and in two weeks I could eat anything, could sleep like a healthy baby, and walk a long distance without feeling tired. I can highly recommend your Vegetable Compound to women who suffer as I did, and you are at liberty to use this letter."—Mrs. CHARLIE BAGLEY, R. 3, Cumming, Ga.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

CROOKSTON IS AFTER ARMORY

Special Election to Raise Money to Build $40,000 Affair.

City at Present Needs Such Place for Large Gatherings.

Crookston, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Wednesday Crookston will hold a special election on the proposition to issue bonds in $15,000, the money to be used toward the erection of a $40,000 armory.

There is available from the state $15,000, Company I has close to $5,000 in cash and is willing to assume an indebtedness of $5,000. It is planned to erect an armory 75 by 140, with a basement containing bowling alleys, shower baths, a swimming pool, etc., with officers' quarters, mess room, etc.

There is very little opposition to the bond proposition, as it is planned to make the armory a popular institution by the organization of a gymnasium club at a nominal yearly fee.

Needs Convention Hall.

Another feature that appeals strongly to the public is the fact that at the present time Crookston has no convention hall. The Grand opera house is the only available gathering place and this week it was necessary to decline the university week for lack of an available meeting place. The Farms Crops show management was able to secure the opera house for but two evenings and the exhibits were scattered in two other buildings.

The armory will be used for all big gatherings, automobile shows, conventions, etc. Similar bonds carried two years ago but were vetoed by Mayor Larson, Socialist, hence the necessity of calling the special election.

BEMIDJI FIREBUG IS SENT TO PRISON

Former Justice of the Peace Admits Firing Sawmill.

Bemidji, Minn., March 7.—Justice moved quickly yesterday in the case of Frank Warner, former Turtle River justice of the peace, who was arrested charged with setting fire to the Bemidji sawmill the day previous, confessed and asked to be permitted to plead at once. He was taken before Judge Stanton last night and given an indeterminate term in Stillwater. He is believed to be a pyromaniac as he gave no reason for starting the fire which caused $100,000 loss and threw 300 men out of work. S. C. Bailey, a game warden, visited the mill and by observation and measurements of tracks in the snow obtained a clew which resulted in the arrest of Warner by Sheriff Johnson. The police say that Warner was a former convict, having served fifteen years in the state penitentiary.

INDIANS' STATUS BEING DETERMINED

Government Ascertaining Who Are Full and Who Mixed Bloods.

Walker, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Government officials and attorneys for land companies held court on the Leech Lake Indian reservation this week, securing the signatures of White Earth Indians who made affidavits as mixed bloods in order to dispose of their allotments.

The Indian department alleges fraud in the making of many of the affidavits, in that many full bloods were induced to pass as mixed bloods in order to mortgage their land. Judge Powell of St. Paul, as well as Attorney Kane, representing the government, and Mr. Harper of the Indian department, were among those who are conducting the examination. The outcome of the investigation will be a complete new roll of the White Earth full bloods and mixed bloods.

$90,000 FAIR AWARDS.

Minnesota Show to Disburse More Than Ever in 1914.

St. Paul, Minn., March 7.—The state fair board yesterday fixed total awards for the 1914 state fair at $90,000, which is $3,000 more than any previous fair has had.

Bert Ball of Chicago, secretary of the national council of grain exchanges, appeared before the board. He is in Minnesota working on the county agent proposition. He suggests that one way the fair can aid is to offer special prizes or create a special class of exhibits for counties which have county agents.

The next meeting of the board will be at the fair grounds the first Friday in April.

MURDERED FOR "TWO BITS."

Gardiner, Mont., Bartender Killed By Soldiers From Fort Yellowstone.

Gardiner, Mont., March 7.—Infuriated because Walter Semple, a bartender, charged them 25 cents for a can of sardines, Ole A. Halvorson and George A. Halsey, United States soldiers, from Fort Yellowstone, near here, attacked Semple with knives so fiercely here that he died early Friday.

More than 100 infuriated citizens tried vainly to take the soldiers away from Deputy Sheriff George Welcome of Park county.

KILLED IN SALISBURY.

Father and Son Are Crushed to Death In Michigan Property.

Ishpeming, Mich., March 7.—Caught in the collapse of the drift in the Salisbury mine on the sixteenth level while preparing to blast, Jonas Frost and his son, John Frost, were crushed to death Wednesday evening. Both bodies were recovered.

Both were experienced miners. The son has been a miner since he was 11 years old and the father has done mining since he was 9 years old. It was thought for a while that the men might have been beyond the reach of the fall of earth and everything in the power of the rescue party was done to get the men out.

Jonas Frost is survived by a daughter, Adelaide, and one son, also a miner. John Frost, the son, leaves a wife and an infant daughter. They reside on South Pine street.

YOUNGDAHL WILL SPEAK AT FARGO

Will Attend Meeting of North Dakota Enforcement League.

Fargo, N. D., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The advocates of more rigid enforcement of the prohibition laws in this state are enthusiastic over the meeting of the North Dakota Law Enforcement league to be held here March 16 and 17. J. F. Youngdahl, anti-saloon worker of Minneapolis, will be one of the speakers. Judge Pollock, State Supt. Watkins, State Tax Commissioner Wallace, Mrs. Anderson of the state W. C. T. U., Mrs. C. F. Amidon, wife of the Federal judge, Assistant Attorney General Heffron and others will also speak. Prior to these sessions there will be local meetings in Grand Forks, Devils Lake, Minot, Williston, Beach, Dickinson, Mandan, Bismarck, Jamestown and Casselton. Equal suffrage will also be exploited at all these meetings.

BURN HUMAN FLESH

To Demonstrate to Jury During Marinette Damage Suit Trial.

Appleton, Wis., March 7. — Human flesh was used here yesterday to prove that burning can be caused by a voltage of 240. In a damage suit an expert electrician had testified that a voltage of 440 was required to burn.

Following an operation at a local hospital, a piece of human flesh was obtained and being submitted to a test at a local plant burned, at a minimum voltage named.

ALLEGED ABDUCTOR IS UNDER ARREST.

Iron Mountain, Mich., March 7.—Sheriff Dykes returned Saturday from Milwaukee, bringing Frank Sciotto, arrested there on the charge of abducting Mary De Fiore, a 14-year-old girl of this city. They were arrested by Milwaukee detectives and the Federal government may proceed against the man under the Mann white slave law.

SUFFERED AGONIES WITH ERUPTION

Sore on Face for Three Years. Nothing Would Heal. Red, Angry and Inflamed. Frightful Disfigurement. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured. Left Not a Scar.

716 Green St., Boone, Iowa.—"I went to see my brother last summer and was horrified to find a raw sore on his face the size of a quarter of a dollar. He said it had been there three years and nothing would heal it. His pillow was stained with blood each morning. He had suffered agonies with pain. The sore was red, angry, inflamed and bleeding at the edges of the sore. It was a frightful disfigurement to his face.

"He had used home-made salves and lotions of many kinds but nothing kept it healed. It would break out again after we thought it was healed. Then I washed it three times a day with Cuticura Soap and spread on the Cuticura Ointment. It gradually healed around the edges and in three months it healed all over leaving not a scar to mar his cheek. He was cured." (Signed) Mrs. Emma Phelan, June 2, 1913.

If you wish a skin clear of pimples, blackheads and other annoying eruptions, hands soft and white, hair live and glossy, and scalp free from dandruff and itching, begin to-day the regular use of Cuticura Soap for the toilet, bath and shampoo, assisted by an occasional light application of Cuticura Ointment. No other method is so agreeable, so economical, and so often effective. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp

C. W. FINAL.

EXALTED RULER OF CROOKSTON ELKS

Crookston, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. W. Final, a prominent member of the United Commercial Travelers and of the Elks, was honored by the latter organization Wednesday night by being chosen exalted ruler, the highest position in the lodge. The other officers chosen were:

Leading knight, H. O. Anderson; loyal knight, E. W. Vance; lecturing knight, Harry F. Schmidt; secretary, H. P. Funk; treasurer, C. E. Dampier; tyler, G. H. Bang; trustee for three years, J. M. Stephens; delegate to grand lodge at Denver golden jubilee of grand lodge, E. O. Hagen; alternate, J. E. O'Brien; delegate to State Elks' association, J. J. Kelly; alternate, F. B. Harris.

WANTS DITCH COMPLETED.

Andrew Nelson Starts Suit Against State Drainage Board.

St. Paul, Minn., March 7.—The state drainage commission was served yesterday with an order issued by District Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren to show cause why it should not complete the Thief river ditch. Andrew P. Nelson, owner of land near the outlet of the river into Thief lake, has complained that the board laid an assessment of $18,000, intending to widen the mouth of the river, but afterwards changed its plans and constructed drainage works six miles up-stream with no benefit to him.

TAFT TO SPEAK IN MILL CITY MARCH 19

Minneapolis, Minn., March 7.—Former President William H. Taft has accepted an invitation to address the Minneapolis chapter, American Institute of Banking, at its annual dinner on March 19. The chapter is a branch of the national organization of bank clerks.

STERILIZATION OF CONVICTS ORDERED

Des Moines, Iowa, March 7.—Orders for the sterilization of twenty convicts in the state penitentiary at Anamosa, under a new state law, have been issued by the state board of control here and forwarded to the authorities of those institutions. E. H. Ryan, a convict at Fort Madison, is said to have prepared to ask the courts for an injunction to restrain the event the state board insisted upon carrying out the provisions of the law.

Pills Kill Child.

Portage, Wis., March 7.—Pearl, aged 14 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Strochein, ate several patent medicine pills, taken from a sewing machine drawer, and died.

Bury Old Conductor.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 7.—The funeral of Calvin W. Westbury, aged 64, for forty-six years an employe of the Milwaukee railroad, was held today from his home here. Mr. Westbury had been ill for the past eight months. He is survived by his widow, a son, Frank J. Westbury, Milwaukee, and a daughter, Mrs. James Markham, Chicago. Mr. Westbury had been in the employ of the Milwaukee road for forty-six years. For over thirty years he had been a conductor. His run was on the Prairie du Chien division, between Milwaukee and McGregor, Iowa.

First Convict Built Road.

Madison, Wis., March 7.—If the cities of Waupun and Chester and the intervening towns on the road connecting the two places co-operate the first state highway to be constructed by the use of prison labor will be built there. This was decided Friday at a meeting of the state board of control, which has just concluded its sessions here.

Deny Mail Order Charge.

Madison, Wis., March 7.—The policy of the University of Wisconsin is not to discriminate against retailers and favor mail order houses. The boycott of regents has declared in a resolution following a resolution of charges preferred against university professors by the Wisconsin Retail Lumber Dealers' association to the Wisconsin Retail Hardware Dealers' association.

Seek North Dakotan's Scalp.

Fargo, N. D., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some of the North Dakota insurance men are after the scalp of Insurance Commissioner Taylor, claiming he is not an insurance man. They had not believed he would be a candidate for a third term, but since his announcement that he was again in the race, it is proposed by his opponents to start an aggressive campaign against him.

On Good Roads Platforms.

Fargo, N. D., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Good road campaigns are being waged in many townships of North Dakota, and some of the candidates for supervisors at the election March 17 are running on a good roads platform.

Jumps Off High Bridge.

St. Paul, Minn., March 7.—William G. Hachmann, 22 years old, living with his grandmother, Mrs. Gustave Leue, committed suicide early Friday by jumping from the east end of the high bridge. Hachmann was a second cousin of Herman and M. F. Benz, St. Paul liquor dealers. His death leap is thought to have been prompted by worry in connection with his recent change in occupation and brooding over the death of his father, William F. Hachmann, who died Dec. 31.

Plan Valley City Auditorium.

Valley City, N. D., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Karr is confident of financing a proposition to secure a large auditorium for the Valley City chautauqua. It is proposed to construct one suitable for the purposes of the association at a cost of about $12,000. Last year a large circus tent was used.

McHenry, N. D., Girl Burned.

McHenry, N. D., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Turning on instead of turning off the gasoline used in a lamp, Myrtle Haugen, 10 years old, caused an explosion and was terribly burned about the arms and hands. Her mother was also burned in throwing the lamp out, but less seriously.

Seedlings For Itasca Park.

St. Paul, Minn., March 7.—A million pine tree seedlings are to be bought by the state forestry board for planting in Itasca state park and Burntside state forest. The board has asked bids from nurseries. The board plans to plant 400 or 500 acres of cut-over land, more than ten times as much such work as was done in any previous year. The seedlings probably will cost from $2 to $5 a thousand.

Royal Neighbors State Meet.

Mankato, Minn., March 7.—The state convention of the Royal Neighbors will be held in Mankato March 17, 18 and 19. Preparations are being made by the local camp to entertain more than 200 delegates.

To Fight Phone Franchise.

Duluth, Minn., March 7.—An action was begun here in district court by twenty-five taxpayers to restrain the city council from putting into effect a new franchise for the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company. The new franchise was recently passed by the council and vetoed by the mayor. The council may pass it over the mayor's veto.

State Treasurer's Clerk Dies.

St. Paul, Minn., March 7.—John G. Willis, a clerk in the office of the state treasurer, died of heart disease Wednesday at his home here. The body was taken to Mankato, where funeral services will be held today. He was appointed to his position in the treasurer's office in 1906 by Clarence C. Dinehart, and previous to that time had been a traveling salesman.

Linton Wants Incorporation.

Linton, N. D., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The voters of Linton will decide March 24 on the question of incorporation, and the advocates are certain it will carry by a good majority.

Farm Teachers to Meet.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 7.—A meeting of the State Association of Agriculture in the High Schools of Minnesota will be held at the College of Agriculture, March 27 and 28 in the auditorium of the Administration building. Meals and lodging will be furnished the delegates at the University farm.

E. Z. Mark Arrested.

Moorhead, Minn., March 7.—Deputy Sheriff Bolstad arrested E. Z. Mark, a horse dealer, on a warrant charging him with selling a glandered horse to a Polk county farmer. Mark is a former sheriff and a candidate for the legislature from Clay county. The warrant was issued last fall, and several trips were made to apprehend him, but he was always in North Dakota when wanted. There is also a civil action for damages pending against Mark, brought by the farmer in question.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

East Grand Forks — The new Great Northern hotel of East Grand Forks owned by Samuel Golberg was formally opened Friday night.

Cambridge—Dalbo is to have a new bank. The incorporators are C. E. Williams, Andrew Larson and C. Oscar Peterson, all of Mora. The bank will open for business soon.

Aitkin—In 1910 the village bonded debt was $30,000 and the floating debt $23,000, making a total of $53,000. In 1914 the bonded debt is $27,000 and the floating debt $1,500, making a total of $28,500. The reduction in the village debt in four years has been $24,500 in round numbers and the village property has been increased in value to the amount of several thousand dollars in the meantime.

Stillwater—John Glynn is still an inmate of the state prison. He was granted a parole by the state board of parole at its meeting at the old prison in February. Since then efforts have been fruitless in securing a place for him to work. He is the man who wrote a letter to Governor A. O. Eberhart more than two months ago, complaining of his treatment in prison, then modified it.

Little Falls—For the second time James Sullivan of Randall has been acquitted of having carnal knowledge of Anna Mueller, now deceased. The jury in the latter case returned a verdict of not guilty Wednesday night after a deliberation of nearly six hours.

Moorhead—D. H. Lindsey, agent of the board of control, and L. G. Foley, jail inspector for the same body, inspected the city jail Thursday, and discussed the alterations necessary to bring the jail up to the standard required by the state law.

Wadena—The clerical force of the Dower Lumber company has completed the count of the number of carloads of coal bought and sold by that company through their various yards during the past three years and the grand total for that time reaches 8,000, or 2,666 cars per year.

Detroit—A. A. Anderson was called to St. Paul the first of the week as an expert witness in the case of Hogan vs. the Northern Pacific railway. Hogan was killed at Audubon last fall by falling out of a mail car while throwing off mail.

St. Cloud—Sauk Rapids and East St. Cloud were in darkness over two hours Wednesday night on account of the snow-soaked wires and the consequent hampering of the feeder. The wires affected were running from Power Station No. 3 to Sauk Rapids, and carried a voltage of 2200.

Crookston—A. P. Toupin and John Petterson have purchased the First State bank of Oklee, a small but thriving town on the Soo line, north of McIntosh, and located on the south fork of the Clearwater river. It is a new town in the central part of a new country. As J. P. O'Connell of Warren, takes the receivership in the local land office, Mr. Petterson will take active management of the bank.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Langdon, N. D.—Valentine Voll, who removed with his family from Langdon to Gull Lake, Sask., about five years ago, is here this week to close up a number of business deals which will likely include the sale of his Langdon residence property, Mr. Voll and his sons' farm, between two and three sections of land in the vicinity of Gull Lake.

Minot, N. D.—The Scandinavian American bank at Minot will supply farm boys in the vicinity with pure blood sows that will soon farrow, and the cashier of the bank says the latter will furnish whatever breed of hogs the boys desire.

Fargo, N. D.—Gustav Qvarnstrom of Halstad, Minn., died at a local hospital March 5 of peritonitis. He was 73 years of age and leaves a wife and three children. His daughter, Mrs. S. E. Berg, of Halstad and his wife were with him when he died. The body was taken to Halstad Thursday morning and the funeral was held Friday.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Walter Buck, formerly of this city, has been highly successful recently as leader in a membership contest in the Y. M. C. A. of Scranton, Pa., according to a letter recently received here.

Jamestown, N. D.—The report that a woman on a Northern Pacific passenger train had lost diamonds valued at $2,000 and also some cash, between Jamestown and Chicago, has not been verified by the finding of any such property, and it is believed by the N. P. officials that if any such loss occurred it was not on the train, but at Chicago.

Minot, N. D.—James M. Wilson, proprietor of the Royal Lunch, has just been granted papers of patent covering two stovepipe devices which hardware and stove men say will revolutionize the setting up of stove pipes.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The sale of the Hilmer Mercantile company of Leeds to Harry Pittingsrud, also of Leeds, for $12,500 was confirmed by Judge C. W. Buttz. It is now understood that creditors have forced the Hilmer company into bankruptcy and the case goes into the Federal court. It is understood that the claims will amount to about $50,000.

Jamestown, N. D.—Two new boilers are being installed at the boiler house of the Northern Pacific shops. The boilers are each 150-horse power capacity, and the expense of the improvement will aggregate about $20,000. When the new boilers are in operation they will give the shop's boilers 600-horse power capacity.

DOING SOME TANGOING WITH AIRY SPORT THOUGHT AS A PARTNER

Being a More or Less Serious Review of Past Events and a Forecast of the Future, With Pleasant Hail to Facts That Pass Along the Sporting Highway.

BY BRUCE.

LEST, after all of the mention of the fact you should forget it, let us once more draw your attention to the game of this gentle vesper tide that will be played between the Winnipeg Victorias and the Duluth Curling club seven. Gather ye all and behold. Many columns have been spun off concerning this approaching hockey conflict, and it is worthy of even more extended space. The best, or at least one of the best, hockey teams of the Dominion is with us today—and the result of the meeting should be worth trudging through unshoveled sidewalks for more than the proverbial city mile, to witness.

She should be some game—some game, man, and it is quite needless to remark that the lovers of the sport are looking eagerly to the hour of the Deetz bell ringing contest.

The Approaching Tilt.

NEXT Thursday may bring snow or rain or a business setback; one certain happenstance that comes galloping to us with Thursday's gentle salute, and that is the meeting between wild Wolgast and the more gentle Ritchie.

From out of Chicago on one of the news lines comes riding the information that Ritchie looked far from a champion in his little workout in one of the spacious gyms that dot the Windy City thoroughfares.

If reports are accurate and bring to us swift tidings of truth, it will prove rather risky business for Ritchie to crawl through the hempen unless he is in the best of condition.

While some of us will never believe that Wolgast will be quite the battler of old, the fact remains, pleasant or unpleasant, that the Dutchman is one of the best of the lot. Ritchie should be right to mingle merrily with little Adolph.

It has been said that never again will Wolgast try the twenty round route. It is said that the former champion of the world will confine his activities to the shorter route. It that is so, no matter the outcome of the Milwaukee affair, unless it be terminated by a knockout, the vast majority of the fans will really never know fully whether Wolgast is back.

They can all say what they want, the ten round route is not sufficient to show any marked superiority between two boxers who are anywhere near even.

You can hear the fans arguing as to the outcome of the scrap if it had been ten rounds more—and this is the best indication that ten rounds is too short a distance to definitely determine any marked superiority.

The Silent Giant.

JESS WESTERGAARD has come and gone. He is one of the most majestically silent men in the land. He seldom smiles, and his bearing is as if the weight of the world rested somberly upon his broad shoulders. He doesn't smile very much, and he doesn't talk very much—but he wrestles a lot; all of which is the answer for the large Swede.

The Loyal Comiskeyites.

THERE is no man in the busy and buoyant baseball world who possesses the legion of followers that have assisted in making success and Charles A. Comiskey the very best of friends.

For instance the local Comiskey clan is large and enthusiastic. On Monday evening a luscious bunch of the home guards will leave our busy streets and merrily mingle with the madding crowd that goes to make Chicago so delightful a shopping center for the numerous housewives of central Illinois.

The home hearthers go to help make joyous the occasion when some of the solid cits of Chicago join together to welcome home the prodigal, said prodigal being Commy, for anyone who wanders around the world can quality in the prodigal class.

Up here there are some of the best informed of the fans who care greatly for the genial Comanche. Old Commy—see picture—is one of the great and good men of the great national game; one of the big men who have fashioned its foundations firm and secure against the ravages and winds of opposition, and we for one wish him all the honor that is his due.

Our Peerless President.

HARRY BLUME, president of the Duluth Baseball team, administrator to the game of baseball when said game is in dire distress, and also the official corrector of rough schedule drafts, has went. Where, oh where, has Mr. Blume gone? He is going down to that vapory valley of recuperation, Hot Springs, Ark. Nothing serious, Harry? No, not in the least.

Genial board of director members Meining, Collier and Lucore were at the depot to bid bon voyage to the lithe leader of the Sox. Returning in the best of spirits, Mr. Blume will take up the problems that are part and parcel of baseball and will start the large ball a rolling.

The Federal Problem.

IT is paradoxical that the nearer the baseball season approacheth the less we hear of the Federal league. Maybe this fact can be accounted for by a natural lull in the news market. But the fact sticks its conspicuous head aloof and yells about—that the time has come when the Federal league people must stage some dramatic results.

One of the most interesting and perhaps also one of the most instructive details in connection with the playing of the approaching season promises to be the lessons learned from the Federal league.

If the league succeeds, it will prove that money can accomplish what has long been held to be the impossible; and on the other hand if the Feds fail to make a stand against the mighty drive of organized baseball, the prophets who have long predicted dire failure will be howling in the streets and byways.

Against the high grade of the American and National league teams the Federal folks must place in the field teams that will at least present a semblance of first class ball players. When you stop to consider the fact that a brilliant star in the minors fails as a rule to make good in the majors, you grasp the patent and potent fact that every player in the big leagues is a star—or else he would not be there.

A raw player in the Federal lineup will cause boisterous and adverse comment no doubt. The comparisons may be odious and the great test promises to be one that will require the lavish spending of cash to bolster up many weak spots.

After the vast amount of publicity it has received, failure upon the part of the Federal will bring a downpour of ridicule. The very conspicuousness of its position makes it imperative for those interested in the Federal league to succeed.

BIG BOOST IN SALARIES

Tris Speaker Gets Bonus for Signing and $18,000 a Year.

Organized Baseball More Successful Among Stars Than Federals.

New York, March 7.—Organized baseball scored heavily here yesterday in the struggle with the Federal league for the services of the players who have just completed their round-the-world tour.

The Boston Americans signed Tris Speaker for two years; the Detroit Americans closed a contract with Sam Crawford, and the St. Louis Americans kept Pitcher Leverenz in line with a considerable raise in salary.

Although the Federal league magnates were in conference with all these players, they were unable to secure their services and the best they could do with Mike Doolan of the Philadelphia Nationals and Dick Egan of Brooklyn was to obtain a promise to consider the proposition made by the new organization.

"Steve" Evans and Lee Magee of the St. Louis Nationals were also reported to be comparing the offers of the two forces.

It was a day of propositions, counter-propositions, conferences and contract flashing, but at midnight organized baseball was still holding the lead which it gained when several of the National and American league magnates boarded the steamer Lusitania far down the bay, while the Federal leaguers were forced to wait for several hours at the pier before they could communicate with those among the returning players they desired to sign. Their consolation, if it might be so termed, was the knowledge that they had forced the magnates of the two major leagues to pay to those players who signed, salaries which surpassed their greatest expectations.

The climax of the day's doings came when President Joseph J. Lannin of the Boston American league club announced that he had secured the signature of Outfielder Tris Speaker to a two-year contract at a salary "larger than any heretofore paid a player" in the ranks. In addition he stated that he had given Speaker a neat bonus for signing. While he would not mention the amount of the salary, it was reported in baseball circles to be $18,000 per year.

President Frank J. Navin of the Detroit Americans did not have to bid so high for Sam Crawford's services or the St. Louis Browns go to such extremes for Pitcher Leverenz, but in each case there was a considerable increase in the 1914 salaries over those of last season.

Each of the players had listened to the Federal league offers before closing with their former clubs. Doolan and Egan also had National league contracts in their pockets and while they had not signed, Presidents Baker and Ebbets of the Philadelphia and Brooklyn clubs respectively, said they had the word of the players that they would act fairly and lay the Federals' offer before them for comparison and open bidding today.

The National league, as a whole, was not as successful in settling up the Chicago-Boston club deal for the services of Johnny Evers or in finding a new owner of the Chicago club. After two long sessions the board of directors announced that the final settlement of the Evers trade had been left to President John K. Tener.

MILLER THROWS HATCH, WHOEVER HATCH IS.

WESTERGAARD BARELY ESCAPES FATAL INJURY

Big Iowa Swede Suffers Concussion of Brain in Zbyszko Match.

Jess Had Better of Pole---Waino Ketonen Decisively Beats Sailor.

BY BRUCE.

After more than holding his own with the gigantic Stanislaus Zbyszko for one hour and six minutes at the Auditorium last evening, Jess Westergaard, the wonderful big Iowa Swede, was thrown from the platform and nearly killed.

Dr. Robert Graham, Dr. Harry Klein and Dr. K. V. Arminen worked over the prostrate giant in his dressing room for nearly half an hour before the Des Moines man fully regained a clear understanding of things.

Westergaard suffered a minor concussion of the brain and so severe a shock to the spinal cord that it is feared that the wrestling days of the big fellow may be ended forever.

The ending was an extremely unfortunate one. Before one of the largest and most representative wrestling audiences that has ever jammed the big Auditorium, the huge Iowan went out and made good his promise to give the squatty and bear-like Pole the battle of his life.

During the last forty minutes of the strenuous battle the gigantic Swede, looming head and shoulders above the barrel-like Zbyszko, had the better of the rough going. The chance of a lifetime was possibly ahead of Jess; the opportunity of being the first American, outside of Gotch, to gain a fall on the human "biscuit," and an unfortunate accident that came perilously near resulting fatally, spoiled the chances of Westergaard and hurt a contest that will go down in the memory of the Duluth wrestling fans.

Lying prostrate on the floor of his dressing room, his big frame heaving convulsively, the fallen wrestler showed his true greatness when he made a vain attempt to rise to his feet and go back into the ring, to save a forfeiture.

"It will be nothing less than criminal to permit that man to even enter the ring," said Dr. Graham. The admonition of the doctor was quite needless, for big Jess fell to the floor groaning with the intensity of pain.

Westergaard Had Chance.

To every spectator of the contest it looked as if Westergaard looked a fortune squarely in the eye. For three long months the big Iowa man has been training with the stake of last night in constant view. It has been the ambition of the huge Scandinavian to be the first American wrestler, barring Gotch, to beat or gain a fall on Zby.

Whether Westergaard could have rolled the bear-like Pole, is a question that will admit of many arguments; but the fact remains that the exhibition given by Jess was the greatest piece of wrestling that Duluth fans have ever seen upon the part of a heavyweight outside of the great Gotch.

Three times Westergaard had Zbyszko in bad places. Once he had the huge Pole effectively hammer-locked. Once he crotched Zby and turned him nearly over. The superhuman strength of the Pole, the quality of his being that stamps him as one of the wonders of the mat, stood off the efforts of the Des Moines mat star.

For the greater part of the hour and six minutes of wrestling Westergaard was the aggressor. He was behind his squat opponent the major portion of the bout. Repeatedly he flung the human bear to the mat and repeatedly the big Swede went out from under Zby when the Pole went on top.

In the matter of science the tall pine showed the greater efficiency, and did the Iowan possess the weight of the resident of Poland, there are those who believe that he would have been returned the victor.

The Great Ketonen.

Here is a little secret. It can be told now. Waino Ketonen went into the contest with Sailor Jack against the orders of Dr. K. V. Arminen, who has been attending the little Finn for the last three days.

Despite this handicap, despite the fact that Sailor Jack was never better in his career and weighed 165 stripped, the wonderful Finnish star defeated Jack in 14:10 and 8:30 both falls coming as the result of a reverse hammerlock and headlock.

Yesterday and the day preceeding Waino's left arm was lanced for an abscess. The little Finn had a high fever and did not sleep for two nights. He was drawn and haggard looking. Despite the orders of Dr. Arminen that Ketonen cancel his match, the little Finn stoutly refused to call off the meeting, declaring he would go through if it was the last thing he ever did.

The quick and effective beating administered to the sailor, the worst and quickest Jack ever received, stamps Ketonen as one of the real wrestlers in the galaxy of famous grapplers.

Ketonen Works Easily.

In both of the bouts the Finn worked like a master. He was cool and alert and went about his work like an expert laborer. Always watching and patiently waiting, he trapped the sailor twice so suddenly that the big audience was taken unawares.

When it appeared that the sailor was going to do something, the first fall came. Again in the second fall the overthrow of the sailor came about so sensationally and so suddenly that before the dangling legs of Jack had descended his shoulders were resting almost squarely on the canvas.

In the sailor's corner squatted Otto Suter and Loren Curtis. The pair shouted advice and encouragement to Jack—but it was of no avail, as the seaman was opposed by a mat marvel.

In the preliminaries Billy Harvey, the game little wrestler of the West end, went to a draw with the Albany Terror, Harvey holding his heavier and stronger opponent safe all the way.

STARS IN TRACK EVENTS AT KAW

Kolehmainen and Sheppard Will Run Against Illinois Men.

Kansas City, Mo., March 7.—Hannes Kolehmainen, the "Flying Finn," and Melvin Sheppard of New York, both Olympic point-winners, are among the 400 athletes from universities, colleges, high schools and athletic clubs who will participate in the annual track games of the Kansas City Athletic club in Convention hall tonight. Kolehmainen and Sheppard arrived from New York early today and said they were in fine condition for the meet.

Kolehmainen who will run under the colors of the Irish-American A. C. of New York will meet Joseph Ray of the Illinois Athletic club of Chicago in a special five-mile race. Sheppard will meet Charles O'Donnell, captain of the Illinois A. C. track team, in a half mile race. These two events are expected to produce fast time.

Four of the Missouri valley conference schools—the Universities of Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri and the Kansas Agricultural college—have entered teams in the meet.

As the meet is an invitational affair, no point records will be kept.

Makes New Record.

New York, March 7.—Paul Roberts of Yale made a new intercollegiate 50-yard swimming record—24 4-5 seconds—at the individual intercollegiate championships in the College of the City of New York pool last night. The previous mark was 26⅕ seconds by Howe of Yale. Yale made 23 points, Princeton 11, Pennsylvania 6, Columbia 4, College of City of New York 1.

JACK MAHAN WILL BE IN THE DULUTH LINE-UP

Crack Wing Will Be in the Game Against the Winnipeg Victorias.

Visitors Are Confident of Defeating the Curling Club Seven.

Jach Mahan has returned home and will play left wing in the hockey contest of this evening between the Duluth Curling club seven and the crack Victoria aggregation of Winnipeg.

This is the best news that has been let loose since they announced the rate victory for this fair and thriving city.

With the genial Jack on the port side of the local team, things promise to be made exceedingly interesting for the visitors—and the Vics are generally credited with being the best team in Western Canada.

The greatest crowd that has ever witnessed a hockey game in the Northwest will be on hand this evening to see the two crack teams meet.

It is one of those events that cause men to gather in hotel lobbies, cigar stores, on street corners and in restaurants and discuss the probable outcome.

Speaking of atmosphere—the kind dramatists strive for—there is hockey atmosphere to smear all over the town.

There have been several auction-bridge parties put over until next week—for why? Because everyone is going to the large hockey game of this vesper tide.

Officials of the club devoutly wish that the walls of the rink were made of rubber—for the demand for seats is quite unprecedented in the history of any hockey game in the history of Duluth.

Our Team Is Strong.

With Mahan at left wing and Olson possibly on the right wing and Barkell at rover, which was the lineup debated early today, Duluth will place on the ice the strongest team of the season by far.

These forwards are stars. In Kahler at center, Bill Bogan at coverpoint, and Capt. Linder at point, and Belleck at goal, Duluth will have a combination greater in individual strength than many of the famous all-star aggregations of the country.

But—ah, you awesome and ominous but—we are going to go against some team—some team, is right!

To begin with—perhaps to end with—there are the three Bakers. In addition there are Fowler, Hughes, Patterson and Caldwell—and they are some players.

On dope this game should make the hair of the spectators stand on delighted and thrilling end.

It should bring forth from the dark and unused recesses of the lungs curdling shouts of glee or strenuous and alarming protest.

It should make the red blood corpuscles do an interior system tango that will be quite as exhilarating as the ball room variety of the seductive glide.

It should show the good cits and attending citizenesses that here in Duluth we can rise to the occasion of a great winter sport contest.

Winnipeg Boys Confident.

The Winnipeg team is here and the members of the visiting aggregation are confident of defeating Duluth. The visitors believe that they have the greatest seven in Western Canada and can't figure how Duluth or any other team can take their measure.

Turning to Linder and company it might be brightly observed that Warhorse Joe and confreres are also hopeful of the outcome.

Duluth will have to go to win—and so will Winnipeg. She should be great, Bill.

The probable lineup:

Belleck	g	Bas Baker
Linder (Capt.)	p	Fowler
Bogan	cp	Baker
Barkell	r	Hughes
Mahan	lw	Patterson
Olson	rw	Ham Baker
Kahler	c	Caldwell

TRACK MEET IS SECURED

Badger and Gopher "U" Teams Will Meet on May 23.

Baseball Practice Is Under Way and Schedule Arranged.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manager of Athletics Alan McBean announces that after several weeks of correspondence with the University of Wisconsin athletic authorities, he has succeeded in scheduling a dual track meet between the Badgers and Minnesota.. The meet will be contested in Minneapolis on May 23.

This completes the Gopher track schedule, since with the dual meets which are to be held with Iowa and Nebraska, and the Drake relays, the conference indoor and outdoor meets, the Gophers will have their hands full.

An indoor meet will be held with Shattuck at Faribault tonight. The track team has been going through its daily training steadily during the last week under the direction of Coach Leonard Frank, and Frank is making a strenuous effort to get several men in shape for the indoor conference meet on March 21. The freshman-sophomore meet on March 14 will probably bring out some new material for Frank to work with.

Dr. L. J. Cooke is putting his baseball candidates through a stiff workout every day in the armory cage. He has twenty-four men eligible, and although most of them are unknown, he expects to be able to pick a team of sufficient caliber to give the other conference teams a good rub. The freshman squad numbers more than twenty-five and from the appearance of the first year men Minnesota will have a splendid bunch of material for next year.

At a meeting last week the Iowa authorities ratified the arrangements for a football game between Minnesota and Iowa on Oct. 24, at Iowa City. This marks the close of long pending negotiations for a game between these colleges, and also completes the varsity football schedule for 1914. By this arrangement the Gophers will visit Iowa next year, while Iowa has agreed to come to Minnesota for the following two years. Nebraska is not on the Gopher schedule for the first time in several years, owing to difficulties in arranging a date. The Cornhuskers were offered Oct. 17, the only open date for a game with Minnesota, but insisted upon a return date in 1915 before accepting. Owing to the heavy schedule of out-of-town games necessary next year, Minnesota did not think it advisable to schedule a return game at Lincoln, and a home game with Iowa was substituted.

The Gophers are at present going through a daily indoor practice in the armory, and will start active practice as soon as the fall semester begins, probably on Sept. 19 or 21. This will give the men about two weeks' preparation for the North Dakota game, and following that they will play a game every Saturday in October. The first break comes with a two weeks' rest between the Illinois and Wisconsin games, the Chicago game finishing the schedule a week later. The schedule as it now stands is: North Dakota at Minneapolis, Oct. 3; Ames at Minneapolis, Oct. 10; South Dakota at Minneapolis, Oct. 17; Iowa at Iowa City, Oct. 24; Illinois at Minneapolis, Oct. 31; Wisconsin at Minneapolis, Nov. 14; Chicago at Chicago, Nov. 21.

The new athletic board of control members attended the first meeting Wednesday, since the election, Feb. 25. "Bee" Lawler presided and Secretary Geer entered upon his new duties. The newly elected representatives with the exception of Ramaker in the medical college took their new positions. Thorgny Carlson, academic; David Giltinan, engineer, and Richard Lewis, agriculture college, were the new representatives. Howard Lambert of the law college was the only hold-over man present. The board-elect authorized a two-year contract for a dual track meet with Wisconsin. By the terms of the contract the meet will be held at Madison next year. The entertaining association guarantees receipts of $400 to the visiting team. Henry J. Doermann was appointed assistant baseball coach. He is an alumni coach such as Yale, Harvard and other Eastern colleges maintain. The board decided to send fifteen men to the track meet to be held at Shattuck school. The basket ball team left Thursday to play Indiana and Purdue. Fynn, Lewis, Croswell, Petraborg, Dr. Cooke and Manager McBean went to Indiana and Purdue.

The practice games for the baseball team have all been arranged and added to the list of regular conference games. They give the Gophers a schedule of eighteen games for the season. The dates follow:

April 18—St. Thomas college at Northrop field.
April 20.—Macalester at Macalester.
April 25.—Illinois at Urbana.
April 27.—Northwestern at Evanston.
April 28.—Chicago at Chicago.

The annual inter-fraternity relay swimming meet will be held at the university on March 21, it was announced by the athletic department. The cup which is offered to the winner is now in the possession of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. As the cup must be won two successive years for permanent possession, the Alpha Delta team will make strenuous efforts to win this years relay.

Another Balloon Entry.

New York, March 7.—The Aeroclub of America announced today that it has received an entry for the international aeronautical race from Austria. The race is to start next October from Kansas City. The Austrian entry raises the total of entries to twelve representing five countries—Germany, 3; France, 3; America, 3; Austria, 2, and Belgium 1.

WESTERGAARD RESTS WITH HEAD IN PACK.

Oscar Thorson, manager of Jess Westergaard, stated that it was difficult to tell just the condition of the big wrestler, as he had not awakened at a late hour today.

"Jess did not go to sleep until 3 o'clock this morning," said Thorson. "Dr. Klein remained with him and packed his head in ice. The injury was worse than was at first thought.

"Please say for me that it is my honest opinion that Westergaard would have won the contest of last evening. We had the Pole beaten. The injury is most unfortunate in many ways. It may keep Westergaard out of the game for the remainder of the season—though that fact is not certain as yet. We will remain in Duluth until the exact extent of the injury is ascertained."

LAKES CINCH THE PENNANT

Hardware Hockey Team Defeats the Fast Big Duluths.

The crack Lakes, the joyous Ryberg-Harris combination, practically cinched the pennant in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league last evening by defeating the Big Duluth team by the score of 5 to 3.

In many respects the contest was brilliant and brought out some of the best playing of the season. At the end of the first half the count was 2 to 1 in favor of the hardware dealers. Early in the second half the clothiers came back and knotted the score. From there on the playing was about the fastest ever seen in the simon pure circles.

Last evening's win makes it almost certain that the Lakes will win the gonfalon in the D. A. H. A. During the season the Lakes have not as yet lost a single game. The record of the hardware boys is brilliant. The team play has been consistent and the defense has been wonderful. Outside of the team that is representing the curling club in the large league, it is very doubtful if this city has ever produced a team the equal of the Lakes.

"Mike" Taylor starred for the Lakes, getting four of the five goals. Two were from the boards and one from near the center ice. The other was from scrimmage. Three of the goals registered by the hard-working Taylor were exceptional shots.

Mahan at goal was a star for the Lakes, and so was Ward Brown. Dykins, Alder and Poissant scored the nets for the clothiers.

The lineup:

Lakes—		Big Duluths—

Brown	lw	Blais

SUTTON AND DEMAREST

Win Friday's Games in All-Star Billiard Contest.

Chicago, March 7.—George Sutton last night defeated Kogi Yamada 500 to 361 in the ninth game of the all-star billiard tournament. Sutton had high runs of 109 and 119, made in consecutive innings, and Yamada's best run was 80. Sutton averaged 20-20-24 and Yamada's average was 16 16-23.

Demarest defeated Slosson in the afternoon game by 500 to 302. Demarest's high run was 107 and his average 22 16-22. Slosson made a high run of 74 and an average of 14 8-21.

Washington, March 7.—Suggestions that machinery and equipment used in the construction of the Panama canal be brought north for service in Mississippi valley flood prevention work, or in building the proposed government railroad in Alaska, were stamped as impracticable by Col. George W. Goethals.

THE GREATEST TEAM OF BASEBALL IS OBSCURE

That Title Belongs to a Collection of Stars That Helped Prepare Athletics for a World's Series Contest and Soundly Licked Connie Mack's Brigade.

Chicago, Feb. 28. — If somebody should ask you to name—right off the reel—the greatest baseball team that ever played together, not on paper, but on the actual field of combat, what would you say?

You probably would stutter and stall a while to gain time to let memory wander back over the pages of baseball history, then ask for a postponement on account of slow thinking, and, if granted a reprieve, would get busy with a flock of baseball guides, dope books and tomes of reminiscences of the national pastime, in an effort to answer the question.

Almost anybody can put together on paper an all-star team of major leaguers which will satisfy himself at least of its superiority over anything else of the kind, writes I. E. Sanborn in the Tribune. For years and years fans and scribes have amused themselves by assembling such phantom teams and cleaning up the arena with them—on paper. But that's wide of the mark. None of these dream outfits had the chance to demonstrate on the playing field, consequently there was no way to write Q. E. D. at the end of the demonstration.

Mackmen Supreme at Present.

There have been some pretty strong teams gathered together under the banner of one city in the several decades during which baseball has thrived. One of them is in existence today and wears the proud title of "World's Champions, 1913." Its permanent alias is "Athletics." No one will dispute the claim that Connie Mack's team stands supreme today. Any assertion to the contrary can be based only on wind and theory. All the dope and facts of the last four seasons stand behind Philadelphia's title of a wonderful ball team.

Back of 1910 there was some mighty powerful diamond aggregations, and there are plenty of fans who will dispute any claim Philadelphia citizens may set up to show that their Athletics are the best ever. There was that old Cub machine, welded together and presided over by Frank L. Chance. It came close to tying the record of the present Connie Mack outfit. The Cubs won as many league pennants as the present Athletics—three in four years. Chance's men achieved only two world's pennants, while the Mackmen of today have won three, but the denizens of Chicago's west side will maintain as long as they can breathe that Chance's team was a grand ore until Father Time and modern business methods disintegrated it so completely.

Cubs' Great Infield.

They will argue that Tinker and Evers and Chance, with Steinfeldt on the third corner, formed as great an infield as Barry and Collins and McInnis, with Baker at the difficult station, but the indisputable result of the 1910 world's series cannot be changed by argument.

Back in the '90s Boston and Baltimore boasted of their grand baseball teams, each of them a three-time pennant winner. The Hub could point with pride to Tenney, Lowe and Long; to Collins and Nash and Duffy and Hamilton. The Oriole fans have never forgotten Keeler and Kelly and Stenzel; Jennings, McGraw, Reitz and Doyle.

Still farther back in the nineteenth century Chicago fans loved and rooted for the old White Stockings under Cap Anson. They will tell you that there never has been a stone wall infield equal to that composed of Burns, Williamson, Pfeffer and Anson, nor any team that possessed in addition such stars as Mike Kelly and Flint, Clarkson, Goldsmith and Griffith, Gore and Dalrymple, Billy Lange and Jimmy Ryan—and so they will run on through the list of stars who played under Anson for twenty years, totally unconscious of the fact that not even the array of stars named here ever played together in any one season under the veteran manager.

Comuy's Browns Also Great.

Contemporary with and conqueror of Anson's great team was another combined and led by Charles A. Comiskey while manager of the original St. Louis Browns. The few able to live long enough in St. Louis to go back that far will tell you there has never since been a team like Comiskey's, pointing emphatically to the record of four consecutive pennants in the old American association—a record which has not been equaled in the thirty years that have elapsed.

These glittering arrays of baseball stars and many others will occur to the fan, or fanette, who searches the dusty records and dope books of the great American game in quest of the best team that ever stood together on spikes. There were some powerful aggregations put together in the Brotherhood days, when the old Players' league corralled practically all the stars of the land and split them into eight teams for a battle with organized baseball which lasted longer than the present unpleasantness is expected to endure.

World's Greatest Team.

But the team that is sought in the query at the beginning of this bunch of language will not be found in any of the record books, old or new, nor in any of the ordinary dope of the sport. It bore the name of no municipality. It claimed no loyalty from any set of fans and was rooted for by nobody. It won no league championships or world's pennants; its members drew no salaries and signed no contracts. Its composite life lasted only one week and it probably has been forgotten by the majority of the fans today. Yet it licked the best team in the land with ease and helped win a world's pennant without sharing a cent in the receipts of that monetary prize or receiving an iota of glory for its achievement.

Born of an exigency which has since ceased to exist; hurriedly summoned together and as quickly dismissed after its work had been done, the all-star team which James A. McAleer selected to tune up the Philadelphia Athletics ready for the world's series of 1910 will stand the test with any other that ever played together. Listen:

There may have been in 1910 and in each year before and since players in the major leagues who would have strengthened that team in one position or another. But the foregoing array of talent, picked up hurriedly by Jimmy McAleer, with the consent of the American league, was not a paper team, but a concrete fact. It was assembled in a rush, and without previous practice or schooling to work up team play or signs, it trimmed the American league champions and the world's champions of 1910 so decisively there was nothing to it.

That pitching staff alone was a wonder—combining as it did a speed marvel in Walter Johnson, a king of spitters in Ed Walsh, and the foxiest southpaw of recent years in "Doc" White. In Billy Sullivan it had a catcher who knew from experience the strength and weakness of every Cub batsman with whom the Athletics were to compete for the big pennant. And if there has been a better outfield on any one team than Cobb and Speaker and Milan it has been unsung.

At any rate, that McAleer team gave the Athletics a licking which keyed them up to a pitch where they literally walked away with the men of Chance, then believed to be one of the greatest fighting machines of all time. And that was what they were brought together for.

How Series Came About.

It will be recalled that in 1910 the National league insisted on prolonging its championship season a week or more than was necessary, so as to include a little observed holiday, Columbus day, while the American league wound up its season's campaign early in October in sane fashion. Just for that lack of "business acumen" the American league not only lost the chance to corral a few stray dollars but also faced the danger of having its champion Athletics go stale with nothing to do in the interval between the close of the American league season and the first game of the world's combat with the Cubs.

To avoid that staleness it was suggested that a team be picked from the other seven clubs in the league to tackle the Athletics and keep them in condition. A five-game series was played and the Mackmen were given a severe trimming in the first four battles, the scores of which were 8 to 3, 5 to 1, 6 to 2, and 4 to 1, respectively. In the fifth and final game the Athletics, polished to a turn and angered by the taunts of their opponents, turned and beat the all-stars by a score of 3 to 0, and then went on and won from the Cubs in four out of five games, being defeated only in an extra-inning contest.

One Defeat Easily Explained.

The fact the Athletics beat the all-star aggregation in one game in five does not detract from the supremacy of that composite outfit, for the uncertainties of baseball are such that almost any capable team stands a good chance of winning once in five attempts from almost anything that can be put together in the way of stellar talent.

In 1911 the same situation arose and again the American league handed McAleer a team of players to keep the Athletics tuned up for the series with the New York Giants. But it was not as great a team as that of 1910. It had Cobb and Gessler and Milan in the outfield, Chase, Elberfeld, McBride and Gardner on the infield, with Henry and Street as catchers and Johnson, Wood, Mullin and Ray Collins for pitchers. Considerable team, to be sure, but a few chips shy by comparison with the 1910 aggregation, as closer study will prove. Moreover, the 1911 team of stars won only two out of four games from the Athletics, who, nevertheless, found no great obstacle in their path to victory over the Giants that year.

There have been other composite teams in baseball each of them tabbed "all-star" for various purposes. Practically none of them deserved the title. An exception might have been the aggregation of American or National leaguers planned by the Fletcher-Livingston combination for a grand tour of the South a few years ago. That scheme was nipped in the bud, consequently it cannot be considered that these teams ever had corporal existence.

Other "All-Star" Nines.

In the fall of 1902 a pair of alleged "all-star" teams made a tour of the West following the championship season, but there was no such array of stars in the ranks of either as that contained in the aggregation which tuned up the Athletics. Both these teams were restricted to the players willing to give up the winter to baseball.

One of the first all-star teams put together was that which accompanied the Chicago National league team around the world under A. G. Spalding twenty-five years ago this winter. Again that compilation of talent was restricted by the necessity of picking men who were willing to make the trip, and the result was something like that which attended the efforts of Comiskey and McGraw to obtain two-star teams for the present globe-girdling journey. Not all the great players who were asked to go consented. By comparison with that McAleer outfit which licked the Athletics in the fall of 1910, everything else of the kind pales perceptibly. Q. E. SOME QUAINT FISHING LAWS

Anglers in Various Parts of World Have Curious Methods of Catching Finny Tribe.

Tid Bits: Apparently the Chinese government does not agree with the dictum that the abundance of the sea is for the free use of man, judging by the restrictions which they place upon fishermen. One can imagine the outcry which would occur among the fishermen around our coasts if they were asked not only to pay a sum for fishing rights in a certain section of the sea, but were also held responsible for the preservation of the fish in the particular space of water allotted to them. This, however, is exactly what the Chinese government does, according to the report of the vice consul at Ningpo, China, which has just been issued.

Ningpo is the greatest market in China for fish of every kind, which is exported to nearly every native port, and even to foreign countries. Over 10,000 craft are fitted out for the sea fisheries in the Chusan Archipelago, and a license must be procured for each boat from the civil authority. For fishing on the shores of the islands applications for space must be made to the officials, as the ground belongs to the government. There are also special regulations for fishing in the lakes, rivers and canals.

On payment of a small sum a certain amount of space is granted by the officials and a license is issued, but the holder is thenceforward held responsible for the preservation of the fish in his allotment. No fishing is allowed in the spawning season, and, in order to keep the stock in good condition, a proportionate quantity of young fry must yearly be placed in the water.

A favorite method of catching the fish, particularly on the mud flats left along the coast by the receding tides, is by fixing long nets vertically on bamboos in the shape of a half circle, the fish being left prisoners in these enclosures at low tide.

In the rivers, lakes and canals fishing with trained cormants is the favorite method. Each cormorant has a ring or cord round its neck to prevent it swallowing the fish it catches, and its legs are connected with another piece of string forming a loop by which refractory birds may at any moment be brought on board.

On the Ningpo river, too, moonlight fishing is carried on to a large extent. For this purpose a long, narrow, flat boat, provided on one side with a board sloping down into the water, and painted a bright white, is used. On the other side of this craft is a net stretched vertically on stanchions. The fish, attracted by the white board, jump upon it, and thence into the boat, the net preventing them from falling into the water on the other side.

Yet another novel way of fishing is with a net and clapper. The net is stretched on a light bamboo frame in the shape of a truncated pyramid. The fisherman either sits in a boat or wades in the shallows, striking the water with the wooden clapper, which frightens the fish into the net.

PACKARD TRUCK BASEBALL LEAGUE

Novel Plan of Conducting Sales Contests Being Started.

Almost simultaneously with the departure of big league ball teams for the southland, twenty-one Packard truck sales managers, gathered by telegraph from coast to coast, assembled at the Packard Motor Car company, Detroit. They came to attend the truck sales convention called by the truck sales manager, C. R. Norton, but in reality to get inside dope on the Packard Truck Baseball league, which begins its season March 1. This league is the newest and most noval idea in sales contests.

It consists of ten teams, which meet each other three times during the "season." The organization is complete from a national commission clear down to the bat boys. The managerial responsibilities have been delegated to President H. B. Joy, Vice President S. D. Waldon, Vice President and General Manager Alvan Macauley, Sales Manager H. H. Hills, President of Branches M. J. Budlong, Consulting Engineer Russell Huff, Alvan T. Fuller of Boston, Cuyler Lee of San Francisco, Earle C. Anthony of Los Angeles and Ginder Abbott of New Orleans.

An elaborate plan has been worked out, sales counting as runs. Each player of the league has signed a contract which binds him to play. A sporting extra, "The Packard Winch," is issued daily.

The winning organization gets a pennant and also a $500 English bulldog.

HAYNES LIVING UP TO HIS SLOGAN

Is Always in Front Rank in Getting Out New Improvements.

M. W. Turner, distributor in this territory for the Haynes, America's first car, was very enthusiastic when seen at his showrooms, 218 East First street, over the slogan which the pioneer auto manufacturers of Kokomo, Ind., have recently adopted.

"Let me tell you," said Mr. Turner. "As a slogan, 'First in the field—ahead of the times always,' sounds good, and how many manufacturers are there that can live up to it? Only one that I know of, and that is the Haynes company.

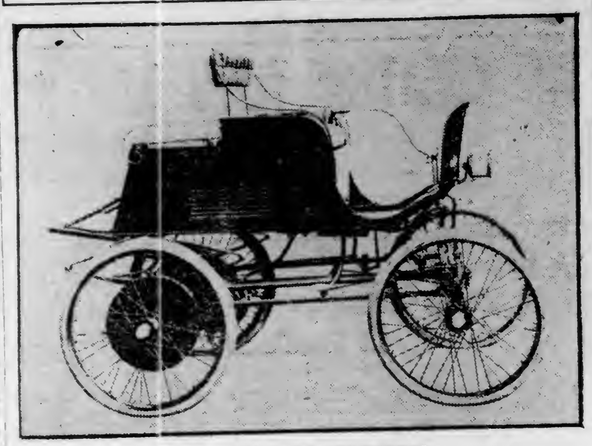
"It is known the world over that Elwood Haynes, president of the Haynes Automobile company, invented and built the first gasoline self-propelled vehicle in the years 1893-1894, and the original of which has been for many years on exhibition at our National museum, the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

"It is also an acknowledged fact that Elwood Haynes has either been the originator or among the first to adopt every important improvement on the automobile, since he built the 'horseless carriage' back in '93. The long list of 'firsts' which he has to his credit is evidence enough of his leadership in automobile construction.

"Elwood Haynes was ahead of the times twenty-one years ago when he turned his dream of building a self-propelled vehicle into a reality—and he is ahead of the times today when he adopts the electric gear shifting mechanism, the greatest refinement in automobile construction in recent years. This device entirely eliminates the hand shift lever, and permits the driver to shift gears by electricity, silently, skillfully and without physical effort.

"As I say, a slogan sounds good, but it is necessary to live up to it, and the Haynes company has certainly merited the one just adopted, 'first in the field—ahead of the times always.'"

OLD TIME MODELS EXHIBITED AT THE INDIANAPOLIS SHOW



AN OLD-TIME ELECTRIC.

In connection with the automobile show held in Indianapolis the week of Feb. 23, a parade of new and old cars was given in which a special effort was made to get together some of the oldest models still on their legs.

The Waverley company contributed an early model known as the Dos-a-dos, a light runabout with two seats, back to back, 36-inch wire wheels and herringbone gears attached to each rear wheel. The gears are driven by a pinion extending from each end of the motor, which is of 3-inch armature with enclosed differential. Twenty-four cells of nine plate lead battery drive the car at a speed of twelve to fourteen miles an hour, and for a mileage of thirty to thirty-five miles without recharging.

The car entered in the parade was built and first shipped to New York, April 5, 1900, fourteen years ago, yet with the exception of the tires, is in almost perfect condition and capable of just as good speed and mileage as it ever gave. Four similar Waverley cars were exhibited at the New York electrical show in the spring of 1899.

The old car weighs about 1,200 pounds, while the latest Waverley models tip the scale at 4,000 pounds. Present batteries are more than twice as large and three times heavier than that of the old Dos-a-dos, and the motor of two and a half times greater diameter. Double reduction has taken the place of single reduction and the entire construction of a modern Waverley is designed to support four times the weight and six times the strain of the old type car.

WOULD LIST OLD CAR.

Is Best Way to Sell Machine, Says J. T. Peacha.

"No person with a pinch of business sense believes that he can 'trade in' his old car for more than can be secured for it by the dealer," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., of the Interstate Auto company, local agents for the Kissel Car.

"To be sure there are new cars on the market that are priced with a view to trades, that is a list figure is placed upon them that may be flexed to meet the circumstances. From such concerns, if he persists, the owner may obtain an allowance on his old car that he knows in his own mind is more than the car is worth. But if he is at all keen, it will be transparent to him that the dealer is neither a philanthropist nor a ninny, and that the car he sells has been priced to meet just such emergencies.

"The man who expects to sell his old car and buy a new one should write down one fact in bright red ink and underline it, and that is that the sooner he authorizes some reliable dealer to list the old car, the more likely he is to get a satisfactory price for it.

"Buyers of second-hand cars, are as a rule, careful buyers. In order to find the best proposition they do considerable looking around and consequently shop early. We have more inquiries for second-hand cars in February and March than in any other months of the year.

"If an owner wants a good price for his old car, and an honest price as well, he ought to list it now while the second-hand market is at its best. As far as we are concerned, we not only list our second-hand cars here, but with our agencies elsewhere as well."

DROP-FORGINGS TYPIFY GOOD CAR

Give Great Strength Without Excess Weight, Says Willys.

BY JOHN N. WILLYS,
President, Willys-Overland Company, Toledo, Ohio.

Show me an automobile in which a large number of drop-forgings have been used, and I will show you a good car, whether it cost $1,000 or $10,000. Wherever a part of great strength, without excess weight, is needed, the honest and conscientious designer specifies a drop-forging, regardless of cost. Therefore, the buyer of an automobile who finds a liberal use of drop-forgings can rest assured that he has purchased a bargain.

The manufacturer of a few automobiles annually, uses drop-forgings sparingly because they are expensive to buy in small quantities. This is because of the high cost of dies bought ready-made and the smaller maker cannot afford a large investment in the machinery and labor necessary in making his own dies. The result is many manufacturers whose production is limited, buy drop-forgings. Others make their own forgings, but from purchased dies. Still others use castings, which are cheap, but not nearly as strong or safe as drop-forgings, wherever possible.

Toledo's Big Plant.

At our factory we have the largest drop-forging plant in the automobile industry, and we make all our own dies and forgings. Because we turn out 50,000 Overland cars in a year, we can make drop-forged parts for a great deal less than smaller manufacturers can buy them. This is easily explained by the following example. If we install a new tool or machinery equipment in our plant at a cost of $100,000, this cost must be divided by 50,000 to get the cost per car, which is $2.00. The maker of only 1,000 cars annually must divide this investment by 1,000 which gives a cost of $100 per car. It is easy to see that this is a prohibitive burden for the small maker.

In the Overland front axle we give a good illustration of the desirability of making our own drop forgings. In our plant this part is forged in a single heat without welding, and the entire piece, therefore, is of uniform strength and structure and without a seam or flaw. The method more commonly employed, especially in a small plant, is to make the I-beam axle in two halves. Each half is subjected to an intense heat and each must be reheated when they are welded together. It is not difficult to see why the axle forged in a single heat without welding is superior.

Other Advantages.

The same advantage of making our own drop forgings is shown in the manufacture of steering connections, control levers, crankshafts, camshafts, gear blanks and dozens of other parts. It is out of the question, because of the expense of making dies and investing in the machinery necessary, for a smalle maker to produce these parts economically. They are absolutely necessary in a car, however, for they give strength where strength is needed, and eliminate weight.

The Overland crankshaft is an excellent example of the employment of drop forgings made in the home plant. A crankshaft die is one of the most intricate and expensive to make, but by its use the crankshaft is roughed out by only a few blows of a powerful hammer. The manufacture of crankshafts is practically forbidden the maker of a few cars and when he purchases this important part of his vehicle he cannot be assured of its quality. By making our own crankshafts we are given the opportunity of testing and analyzing every bit of steel that enters their manufacture and we have absolute knowledge of their fitness, before they are accepted.

GET SHIPMENT OF BROUGHAMS

Mutual Auto Company Receives Some Handsome Machines.

The Mutual Auto company received a shipment of Detroit electric broughams yesterday. The shipment consisted of two different models, numbers 43 and 47. The model 47 is a 5-passenger brougham with the duplex drive. Mrs. W. C. Winton of this city has purchased this car, and prior to the purchase made a thorough investigation of all cars at the Chicago and Minneapolis Automobile shows.

The Detroit Duplex Drive car has an exceptionally roomy body, seating five adults comfortably, and permitting the operator or any of the five passengers to leave or enter the car without disturbing the other occupants. The easy forward chairs are of the revolving Pullman type, and when this model is driven from the rear seat, a clear vision is afforded to the operator. The doors open forward, which is not only a great convenience in alighting from the car, but is also a prevention of accidents, occuring through the door being left open when the car is in motion. The Mutual Auto company also have received a model 43, which is a 4-passenger car, seating three people at the rear and one at the front to one side, allowing the operator of the car clear vision. This is the 1914 improvement, besides its longer wheel base, wider rear seat and a reduction in price over last year's model. The luxurious appearance and finish of the car characterizes the Detroit electric.

W. G. Hegardt after seeing this car was more than enthusiastic over its many good qualities, and will receive a Duplex 1914 model 43 Detroit in the very near future, and two other Duluthians have placed their order for this popular car for immediate delivery.

EIGHT CHALMERS SOLD IN VIRGINIA

Eight Chalmers cars have been sold in Virginia, and practically every range town will be able to boast of a Chalmers Six this year. There are five Master Sixes to be delivered in Virginia and three Little Sixes. Emmet Butler of Butler brothers of Virginia, in making his choice of his car for the 1914 season advised Mr. Filiatrault that the Chalmers Master Six came nearer to his own specifications for a car suitable to his business than any other car he had seen. Mr. Butler drives about ten hours a day the year round, and naturally is looking for a car which will give him the least trouble, least expense and the easiest riding qualities, and Mr. Butler thinks that the Chalmers car will fill the bill.

BIG APPEAL BY "SIX."

Big Car Is Popular at the Winter Auto Shows.

When the doors are closed on the national automobile show, the trend of the automobile industry will have demonstrated that the six-cylinder car has made the greatest appeal to the general public. According to the exhibitors in the show, a majority of all the cars are of the six-cylinder type. This list includes makers who have in the past devoted their entire output to four-cylinder models exclusively, and in a few cases some makers still make a four. But where a manufacturer builds both sixes and fours the lion's share of the output is of the six-cylinder type.

In former years the annual show has featured some new advance in motor car building. One show was heralded

THE Overland plants employ 10,000 men and produce 200 cars a day. This is the largest production of its kind in the world. Whereas the average factory employs less than 1000 men and often produces only 2 cars a day.

The difference between 10,000 men and 1,000 men and 200 cars per day as against 2 cars per day is so enormous that the number of material manufacturing economies which the larger production can effect must be apparent even to the most uninformed.

And that is why we can market this car for less than any other manufacturer in the business.

ASK FOR DEMONSTRATION

as the self-starter show, another brought out the fore-door body, another electric lighting. This year these things are matter of fact equipment. The six-cylinder motor car is the subject for the motorists' undivided attention.

Many automobilists have been led to believe that the six-cylinder car is far more costly to operate than the four. For this reason the six has been a little slow in making itself felt. But this year and for several years, advocates of six-cylinder construction have convinced four-cylinder users that, given a six and four of equal horsepower, the advantages are in favor of a six. In many cases the six has demonstrated that it requires less gasoline and oil than does the four of the same horse-power under the same conditions.

That these facts have become thoroughly realized by the motor car industry—and the manufacturers simply make what the public wants—is evidenced by the fact that there are twenty sixes being shown to the public for the first time, and all of them are the products of makers who formerly made fours exclusively. This certainly proves beyond the slightest doubt the public's realization of the desirability of the six-cylinder car over the four for comfort, economy and efficiency.

ROADS TO IMPROVE.

Auto Man Says United States Is Taking Right Course.

President John A. Wilson of the American Automobile association, just home from a business trip abroad, asserts that America need no longer go to Europe for instruction in roads improvement. While admitting the highways systems in France and England provide adequately for the multiplying passenger and freight traffic that has resulted from the coming of the motor-driven vehicle, Mr. Wilson expresses the belief that the present attention by congress to the roads question ultimately will result in a network of roads communication which will cover the entire country.

"Difference of opinion in the roads question now is simply from the method of approach," comments the A. A. A. president, "for all are agreed that a comprehensive plan necessarily must embrace, in so far as it is possible to do so, both the big roads and the little roads which connect even the back-roads farm with the nearest market place. What the farms on the back roads produce counts as a substantial percentage of the total food supply of the whole country.

"It is nothing more than a simple case of self-preservation on the part of the urban dweller to see to it that every load of farm products possible reaches the consumer as cheaply as possible. Keep it in mind that he is the man who pays the cost of transport. The country dweller and the city resident are plainly interdependent. One class raises or manufactures what the other must have in order to exist: Farm products to the market place, and the manufactured articles from the market place to the farm.

"In a scientific distribution of the cost of road construction and maintenance all four civil subdivisions must be concerned. It is plainly a logical sequence that the township and county units should look to the state, not only to be relieved to the extent of those roads which assume an inter-county character, but also added co-operation in connection with the smaller market laterals and township feeders.

"If the state—a part of the country—finds that it must have financial co-operation from the central source, a large part of the money could most economically be expended on the most used commercial roads connecting with similar roads in the adjoining states. All of which simply means that the state would then have a greater amount of money to distribute through its county and township units on those plainly essential roads connecting the market places with the farms."

New Models Here.

Leonard McNamara, local agent for the Studebaker automobiles, yesterday received several new 1914 models and they are now on display at the salesrooms at 318 East Superior street. Mr. McNamara reports a brisk trade for this time of the year and said this morning that the new Studebaker-Six has created quite a furore among local buyers.

FORD NOTES

Just a few months ago many newspapers carried accounts of the gas engine power plant of the Ford Motor company, described as the largest of its kind in the world and one which consumed more than the amount of gas used in the entire city of Detroit. It is rather significant of the growth of the Ford industry that in spite of the size and newness of this huge power plant a new one is being erected immediately adjoining it. The excavation work is now well under way.

This step was found necessary because the present plant is being crowded to its utmost limit and there will be a still greater demand for power when the huge additions to the Ford plant, now nearing completion, are put in commission. The newest Ford power plant will reveal some exceedingly interesting ideas along the line of power development and fuel consumption—ideas absolutely novel in the engineering world, the exact nature of which will be announced later.

One of the features of the great machine shop of the Ford Motor company that always impresses the casual visitor is the interminable—apparently impenetrable—jungle of shafts and belting necessary to operate the machines. In fact is a source of wonder to the visitor how all these tremendous pulleys and miles of shafting get their driving power from the two big gas engines in the central power plant. One is not surprised when one is told that besides the big motors in the power plant driving the main shafts there are 720 others scattered about the factory driving outlying portions of the labyrinth of belts and pulleys.

An English motorist, Gordon Bennett of the Central Motor garage, St. Heller, Island of Jersey, recently put his 20-horse power Ford model "T" through a spectacular stunt for the benefit of his fellow townsmen. It seems that a good deal of discussion had taken place relative to the car's ability to climb the long flight of steps going up Snow hill. In consequence arrangements were made to try the car on this task soon after daybreak on a recent Sunday morning.

With only a few yards start, Mr. Bennett covered the stairs as far as the first landing. Then with greater confidence the remaining portions of the journey were accomplished, stopping only twice, where the acute angles made assistance necessary in turning the car.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

The output of the automobile factories of America in 1913 reached a value of $500,000,000 and gave direct employment to 100,000 men, according to semi-official statistics, which leads President George A. Kissel of the Kissel Motor Car company to the following observation: "The greatest gain in number of cars manufactured in any one year over the previous year was in 1913, when 125,000 more automobiles were built than in 1912. When we consider that only 25,000 cars were marketed in 1905 and nearly 500,000 cars in 1913, the magical growth of the industry must impress itself as incomparable in the whole commercial history of the world. It appears certain that the high water mark of production has not yet been reached."

Many are the uses to which the automobile is put, outside of its usual province, especially when necessity prompts. Down in Shreveport, La., the proprietor of a bottling works has found a new one which, while peculiar in itself, is not without practical suggestions.

O. L. Biedenharn, proprietor of a plant where delectable soft drinks are bottled for the consumption of the thirsty, found himself up against it the other day when the motor providing the power for his plant burned out. Orders were pressing, but as the works were soon to be moved to new quarters it did not seem desirable to install a new motor just at that time.

Mr. Biedenharn, therefore, took his Cadillac and backed it into position in the rear of his plant, jacked up the rear axle, clamped a wooden pulley wheel to one rear wheel of the machine, shifted the main driving belt to the pulley and then cranked the engine of the car.

The scheme worked perfectly. The Cadillac has been driving all the machinery of the plant ever since, working steadily ten hours a day, six days a week, without any interruptions from overheating or for mechanical difficulties of any kind.

The work of turning out Ford cars abounds in minute details of production which save precious minutes.

A unique method is used to test cylinders to ascertain if they have been bored accurately to a thousandth of an inch, this simply allowing for the movement of the piston head. By old machine shop methods the cylinder was bored out and the piston head turned and then one was fitted to the other. When Ford production ran up into hundreds of motor cars per day it was obviously impossible to test in this way as cylinders were bored in one portion of the plant while the pistons were being turned a great distance away.

A device therefore was worked out in which an electric globe is used to make the test. When a cylinder has been bored to the correct size it is slid over an electric globe. A piston guage of the exact size of a piston head is then slid into the cylinder and the tester examines it carefully to ascertain if any light leaks around the gauge. If there is no sign of light it means that the cylinder has been bored properly but if light shows the cylinder is rejected as defective.

"When is a car light, is a pertinent question today, particularly as there has been such a decided trend toward light weight,' says Arthur Holmes, chief engineer of the Franklin.

"Apparently the term 'light' is a sort of poetic license, at least you can apply it to any old weight and get away with it. Of course a car weighing 4,500 pounds is lighter than one weighing 5,500 pounds, and a two-ton car is lighter still. But is a two-ton car light? Not when a car of about the same capacity and ability weighs over 1,200 pounds less.

"A car is actually light when its weight on the scales is considerably less than the average of other cars in its class. But an ideally light car is one that is much less in weight than the average in its class and yet gets all the benefit of the lightness, such as high tire mileage, good gasoline efficiency, great reliability and high total economy. Such a car is a scientifically light car. It is obtained by correct design of each unit, by materials that give the greatest strength and service with the least weight for each part and by simplicity in design."

"The fair way to figure just what a motor truck will accomplish in comparison with horse-drawn vehicles," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., of the Interstate Auto company, "is to take the ground-covering and tonnage capacity of each and, from that basis, arrive at the cost per ton mile. When this is done, no one engaged in a business where delivery covers any considerable radius can fail to reach the conclusion that he ought to use trucks. When a truck does not show a saving over horses, it is either a case where the business is not big enough to keep the truck running or where delivery is not properly systematized. In a great majority of cases, providing a proper system is adopted, a truck will accomplish the equivalent of at least three horse-drawn vehicles. Kissel Kar trucks are doing it all over the country."

Ralph De Palma who for the second time won the Vanderbilt cup race at Santa Monica, Cal., last Thursday, is writing a book in collaboration with M. Worth Colwell. It is a piece of fiction written around the automobile racing game and sections of it already have appeared as short stories in Popular magazine, Collier's and others. Upon his return to New York, De Palma will complete the story, the hero of which is a California racing driver and a well-known publishing house will bring out the novel in the near future. Its title probably will be "In Fourth Speed."

"The opinion of more than 350 physicians driving Kissel Kars is reflected in the report of the Doctors Rosenheimer of Milwaukee," says Frank A. Edwards. "They have driven their Kissel Kar 17,000 miles, with an average fuel consumption of a gallon to fourteen miles. They have obtained the remarkable tire service of 9,000 miles to a set of casings and have spent just $25 for overhauling. This is a great record and shows what a good car carefully driven can accomplish."

The Newest Oakland

Model Is a Light, Five-Passenger, Six-Cylinder Touring Car.

You should see it. It is in keeping with all Oakland models, for it is a worthy addition. This car, fully equipped (including the famous Delco starting, lighting and ignition system) selling for $1,785 is destined to become a leader in its class. Other sixes and fours. A wide range of body designs and horse power ratings.

Prices—$1,150 to $2,600
f. o. b. Pontiac.

All cars fully equipped. Phone or write us for a demonstration. We want to prove to you that these models are entitled to consideration and that the Oakland has every right to be called "The Car With a Conscience." The Oakland is here to stay, watch us grow.

"Sixes" vs. "Fours"

DURING the past few weeks big newspaper space has been used for the purpose of defending the high-priced four-cylinder car. We are not surprised. Any four-cylinder car selling for more than $1800 certainly needs defense.

Whenever a tight shoes pinches, the wearer makes a wry face. And high-priced, four-cylinder shoes are pinching a number of feet pretty hard this season.

Let us examine the real situation of "Six" vs "four."

Three years ago there were eleven builders of "Sixes" in the United States. Last year twenty-five companies produced "Sixes." In 1914 thirty-seven of the forty-two leading manufacturers of motor cars build "Sixes."

Can such development be due to a fad or whim, as the builders of high-priced "fours" say?

High Priced Car Builders Found the "Six" Superior

Seven years ago the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company built "fours" only—"fours" that were above reproach. Six years ago they added "Sixes" because the "Six" was demanded by those who wanted the utmost in a motor car. For five years the Pierce-Arrow has been building "Sixes" only. Not because the Pierce-Arrow "four" was not good, but because the "Six" was proved better.

For years the Packard Motor Car Company built only "fours." To-day Packard cars are built in "Sixes" exclusively. Not because the Packard "four" was not good; for there were no better "fours." But because Packard engineers and Packard owners found the "Six" mechanically superior to the "four"—and the Packard Company had the courage to build the car which was proved best.

The Peerless Company abandoned "fours" for "Sixes" exclusively, because those who paid Peerless prices demanded the superior smoothness, flexibility, and silence of the "Six."

Seven years ago the Winton Company predicted the growth and popularity of the "Six." Since 1908 Winton cars have been built in "Sixes" only, because Winton found the "Six" superior to the "four."

Public Demand Forced the Development of the "Six"

The admitted mechanical superiority of the "Six" over the "four" and the demand for this superiority on the part of those who are willing to pay any price, for motor car luxury forced these builders of high-priced cars into the six-cylinder field.

Practically all successful builders of "fours", such as Locomobile, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, Stevens-Duryea, Winton, Peerless, Buick, Hudson, Oldsmobile, Marmon, White, Studebaker and Oakland have been forced into the six-cylinder field.

None of these companies changed their designs or spent thousands and thousands of dollars for new machinery and to market new types of cars just to satisfy a whim.

Through sheer merit the "Six" has conquered. Practically every well known company this year building a car of $1250 or over, except one, builds "Sixes."

Is it possible that all of these admittedly successful companies are wrong? Isn't it logical to suppose that the majority is right?

Is it reasonable to suppose that the one company which dissents shuld be right against such overwhelming evidence?

Pretty nearly all present owners of "Sixes" have at some time been owners of "fours." Ask them which is the better car—"Six" or "four." Did you ever know of a driver of a "Six" to go back to a "four" of equal price?

Drivers of "Sixes" will tell you that there is something inherent in a "Six" that makes it better than a "four," just as there is something inherent in a thoroughbred that makes him better than a horse of common blood.

Outside of the companies that have over-priced "fours" to sell the little talk there is against the "Six" comes from the people who never rode in a "Six." To all such we say—ride 50 or 100 miles in any good "Six," not only the Chalmers, but any good "Six." Until you have made such a test reserve judgment. We have no doubt of your judgment if you will only take the ride.

Don't Buy a Near "Six" When You Can Get a Real "Six"

The best Known builder of high-priced "fours" this year admits the superiority of the "Six" by using a mechanism which it is claimed will give to the "four" some of the recognized superior qualities of the "Six." How consistent of those with "fours" to sell, to decry "Sixes" in one breath and in the next tell you they have a device that makes a "Six" of their car—nearly! The superiority of a "Six" over a "four" exists in the motor—and can be obtained only through the motor. It can't be obtained through the transmission or rear axle.

The last resort of the four-cylinder advocates is that the "four" is more economical than a "Six." Positively, it is not.

It costs less to drive a Chalmers Master "Six" 5,000 or 20,000 miles, than to drive a "four" of equal size and power the same distance. We have had in the Chalmers factory every well known "four" of $1800 or over. We have run them side by side with the Chalmers "Sixes" and here is what we have learned:

Because of its steady, uninterrupted flow of power the "Six" is easier on tires and easier on every moving part than a "four."

The most prominent "four" in the same price class as the Chalmers "Six" has less power and weighs more. In the Chalmers the labor of moving that weight is divided among six cylinders; in the "four" each cylinder does more work because of the greater weight carried by four cylinders. Don't you see that in the "four" each cylinder must be doing more work all the time?

In other words, the four-cylinder motor is forced to work at full capacity more of the time than the "Six." It is always working harder than the "Six"—and that means shorter life.

"But a 'Six' burns more gasoline," say four-cylinder builders.

Again we say, that is not true.

For any considerable distance the Chalmers Master "Six" can be run on as little gasoline as any "four" of equal motor displacement and with equal car size. This is not merely an advertising claim. We have proved this by actual tests.

Power and Performance Considered, "Six" Is More Economical Than "Four"

The fallacious statement that the "Six" burns more gasoline than a "four" originated in the fact that in the past four-cylinder cars were compared with six-cylinder cars of nearly twice as much power. Compared on an equal footing, as to power and car size, the economy argument is all in favor of the "Six."

While six-cylinder builders are working toward greater fuel economy all the time, builders of "fours" are going the other way. The Chalmers Master "Six," for instance, has only a 4-inch bore and a 5½-inch stroke. A few years ago six-cylinder cars of equal power had bores of 4¾-inch to 6-inch. In the Chalmers Master "Light Six," which sells for $1800, the motor is even smaller—only 3½-inch more. Yet this motor has developed 53 h. p. All engineers admit that small bore and long stroke make for greater fuel economy. So builders of "Sixes" are at least on the right track.

Four-cylinder designers, on the other hand, are forced constantly to increase the size of their motors to get enough power adequately to handle cars of increasingly greater weight.

The high-priced "four" grows each season to be more extravagant in fuel; while the well built "Six" becomes more economical.

A leading builder of high priced "fours" is now announcing through the newspapers that he "has no intention of building a "Six." We believe this must be a welcome announcement to a great many intending buyers who had already finally made up their minds to buy a "Six" and had, perhaps, been wondering whether this particular manufacturer would build one.

Now they have only to pick out the best "Six." They need no longer hesitate, anticipating that this particular builder may produce a "Six." Such statements of policy do much to clarify the public understanding of the motor car situation.

Chalmers Policy Is to Build Best Cars Possible at Chalmers Prices

As in the past, our policy shall always be to build the most efficient, most up-to-date quality cars to sell at medium prices. We shall change the design of Chalmers cars whenever adherence to that policy shall make changes necessary.

We are proud of the changes we have made in Chalmers. For all progress is change. To keep pace with the advance of science it is necessary to change. Every change we have ever made has given our customers higher value, more comfort, greater safety and more beauty in Chalmers cars.

We always build the best cars human ingenuity, painstaking workmanship, and fine materials can produce to sell at Chalmers prices. We introduce new and good things as they are discovered, and proved worth while.

It is in pursuance of this policy of advancement that, having proved the "Six" superior to the "four," we are concentrating the production of Chalmers factory on "Sixes."

We predict that within two years all cars selling above $1600 will be "Sixes." Even those who now decry the "Six" will be building "Sixes" within two years or building a "four" at a great reduction from their present prices.

Cars selling above $1500 belong to the six-cylinder field as much as the cars selling below $1,000 belong to the four-cylinder field.

It is just as impossible to stop the trend toward six-cylinder cars as it would be to dam the Niagara Falls. One builder of "fours" in the $2000 class claims more sales for his car than all makes of "Sixes" combined. This is positively exaggeration. There are being sold to-day three times as many "Sixes" as "fours" at $1500 or over. Crying against the "Six" won't stop it—it only increases the desire for an investigation and a comparison of the relative merits of "fours" and "Sixes." That is all that we as manufacturers of "Sixes" ask.

When You Buy a "Six" You Get the Newest Style and Best Investment

Why sink money in a car already out of style and bound to become more so each day? When you buy a "Six" you buy on a rising market. When you buy a "four" you buy on a declining market.

Our proposition is simple. We say, ride in "fours" and ride in "Sixes." Ask your friends who have "Sixes" if they would go back to "fours." We are sure you will want a "Six" after making such a test.

And having reached that conclusion we ask you to then take the Chalmers Road Test. After this we are sure your purchase will be a Chalmers Master "Six." We invite comparison, with even the highest price cars.

Any Chalmers dealer will give you the Chalmers Standard Road Test. It is proof positive of every claim we make. Judged by the measure of this rigid test, we know that no car within $500 of the Chalmers price can even approach the Master "Six" in power, quietness, absence of vibration, flexibility, comfort, beauty, convenience and luxury.

That is a sweeping claim. But it will cost you nothing to prove to yourself that we are right. Don't buy any car until you have done yourself and us the justice of investigating the Chalmers Master "Sixes."

MARKET HAS WEAK TONE

Wheat Sells Off on Light Trading, Awaiting Crop Report.

Flaxseed Lower on Small Demand From Crushers and Operators.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 7.—The wheat market was a weak and hesitating affair today and on the net result further losses were recorded. There was a disposition on the part of operators to await the appearance of the government crop report due after the close of the board. It was the general belief that it would be of a decidedly bearish nature. Liverpool cables were also slightly off and reports from over the winter wheat territory were favorable regarding the condition of the plant.

May wheat opened unchanged at 91⅞c and closed ½c off at 91⅜@91½c bid. The July option opened unchanged at 92¾c and closed ⅝c off at 92¾c. May durum opened unchanged at 91½c and closed ¾c off at 90¾c.

There was no trading in July option and it was closed up nominally a cent off at 92c.

Oats were weak on liberal offerings and they closed ⅜c off at 37c. Rye closed a cent off at 55c for the best grades and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 36⅞@37c bid and July at 38¼c bid. Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 89⅜c bid and calls at 90⅝@90⅝c bid.

Lack of ouying power was commented upon in all the American grain markets. New York reported that bids for export were out of line and operators were advised to be selling their old wheat options and buying the new crop.

It was intimated from Winnipeg that exporters were re-selling wheat. It was said that one house there had sold 200,000 bu of wheat for export yesterday, but that bids today were unworkable.

Duluth operators are still generally bullish regarding the ultimate course of the market, believing that the big Minneapolis movement is now about over and that receipts from now on will be light. Arrivals down there today were 224 cars against 310 last year. Inspections at Duluth came to 31 cars against 64 last year. The movement this way showed substantial augmentation, there being 125 cars on the tracks for the day. Grain stocks here for the week increased 140,000 bu and now aggregate 20,166,000 bu.

Flaxseed Again Weak.

Flaxseed was weak again and on light trading quotations sagged throughout the session. Closing prices were ever fractionally up from their low. Crushers were reported in the market for supplies at the weak spots. May flax opened unchanged at $1.57½ and closed at ½c off. The July option opened unchanged at $1.59¼, and it also weakened ½c to $1.58¾.

MARKET GOSSIP.

King of Toledo wired: "Michigan complaints of wheat crop injury were only 27 while 489 said no damage. Sixty per cent reported damage a year ago. Farmers marketed 318,000 bu wheat in February. A year ago they marketed 119,000 bu."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Steadier American cables and firmness in Winnipeg yesterday in wheat stimulated some covering at the opening and values were ½d higher. Manitoba offers were firmer and talk of moderate shipments this week to the United Kingdom imparted steadiness. During the early trading week-end profit-taking developed and prices declined ⅛@⅛d with pressure in March. There is a small demand for cargoes, with spot inclined lower with the Continent showing a waiting attitude. At the close the undertone was easier, unchanged to ⅛d lower.

"Corn opened unchanged and continued dull during the entire session. Steadiness in American cables was offset by pressure in spot and freer new crop Plate offers for which there is a quieter demand."

Broomhall's Russian agent cabled: "Ice is clearing on the Danube and several boats are awaiting loading. No further difficulty is anticipated, as the season is far advanced."

A cable from Australia said: "Dryness continues and plowing for the new crop is suspended. Offers of wheat are lighter and a difficulty is being experienced to fill contracts at shippers' offers. Holders are firm. Grading is high at 63 to 63½ lbs. to the bu."

The Minneapolis cash market was steady with a good demand for the top grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at ½c to 2c over with a few cars of extra choice 2¼c premium and velvet chaff at ½@1c over May. There were some fair scattered lots of flour sold, but the general demand was moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 90⅝c to 92⅜c and No. 2 northern at from 88⅝c to 90⅜c.

The Chicago Tribune says: "Shipping demand for cash wheat yesterday was rather slow. St. Louis, Kansas City and Milwaukee prices were unchanged and Omaha ⅛c to ⅛c lower. Cash corn in St. Louis and Peoria was unchanged to ⅛c lower."

Flour stocks at the principal distributing centers in the United States March 1 outside of Minneapolis were 535,000 bu, or 4,000 bu more than on Feb. 1, and compared with 572,000 bu last year, when stocks increased 50,000 bu in February.

Stocks of flour in the principal cities of the United States were as follows:

	Mar. 1. 1914.	Mar. 1. 1913.
Philadelphia	112,680	157,805
New York	62,200	87,100

Milwaukee	84,000	67,900
Duluth	54,000	37,000
Total	535,254	571,910

The following is from James Carruthers, Winnipeg: "Fowler's report gives Manitoba wheat in farmers' hands to market at 11,000,000 bu, but well-posted dealers from Western Canada says this greatly under-estimated, claims there is at least 20,000,000 bu. He also stated that the speculative element is all long May. He says that receipts will increase materially from now on and the market will not be in shape to take care of it, as there is practically nothing sold for May-June shipment."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Acreage Predictions Have Bearish Influence on Wheat.

Chicago, March 7.—Predictions that the largest acreage in history will be planted in the Northwest within a few weeks had a bearish influence today on wheat. Indifferent cables also tended to discourage buyers. The market opened unchanged, ⅛@¼c lower, and continued to sag.

Disposition to await the government report on farm reserves helped prevent any radical decline. The close was firm at ⅛@⅜c to ½c under last night.

Corn eased off because of the scantiness of demand. After starting unchanged to ¼c lower, the market reacted somewhat, but then fell again.

Oats showed some weakness on account of the action of other cereals. Trade was light.

Weakness later increased as the result of statements that 2,000,000 bu of corn on tracks here could not be unloaded, elevators being overcrowded. The close was nervous, ¼@⅜c lower to a shade up compared with last night.

In provisions, the main influence was the strength of the hog market. First sales varied from last night's level to 5c higher, and there was a subsequent upturn.

WEAK TENDENCY IN MINING STOCKS

Leading Issues Close Slightly Lower; Calumet & Corbin a Feature.

For a Saturday session, business was in good volume at Boston today. The reactionary tendency continued, and closing prices showed moderate recessions from yesterday.

Amalgamated Copper was a strong feature, closing 25c higher at $73.12. Butte & Superior closed 87c off at $34; Alaska Gold unchanged at $21.50; Calumet & Arizona 25c off at $66; Granby 50c off at $83; North Butte 50c off at $28, and Shattuck 25c off at $28.25.

Trading in Duluth curb stocks was practically monopolized by Calumet & Corbin. It was strong, being traded in at from 28c to 31c, and it closed at the latter figure bid. The issue was in good demand at Boston where its closing price was 31c.

Gay & Sturgis received the following closing letter from Boston today:

"The London market was very weak and affected our market. The St. Paul incident does not look so serious when explained, but it affected European markets adversely. The episode will be closed in a few days probably, but it has shaken confidence somewhat and postpones by some weeks a bull market. Stocks have about lost all their January rise with the exception of copper shares and they should be bought at this level because real conditions are on the mend."

Good reports are coming to hand regarding work at the Keating Gold Mining company's property. Net earnings for February were reported at $40,000. Production is all from the 800 level at present, but the shaft is down to the 1,000 level, and preparations are being made to drift and open the ore bodies at that depth. Values are running high on the 800 level. The company is seriously considering installing new headframe and hoist of greater capacity, and sinking to the 2,000 level. As depth is attained, the ore carries higher values in copper, and the theory that Keating at greater depth may develop into a copper mine receives support. At present it is yielding excellent returns as a gold mine, though it is still necessary to ship by teams. There is said to be nothing new on the proposed railroad into the Radersburg.

Commenting on the present condition in the market, Skilling's mining and market letter of today says:

"Conditions favor the accumulation of good mining stocks. The prospects are that money soon will be seeking investment with greater confidence than before in years. A good year in industry and business is assured, and while metal prices at the moment are slightly lower than at this time in 1913, the prospects for improvement are infinitely better now."

STOCKS HAVE EARLY BREAK

Whole Market Under Heavy Pressure at the Opening.

Responds to Buying Orders But Reacts Again at Close.

New York, March 7.—The rapid decline in St. Paul, which was weakened yesterday by the charge of improper manipulation of its accounts, continued at the opening today. The first transaction was a block of 3,000 shares at 96½ to 96, compared with yesterday's close of 98⅝. It then declined to 95¾, after which it rallied a point. The whole market was under heavy pressure and most of the active stocks were off from 1 to 2 points. After a few minutes of excited trading the market rallied sharply.

The shorts were brought up with a round turn when the list began to respond to the buying orders which were rushed in to support prices. Quotations bounded up rapidly. St. Paul made a full recovery and other shares mounted from a fraction to 1½ above yesterday's close.

The market closed firm. Following its recovery from the early break, the market held steadily until shortly before the close, but a reactionary tendency again appeared. Lehigh Valley broke 3 points and Reading fell a point under yesterday's close. The level of prices, however, was held well above the low points on the opening break.

Weakness at the start was foreshadowed by the depression among American stocks in London. The distinctly unfavorable showing in New Haven's January report, following the St. Paul and Chesapeake & Ohio incidents, made sentiment bearish, particularly toward the railroad shares.

Bonds were easier.

SHOWS GRAIN LEFT ON FARM

Government Report Finds Amount of Wheat 151,809,000 Bushels.

Corn, Oats and Barley Figures Also Are Given.

Washington, March 7.—Grain of last year's crops remaining on farms March 1 formed the subject of the department of agriculture's crop report for March, issued at 2:15 p. m. today. The department's crop reporting board, from reports of its correspondents and agents throughout the country, estimates the amount of wheat, corn, oats and barley on farms, with comparisons for preceding years, the proportion of each crop which will be shipped out of the countries where grown and the percentage of the 1913 corn crop which was of merchantable quality, as follows:

Wheat: About 151,809,000 bu, or 19.9 per cent, of the 1913 crop remained on farms March 1, 1914, compared with 156,483,000 bu, or 21.4 per cent of the 1912 crop remaining in 1913; 122,025,000 bu, or 19.6 per cent of the 1911 crop in 1912, and 162,705,000 bu, or 25.6 per cent of the 1910 crop in 1911.

About 53.9 per cent of the 1913 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 61.6 per cent of the 1912 crop so shipped, 56.1 per cent of the 1911 crop so shipped and 55.6 per cent of the 1910 crop so shipped.

Corn: About 866,392,000 bu or 35.4 per cent, of the 1913 crop remained on farms March 1, 1914, compared with 1,289,656,000 bu or 41.3 per cent of the 1912 crop in 1913; 884,069,000 bu or 34.9 per cent of the 1911 crop in 1912, and 1,165,378,000 bu or 40.4 per cent of the 1910 crop in 1911.

About 17.2 per cent of the 1913 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 21.8 per cent of the 1912 crop so shipped; 20.5 per cent of the 1911 crop so shipped, and 22.9 per cent of the 1910 crop so shipped.

The proportion of the 1913 crop which is merchantable is about 80.1 per cent, compared with 85 per cent of the 1912 crop, 80.1 per cent of the 1911 crop, and 86.4 per cent of the 1910 crop.

About 26.5 per cent of the 1913 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 30.9 per cent of the 1912 crop so shipped; 28.8 per cent of the 1911 crop so shipped, and 30.6 per cent of the 1910 crop so shipped.

Oats: About 416,476,000 bu or 37.4 per cent of the 1913 crop remained on farms, March 1, 1914, compared with 604,216,000 bu or 42.6 per cent of the 1912 crop in 1913; 289,988,000 bu or 31.4 per cent of the 1911 crop in 1912, and 442,665,000 bu or 37.3 per cent of the 1910 crop in 1911.

About 26.5 per cent of the 1913 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 30.9 per cent of the 1912 crop so shipped; 28.8 per cent of the 1911 crop so shipped, and 30.6 per cent of the 1910 crop so shipped.

Barley: About 44,126,000 bu or 24.8 per cent of the 1913 crop remained on farms March 1, 1914, compared with 62,283,000 bu or 27.8 per cent of the 1912 crop in 1913; 24,760,000 bu or 15.5 per cent of the 1911 crop in 1912, and 33,498,000 bu or 19.3 per cent of the 1910 crop in 1911.

About 48.4 per cent of the 1913 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 53.7 per cent of the 1912 crop so shipped; 57.2 per cent of the 1911 crop so shipped, and 50 per cent of the 1910 crop so shipped.

REVOLVER FIRED DURING ARGUMENT

Unable to complete their argument in the pool room at 18 East Superior street, where Frank Olson is employed, Olson, who is 20 years old, and Albert Switzer, who is 23, went out on the street at First avenue east and there proceeded to finish the contab.

Switzer had a revolver with him and during the argument the gun went off in the air. No one was hurt, but the shot attracted the attention of police headquarters and Lieut. Schulte and Capt. Fiskett rushed out, expecting to find a murder. They found both Switzer and Olson still arguing and they arrested them on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Both Switzer and Olson pleaded guilty in police court this morning and they were fined $5 and costs or sixty days. On their promise to behave in the future, the court suspended sentence and placed them on parole for a year.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Debate on agricultural appropriation bill resumed.

Speaker Clark denounced statements attacking the integrity of his counting of votes.

Republican Leader Mann led in an ovation in tribute to the speaker's 64th birthday.

Irrigation committee reported favorably the homesteaders' extension period of payment for water rights.

WOMAN WOUNDED IN STRIKE LOSES CASE

Verdict for Defendant Railroad Company Is Directed.

Charleston, W. Va., March 7.—Judge E. B. Dyer, in circuit court here, today directed the jury to bring in a verdict for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad company, defendant in the action of Mrs. Anna Hall, who sued to recover $25,000 for damages alleged to have been sustained when she was shot during the miners' strike last year. Judge Dyer, after hearing testimony the greater part of the week, decided the plaintiff had not made out a case, and told the jury that if it found otherwise it would be necessary for him to set aside the finding.

BANKRUPT FIRM PAYS DIVIDEND

Columbia Clothing Company Buys Stock of Golden Rule Store.

The Golden Rule store of Superior, which recently went into the hands of a receiver, has declared a dividend of 20 per cent to its creditors. The creditors now stand to lose about $100,000 through the failure of the firm.

Creditors of the firm claim that the failure of the store was due to its management having tried to operate a mercantile establishment which would do credit to State street, Chicago, in a small town. The goods handled by the firm were, they say, of too high a class to be appreciated by the people of Superior.

At the bankruptcy sale held recently in Superior the stock inventoried at $170,000 and was sold to Roth Bros., who were the highest bidders, for $102,000.

The immense stock of men's and boys' fine clothing and furnishings was later purchased by the Columbia Clothing company of this city for $25,000. In this stock are represented many of the best clothing manufacturers of this country.

GETS CHANCE TO GO TO WORK FARM

Request Denied One-Armed Man; Is Later Arrested.

Yesterday morning Thomas Sullivan, 51 years old, came into police court and asked Deputy Clerk Walter Richeson if he could send him out to the poor farm.

"I've only got one arm and it is mighty hard to get work this time of the year," he told the clerk. "If I could got out to the farm for about a month, by the time I got out, the winter would be over and work would be much easier to get."

Mr. Richeson explained to Sullivan that he had no police powers and that the latter would have to go to police headquarters next door to be arrested. But Sullivan failed to do this and instead went out on the street and tried to beg some money. He was caught by Patrolman Wood, who arrested him on a charge of begging.

In police court this morning Sullivan pleaded guilty to the charge of begging and he was fined $50 and costs or sixty days on the work farm.

Sullivan had his wish.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

New York, March 7.—Dun's Review today says: "Further interruption to business was caused this week by the greatest snow storm the East has experienced in a quarter of a century. Trade was seriously handicapped for a time and transportation and wire facilities temporarily demoralized, while the property damage was considerable. Suspension of freight movements retarded distribution of food stuffs and fuel, and resulted in higher prices for various commodities.

Recovery from the blizzard was comparatively prompt and the lifting of railroad blockades and resumption of telegraphic service brought a more normal condition. Reports from leading commercial centers, however, continue of a mixed character, increased activity in certain directions contrasting with dullness in others.

Failures this week are 334, against 283 last year; in Canada, 48, against 29.

30 BID CALUMET CORBIN 30 BID

The week closes with another substantial advance in Calumet-Corbin and the closing price tonight is right at the top. This in the face of the extreme weakness shown by all other stocks.

It is really nothing remarkable and the sooner speculators and the investment public realize that this issue represents an intrinsic value very much in excess of the present market price, the sooner they will place themselves right in regards to Calumet-Corbin.

The following weekly report from the property shows that the development is going right along on the lines at first laid out and is what is going to make the company a dividend payer when the production of which the mine is capable is reached:

"Work progressing well, two shifts in shaft preparatory to drifting. Started drifting on Noname vein to junction with Oldbury vein. Should cut junction this month. Drift on Great Western vein looking exceedingly well. Will give large section virgin ground on these high-grade ore bodies. Other parts of mine showing well. BENJ. F. HALL, Mgr."

From the present outlook Calumet-Corbin will have another very active week and activity will mean a higher range of prices. Offerings of this stock are being taken by high-class investors and are being taken out of the market and will remain off the market until a great deal higher lever is reached.

Investigation of the merits of the New Era mines proves absolutely that Calumet-Corbin is now a commercial success with unlimited possibilities and $1.00 per share is a reasonably low prediction for the stock during the coming summer.

You will have to search markets very close to find a duplicate for this issue or for your money.

FULL DATA ON "FREE SERVICES" ARE ASKED

Commerce Commission Will Use Them in Deciding Rate Case.

Washington, March 7.—Comprehensive information regarding "the purpose, effects, nature and extent of special services," performed by the Eastern railroads for shippers, was called for today by the interstate commerce commission. The commission desires to know the "extent to which these services are such as may be called 'free,' and the extent to which compensation is received therefore."

The information sought is regarded by the commission as having important bearing upon the application of the roads for an advance in rates.

DELAYS HEARING ON G. N. MOTION

Road Would Have Range Suit Tried in City of Duluth.

Judge Cant in district court this morning continued for one week the hearing on an order returnable before the court this morning, requiring Judge W. L. Windom of the municipal court to show cause why he should not vacate an order made by him remanding a damage suit against the Great Northern Railway company to the Hibbing municipal court for trial.

The case was begun in the Hibbing court and afterwards transferred to Duluth. Judge Windom ordered it returned to Hibbing. The attorneys for the railroad company objected, their contention being that the principal place of business for the Great Northern Railway company in this county was in the city of Duluth. The plaintiff is a Hibbing man and his attorneys contend that the residence of the railroad company is anywhere its lines run.

DECLINE TO JOIN STATE ORGANIZATION

Red River Valley Farm Land Dealers Start Association.

Crookston, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a Farm Land Dealers' association organized here today, it was voted unanimously to decline membership in the Minnesota Farm Lands association recently organized in Minneapolis. The local organization was formed when an assessment of $10 each was received from Secretary W. R. Mackenzie of the state association, from Minneapolis. All the land men in the Red river valley will be promptly notified of the action taken here.

PRIVATE FUNERAL FOR MISS CALVERLEY.

The funeral of Miss Julia Calverley, 58 years old, Duluth's pioneer school teacher, who died early yesterday morning following an illness of several years, will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the residence, 616 East First street, where she had made her home with her sisters, Miss Belle Calverley, principal of the Jefferson school, and Miss Fannie Calverly, teacher at the Endion school.

The service will be private and interment will be at the Forest Hill cemetery.

MURDER LAID TO THEATRICAL MAN.

Davenport, Iowa, March 7.—Gus Pickett, manager of a dance hall at Baldwin, Iowa, who was shot during a quarrel with the manager of a theatrical company Tuesday night, died here last night. Clayton Teeple is in the Maquoketa jail, charged with murder.

GROCERS INSOLVENT.

Creditors of the B. F. Neff company, grocers, at 429 Twelfth avenue east, this morning filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy with the clerk of the United States court.

The cerditors who made the petition before Federal Judge Morris are the Rust-Parker-Martin company, Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Culbertson Brothers company, all of the city.

In an affidavit the Rust-Parker-Martin company claims bills and notes aggregating $3,298.34, the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company, $2,048.63, and the Culbertson Brothers company, $113.31.

BIG DEAL IN CUYUNA IRON RANGE LANDS IS COMPLETED

Gopher Iron Company Now Has Great Stripping Proposition.

Sale of 1,100 Acres to Duluth Syndicate Is Reported.

Brainerd, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the biggest transactions ever recorded on the Cuyuna iron range has been consummated by Frank E. Burg, secretary of the Gopher Iron company of St. Paul. Acting for his company, there was purchased the entire fee of the west half of the southeast quarter of section 19, township 46, range 29 from Fred B. Lynch and Joseph C. Wood of St. Paul. The deal was closed early in the week. Merged in the transaction was the 25 cents a ton lease on this property. This gives the Gopher Iron company warranty deeds to all its properties and royalties from two mines, one being an interest in the Pennington pit mine, which last season shipped over 100,000 tons of ore and will also ship heavily this season. Congdon, Adams and others of Duluth, who own the balance of the section 19, township 46, range 29, have spent over $100,000, it is said, in exploring east, west, and north of the new holdings of the Gopher iron company in the same section and have shown up, it is reported, between 25,000,000 and 40,000,000 tons of high grade ore. The ore body is about 1,000 feet wide. The surface in the Gopher lands is only about 30 feet deep and they are assured they have the greatest stripping proposition in Minnesota, and conservative mining men are of the opinion that the eighty bought by the Gopher Iron company will eventually have a value of $3,000,000. It is the greatest cash deal made on the range for some time, being managed by Frank E. Oberg, who in less than a year has gained for his company properties which will eventually return, he believes, more than $5,000,000. The officers of the company are George Urquhart, president; Donald Quinlivan, vice president and Frank E. Oberg, secretary.

Canadian-Cuyuna.

The Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company's mine will be operated by electricity, power being furnished for pumping, hoisting and other purposes by the Cuyuna Range Power company, whose power dam is on the Crow Wing river west of Brainerd. The mine issituated six miles east of Brainerd near Loerch and the new townsite of Woodrow. The new town at the mine was platted by Judge James T. Hale, his son, Paul M. Hale, and Wilson Bradley of Deerwood. The plat was submitted for the approval of the board of county commissioners on Tuesday. A large building will be put up for a boarding house for the miners. Shaft work has commenced and a three-compartment timber shaft will be sunk.

The Barrows mine at Barrows is stockpiling and hoisting ore with day and night shifts. A large force of men is employed. Stockpiling is being carried on at the Adams mine at Oreland, the Cuyuna-Duluth at Ironton, the Armour No. 2 north of Crosby and the Kennedy mine at Cuyuna. The outlook for much work on the range is very good and prosperity is even now evident in all sections.

Gust Franson of Deerwood has closed a sale involving 1,100 acres on the range, acting for the fee owner, a man of Southern Minnesota, and the land being sold to a syndicate of Duluth men who have organized a holding company. The propery is situated in parts of sections 11, 13, 14 and 23, of township 47, range 28. It is reported that good ore has been found in sections 19 and 20, township 47, range 28, near by. Near by is also the Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore company. The consideration involved was $44,000.

Drilling at County Farm.

At the county farm, three miles east of Brainerd, the Longyear Exploration company has its drills at work. The company recently submitted bonds of $1,000 to the county commissioners, who accepted them. One hole has been located and progress made in drilling. The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits, a mile from the postoffice, has its second shaft started. Heavy pumps are on the ground ready to be used. The second shaft will serve to unwater the first one sunk. J. R. Harrington of Hibbing is also expected to soon commence drilling on the lands leased from the city and which were bequeathed to Brainerd by the late Judge C. W. Holland. Minneapolis men are inquiring for unplatted acreage in the city and are expected to put in two new subdivisions in the spring. West Brainerd, which never had arc light service since the history of Brainerd, will be provided with adequate lighting service. Work will soon commence on a three-story city hall.

P. A. Gough, it is reported, will soon start drilling in the Bay Lake country. Mr. Gough is prominently identified with the Stowell Exploration company. The company is also diamond drilling for John Helmer in section 11, township 46, range 28. J. A. Stetson of Deerwood and Duluth has closed a year's option for exploration work on the John Hoving lands in section 18, township 46, range 28, and a drill will soon be placed there. It is said that Cuyler Adams and associates may open and develop mining property immediately tributary to Deerwood and that the miners employed will make their home at Deerwood, thus increasing the business and the prosperity of the town.

Cuyuna-Duluth.

Mining operations are being conducted in a satisfactory manner at the Cuyuna-Duluth Iron company property in Ironton. A large force of miners will be employed as soon as sufficient ore is blocked out. Work is being carried on at the 110-foot sub-level, 160-foot level and the 200-foot main level. The station at the 280-foot level is about completed, and drifting to the ore body from that level has commenced, so that judging from present indications, the ore at the bottom level should be reached not later than the middle of March. The stockpile being accumulated will be loaded by steam shovel as soon as navigation opens. The new drift is now in 190 feet and ore taken from the drift assayed over $8 per cent, says a recent report made to the stockholders by E. J. W. Donahue.

Nels O. Iverson has granted to Thomas J. Sheridan an extension of an option covering lots 4, 5 and 6, the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter, the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 8, township 46, range 29.

Changes of Interests.

Theodore T. Hudson of Duluth has quitclaimed to Robert B. Whiteside of Duluth the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 4, township 138, range 27, and the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 10, township 138, range 27. The Iowa-Minnesota Land company has sold to Robert B. Whiteside lands in section 3, township 138, range 27, and section 7, township 138, range 27, for $6,436.22. Frank Martin has sold to Robert B. Whiteside the north half of the southwest quarter, the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter and the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 14, township 138, range 26, for $2,400.

Edward Savage has sold to R. S. Patrick lots 3 and 4, the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 3, township 45, range 28. Anna Held and husband have sold undivided one-tenth interests in the south half of the southwest quarter and the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 8, township 138, range 25, at $300 each to R. B. Brower, C. D. Brower, Gottfried Jaensson, Marshall E. Jones, Bernard F. Lammersen, Fred C. Lindt, Mathilda S. Morgan, Nick Stein, Frank M. Wright. J. J. McAuliffe of Duluth has sold to Travis F. Eastham the west half of the southeast quarter of section 6, township 137, range 25. The Ironlands company has sold to F. A. Edson of Deerwood the northwest quarter of section 5, township 44, range 29.

READY TO HANDLE LARGE ORE OUTPUT

Lake Superior Region Prepared to Establish New Records.

Whether the iron mines of the Lake Superior region will send out 50,000,000 tons of ore this year again, or will even exceed that stupendous achievement registered in 1913, is a question. Whatever the quantity, it will be easily handled, and the opening of the season of navigation in 1915 will find the region still better prepared to establish new high records.

No new docks will go into commission this year. In 1915, however, the mammoth new steel and concrete pier of the United States Steel corporation's Duluth, Missabe & Northern system at Duluth will be ready for service, as will a similar structure to be built at Ashland by the Soo line. The Duluth dock, the construction of which is well under way, will be 2,304 feet in length and will cost approximately $2,000,000. The Soo line pier at Ashland will involve an expenditure of $1,000,000. Work on this will be started shortly. Other important improvements contemplated by the Soo line in connection with the Gogebic iron range traffic include the construction of a second concrete dock in 1916, this to take the place of the present wooden pier; the building of a more direct line to the mines, the enlargement of the receiving yards and roundhouse and the installation of additional rolling stock.

Last year the Northern Pacific entered the ore traffic for the first time, when it put into commission a newly erected dock at Superior. Only two cargoes were shipped, however. This year the road will handle a large tonnage, all of which will come from the Cuyuna range, in the business of which the Northern Pacific and the Soo line share, the latter also with a dock at Superior. Both companies will put much new rolling stock in commission.

SHATTUCK AND DENN MEETINGS

Postponed Gatherings to Be Held at Bisbee March 21.

Bisbee, Ariz., March 7.—It is officially stated here that the postponed meetings of the Shattuck and the Denn will be held on March 21, just a month later than the original call. It is also said officially that the announcement that the postponement was made for the convenience of some of those interested in the companies who desire to come out and see the mines but cannot do so until a later date, covers the entire cause of the postponement. It is expected that the 21st will witness the presence here of the entire official families of the two companies as well as of a number of stockholders. During their stay they are to be shown throughout the workings of the Shattuck and will probably give a couple of days to the inspection.

Nothing of a definite character has developed to give either confirmation or denial to the reports that Denn will be financed at the forthcoming meetings for renewal of development. The nearest approach that can be secured to affirmation is that "doubtless Denn will be attended to some time and put going again." As to when, there is nothing definite to be had.

GREENE-CANANEA HAS GOOD MONTH

Excellent Reports Come Also From the Calumet & Sonora.

Cananea, Mex., March 7.—Greene Cananea has had a very satisfactory operating month, according to all reports, and will make a good showing. The management is moving forward steadily and is certainly acquiring a standing that should be very valuable to the stockholders a little later along. If the property can make good, as it is doing, under prevailing conditions, it will certainly be very attractive to investors at a much higher figure when better conditions come about, as they ultimately must.

A good deal of attention has recently been drawn to Calumet & Sonora at Cananea by reason of visits from its officials, including Dwight Woodbridge, Dr. Harvey Weed and others. They say the 600 and 700 levels of the property have brought in much new ore and that they have reason to expect further extension of the new bodies. Also they are sufficiently confident of more high grade ore at depth to warrant them in planning for sinking to the 1,000 level. The property is now going ahead with development in a more vigorous manner than conditions have seemed to warrant in a considerable period. Calumet & Sonora is adjoined by some very promising properties carrying similar formation which can benefit ing from its work and will doubtless claim prominence whenever peace prospects take on a permanent look in Mexico.

PROSPECTS ARE VERY PROMISING

Ledge at Rainbow Property Wide and Well Mineralized.

Butte, Mont., March 7.—Rumors that the Rainbow Lode Development company has cut some pretty good copper ore at the 1,000 level will not down. Manager Pope denies that a rich vein has been encountered, but says there are promising prospects. The ledge is wide and well mineralized.

FRANKLIN'S NEW OPENING

Samples From Thirty-Second Level of Allouez Conglomerate Assayed.

Keweenaw Has Completely Unwatered the Shaft at the Phoenix.

Houghton, Mich., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Franklin's new opening of the Allouez conglomerate on the thirty-second level has been sampled and two assays have been made, the first yielding 31.8 and the second thirty-two pounds a ton. The second was made because President Edwards, from his experience with the old workings, considered the result of the first too high, thinking some error had been made and ordered another. A second sample was made Saturday, Feb. 28, and the figures will be made known very soon. It is rare that sampling can be successfully done in this district on account of the irregularly shaped small and large masses of native copper. In this lode almost all of the mass copper occurs in the form of copper boulders and can be easily separated, but the most of the metal is fine but granular in form, being found in the matrix of the conglomerate. The samples were taken from the mineralized portion of the lode which is about fifteen feet wide and lies along the foot-wall. The first was from overhead or from the "back," as the miners say. About fifty holes were drilled and a strip fifty-five feet long, five wide and one foot thick was blasted off leaving a very even face. No mass was disclosed. The rock was broken up by sledges and the scales gave a weight of four and one-half tons. This was reduced, by first rejecting four shovelfuls and keeping one, and then by rejecting four and keeping four, to about 900 pounds, or to one-tenth. It was then taken to the metallurgical laboratory of the Michigan College of Mines here in Houghton and there further reduced to the proper quantity and assayed. The second sample was of the same dimensions and was blasted off the southwestern wall. The new face or surface seemed to the writer to be far better than that of the part blown off, and it was thought that the result of the assay would be higher. This sample was reduced at the mine from about eight tons to 1,000 pounds, or to one-sixteenth. There can be no doubt that if the lode continues in the same values as shown here it will be very profitably mined. Those familiar with the earlier openings seem confident that if a sample from the remaining strip of eight feet can be assayed it would be found that the copper is of commercial grade.

The clay seam which is just above the hanging-wall and which at times has been of a width of four feet and very treacherous is here only a foot wide and is dry, hard, and brittle, like some shales. The trap immediately over the clay is here as good as the average of hanging-walls in the district. In the old days three or four feet of the upper part of the lode had to be left as a support, and even then some old stope would cave in and completely cut off all work beyond. When President Edwards became superintendent he introduced the new method of mining, that of drifting to the boundaries, stoping back and allowing the walls to cave. With no shaft in the lode there will be no trouble from the hanging-wall.

The president stated last week that the amygdaloid would not be abandoned, but that the resumption of mining operations would not be undertaken until men enough to produce a profitable tonnage, 1,200 tons a day, could be secured. The shoot of richer ground encountered on the amygdaloid at the twenty-fifth level about 1,000 feet north of the shaft and which crosses the latter just above the twenty-second level and which was first entered about a year ago, will undoubtedly show a balance of profit when ground sufficient can be opened up to give the proper tonnage.

Keweenaw.

The Keweenaw Copper company has now completely unwatered the shaft at the Phoenix and the bottom of the third level, about 465 feet from the surface. A western drift was discovered to have been worked for a distance of 175 feet and an eastern 150. Some old stopes were cut into for a few feet and then the work of rock was revealed as met with everywhere else. Several quite large pieces said to give the average grade disclose no small masses but a remarkable evenly distributed richness of shot copper varying in size from a pin point to the average pea. About 100 feet was made by the enlargement of the shaft last month, making a total depth of 305 feet. The drifts and crosscuts are very small, one of the latter on the second level being only three feet wide by four feet high. This is due to the fact that all of these early openings were made by hand power with hammer and drill.

Houghton.

The Houghton Copper company now has nine feet of heavy copper at the bottom of the winze and the face or end of the winze is showing the same grade. It is just the same quality that was met with all the way down the winze from its beginning at the 620-foot, or sixth level, to the 820-foot, or eighth level, and then after a few feet disappeared and was not encountered again until the last of the month. The winze is now within about fifty feet of the tenth level. Here drifting will probably be done in both directions. One cannot help thinking that if possible, the objective point should be the twelfth or fifteenth level so as to be able to crosscut for the very rich west vein of the Superior, which was not disclosed in that mine above the twelfth level. The drill working on the northern drift of the sixth level is in poor ground and will now crosscut the lode.

Mohawk.

The Mohawk has taker back within a week between thirty-five and forty of its former miners, almost all Cornishmen. Trammers are numerous. No. 5 shaft's repairs were completed last week and hoisting has been resumed. All the shafts except No. 6 are producing, working day shifts.

Mass Starts Up.

The same form of an injunction as now in force in Houghton and Keweenaw counties has been issued restraining the Western Federation of Miners from interfering with the operations or employes of the mines of Keweenew county. The injunction bill was signed by Supt. Walker of the Mass and Lake mines and Supt. Bennett of the South Lake, North Lake, Algomah and Indiana mines. The Mass mine started up again Feb. 16 and has now a force of fifty-nine men. At that location there has been the usual picketing, parading, pleading with and threatening those working. The conduct of the strikers both men and women, particularly that of the latter, has been very boisterous and offensive. Several arrests have been made, and in most cases the offenders have been punished by fine or imprisonment. Sheriff Francis has rendered very efficient service. The Mass has several guards including two mounted policemen. It is probable that with the evident purpose of the sheriff and the justices to uphold the law that the issuing of the injunction will restore order, and that the Mass will steadily increase its force and that the South Lake will soon join the number of working mines.

BUTTE & ZENITH UNWATERED AND CROSSCUTTING BEGUN

Duluth Men Interested Expected to Visit the Property Soon.

Capt. Wolvin Talks of Reports Regarding Butte-Duluth Affairs.

Butte, Mont., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work of unwatering the shaft of the Butte & Zenith City mine, near Nissler, has been completed and development work will now go forward rapidly. The station on the 500-foot level has been cleaned up and put into shape and crosscutting on the level has been resumed.

The shaft was sunk last year a depth of 480 feet and a crosscut was run about 200 feet to the north at that time when the big flow of water was encountered. This resulted in suspending further development work there until machinery and pumps that could care for the water could be secured.

There are some very promising indications at the mine and it is the belief of Supt. Newton that with the further development some good ore bodies will be opened up. The company is composed entirely of Duluth capitalists and is well financed. Some of the officials of the company are expected here within the next few weeks to make an inspection of the property.

Butte-Duluth.

Capt. A. B. Wolvin, who returned to Butte a few days ago, was given a hearty welcome by his friends. By many the question was put to him as to the deal reported during his absence with the American Metals company by which the latter was to take a large block of the bonds of the Butte-Duluth Mining company.

"I have no statement to make public at this time," said Capt. Wolvin. "Within a few days, however, pending negotiations will be in shape so that a definite statement can be made public. There is one thing, though, I will state. None of the negotiations that have been conducted have contemplated allowing the control of the Butte-Duluth to pass to any other people than those who are now in control. Myself and friends will remain in control. We know what we have there, and we would certainly not, under the circumstances, want to let any person or corporation get that control from us.

"I have just received in a general way the report from Supt. Sherwood of what has been done at the plant during February. While I have not the figures yet to give out, I can state that February was a record-breaking month. The amount of copper produced, the tonnage, the cost of production per pound and the general showing of the plant will be by far the best of any month since we started.

"The cost of production, for instance, has been materially reduced by the recent improvements, and with the installation of the new crushing plant and the additional battery of leaching machines, a still further relative cost of production will be realized."

Stewart.

There still seems to be a large amount of uncertainty as to whether F. A. Heinze is still in control of the Stewart Mining company. M. W. Bacon, manager of the company and who also has charge of Heinze's Western affairs, came to the city which he makes his headquarters, a few days ago, after a tour of inspection of properties in British Columbia and also the Stewart mine and plant. Mr. Bacon says that the Stewart is making more money today than ever before and that the outlook for an increase in the dividends at the present rate of earnings ought to be pretty good. At the present time the company is easily earning to pay 60 cents a share, while the past dividends have been but 40 cents a share a year. He says that the earnings this year will be a very large percentage of the capital stock. When his attention was called to the fact that the stock was not advancing in proportion to the earnings reported, Mr. Bacon smiled and said: "With that I have nothing to do. I do know, however, that the mine was never in better condition and that February broke all records in the line of production." Mr. Bacon said that the February profits would be around $95,000. Early this month a report would be issued and it would show that there was a surplus in the treasury of something over $700,000.

To Work the Tailings.

Max Atwater, who for several years was manager of the Butte & Superior, after visiting in several Eastern cities after his retirement, has returned to this locality. While in the East he interested capitalists in a plan to work the tailings at the old Heinze concentrator at Basin. This was operated for many years by Heinze, and afterwards was under lease to the Butte & Superior company for some two years, or until the company had its own plant constructed. There are estimated to be around 50,000 tons of tailings on the dump and Mr. Atwater, after a careful examination, has reached the conclusion that he can make considerable money in treating them. The tailings are principally from the ore mined at the Butte & Superior.

Basin District.

The Basin district, which is about thirty miles east of here and on the line of the Great Northern railway, promises to have a very lively summer in mining. There will be two mills in operation on old tailings and custom ore from mines which have commenced operations after a close down of a few months on account of the weather. There was a time when the town of Basin was a very lively place, due to the operation of the Heinze concentrator to its full capacity and giving employment to several hundred men. Mr. Atwater says that the reopening of the concentrator for the treatment of the tailings and with the amount of custom ore promised from mines in the locality, the concentrator will be kept going to its capacity. Arrangements have been completed for the machinery necessary and within two months, unforeseen delay occurs, the less some concentrator will be in operation.

Elkhorn District

With the most promising surface indications in the state, not even excepting the Butte district, the Elkhorn district is going to be extensively developed this year by the Butte & Boston Development company, of which Lieutenant Governor Allen is at the head, backed by capitalists from various parts of the United States, Canada and Europe. In the Elkhorn district last fall a start was made in drilling a 3,000-foot tunnel, but the progress was very slow under the old hand drilling method; and less than 100 feet was made up to the present time. After a long delay the compressor and drilling machines have arrived and in the course of a couple of weeks the new plant will be in operation. Governor Allen says that it is estimated that with the drilling machines at least 150 feet a month can be made and possibly some months 200 feet. The tunnel is to contain a double track and will be one of the largest and best in the country. The line of railway running through the mining district will be started early in the summer and as there is no lack of capital, work will be rushed along with all speed during the summer. State Mine Inspector W. B. Oren recently went over the ground in the Elkhorn district and he had no hesitation in declaring that the surface indications were better than any he had before inspected. Governor Allen says that scarcely a day passes that he does not receive one or more letters from men of high standing in the financial world both in this country and Europe inquiring about the property. Several have written letters that they are coming out to Moftana during the summer to inspect the plans and work of the company with a view of making investments if conditions were found satisfactory.

Anaconda.

The Anaconda company, with four of its mines down for repairs and improvements work, produced during the past month about the normal amount of ore considering that it was a short month and that there was one holiday. The other mines are making up for the loss of production in those down. It is expected that in the course of a month both the Stewart and Neversweat will be in commission again, after having received a complete overhauling from the engine rooms to the foot of the shafts. The Belmont will be down for several months on account of the sinking of the shaft to greater depth. The Silver Bow will probably be down for two months yet for engine and shaft repairs.

Radersburg District.

Firmly impressed with the belief that the railroad into the Radersburg district is going to be completed early the coming summer, owners of property are preparing to reopen mines which have been closed for several years owing to the high cost of haulage for the twelve miles to the Northern Pacific railroad point. George Madorn, who went to New York to raise the money to complete the road, has sent word back that success seems assured. The Keating and the Ohio-Keating have both increased the force of men at work for the purpose of more vigorously prosecuting development work.

Kalispel District.

The Anaconda Copper Mining company intends to put a large force of men into the new Kalispel copper district this spring with a view of exploring all the land secured and it is not improbable that a mill will be erected for the treatment of the ore. All the land for miles around the company's ground has been taken up and the spring and summer is going to be a lively one. The Anaconda company has had a force of men at work all winter opening up prospects.

C. & A. SMELTER'S GREAT OUTPUT

Turning Out Copper at Nearly 11,000,000-Pound Gait.

Douglas, Ariz., March 7.—The Calumet & Arizona smelter during last week achieved an output which gave the management, doubtless, occasion for much contentment. It should convey, also, to stockholders of the company, a very high degree of optimism as to the efficiency of their new reduction works. While a good deal has been said concerning the latter in the last few months, it is nevertheless doubtful if more than those intimately associated with the operation of the smelter have gained such conception of its capacity as might prepare them for the figures concerning the output which is actually being worked to.

On Wednesday the smelter attained its banner day in copper output since blowing in of the plant. It can also be said that the output on this day was the largest ever reached by the Calumet & Arizona in any single twenty-four hour period. It was 358,000 pounds of blister copper that they turned out on Wednesday, and it was done without the appearance of rush or strain anywhere in the plant. It came easily and gave every reason for belief that if they wished to output the ore to keep up this rate of production of metal, they could do it as readily as not.

The run was highly satisfactory to the management at the smelter, but it was not up to the capacity they expect to attain as they gradually warm up to their best. Output of 358,000 pounds per day means production at the rate of 10,740,000 pounds of the red metal per month. A little while back it was talked about freely that the new Calumet & Arizona smelter would make around 7,000,000 pounds per month, and the news that it has shown itself equal to nearly an 11,000,000-pound monthly output in its infancy is a surprise to many. There is now talk that 15,000,000 pounds a month may be reached later on.

OMNIBUSES ARE NEARLY ALL GONE.

London, March 7.—The thousands of horse drawn omnibuses which were a familiar sight in London a few years ago, now serving as chicken houses, as woodsheds, or cottages at the beaches. There are now only about a dozen of the horse busses left in service, those being used to connect motor car lines which do not cross the bridges over the Thames. The omnibus companies have been disposing of the old vehicles for $7 a piece, a rate so low that the demand has been greater than the supply.

The total mileage of state railways in Italy June 30, 1912, was 8,286. Although 14.5 miles were added during the year, the same number of miles of road was abolished.

LEGAL NOTICES.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Fifteen Hundred Twenty-four ($1524.00) Dollars, which is claimed to be duo and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Janet Lenore Costello and D. H. Costello, her husband, Mortgagors, to Harry C. Strong, Mortgagee, bearing date the 11th day of November, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of December, 1913, at 8:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 288 of Mortgages, on page 341, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz.:

The Easterly seventy-five (75) feet of fractional Block Sixteen(16), Longview Addition to Duluth; Lot Five (5) and Easterly one-half of Lot Six (6), and Easterly seventy-five (75) feet of Lot Four (4), Block Seventeen (17), East Lawn Division of Duluth, according to the plats thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of St. Louis, the premises conveyed hereby being that portion of said Block Sixteen (16), Longview Addition to Duluth, and of said lots in Block Seventeen (17), East Lawn Division of Duluth, that lie between the Westerly line of Twenty-fourth Avenue East and a line drawn parallel therewith and seventy-five (75) feet Westerly therefrom. Subject to the terms and conditions of that certain agreement duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in Book "S" of Miscellaneous at Page 238, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County in the Sheriff's office in the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 6th day of April, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. BUILDING SETS NEW HIGH MARK DURING FEBRUARY

Permits Were Issued for Construction Amounting to $166,370.

Great Building Activity Is About to Begin Near Steel Plant.

With the weather on the unfavorable side, building operations were somewhat restricted during the week. Eleven permits, with the cost of improvements placed at $9,950, were issued by S. M. Kielley, building inspector.

The largest permit, $5,000, was issued to A. Peterson to cover the erection of two dwellings on Second street, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues west. The remaining permits in the list were mainly for repairs and additions to dwellings.

A new high record in building work here for the season was set in February, fifty permits being issued for the month, authorizing new construction to the extent of $166,370. This compared with an aggregate of $83,500 in the same month last year.

Taking into account the work already scheduled to be proceeded with, and other propositions in sight, architects and contractors are banking upon the present year being an unusually active one, both locally and throughout the district towns.

The erection of a number of schools and other public buildings at outside points is foreshadowed. Virginia is to the fore in that connection, with a proposal to build a $65,000 school.

It is taken as assured that the new work coming out this spring in the steel plant districts will attain a large aggregate. It is to be mentioned that a large block of property bought in Gary by Johnstown, Pa., capitalists this week was announced to be for immediate improvement in the way of business blocks.

A handsome residence is to be built in Crescent View Park this spring by Louis Dworschak. Plans for it are now in preparation by Vernon J. Price & Co., architects, and it is expected they will be ready for figures within two weeks.

Wangenstein & Gilluson, architects, will receive up till next Thursday upon a three-story addition to be built to the Rex hotel at International Falls at an estimated cost of $18,000.

* * *

At a meeting of the Virginia school board this week, the designs of Bray & Nystrom, architects, were accepted for the proposed South side school to be built there this summer. The building will be a handsome one of brick and fireproof construction, and will cost approximately $65,000. It will contain ten class rooms and two large gymnasiums. It is expected that the plans will be ready to go out to contractors for figures within a month.

* * *

Kelly & Williams, architects, have plans out for figures for a moving picture show house and theater to be built at Clocuet, Minn., for E. L. Bedfield. It will be a brick structure, and is designed to be one of the most modernly equipped of its kind in the district, entailing an outlay of about $20,000.

The same office has prepared plans for the remodeling of store No. 317 West Superior street, to be occupied by De Witt Smithworth as a cafe.

Holstead & Sullivan, architects are taking bids upon the plumbing and heating for the new Grand Rapids, Minn., high school. W. J. Sullivan, has just returned from a two weeks' trip to New York and other Eastern cities. He avers that while the building trade is quiet in the East at present, architects expect a substantial revival next month.

The Lounsberry-McLeod company is employing a force of 250 men, including carpenters, painters and plumbers in conection with its contract for the building of houses in the Minnesota Steel company's model town. It is expected that sixty-two of the houses will be completed within thirty days and a start will be made in putting in the foundations for the others as soon as the weather permits.

The following permits were issued during the week at the office of the building inspector:

To W. Millsop, addition, Fifty-fourth avenue west	$ 300
To J. G. Brink, repairs, Ninety-third avenue west and Clyde streets	400
To G. H. Johnson, frame dwelling, Hugo street, Duluth Heights	800
To O. England, frame shop, Sixty-third avenue west between Raleigh and Redruth streets	200
T. A. Angvik, frame dwelling, Morningside park	1,000
To J. A. Weber, concrete-foundation, Fond du Lac	100
To P. Krull, frame dwelling, One Hundred and Fourth avenue west, between McGonagle and House streets	1,000

To Anderson & Gow, alterations, West Superior street between Third and Fourth avenues	600
Cost of improvements	$ 9,950
Number of permits, 11.

INTERNATIONAL REALTY MEN TO MAKE FIRST PURCHASE HERE

Deal Involves 36.02 Acres in East End to Cost $40,000.

Action Indicates High Regard Outside Investors Have for Duluth.

That Duluth was the point selected from among all competing cities in the country as the point for the initial operations of the recently organized International Realty associates, is taken as indicative of the opinion entertained by shrewd outsiders regarding the investment opportunities offering here.

This transaction was reported today in the closing up of sale from the Fidelity Trust company to the Duluth Home company, just incorporated with N. J. Upham as its president, of a block of 36.02 acres. The tract is regarded as ideally located as a site for the building of high class homes. Starting off Thirty-fourth avenue east, at the corner of Victoria and Princeton avenues, it extends to within a block of the Woodland street car line, adjoins Kenilworth on the south, and is within a quarter of a mile of Congdon park. With the laying out of streets and the carrying through of improvements prior to placing the property on the market, an investment of approximately $40,000 will be entailed. The deal was put through by the Hoopes-Kohagen company.

Members of the International Realty associates executive are expected here tomorrow to examine the property and complete arrangements for taking it over. It is proposed to plat the tract and offer it on the market at as early a date as possible, as it is hoped to dispose of all the lots in time to enable the executive to give a final accounting in the transaction at the International association of real estate exchanges' convention, to open at Pittsburg on July 15 next.

As has been previously mentioned the International Realty associates is an off-shoot of that association, organized with a view to making what might promise to be quick and profitable investments in different cities, both in this country and Canada. Nearly $100,000 working capital has thus far been subscribed to it by the various exchanges. N. J. Upham of this city was among those who took a deep interest in its formation, having been appointed chairman of its executive committee.

"I regard the selection of Duluth by the associates as the point for pulling off its first deal as most important," said Mr. Upham this morning. "It will perhaps accomplish more than anything else that could have been done to advertise this place for the reason that real estate men at all the principal cities in the country will await the outcome of the transaction. Members of our real estate exchange have pledged themselves to stand behind this deal in making it a go, and I feel that we are going to score a big success."

In addition to this sale, the Hoopes-Kohagen company sold a block of four acres adjoining property for the Fidelity Trust company to the Midland company, which is another large holder of property in that vicinity.

Another interesting transaction in local realty circles this week came in the sale through the Steel Plant investment company to a syndicate of Johnstown, Pa., capitalists of property on Gary street and Commonwealth avenue in Gary. The consideration was $50,400. It is intimated that members of the syndicate propose to invest several times their initial investment in various business enterprises in the steel plant district within the next few months.

Composing the party who came here early in the week to inquire into the proposition submitted to them were: Walter P. Bishop, attorney of Philadelphia; Adam Silbach, a retired wholesale liquor dealer of Johnstown; John R. Flynn, the owner of the B. & O. hotel at Johnstown; Robert Purse, a master plumber and dealer in plumbers' supplies of Johnstown; and Joseph Moore, proprietor of the Stonycreek hotel at Johnstown.

After an inspection of the steel plant now in the course of building, they expressed themselves as convinced regarding the outlook here and decided to embark in the investment.

The Greenfield Realty company reported the development of good inquiry in residence properties and acreages this week. A number of sales were put through. Frank G. Scobie bought two lots at the northwest corner of Forty-third avenues east and Robinson street at $2,500. The purchaser proposes to improve the property this spring with a residence. Two lots on Regent street were sold to E. R. Ladi; a corner lot on Gladstone street to James R. Harper at $550; and two lots on Jay street at $475.

The Standard Investment company sold to Mary H. Rock, a house and lot on Fifth street near Twelfth avenue east at $3,950.

Eliza Conan sold to Marie B. Hunt a residence property on Third street between Fifteenth and Sixteenth avenues east at $6,000.

* * *

A. W. Kuehnow, president of the Gary Land company reported a busy week resulting in sales of twelve lots in addition to a block of business property disposed of to Johnstown, Pa., capitalists.

* * *

Charles P. Craig & Co. sold to the Lakeside Land company four lots on Cook, Jay and Avondale streets, to parties who propose to build this spring.

* * *

C. L. Rakovsky & Co. sold a house and lot at Seventeenth avenue east and Sixth street for Bertha M. Sebert to T. J. Hendra at $3,900, and they besides, disposed of two lots in Princeton Place at $550.

* * *

The Alliance Real Estate company sold two lots in Ironton, Fourth division, to an outside investor.

ALLEGED THIEVES ARE UNDER ARREST

Men Charged With Stealing Wagon and Feed at Brainerd Caught.

Brainerd, Minn., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with grand larceny in the third degree, four men will be arraigned in municipal court. They were arrested on search warrants at the time a 700-pound wagon was stolen from W. F. Holst, an implement man; ten sacks of feed from M. E. Hitch, and several sacks of flour from Albert Angel. Bert Crocker was arrested twenty-five miles from Brainerd by Sheriff F. J. Reid, with the wagon in his possession. The feed was found in the shed of one James Grasser, who denied all knowledge of its presence. George Shanks and Ole Rodman were arrested at Grasser's place in section 10. John Kelley was arrested in Brainerd. The stealing of the crated wagon, the flour and feed was done near midnight under the full glare of electric light in the thickest part of the business district, and was not discovered until morning by the police.

HILL AT GRAND FORKS.

Railroad Magnate on Hand for Speech at Banquet.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—James J. Hill, who has contributed probably more than any other man to the agricultural development of North Dakota, arrived here yesterday for the big agricultural banquet to be held tonight. A special train from the Twin Cities will arrive this afternoon, bringing a number of business men, millers and others from those cities. While Mr. Hill's address tonight will be the main feature, there will also be addresses by Governor Hanna, Former Governor Sarles and Dean Russell of the Wisconsin agricultural college. The food served will be chiefly North Dakota products, including beef from "King Richard," the prize steer slaughtered recently at the dedication of the Grand Forks municipal slaughter house. The beef was a corn-fed animal, and the remarkable success achieved in raising it was directly responsible for the fact that the banquet was proposed.

This afternoon the Commercial club is conducting a reception to the visitors, which will be continued till dinner.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— GARY BUILDING COMPANY

For the purpose of forming and being a body corporate under and by virtue of the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year 1905, and all laws amendatory thereof, we, the undersigned, have adopted, signed, sealed and acknowledged the following certificate of incorporation.

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be Gary Building Company, and its principal place of business shall be Duluth, Minnesota.

The general nature of its business shall be acquiring, buying, owning, selling, leasing, conveying, mortgaging, improving, and generally dealing in lands and real estate of every kind and description; the building and construction of, the making and furnishing plans for and the contracting for and superintending the construction of, all kinds of houses, buildings, factories, warehouses, wharves, railroads, roads, bridges, and all other kinds of construction or engineering work; the manufacture and sale or and the dealing in all kinds of concrete blocks and all other products of concrete and all other building and construction material; and in general the doing of all such acts and things as are usual, necessary, convenient or expedient in conducting and managing the business of said corporation in any of its branches, and such other enterprises or things as are incident thereto.

ARTICLE II.

The period of the duration of this corporation shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators are James E. Rockwell, Duluth, Minnesota, William R. Perrin, Duluth, Minnesota, and A. T. Banning, Jr., Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The government of this corporation and the conduct of its affairs shall be vested in a Board of Directors to consist of such number as may from time to time be provided in the by-laws, not, however, to be less than three or more than five, and in the officers hereinafter named. Said Directors shall all be stockholders of this corporation and shall be elected by the stockholders at their annual meeting which shall be held on the first Monday in March of each year. They shall hold office for one year after their election, or until their successors are elected and qualify, but vacancies occurring in their membership may be filled by the Board of Directors until successors shall be elected at the succeeding annual meeting or at a special meeting of the Stockholders called for that purpose. Until the Directors elected at the first annual meeting shall qualify, the following persons shall constitute the Board of Directors of this corporation, to-wit: James E. Rockwell, William R. Perrin and A. T. Banning, Jr., all residing in Duluth, Minnesota.

The officers of this corporation, each one of whom shall be a stockholder, shall be a President, a Vice President, a Secretary and a Treasurer. Any two of said offices may be held by the same person, with the exception of the offices of President and Vice President. Said officers shall be chosen by the Board of Directors in such manner and for such terms as may be prescribed by the by-laws. Until said officers are so chosen by the Board of Directors, the following-named persons shall be the officers of this corporation, to-wit: James E. Rockwell, President and Treasurer, William R. Perrin, Vice President, and A. T. Banning, Jr., Secretary.

Meetings of the Board of Directors and special meetings of the Stockholders may be held at such times and places as may be prescribed in the by-laws.

ARTICLE V.

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000) and the same shall be divided into Two Hundred Fifty (250) shares of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each. Said stock shall be paid for either in property, money or services as the Board of Directors may elect, and shall be subscribed for at such times and in such amounts as may be prescribed by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE VI.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.)

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals this fifteenth day of February, 1913.

ATTENTION.

An exhibition of the wonderful products of the Lake Worth County Florida farms is being shown at 317 West Superior street continues for four days. Oranges, grape fruit, cocoanuts, potatoes and other products too numerous to mention are shown. These fruits and vegetables prove the value of these lands. This tract of land is situated in the southeastern part of Florida, only a few miles from the sea and on the railroad which runs direct from Palm Beach to Miami, thus assuring a ready market for farm products. Get away from the cold of Minnesota; go to the beautiful South, where it is always summer. Not only pleasure is found there, but a profitable business in farming one of these Lake Worth county farms. See

G. L. McLAUGHLIN,
202-3 First National Bank Bldg., Immediately for information. Tomorrow may be too late.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS. (Continued.)

WILL SELL UNDIVIDED INTEREST in a 40-acre apple orchard located in Bitter Root valley, Montana. This orchard is full 6 years old and will bear its first commercial crop this year. The owner won't dispose of the entire 40 acres, but will sell undivided interests to about one-half of it as follows:

1-acre tracts at $400 per acre.
5-acre tracts at $375 per acre.
10-acre tracts at $350 per acre.
20-acre tracts at $300 per acre.

Owner also guarantees that this year's upkeep will not cost you more than $20 per acre, which should easily be returned from crop.

This is a snap. Ask anyone owning orchards in Bitter Root valley—plenty of them in Duluth. Write B 169, Herald.

FOR SALE.

Only $1 an acre per month. Better than a savings bank. Why? Because a savings bank pays 3 per cent while a Duluth-Florida Land company farm on the St. John river will increase at least 10 per cent. Write today or call on Duluth-Florida Land company, room 5, Phoenix block, Duluth, Minn.
